HART OIL TEST TO BE DEEPENED

Plans Made For Deepening Of Hole To 6,000 Feet On T-Bar Ranch 10 Miles West Of City

Drilling is to be resumed at an early date on the Hart test oil well Edwards No. 1 situated ten miles southwest of Tahoka, according to announcement made last Saturday. The well was abandoned at a depth of 5,005 feet about a year ago. It will be drilled to a depth of 6,000 feet under the new contract.

A controlling interest in the well has been acquired by Deen Nowlin and A. J. Edwards of Tahoka and Wesley Reed of Lubbock, it is said. The drilling contract has been let to Charles M. Barnes of Childress. Drilling equipment and materials was expected the middle of this week, but weather conditions have delayed shipment.

Business men of Tahoka, O'Donnell, and Lubbock have assisted in financing the project by purchase of leases, and it is said that the Atlantic Oil Production Company and the Magnolia Petroleum Company are also contributing to the cost of deepening the test, though they have no interest in the well.

The hole was drilled to its present depth by the Hart Oil Company and the Wanete Oil Company, J. E. Nance of this city having procured the leases originally.

The hole was capped with 145 feet of surface casing and 2,884 feet of 10-inch casing left in the hole, the remainder being open hole through hard formation. A showing of oil and gas was encountered at 4,120 feet, and no sulphur water was found.

The well, it is said, is situated on a well defined geophysical "high" trend which extends from Borden county northwesterly through Lynn and Terry counties, crossing the southwest part of Hockley and the southeast part of Cochran counties, and continuing into New Mexico. The Texas Company well on the Slaughter lands in Hockley county, and the Honolulu-Cascade-Devonian Dugan well in Cochran county are located on this trend.

Three Attended Teacher Meeting

Superintendent W. G. Barrett, Principal and Mrs. Mack L. Penn, and Miss Grace Williams of the Tahoka high school attended the convention of the State Teachers Association held in Fort Worth last week.

Mr. Barrett reports that it was the most largely attended convention in the history of the association, according to statements of the officials. A Fort Worth paper reported more than 14,000 teachers present.

Mr. Barrett says that the greatest address of the convention, in his opinion, was made by Cameron Beck, Dean of the New York Exchange Institute, though there were other great addresses.

A. W. Birdwell, president of the Stephen F. Austin State Teachers College at Nacogdoches, was elected president of the association for the ensuing year. V. Z. Rogers, superintendent of the Lamesa schools, was elected third vice-president. Mrs. Rogers is a cousin of Mr. Barrett.

We had hoped for Mr. Barrett to make a more detailed report of the convention but he says he has been too busy to do so.

Colored Methodist Pastor For Tahoka

Rev. E. L. Springs, colored, of Lubbock, was here Monday and reported that he had just been assigned as pastor of the colored Methodist Church here and will serve during the ensuing year. The colored Methodist Church was organized here just recently and the congregation is hoping to be able to build a little church here soon.

Rev. Springs had just returned from the annual conference of the colored Methodist Episcopal Church held in Amarillo and reports that it was a great session. He will also have charge of the churches at Lamesa and Littlefield.

Santa Claus Will Be Coming Soon

Say, folks, did you know that Christmas is just around the corner? Did you know, kiddies, that old Santa Claus is already packing up his big bag of Christmas gifts?

Just two more issues of this paper and then Christmas week. Better be sending in your letters to Santa Claus.

Merchants are already getting their holiday goods on display, and well they may, for the holiday business promises to be better this month than it has been for several years. Folks are going to buy their toys and Christmas gifts somewhere; why not in Tahoka?

So, send in your letters, kiddies. Listen! We thought we heard old Santa's Christmas bells jingling then.

Mrs. Singleton, 85, O'Donnell, Dead

Death took another of Lynn county's pioneer women Wednesday morning when Mrs. S. F. Singleton of O'Donnell, 85, peacefully passed away.

Funeral services were conducted at 10 o'clock Thursday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Hal Singleton, in O'Donnell, and interment was in the Tahoka cemetery about noon, under the direction of the Harris Funeral Home of this city. The pall bearers were: Judge C. H. Cain and Hall Robinson of Tahoka, and Thurman Wells, R. W. Gary, Clyde Frost, and Waldo McLaurin of O'Donnell.

Deceased was the aunt of Dr. J. R. Singleton of this city. She was the mother of Dud Singleton of Wink, who formerly lived in Tahoka, and Mrs. Hal Singleton of O'Donnell, with whom she had lived for a number of years. Her husband, S. F. Singleton, preceded her in death in 1923 or 1924, and his remains are buried in the cemetery here.

Mrs. Singleton was born at Marshall, Harrison county, near the Louisiana-Texas state line. There she grew to womanhood, married, and reared a family. In 1898 she and her husband migrated to Lynn county. They purchased a ranch consisting of thirty sections in the southwest portion of this county. Soon after her husband's death, this ranch was cut up into small tracts and sold out in 1923, and the community of Newmoore was established. Many farms are now empty. (Cont'd on Page 6)

Tahoka Man Wins C. C. C. Promotion

Robert G. Medlin, son of Eugene W. Medlin of Wayside, twelve miles north of Tahoka, who entered the CCC soil conservation camp at Lamesa in September, 1935, is being steadily promoted, according to information given the News.

Robert received his first rating, or promotion, in June of this year, when he was made assistant leader of his barrack and his pay raised from $30 to $36 per month.

He received his second rating on November 17, when he was promoted to barrack leader, with a pay check of $45 per month.

There are about 160 men in the camp and four barracks. Robert, therefore, has about 40 men under him, and he is also overseer of a squad of men on the field.

These promotions are given for service rendered, and considering the fact that Robert is only 22 years of age he is making an extraordinary record.

Wells Sells Filling Station To Maxey

Claude Wells reports that he has sold the Conoco service station which he has been operating in south Tahoka to Homer Maxey, who took charge of the Business Wednesday.

Mr. Wells has purchased the Allen section of land situated about seven miles west of Tahoka and will move upon it soon. In addition to his farming operations, he expects to raise sheep and hogs and a few cows. There are 210 acres in cultivation on the section.

SLAUGHTER IS CLUB SPEAKER

Post Ranchman Makes Humorous Talk At Rotary Club Luncheon; Visitors Present

There were eight out-of-town visitors at the Rotary Club luncheon here Thursday, and the program of the day consisted of a very graphic and decidedly humorous report of his visit to the International Rotary convention in Atlantic City last summer by Jay Slaughter of Post. It would be impossible to put in print an adequate account of this address. Suffice to say that Jay amply sustained his reputation as a humorist.

The eight visitors were: Jay Slaughter, Harold Voss, Clyde Taylor, and Ashley Lawson of Post; M. L. H. Base, Dr. John Turner, and Graham Smith of Brownfield; and C. M. McMurtry of Amarillo.

In accordance with a suggestion of the president, Mack L. Penn, a motion was adopted providing that the local Rotary paper or bulletin be prepared by a committee of four announced at the first of each month. The committee for the current month consists of J. K. Applewhite, W. S. Anglin, Gilmer Aycox, and Supt. W. G. Barrett, the names being taken in alphabetical order.

Music was furnished as usual by the Rotary sweetheart, Miss Marjorie Wells.

The meals are being served by Mrs. Jack Alley.

Brownfield Youth Gunshot Victim

Claude Hudgens Jr., 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Hudgens of Brownfield, died in a hospital here Tuesday from an accidental gunshot wound received on the preceding Thursday morning while hunting.

The shotgun was accidentally discharged when he stopped to pull on a glove, the discharge taking effect in the shoulder. He was taken to a hospital for emergency treatment and was released the same day but was taken back to the hospital Saturday.

The father is a hardware dealer in Brownfield.

ATTEND GRAND LODGE
W. S. Anglin and George Ingram left early Wednesday morning to attend the annual session of the Grand Lodge of the Masonic Order in Waco this week.

Mrs. Mary T. Maasen of Dallas came Monday night to spend a few days with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Maasen.

T. M. Ward, Of T-Bar Is Buried

T. M. Ward, 57, a resident of the T-Bar community in this county for the past thirteen years, died shortly before one o'clock last Friday afternoon, November 29, in a hospital in Lubbock, to which he had been taken for treatment. Death resulted from an attack of asthma and bronchitis.

The funeral services were held at the family home in the T-Bar community Saturday and were conducted by Rev. Ben Hardy, pastor of the Tahoka Methodist Church. Interment was in the Tahoka cemetery under the direction of the Harris Funeral Home.

Deceased left surviving him the widow, Mrs. Minnie Ward, four sons, one daughter, one step-son, and one step-daughter. The sons are Jim, T. M. Jr., E. C., and Eugene Ward of O'Donnell, and the daughter is Juanita Ward. The step-son, Orville Lazenby, resides in Fort Worth, and the step-daughter, Mrs. Willie Belle Acre, in O'Donnell.

Mr. Ward was born on May 26, 1879, in Johnson county. He removed to Knox county in 1903 and came from Knox county to Lynn county in 1923, settling in the T-Bar community.

He had long been a devoted member of the Methodist Church, had many friends, was a good citizen, a good neighbor, and a dutiful and affectionate husband and father.

GRADE SCHOOL IS COMPLETED

New Building Accepted By Trustees Tuesday; Was Built At Cost Of About $85,000

The new grammar school building, constructed partly with local funds and partly with PWA funds, has been completed, and the building was accepted by the school board Tuesday, December 1.

The building is constructed of white brick and is a beautiful structure. It contains twelve classrooms, a large combination gymnasium and auditorium, and the necessary office rooms.

The architect was S. B. Haynes of Lubbock and the Federal Engineer overseeing the job was A. A. James. V. D. Shell of Lubbock was the general contractor and Roche-Newton Co. had the contract for the plumbing, heating, and electrical wiring.

The building was constructed at an approximate cost of $85,000. It will be formally opened for inspection by the public on Monday, December 14.

RECITAL TONIGHT

At the high school auditorium tonight, Dec. 4, beginning at 7:15, the pupils of Mrs. R. L. Richardson will give a recital, consisting of piano, violin, accordion, and vocal numbers; also readings and dialogues. Each number starting promptly. You are cordially invited.

Basketball Will Start Here Soon

For the first time, Tahoka High School will have a gymnasium this year in which the school basketball games will be played. It will be recalled that a vacant business building was used for a make-shift gym for a year or two several years back, but from now on the school hopes to have a creditable basketball team.

Coach Prentice Walker states that he has some good prospective basketball players, most of whom have come in from the rural schools where more emphasis has been placed on the game than in Tahoka.

The season will open at an early date this year, and Tahoka will meet practically all the better school teams of the South Plains.

The gymnasium in the new grade school building is one of the best in this section. In addition to a fine playing floor, there are elevated seats for several hundred spectators.

Sylvester Reese, student in the Texas Tech, spent the week end here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Reese.

Jim Taylor, Edith, Died Saturday

James W. Taylor, a citizen of the Edith community near Tahoka for the past ten years, died at the Lubbock Sanitarium at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon following a major operation early that morning.

Funeral services were conducted at the Methodist Church here at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon and interment was in the Tahoka cemetery.

Funeral services were conducted by the Methodist pastor, Rev. S. H. Hardy, assisted by Elder R. P. Drennon of the Church of Christ, and burial was under direction of the Harris Funeral Home.

Mr. Taylor had been in very ill health since last June, but was not confined to his bed until very recently. He was taken to the Lubbock Sanitarium where an examination revealed that he had a tumor in the kidney. An operation was decided upon as a last resort but it proved unavailing.

Mr. Taylor was born near Waxahachie on September 20, 1882. He moved with his father's family to Coleman county when he was yet a child. There he grew to manhood and at the age of 21 he was married at Glen Cove to Miss Elizabeth Duncan. To this union six children were born, five of whom are still surviving.

From Glen Cove the family moved to Tiscola in Taylor county about 1918. From Taylor county they (Cont'd on back page)

Country Drenched By Rain Showers

There has been much misty and showery weather here the past two weeks but the amount of precipitation has been comparatively small.

On Friday night and Saturday morning of last week the rainfall amounted to .34 of an inch. On Monday and Tuesday night of this week there was .23 of an inch. About the middle of November there was a rainfall of .19, making a total of .76 for the month.

Cloudy cool weather has prevailed for more than a week, and little cotton has been gathered since our report last week. There was a little flurry of snow Wednesday morning for a few minutes but it amounted to nothing here. There was an inch or two of snow on the north plains.

The cotton crop in Lynn county is 95 per cent gathered.

Raising Funds For Democrat Deficit

Austin, Dec. 3.—With approximately one-fourth of the Texas quota of $50,000 already raised, state Democratic leaders here this week renewed their efforts to help remove a half-million-dollar deficit in the finances of the Democratic National committee.

Contributions totaling $8,000 were sent the past week end by state headquarters to W. Forbes Morgan, treasurer of the national committee. State Director Roy Miller said.

Also Harris county Democrats, who, under the direction of Walton D. Taylor, district executive, committee man, and Rex Baker, campaign director, greatly exceeded their quota in the pre-election drive for party funds, already had raised the $5,000 they were requested to contribute to the "deficit fund," Mr. Miller said.

