LEAGUE PLANS ARE COMPLETE

Quadrant Contest Will Start Soon; Annual Event Will Be Held In Tahoka Again

The various schools in the county are now looking forward eagerly to the Interscholastic League meet to be held here Thursday night, Friday, and Saturday, March 25-26-27.

Prof. J. T. Carter of New Home, the general director, calls attention to a change in time for the holding of Rural Schools Declamation contests. This has been changed from Friday morning to Thursday night, March 25.

He also announces that the Quadrant play-off contests in tennis, all classes, and the Quadrant play-off contests in playground ball, classes A and B, will be held at the respective quadrant centers on Friday night, March 19.

Highways 9 and 84 are used to divide the county into quadrants, and the quadrant centers are Tahoka, O'Donnell, Wilson, and New Home.

The 14-inch out-seam ball is to be the official playground ball for all games in the county meet.

Preliminaries in Debate are to be held in the Tahoka High School on Saturday, March 20.

Dead line for entries in all contests in March 15, to be made to the Director General.

Championship trophies are to be given to each all-round champion school as follows: Rural school trophy, Class A high school trophy, Class A ward school trophy, Class B high school trophy, and Class B ward school trophy.

Trophies must be won three consecutive years by a school for it to become permanent property.

Winning teams in Volley Ball, Playground Ball, Debate, One-Act Play, and Choral Singing will be given Pennants.

Ribbons are to be given all other individual winners of first, second, and third places.

Schools that are members of the Interscholastic League for 1937 and their classifications are given by Mr. Carter as follows:

Class A Schools: Tahoka, Wilson, and O'Donnell;

Class B: Draw-Redwine, Wells, New Home;

Rural: Dixie, Edith, Grassland, Joe Bailey, Joe Stokes, Lakeview, Midway, Morgan, Newmoore, New Lynn, Petty, Pride, T-Bar, and West Point.

Declamation Pupils Win Lubbock Event

"We got what we went after" said Mrs. Rafe Richardson who entered two of her expression pupils in the Declamation tournament held in the Lubbock high school building last Saturday at 10 a.m.

"Seven towns were represented. Lubbock and Spur won first and second places. Eldon Gattis and Martha Drennon of Tahoka declaimed. Both made good grade sheets and did fine work, Martha Drennon being the youngest declaimer.

"The judges graded each speaker, and then the grading sheets were compared by the pupils and their coaches, and we're sure proud of our folks. We got what we went for - practice, and meeting and competing with folks from larger places."

Barrett Re-Elected Head Of Schools

At a meeting of the school board Monday afternoon, Superintendent W. G. Barrett was re-elected to the position for the ensuing school year. He is serving now his second year and has given general satisfaction in every particular. Other teachers will probably be elected at an early date. The faculty as a whole seems to have done most excellent work, and most if not all of the will doubtless be tendered their positions for another year.

The last installment of the federal PWA grant for the construction of the new grade school building was also recently received, the sum being $8,507.15, the total grant being 45 percent of the total cost of the building. The contractor has been paid in full.

The new building is both beautiful and commodious. It has been in use since the Christmas holidays, and the pupils have been thoroughly enjoying their new building and equipment. The combination gymnasium auditorium is also proving to be a popular center for school athletics, and is a distinct and valuable asset to the town as well as the school.

Work On Highway No. 84 Speeded Up

Work on highway No. 84 west of Tahoka is now being speeded up a bit. The laying of caliche the past few months has been very slow, having reached a point up to last week less than eight miles west of Tahoka.

About the last of the week, however, trucks were put back on the job by the state highway department, and from four-to-six trucks are now hauling caliche. The state is also furnishing a truck with which to transport WPA workers to and from the sector of the highway being improved. One hundred WPA workers have been assigned to this job but only about 40 to 50 men are being used daily. Government funds have been a little meager lately, it is said, but an increase in funds is expected later.

A new caliche pit will be opened nine miles west of Tahoka this week.

FRED BARKER IMPROVING

Fred Barker, who has been so seriously ill the past two weeks, has been steadily improving, according to reports from his bedside, since he was given a blood transfusion nearly a week ago.

Fred was removed from the hospital and placed in a private home in Lubbock the first of the week.

Bates Recalls Early Days In Tahoka

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Bates and Van Bates of New Home were pleasant callers at the News office Friday. Falling into a reminiscent mood, R. H. recalled some of the conditions that existed when he came to Lynn county in the fall of 1911.

