MANY CASES IN DISTRICT COURT

Fall Term Of District Court Closes. Many Cases On Civil and Criminal Docket

The fall term of the district court came to a close here last Saturday, after having disposed of a long list of cases.

Among the important civil cases disposed of was the election contest suit filed several weeks ago by Claude Reagan contesting the nomination of Tom N. Hale for commissioner of Precinct No. 4 in this county. When the case was finally reached for trial last week, attorneys for the defendant Hale made a motion for the dismissal of the case on the grounds that it was moot, that is, that the time had glown too late for anything of consequence to be accomplished or determined by a trial, the ballots having been already ordered printed under the law and absentee voting having already begun. The case was dismissed and Reagan gave notice of appeal.

Another civil case disposed of during the last week of the term was the suit of Cass Edwards and Crawford Edwards for the cancellation of a deed made some time ago to Dave Childers. The case was tried on special issues submitted to the jury, which rendered a verdict in favor of plaintiffs.

Quite a long list of divorce cases were also heard and divorces granted at this term of the court.

Criminal Cases

The grand jury, which made its final report and was discharged on Wednesday of last week, reported that it returned 20 felony bills of indictment and one misdemeanor.

"West Texan's Views Of The State Capitol"

(Frank P. Hill)

Austin, Oct. 12.—Testimony of Orville S. Carpenter, executive director of the Texas Old Age Assistance commission, before the State Affairs committee of the State Senate a few days ago revealed many facts not heretofore released in regard to the status of our pension set-up.

Up to August 31 this year, he said, 204,855 applications for pensions had been filed in his office in the following order: February and March 136,844, April 27,836, May 17,971, June 10,415, July, 6,532, August 5,057. Approximately 225,000 applications are expected out of a total of 300,000 persons over sixty-five. From death and other causes, 500 per month are being dropped from the rolls, but the population of Texas is increasing at such an extent as to show a net gain of 10,000 persons per year within the pension age limit, about half of whom can qualify under our present law.

The pension roll on Sept. 1 carried a total of 86,000 names, and according to Mr. Carpenter's estimates, will reach 146,000 by Jan. 1, 1937.

In explaining the reason for the decrease in percentage of approvals for pension, Carpenter said the first 40,000 placed on pension were from the relief rolls, nearly all old people on relief being eligible. At least fifty percent of all others applying prove eligible.

Questioning of Mr. Carpenter by various senators brought out that should 146,000 become eligible for the year 1937, which is very probable unless the pension law is restricted, the cost to the state of Texas will be about $14,000,000, plus 5 per cent overhead expense. The average pension payment is now $16 per month, half of which is paid by Texas and half by the Federal government. This average will possibly be maintained in the future under the present set-up.

The law specifies that the commission send out checks from July 1, 1936, to all approved pensioners who had made application up to that date. All applying after that date, when approved, shall receive payments from the month of their application. The state now owes back pension payments, up to Sept. 1, totaling $5,133,984. Carpenter estimates that approximately $8,000,000 additional revenue will be necessary.

Rotary Club Is Organized Here

Members of the Post Rotary Club came over on Thursday night of last week and assisted in the organization of a Rotary Club here.

Prof. M. L. Penn was elected president, Wynne Collier vice-president, and Dr. K. R. Durham secretary. The initial membership numbers 28.

The Rotary Club will supercede the luncheon club, most of the luncheon club members having taken membership in the new organization.

It is expected that the charter will be received within the next two weeks. The meetings will be on Thursday of each week.

Tahoka Bulldogs Meet O'Donnell

The O'Donnell high school football team is coming up this afternoon with the avowed purpose of making the Tahoka Bulldogs look like whipped curs.

A big crowd of boosters are coming along too to encourage the O'Donnell team.

This will be the first game of the two teams have played in two years. Coach Prentice Walker has been putting the Bulldogs through some strenuous training and has developed a hard-fighting team. Tahoka should win the game this afternoon, but a hard fight is expected.

The Bulldogs will need your support. If at all possible, you should be there.

In many places the business houses close up during a football game. It may not be feasible for our stores to close, but as many of the business men as possible should take a couple of hours off and see this game.

The Bulldogs and the Tahoka All-Stars on last Saturday played a scoreless game, 0 to 0.

Tahoka People On Radio Program

County Farm Agent V. F. Jones and County H. D. Agent Miss Lillith Boyd are to be in charge of a radio program to be given over KFYO, the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal station, from 5:00 to 5:30 P. M. next Tuesday.

This is one of a series of programs being given by the county farm and H. D. Agents in this section of the state, sponsored by the Extension Service of the A. & M. College.

A number of Lynn county people, including Mr. Jones, Miss Boyd and others, will have places on the program. Tune in on KFYO at 5 o'clock Tuesday evening and hear this program.

Child Cuts Hand In Peculiar Manner

Joe Bob, little son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Stroud, fell with a glass in his hand one day last week, crushing the glass and badly cutting the hand.

He was taken to a Lubbock sanitarium for treatment, where it was found that some of the ligaments were so badly cut that the injuries would probably be permanent. The wound, however, is healing.

Three Youths Are Charged With Theft

Sheriff B. L. Parker went to Texarkana last week for three boys charged with theft, but after his arrival there they made bond and were released.

The boys were charged with the theft of about 84 feet of belting, some wrenches and other property belonging to the Wilson Edwards gin at New Homs. Mr. Parker brought the stolen property back with him.

The boys are strangers here. They went out to New Home under the pretense of desiring to pick cotton, but they evidently decided that it was more profitable to steal than to work. Now they are in trouble.

Mrs. J. L. Reese, who has been making periodical visits to the Lubbock Sanitarium for treatment, is now reported to be improving and it is not believed that an operation will be necessary.

Winners In The Yard Contest Are Announced

64 Entrants, 6 Prizes Awarded; Mrs. Gladys M. Stokes and Rev. Geo. A. Dale First

At the luncheon club Tuesday, Miss Lillith Boyd, county home demonstration agent, made a brief talk respecting the Lawn Beautification contest that came to a close on October 1, declaring that in spite of difficulties and discouragements that arose during the summer the results were most gratifying. She also expressed the hope that some organization in the town would sponsor the movement for another year and that the good work which has begun might be continued.

At the close of her brief talk she presented to Wynne Collier, president of the club, the report of the judges, naming the winners in the two divisions, there being in reality two contests. According to the rules and regulations set out and adopted by the luncheon club at the beginning of the contest about the first of May, five prizes were to be awarded to those making the most improvement in their lawns and five prizes to those having the most beautiful lawns at the end of the contest regardless of their appearance at the beginning. The winners together with the prizes offered by the Club were announced as follows.

Most Beautiful Lawns

First, Mrs. Gladys M. Stokes, prize, lawn mower; second, Mrs. J. L. Heare, prize, 50 feet of water hose; third, Mrs. Tom Garrard, prize, wheelbarrow; fourth, W. G. Barrett, prize, set of garden tools; fifth, L. B. Jones, prize, pair of grass clippers and water spray.

Lawn Improvement

First, Rev. Geo. A. Dale, prize, lawn mower; second, W. S. Anglin, prize, 50 feet of water hose; third, Mrs. R. C. Forrester, prize, wheelbarrow; fourth, Mrs. C. L. Hafer, prize, set

Many Fines Collected By Traffic Cops

The traffic cop'll get you if you don't watch out.

Up to Wednesday night 21 fines had been paid into the city treasury since Monday morning for violation of the new traffic regulations.

Better not disregard the red lights nor run over the stop signs. If your memory is not good, better give it a little training. It might cost you one full dollar to forget.

Planting Trees On Highway No. 28

Beautification of State Highway No. 28 with trees and shrubs will begin soon in Floyd County as a result of an appropriation Monday afternoon by the Commissioner's Court of five hundred trees or the equivalent in funds.

Highway beautification committees from Floyd and Lockney appeared before the court, along with Wilcox Holden, Jr., special planting foreman of the State Highway Department from Lubbock.

Planting of the trees will begin soon, under the direction of Mr. Holden, with labor being furnished by boys in N. Y. A. work.

It is believed that in the development of a pleasing and artistic roadside pattern there is at the same time the very practical attainment of maintenance cost reduction and highway safety promotion.—Floyd-dada Hesperian.

EIGHTY TALENTED ARTISTS FEATURED IN TENT THEATRE

Pick of Talent From Florida Winter Clubs on Coming Attraction

So many beautiful girls that you can hardly count them, the famous Palais Royale Orchestra direct from Miami, dozens of noted vaudeville artists, a dramatic cast of prominent players from stage and screen and last but by not least, Dalphine, "The Queen of Fan Dancers," comprise the entertainers who will visit Tahoka on the night of Saturday, October 31, playing but one engagement here. So massive is the attraction that a caravan of more than thirty-five large trucks, cars and busses is required to move the show, yet it is neither circus nor carnival but is recognized everywhere as being an outstanding example of a clever combination of drama, vaudeville, cabaret and revue. In the words of the advance representative, it is "the greatest show on earth for the money." Presented under a huge tent with a seating capacity of more than 4,000 the huge and spectacular attraction is offered to the theatre-goers of Tahoka at popular prices and on this one night engagement, ladies will be admitted free when accompanied by one adult paid admission.

County Jail Is Filled With Drunks

The jail here was crowded full of Negroes, Mexicans, and white men Sunday charged with drunkenness and gambling.

An influx of a great number of Mexican and Negro cotton pickers together with the foolish disposition of some white men to take on a jag every time they get a few dollars in their pockets and liquor is available seems to be responsible for the crowded condition of the jail. A crap game or two was raided Saturday night, we understand.

Gambling and liquor will soon get a man's money as well as his character and self-respect if any.

Contract Let On Highway No. 9

The Morgan Construction Company of Dallas was awarded the contract by the state highway commission last Tuesday to finish construction of a gap of 7.9 miles on highway No. 9 north of Tahoka. The contract calls for the laying of a triple asphalt surface on this section of the highway, extending from a point 3.7 miles north of Tahoka to a point 11.6 miles north of Tahoka in the neighborhood of the Crossroads Filling Station. A caliche base was laid a year ago but considerable preliminary work in repairing and shaping up the road bed will be necessary. Work is expected to begin at an early date.

Work on No. 84 west of Tahoka was also begun Monday morning by the Lone Star Construction Company of San Antonio, which has the contract to hardsurface five miles of this highway west from Tahoka. A sealed coat of asphalt topping is to be placed. Preliminary work was begun Monday on the west end of this sector.

Tahoka People Hear Gipsy Smith Preach

Quite a number of Tahoka people drove down to Abilene last Sunday to hear the world-famed evangelist, Gipsy Smith, who is conducting a city-wide evangelistic campaign there.

Those attending were Prof. and Mrs. H. P. Caveness, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Mullins and daughter, Miss Eunice, accompanied by Miss Helen Parks, D. and Mrs. K. R. Durham and children, Prof. and Mrs. M. L. Penn, Mrs. J. H. Colleenback, and Lynn and Jackson West. Prof. and Mrs. Caveness proceeded from Abilene to Dallas to visit their son Bob and to see the big Centennial.

All reports that Gipsy Smith measures up to his reputation as an evangelist, probably the most effective in the world today, though he uses no clap-trap nor sensational methods.