Several smaller counties which failed to reach their quotas before the election already have remitted contributions to the post-election campaign in excess of those quotas. They include Lipscomb, Terry, Val Verde, Sutton, Jim Hogg, and Dalham.

Sixty-one other Texas counties exceeded their quotas in the first campaign, which resulted in a total of approximately $275,000, the largest fund raised by any state in the nation except New York, and the largest fund ever raised in Texas in any type of political campaign in the history of the state.

Attend State BTU Meet At Abilene

Rev. George A. Dale, Superintendent H. P. Caviness and Mmes. H. P. Caviness, R. C. Wells, K. R. Durham, and E. C. Rogers, and Misses Lorene Reese, Berta Hill, and Robbie Milligan attended the state B. T. U. convention which was held in Abilene last week.

They report that it was a great convention, with more than 7,600 B. T. U. members present.

Mmes. Wells, Rogers, Durham, and Caviness, composing the Tahoka ladies quartet, sang a couple of numbers before the convention and another number over the radio.

Rev. Geo. A. Dale is one of the seventeen vice-presidents of the body.

19 Religious Bodies Represented At Tech

Lubbock, Texas, Dec. 3.—Nineteen religious denominations are represented by the 2,702 students in Texas Technological college, Registrar W. P. Clements announced this week.

More students expressed preference for Methodism than any other denomination. Methodists in the college number 974; Baptists, 863; Presbyterians, 230; Church of Christ, 192; Christians, 169; Roman Catholics, 52; Episcopalians, 36; Lutherans, 9; Christian Science, 8; Nazarenes, 4; Congregationalist and Jewish, 2 each; and Assembly of God, Brethren, Church of God, Evangelical, Four Square Gospel, Greek Orthodox, and Seventh Day Adventist, 1 each.

No religious preference was indicated by 154 students.

Unknown Man Attempts Attack On Girl Housekeeper At W. T. Bovell Home

Some demon entered the home of W. T. Bovell about 11:30 o'clock last Sunday night while he was at the bakery and his wife at the picture show and apparently attempted to do violence to Miss Norene Mason, a girl living at the Bovells' and assisting with the house work.

The young woman, dressed in her night clothes, had lain down across her bed to read and after a time fell asleep, leaving the light burning in her room. The two Bovell children were also asleep.

At about 11:30 she was awakened by a man who had caught hold of her. She sprang up screaming and extricated herself from his grasp. He grabbed her again, but in doing so he stepped on a small rug which "skidded" with him on the smooth floor and he fell. Frightened by the girl's screams, he scrambled to his feet and ran out of the house. Miss Mason got no description of him, for he had extinguished the light upon entering the room, and the entire struggle occurred in the dark.

Immediately Miss Mason ran to the telephone and tried to phone the bakery but she was so excited that W. T. was unable to understand what the trouble was all about. The night operator at the telephone exchange was likewise confused. At any rate, W. T. got the idea that his mother was sick, so he jumped in his car and ran by the picture show for his wife and then to his mother's home. Finding nothing wrong there he went to his own home and found Miss Mason still frantic. But the culprit had gone. Miss Mason was so hysterical two hours later that W. T. took her out to her sister's near South Ward.

A search of the premises revealed tracks at two of the windows. It is believed that the intruder was a (Cont'd on back page)

Farmers Turning Soil For New Crop

Since the harvesting of the cotton crop is almost over, many farmers have already begun turning the soil for another crop. The land is in fine condition and breaks beautifully.

Breaking the land now will help to conserve the moisture that is in the ground and assure a better crop next year, it is claimed.

Funeral Services Held For Jack Hill

The remains of Jack Hill, whose death we chronicled last week, were buried here Saturday afternoon.

Funeral services were conducted by Elder R. P. Drennon in the Church of Christ. Many relatives and friends attended the services.

Mrs. B. H. Howard of Crosbyton is here visiting her daughters, Mrs. Harley Henderson and Mrs. Frank Hill, and families.

While he was pretending to himself that everything was all right, it went abruptly awry. Sparrel himself was in the blacksmith shop at the camp when it occurred. The men came down from the woods with the tools to be sharpened. They were rough-looking laborer type of men. White liquor was heavy on their breath and red in some of their eyes.

The trouble between Ike Dallow and Jack Caher had begun in rough humor when Ike said that Jack had been cutting timber for three months and still didn't know which way a tree was going to fall and would have got his fool self killed long ago if somebody didn't always pull him out of the way. The men, glad of words to break the silence and isolation, laughed; their laughter inspired Ike to keep it up, elaborate it, and go on baiting Jack. Then Jack Caher lost the humor of it, feeling himself in ridicule out of the usual good-natured but, and showed resentment. Ike Dallow couldn't very well stop without seeming to back down. So they carried on through the drink they had behind a pile of brush and down to the shop. Sparrel tried to quiet them, but they were too excited now to listen to him. They grew more boisterous, drawing others into the baiting.

"That's about enough now, Ike," Jack Caher said.

"Listen to her little rat-eared poodle," Ike said. "Enough what?"

Then Jack lunged at Ike and hit him under the eye. Jack stumbled as he swung, and was carried to his knees past Ike Dallow and against the bellows by the forge. In the flash of blind anger, Ike seized a cant-hook, swung it over his shoulder, and before Jack could recover his feet he brought it down with crushing force on his neck and shoulders. Had the hook not caught in the bellows, the blow would have slain Jack Caher outright and instantly. He crumpled with a cry and groan, his bleeding head pushing into the soft leather of the bellows, causing the smoldering forge to throw up a shower of sparks.

It was all too quick for anybody to intervene; the sudden flash of the long smoldering antecedents. Ike Dallow stood for a moment with the cant-hook in his hand, bereft of the anger, bewildered by the unwilling act some part of him had leapt forth to perform.

Then he dropped the bloody cant-hook, stared in fright at the dying man; then he got out of the shop and began to run up Dry Creek toward the woods. The other men gathered around Sparrel who was working over Jack Caher. He was unconscious, bleeding, but not quite dead. They carried him into the bunk where Sparrel watched over him until he died in the early morning.

Sparrel laid him out with the soiled blanket covering his face. Tired and worried, Sparrel tramped toward Wolfpen through the last of the dark, thinking it over and over. "I feel it in my bones, somehow, the way you know something you don't want to know, hope you won't have to know. Then, bang, and it's all done. No warning. Sheriff Hatler'll have to come now, and a grand jury and all. Sheriff Hatler never rode down this creek before in his life only as a neighbor. Now he has to come on a murder. Right on the Pattern land it was. Only I reckon it's not Pattern land but Shellenberger land. Never say disgrace on it before. I'd like to have seen it stay that way. There was just no reason in it happening. Bad blood breaking out, it was. Seems like in the last year something's been at the heart of these hills, like it was sick or giving up. Not just here on my place. It's the whole Sandy Valley. Swamped with too many floating people I reckon, coming up the river and loafing around the new mine towns and lumber camps, not interested in the good of the land, making corn liquor and gambling, and things like this.

"Never been so busy in all his life, Sheriff Hatler told me at Pike, such a sight of lawbreaking going on in the country here lately. Trouble right there in Pikeville, too, about the jail, and that witness in the Harrison-McClurg feud getting shot. Jesse's only been there a few months and he's seen a sight of cases come up. We've been here about a century now. I feel kind of disgraced myself, like I was in it, and I reckon I am, because I'll be summoned. The loggers and the moonshiners will want to get it hushed over. Better get it all out in the clear light now before it goes any further. Better just tell Sheriff Hatler, and the grand jury all about it and clean it all away. This is where we have to live. We must keep this country clean and decent and a fit place where a man's grandchildren can grow up good men with a pride like all their folk before them back to Saul and the time he saw this land as a place for a man to live in."

CHAPTER XV

Sparrel passed it over as lightly as possible with Cynthia, and Abrai added nothing to it. It was just another accident. You had to expect them, on a big job. Shellenberger said. Men would not be careful. But Cynthia knew from the worried look on Sparrel's face that it was more than that. It involved the law and a sheriff, and that was a sinister thing quite apart from Jesse and Tandy Morgan and Blackstone. Shellenberger found business calling him down the river; he was gone when Sheriff Hatler came. Cynthia heard the sheriff talking in low tones to Sparrel after dinner, standing on the porch in the cold.

"You're right, Sparrel. We'll clean it all up right now," he said. "I think we ought to," Sparrel said. "We'll have Ike Dallow in Pikeville tomorrow. They picked him up down at Beaver. You tell what you know about the liquor, too, Sparrel, and we'll get this cleaned up."

"I'm sorry you had to come here on this business, but there wasn't any way of getting out of it."

"Don't worry about it, Sparrel. We'll just get it cleaned up now. How's Doug Mason getting?"

"He's up and around now, Hatler, and he's learning to do things again. He says he'll do the farm work in the spring."

"It was a darn shame, Sparrel. Didn't your girl have an eye for him?"

"I don't reckon so only just as a neighbor."

"Well, she's too fine a girl for any cripple."

Cynthia could not listen any more. She ran to the kitchen and began to scour the pots she had used to cook the dinner. "I couldn't ever have married you, Doug, not even if it hadn't happened. Why did you want me to, and why'd you go and do that, and why don't you take Judy Wootton who always has wanted you, and why does Hatler talk about it? Things would drive a body plumb crazy if you didn't think about something else. Oh, Reuben, wherever you are in the woods, the place is different from when you liked it so much. It's been so long. April is so far away. Will you forget how you said, 'I will come back'?"

On a gray winter morning Cynthia opened the gate for Sparrel and watched him ride away on the Finemare to obey the summons. He smiled to her above his worry, and again at the orchard he turned, straight-shouldered and handsome, to wave to her. "It's a sin and a shame that he takes it all so to heart. I'll try to make an apple pie for him and have it hot the way Mother always did when he gets back tonight from his hard trip."

She was busy all day, weaving at the loom, cleaning the house, making the pies, cooking dinner for Jasper, tending to the milk, getting supper for Jasper, Abrai and the return of Sparrel. Then the flutter of the hens in the pear tree, the nervousness in the stalls and the barnyard among the mules, the sheep and the cows; and the dark slid into Wolfpen. Abrai came in from Dry Creek, hungry after his day in the open.

Jasper sat quietly by the log fire looking into the flames, waiting. The crust of the dried apple pies browned in crisp flakes, deep stained with the juice in the fork holes in the dough patterning ferns. Cynthia kept them in the oven as long as possible, and then set them on the warming shelf by the stove-pipe. The special dinner for Sparrel was ready.

"He ought to be back now," Abrai said. "You can't always tell about getting an early start back from the trials," Jasper said.

"He might have to stay over," Abrai said. "Let's eat. I'm hungry."

"It's not like Daddy to say when he'll be back and then not be," Cynthia said.

"He don't usually go in a law case either. You can't tell about them. Lawyers and a jury," Jasper said.

They waited still longer, and then Cynthia at last took up the supper. "I wish he'd come," she said.

Time going on while they ate, while Cynthia got the fresh pie with the warm wet fillings between crisp hot crusts. "The best I ever baked," she thought; "and as good nearly as Mother's and him not here when they're just right. I wish he'd come now. I can feel it making me touchy and nervous."

"I reckon he's stayed over with Jesse," Jasper said, going out. "I'll keep things warm for a while just to make sure," Cynthia said.

Abrai finished and went outside following Jasper. Cynthia lingered at the table, resting, waiting. Then Abrai came bounding back into the kitchen.

"She's down at the gate and scared as a rabbit," he shouted.

Cynthia ran to the kitchen with the lamp.

"Who? Who, Abrai?"

"The Finemare," he said, grabbing his coat from the peg by the door. Jasper hurried in after Abrai.

"What is it, Jasper?" Cynthia cried. "Jasper! Tell me! What is it?"

Jasper was getting the lantern from the medicine-room, very calm. "I don't know," he said. "The Finemare's down there in a hot shiver. She's been running hard. The bridge's gone and the saddle's slipped."

"But how would she get through the mill gate, Jasper?"

"How do I know?" They were already going through the door. Cynthia in a panic of fear seized a shawl and ran after them.

"Wait, Jasper! Wait! I'm coming, too," she cried.

"No, you're not!" Jasper shouted. "You stay right here and look after things till we get back."

It was so sudden and imperative that it halted her on the porch. "That mare's run three or four miles," he was still shouting from the yard. "We'll get back as soon as we can."

Jasper fed the Finemare and quieted her in the stall while Abrai got the saddle mules, and then they rode fast down Wolfpen. Cynthia, alone, watched the jostling lantern disappear in the cold night. Then she turned and went back through the yard to the square of light in the open door. "Women always must sit and wait and suffer while the menfolk get relief in doing something," she sobbed at the door.

The house was deathly silent. She dropped into the chair by the smoldering logs and began the long waiting.

Time was no longer going on. It was waiting with her. Cynthia, yearning for it to move on, felt the hysteria of being imprisoned in an arrested moment which would not end. She paced the floor, pushing against it. She put a log on the fire, watching it burn without exploding the stopped instant of time. "How does a body live in eternity?" She stood in the open door looking at the mass of Cranesnest, a little blacker than the dark. She imagined each possible accident that could happen, enacting it sharply in her mind, shuddering at it, dismissing it, creating another in its place. She filled the sputtering teakettle which had boiled dry in the motionless time of the waiting.

