INTO NEW FIELDS OF SERVICE

It is evident from the message which President Roosevelt delivered to Congress last week that it is his intention to lead this Government into further fields of service for the people. It is evident that he is not bothered with any scruples as to the encroachment of the Federal Government upon the rights of the states. He is not afraid of the concentration of power in Washington. He seems intent on making the Federal Government all-powerful at the expense of the states.

If this attitude is correct, if we are to compromise further the old doctrine of states' rights, if the Federal Government may properly and constitutionally enter every possible field of service to the people, then his message to Congress was a masterful deliverance. He shows such sympathy and regard for the interests and the welfare of the poor and the helpless and such a determination to help them as has been exhibited by few of our statesmen.

One of the problems which he says we must solve is the housing problem. "Many millions of Americans," he says, "still live in habitations which not only fail to provide the physical benefits of modern civilization but breed disease and impair the health of future generations. The menace exists not only in the slum areas of the very large cities but in many smaller cities as well. It exists on tens of thousands of farms, in varying degrees, in every part of the country."

We have only to look around us to see that this is all too true. Another problem which he mentions is that of tenant farming. "I do not suggest that every farm family has the capacity to earn a satisfactory living on its own farm," he states, "but many thousands of tenant farmers—indeed most of them—with some financial assistance and with some advice and training, can be made self-supporting on land which can eventually belong to them. The Nation would be wise to offer them that chance instead of permitting them to go along as they do now, year after year, with neither future security as tenants nor hope of ownership of their homes nor expectation of bettering the lot of their children."

Still a third problem which he mentions is that of unemployment. He refers not so much to "the immediate question of adequate relief for the needy unemployed who are capable of performing useful work" as to "the broader task of preventing unemployment," which he says is "a matter of long range evolutionary policy, to which we must continue to give our best thought and effort." In fact he declares this to be the "most far-reaching and the most inclusive problem of all."

President Roosevelt owes his masterful powers of leadership and his almost magical hold upon the American people to the fact that his every effort has been to help the helpless and to make America a better and happier land for the ordinary man and his family. If he succeeds in writing this program into law, he will have made this government the most paternalistic and at the same time the most benevolent and serviceable republic in the history of the world.

THE PRESIDENT AND THE CONSTITUTION

The message of President Roosevelt delivered to Congress a few days ago has been heralded by many newspapers as a fresh challenge to the Supreme Court.

We do not know whether President Roosevelt meant to challenge the Supreme Court or not, but we do know this: that he has led the Democratic Party to completely face about respecting its attitude toward the Constitution.

From Thomas Jefferson on down to the time of Franklin D. Roosevelt the Democratic Party has insisted on a strict construction of the Constitution. It has clamored for States Rights as against the alleged encroachment of power by the Federal Government, and in every succeeding Presidential campaign it has warned, protested, and fulminated against the concentration of power in Washington.

But now, lo and behold! under the masterful leadership of President Roosevelt, it has enlisted under the banner of the liberal constructionists. We gather from President Roosevelt's remarks, that he does not believe that any constitutional amendment is necessary to empower Congress to enact any New Deal legislation that may seem desirable or to enact any other legislation now or hereafter that may seem to be in the interest of "progress." As he expressed it, "Rightly considered, it (the Constitution) can be used as an instrument of progress, and not as a device for the prevention of action."

Yet it was the determined purpose of the founders of this government and of the people who adopted it to make it distinctly a "device for the prevention of action" when that action should encroach upon the rights of the states.

If the Constitution may be so construed as to permit Congress to enact any legislation that it or the President might deem to be in the interest of progress, if Congress is never to be restrained by the Constitution, then the Constitution is a dead letter. Just as well throw it to the winds.

Possibly the Democratic party at times has been too insistent and too radical in its demands for a strict construction of the Constitution, for States' Rights and against concentration of power in Washington; but now it is following a great leader into the camp of the ultra-liberal constructionists, who would ignore the rights of the states and concentrate ever-increasing power in the government at Washington.