He was converted to Christianity when a yad in a Gipsy camp, and without having ever attended college, it is said that he now speaks almost perfect English. He is a native of England, but he has held many revivals in this and other English speaking countries.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT WILL DELIVER RADIO ADDRESS

President Roosevelt will deliver an address to business men from 9 to 9:45 P. M., our time, Friday evening, October 23rd over Columbia Broadcasting System.

3,551 Bales Gined Here This Season

The gins in Tahoka and through out this section of the state have been exceedingly busy the past week up till Thursday morning when cotton picking was stopped by rain.

In Tahoka, 3,551 bales had been ginned this season, according to reports gathered from the five gins, which represents an increase of 1,522 bales over the total last week. The country has been flooded with Mexican cotton pickers the past two weeks, many additional pickers having arrived the latter part of last week and the first part of this.

HANS TUNNELL BURIED FRIDAY

Long Time Resident and Business Man, And World War Veteran Buried Here Friday

It was indeed beneath a wilderness of flowers that the remains of John Hansford Tunnell were buried in the Tahoka Cemetery last Friday afternoon. Gorgeous sprays of flowers too bedecked the Methodist Church in which the funeral services were conducted by the pastor, Rev. C. C. Armstrong, in the presence of a throng of relatives and friends that filled the vast auditorium to its capacity.

Tender words of comfort were spoken by the pastor from the text, "Let us pass over," spoken by Christ on one of the eventful days of his life.

A special vocal number, "Lead me gently home, Father," was rendered by Mrs. A. D. Davis of Dallas, the former Miss Lucille Slaton of this city.

Members of the American Legion served as an escort, and six of their number, A. M. Cade, Ott Patterson, Robert Luttrell, W. E. (Happy) Smith, Belton Howell, and O. C. Roberts acted as pall bearers. Deceased having been a World War veteran, his bier was draped in the Stars and Stripes. Members of the Senior class of the Tahoka High School, of which Mrs. Tunnell is sponsor, served as flower girls.

Interment was under the direction of the Harris Funeral Home. John Hansford Tunnell was born in Blanco county, Texas, on May 11, 1896, and died at the family residence in Tahoka late Thursday.

Few Absentees Voting Here

Only three absentee votes had been cast in this county up till Wednesday afternoon. Two of these were cast by persons residing temporarily out of the county.

Due to the busy season, possibly not many voters expect to be away from home on election day; and it may be that the people out here in West Texas are not as intensely interested in this election as they were in the party primaries in the summer.

However, every voter in Lynn county, if possible, should cast his or her ballot on November 3. Texas should make a good showing in the number of votes polled in the state. If you are for Roosevelt and the New Deal, go to the polls and vote for him. If you are against Roosevelt, go to the polls and vote for Landon or for any other candidate who happens to be your choice.

The voter, however, will not find the name of Roosevelt or Landon or any other candidate for the Presidency on his ballot. He will find only the names of the Presidential electors.

The official ballot, which has been printed already by the News, contains seven parallel vertical columns, one for each party represented: Democratic, Republican, Socialist, Communist, Union, Prohibition, and Independent.

If a voter desires to vote a straight party ticket, he will run one or more lines down through each of the other columns. If he should leave two or more columns unmarked his ballot would not count, for election officers would not know what ticket he intended to vote. Even if they did know, they would have no right to count his ballot.

If a voter desires to vote a mixed ticket he must leave unscratched the name of each person for whom he desires to vote and scratch the name of all other candidates running for the same office, as found in the other parallel columns.

It is easy to vote correctly if a voter will use just a little care.

The voter will also find on the lower section of his ballot six proposed constitutional amendments. If he desires to vote for an amendment, he should scratch out the entire line or paragraph beginning with the word "Against."

If he desires to vote against an amendment, he should scratch out the entire line of paragraph beginning with the word "For."

Science Works Two Ways

Even in this day of flaming youth, mature age still has its usefulness. The average age of our Supreme Court justices is seventy-one years.

Arthur Brisbane He left the bench to run for President against Woodrow Wilson, and would doubtless have been elected had he not gone to California.

Rioting in London's "Mile End Road," in which the faces of men and women were slashed with razor blades and one man was thrown through a shop window, etc., seems rather "un-English."

Germany honors its youngest grandfather, Herman Jahnke, farm laborer, thirty-six years old.

Justice uses science—the electric chair, the lethal chamber—to punish criminals. The criminal uses science to carry on his trade.

Japan, until recently convinced, mistakenly, that this country is her enemy, and for excellent reasons keeping close watch on Russia and her anti-Japanese Vladivostok air-plant and submarine base, now turns suspicious attention on dear old John Bull.

Britain is supposed to have asked nine nations to protest against Japan's demands on China.

Leaders of the Fascists were reported to have planned a steady, steam-roller advance on Madrid, and this offensive was already under way.

Those that favor the "present civilization," he said, will have to preserve it: "We are at the dawn of a decisive conflict between the representatives of order and anarchy."

European nations are preparing to recognize the Spanish rebels when they take Madrid and set up a national government.

The idea is to take prompt action and forestall the victorious insurgents' giving Spanish territory to Italy or Germany.

The French rightist newspapers declare the Thorez incident was part of the Russian Communist scheme to throw France against Germany so that Russia will not be left alone to face "any eventual German attack."

News Review of Current Events the World Over

New "Temporary" Gold Standard Adopted — Russia Accused of Using Spanish War to Rouse International Discard—Belgium Abandons Alliances.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

"IT IS a new gold standard, a way of doing business which has never been tried before," was Secretary Morgenthau's characterization of the agreement just entered into by the United States, Great Britain and France.

The new plan, Mr. Morgenthau said, differs from the old gold standard in that it will permit the export or earmarking of gold only to and between governments instead of private business institutions and traders.

"The door is wide open," said Mr. Morgenthau. "We're not going out drumming up business, but we'll welcome all other countries which want to participate."

According to the Treasury department, the United States alone will announce a selling price for gold. France and England will keep their selling prices secret, though there will be a free flow of gold between the stabilization funds of the three nations.

It was believed that Great Britain was the prime mover in this new pact. As one commentator put it: "The agreement was made necessary when France devalued her currency and placed an embargo on gold exports, because Great Britain suddenly discovered that nowhere in the world was there left a fixed yardstick against which to measure international commitments and handle international exchange."

SOVIET RUSSIA made a second determined effort to aid the beleaguered government of Spain, and sustained a second rebuff. Ivan Maisky, Russian ambassador to England, handed to Lord Plymouth, British chairman of the non-intervention committee, a virtual ultimatum demanding immediate convocation of the committee to consider blockading the coast of Portugal against arms shipments destined for the Spanish insurgents.

Observers in Europe are convinced that the Soviet government does not expect the powers to agree to any such blockade as is suggested, but is chiefly interested in stirring up discord among the nations.

British Foreign Minister Anthony Eden, after hearing of Lord Plymouth's reply, made a speech at Sheffield in which he pledged Great Britain's unwavering support to the policy of nonintervention in Spain.

Leaders of the Fascists were reported to have planned a steady, steam-roller advance on Madrid, and this offensive was already under way.

Those that favor the "present civilization," he said, will have to preserve it: "We are at the dawn of a decisive conflict between the representatives of order and anarchy."

MAURICE THOREZ, French Communist leader, made a speech in Strasbourg that is causing a lot of trouble. He was charged with deliberately insulting Adolf Hitler, and the Berlin government entered formal protest.

The French rightist newspapers declare the Thorez incident was part of the Russian Communist scheme to throw France against Germany so that Russia will not be left alone to face "any eventual German attack."

FIGURES made public by the American Navy Department show that since July 1 last every great naval power except the United States has increased the number and tonnage of its war vessels.

In the 2 1/2 months from July 1 to September 15, the United States reduced the number of its ships from 324 vessels totaling 1,080,715 tons to 306 vessels, totaling 1,062,875 tons.

Germany increased ships from forty-nine to fifty-three and tonnage from 113,768 to 125,458.

Belgium, which since the close of the World War has been tied tight to France by a military alliance, has decided to drop that and all similar alliances.

King Leopold so informed the cabinet, telling the ministers that Germany's reoccupation of the Rhineland "practically puts us back where we were before the great war."

Belgium's geographical position, he said, "makes it imperative for us to maintain a military machine of such size as to dissuade any neighbor from using our territory to attack another state."

AUTHORITY of the national maritime commission to declare a permanent truce in current contract controversies is challenged by the negotiating committee for the Pacific coast maritime unions, and members of those unions are instructed to vote on a proposal for a coast-wide waterfront strike.

The maritime commission had peremptorily demanded that the Pacific coast ports be kept open while it sent an investigator to San Francisco to discuss the conditions which have long threatened to bring on industrial warfare.

In telegrams to President Franklin Roosevelt and the commission, the committee said the commission had caused "great unrest" among the workers through its participation in negotiations between ship-owners and dock and shipboard employees.

SENATOR WILLIAM E. BORAH of Idaho, whose attitude in the Presidential campaign is a matter of great interest to all parties, has declared he would confine his attention to state matters; but then, being irked by some criticism from Republicans he went further and said he was "going after the Republican party."

"Well, what is a regular?" he asked. "A regular is a man with no ideas, who waits for someone to tell him what to do. My idea of being regular is in doing what you believe to be right in the interests of the people you represent."

"Let this be understood—I'm telling all parties, Republican, Democratic, Union—I'm going to advocate the things I believe in whether they cross party lines or not."

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By REV. HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, Dean of the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago, © Western Newspaper Union.

Lesson for October 25 CHRISTIANITY AS LOVE

LESSON TEXT—Acts 18:1-4; I Corinthians 13. GOLDEN TEXT—And now abideth faith, hope, charity (love), these three; but the greatest of these is charity (love). I Cor. 13:13.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Why Paul Was Not Afraid. JUNIOR TOPIC—Courage in the Night. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What Christian Love Is and Does. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Love, the Law of Life.

By way of Athens the apostle Paul and his co-workers came to Corinth, one of the great commercial and social centers of Greece. It was a city known for its magnificent architecture and its patronage of the fine arts, but even more widely known for its abandonment to vice and wickedness.

The first portion of our lesson finds Paul at Corinth, and provides an introduction to the study of the love chapter from I Corinthians by showing from his experience that

I. Love Is a Fact, Not a Theory (Acts 18:1-4).

The man whom we now recognize as perhaps the greatest preacher and teacher of Christian truth who ever followed the Lord Jesus Christ "came to Corinth."

And the humility of loving service expresses itself further in the fact that the one who was to bring Corinth the glorious message of the gospel did so at his own cost.

In his first letter to the church which grew up at Corinth we find the exhaustively rich chapter in which Paul so fittingly describes true Christian love. It is impossible in any short discussion of this passage to make a complete study of it, but we note

II. Four Truths About Love (I Cor. 13:1-13).

1. Love is superior to the other graces (vv. 1-3).

Life has many excellent gifts and men seek after them. How do they compare with love? Glowing eloquence, the far-seeing eye of the prophet, mountain-moving faith, self-sacrifice—without love they all lose their worth; in fact they are nothing.

2. Love is necessary to the other graces (vv. 4-7).

There is a sense in which love is not so much a grace in itself as the underlying and motivating power, which shows in every fine and noble expression of Christian character.