It continued for three hours. Cynthia felt that more hours had passed her by in this one lone evening than had gone through Wolfpen since April of a year ago. Then, when she thought she could abide it no longer without screaming and running after Jasper and Abrai, Abrai came out of the dark end of the moment wearily preceded by his voice muttering, "The yellow, stump-squatin' devils."

"What is it, Abrai? Tell me what happened," she cried.

But Abrai was almost incoherent, and she had to put it together piece by piece, disengaging the words of Abrai from the thoughts worn deep into her own mind by three hours of repetition; finding the bridge caught on the latch in the gate by the mill where the Finemare had got through; the search up Gannon Creek road; stopping at Castle's place and John saying, "Sure, boys, I heard that horse go by running fast and light-footed, but I just didn't think any more about it"; searching up Gannon to Ferguson's and George saying, "I heard a horse go by earlier in the evening but I didn't pay no attention to it hardly. Was that Sparrel's mare? It wouldn't hardly have thrown Sparrel"; the growing body of men searching on up the creek toward Stepstone.

Among the great stones by the cliff at the upper ford where the bridge found branches off for Pikeville, they found Sparrel Pattern crumpled in the sand. His boots still glistened with the wet from the ford. He lay on his right side, his left leg bent; his right hand clutching at the small pebbles. His head was crushed and fallen on the sand. Under the pale light of the lanterns shone sand crystals clinging to the blood on his forehead above the dead eyes and in his hair.

They carried him over to Ferguson's place for the night. Jasper would stay there and ride over for Jesse and the girls at daybreak. She seemed not to be hearing Abrai's words now; only looking at the fire unseeing, feeling herself being crushed to death among the stones while a lantern beam fell on the sand glistens in the blood. It was too much after the house alone, waiting. She collapsed into the chair and buried her face deep in both hands and cried; not hearing Abrai saying, "The stumpsquatin' cowardly devils. Waylaying him, knocking in his head from behind."

They laid Sparrel among the sandstones on Cranesnest Shelf. The crowd of people was so great that it filled the house, the yard and the barn-lot. All down Wolfpen as far as the mill those who felt themselves strangers stood in little groups paying respect to Sparrel Pattern.

Doug Mason came as far as the bend below the orchard, and sat there on his mule, the handless arm thrust into his coat, and the slightest eye turned aside, watching them bear Cynthia's father up the path. The people wept. Lucy and Jenny cried from the house to the grave. Cynthia had wept in the night. Sparrel's voice was stopped and his feet were still, the medicine-room was empty, the desk by the mantel was closed and the ledger was ended. There could be no more grief now, only the lonely and silent and fruitless ache of the days and the nights after the people were gone away.

Cynthia felt through the first days that this sorrow could not be eased. She dreamed it at night, seeing her father not Sparrel and yet her father among the stones which were both the stones at the upper ford and those on Cranesnest Shelf. It came over her in the daytime when, forgetting it for a time, she would feel a wondering unhappiness for an instant before there burst upon her the full weight of the sorrow.

And yet the grief did mysteriously lose its sharpness under the compulsion of daily living and working, the finality of the past event, and the gradual reassertion of young life. Jesse stayed on restlessly at the house for a few days and then went back to his law. Jenny stayed on for two nights, crying, and then went back to Horsepen Branch. Abrai went again to Dry Creek where the first March rains were flooding the dam for driving the logs. Jasper rode over to town with Jesse, and when he returned he mentioned that he was marrying Jane in a few weeks now. Lucy stayed on through the week, but Cynthia could not determine whether it was better or worse to have her in the house talking.

She would hide herself away from Lucy and go over it all in her mind; the joy of the spring before Shellenberger came, the foreboding when Sparrel sold the land, the wonder of Reuben Warren on that afternoon with a compass on his arm, the slow and sinister way the outside world had pushed into Dry Creek and then reached out for Doug Mason, for her mother Julia, for the father Sparrel, for the old way of life Wolfpen had known so long. She thought of the brutal irreversibility of the blunt stone on her father's skull in the hands of wicked men. And nothing to do about it except wait for Sheriff Hatler to find the murderer and kill him under the law while her father met the dissolution on Cranesnest. Now they were both gone and Jasper would bring Jane Burden to this place in Julia's stead. In Cynthia's stead. Surely it was all done now. She wondered whether Reuben were still out in the hills and where, and if he knew.

And while she was yet wondering he came. It was late afternoon on a warm day in March a week after the burial of Sparrel. There was a moist wind in the hollow with the breath of spring in it, and the sun almost ready to move the colorless days out of the hills, foreseeing April on its slow way up from the south.

Cynthia was bending over a skillet with an iron spoon in her hand when she heard the gate click. She laid the spoon on the back of the stove before she went to the door to see who it could be. She stood transformed in the doorway looking at him, not daring to believe it was Reuben, thinking he must be far away at the other end of the river. She was wordless before him in her joy. For one brief instant she looked down reflectively at her dress to make sure she was not reliving those humiliating moments of the late spring, hot, burned, weeping, spattered with corn-meal. But she was cool and unharmed, and the tan dress was clean and fresh. Reuben saw at once that under the responsibility and sorrow of the months she had grown in character and loveliness. She was a woman and not a child, but it was the woman the girl of the summer had portended.

They looked at each other in complete silence and without movement. Then Cynthia stepped through her transfiguration down to the porch, and Reuben came to her with his eyes shining. She felt herself swept toward him, and away from grief.

"Reuben!" "Cynthia!" Then she gave him her hand, bringing the moment back from this exalted reach to the more familiar plane where human beings meet in speech. "You know?" she said. "Yes, Cynthia. I am sorry."

"How did you learn?" "It was in the paper at home day before yesterday. I started as soon as I heard."

"I am glad you came, Reuben."

"I wish I could have come sooner."

Lucy had come in haste to the kitchen and then to the door. "Cynthia, I smell supper. . . . Oh!"

The beautiful moment of their meeting was ended.

The coming of Reuben seemed to break into the fixed mood of solemnity that had settled over the house since Sparrel's death. Sometimes at the supper, without forgetting the dead, they almost recaptured the excitement of the spring before. And after they had talked over in hushed words all the story of the past weeks, it did not seem inappropriate to think of themselves and to mention other places.

The sun continued through the following day, the warmth flowing down the hollows.

"It begins to have a touch of spring," Reuben said.

"You said you would come back in the spring."

"Yes. Let's walk a little way."

"Up to the rock by the sycamore," she suggested.

They went by the desolate garden which had been full of Julia's flowers last July, and came to the stone where they had first sat together. The sun lay warm on the stone. The brown pods on the sycamore tree jangled in the wind at the end of yellowing limbs barren of leaves.

"It seems like she ought to be there on the garden," Reuben said.

"You thought that, too?" Cynthia cried.

"Yes. I have thought of this place often," he said.

"I have not been here since," she said, "but I have thought myself here. Do you believe some places—like this—get to be a part of—of what two people are to each other?"

"Yes, Cynthia. This place will always be you and me."

She looked full at him seriously for an instant, knowing by his voice and his eyes that they were speaking the same language in the same world. She had never before, even in her dreams of Lady Arabella and the pear tree, been more radiant, as though this moment were the appointed one for the unfolding of the essential woman out of sorrow into happiness. They were leaning against the stone, silent. He slipped his arm around her waist. She did not withhold herself, and she was half-startled at the thought of her forwardness. He held her left hand in his, and with her right hand she brushed at the moss on the stone. She felt herself being reborn, almost trembling and in awe before the smile of God which changed the world so soon since yesterday.

Atlantic Smelt Schools in Great Lakes Give Many Fishermen a Serious Problem

The presence of the Atlantic smelt in enormous schools throughout the northern part of Lake Michigan is giving the commercial fishing operators a serious problem. The fish have increased to such an extent that they are proving a nuisance rather than a benefit to the commercial fishermen, writes Albert Stoll, Jr., in the Detroit News.

At one time, shortly after they put in their appearance in 1924, it was expected that they would become an added fishing resource of the Great Lakes. They were easy to take during their spawning season with any kind of a net, but had not yet invaded the deeper waters where the commercial fishermen operate. Today many gill-net fishermen have been forced to haul their gear and abandon fishing until the smelt disappear from their best grounds. While the mesh of the gill-nets used is sufficiently large to permit the species to escape through the webbing, the large numbers migrating to and from the fishing grounds are responsible for tons becoming entangled in the nets by their teeth. This results in the necessity of hauling in the nets and clearing them of dead smelt, for it seems to be impossible for other fish to become enmeshed in the smelt-clogged twine. The result is that fishermen spend practically all of their time taking dead smelt out of their nets, and making no catches of other more desirable species.

It does not pay the commercial fishermen to retrieve the smelt because the market price is so low that operations would be conducted at a loss.

The control of the smelt is becoming a serious problem for the commercial fishing experts of the Great Lakes district. It is more than likely to overwhelm the more valuable food fishes found in these waters.

One Big Catch War Comes Closer More Houses Needed Would Not Eat Ladies

President Roosevelt, interrupting his journey to attend to official business, did a little fishing from a whale boat off Port-of-Spain. It was poor fishing, but the President did not complain; he caught something worth while on election day—to catch forty-six out of a possible forty-eight fish is good fishing.

Germany admits willingness to side with Japan in a fight against bolshevism. Practical Stalin, man of few words, tells Japan what he thinks of her pact with Germany by refusing to renew a treaty that permits Japan to fish in Russian waters off the coast of eastern Siberia.

That fishing privilege is vitally important to the feeding of Japan's surplus millions, increasing at the rate of one million new Japanese every year.

Langdon Post, New York's commissioner of housing, tells the American Federation of Labor that a great national shortage of houses exists, because there has been no building in New York City, especially, in a bad way, according to Mr. Post; there the shortage in housing "may have tragic consequences."

That is good news for the building trades, and temporarily good news for landlords; they will not overbuild. As usual, politicians will seize the opportunity to raise taxes, and presently money lenders will be once more selling real estate under foreclosures.

Life is a brief game of seesaw—now up, that is prosperity; then down, that is depression. The budget is not the only thing that needs balancing.

Our neighbor, Nicaragua, well advanced in modern intelligence, establishes a military flying school, orders fighting planes from the United States, hires a first-class instructor. There is progress everywhere, and you realize it when you read in chapter 26 of Westminster's "The Origin and Development of the Moral Ideas":

In ancient Nicaragua women were held unworthy to perform any duty in connection with the temples, and were immolated outside the temple ground of the large sanctuaries, and even their flesh was unclean food for the high priest, who accordingly ate only the flesh of males.

What a jump from a civilization in which the high priest would not eat ladies that had been slaughtered to a modern air school in which young Nicaraguan women, once excluded from the temples, will be allowed to fly planes and learn how to release bombs!

Schumann - Heink, artist of the operatic stage, and a fine example to all women, is dead at seventy-five.

Young ladies who say "I can't have children because I must have a career," and sometimes have neither, please observe that Mme. Schumann - Heink had a magnificent artistic career and many children also, including two boys killed in the big war, and one on a submarine, who survived.

Winston Churchill, able Englishman, thinks Great Britain, France and the United States should remain "one in support of democracy," and calls the United States "a child of our blood and ideals." This country is the child of many different kinds of blood and ideals. Greater New York includes the biggest Italian city in the world, bigger than Rome or Milan; more than a million of Italian birth or descent. The same New York contains two million Jews, many more than ever were in Palestine.

Colombia has written a new constitution, authorizing its government, among other things, to confiscate private property without paying the owners. Conservative citizens of Colombia call that "communist," which seems hardly an exaggeration.

More pay increases, more bonuses, more distribution of accumulated surplus by big corporations. Sixty-five thousand workers in textile and shoe industries learn that they are to have Christmas bonuses and better wages.

Two young female geniuses, Misses Fanny Hurst and Agnes Replier, disagree about book writing. Agnes Replier says it is "perilously easy"; Fanny Hurst says no, it is hard.

Publishers say all depends on the kind of books you write and the brain you have.

Drouth Commission Gets Data for Program—Britain Moves to Protect Her Shipping From Spanish Fascists—German-Russian Break Threatened.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

CHAIRMAN MORRIS L. COOKE and other members of the federal great plains drouth commission are holding a series of meetings in the drouth blighted states for the purpose of formulating a relief and control program and are calling in the farmers to consult with them. At the first of these sessions, in Bismarck, N. D., officials and agriculturalists of Montana, Wyoming, Nebraska and North and South Dakota heard O. W. Roberts, federal meteorologist, give the encouraging promise that "greater than normal precipitation is anticipated in those states next spring on the basis of light precipitation this fall."

Reports of existing conditions, however, showed that the situation is serious. Gov. Walter Welford, of North Dakota, told the conference that water levels throughout his state are seriously diminished, constituting a major problem for the state and federal governments.

Another official declared that North Dakota's live stock situation is "most deplorable," that virtually no live stock is left on ranges in western sections of the state and that feed is seriously scarce in all sections.