As a matter of fact, what we should insist upon is neither a strict nor a liberal construction of the constitution but an intellectually and morally honest construction of it. Then if it should be found that amendments are necessary or desirable, that great instrument itself points out the methods by which it may be amended. It should be neither mutilated nor amended by interpretation.

Governor James V. Allred has never done a finer thing in the exercise of his appointive power than he did when he appointed Robert Lee Bobbitt as a member and the chairman of the State Highway Commission. Bobbitt had already rendered distinguished service as a member of the legislature, served for a brief period as attorney general, and was serving as a member of the San Antonio court of civil appeals. In his entire public career he has exhibited a degree of honesty and integrity which are no less distinguished than his ability. Although he succeeds a highly capable and honest man, D. K. Martin of San Antonio, who retires from the commission, his appointment adds strength and prestige to that most important body.

The statement of the First National Bank of Tahoka published in this paper last week shows the country to be in better financial condition than it has been in for years. Total deposits have climbed away up toward the million mark, the exact figures being $868,608.56. Of this sum, $684,530.73 are individual deposits subject to check and $84,740.09 are time deposits. If the current year should prove to be a good crop year and prices should remain fairly good, next fall should bring a great deluge of prosperity back to this country.

DISDAINFUL DISEASES

Texas physician, we are told. Reminds us of the practice of wearing a string around the neck on which was suspended a piece of lead in our boyhood days to prevent nose bleeding. We are just wondering if Uncle Brad never met a bull in all the fifty years of his red-shirt life.

Uncle Brad believed a red flannel shirt protected him against rheumatism. He must have been right, for he lived ninety-three years. Rheumatism don't want to live that long. However, these are modern times, with modern problems. Rheumatism was common among the people in the time of Uncle Brad's youth. Today there is little rheumatism but a heck of a lot of arthritis and neuritis. It is hardly possible that a red flannel shirt would scare off either of these newly discovered diseases. They are too sophisticated to be intimidated by so simple an antagonist as a red shirt. Rheumatism, on the other hand, was less bold, less brazen. It took fright easily. A cabbage leaf or a collard leaf worn in a man's hat would scare off rheumatism. Also there was a manufactured gadget, something like a medal, which could be worn on the wishbone under the shirt and was a sure-fire preventative of rheumatism. But it had to be suspended from the neck by a silken cord. No common string would do. Furthermore, a certain kind of iron ring worn on the little finger of the left hand would keep rheumatism at a respectful distance. Neuritis and arthritis, being malicious and persistent, and disdainful of symbols and incantations, have to be treated by doctors. Very often they make even the doctor's efforts ridiculous.—State Press in Dallas News.

FAIRNESS

When we think of being fair, we think of honesty and its meaning. We may be fundamentally honest and yet do small things that are really dishonest. For instance a person who will hesitate to do anything that he had thought of as being really dishonest might consider it good luck if he or she could "get by" with cheating on a test. Perhaps the laxity of views on the subject may arise from the lack of attributing sufficient importance to subjects by pupils. It is a fact that many high school pupils do not think of necessity for passing their courses beyond the fact that they want to secure four credits for their year's work. We students should stop and evaluate our subjects in terms of the good to be derived from them in satisfaction of knowledge gained and enrichment of life. If we do this, we will be too eager to gain these things to rob ourselves of them by cheating. Many students seem to have the idea that they are cheating the instructor. If we try it, we will find cheating to be a boomerang and that in reality we cheat ourselves.

Besides the real knowledge that we lose by being unfair, we compromise part of the richness of our characters every time we allow a thing of this kind to occur. We have often heard the maxim "What we are to be, we are now becoming." It might be a bit "far-fetched" to assume that a person who cheats on high school exams will become a notorious criminal, but we may safely say that the person will always lack something in strength of character who so compromises. So let us make it a guiding principle of our lives to be fair and honest. In every detail.