3. Love is permanent; other graces fail (vv. 8-12).

Some gifts will cease, for there will no longer be any need for them. They are temporary in their value or simply a means to an end. But love—it began with God in eternity and will go on with him through eternity.

4. Love is supreme (v. 13).

Even over those other graces which with love will abide, namely, faith and hope, love stands supreme. It is the fundamental of all fundamentals. Without it all else is empty and futile.

Hardships and hardships provoke our courage, and when our fortunes are at the lowest, our wits and minds are commonly at the best.

Common Sense: Common sense in one view is the most uncommon sense. While it is extremely rare in possession, the recognition of it is universal.

An Odious Quality: Conceit is the most contemptible and one of the most odious qualities in the world. It is vanity driven from all other shifts, and forced to appeal to itself for admiration.

Household Questions

In washing painted woodwork use a pail of lukewarm water to which has been added about five tablespoons of kerosene oil. Wipe with a dry, clean cloth.

To polish a table that has become spoiled by hot dishes, apply a few drops of essence of peppermint with a clean cloth and rub briskly.

After a long time, they reached a fork of the ridge. "But the deed says nothing at all about a fork," Reuben said. "Which way do we go?" And the Patterns were embarrassed because no one had been there in many years. They tried the left fork. There was the big rock and a small clump of great walnut trees. There were no marks, but Abrai was so sure that he seized an ax and cut through the bark into the tree, exposing a black scar where Barton had once sunk his ax.

"I guess we'll have to make you our reconnoiterer, Abrai," Reuben said. "What a that?" demanded Abrai. Reuben smiled at him. "The chap who goes ahead of the detachment to spy out the enemy and get shot first."

"I guess the Indians are all gone now." "I hope the corner trees aren't," Julia was riding up Wolfpen. They watched the Finemare pace the Long Bottom and disappear into the orchard. "That will give us a start," Reuben said. "We'll get course and distance on this line tomorrow. It's a big job we have on our hands."

They went on to the head of Barn Hollow, and then made their way down the cool seclusion of its tiny branch toward the house. The sound of the dinner bell went up Wolfpen, portions of itself spitting off at each hollow and dying away among the leaves of the underbrush.

"I don't reckon we could have timed it any better than that," Sparrel said. Sparrel introduced Reuben, and Julia spoke kindly to him. "I'm right sorry I was gone just when you came. I don't very often leave the place."

She helped Cynthia with the dinner table. In the afternoon, Jasper went to get help for the surveying, and Jesse and Abrai went to the fields. Reuben studied the deeds again, making notes in his brown book. Cynthia brought red scraps of cloth to tie into the marking pins so they could be easily seen by the chalmen, and a large red square to fasten on the flagpole. "I don't reckon I ought to tell him I wore them myself."

"Have you any idea how long it will take to run off this place?" Sparrel asked. "I'll take a long time. Most of the summer. At least I hope so," Reuben added and laughed.

The days soon slipped into a quietly exciting routine, pushed forward by the activity of morning and evening and the pleasant talk of the men about the small details of their work. It was almost as if the old and customary adjustment of life on Wolfpen were upset not by destruction but by the creation of a new quality of enlargement. Cynthia knew that the joyous tension under which she carried the increasing burden of the housework had come from the presence of Reuben.

Their few words were outwardly the commonplace greetings at the wash rock before the meals, or a phrase at the table, or a polite word as he sat down before the drawing table arranged for him in one corner of the kitchen. But deep within each of them, where the life of a word begins before it is wrapped and delivered in sound, were being formed those mysterious rearrangements of the soul which adjust two people to the recognition of love.

Each evening after supper Reuben would sit for a time on the porch with Sparrel, watching the first evening stars take form above the valley, or he would walk to the barn with the boys. In that interval, Cynthia would finish the dishes and place the clean and polished lamp on the table neatly covered with Reuben's materials for plotting the lines he had surveyed on that day. Then he would come in with the brown leather note-book recording the day's journey through the underbrush, into the hollows and over the hills. Sparrel and the boys would crowd about him to watch the curious process of reproducing in miniature on a piece of brown paper the boundaries of the place they had surveyed.

"There," Reuben said, pointing with the pencil, "is Cranenest. Then we went straight to the walnut tree, and there is the hollow, and then up the hill to that first big poplar, and down that gully to the big stone in the creek right there."

She lingered in the room with the men as long as she felt good manners would allow. Then she left them and went out into the orchard in the night. She felt the silent tumult of all things alive and in ferment with growth. The apple trees were filling with plump green fruit, bearing on their navel the last of the withered blossoms. Even the orphaned lamb was turbulent with expanding energy, and his thin and incapable legs were now strong and reliable. All along the valley, up along the cowpaths, all around the garden, everything was shooting recklessly up out of the pregnant ground.

She felt the same power stirring within herself. It was new and disquieting and thrilling and came up from a part of herself that lay beyond and deeper than thought. It was one with the moist air stirring over the valley, gently cooler than her own flesh, laden with the mysterious life-throb of all the years, communicating to her the secret and the urgency of its way. She yielded herself to it eagerly and naturally with senses untouched by her thought or her will and she felt exalted by this strange and secret ache in the eternal mystery of the night and under the unburied and timeless stars above Wolfpen.

"It's a soft night. You can feel the live wind come fresh out of the woods and run softly over your face and delicately under your dress and around your body. And then you are not tired and more, and you seem more alive than you ever were before. Next to the curiosity of the way the chickens crow in the morning, like they thought it was time for the day and God had forgot to light up the sun and set it over Cranenest, and then they wait a little while in quiet to give Him a chance to remember before they break out again; and suddenly when they do the dark begins to run down from the Pinnacle, slow, fast, and then faster until the sun pops up and takes the valley and all the chickens crow again a third time bigger than ever as though they had done the miracle—next to that in this place is the night-sounding quiet at the end of May and the way it goes inside of you and makes something happen to you and you tremble with it. The way it is now. It is not the tremble of seeing a snake swallowing a toad in the afternoon. It's the tremble of being born or released instead of devoured. It feels like the night were trying to do something to you and you can hear it speak. I know what it means even without the words. I reckon Rebekah heard it saying wordless things to her when she listened under the stars in the Holy Land and thought of Isaac in a far country: that she is a woman and that love can reach over a long way and touch her and take her even to another place; and that the life in her will go on in a new place far from her father's land. It begins the way the corn comes up, the fragile blades curled tight into a green spindle boring its way through the ground. You can't see how such a tiny blade can move away the dirt and climb out of the place where it was buried without breaking. If you just so much as touch it it goes to green water and scum on your fingers. But almost overnight the blades unwind in arched pairs from the stalk and when you hold the two points together they make the figure of a heart.

"Does Reuben feel the living thing in the woods when he is all day among the timber, and do the sweet damp smells of the hollow and the intervals of silence in the midst of bill sounds show things inside of him he hadn't found there before? The way he looks up at me and the shine comes into his eyes, like he had been away and had just got back and was happy over it. Reuben's face keeps changing like he took each thing and placed it higher or lower than something else. He looks at me over the head of the others when they don't take up all there is in something he or Daddy says, and he smiles at me to say, 'You see all the colors in a rainbow, not just the red.' I don't, though. Things have been happening so fast and so strange I can't get them all straight and I just sit out here in the night possessed by them and wondering what's going to happen next. I could nearly wish it might stay just the way it is. But it doesn't ever stay the way it is. I reckon from the movement of the stars I ought to be back at the house. If you could just gather up an armful of an evening like this the way you do wild honeysuckle and put it away to feel and look at after the moment is gone."

CHAPTER IX It could not be gathered up, and there were the other men to be cared for now that the surveying was well under way. They made the table very large. There was York Burney whom Reuben had accepted and trained as chalmen, and there was Spur Darton who had come as ax-man. And there was red-haired and toothless Ezra Ferguson from above Horsepen. She knew how it would be but she did not dream of complaining or phrasing an inhospitable thought. She could hear his ax on the hill above, the orchard clearing a sight through the trees for Reuben's compass, and then the voice of Reuben calling to Abrai to move the rod a little to his left. "I guess the corn and the sheep and the plums and Mother's peaches can grow all right this spring without me looking after them. God can see after these things by Himself without much help from anybody, but He leaves the kitchen and the beds to the women-folk, and if they don't do them, they don't get done."

Then Shellenberger came again near the first of June, riding down Wolfpen on Nelson's mule and bringing Mullens with him. Mullens was a hard black man of forty, who had spent his years among the timber-lands of Pennsylvania as field manager and boss of the lumber camps. Shellenberger had brought him in to supervise the whole process of getting out the timber. "Good evening, Mrs. Pattern. Back again."

"Howdy, Mr. Shellenberger." "This is Luke Mullens, who manages the woods for me." "You are right welcome," Julia said. Mullens looked out from under his deep black eyebrows and did not say anything. "Just sit down on the porch. The men-folks are still surveying. They ought to be in any minute now," Julia said. Julia arranged the chairs a little closer together on each side and added two plates for the strangers.

"Five extra men-folks makes the work heavier," Cynthia said. "It's nothing for women-folk to excite themselves over," Julia said. "But the work was greater and harder, and its demands and the coming of the heat, the extra washing and ironing, cooking and dish-washing and the unusual excitement were tiring to Julia and Cynthia, and Julia was finding it hard to get time and strength to keep her garden neat. Neither were the fields so frequently and carefully worked this spring. Never had a Wolfpen bottom gone without adequate cultivation. But the survey must come first, and one of the boys working each day could keep ahead of the weeds. Julia saw these things and Sparrel saw them. But they had guests and they were selling land.

There was much talk among the men-folk in the yard after supper. "How is the survey getting on?" Shellenberger asked. "All right," Reuben said. "Some days we run a great deal when it's level, or not too grown up and the marks can be found. Other times we spend most of a day trying to get one stralch line up and down a hill to a corner we can be certain of. But it gets on as well as common."

"When will you get around it?" "I couldn't say about that. These deeds give no course and only an approximate distance, so we have to feel our way along. Maybe two or three months, more or less." Then he came into the kitchen, where Cynthia was washing dishes, to get his map to show Shellenberger.

It was the first time since he came to Wolfpen that he had been alone with her. Cynthia was acutely aware of his presence. "I guess I can show him better than I can tell him," Reuben said, lifting the thumb-tacks with the blade of his knife. "I guess you'll have plenty of help tomorrow."

"Yes, I reckon. Are those men going to stay here, too?" "I guess Mother is fixing up another bed in your room for them. I don't reckon you mind them being there."

"Not at all. Only, I'm afraid we're making too much work for you, with all these extra people to cook for and look after. We don't want to overdo your hospitality."

"It isn't much more," she murmured simply. And then, when he was gone out to the men: "He's the politest man that ever I saw in my life in his words. But that hard black man, I don't like him, and I'm glad Reuben Warren is one of the men, and not just that Shellenberger and his man who doesn't say anything." And she was less tired because of the gentle words of Reuben.

"... and today we went over this ridge which you crossed farther north about there, and we ought to reach the watershed tomorrow and turn northwest and parallel Gannon creek into the territory you want to buy." Cynthia could see him in the last visible twilight, pointing with his pencil while Sparrel held the other end of the brown paper and Shellenberger and the dark man looked on.