"There is no magic wand at the disposal of the government to make drouth areas bloom," Mr. Cooke said. "We came here to hear your suggestions and we hope to gain from this and similar meetings data which will guide future, helpful legislation."

"The reports so far received indicate that much can be done through government assistance and expert advice."

THE Mississippi Valley association, meeting in St. Louis, adopted a resolution calling for rejection of the St. Lawrence seaway treaty unless the crown colony of Newfoundland and Anticosta island are ceded to the United States by Great Britain. Of course no one thinks for a minute that Britain ever would do that.

"The position of Newfoundland, astride the mouth of the St. Lawrence, is an insuperable obstacle to the treaty in its present form," the resolution said, "inasmuch as Newfoundland is a 'crown colony' of Great Britain and is entirely separate from Canada."

"This crown colony as well as the St. Lawrence plug of Anticosta island should both be ceded to the United States to guarantee our safety in case of war."

The new president of the association is Arthur J. Weaver, former governor of Nebraska and now president of the Missouri River Navigation association.

ONE thousand banqueters in Washington celebrated the hundredth anniversary of the American patent system and an announcer from a transport air liner gave them the names of America's "twelve greatest inventors" as selected by a secret committee of prominent men. These are the inventors and their inventions:

Robert Fulton, steamboat; Eli Whitney, cotton gin; Samuel F. B. Morse, telegraph; Charles Good-year, vulcanized rubber; Cyrus Hall McCormick, grain reaper; Elias Howe, sewing machine; George Westinghouse, airbrake; Alexander Graham Bell, telephone; Thomas Alva Edison, electric lamp, phonograph, motion pictures, and many other devices; Ottmar Mergenthaler, linotype; Charles Martin Hall, process for making cheap aluminum; Wilbur Wright, co-inventor with his brother, Orville, of the airplane.

SEATTLE has a habit of recalling its mayors when they are not satisfactory. One was thus ousted in 1911 and another in 1931. Now a movement has been started for the recall of Mayor John F. Dore, who is accused of inciting acts of violence in a labor dispute.

Formal charges of misfeasance, malfeasance and violation of the oath of office were contained in a petition signed by fifteen women and eleven men. It asked the corporation counsel to draft the charges in condensed form so that an effort could be made to obtain the 24,000 signatures necessary for a special recall election.

Dore, fifty-four, was elected in March over Arthur B. Langlie, candidate of the New Order of Cincinnati, an independent organization of young voters seeking better municipal government.

The charges against the mayor largely have to do with his actions in connection with the strike of employees of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

GREAT BRITAIN asked Gen. Francisco Franco, leader of the Spanish rebels, to establish a safety zone for neutral ships in Barcelona harbor which the Fascist chieftain had declared blockaded. Franco's reply was not satisfactory, and besides, one of his vessels sank an unidentified ship off the capital of Catalonia. Therefore the British government promptly started a considerable number of warships toward the Mediterranean, cruisers and submarines being included. Foreign Minister Eden already had assured parliament that British shipping would be protected on the high seas with all the might of the British navy—which is something to give the Spanish Fascists pause.

France took the same stand, but warned its merchantmen to conduct themselves "with extreme caution."

Excitement over the torpedo attack on a loyal Spanish cruiser by a submarine which the Madrid government more than hinted was a German vessel was allayed by the report that the undersea boat was a Spanish submarine that had gone over to the rebel side.

Madrid was being continually hammered by rebel shells and bombs, and there was intense fighting daily in University City, the northwest section of the capital, where the insurgents had penetrated. The American embassy was closed on orders from Washington and Eric C. Wendelin, charge d'affaires, gave protection to those Americans who wished to go to Valencia to board a United States warship. The German and Italian embassies, abandoned by their staffs, were seized and sealed by the defense junta and a number of Fascist refugees were arrested in the former. Berlin scoffed at this action but Rome called it banditry.

E. I. STRICKLING, a German engineer, was sentenced to death in Russia for sabotage which he was said to have confessed. Hitler had his ambassador in Moscow make earnest demands for postponement of the execution, and then suddenly announced that if the sentence were carried out Germany would sever diplomatic relations with the soviet government. Great Britain feared such action would seriously aggravate the European war situation and so Prime Minister Baldwin interceded. He asked German Ambassador Von Ribbentrop to urge Hitler not to bring about the open break with Russia, and he instructed the British ambassador at Moscow to appeal for mercy for Strickling. Thereafter the Soviet government commuted the German's sentence to ten years in prison. Several of his fellow plotters were shot.

The agreement directed against the communists internationale, which angered Russia, was signed by Japan and Germany in the Berlin foreign office. Under the two nations are to co-operate in a campaign against communism, and they invite other nations to join them.

JOSEPH E. DAVIES, wealthy lawyer of Washington, has served the Democratic party in various ways for many years and has contributed liberally to its campaign funds, and now he has been rewarded. President Roosevelt has appointed him American ambassador to Soviet Russia, to succeed William C. Bullitt, who was transferred to the Paris embassy.

Mr. Davies, whose wife is the former Mrs. Marjorie Post Hutton, heiress of the big Post cereal fortune, is a native of Wisconsin and practiced law in that state until 1913, when he went to Washington. He was chairman of the federal trade commission under President Wilson in 1915-'16, and was taken along by Wilson as an economic adviser to the Versailles conference. Before that he had served as western manager of Wilson's campaign and as secretary of the Democratic national committee and he was offered in 1918 the ambassadorship to Russia, to Italy and the governorship of the Philippines. He declined, however, so he could run for the United States senate from Wisconsin. He was defeated. He was active during the recent campaign, serving on the advisory committee at Democratic headquarters in New York.

President Roosevelt signed the Davies commission before he left on his South American cruise, but the announcement was withheld until word was received from the soviet government that Davies was persona grata at Moscow.

Lesson for December 6

PAUL'S PARTING COUNSELS

LESSON TEXT—I Timothy 4:6-16; II Timothy 4:16-18. GOLDEN TEXT—I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith. II Timothy 4:7. PRIMARY TOPIC—Paul's Last Letter. JUNIOR TOPIC—Paul Awaits the Great Adventure. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Passing on the Christian Torch. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Transmitting the Gospel Heritage.

The apostle Paul was an example in many things, and not the least important of these is the manner in which he was constantly on the lookout for young men who by the call and blessing of God would take up the gospel ministry. He realized that there was much to be done and that if the Lord tarried he and his co-workers would pass on, and the work must needs be carried forward by younger men.

Not only did he seek out such young men but he "followed through," giving them encouragement, instruction, and opportunities for service. How shortsighted is the church that fails God at this point, or which, for the sake of local and present usefulness, hinders young men and women from obtaining the needed training for Christian service. The fields are white unto harvest but the laborers are still few. Let us pray them out and help them on their way.

Our lesson centers around the counsels of Paul to his young friend, Timothy. Written near the end of his life, the letters are filled with all the sweet earnestness of his great soul. They present four important truths which merit the careful attention of every Christian, and even more particularly of the Christian worker.

I. The Gain of Godliness (I Tim. 6:6-8).

In a world which knows little but the urge to gain material riches we need to emphasize the fact that it is still true that a man is not profited if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul.

The great gain of godliness is that inner fellowship with God which brings true contentment of spirit.

II. The Snare of Riches (I Tim. 6:9-11).

The pages of human history are full of the names of those who have fallen into this trap of Satan. Sad to say, not a few of them have been Christian leaders.

Notice that it is not the money itself, or the amount of it that constitutes the danger. It is the desire or the "mind to be rich," and "the love of money" that "is a root of all evil." Hence Paul's admonition comes to each one of us to "see these things and follow after righteousness, godliness, faith, love, patience, meekness." What a sermon in a dozen words!

III. The Fight of Faith (vv. 12-16).

Christianity is not only an inward grace which reflects in "godliness with contentment" and in fleeing the snare of riches, but it is a daily fighting of the good fight of faith. It is imperative that there be "a good confession" (v. 12), coupled with a keeping of God's "commandment without spot, without reproach, until the appearing of our Lord Jesus Christ."

The servant of Christ, in view of the coming of the One who is "the King of Kings and Lord of Lords," is to live a consistent, clean, and irreproachable life.

IV. A Divine Deliverance (II Tim. 4:16-18).

"All forsook me," says Paul. How tragic! How weak and undependable is the arm of flesh! "But the Lord stood by me." How glorious! How mighty and gracious is our God!

The follower of Christ may find himself without a human friend or supporter. Those who stood by in younger and more successful days may have disappeared. But let us remember that our trust is in God who has never failed any one of his children. "He abideth faithful, he cannot deny himself." (II Tim. 2:13).

Worship and Prayers

It is for the sake of man, not of God, that worship and prayers are required; that man may be made better—that he may be confirmed in a proper sense of his dependent state, and acquire those pious and virtuous dispositions in which his highest improvement consists.

Learning Only Good

The wish falls often on my heart, that I may learn nothing here that I cannot continue in the other world; that I may do nothing here but deeds that will bear fruit in Heaven.—Jean Paul Richter.

Window of Hope

Eternity is the divine treasure house, and hope is the window, by means of which mortals are permitted to see, as through a glass darkly, the things which God is preparing.—Mountford.

Simple But Smart Models

MATRON, maid, or tiny miss—your attention please. For assembled here are three lovely frocks to brighten your wardrobes. All are designed to be made at home, quickly and inexpensively, and each is accompanied by a step-by-step instruction chart which makes sewing a real pleasure and recreation.

The lovely and graceful daytime or afternoon frock, Pattern 1949, features a novel yet simple yoke and collar treatment, a clever swing skirt, and youthful sleeves, long or short. Chic and stylish, yet as simple as can be, it will make up beautifully in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20 (30 to 38 bust measure), and size 14, with short sleeves, requires just 3 3/4 yards of 39 inch material.

The comely morning frock which steals the center, Pattern 1975, is available in a wide range of sizes and takes top honors for comfort and versatility. Requiring just five simple pieces including the belt, it goes together like a charm, to fit perfectly and make your morning chores so much lighter. The pointed yoke is slimming, the set-in sleeves are free and open, and the skirt is dart fitted at the waist. As easy to make as to wear, this pattern is designed for sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50, and 52. Send for it today. Size 38 requires just 3 3/4 yards of 35 inch fabric, dimity or percale or gingham or seersucker.

The tempting model for tiny tots, Pattern 1944, is likewise utterly simple to make, yet as cunning as can be. Good for party or for play, it is a pattern you can cut twice and save for future use in any of a wide range of fabrics. The tiny puff sleeves are cut in one with the shoulder with just two simple pieces for the front and back of the dress. The size range—six months, one, two and three years. The one year size requires 1 1/2 yards of 36 inch material, and if you wish you can make the pockets, cuffs and facings in contrast.

Send for the Barbara Bell Fall and Winter Pattern Book containing 100 well-planned, easy-to-make patterns. Exclusive fashions for children, young women, and matrons. Send fifteen cents in coins for your copy. Send your order to The Sewing Circle Pattern Dept., 387 W. Adams St., Chicago, Ill. Patterns 15 cents (in coins) each. © Bell Syndicate.—WNU Service.

Household Questions

Chocolate stains may be removed from table linen by sprinkling the stain with borax, then pouring boiling water through the linen.

Cane-bottomed chair seats can be tightened up by washing them in a weak solution of salt water and then drying in the open air.

To keep paint fresh in uncovered cans fill them to the top with water, after stirring the paint thoroughly. When needed, pour off the water with care.

Potatoes used in salad should be thoroughly chilled and with sharp knife cut into half-inch dice. Add rest of ingredients and mix with fork. This will aid in preventing salad from becoming "mushy."

When sending a book through the mail cut corners off stiff envelopes and put on book corners. Protected in this way corners will not bend.

Always make it a point to keep your larder supplied with about a dozen cans of soups, meats and fruits. When an unexpected guest arrives for lunch you will then be able to serve a good meal. © Associated Newspapers.—WNU Service.

"Quotations"

Fiction is truth with its face lifted.—Rex Beach.

It is women rather than men, who are unfair to women.—Fannie Hurst.

Immorality, like war, is a state of abnormality. Slowly but surely we are swinging back to normality once more.—Conrad Keyserling.

Great beauty is as inspiring as great music or great architecture.—Gertrude Atherton.

Poverty is one of the major curses of mankind and we must wage tireless war against it.—Harry Emerson Fosdick.

It has been mostly in times of peril and need that great works of progress have come into being.—Albert Einstein.

WOMEN WHO HOLD THEIR MEN NEVER LET THEM KNOW

No matter how much your back aches and your nerves scream, your husband, because he is only a man, can never understand why you are so hard to live with one week in every month. Too often the honeymoon expression is wrecked by the nagging tongue of a three-quarter wife. The wise woman never lets her husband know by outward signs that she is a victim of periodic pain.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three decades of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Don't be a three-quarter wife, take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and go "Smiling Through."

Useless Worry

Today is the tomorrow you worried about yesterday—and all is well.