CHAPEL PROGRAM

On last Wednesday, Jan 6, the student body spent a part of the chapel period singing some old favorite songs and rounds. They were led by Mr. M. L. Penn and Miss Dockray. After the songs, the students were inspired by a talk from Mr. Penn on support of the teams by the student body. This was followed by some suggestions concerning the coming exams. It seems that the grueling exam week has after all some compensations, one of which is there will be no detention during that time.

NEW ARRANGEMENT IN LIBRARY

As the work of the regular librarians has been discontinued, it has become necessary to make other arrangements for this work. A staff of high school students began work on last Friday, Jan. 8, under the supervision of Mr. Penn and Willie Chappell. The students have got the library in good condition and it is believed that the work will go along nicely.

BASKETBALL

On Tuesday, Jan. 5, the Tahoka High basketball team met Brownfield's team for a game in the local gymnasium. Interested fans saw much improvement in the team since the last game, even though the boys did not get the big end of the score.

The boys played two games on Thursday, Jan. 7. These were also played in the local gymnasium. The opposing teams were those of Draw and O'Donnell. The score for the O'Donnell was 21 to 17 in favor of Tahoka. The score in the game with Draw's crack team was 39 to 14 in Draw's favor.

The blue and white satin of the Tahoka boys' suits added color to the scene. All fans agreed that the games were very interesting.

FRESHMAN REPORT

Some of the pupils of the Freshman Class attended a farewell party given in honor of Marjorie Lawrence, who is moving away. The party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cooper. We had a very enjoyable evening and wish that more of the Freshmen might have attended. We regret that we are losing Marjorie from our Freshman class. She will move from here to Idalou.

BAND CONCERT

Plans for the chapel program for Wednesday, Jan. 13, are for a concert to be given by the Tahoka High School band. We have heard some of the practice going on during the week and are looking forward to a period of great enjoyment.

WE MAY LOOK FORWARD TO:
A new start after the exams are over next week. Let us make the most of the opportunities to do better work in the coming semester.

We will have a long period in which to prepare for the coming events of the County Interscholastic League meet. Many of the students have expressed the hope that the tennis courts will soon be in condition for use.

The members of the Public Speaking class are planning to begin work immediately after the exams on the debate for Interscholastic League meet.

In fact, the students are looking forward to a long busy season.

A large and beautiful electric clock was presented to the grade school by the P. T. A. Mr. Mathis has had it put on the wall in front of the front doors. We surely do appreciate it, as everyone depends on it for the correct time.

The Tahoka Grade School pupils are very happy about the new school building. The pupils are also very much interested in our newspaper. We are going to do our best to put good news in it.

Fourth, Fifth and Sixth grades are presenting several plays Friday Jan. 15, at one o'clock in our auditorium. We wish everyone to be present.

First Grade

The First Grade had a play Friday. The little children sang some songs, and they were sung well for such small children.

Second Grade

The Second Grade had a very good play Friday, Jan. 8. It was enjoyed very much. Its title was "The Old Lady Who Lived in a Shoe" The old lady's children were very nice and healthy. They are not half so bad as lots of people think.

Ja Juan Moore is absent from school this week.

George Eckerb from McCamey has entered the Second Grade. J. V. McDonald has entered our school. He is from Oklahoma. Jackie Driver has moved to Post. Bernice Ward left Tuesday for New Mexico, where she will attend school.

Third Grade

The Third Grade had a nice play Friday. It was about our American songs. We had negro melodies and Indian songs. It was enjoyed very much.

Fourth Grade

Annie Mae McLeRoy has withdrawn from school. We have three new pupils. Their names are: Hazel Kilgore, William Rogers from Haskell and Lindell Sharp.

Fifth Grade

Two new pupils have enrolled in our room: They are G. W. White and Jimmy Threet.

Sixth Grade

Most of us have been studying very hard for mid-term exams. The Sixth Grade pupils are enjoying reading some very good books. Among them are: "Six Feet Six," "Texas Heroes," "Pioneering in Texas," and "Silver Chief".