"These are the creeks I have sketched in, just roughly indicating how they radiate into Wolfpen."

As Reuben pointed and explained, Shellenberger twirled his cigar and said, "I see. . . I see." "Looks good to me, Mr. Pattern," he said. "I'd like to go over the ground with my field man here and begin to get the lay-out planned a bit so we can get to work as soon as possible. I suppose you can put us up for a few days until we can see where we are? Of course I'll pay you for lodging."

People had come and gone in Wolfpen Bottoms through the century. They had eaten at the Pattern house, they had slept in Pattern beds, and their mules had been stabled in the Pattern barn. But no man, not even a peddler or a drover, had ever paid for a lodging, or given coin in exchange for a meal. Without hesitation, Sparrel spoke the only custom he knew for men to meet by.

"Stay here and welcome, but there isn't any charge when a man comes to your house." "Then suppose we just give the money to the women," Shellenberger said. Cynthia heard from the kitchen where she was hanging up the pan. The thought of pay for cooking for men-folk had never occurred to her before. But when Shellenberger mentioned it, the thought grew less strange and remote, and as it stayed with her there in the kitchen, the thought of having money of her own for her work became attractive. "It's only because it's no fun to mix bread and say to yourself, 'This is for that Shellenberger and his black-eyed helper,' so if they want to give money for it maybe they ought to give it. Only you don't think about it when you make the bed or dip a spoonful of honey for Reuben. Money for cooking for a man? I just reckon this spring everything is all twisted around till a body can't recognize the way things are."

"... for we'll be extra-trouble, and I'd feel more like asking for what I want if I was paying for it," Shellenberger was saying. Sparrel dropped it there. They sat on the porch listening while Shellenberger told of his return to Pittsburgh and of the business and the bustle of the great world beyond the hills.

"We're on the edge of great things in the Ohio valley," Shellenberger said. "I reckon it all depends on just what a man wants in this world. Saul and Barton and Tivis Pattern found building a place like this a great thing. And it's been a good place to live."

Sparrel said, "Sure," Shellenberger agreed. "But a thing can't just stay one way, you know. We have to go on with progress."

Julia came quietly to the porch, saying, "The beds are ready, and I've fixed one for the two men in with Jesse and Reuben."

"I'm ready to turn in," Shellenberger said. York Burney and Spur Darton went up with Jasper and Abrai. Reuben and Jesse slipped quietly into bed. Mullens stood in the middle of the floor gazing at Shellenberger, but not removing his clothes. Shellenberger sat on the edge of the bed unlacing his boots. Sparrel came to the door to make formal inquiry of his guests and to say good night.

"Where's this man to sleep?" Shellenberger asked. "He can sleep with you," Sparrel said, simply and naturally as custom. "Oh, no. He doesn't sleep with me. I sleep by myself."

Sparrel had never known a man to object to sharing a bed in another man's house. He looked at Shellenberger, and then at Mullens and then at Reuben. "I guess the beds are about all full now but you're," Sparrel said. "He can sleep just anywhere," Shellenberger said. "Give him a blanket or something."

But the black man had got out of the room and did not answer Sparrel's call. Shellenberger went on with his undressing. He turned back the bright tulip-patterned quilt Julia had spread with care over the bed. He saw that there was only one sheet on the bed. "And I want another sheet, please, to sleep under and a single small pillow if you have one."

Sparrel stood looking at him, but Julia had heard him speak, and without revealing any of the hurt to her pride, she got them quietly from the linen closet and gave them to Sparrel. Reuben, lying on the bed and looking up at Sparrel, could feel him restraining speech before his sense of outrage's hospitality.

"That's much better," Shellenberger said, apparently unaware of the thing he had done. He lay down, drawing the cedar-scented sheet over him. "Good night," he said. But Sparrel did not answer until he had reached the door; then he said without warmth, "Good night." And as if remembering Reuben and Jesse, "Rest to you, boys."

Cynthia, in her room next door, lying still and hearing the night blot out the voices: "I reckon I'll be right glad when it's done and we live again like we always have, without a man like Shellenberger wanting to pay for his keep and then doing a thing like that. Before he came we were weaving and planting and making garden and it was like the other springs. Everything has been in a whirl from the minute he rode into the bottom. . . . Only Reuben is a gentleman as much as Shellenberger but he sees finer into people's ways and feelings. . . . and he wouldn't come here if that man hadn't."

In the morning Mullens came up to the wash rock brushing the straw from his hair and trousers. "Where have you been?" Abrai asked. "The barn," he said, with a squint about his eyes. Sparrel only said, "Morning." When breakfast was over, Shellenberger spoke to him for the first time. "We'll go with the party this morning and see the lay-out. Then we'll go on across to Gannon and figure on an opening."

There was always a magic about Wolfpen in the first hour after breakfast when the cool mist began to rise from the valley, and the hills and trees took form in the increasing light. The men went up Wolfpen to the fifth hollow on the left, turned into it and climbed along the thin channel of Turkey creek to its source, and then up the steep final slopes to the ridge where the line had ended the night before in a mass of underbrush.

There Reuben set up the compass near the last corner tree, and established a course for the new departure. Ezra and Spur plunged into the thick brush, hacking it down with the ax and corn knife. Abrai went along behind them to keep them on the line. Sparrel went ahead to hunt the marked trees, and Jasper, grown skilful as head chalmen, followed with the measuring chain. Sparrel would find the next corner tree. Reuben would find the bearing of the line and re-establish the corner, the ax-men would move into the brush on the new course, and led by rod they advanced with the survey. All morning they toiled, crawling over fallen logs, through clumps of berry vines and greenbriers that bit through or endured, and suddenly onto rock cliffs covered with moss and edged with pine trees where they must delay the line and find a way around, down into sharp steep gullies unseen since Saul Pattern tramped over them, up again on the other side, always holding to the line which Reuben set with the compass and Sparrel verified by the trees.

At noon they were on a ledge of rock at the very head of Wolfpen. Sparrel pointed over the expanse of virgin timber with his right hand. "I reckon that will be the section you get, Mr. Shellenberger." "It looks like we could get a few poplars out of it," Shellenberger said. "Mullens and I will just go back through this section this afternoon." "We had better eat here," Reuben said. They all went down under the deep overhanging rock cliff. It was covered with heavy moss and bordered at the base with ferns and laurel and pine trees. It was cool and picturesque. "This is Wildcat Cave," Sparrel said, and he told some of his hunting stories while they ate from the baskets Julia and Cynthia had prepared for them. They rested and talked, and then Reuben said it was time to go. "That ridge over there leads around to the Pinnacle above the mill," Sparrel said to Shellenberger. "You get all that north slope and beyond. Bear that in mind and you won't lose your way." "We'll see you at the house this evening," Shellenberger said. (TO BE CONTINUED)

Giant Sloth Unable to Walk Over Mile in Month South America was isolated from other continents for long periods of geologic time, according to scientists. Therefore it developed animals unlike any others in the world, says a writer in the Washington Post.

One of these was the giant sloth. Armed with long scimitar-like claws, this great beast was so clumsy it couldn't travel much more than a mile in a month. Today's sluggish tree-sloth of South America is one of its descendants.

Another fantastic animal was called thomashuxleya. It was so named by a South American scientist in honor of the great Nineteenth century English anatomist, Thomas Huxley. Its fossilized skeleton was found in Patagonia and reconstructed by the American Museum of Natural History in New York City.

Affectionately known as "Tommy" to the museum staff, this creature is said to resemble nothing else that ever lived.

It stood two feet high at the shoulder and was about five feet long. It had a head, large for the size of its body, and walked about on short but very powerful legs ending in spayed feet.

Churches Had "Devil's Door" In the Middle Ages many churches had a "Devil's Door" through which the devil could make a hasty exit, during a baptism, when the sponsor "led" the child. One such door is on the north side of the old Malton church on Lizard Head in Cornwall, England.—Winifred White, Story Book, Alaska, in Collier's Weekly.

THIS INVESTIGATION MANIA

It seems that the House of Representatives in Austin has a mania for investigating. It wants to investigate everything and everybody. Some have suggested that the promoters of this investigation...

If the matter of making appropriations for the University of Texas were now before the legislature or if it were booked to come before the present legislature, then there might be some reason for this body to make investigation of charges that communism is being taught in the University.

This craze for investigating something or somebody is further illustrated by the demand of one or more of the members that the political activities of J. Evetts Haley, a former member of the University faculty who is now chairman of the "Jeffersonian Democrats" of Texas, be investigated.

Indications are that President Roosevelt will be elected by a substantial majority of the popular vote and a huge majority in the electoral college.

But can't a former professor of the University oppose or support any political party he pleases without calling forth a legislative investigation? Isn't this yet a free country?

Still, as foolish and as un-called for as this communism investigation and other proposed investigations may be, we deeply regret that a group of University students last week so far forgot the precepts of good breeding and the virtues of common courtesy and gentlemanliness as to indulge in the contemptible conduct of booing and cat-calling while the legislative committee was endeavoring to conduct its investigation.

A recent statement issued from WPA headquarters at San Antonio reveals that in 1930 there were 303,000 illiterate persons in Texas. The WPA is maintaining literacy classes in which more than 30,000 adults were given instruction during the past summer in rudimentary subjects.

Indications are that President Roosevelt will be elected by a substantial majority of the popular vote and a huge majority in the electoral college.

win elections, but the outward demonstrations of popular favor which he enjoys are confirmed by the straw vote which is being conducted by the American Institute of Public Opinion. The results of this poll published in the Dallas News last Sunday would indicate that Roosevelt is leading in states that have 390 electoral votes against 141 for Landon; that Roosevelt has 51.4 percent of the popular vote while Landon has only 43.8 percent.

In spite of the fact that the depression came on during the Hoover administration, rendering him very unpopular, yet he is today by far the most logical and most effective campaigner the Republicans have. Speaking in Philadelphia a few nights ago, he received a great ovation, and his arraignment of the Roosevelt administration, in which he contrasted Roosevelt promises with Roosevelt performance and charged the administration with "juggling the figures" so as to deceive the people, was a masterpiece of offensive political warfare.

We suggest to the people of Tahoka who have a surplus of little Chinese elm trees that they take care to preserve them for future use along the highways and public roads and in other public places in Lynn county. And it might be that many of our farmers would like to beautify their premises or establish windbreaks about their homes by planting out these trees.

Many of these cases were likewise disposed of at the current term of the court.

An unusually large number of these cases charged the offense of driving an automobile while intoxicated.

I. H. Brunson, charged with this offense, entered a plea of guilty and was fined $150 by the court and restrained for one year from driving an automobile. Brunson is the man who was driving the car which collided with a coupe driven by Frank Brown and occupied by other young people at the turn of the highway at Central Church last July 4, resulting in painful though not serious injuries to all the occupants of the coupe. Brunson pleaded as a mitigating circumstance that he had been requested by the owner of the car to drive it for him and that he was doing so as a matter of accommodation when the collision occurred.

Guy Hart of O'Donnell pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated. He was assessed a fine of $50 and was restrained from driving a car for a period of two years.

S. D. Kuykendall drew a fine of $50 and was restrained from driving a car for a period of six months on a plea of guilty to drunken driving.