DISCOVERED Way to Relieve Coughs QUICKLY

IT'S BY relieving both the irritated tissues of the throat and bronchial tubes. One set of ingredients in FOLEY'S HONEY & TAR quickly relieves tickling, hacking, coughing... coats and soothes irritated throat linings to keep you from coughing. Another set actually enters the blood, reaches the affected bronchial tubes, loosens phlegm, helps break up cruds and speeds recovery. Check a cough due to a cold before it gets worse. Before others catch it. Check it with FOLEY'S HONEY & TAR. It gives quick relief and speeded-up recovery.

PENSIONS

I don't suppose that editor Hill was hitting at us, for we have never advocated that every one over 65 should be paid $30 per month, but we have fought the deliberalization bill, and still ready to fight it. . . .
The people of Texas voted overwhelmingly to pay this pension and I am sure they knew it would take a lot of money to pay it when they voted. What are you trying to do, tell them they did not know what they wanted? . . . Editor Hill, I know people, and you do too, who are in dire need that have not even got as much as a smell of the pension fund.
And now you want to not only forever turn them away, but say "I am glad they are turning more of them off". . . . Now, Mr. Hill, just to be plain about things, is it not a fact that you are against "giving away" pensions to any one and have er ah
the stomach trouble because you are so badly outnumbered.

We are not willing to pay $30 to every person over 65, but do think that every disabled needy person should have their needs supplied.—
Ropes Plainsman.

If that last paragraph sums up your belief about this pension busness, what are you howling about?
And why do you oppose the delib-eralization law? That is exactly what we believe.

Answering your question about the bellyache, we will assure you that we haven't ha it in years. We voted for the old age pension amendment and we advocated its adoption through our editorial columns.

But since this amendment merely authorized the legislature to pay a pension of not exceeding $30 per month to persons in this state over 65 years of age, we did not dream that there was anybody in Texas who was so er-dumb as to construe the adoption of the amendment

as a mandate to the legislature to pay that sum. We recognized the fact that it gave the legislature some discretion in the matter and contemplated that the legislature would use common sense.

You say that both you and I know
"people who are in dire need that have not even got as much as a smell of the pension fund". That is true. It certainly is, and I regret it as much as you. But that is due to errors in the administration of the law or to the lack of time since the law went into effect to adequatly investigate every applicant. Even with the most painstaking investigation, some mistakes will be made.
Mistakes are made in the administration of every law. If you are looking for perfection, brother, you are looking on the wrong side of the river. You'll scarcely find perfection this side of the Pearly Gates.

If you believe in paying pensions only to the needy and to nobody else, how would a larger monthly pension help those people who "have not even got as much as a smell of the pension fund"? The needy who haven't gotten a smell have evidently been adjudged by the commission as "not needy", and hence they would not now be getting any pension money even if we were paying a pension of $30 per month or even $100.00 per month or any old sum to all those adjudged "needy".

What are you aching about? You want to pay all the needy $30 per month, do you? Well, there are old Ephraim and Liza down yonder in the Brazos bottoms who have been living on $20.00 per month. That's about all they need or can use personally. But you want to pay them $60.00, and tax your Hockley county neighbors to do it. Pay them $60.00 and a lot of trifling black bucks will hang around them and spend most of it for them. If there were only one Ephraim and Liza, it would not amount to much, but there are thousands and thousands of them.

It is our position that we should pay pensions only to the aged needy and pay them according to their needs.

Yes, it is true that some needy persons have not yet gotten a smell of the pension fund, and it is also true that a few who have relatives amly able to care for them are drawing pensions. The object of the deliberalization bill was to cut these off the pension list and they should be cut off. Most of the real needy will, in the course of time, be put on the list.

Suppose all of the 200,000 applicants under the original law were put on the rolls and the law required that they be paid $30.00 each per month.
Can you tell us, Brother Richards, where would we get the 72 million dollars this year with which to pay them? or next year? We might be able to do it in the course of time, but to saddle that much additional tax on the people of Texas in a single year would be foolish in the extreme.

You have a lot of gray matter, Mr.
Richards. Use it.

INSURANCE

Every person, whether they live in the country or in town, should, if possible carry insurance on their homes, if they have one, and on their furnishings, surely. No matter how good your neighbors are, you cannot depend on them to replace everything you lose, and you will always have something in that home to go up in smoke that there is absolutely no price on, that no amount of insurance will cover. It may be just an old time tintype picture, Bible or something on that order. But insurance is cheap, comparatively speaking, and every family should carry some on their property.—Terry County Herald.

That's good advice if it is free.
Insurance is carried on most houses in town-but on very few houses in the country. Yet nearly as many houses are destroyed by fire in the country as in town. Home owners in the country should learn that it pays to insure. We might also suggest to the insurance companies that it pays to advertise.

Well! Well! Well! Strange things continue to happen. The Duponts of Deleware have been bitter enemies of President Roosevelt. They were regarded as the prime movers in the somewhat discredited Liberty Leegure" with which to fight him. The election was hardly over when came the startling announcement that one of the President's sons is to marry
one of the DuPont girls. The wedding is to be next June. As if that were not sensation enough, then came the announcement on Thanksgiving Day that William Randolph
Hearst had appointed President Roosevelt's son-in-law, John Boettiger, as publisher of one of Hearst's string of daily newspapers, the Seattle Post-Intelligencer. There has possibly never been a more bitter critic of President Roosevelt than William Randolph Hearst. We are wondering what will happen next in the Roosevelt household. Maybe it will be that Elliott Roosevelt, another son of the President now living in Fort Worth, will be a candidate for governor of Texas at the next election. There have been rumblings to that effect.

Germany, Italy, and Japan have gone in cahoots to prevent the spread of communism, and Russia has given the three big bullies to understand that she will tolerate neither Hitlerism nor Fascism in the land of the be-whiskered bolsheviks. Russia is daring Germany to do her worst, boasting that she is ready for the fray. As we see it none of those countries has anything in the way of government to boast about. Freedom of speech, freedom of the press, and freedom of religious worship have been suppressed in all of them, and the right of trial by jury has been practically destroyed. It's a pity that all those countries can't abolish both autocracy and communism and establish governments similar to that enjoyed in the good old U. S. A.

Here and there in Lynn county is a farm home with a hedge of trees about the premises. The trees not only serve a good purpose as a windbreak but they add much to the attractiveness of the home and the farm. Chinese aims will live and thrive here without irrigation. The prospects are that hundreds of farmers will plant out trees on their premises, either as a windbreak or for shade and ornamental purposes, within the next year or two.

Crash! Crash! Crash! Another wreck on the highway. Some fellow fell asleep while driving. A fool tried to pass one car while meeting another. Or a bunch of drunks. And so it goes. One tragedy after another, due in most instances to criminal negligence, a mania for speed, or drunken driving. These cases stare at us from the pages of almost every newspaper. When will we ever learn to exercise common sense behind the wheel of a car?

Aristocratic England is terribly wrought up over the prospective marriage of their king to an American woman who has been twice divorced. It is not quite clear whether their chief objection is that she is a divorcee or an American.
One is probably about as bad as the other in the eyes of the lords of London. But Eddie seems to have a head of his own.

J. W. Enfinger of Lamb county proposes to have plenty of feed for his dairy cows this winter in the face of scarcity and high prices. He filled one four-ton trench silo in August with hegarl, kafir, and corn bundles and another one the same size in September.

CARD OF THANKS

We can not thank our friends enough for the kindness shown us during the recent illness and at the death of our husband, son, and brother "Jack" Hill. We are deeply grateful to those who made it possible for the wife to go to his bedside in Los Angeles before his death.
We appreciate every kindness shown,
the flowers given, the words of consolation spoken by Brother Drennon and others, and other acts of helpfulness and sympathy too numerous to mention.

SOUTH TEXAS IS IDEAL FOR WINTER TRAVEL, SAYS WELLS

A visit to a subtropical seacoast
—a sportsman's paradise "where winter is just a rumor"—awaits listeners who tune in on Carveth Wells Sunday, December 6, when the well-known explorer and radio star will devote his weekly travel broadcast to Southern Texas, "the ideal place for winter motorists and travellers."

Sponsored by Continental Oil Co., this twenty-fourth program of the current "Exploring America with Conoco and Carveth Wells" series will include a description of Texas' most historic spot—the Alamo in San Antonio—as well as a tour thru the famous Rio Grande Valley and to other points in the southern part of the Lone Star State.

"You'll enjoy yourself in Texas
no matter where you go," says Wells, "because Texas people are invariably genial souls. They enjoy an astonishing variety of business opportunities and an equally varied selection of recreations to choose from—golf, polo, fishing, hunting, boating swimming—all available the year round."

Local listeners who wish to tune in on Carveth Wells, Sunday, December 6, may do so by dialing station WFAA, Dallas, at 12:30 o'clock.

MIDWAY 4-H CLUB

The Midway 4-H Girls' Club met at the home of their sponsor, Mrs. R. L. Littlepage, November 30 and elected their officers for 1937: President: Nieto Stephens. Vice-President: Mary Louise Rainey. Secretary: Iaphene Stephens. Reporter: Clara Lee Stephens. Clothing Demonstrator: Iaphene Stephens. Poultry Demonstrator: Mary Louise McDonald. Sponsor: Mrs. R. L. Littlepage. Those who had pot holders completed handed them in properly labeled, the labeling being 1 1/2 inches by 2 1/2 inches made of unbleached muslin. The labels were sewed on the back of the pot holders and printed on each were: Girl's name, 4-H Club, County.

NEW HOME H-D CLUB

"If you've never made another have a happier time in life; If you've never helped a brother Through his struggle and strife; If you've never been a comfort To the weary and worn— Will you tell us what you're here for In this lovely land of morn? If you've never made a comrade Feel the world a sweeter place Because you lived within it and had served it with your grace; If you've never heard a woman Or a little child proclaim A blessing on your bounty— You're a poor hand at the game."

The above poem was read by Mrs. Henry Heck to the New Home H. D. Club Friday, November 27th.

There are many responsibilities and privileges of club officers. First it is a privilege to have a home demonstration club in our community. For the best results, the members and the officers of this club must cooperate. They must be sociable.

LUBBOCK NURSERIES

It is no longer necessary for people living on the Plains of Texas and New Mexico to order fruit trees and ornamental nursery stock from Eastern or Northern states. In the Lubbock Nurseries nearly a quarter million plants were growing this past season. These included practically every variety of roses, flowering shrubs, evergreens, vines, and fruit trees that have proven successful in this high altitude.

In our test grounds we are continually trying out new varieties, many of which are not worth growing in this section. These are discarded and we propagate and grow only those varieties that are proving worth while.

Most people do not realize that only the hardest varieties of fruits and ornamentals will stand up under the rigorous conditions peculiar to our climate and altitude and as you must trust your lawyer or your doctor you must trust your nurseryman.

If you will entrust your order for any kind of nursery stock to us you may rest assured that you will receive only the best and hardest varieties and that while you might be able to buy trees or other stock cheaper from peddlers or Eastern concerns you will never be overcharged and you will always get more than your money's worth from a firm that will be here next year and next year.

We want you to have our price list, and invite you to take advantage of our GET ACQUAINTED OFFER. Send a post card for price list, or if you are a new customer send $1.00 and we will send you our price list and 10 well rooted, strong, everblooming roses, any color. ALL PREPAID.

TEXAS 4-H'ER WINS $200 SCHOLARSHIP

MEET the champion 4-H livestock boy of the southern states, J. D. Jordan, 16, of Mason, Texas. Each year since his 1918 he fed and showed baby beavers. His prizes on the 40 head handed total $1,118.88, and his sales return $5,430.15. For this record and his work as assistant leader and other activities he was awarded second national honors by club leaders in the seventh Thomas R. Wilson annual contest, and prizes including a $200 cash college scholarship presented at the 16th National Club Congress in Chicago. The boy had won state honors in 1934 but was too young to qualify for higher awards. This year's state award fell to Carl Martin, 15, Meador County, who fed 21 baby beavers in five years, winning $254.77 in prizes and returning proceeds of $2,107.52.

The following officers were elected for the new club year. President: Mrs. J. R. Strain. Vice-President: Mrs. Henry Heck. Secretary-Treasurer: Mrs. Joe Poindexter. Reporter: Mrs. Boswell Edwards. Council Delegate: Mrs. Loyd McCormick. Visitors present were: Mesdames J. C. Poindexter, Margaret Ross, Misses Mildred Strain, and Thelma Ruth Strain. Members present were: Mesdames H. A. Parris, J. T. Carter, Henry Heck, Bill Farris, Joe Poindexter, R. D. Rogers, J. R. Strain, B. M. McGlothing, and Boswell Edwards.

LAKEVIEW CLUB ORGANIZED
A new home demonstration club was organized at Lakeview in the home of Mrs. M. W. Nettles, December 1 under the direction of Miss Lillith Boyd, C.H.D.A. The following officers were elected for 1937: President: Mrs. E. T. Hall. Vice-President: Mrs. M. W. Nettles. Secretary-Treasurer: Mrs. J. P. Lewis. Reporter: Mrs. S. L. Williams. Council Delegate: Mrs. S. L. Williams. Parliamentarian: Mrs. F. E. McNabb. Kitchen Demonstrator: Mrs. Hatlie McManis. Home Food Supply Demonstrator: Mrs. G. C. Richey.