Two of our pupils who have been out of school for quite a while, returned this week. They are Mable Janak and Edward Hodge. Cordelia Pate and Bobby McLeRoy checked out of school.

All our pupils from the Fourth Grade and up are going to play basketball and volleyball. The boys are going to play basketball and the girls volleyball. We will enjoy it very much.

We didn't have a very good crowd out for Sunday school Sunday on account of the cold weather. We want everyone to come next Sunday.

There was a birthday dinner given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gary White Sunday. Those present were: Lee Holley, Mr. and Mrs. Lige Holley and son, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Macha and children, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Perry and children, and Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Macha and children.

Mr. Winkle of Wilson visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Randl and family.

Charley McCullough of Portales, New Mexico, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Murrah and family.

H. A. Macha and daughter, Georgia, and V. H. Macha and daughter, Edith, are leaving for Seymour to visit the Macha brothers' father who is ill. They expect to return within a week.

Mr. and Mrs. D. I. Dunagan and children were called to Madisonville to the bedside of their daughter and sister, Miss Blanche Dunagan, who is very low with double pneumonia. We hope she is well soon.

Miss Elaine Caviness, teacher here, was married to Mr. John Hendon of Lubbock Wednesday. We are wishing them much happiness in life.

FOR TEXAS HIGHWAYS?

Texas' highways, to date, have cost Texas taxpayers approximately seven hundred and fifty millions of dollars. License fees from motor vehicles have contributed $202,000,000. Gasoline taxes have accounted for $176,000,000.

Federal aid has donated $91,000,000. YOUR PROPERTY TAXES HAVE CONTRIBUTED $281,000,000—MORE THAN ONE-THIRD OF THE TOTAL.

Large trucks—those weighing more than 8000 pounds loaded—have paid a total of $27,000,000 in license fees and gasoline taxes, or 3 3/4 per cent of the total cost.

Yet these trucks have been responsible for an additional cost of construction and maintenance amounting to approximately 50 per cent of the total—an amount far in excess of their contribution. These wider trucks result in 25 per cent increase in pavement costs.

Texas railroads provide and maintain their own rights-of-way; afford employment to 60,000 men and women (who are also taxpayers); pay large taxes in support of city, county, state and federal governments; and, in addition, pay annually more than $900,000 toward state highway costs. The interest of the railroads in highway regulation is precisely parallel to that of the public.

Old Newspaper Found In Court House By Alex Riddle Is Filled With Political News Of Over Forty-Five Years Ago

In rummaging around through some of the old junk in the basement of the court house a few days ago, Alex Riddle found a copy of an old newspaper which somebody had lost or left in the building and which is a most interesting sheet. It is a copy of the Henderson Times of the issue of Thursday, April 23, 1891. It is Number 17 of Volume 32, showing that the paper was then more than 31 years of age and must have been established there before about 1860.

The copy which Mr. Riddle found is an eight-column four-page paper, with the name of R. T. Milner at the masthead as editor. From a perusal of the editorial columns and even the news columns, it is apparent that the editor was a rock-ribbed Democrat and had very decided views on public questions, and he didn't mind speaking out in meetin' about the men who were then in the public eye.

Benjamin F. Harrison, Republican, was then President of the United States. He had defeated Grover Cleveland in 1888, who was then serving his first term, and Cleveland in April, 1891, was the leading candidate for the Democratic nomination, but there was strong opposition to him in the West and South, where the sentiment in favor of the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 was beginning to run strong. Jay Gould was the railroad magnate of that day and was possibly more famous—and also more infamous in the public eye—than Rockefeller or any other multi-millionaire has ever been since. Hence this first editorial and others following on the front page of the Henderson Times of April 23, 1891:

"Ben Harrison, Jay Gould, and Grover Cleveland are opposed to unlimited coinage of silver."

"The democratic party is much larger than any man, and woe unto him who attempts to manipulate it in the interest of classes."