D. E. Harris of O'Donnell was tried before a jury for the offense of driving while intoxicated, though he too entered a plea of guilty. After hearing the evidence, the jury assessed his punishment at a fine of $300, confinement in the county jail for 60 days, and restrained him from driving a car for one year.

Jack Scoggin, a mere youth, was fined $50 for driving while intoxicated and restrained from driving a car for a period of 90 days, on a plea of guilty.

Frank Shumake likewise drew a $50 fine and was restrained from driving a car for a period of 90 days, on a plea of guilty.

W. V. Gibbs also pleaded guilty to a driving-while intoxicated charge. His spree also cost him $50, and his right to drive a car for the next 90 days was taken away.

J. H. Freeman was indicted for forgery in two cases by the recent grand jury. In one case he entered a plea of guilty and was assessed two years in the penitentiary. He is alleged to have forged two checks, passing one of them on the O'Donnell Bank and the other on the First National Bank here. Both were small checks. One of the cases was dismissed.

Curtis Watkins, a gentleman of color, was indicted for the theft of a Ford car from Jay Moore of New Home last spring. He seems to have borrowed the car without the owner's knowledge or consent, took it to Oklahoma, and forgot to bring it back. He drew a suspended sentence of three years.

Wesley Owens and W. B. Duncan, two youths of the Grassland community, were indicted for the theft of a horse belonging to Mrs. Harry Jones last May. They entered pleas of guilty, and their escapade resulted in their being placed under a two years suspended sentence.

Charlie Wilson and J. L. Ross, two sons of Ham, entered the residence of a farmer near O'Donnell last March while the family happened to be away from home and helped themselves to quite a quantity of household goods and clothing. Breaking into the house, they were indicted for burglary. They entered pleas of guilty, and for the next two years they will take their meals on one of the state farms down in the vicinity of Houston.

J. R. Geurin and Lee Howell were indicted separately for the theft of three bales of cotton last April from

L. E. Bartlett, but these cases were continued until the next term of court.

J. B. Baldree was indicted for assault to murder, but this case also went over to the next term.

D. E. Harris was indicted for carrying a pistol, a misdemeanor. This case will be transferred to the county court.

Two indictments for assault with intent to murder were returned against H. H. Walker, the O'Donnell farmer who recently opened fire on Deputy Sheriff John Johnson and Night Watchman Will Brown in O'Donnell. These cases were set for trial at a special term to be held here beginning Thursday of this week. It is understood that a plea of insanity will be interposed for Walker.

In a few cases, the defendants have not yet been apprehended.

CHURCH OF CHRIST NOTES

Our meeting started off last Lor's Day in a fine way with three services and fine crowds.

The meeting will continue over next Lor's Day with three services and a basket dinner. Every member is urged to bring a well-filled basket to take care of the visitors.

Brother Wallace is surely giving us some fine lessons that we hope will be heeded. The singing is being led by Brother Taylor.

Come and hear some good preaching and fine singing.—R. P. Drennon.

Able To Resume Work After Three Days Treatment With Williams S. L. K. Formula

Well Known Lubbock Man Had Been Unable to Work for Two Months Because of Kidney, Liver, and Stomach Trouble.

It was a red letter day for Jim "Doc" Woodard of 914 Main St., Lubbock, Texas, known throughout the state as a maker of cowboy boots, when he ordered his first bottle of Williams S. L. K. Formula. For two months he had been unable to attend to his business because of the acuteness of his condition. Eating was followed by bloating and severe pains. His rest was broken into at nights, having to get up three or four times every night because of his kidneys. He was so sick, in fact, that he had to send to the druggist for his first bottle of Williams S. L. K.

Formula when he learned of it. Mr. Woodard had a real surprise at the quick results from using it. He says: "I am willing to tell anyone, troubled as I was, about Williams S. L. K. Formula. After three days' treatment I was entirely relieved and went back to work. I eat anything I care to without distress and sleep soundly at night."

If you are troubled as Mr. Woodard was, get Williams S. L. K. Formula at once at Wynne Collier Drug. More than merely a relief agent, it is devoted to attacking and correcting your trouble at its source. The only true relief is permanent correction of your trouble. If you are not entirely satisfied with your first bottle of Williams S. L. K. Formula, Wynne Collier Drug is authorized to refund your money.

Lady Took Cardui When Weak, Nervous

"I can't say enough for Cardui if I talked all day," enthusiastically writes Mrs. L. H. Caldwell, of Statesville, N. C.

"I have used Cardui at intervals for twenty-five years," she adds. "My trouble in the beginning was weakness and nervousness. I read of Cardui in a newspaper and decided right then to try it. It seemed before I had taken half a bottle of Cardui I was stronger and was soon up and around."

Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, send a 10-cent

MRS. SUDDARTH'S FATHER IN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

W. E. Suddarth was here from O'Donnell Wednesday afternoon and reported that Mrs. Suddarth was called to Butler, Missouri, on Monday night by the critical condition of her father, 80 years of age. He had been seriously injured in an automobile accident.

The aged man was in a hospital there, and all the children had been summoned to his bedside.

Friends here will be grieved to learn that the baby of Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Hays is in a Lubbock Sanitarium suffering from sleeping sickness. Mr. Hays was principal of the high school here several years ago. He is now superintendent of the new consolidated high school at Woodrow.

ATTENDS FUNERAL AT SEMINOLE

Mr. and Mrs. Belton Howell and son Wade, Paul Howell, and Yates Harwell, a friend of the family, attended the funeral of Mrs. Babe Howell at Seminole Sunday. Mrs. Howell died Friday, leaving the husband and four children surviving her.

Babe Howell is a brother of Belton and Paul and lived here many years ago.

Miss Lida Cooper, district home demonstration agent, was here Thursday of last week conferring with Miss Lilit Boyd, county home demonstration agent, and made a pleasant call at the News Office.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Randolph, son and daughter, enroute home from California, spent a night here recently with their daughter, Mrs. Beecher Sherrod. They reside at Moran.

Mrs. Charley Brown returned Monday from a week's visit with her daughter, Mrs. O. D. Pierce, better known here as Miss Faye Brown, at Sonora. She was accompanied home by Mrs. Pierce, who is visiting here this week.

Sport News

It seems that we have a football game on the local gridiron this coming Friday between the O'Donnell Eagles and our own Bulldogs. As it was so accurately stated in the Eagle Screams, "It is necessary that we beat" O'Donnell.

The Bulldogs took a beating from the Eagles two years ago, and this is their first chance of repaying the Eagles. The Bulldogs are in fine shape, as they had no game last week, and the spectators will probably witness a good game. Both teams are "out to get" the other, and this may prove to be one of our liveliest games. No one will want to miss this fight, and a good crowd is expected.

School Spirit

We hear much talk about this thing called "School Spirit." Perhaps many of us instead of listening to really inspiring talks on the subject just relax and think of something not at all pertaining to the present happenings. We might begin by deciding just what school spirit is. First of all it is born of a true-hearted loyalty to our school and what it means to us. It is that "something" that makes us cheer lustily for our team when it is on the little end of a 47-0 score. Any football player or such contestant will tell us that loyal cheering makes it much easier to take unavoidable defeat or to push on to a glorious victory. Besides cheering at the proper time loyal spirit teaches us when to remain perfectly quiet and give the team a chance to perform a complicated play that takes a great amount of brain work.

Not only is school spirit a great part of our athletics and out-door contests, but it is also a part of our classroom activities. It is the loyal person who strives to be prompt and efficient in his school work. The person who has a special gift for entertaining is not very loyal if he refuses to use this gift when called upon to perform. A person who has proper school spirit will be kind and helpful to new pupils, to substitute teachers, and will respect our building. Above all school spirit should teach us to be loyal to our school, our teams and schoolmates, and to be ladies and gentlemen at all times.

English 4 Class

The English 4 class is greatly interested in the study of their new literature books. The class began by studying a bit of English history and that great Anglo-Saxon Epic, "Beowulf". This was followed by the study of Tennyson's translations of "The Battle of Brunanburh" which is the greatest war-song ever written.

The class feels that the best is yet to come as they are just beginning the study of Chaucer's "Canterbury Tales" written in old English. Miss Ada Hayes, who recently took a course in the writings of Chaucer is helping the class greatly. The poetry is found very rhythmical and beautiful and is proving a delightful study.

Home Economics Department

The Home Economics rooms have been greatly improved by the addition of some new furniture and equipment. Some unused tables were moved from another part of the building and serve as working surfaces in the clothing laboratory. Two new ironing boards have been added and are very useful in the sewing room. The girls of the second and third year classes have been cooperating in making new scrim curtains and scarves for the dining room. These add greatly to the appearance of the room. The girls plan further improvement by way of repainting some of the furniture in the food laboratory. Re-arrangement of some of the furniture has also improved the appearance and increased the efficiency of the Home Economics Department.

Senior Happenings

Some weeks ago, when the representatives from various engraving companies were here, the invitation committee selected by the Senior Class gave specifications for an invitation to be made up. The representatives sent these specifications to the Standard Engraving Company and a sample of the invitation was made up and sent to the Seniors last week. The invitation is very plain as is fitting for a formal invitation. It is beautiful and of graceful design and is pleasing to a majority of the Seniors.

The Seniors are happy to welcome to their class J. W. Alexander, a former student in Tahoka High School. J. W. comes from Missouri bringing excellent records of past accomplishments.

Public Speaking Work

The Public Speaking Class is just now getting in to the most interesting part of its work, that of making talks. The foundation for speaking was laid by a very thorough study of the fundamentals of speech arts, including poise, spontaneity, and the use of the voice in tone and word production.

The class period, on Monday, was spent in making three-minute-talks on building of interest. There were talks, in form of descriptions, on several of the Centennial buildings. Other talks included the Mormon Temple in Salt Lake City, Utah, the State Capitol at Austin and the oldest Catholic Church in the United States. There are other talks yet to be made and the class is looking forward with keenest interest to hearing them.

Seventh Grade Plans Party

Last week we told of our plans for a Halloween party. We have now invited the teachers in High School to attend. Our party was at first going to be at one of the pupils' home, and may yet, but we are going to ask for permission to have it at the Legion Hall. We have appointed a decoration committee; a refreshment and entertainment committee was combined. We hope that our party will be a success.

Vermiculite, a strange mineral which floats on water after heat treatment, has been found in Texas by The Planning Board's mineral resources committee and efforts now are being made to interest industry to use it for insulation on ice boxes and hot water heaters. In the raw state vermiculite looks like mica. It is heat resistant.

BIG SPRING COUPLE MARRIED HERE

D. C. Pyles and Mrs. Willie McNeil of Big Spring were married here Monday night by Justice of the Peace W. S. Swan, the bride being a sister of C. T. and J. B. Oliver.

Mrs. J. H. McCoy, who has been visiting her son Clay at San Antonio, has shown remarkable improvement since going there, according to her daughters, Mmes. Gallagher and Holland. They also report that Clay McCoy is now traveling for the Upjohn Medical Company.

Mrs. A. D. McDonald spent a few days last week visiting her parents in Munday.

RADIO EQUIPMENT OPENS NEW FIELD OF STUDY AT ABILENE

Radio continuity and broadcasting technique courses in Hardin-Simmons university open a new field of study and income for west Texans, start of which followed installation of the equipment early this fall.