NEW LYNN 4-H CLUB
The New Lynn 4-H Club elected their officers for 1937, November 30. They were: President: Effie Waggoner. Vice-President: Elva Stone. Sec'y-treas: Margaret Barton. Reporter: Audrey Walker. Clothing Demonstrator: Alline Bartley. Poultry Demonstrator: Velma Lee Parker. Sponsor: Mrs. C. C. Coffee. Miss Boyd gave the members instructions for equipping their sewing boxes and a demonstration on making pot holders. Twenty-five members were present.

NEW HOME 4-H CLUB
The New Home 4-H Club met Monday November 30 instead of Friday November 27 because it was more convenient for some of our members, since our school was turned out for Thanksgiving. During our meeting Monday we worked on our pot holders. We will meet again December 11 and Miss Lillith Boyd will talk to us.

Draw-Redwine SCHOOL AND COMMUNITY NEWS

Society
Miss Carol Holloway entertained the young folks with a Thanksgiving party last Thursday night. Hot chocolate and marshmallows were served to the guests. Everyone reported a wonderful time. Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Giles spent the Thanksgiving holidays at the Centennial. Mr. and Mrs. Gaiter visited relatives at Floydada during the Thanksgiving holidays. Mrs. J. E. Williams and children spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Toy Ketter of Tahoka. Mrs. A. R. Hensley, and sons, Fisher and Pat, left for East Texas Friday to visit Mrs. Hensley's mother. Mr. H. P. Caveness visited school Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Smith of Brownfield visited Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Sherrill and family during the Thanksgiving holidays. Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Sherrill are sisters.

Draw Church News
There was a nice crowd at church and Sunday school at Draw Sunday, considering the weather. We had an inspiring Sunday school lesson on "Christian Brotherhood." Afterwards Brother Bervin Caswell preached an interesting sermon for us. There were several persons from college at church whom we were glad to have. In the evening the league met and had the following program: Leader, Mr. Barzett, Song, Scripture Reading, Song and prayer. Talks were made by the leader and Miss Sturgeon. Special song. The league benediction was then repeated and league closed. Brother and Mrs. Carmack each made an interesting talk.

Sports
The Longhorns gave the O'Donnell Eagles a good battle last Thursday, although they were defeated 12 to 0. It seemed to be an off-day for the Longhorns. It would have been a different score if they had not gotten all the bad breaks, but look out O'Donnell, we'll be seeing you again. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Taylor of Gaines county spent several days here this week visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Maasen. They came Sunday from Lubbock where their 14 months old baby had been in the hospital since Thanksgiving day under treatment for tonsillitis.

MRS BARTON WRITES FROM THE RIO GRANDE VALLEY

Mr. Editor: I thought I would write you and let you see this country through my eyes.

I am somewhere near 250 miles south of San Antonio and eighteen miles west of the Gulf of Mexico. So this is a low, salty, arid country.

We have as many palm trees as Florida and far more oranges, grape fruit and lemons. This is the country for any one who loves fruit. Oranges and grape fruit are on hand any time you want them, and there are plenty of lemons in the community.

Last Friday we made a small sight-seeing tour and visited Raymondville, Lyford, Combes, and Harlingen, where we saw many beautiful homes and orchards.

I can't begin to tell you how pleasant it is down here. We haven't had any cold weather or west wind. We have mostly a warm south breeze. We never think of wearing any heavy clothes.

We will soon visit Red Fish Bay, where there are many summer cottages and small fishing boats. There are still a few people down there, although it is not fishing season.

I forgot to tell you I visited San Antonio for the first time in my seventy-six years. I guess you have heard of the Blanton case. I met Mrs. Blanton and son last night. We live only two miles from where they disappeared.

Mrs. N. J. Barton, San Perlita, Texas, Nov. 29, 1936.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our appreciation to those who rendered assistance to our daughter and sister immediately after the tragic fire. Especially do we thank Dr. Turrentine and Mr. Harris for their prompt and efficient services rendered. And others who helped and gave words of comfort in our hour of sorrow. May God's richest blessings rest and abide with you all. Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Stiles and son.

A new type of bubble glass has been developed in England. It can be drilled and sawed, so a nail can be driven into it, without its breaking. More technically known as "multicellular" glass, it contains great numbers of glass bubbles packed closely together with a thin layer of glass between each.

Petty

All the crops are about gathered in our community. Petty gin has ginned close to 800 bales. Nearly all the farmers that are not going to move have started plowing.

Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Askey are the proud parents of a baby boy born in Clark and Key Clinic in Lubbock. They have named him Gerald Dalton.

Some 15 or 20 friends of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hemmeline's gathered at their home Sunday for a delayed Thanksgiving dinner. Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Jeter and family of Lakeview were among those present.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Nichols and family of Sudan, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Stricklin and family of Lamesa and Brother and Mrs. McCullough and family of New Home spent Thanksgiving Day with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Unfred.

Mr. Thad Smith and family of Ruidoso, New Mexico, have moved into our community. Mr. and Mrs. Chester Smart are parents of an 8 pound boy. This is Mr. Williams' first grand child but he seems to be doing fine.

Mrs. L. C. Crews and Wilma Dorris attended the Centennial last week. Mr. and Mrs. J. W. White spent Thanksgiving with Mrs. White's uncle of Plainview, Texas.

CHURCH OF CHRIST NOTES

Services were fine at O'Donnell last Lord's day. But the sad thing about the day was the funeral hour of our neighbor and friend, Mr. Taylor; friend Hill on Saturday and then Taylor on Sunday. How death is abroad in our land! I am getting more friends on the other side of the river than those on this side, but it won't be long until I will be going that way too, and how happy is the thought that we can be ready for it. But, the sad thing is that so many of my friends are going to die on the wrong side of that "Great Gulf" unless they change their ways. How I wish they would cross over while they can.

The "Fire of the Lord" will not consume a sacrifice which is not on the altar.

Brother, what are you worth to the church? How do you spend your Sundays, and where? Honest, how much have you on deposit in the bank of Heaven? Church member, how much spiritual power do you get at the picture show? What is the difference between Bank Night and any other gambling?

May we see you at our services next Lord's Day Subject, 11 a. m. "Eternal Life"; 7:30 p. m. "Why More People Are Not Christians in Tahoka". Visit the friendly church.

—R. P. DRENNON.

P. T. A. MEETS

The last meeting of the P. T. A. to be held in the old Central Ward school building was Wednesday afternoon. A very inspiring program was enjoyed.

Plans are being made to landscape and otherwise beautify the grounds of the new grade school building that is now complete and that will be in use after Christmas.

Mrs. R. W. Fenton Sr. made a very interesting talk on "Co-operation of Teacher and Parent." Mrs. Mack Penn gave several Christmas poems. Pupils of the sixth grade sang two beautiful Christmas songs, accompanied by Mr. Mathis at the piano, and Rita Lois Stewart gave a reading appropriate to the season.

Supt. Barrett made a talk, announcing that open house for the new grade school building would be on December 14, and that some prominent speakers will be here for the occasion.

Everyone should be proud of our new grade school and come out to inspect it.

Patrons are urged to donate trees and shrubs with which to beautify the grounds.

METHODIST YOUNG PEOPLE'S RALLY WILL BE IN LUBBOCK

The young people of the Methodist Church are cordially invited to attend the regular District Rally, to be held at Lubbock, Saturday and Sunday, December 5-6, under the direction of Asbury Church. We are trying to make this the biggest and best rally that Lubbock District has ever had, and we need your individual cooperation to succeed in this effort. Registration will begin at 4:00 o'clock, and from then on, we promise you a very enjoyable time.

Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Boyd and daughter Marion of Amarillo and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Nance of Dallas were here during the Thanksgiving season visiting Mrs. Boyd's and Mrs. Nance's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Knight, and their brother, K. F. Knight, and family.

Again America Shows the Way

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN
National Chairman
Sentinels of the Republic

Throughout much of its history our American Republic has served as a model to various nations determined to supplant the evils of Rule by the Few, with the benefits of Government, by the People.

Today it continues to offer, by example, a chart to the path that leads toward peace and progress.

Contrasting pictures from the latest screen of world affairs tell the story. While the Fascist and Communist states of Europe are expanding and re-establishing their Machinery of War, the United States is following the opposite course.

Its highest officials are meeting with those of neighbor nations in a determined effort to oil the Machinery of Peace.

While Spain is attempting to invalidate the ballots of popular election with the bullets of rebellion, America follows its traditional way.

It is submerging political differences, while winners and losers alike seek effective methods of cooperation in the cause of reemployment and recovery.

There stand two striking contrasts, which the detractors of America and of the American way of doing things might do well to study.

There wait two convincing answers to those fervid propagandists who tell us to look to the Fascism or the Communism of Europe, instead of to the representative democracy of the United States, for guidance in our national life.

America looked within—and not abroad—when it won and established a form of Government by the People that became a model for the oppressed of all lands.

America can still demonstrate that that form of government does more to assure national growth and international concord than any of the desperate experiments which now trouble Europe.

Dr. H. B. Mason and George Cox, rector, both of Temple, were here a short time Wednesday and dropped around to the News office to renew their acquaintance with the editor. For several years we lived in that fine central Texas city and some of the best friends we ever had still live there. The surprise call of Dr. Mason and George Cox was just like a visit of kinfolks. Dr. Mason is also a personal friend of Mrs. Hill of many years standing.

E. Evans and his niece, Miss Elizabeth Bogle, and Mrs. Welbourne Dickson, all of Crowley, Tarrant county, arrived Saturday night for a brief visit with relatives here. Mr. Evans and Miss Bogle visited the former's brother, John Evans, while Mrs. Dickson visited her parents Mr. and Mrs. George Bovell. They returned to their respective homes on Monday.

ATTEND SCOUT CIRCUS

A few of our citizens accompanied local Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts to Lubbock last Friday and Saturday night to attend the Scout Circus in the Tech gymnasium. Several hundred Scouts took part in the show, which was declared to be very entertaining and educational.

INSPECTING SCHOOLS

Deputy State Superintendent G. D. Holbrook is here this week inspecting the schools of the county to determine what schools are entitled to state aid and how much. He is accompanied on his visits by County Superintendent H. P. Caviness.

CARD OF THANKS

We are truly grateful to the many friends who helped us in many ways during the illness and upon the death of our husband and father, J. W. Taylor. We only wish that we had some way to repay them. Sincerely,
Mrs. J. W. Taylor and children.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bovell residing six miles north of Tahoka had as their Thanksgiving guests Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Horn of Crowley, Tarrant county. Mr. Thompson is Mrs. Bovell's brother. The visitors left for their homes Sunday.

According to an announcement by Secretary Ickes, the U. S. Interior Department is rushing plans to market Virgin Island rum in this country and abroad. The rum has been manufactured by the Virgin Islands Company, which was organized under Washington guidance two and a half years ago.

Unlike most other states and cities, Connecticut has no debt to pay off. Facing no need for bond retiring appropriations, the state's fiscal officers have only one problem. The problem: what to do with the $1,384,472 representing the surplus cash left over in the sinking fund after all obligations had been paid.

Early next year Washingtonians plan to make a concerted fight for national representation for the District of Columbia. Voteless residents of the capital will appear before Congress with their demands.

Washington is among the most expensive cities in the United States in which to buy food, says Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Peak of Lampasas visited the J. K. Applewhite family here Thanksgiving day. Mrs. Peak is Mr. Applewhite's sister.

The first trench silo in Bailey county was filled in 1935 on E. L. Smith's farm in the West Camp community. Twenty-four other trench silos were filled last fall and 30 more this fall, making a total of 55 now in use in the county.

Theodore Nordyke is still carrying his right arm in a sling, as a result of a fracture in two or three places of one of the bones of the forearm sustained in a fall two weeks ago. It is healing, however.

Mrs. A. F. McGlaun and daughter, Annette, have returned home from a week's visit in Paducah, Corsicana, and Dawson with relatives and friends. They report much rainy weather down state.

Mr. and Mrs. Buster King of Hobbs, New Mexico and G. C. Shaffer spent Thanksgiving day with Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Parker of Monahans. Mrs. Parker being the former Miss Ruth Shaffer.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Link of Carlsbad, New Mexico, spent Thanksgiving day here with relatives.

MRS. S. F. SINGLETON OF O'DONNELL, PIONEER, DIES

braced in the territory formerly covered by the Singleton Ranch.
Mrs. Singleton was a faithful member of the Presbyterian Church and was a noble, good woman. Having resided in this county for 38 years, she was well known to all the pioneers throughout this section, and she continually made new friends as the country settled up. A great concourse of these friends and relatives attended the funeral services at O'Donnell and followed the remains to the cemetery here.
The News joins in condolences to all the bereaved.

VISIT MEDINA COUNTRY

D. L. Young and Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Harter and son, H. C. Jr., of the Magnolia community returned Wednesday night from a trip to the irrigated farm lands near Medina Lake, in Medina county, for which Mr. Young is a sales agent.
Mr. Young brought back with him a green leaf plucked from a palm tree growing on these lands. Palm leaf fans are made from the leaves of the palm tree. He states that there are many such trees there and also a few banana trees.
There is also much green garden truck growing there now, and strawberries are in bloom. The Medina irrigated lands are situated 20 or 30 miles southwest of San Antonio.