"Several leading Democrats are hurt because Mr. Cleveland failed to speak out against the force bill. It will be remembered by many good democrats that Mr. Cleveland never came to the front on the tariff question until he was forced by such men as Henry Watterson." But he was nominated and elected the following year nevertheless, and served a second term of four years. It was during this second term of Grover Cleveland that the silver issue grew hot and in 1896 Bryan made his famous "Cross of Gold" speech and won the Democratic nomination. This was five years after this issue of the Henderson Times was printed.

When this issue was printed, President Harrison had just made a trip to Texas and was royally received, but the Times doesn't fail to castigate him for his alleged hatred and contempt for the South.

State politics in Texas was hot in 1897 also. Jim Hogg was serving his first term as governor. He had been elected on a platform favoring the creation of a railroad commission. The Legislature had just adjourned after having created the commission, and Hogg had just appointed Senator John H. Reagan as its chairman. But the railroads and other corporations were strongly opposed to Hogg and they were gathering their clans for a fight. The Henderson Times was a rabid supporter of Governor Hogg and it was filled with editorials defending and praising him and denouncing his enemies. It was the next year that the great Hogg and Clark fight was staged, the Democratic convention splitting wide open, one faction nominating Hogg and the other Clark. This was George "Warwick" Clark of Waco, an able and distinguished railroad attorney. In the ensuing campaign Hogg was elected.

The names of many other noted Texans of that day appear in the news and editorial columns of the Times, including John H. Reagan, Roger Q. Mills, D. B. (Old Dave) Culberson, Governor L. S. Ross, A. W. Terrell, Horace Chilton, George C. Fendleton, M. M. Crane, Judge G. B. Gerald of Waco, Judge Felix J. McCord of Tyler, Harry Tracy, and Evan Jones of Populist fame, and others. In a news item The Times says that "Eight ex-governors of Texas are living, viz: Bell, Lubbock, Throckmorton, Coke, Hubbard, Roberts, Ireland, and Ross."

A number of national political characters are mentioned too, including, besides Cleveland and Harrison, the following: Congressman Charles Crisp of Georgia, who defeated Roger Q. Mills of Texas for the Speakership of the lower house of Congress, Henry Watterson, noted editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, Carter Harrison, mayor of Chicago and a national political figure, David B. Hill of New York, who was long one of the leading Democrats of the nation, Senator Pugh of Alabama, "Sockless" Jerry Simpson of Kansas, who had just been elected to Congress as a Populist, and others.

This old paper is interesting from many other standpoints also, which we do not have space to mention here.

One impressive fact that we gather from the columns of this paper is that the newspapers are writing the history of Texas and the nation.

"THE GAY DESPERADO" IS COMING TO THE ENGLISH

Ladies! What would you do if you found yourself falling in love with a handsome Mexican bandit, who had just made your boy-friend walk home?

Don't answer now, but go and see "The Gay Desperado," which opens at the English Theatre on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, with Nino Martini, Ida Lupino and Leo Carillo.

Adventure abounds in this lyrical love story of the land below the Rio Grande. It's a gay, mad escapade with Nino Martini, triumphant, golden-voiced tenor of the Metropolitan, singing glorious songs, and Ida Lupino lovelier than ever. There's love, there's song, there's action in "The Gay Desperado," the surprise musical hit of the year!

Here's 1936's unheralded smash surprise hit, thrill-packed with breath-taking excitement, heart-throbbing romance, pulse-pounding adventure!

W. D. Rieger, who lives near Joe Stokes on the Lubbock county line, was in Wednesday to subscribe for The News. Mr. Rieger is an old timer in this country, having come out about 22 years ago. He formerly operated a ranch in that section,

New Partner At Guarantee Store

Roy Young late of Littlefield has purchased of J. O. Garlington of the same city half interest in the Guarantee Food Market here, and he and Mrs. Young took charge of the business as joint managers Monday morning, having come down from Littlefield Sunday. Temporarily they have rooms in the Belton Howell home. They expect to become permanent citizens of our city.

Lloyd Reid, who retires as manager of the business, has not announced his future plans, but he will remain in the store temporarily. We understand that he and Mrs. Reid will probably remain here as permanent citizens.