Students of speech arts and others interested have already made microphone tests and are appearing regularly over station KRBC, Abilene.

Hardin-Simmons broadcasts can be made either at the Hilton Hotel studios of KRBC or by remote control from the fine arts building, university chapel, band room or athletic field.

FALL BUSINESS HAS OPENED UP

Last Saturday was the best day we have had since 1929. There are several reasons for that.

First—We have the largest and best assorted stock we have had since 1929.

Second—The people of Lynn County know that our merchandise is first quality and that our prices are right.

Third—Our prices are the same every day in the week. No "Special Days" nor "Special Hours," No "Sales Days."

We haven't time this week to list the many attractive new items that we have for you—

REPORTS FROM THE COUNTY CLUBS

Miss Lillith Boyd, H. D. Agent

MRS. BARTON HAS VARIETY OF CANNED VEGETABLES

"I usually try to have turnip greens growing the year round. I plant rutabaga turnips. They often get killed down during the winter but they soon grow again," said Mrs. R. W. Barton, co-operator in the New Lynn Home Demonstration Club.

"Rape stands cold well, too. We enjoy it more than turnip greens; I often mix it with turnip greens to improve the flavor," said Mrs. Barton.

Even though Mrs. Barton's canning budget requires approximately 150 containers of green, leafy and yellow vegetables conserved for winter use, she has in her pantry: 150 containers of snap beans, 150 of peas, 15 of carrots, 15 of pumpkin, 15 of sweet potatoes and 30 containers of turnip greens.

She needs 180 containers classed as other vegetables. Under this division she has: 130 containers of corn, 40 containers of white squash, 15 containers of okra and 12 containers of beets.

Mrs. Barton has 125 containers of tomatoes. She needs 135 to serve once each day for four months. She will supplement these with oranges and grapefruit from the store.

To have a balanced budget, she has canned fruit, preserves, jams, jelly, marmalades, pickles and relishes and soups. She will add the meat later.

TAHOKA H. D. CLUB

Miss Boyd gave a demonstration on Gifts from the farm home at the Club meeting in the home of Mrs. Claude Wells October 14.

Any one could give many things from the farm home, such as canned products, preserves or jelly (They make very nice gifts done up in cellophane paper), home made candy, shelled popcorn, or dry beans. Children very often think more of a home-made toy than one we go and buy, such as a negro doll made from a sock or a rabbit made from an old innertube of some kind of animal sawed from a box.

Next meeting will be at the Legion Hall. We are going to quilt.

We are proud of our new members, Mrs. L. O. Mitchell and Mrs. P. W. Goad.

Members present were: Mmes. Aubra Cade, Milt Finch, W. S. Anglin, W. S. Taylor, H. M. Snowden, James Connolly, Paul King, L. O. Mitchell, M. O. Canaday, Charles Nelms, P. W. Goad, A. C. Weaver, Claude Wells, H. D. Agent Miss Lillith Boyd, and visitor: Mrs. G. W. Small.

DIXIE H. D. CLUB (Delayed)

The Dixie H. D. Club met for a social meeting in the home of Mrs. G. B. Sherrod, Wednesday afternoon October 7th.

The group enjoyed a number of games and contests directed by our hostess and Mrs. Buell Draper.

After the games, Mrs. A. L. Dunning presented Mrs. Paul Johnson with two hond-bogs well filled with gifts from those present.

Delicious refreshments, carrying the color scheme and motif of Halloween were served to visitors: Mmes. Cochran, Holland, Hargett, Adams, Hancock, and Short, Members: Mmes. G. J. Cobb, A. L. Dunning, Buell Draper, Bearden, L. Huffaker, M. Berry, A. C. Aycox, Paul Johnson, J. F. Janak and the hostess, Mrs. Sherrod.

FARM PRODUCTS CAREFULLY PREPARED MAKE GIFTS

"Farm products, carefully selected and prepared, make appropriate gifts," said Miss Lillith Boyd, C. H. D. Agent to the Midway C. H. D. Club at the home of Mrs. I. M. Draper, October 15, 2:30 P. M. In a brief business meeting, the preparation of year book material, financing of same, election of officers, which is in the near future, was discussed.

The meeting was then turned to Miss Boyd. She displayed many suitable gifts, demonstrating that farm women can give appropriate presents with very small outlay of money. Miss Lida Cooper, district agent, added many timely suggestions to the list.

Miss Cooper asked all members present for suggestions concerning the procedure of the club work next year.

All members are urged to attend next meeting, November 5, at the home of Mrs. G. A. Edwards, as officers will be elected at that time.

Members present were: Mrs. Rufus Slover, Mrs. R. T. Cope, Mrs. G. A. Edwards, Mrs. R. B. Floyd, Mrs. Sam Floyd, Mrs. Pete Curry, Mrs. Lloyd Edwards, Mrs. Herman Brewer, Mrs. I. M. Draper, Miss Lillith Boyd C. H. D. agent, Miss Lida Cooper, District Agent.

TAHOKA CLUB COOPERATOR MAKES GOOD HOMINY

"Seventy pounds of white corn yielded 231 No. 2 cans of hominy," said Mrs. A. C. Weaver, Home Demonstrator in the Tahoka Home Demonstration Club.

"We used 2 tablespoons of lye to 1 gallon of boiling water and boiled long enough to loosen the hulls. After carefully preparing it was processed for 50 minutes under 15 pounds pressure," added Mrs. Weaver.

MRS. BUEL DRAPER HAS SECRET OF GOOD CORN

"My canned corn is as nice as fresh corn," said Mrs. Buel Draper, cooperator in the Dixie Home Demonstration Club.

Mrs. Draper thinks her secret lies in using only freshly gathered corn which is at the proper stage of ripeness and not processing too long.

Corn is not classed as a starchy food as it once was. It is in the same class as beets, white squash, okra, peas and beans (half mature).

4-H GIRLS CLUB ORGANIZED AT O'DONNELL

Miss Lillith Boyd, C. H. D. A. organized a 4-H Girls Club in O'Donnell Tuesday morning. The following officers were elected:

President: Georgia Lee Barrett.
Vice-President: Mary Frances Brewer.

Sec. Treas: Skeet Galightly.
Reporter: Christine Barber.
Song Leader: Lometa Robison.
Clothing Demonstrator, Laverne Lawler.

Poultry Demonstrator: Lois Howard.

THE TEXAS PLANING BOARD LAUNCHES DRIVE

Austin, Texas, Oct. 16—A drive to interest out of state industries in Texas minerals was launched this week by the Texas Planning Board's Mineral Resources Committee.

The committee, armed with 33 volumes of maps showing the location of practically every important mineral deposit in the state, will search out those industries using minerals similar to those found in Texas and then will attempt to induce these industries to help develop the state's mineral resources.

Data contained in the 33 volumes was collected by the committee's mineralogists with the cooperation of several state and civic agencies and of the landowners themselves who have, in many instances, brought the attention of the committee to deposits of rare minerals.

While the drive to "sell Texas" continues to probe the state's great minerals is on, the committee will underground treasure vaults for additional minerals and new deposits.

Colorado, Texas, Oct. 22—According to word received by his Colorado office, Congressman George Mahon went to New York this week to spend a short time at Democratic National Committee headquarters before going out on another speaking assignment in the interest of President Roosevelt's campaign for reelection. He spoke in several cities of New Mexico last week on a similar assignment.

He spent Monday of this week in Washington, stopping over en route to New York.

Mr. Mahon proceeded to New York at the request of Congressman Sam Rayburn, Member of Congress from Texas and candidate for Majority Leader in the next Congress, who is serving as Chairman of the Speaker's Bureau of the National Committee. He has asked Mr. Mahon to give his full time to the National Campaign until the election, November 3rd immediately after the conclusion of the campaign. Mr. Mahon will return to his Colorado office.

It's difficult to break an old custom; as for instance this practice of paying a premium to the growers of the first and second bales of cotton brought in each year, but quite a few cities and towns are giving notice they will no longer offer premiums for first bales. If we still desire to pay prizes for cotton growing it would be better to offer prizes for best grade or best yield in order to encourage better farming. Then too, it might be best to offer prizes for the planting of soy beans, which are in demand by industry as having a high food value. Let's not be the last to change this first bale prize custom.—Big Spring News.

The American Spirit Endures

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN

National Chairman
 Sentinels of the Republic

During the past few months, newspapers report, there has been a great and revived interest in the national shrines of America.

Visitors have crowded them as seldom before, eager to learn more of their history and significance.

What does it all indicate? The answer probably lies in the distinctive nature of America's patriotic monuments.

In the Old World, national shrines are usually the honored graves of military glory. Probably the most famous of them commemorate the conquests of strong captains, and the power of stern kings.

In America the greatest national shrines are, in contrast, birthplaces of liberty—whether Independence Hall, Bunker Hill or the Alamo. They glorify the freedom and the power of the common man—the ideal established by our Founders, and preserved by generations of valiant citizens.

For a brief while, it would seem, many Americans forgot the message of those shrines, as they listened to a loud chorus of despair lifted in what was represented as the swan-song of the American idea.

For a brief while they ignored those tributes to the courage and faith of our fathers, as they were asked to share the fears of social and economic and political astrologers, suddenly lifted to prominence or power.

But the American spirit endures. It endures not only in our shrines to courage and to freedom, but in our people as well. And against that strong shield all the quivering fears and desperate counsels of academic and political soothsayers beat in vain.

The American patriotic monument is not a wall against which we weep for glories that have fled. It is, instead, a sturdy storehouse of national recollections, where our people renew their faith in the future of the nation.

With such inspiration, America is prepared to reject the prophets of despair who insist that the American ideals of courage and strength and self-reliance are things of the past. It is prepared, instead, to repeat with the poet:

"The Glory of the Present is to make the Future free.
 We love our land for what she is and what she is to be."

Many Thousand Trees Grow On T-Anchor

Forty-five thousand young trees are now growing in the nursery at the T-Anchor Farm north of the College. These trees were set out by the Texas Highway Department on a 4 1/2-acre plot leased from the Farm by the Department.

The nursery is an experimental proposition with the Highway Department which is making an effort to find a suitable locality for growing trees in the Panhandle-Plains. The nursery was established on the College Farm following a soil analysis which proved highly favorable for the purposes of the Department. Six varieties of trees, desert willows, Chinese elms, honey locusts, cottonwoods, trees of Paradise, and catalpas were selected for the experiment. Work was begun on this project last spring. The trees were extensively irrigated during the last summer.—Canyon News.

W. M. S. HAS BUSINESS MEETING

In the monthly business meeting in the Baptist Church Monday afternoon Mrs. Jim Burleson conducted a most interesting devotional on "Your Opportunity and My Opportunity."

Reports were heard from several committee chairmen about different phases of the work. Reports of the Executive Board meeting in Lubbock, Oct. 16, were given.

Mrs. M. L. Penn was elected sponsor of the Y. W. A.

The resignation of Mrs. E. I. Hill as W. M. S. chairman was accepted, and Mrs. J. B. Walker elected chairman, with Mrs. Belton Howell, vice-chairman.

The W. M. S. will meet in circles next Monday.