DISTRICT LEGION CONVENTION TO BE HELD IN LUBBOCK

Lubbock, Texas, Dec. 2.—The Allen Bros. Post of the American Legion has arranged a very interesting program for the five hundred legionnaires and auxiliary members that are expected here December 5 and 6 for the 19th district convention.
Starting with registration December 5, a full program of fun has been arranged that will be climaxed with a dance on the evening of December 5 at the Hotel Lubbock and a luncheon will be given at the Hilton for the visitors at 12:30 P.M. December 6.
Sunday visitors as well as local legionnaires will have an opportunity to hear the National Chaplain of the American Legion, Rev. Bryan H. Keathley, who will conduct church services at 11:00 o'clock.
Following the luncheon program, a business session will be conducted with C. B. Quante, district committeeman, presiding.
Department Commander Drury Phillips, and other ranking officials of the state organization will be here for the convention.
Mr. and Mrs. Bob Finley are planning to move to their place near Hico in Hamilton county. They expect to get away early next week. The Finleys have been here about a year. They resided at Wilson many years and Bob served as commissioner of this county two or three terms. Hamilton county will find them to be mighty good people.

TENANTS UNION WILL MEET HERE SATURDAY NIGHT

Fred Matthews announces that there will be a meeting of the Southern Tenant Farmers Union of Lynn county at the county court room in Tahoka at 7:30 o'clock Saturday night. Representatives from Lubbock and Garza counties will also be present.
It is expected that a program will be adopted which the Union will lay before Congress for its approval and enactment into law.
All tenant farmers in the county are invited to attend.

BIG FIGHT BLOWING

Undoubtedly, there is going to be a big fight—possibly a bitter one—over representation in the legislature when and if that body re-appropriates representation next spring. Many East Texas counties stand to lose in number of representatives rather than to gain, while the big cities and West Texas counties are going to gain.
East Texas has dominated the state's political arena so long that it is going to go against the grain with them to lose. The resulting scramble will make a big noise.—Floyd County, Hesperian.

STOLEN TOOLS RECOVERED.

Sheriff E. L. Parker went to El Paso last week and recovered some of the tools stolen from Bob Carroll's blacksmith shop in O'Donnell on the night of October 18.
The blacksmith shop was broken into that night and tools valued at $120.00 were stolen. The thief has not yet been apprehended, but Mr. Parker knows who did the job and expects to get his man at an early date.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Bids will be received by Lynn county at the Court House at Tahoka, Texas, until 10 o'clock a. m. on _____, 1936, for the purchase of one motor grader with six cylinder gasoline motor, five speed transmission, and all welded frame, weight approximately 19,000 pounds, and notice is given that warrants will be issued in the maximum sum of $ Machine, payable serially, last maturity not later than April 15, 1941, bearing interest at the rate of 6% per annum, interest payable annually.
The right is reserved to reject all bids.

Even the Washington Monument has joined the shorter work week movement. To afford the public night as well as day views of the capital the great shaft has been kept open thirteen and one-half hours a day, closing at 10:30 p. m. MORE PINK BOLL WORMS REPORTED IN WEST TEXAS

Washington, Dec. 2.—Secretary Wallace announced today revision of pink bollworm quarantine regulations to include three Texas counties, Glasscock, Howard and Martin, and parts of two others, Dawson and Midland, in the lightly infested area.
The secretary said the revision was made because of the finding of pink bollworm recently at Big Spring in Howard county, and at Patricia, in Dawson county.
Big Spring, Dec. 2.—Two pink boll worms were found recently in a Coahoma gin, 10 miles east of here. Assistant County Agent M. Weaver said today.
The county has been under a quarantine during the last several days as a result of the discovery.

NEW JERSEY MAN HERE

John W. Newton of Hadden Heights, New Jersey, was here Thursday looking after his landed interests in this county.
He owns a section of land situated seven miles east of Tahoka which was purchased by his father in 1876 and it has been in the family ever since. J. K. Appiewhite and W. M. Harris have had it under lease the past five years.
Mr. Newton has made several visits to this county and was here last about five or six years ago.

Claud Wells and Dick Dana visited the Stony Smith family at Ingram and hunted deer in that vicinity on Thanksgiving day, but Claud admits that they had no luck on the hunt. He reports Mr. and Mrs. Smith to be in fine health and spirits.

DIXIE SCHOOL SUSPENDED

The Dixie school was suspended Monday for a few days on account of a case of scarlet fever having developed, the patient being the child of Superintendent N. P. Craig.
No other cases had developed Thursday, and it is expected that school work will be resumed Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Gagnat went down to Dalles Saturday night. Mr. Gagnat came back Monday night but Mrs. Gagnat remained over till Tuesday and was accompanied home by her mother and sister, Mrs. H. M. McCormack and Mrs. Audie V. McElroy, who came up from Overton. Mr. Gagnat went down to rush up his tractor orders. He says there is now such a demand for tractors in the black land belt in north and central Texas that it is difficult to get them here.

PROMPTNESS

Promptness might be defined in simple language as the habit of being at the right place and doing the proper thing at the proper time. In as much as we may say that promptness is a habit, we should try to form such a habit. Some wise person has said that when we do anything three successive times we make that thing a habit. If the formation of the habit of promptness is so easy, why should any student fail to form it?

Another angle from which we might consider the matter of lack of promptness is that of the work and loss of time it occasions for the principal in making out the passes to classes. There is additional loss of time through disturbances caused by the entrance of these delinquents into the various classes. If we students stop to consider how unnecessary tardiness can cause such loss of valuable time and increase work, surely we will try to develop the habit of promptness.

SENIOR RINGS

Last Tuesday, November twenty-fourth, was a red-letter day on the calendar of the Seniors of Tahoka High School. That thrill which comes but once to all Seniors arrived with the receiving and distribution of the Senior rings. The Seniors all seem well pleased with their rings.

ENGLISH 4 CLASS

As the main feature of their study of English Literature, the students of the English-4 class are now devoting their time to the study of William Shakespeare's "Hamlet, Prince of Denmark". Contrary to popular belief, this work of Shakespeare is proving very interesting. Both charm and interest are to be found in the advice, pungent quotations, and Hamlet's madness and his love for the most beautiful Ophelia. The fact that the story is being read and discussed in class adds much to its interest.

CHAPEL PROGRAM

On Wednesday, November twenty-fifth, Mr. Ayres, as Sophomore sponsor, had charge of the Assembly program. The student body joined in some songs and yells. Short talks were given by Delton Pemberton, Joy Edwin Brown and Robert Maddox, who played their last game for Tahoka High School on last Wednesday afternoon. The program seemed to have developed a great deal of pep for the game later in the day.

SPORTS

The Antelopes of Post came over on Wednesday, November twenty-fifth, to trounce the Bulldogs 12-0 and to end the 1936 foot-ball season. During the first quarter there was no score; the ball was played all the time in mid-field. The Antelopes made numerous first downs as a result of crashing line plays by Halfback Jimmy Hundley, who was injured in the early minutes of the second period. In the second quarter the Antelopes scored, but failed to convert, making the score 6-0 at the half.

In the third quarter the Bulldogs could not get started well. Post kept completing passes and driving over the line for more gains, and another touchdown. Tahoka played defensively most of the time, and started a goalward drive in the latter minutes of the fourth quarter, but the final whistle blew to prevent further attempts at scoring.

Contributing to Post's defense, Sam Gatzki, left end, caught five of six passes thrown him by Halfback Wright, and Leroy Perkins and T. J. Wardlow played well in the Antelope line. Hoover, Brown, and Patty were the most outstanding of Tahoka players. Neither of the captains was able to play; Brown acting as captain for Tahoka.

The line-up for Post was as follows:

- Right end—Leroy Perkins.
- Right tackle—Leonard Dean.
- Right guard—Tommy Powers.
- Center—Mason Justice.
- Left guard—Hulan Harrison.
- Left tackle—T. J. Wardlow.
- Left end—Sam Gatzki.
- Quarterback—Ralph Brandt.
- Left halfback—Kenneth Wright.
- Right halfback—Jimmy Hundley.
- Fullback—Vivian Moore.

SEVENTH GRADE

The Seventh Grade had a meeting on December first. We discussed plans and prepared for a Seventh Grade Christmas box. We will have a feast at the same time.

ENROLLMENTS

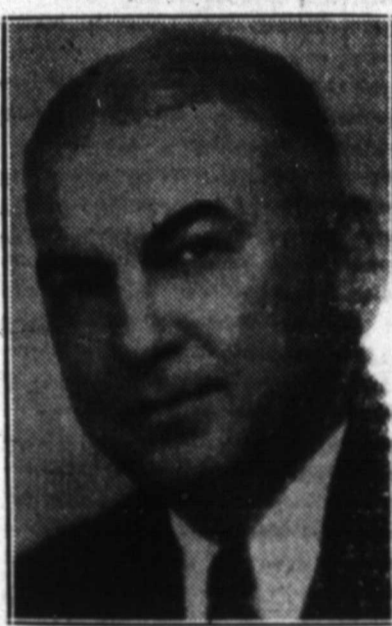

Violet and Maydell Hardt have recently re-enrolled in the Freshman class. Ernestine Shifflet comes to the Freshman class of Tahoka High School from Lockney. Gar-nell Hoover and Katherine McLeroy have come from Lockney and entered the Sophomore class.

HOOVER LEAVES

Herbert Hoover, outstanding foot-ball man on the Bulldog team this season, has gone to Merkel, the home of his parents, to finish this school year. Herbert's team and class mates deeply regret his leaving and wish him success in his new home.

Mr. and Mrs. M. D. West residing north of town are the parents of a fine little daughter born Friday afternoon.

Jack Applewhite has been confined to his bed since Sunday with an attack of the flu.

NEW STATE AUDITOR

TOM C. KING of Dallas, who becomes state auditor, succeeding C. B. Sheffield December 1. King's appointment announced last week by Governor Allred is a promotion from the position of assistant state auditor. Prior to his connection with the auditor's office, he was with the RFC in Washington.

King attended Vanderbilt and Tulane Universities and received his law degree at Washington University in St. Louis. He was admitted to the bar in Texas in 1927 and received his Certified Public Accountant certificate in November, 1931. He is a member of the Texas Society of Certified Public Accountants and has resided in Texas since graduating from Washington University.

King's appointment was highly popular with capitol newsmen.

Aspermont Farmers Pick Grain Seed

Aspermont—Planting seed for next year have been chosen by field selection from a certified plot of dwarf yellow minko by Willie Smith, Stonewall county farmer. Smith produced approximately 2,000 pounds per acre of the dwarf yellow minko this year by planting certified seed. Seed planted from bin or common selection produced about 1,000 pounds per acre, according to I. L. Sturdivant, county agricultural agent. Smith states that both the certified seed and the common seed were planted at the same time of the year and on the same type of soil.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Gibson visited relatives at De Leon last Thursday and Friday.

Mrs. Geo. A. Dale had as her guests Thanksgiving day Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dale and little daughter, Sunny Lee, of Wichita Falls, Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Kennedy and daughter, Dorothy Dale, of Lubbock, Mr. and Mrs. Troy Dale of Hobbs, New Mexico, George T. Dale and Miss Ellen K. Klapp of Lubbock. All were here for Thanksgiving day only except Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dale and daughter, who came Wednesday and left Friday. It was a very happy reunion, even if the preacher was away.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Maasen, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Roy Knight, and Liff Taylor of this city, Miss Thelma Taylor of Lubbock, and Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Robinette of Dalhart attended a family reunion at the W. E. Taylor home in Dawson county west of Lamesa on Thanksgiving day.

Electrical Christmas

On gift-giving occasions electrical appliances provide the most acceptable means of expressing your sentiments to those near to you. Their usefulness will continue for years and their faithful service will be a constant reminder of your very best wishes.

Modern electrical appliances are more highly appreciated because they portray the skill of design and engineering craftsmen; skill that has been derived from years of continued service in producing accepted appliances for the American home.

In making your gift selections this season, consider carefully the enduring gifts which are on display in our showroom.

Women Recall Revolution Days

Dallas, Dec. 3.—Two of the three living widows of the Texas Revolution were honor guests of the Texas Centennial Exposition a few days before the great show closed.

They are Mrs. Mary Catherine Berry, 83, who lives near Baird, Calahan County, and Mrs. Mary Longley, 74, of Abilene, Taylor County.

The third, Mrs. Mary M. Price, 93, lives in Rochester, N. Y. She is an invalid and was unable to make the trip to Texas.

Mrs. Berry, native of Arkansas, is the widow of Capt. Andrew Jackson Berry, a veteran of San Jacinto, who died many years ago. Mrs. Longley is the widow of Campbell Longley, a native of Tennessee, who joined Gen. Sam Houston the day after the battle of San Jacinto.

At the historic Cavalcade of Texas as they witnessed the re-enactment of the stirring events of the World's sixteenth decisive battle, in which their husbands fought. They saw again Sam Houston, marching across the stage of time, his inauguration, the epoch of the Republic, the strides of Texas as a State.

Ferritory.—To irrigate her garden, Mrs. Frank Martin of the Booker home demonstration club has put down 100 feet of tile, according to Marie Ludwig, Ochiltree county home demonstration agent.