Mr. and Mrs. Young have long been prominent in business and social circles in Littlefield and come highly commended by the people of that city. We clip the following from The Lamb County Leader of last week:

"Mr. Young will take over the management of this new enterprise Monday morning, having severed his connection as bookkeeper with the First National Bank here, which position he has held for the past seven years.

Mrs. Young will be associated with her husband in the management of the grocery concern.

Mr. and Mrs. Young have a host of friends here who will regret very much to learn of their early departure from this city.

Mr. Young is a young man of exceptional business ability and pleasing personality, whose courtesy and efficient service has won for him a place of high standing among the business men of Littlefield and section. He has always held the confidence and respect of everyone he has come in contact with, and goes to Tahoka with the best wishes of all for his success.

Mrs. Young is also experienced in business, having been a member of the Littlefield school faculty a number of years, and for the past year has been employed as bookkeeper for the Piggly Wiggly Grocery & Market here, for whom she proved a very valuable employee, and leaves a vacancy it will be hard to fill.

Mrs. Young is a general favorite both in social circles and business life, and her friendly personality and wholesome manner has won for her a very large group of loyal friends in Littlefield and territory.

The Leader joins with the other business establishments of this city in expressing regret at Mr. and Mrs. Young leaving Littlefield, and wish for them prosperity in their new undertaking.

Postmaster Pat R. Warren of Coleman reports a general increase in business done by that office in 1936 over previous years. Postal receipts totaled $24,588.61.

ON AND OFF

By GLUYAS WILLIAMS

A Breeze from Billville

Quit playin' the devil and build a home-fire of your own. Don't expect Providence to furnish the table for you, hoping to even up matters by saying grace. Watch your step when you've climbed high. The devil himself was once an angel, but set fire to his own wings.

It's our opinion that the man who doesn't take his home paper will never get through the pealy gates, for when they ask him what's the news in Billville he'll never be able to tell.

Beware Coughs from common colds That Hang On

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, chest cold or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Serious trouble may be brewing and you cannot afford to take a chance with anything less than Creomulsion, which goes right to the seat of the trouble to aid nature to soothe and heal the inflamed membranes as the germ-laden phlegm is loosened and expelled.

Even if other remedies have failed, don't be discouraged, your druggist is authorized to guarantee Creomulsion and to refund your money if you are not satisfied with results from the very first bottle. Get Creomulsion right now. (Adv.)

The beauty that addresses itself to the eyes is only the spell of the moment; the eye of the body is not always that of the soul.—George Sand.

Poorly Nourished Women—They Just Can't Hold Up

Are you getting proper nourishment from your food, and restful sleep? A poorly nourished body just can't hold up. And as for that run-down feeling, that nervous fatigue,—don't neglect it!

Cardul for lack of appetite, poor digestion and nervous fatigue, has been recommended by mothers to daughters—women to women—for over fifty years.

Try it! Thousands of women testify Cardul helped them. Of course, if it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

Don't Sleep on Left Side, Crowds Heart

GAS PRESSURE MAY CAUSE DISCOMFORT. RIGHT SIDE BEST.

If you toss in bed and can't sleep on right side, try Adierka. Just ONE dose relieves stomach GAS pressing on heart so you sleep soundly.

Adierka acts on BOTH upper and lower bowels and brings out foul matter you would never believe was in your system. This old matter may have poisoned you for months and caused GAS, sour stomach, headache or nervousness.

Dr. E. L. Shuch, New York, reports: "In addition to intestinal cleansing, Adierka greatly reduces bacteria and colon bacilli." Mrs. Jan. Filler: "Gas on my stomach was so bad I could not eat or sleep. Even my heart seemed to hurt. The first dose of Adierka brought me relief. Now I eat as I wish, sleep fine and never feel better."

Give your bowels a REAL cleansing with Adierka and see how good you feel. Just ONE dose relieves GAS and constipation. At all Leading Druggists.