Those in attendance Monday were: Mesdames Dale, Pennington, Snowden, Goad, Billman, St. Clair, Novill, Burleson, Fortenberry, Howell, King, Weathers, Wells, and Hill.

B. P. Barrington, who has been critically ill for a week, has shown some improvement but is still a very sick man, it is said.

Thief Leaves Bicycle And Card of Thanks

This is ancient history now, but it is interesting. It was told to us soon after it occurred but it failed to find its way into the paper—the fault of a busy editor.

While Mr. and Mrs. Dave Davis, who reside a mile north of Tahoka, were attending church services one day recently during the Methodist revival, some culprit entered their home, evidently with burglarious intent; but instead of getting away with any of their property, he left a bicycle standing by the back door and a written but unsigned note on the dining table apologizing for taking the goods that he didn't take. Sitting on the floor was a big suitcase stuffed half full of cloth of various and sundry kinds, all the property of Mr. and Mrs. Davis. The fellow had evidently been frightened away in the midst of his burglarious act and so left the job unfinished.

Mr. Davis says that as he and Mrs. Davis approached their home they noticed that the cows had gotten out and were grazing in the lane along the highway. When he and Mrs. Davis reached the front premises, he left the car and went back down the road two or three hundred yards to drive the cows in. Mrs. Davis, in the meantime, drove the car back to the garage near the rear of their home, left it in the garage, and then went to her back door and entered. When she did so, she noticed that the house had been ransacked. She called out two or three times asking "Who's in there?" Receiving no answer she became alarmed and ran out the back door and made her way hurriedly down the lane to Mr. Davis. When they returned to the house they could find no one—but they found the bicycle by the back door and the note on the table, which read something like this: "Dear lady, I am sorry to do this, but I need the clothes."

 He had eaten a hearty meal. The bicycle which he left had a flat tire.

TAKES FOUR PRISONERS to Pen

Sheriff B. L. Parker left Wednesday morning with four prisoners for Huntsville, one white man and three Negroes, where they are to serve sentences in the penitentiary.

Freeman, the white man, is to serve two years for forgery; Wilson and Ross, colored, two years each for burglary; and Mose Caro, four years for murder.

CHEVROLET PREFERS NEWS-PAPER ADVERTISING

Chevrolet's achievement of all-time sales records in 1936, under a policy which made newspapers the front line of the company's advertising offensive, has dictated continuation of that policy in 1937, and especially in the announcement of the forthcoming new models. This statement by B. P. Fiskin, advertising manager, was a feature of an all day party which Chevrolet held for 300 newspapermen this week.

"The 1937 models are the finest Chevrolet has ever built," said Mr. Fiskin. "And the advertising behind them measures up to the product itself. Last year and for several years back, we have relied primarily upon newspaper space to get our message across to the public. In light of the amazing sales achievements of 1936, it is hardly necessary to justify to you our intention of adhering to that policy this year. The newspaper will be the foundation of our advertising effort."

Although Texas has the largest sheep and wool industry in the United States none of the Texas wool is consumed by Texas manufacturers and practically the entire output is shipped to New England in the raw state with Texas paying $750,000 annually in freight rates on grease and dirt in sending its wool to market, according to a survey of the wool scouring industry which is being made by the Texas Planning Board.

Although there are 230 kinds of fish in Texas waters, Texas has failed to appreciate the opportunities for a great fishing industry, according to data compiled by the Texas Planning Board which shows that the Texas oyster catch declined from 114,729 barrels in 1910 to 48,704 barrels in 1930.

Foolishness

This column hasn't a bit of sympathy with the Texas legislature in its troubles with peering University of Texas students who booted and catcalled their opposition to an investigation of alleged communist teachings by members of their faculty.

If the legislature were giving its time and thought—as it should be—to problems of immediate concern and for which its members were called to Austin in special session, it never would have gotten around to the "red teaching investigation."

Hardest communist-rater in this country is your humble servant.

If revolutionary doctrines of any sort are being taught at Austin, or anywhere else, The Plainsman is in favor of giving the guilty parties the well known "works."

But in its present investigation, the legislature is only taking the time off from doing work the people want done—RIGHT NOW—and it doesn't set well.

If there is anything that helps spread any kind of revolutionary doctrine, or any sort of governmental criticism, it is the spectacle of some branch of the government overlooking its duty and its work at hand and getting out on an unnecessary limb.

Communist teachers at the University of Texas—if any—would have still been doing business at the same old stand next January, when the legislature is due to meet in a regular session, and the boys could just as well have waited until then to do their investigating.

While we dismiss the actions of catcalling, booing students as merely collegiate "dampfoolishness," we think the legislature got what was coming to it in the way of unlooked for difficulty and outspoken criticism.—Plainsman in Lubbock Journal.

Five new members have been added to the Texas Planning Board's mineral resources committee. They are Rep. Alfred Petch, of Fredericksburg, Rep. Howard C. Davison, of Rotan, Dr. E. P. Schoch, Chief, Department of Industrial Chemistry, University of Texas, George Daragh, Marble Falls, and R. M. McBride, of Houston.

Presenting the phenomenal facts about GULFPRIDE THE WORLD'S FINEST MOTOR OIL THE facts on this page sound hard to believe. But here is the reason why GULFPRIDE—and only GULFPRIDE—can accomplish such results... Gulf begins with selected Pennsylvania crude, refines it to a motor oil that equals the best—then further refines it by the exclusive Alchlor process. Only GULFPRIDE is made by this process—result of 15 years' research—the same scientific research that has made every Gulf product a leader. Read the facts below. Then drain your dirty summer-worn oil and refill with GULFPRIDE now. At all Gulf dealers. AN AMAZING TEST. Bottle No. 1 shows a mixture of 6 famous Pennsylvania motor oils. Bottle No. 2 shows them after being put through Gulf's Alchlor process. Bottle No. 3 shows the 20% waste removed from these already highly-refined oils by Gulf's Alchlor process. This process starts where others stop! That's why GULFPRIDE is the world's finest motor oil. TOPS IN THE AIR—8 out of the 11 winners in last year's National Air Races used GULFPRIDE OIL, the identical oil you can buy for your car at any Gulf dealer. This "aviator's oil" will take you farther before you need to add a quart than any oil you ever used! THE U. S. NAVY specifications for motor oil, as well as those of all other government agencies, are bettered on every point by GULFPRIDE. For instance, this oil forms only 1/4 the amount of carbon allowed by Navy specifications. That's why GULFPRIDE almost completely banishes carbon cleaning. FARMERS' CHAMPION

OF ALL the leaders of third party movements, probably no one has caused the two major parties more concern than did Gen. James B. Weaver of Iowa. For he was the nominee of two new parties which, at two different periods in our history, capitalized on the unrest of the farm vote and in one case he definitely contributed to the overthrow of the party in power.

Weaver was first the standard-bearer for the Greenbackers, a party which came into existence in 1868 because of the dissatisfaction of the farmers with the financial policies of Grant's administration. They were inflationists who demanded that a large amount of paper money be issued without regard to specie payment. They received their name from the fact that legal-tender notes were printed in green and called greenbacks. In the campaign of 1876 they nominated Peter Cooper, the New York philanthropist, but he polled only 80,000 popular votes and did not receive a single electoral vote.

In the congressional elections of 1878 the Greenbackers cast a million votes and the Republicans in power looked apprehensively to the presidential campaign of 1880, especially when the Greenbackers nominated a man from the agricultural West. But their fears were groundless, for the Greenbackers could muster only a little more than 300,000 votes and, although Garfield won over Hancock by less than 10,000 popular votes, he got 214 electoral votes to his opponent's 155.

Twelve years later the Republicans had much to worry over when Weaver bobbed up again, this time as the nominee of the Populist or People's party which declared for free silver, public ownership of monopolies, postal savings banks and an income tax. In the state and congressional elections of 1890 they carried the legislatures of Kansas and Nebraska, elected nine members of congress and forced 34 others, Democrats and Republicans, to pledge themselves to carry out Populist ideas. In the presidential campaign of 1892 Weaver polled more than 1,000,000 votes in the West and South and corralled 22 electoral votes. The Populists also carried several state legislatures and sent five senators to Washington.

"SMITH FOR PRESIDENT" SINCE the United States has more people bearing the name of Smith than any other family name, it is only natural perhaps that there should have been more presidential candidates by that name than any other.

The first was Joseph E. Smith, founder of the Church of Latter Day Saints and prophet of the Mormon religion, who in 1844 condemned the policies of both the Whig and the Democratic parties and announced his candidacy for the presidency. However, his martyrdom at the hands of an Illinois mob in June of that year cut short his political career. Four years later another Smith was in the field as a candidate—Gerrit Smith, the New York philanthropist, who was one of the founders of the Liberty party in 1840 and its candidate for President in 1848. In that year he was also endorsed for the presidency by the Industrial Congress at its convention in Philadelphia. Again in 1852 Smith was the candidate of the Liberty party and again he was endorsed by another group, this time by the Land Reformers. In neither case did Smith or his party figure very prominently in the election.

In 1876 there was another, one of the name in the presidential race. He was Green Clay Smith, a native of Kentucky, a veteran of the Mexican and Civil wars, rising to the rank of brigadier-general in the Union army before resigning to take his seat in congress to which he had been elected while in the field. Re-elected to congress, he resigned to become the second territorial governor of Montana. After three years of service in the West he resigned to enter the ministry of the Baptist church in Washington. Soon afterwards he was chosen as the first presidential nominee of the modern Prohibition party. Just as this "dry" Smith failed to win in 1876, so did a "wet" Smith fail to win half a century later. For Alfred E. Smith, the Democratic candidate in 1928, suffered the fate of all his predecessors—defeat.

Famous Belgian Cathedral Malines has much to interest visitors but the Cathedral of St. Rombold is the outstanding attraction of the city. It was commenced in the early Thirteenth century and took 200 years to complete, and is one of the finest Gothic structures in Belgium. It has a solitary western tower, 324 feet in height and out of proportion with the rest of the building. Its clock face is enormous—more than forty feet across and nearly twice as large as Big Ben on the houses of parliament in London.

A Boost for Home Sewing!

HERE are three Sewing Circle specialties that are as easy to make as humming a tune. If you've never made a stitch before, here's your golden opportunity, for step-by-step sewing instructions are included with every pattern to direct you all the way until you've completed a frock that'll win a round of applause in any circle and flattering compliments on your slim figure and chic appearance. For an inexpensive, but extensive wardrobe just glance at this charming array of exquisite frocks.

Pattern No. 1914-B is an alluring double duty frock; simple, inexpensive and the proud possessor of a sleek silhouette. For housewears, try a gingham, percale or cotton with a bit of color to pep you up, and for a more dressier effect choose striped shirting, broadcloth, lightweight wool or crepe. It is available for sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 requires three and three-fourths yards of 39-inch material.

Pattern No. 1870-B. Those of you whose figures run to width will join your slimmer sisters in choosing this gay slenderizing ensemble, with a contrasting scalloped collar and jabot, so flattering to the face. The effect is exquisite in satin, crepe, broadcloth or silk, the result wholly and completely satisfying. With or without the jacket the frock is the ultimate in utility and style. It is available for sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 36 requires six and one-fourth yards of 39-inch material plus seven-eighths yard contrast.