The tile, which is placed in rows three feet apart, is irrigating a garden of 13 varieties of vegetables. Her garden is made up of beans, radishes, beets, English and black-eyed peas, carrots, Swiss chard, lettuce, cucumbers, parsley, peppers, parsnips and turnips.

Alfalfa demonstrations in Swisher county are planned by three farmers working with county agricultural agent P. C. Colgin. The agricultural conservation program has made many farmers legume-minded, and alfalfa demonstrations will be on the increase wherever this legume can be grown.

Birth Certificate Record Important

Austin, Dec. 3. "The registration of a person's birth forms a legal record that is frequently the most important document in that individual's life," said Dr. W. A. Davis, State Registrar, Bureau of Vital Statistics.

"With the passing of the laws relative to Old Age Assistance and Unemployment Insurance, many citizens will be called upon to produce their birth certificates to prove identity and eligibility for pensions," he said, "and many difficulties are being encountered because of the death of relatives and friends who were in attendance at the birth. The State Board of Health has provided for the registration of unregistered births, giving the information necessary under these new laws. Blank forms are furnished by the Bureau of Vital Statistics, State Department of Health, Austin.

"The parents of the child born more than sixty years ago did not have the same opportunity to protect their child's rights by having the birth recorded, as the parents of a baby born in this Centennial Year in Texas.

"Each parent in Texas should be able to say that his child's birth has been recorded in the State Bureau of Vital Statistics. A properly prepared and filled birth certificate is sure to be necessary to your child at some time in his life and may be the means of avoiding many legal difficulties in later life. It is your duty to see that he has this protection.

"The State law provides that where a physician, midwife, or other person was in attendance upon a birth, it shall be the duty of such person to file a certificate of birth in accordance with the laws herein. The law states further that where the above stated persons were not present, it becomes the duty of the parents or others aware of the birth, to make known such facts to the local registrar within 5 days.

"A properly recorded birth certificate is the legal record establishing the fact that you are a citizen of the United States and entitled to protection of your rights under the laws of this country."

Nervous, Weak Woman Soon All Right

"I had regular shaking spells from nervousness," writes Mrs. Cora Sanders, of Paragould, Ark. "I was all run-down and cramped at my time until I would have to go to bed. After my first bottle of Cardui, I was better. I kept taking Cardui and soon I was all right. The shaking quit and I did not cramp. I felt worlds better. I gave Cardui to my daughter who was in about the same condition and she was soon all right."

CARDUI

Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

What's Happening In Other Towns

In a fight among six or more Mexicans at Big Spring on a recent Sunday morning, Solomon Flores Navarrete, 28 was killed. He was stabbed in the chest with a knife or dagger and an artery above the heart was severed. Crescino Gomez was later arrested at Lockhart and charged with the slaying.

Jack Murphy, negro, was killed a few nights ago in an altercation at a dance in the negro section of Leveland. Floyd Powell, 19, a negro boy, is charged with having stabbed Murphy to death with a pocket knife. He will plead self defence.

The test oil well being drilled near Sundown in the southwest portion of Hockley county was reported last week to be down to a depth of 3,200 feet. It is expected to reach the oil bearing sand within the next two or three weeks.

The Church of Christ at Leveland is now erecting a house of worship at that place. The congregation has heretofore worshipped in a tabernacle.

The Crosby County Grange Unit has been organized at Crosbyton with 33 charter members, the largest yet organized on the South Plains. The Grange is a farmers organization which many years ago had a large membership. It finally died out in the South but has survived in some of the Northern and Western states. It is now being revived in many parts of Texas.

The largest roadside park to be established in any of the South Plains counties will be that in the Blanco canyon four miles east of Crosbyton. Ten thousand dollars has been allotted to the project, and Division Superintendent George M. Garrett of Lubbock states that work will begin at an early date.

Funds were being raised by the citizens of Morton last week for the establishment of a city park. Trees, grass, and flowers are to be planted and the place is to be made a real beauty spot.

The city of Lamesa is installing nine automatic traffic lights on its streets, four of which lights are on the court house square.

Celebrating the establishment of the West Texas Cotton Oil Mill in Littlefield, the County Wide News of that city last week published a 16-page special edition.

Littlefield has been awarded the District 5 Class B football championship by the district committee. Slaton and Littlefield recently played to a 0 to 0 tie for this championship. Due to the short time left in which to decide this race and due to the fact that Littlefield made many more first downs than did Slaton, the committee decided in favor of the Lamb county school team.

Nine farmers terraced 1,097 acres of land in Precinct 2, Crosby county, during August. County agricultural agent R. W. Howe estimates that the work was done at a cost of 32 cents per acre with the use of the county grader secured by the cooperation of the county commissioner. Howe supervised the terracing of 500 other acres without the use of the county equipment, and reports the cost a little less per acre, but the terraces not quite so good as where the heavy county equipment was used.

OIL-PLATE YOUR ENGINE

This is exactly true: Oil-Plating supplies lubrication in LESS THAN NO TIME AT ALL!

Faster than "instantly" . . . faster than the fastest-flowing Winter oil might even begin to flow, Oil-Plating is ready to lubricate.

That's because a genuine Plating of Conoco Germ Processed oil is always left firmly bonded to every working part. Like any other real Plating, this Oil-Plating cannot run off. After hours or days of standing in the cold, Oil-Plating is still perfectly ready-to-go.

Now these days you read on every side, how poorly-oiled starting causes most engine wear, and how fast a Winter oil ought to flow. But you cannot have even a doubt of sure starting-lubrication, when it is always UP IN ADVANCE. That's Oil-Plating . . . a plain, straight, economic reason for changing to your correct free-flowing Winter grade of Conoco Germ Processed oil — patented. Costs no more than changing by hunch.

Floating Derelicts

Derelicts are as dangerous to navigation as submerged icebergs. As many as a thousand have been reported in the North Atlantic in a single year. Many drift great distances before they are found and sunk, the record being held, it is believed, by the Fannie E. Wolston, which—when last seen in 1893 off Savannah—had floated 7,000 miles in two and a half years.—Collier's Weekly.

Inevitable

A LITTLE bit o' sorrow,
An' a little bit o' song,
Today an' then tomorrow,
As the old world bumps along;
A little bit o' kickin'
Over things misunderstood,
Somebody gets a lickin'—
But it won't do any good.

Even back in Eden's gladness
Were songs and sorrows mixed
Life is always bringin' sadness,
An' we try to have it fixed.
But we may as well look pleasant,
For each day we must agree
That the way it is at present
Is the way it's got to be.

But Once A Year

"THANK goodness," said Martha Goodwin, bustling about her kitchen, "Christmas comes but once a year." She wiped back a loose wisp of graying hair with a weary gesture. "But it will be fine seeing you again, Lad," she murmured, thinking of her distant son. "Now, let's see. Those star cookies you're so fond of—" She glanced at the hurrying clock.

Loud shrieks of laughter under her window interrupted her thoughts. Those new neighbor children again. If they were dirtying up her freshly swept walk! She strode grimly to the porch. There was a path in the snow from their yard, around hers, and back again to their own, where all four of them had apparently trudged, pushing a snow ball, across her walk in two places. A tussel started suddenly, and they were all tumbling about in the snow, shrieking at the top of their voices.

Martha scolded shrilly at them, and they stood up, an abashed little line of stair steps. "The ideal

On Christmas, too!" Martha chided. "Whatever is the matter with your ma, that she lets you make such a racket?"

"She's sick," answered the oldest girl. "Sick! Then all the more reason why you should keep still. Shame on you." The little group stood like statues.

Martha tucked in the wisp of hair. "You children come in here and sit still while I work, and I'll tell you a story," she invited. "Mind you wipe your feet."

"I suppose it should be a Christmas story," Martha began. "Do you know about the shepherds and the wise men?"

"Yes'm," they chorused. "We go to Sunday school," added the oldest girl.

"Then," Martha asked her, "shall I tell you about Santa Claus?"

Her face clouded a little. "Mother told us that," she answered soberly.

"Oh," said Martha. She dusted the flour from her hands and turned to baste the turkey. Four pairs of eager eyes watched her every move. The doorbell rang.

"Laddie! Good heavens," cried Martha, slipping off her apron, and rushed to the door.

But instead it was a telegram: "AWFULLY SORRY 'ARLING BUT I JUST CAN'T GET AWAY STOP DO TRY TO HAVE A MERRY CHRISTMAS STOP GO ON A SPREE AND I'LL FOOT THE BILL STOP EXPECT TO BE ABLE TO GET DOWN FOR NEW YEAR'S AND WILL EXPLAIN EVERYTHING THEN LOVE LADDIE."

Martha Goodwin read it twice. Then she smoothed the straying wisp of hair and went back to the kitchen.

"Well," the older girl was explaining, "it's sort of like a chicken, I guess, only ever so much bigger." The four children looked up as Martha entered. "Why, what's the matter, Mrs. Goodwin?"

"My son—I was expecting him—he isn't coming."

"Gee," came a sympathetic chorus. "And you'd fixed everything so nice and—and Christmas-y."

"I'm not going to have it spoiled," Martha decided. "Here," she said and draped the holly wreath over the youngest's arm. "You," she said to the next one, "carry the potatoes, and you take

On to Success—

With It Comes Boldness in New Ideas; Our Sphere of Friends and Activities Expands

A POOR salesman may be a genius at gardening; an indifferent stenographer sometimes never suspects her own gift for cookery, for dress design, for ability to pick up foreign languages. By thinking candidly about yourself as you would be to another, you can often draw up a picture of your tastes, abilities, desires and hopes which will astonish you.

Take an inventory of yourself, paying special attention to the things you like but which you have little of in your daily life. Then start putting them into it.

Vitalizes Character

Then living begins to be fun. We meet people with the same tastes, not just the chance acquaintances who come our way in an unengaging profession. Having succeeded once, we begin to show a little daring; we try new ideas more boldly, and our world of friends and activities expands even more. Chances we couldn't even imagine until we got inside our real work turn up on every hand. Best of all, even a small success has a vitalizing effect on character.

That is the most interesting discovery that success brings in its train: those who are living successfully, make the best friends. They are free from malice and spitefulness. They are not petty. They are full of good talk and humor.—Dorothea Brande in Cosmopolitan.

HOME ENTERED BY PROWLER; HOSEKEEPER IS ATTACKED

negro, that he watched his chance, and that when he saw that the young lady was asleep he slipped into her room, extinguished the light, and was about to make a criminal assault when she awoke.
An attempt was made to enter the home of Lee King, who resides in the same part of town, the same night.

When he and his wife returned from the theatre to their home at about twelve o'clock, midnight, the young girl who assists them with the house work informed them that some one had been there trying to break into the house. Sitting near the radio, which was between her and the front door, she reported that she heard a noise as if some one were cutting or attempting to cut a screen. The light was on, and a portion of her person probably could have been seen by a person standing just outside the door, but she was too frightened to move. She sat very still. The noise continued for five minutes or longer and then ceased. She was still frightened when Mr. and Mrs. King returned home. When she made her strange report to them, Lee turned and looked at the front door and immediately detected that a hole had been cut in the screen. He thinks the intruder had inserted a wire or some other instrument and had attempted to disengage the screen door latch.

The hired girl had reported once before that some one had been there attempting to get in. That was approximately two months ago, and she was greatly frightened that night, but Lee thought she only imagined that some one was there. More recently she reported that some one came and stood on the porch smoking a cigarette, but when Bill King dove by the house in his car, the person disappeared.

On last Sunday night, some prowler also stole some clothing from a line in the yard of young Mr. and Mrs. Tom Garrard.

It is thought probable that the same individual is doing all of this prowling and other devilment.

Mr. and Mrs. Cody Bragg are happy over the birth of a 9 1/4 pound boy, born Monday morning. They reside near West Point.

JIM TAYLOR OF EDITH DIED LAST SATURDAY

moved to Seagraves in Gaines county in 1923 and removed from there to the Edith community in 1927.

He leaves surviving him the wife and five children as follows: Mrs. Era Belle Carson, wife of Barney L. Carson, of Monahans, Noble J.

Taylor of McCamey, and Dwain, Wanda and Wanelle Taylor, all of Tahoka.

He also leaves three brothers, Ennis Taylor of Dallas County, Pat Taylor of Brownwood, who were present at the funeral, and Henry Taylor of Manteca, California, who was unable to be here; and four sisters, Mrs. Will Galloway of Glen Cove, Mrs. Wesley Duncan of Lawn, who were here for the funeral, Mrs.

A. Watt Cry of Santa Anna and a sister residing in Houston whose name we failed to get, neither of whom was able to be here. His aged step-mother also survives.

Mr. Taylor had long been a member of the Methodist Church and was a fine Christian gentleman. He had many friends here and was highly esteemed by his neighbors. The News joins in offering condolences to the bereaved family.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Gentry spent Thanksgiving day in Littlefield, Tex., having formerly resided in Slaton. Mr. Gentry says he went up to see the Slaton football team lick Littlefield, but it didn't turn out exactly as he had planned it.

A little son, Gerald Dalton, weighing 8 1/2 pounds, was born to Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Askew of New Home Saturday morning.