He had come from Bell to Dawson county in 1909. After working on a ranch near Lamesa for two years, he came to Tahoka to work for A. L. Lockwood.

There was one little gin here at that time. Mr. Bates says, the Wells & Welcher gin, that stood near the later site of the Billy Brandon wagon yard and tourist park. It was a two-stand affair and could turn out eight or ten bales a day. Most of the cotton it ginned came from New Mexico. Mr. Bates says, as they began raising cotton in the neighborhood of Tatum before they did here. This was almost solely a stock-raising country at that time. Now we are paying farmers not to plant the land in cotton. Wonderful changes are wrought by time.

Joe Alexander, editor and publisher of the Dawson County Courier, was a fraternal caller at the News office Tuesday. Joe is getting a big line of advertising from those Lamesa business men and is publishing one of the best and most prosperous papers in this section of the state.

CALL FARMERS FOR MEETINGS

New Soil Conservation Program Will Be Explained To The Farmers Over The County

There will be a meeting of the farmers at each of the following places for the purpose of explaining the 1937 Soil Conservation Program and to elect local committeemen to serve this year:

New Home, Tuesday night, Mar. 9. Wells, Tuesday night, March 9. Draw, Wednesday night, Mar. 10. Edith, Wednesday night, Mar. 10. Wilson, Thursday night, Mar. 11. Morgan, Thursday night, Mar. 11. Farmers of the West Point, Lakeview, Petty, New Home, Joe Stokes, Dixie, and Northwest corner of Tahoka will go to New Home.

Three Lakes, Newmoore, Wells, T-Bar, and West O'Donnell will go to Wells.

Redwine, Midway, East O'Donnell, Joe Bailey, and Draw will meet at Draw.

Grassland, Magnolia, New Lynn, Edith, South Ward and East Tahoka will meet at Edith.

Gordon and Morgan will meet at Morgan.

The County Agent or myself will be at these places at the specified time.

C. A. LAWRENCE, Assistant in Agricultural Conservation.

Pleas Of Guilty In District Court

Three defendants in the district court entered pleas of guilty Monday morning when the criminal docket was taken up.

Anton Lopez, a Mexican, entered pleas in two cases, one charging wife desertion and the other child desertion. He had deserted his family and eloped with a white girl in this county, it seems. After hearing the testimony, the court affixed his punishment at two years in the penitentiary in each case, the sentences running concurrently.

J. T. Collier, charged with the offense of theft by bailie, was also assessed a punishment of two years in the penitentiary by the court. He had come into possession of certain farm products as a bailie, it was charged, and then appropriated the same to his own use and benefit.

E. J. Brown, a former resident of Hidalgo county, entered a plea of guilty to the theft of about 2,000 pounds of cotton from a farmer near Draw. Due to his youthfulness and other mitigating circumstances, his sentence of two years in the penitentiary was suspended during good behavior by the Court.

Juries were waived in all these cases.

The jury for the week was dismissed until Thursday, when other cases on the docket were to be taken up.

Honey Grove Men Buy H & W Cafe

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Evans and Bub Gaudin of Honey Grove recently purchased the H & W Cafe in this city from Larkin Weathers, taking possession last Saturday.

These are experienced cafe people and will doubtless enjoy a large patronage here.

E. I. Hill Jr. left Sunday night on his return trip to Washington, after having spent nearly three weeks here with the editor and other members of the family. E. I. has been employed in the Government Printing Office in Washington about six and a half years. He can tell many interesting things about various departments of the government in Washington and about many of the prominent men in public life. While he is employed in the civil service and is not permitted to discuss political matters publicly, it is easy to tell that he is a red-hot New Deal Democrat. He was called here originally by the serious illness of his brother, Billy, and then remained for his annual vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Ivey of Lubbock were guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Ivey of Tahoka.

MRS. CROUCH, 73 Golf Club Plans DIED TUESDAY

Bronchial Pneumonia Is Fatal To Long Time Citizen; Funeral Held Thursday

Still another of our pioneer women has passed on.

Mrs. Margaret Jane Crouch, widow of the late W. J. Crouch, died of bronchial pneumonia shortly after 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at her home four miles west of Tahoka. She became ill of influenza last week and pneumonia developed Sunday.