A True Neighbor

OF ALL the best talents, that of belonging, of being a true member of the community, is the greatest, and for many in our large cities, the least expressed. To be a true neighbor, citizen, patriot—to take on the state, so that what it does you do; to have the state within you, so that all that wounds public life hurts you—is to recover the top root of existence, to lay hold of the most vital of all the strands of life.—Joseph Lee.

To accept good advice is but to increase one's own ability.

Law of the Home

I believe that the fewer the laws in a home the better; but there is one law which should be as plainly understood as the shining of the sun is visible at noonday, and that is, implicit and instantaneous obedience from the child to the parent, not only for the peace of the home, but for the highest good of the child.—A. E. Kittredge.

DO THIS when you wake up with a Headache

ENJOY RELIEF BEFORE YOU'VE FINISHED DRESSING

When you wake up with a headache, do this: Take two quick-acting, quick-dissolving BAYER ASPIRIN tablets with a little water. By the time you've finished dressing, nine chances in ten, you'll feel relief coming. Genuine Bayer Aspirin provides this quick relief because it is rated among the quickest methods for relief science has yet discovered. Try it this way. But ask for it by its full name, BAYER ASPIRIN; not by the name "aspirin" alone.

Row-Crop Farming

The owner of a McCormick-Deering Farmall Tractor has a tremendous advantage in row-crop farming. This original all-purpose tractor works so economically on every farm job—wether it's plowing, planting, cultivating, haying, harvesting corn picking, etc.—that no row-crop farmer can afford to be without it. Now is the time to invest in Farmall power—you'll wonder why you didn't buy it long ago.

Come in and find out what the McCormick-Deering Farmall can do for you. There are three Farmall sizes—the Farmall 12, the Farmall 20 (shown above), and the 3-plow Farmall 30.

J. K. APPLEWHITE

HANSFORD TUNNELL BURIED HERE LAST FRIDAY

afternoon, October 15, 1936, and was therefore just a little more than 40 years and 5 months old.
His father's family moved from Blanco county to Winters during his infancy and resided there about ten years. Then they yielded to the lure of the great South Plains and removed to Lynn county about the year 1906. Here the lad grew to manhood, and when the United States entered the great World War he was ready to enter the service of his country. He was accepted and enlisted on September 19, 1917, and after being kept in training camp for eight months, he embarked for France with the American Expeditionary Forces on May 27, 1918. From August 5 to November 11, 1918, when the Armistice was signed, he was engaged in the St. Die and St. Mihiel offensive, where some of the fiercest fighting of the war was done and where the Germans began the retreat before the American and Allied forces that spelled the end of the war. He arrived back in America on July 21, 1919, and soon thereafter was honorably discharged.
In 1920 he was nominated and elected to the office of tax assessor of Lynn county and served two terms.
On April 2 1921, he was married to Miss Lenore Tunnell of Gonzales, who was then a teacher in the Tahoka public schools. To this union two children were born, Mary Margaret, now 14 years of age, and Savannah Lou, 5.
Following his retirement at the end of 1924 from the office of tax assessor, he engaged in the cotton business here and at Lubbock, L. A. Whitesides of Lubbock being his partner for a number of years.
His health failing, he entered the Veteran's Hospital at Legion near Kerrville on June 7, 1933. There for three long years he fought bravely the terrible disease, tuberculosis, which had fastened its tentacles upon him. Those were frightfully distressing years not only for himself but for his brave companion, who did everything in her power to free him from the clutches of the deadly disease and to encourage and cheer him along the way. For many years she had been a teacher in the Tahoka schools, and during his illness she continued to teach in order to earn a livelihood and to do everything possible for his pleasure and comfort. She and children spent the summers with him, and at the close of the past summer he returned with them to Tahoka, where he remained until the last battle with the Plague was fought and lost.
Besides his wife and two children, deceased is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Tunnell of Tahoka; three brothers, Howard and Roy of Tahoka and Charles of Houston; and one sister, Mrs. W. L. Rowe of Tahoka, besides many other relatives here and elsewhere.
Out of county relatives and friends attending the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tunnell of Houston; Mrs. S. H. Adams of Slaton; Miss Margaret Huff, Judge and Mrs. G. E. Lockhart, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Whitesides, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Longley, Mrs. Tom LeMond, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gains, Mrs. Oliver Whipp and son and his wife, all of Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. V. N. Schultz and little daughter Alice Anne of San Antonio, Mr. Schultz being Mrs. Tunnell's brother; and her uncle, W. G. Lyons of Galveston. There were routless others whose names we failed to get.

to meet these back payments, the remaining payments in 1936, and cost of administration. He revealed that the Federal government will not allot any funds to cover these back payments.
Lawmakers think they see a way around the situation in the suggestion of Governor Allred that interest bearing warrants be issued. He has the promise of leading bankers that such warrants would be accepted by banks from the pensioners. The pensioner would not have to discount his warrant.
Estimates on the benefit, to the old age assistance fund from the Omnibus Tax bill, which has a good chance of passage, is $8,000,000. This is the opinion of R. B. Anderson, state tax commissioner. Another $3,000,000 is expected from the liquor tax.
Some of the facts which have become obvious are that the Texas law is more liberal than in almost any other state, that the number eligible under the Texas law is much more than expected when the law was passed, that either this law must be deliberalized or more funds made available than are now in sight.

The wife felt greatly honored last week when she was invited by Mrs. James V. Allred to attend a tea at the Governor's Mansion, especially so because of the fact that she was the only woman invited who was not a senator's or representative's wife. She fell in love with Mrs. Allred, and, no doubt, Jimmy will get her vote on any thing he asks for.
As most Lynn county people know Miss Ola Belle Singleton of Tahoka is a secretary in the Governor's office, and she was responsible for the wife being invited to substitute for Mrs. G. H. Nelson, who did not accompany the Senator to Austin.

Dixie Kilgore Jr., Lamesa, second year pre-law student in the University, is acting as secretary to Representative J. Doyle Settle during his spare time.
Doyle Settle is a highly respected member of the House and holds membership on several important committees.

Senator Nelson was appointed by Lieutenant Governor Walter conference committee to rewrite the Woodul as a member of the free unemployment insurance bill. Bills similar in nature have been passed by the House and Senate, and this committee will seek to re-write the bill so that it will be agreeable to both bodies. The unemployment insurance bill affects 558,000 workers in this state.

Mr. and Mrs. Goddard Edwards, 407 West 15th street, Austin, are the parents of a boy, born last week. They have named him Goddard Jr.

Mrs. Charlie Curry and children returned home last Sunday after a few days visit with her parents at Stamford.

Mrs. Tunnell and two children left Saturday afternoon in company with her uncle, Mr. Lyons, to visit relatives in San Antonio, Gonzales, and Galveston, having been granted a two weeks leave of absence by the Tahoka school board.
Mrs. Tunnell and the children, the parents and other relatives of this good and popular man have the sincerest sympathy of a great host of friends in their great bereavement.

WINNERS IN YARD CONTEST ARE ANNOUNCED

of garden tools; fifth, Mrs. W. D. Smith, prize, pair of grass clippers and water spray.
The committee evidently had much difficulty in making its selections, for there are a number of other very beautiful lawns in Tahoka and also a number in which remarkable improvement has been made since the contest began.
There were sixty-four entrants in these contests but several of are original entrants evidently dropped out during the summer. A large majority of them evinced an interest in the beautification of their premises, however, up to the very last and Tahoka certainly has many lawns that are much more beautiful today than they were a year ago. Notwithstanding the prolonged drouth and the water shortage that developed during the summer, these contests certainly have been worth while.
The following score card was adopted at the beginning of the contest as a basis for judging:
1. Drainage and smoothness (a slight slope from house, free from holes and mounds)—15 points.
2. Screen plantings (Cover unsightly fences and or buildings with tall annuals and or vines)—15 points.
3. Maintenance. (Neatness and order; 10; sanitation; 10; health and vigor of plantings; 10; and condition of lawn, shrubs, and screen plantings; 10.)—40 points.
4. General Attractiveness—30.
Total: 100 points.
It was also stipulated at the beginning of the contest that judging would be done from pictures.
The judges originally selected were: Mrs. E. I. Hill, Mrs. G. B. Sherrod, and Miss Sylvia Robb; but Miss Robb moving away, the new home demonstration agent, Miss Lillian Boyd, was substituted.

Tech Homecoming Day October 23-24

Lubbock, Tex., Oct. 21.—The Texas Tech Homecoming Day Jamboree October 23 and 24 will be the most spectacular event in the history of the college, believes Arch Lamb, head yell leader at the college.
The gala celebration gets underway at 6:30 p. m. October 23 with a Texas Quality network radio broadcast from the Texas Tech gymnasium. The broadcast is to feature college musical units, official speakers and Red Raider football luminaries.
After the broadcast, Lamb will direct a huge fireworks display and pep rally in Texas Tech's new stadium, which the following evening will be the site of a gridiron classic between the Red Raiders and Centenary college Gentlemen.
Alumni and ex-students' officials have mailed invitations to two thousand former enrollees, and organizations are planning a round of social activities for returning alumni.

BILROY'S COMEDIANS SHOW HERE NEXT WEEK

of the Famous Bilroy's Comedians and in celebration of this anniversary event, Manager Wehle has completely reconstructed his famous show which has been making history for the past twelve years and is one of the most popular attractions on the road. This year, in keeping with the trend of the times, he has carefully selected a large cast of noted stage and screen players who will present the three act farce comedy which provides the vehicle for a great array of talent. Interspersed throughout the program will be more than a score of outstanding vaudeville acts, including the sensational and exotic offering of "Daphne" the queen of fan dancers, whose fresh youthful beauty lends a charm that is both impelling and compelling. Dozens of lovely girls, the pick of the Florida night clubs, will be featured in numerous dance routines all beautifully, but somewhat scantily clad.
Yet, there is absolutely nothing to offend the most fastidious, as Bilroy's Comedians during the past twelve years have built up a tremendous following among the women and children of the best families in the various cities regularly visited and it would obviously be suicide for Manager Wehle to present anything but the finest type of performance.
The doors to the huge tent will open at 7:15, with overture by the Palais Royale orchestra following at 7:30 and then the curtain will rise promptly at 8:15. As above stated popular prices will prevail. One night only in Tahoka, on Saturday October, 31, the show grounds being located at Soft Ball Field east of Square.
OVER THE TOP FOR ROOSEVELT AND GARNER
him if they fail to raise the county's quota and permit him to pay these expenses out of his own pocket.
Furthermore, the National Democratic Campaign committee, we are informed, is in sore need of funds with which to carry on the campaign.
The News is therefore suggesting to the Democrats of the County who feel that the New Deal has been a blessing to the country and they have benefited them personally, that they lose no time in making their contribution to Mr. Garrard or to the other gentlemen named by him in his report. Every Democrat who feels that the best interests of the country would be served by the re-election of Roosevelt and Garner should make a contribution to that end according to his ability.

"Remember the days of five-cent cotton, two-bit wheat, worthless cattle, closed banks and foreclosed homes and farms, soup kitchens and food riots," says Mr. Garrard in appealing to the people of Lynn county to rally to the support of the Democratic ticket, not only with their votes but with at least a small contribution of money also.