Lacking only two days of being 73 years old at the time of her death, Mrs. Crouch was buried on her seventy-third birthday, Thursday afternoon, March 4, following funeral services conducted at the Baptist Church by her pastor, Rev. Geo. A. Dale, assisted by a former pastor, Rev. Lawrence Hays, now pastor at Snyder. Burial was under the direction of the W. M. Harris Funeral Home.

A great concourse of relatives and friends attended the services and followed the remains to their last resting place.

The pall bearers were: Everton Nevill, Ray Nevill, Elwayne Nevill, W. J. Riddle, Ed B. Welch, and Russell Fleming. The flower bearers were: Misses Jodie Bob Nevill.

Henderson Girl Is Pneumonia Victim

Margaret Henderson, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Henderson, died at 9 o'clock Thursday morning, a victim of pneumonia.

Miss Margaret had been sick only a few days. Saturday she was not well but was able to be up. Sunday she remained in bed and Monday a physician announced that she had developed pneumonia. Her condition was serious from the start. Everything possible was done to save her but all to no avail.

Funeral services will be conducted at the St. Clair Hotel, where the family resides, at 4 o'clock this afternoon, Friday, by Rev. Geo. A. Dale, pastor of the Baptist Church, of which deceased was a member. Rev. J. W. Braswell of Lamesa will probably assist. Burial will follow in the Tahoka Cemetery under the direction of the Harris Funeral Home.

Miss Margaret united with the Baptist Church at Redwine several years ago, while the family resided in that community, but moved her membership to Tahoka after her parents removed here nearly two years ago. She was born at Redwine on January 27, 1923.

Besides her parents, she leaves surviving her five brothers and three sisters. The brothers are: Harley, Frank, John, Coleman, and Charley of Tahoka, and the sisters are Mrs. Mattie Whittington of Midland, Miss Lola Belle of Tahoka, and Mrs. Claudia Henry of Hobbs, New Mexico, all of whom were present at the time of her death.

Sad is the death of a fine young girl like Miss Margaret, and the family have the sincerest sympathy of many friends.

FRED BUCY MOVES

Fred Bucy has moved his insurance agency office to the Thomas building, room 5, he announces this week.

R. W. Barbour of Brownwood, traveling salesman, stopped over here Wednesday to visit for a short time with his cousin, Mrs. Charlie Curry, and with his boyhood friend, W. M. Lee. Another long-time friend here whom he called on is M. T. White, now proprietor of the Piggy-Wiggly.

C. A. Thomas has recently purchased a 320-acre farm situated seven miles southeast of O'Donnell in Dawson county. The deal was consummated through the agency of the Thompson Bros. Land Company.

Joe Thomson recently sold 320 acres of his farm in the Redwine community to Mr. Headrick of Post. Mr. Headrick has already moved up on the land.

Golf Club Plans New Golf Course

At a meeting of golf enthusiasts at the court house Wednesday night, the old Tahoka Golf Club was reorganized with Wynne Collier as president and C. N. Woods, secretary.

Twenty members have already been signed up for membership in the club. A contract has been signed by the club and Mrs. M. I. Ray and Paul Ray, whereby the latter are leasing their sheep pasture one mile south of the square on highway No. 9 to the club for use as a golf course.

Work of constructing the course is expected to begin at once, and this will undoubtedly be the best golf course the town has had. This is the third one. The grazing of sheep in the pasture will keep the fairways clear of weeds and in first class condition. No one but members of the club will be allowed to play the course.

A membership committee is composed of J. K. Applewhite, Roy Young, and Prentice Walker.

The grounds committee is composed of Borden Davis, Jess Lockhart, Fred Bucy, and C. N. Woods.

Redwine Citizen Died Saturday

John Bunyon Walker, 76, a resident of Lynn county since 1933, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. A. Giles, residing in the Redwine community fifteen miles southeast of Tahoka, at 1 o'clock last Saturday morning.

Death resulted from acute nephritis, or Bright's disease. He had been a sufferer for some time.

Funeral services were conducted from the Harris Funeral Home here at 4:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, and the body was shipped to Decatur for burial. The services were conducted by Rev. Braswell of Lamesa, pastor of the Redwine Baptist Church, of which Mr. Walker was a member.

Mr. Walker was a native of Mississippi, having been born on August 6, 1860. He was married to Miss Emma Gentry at Decatur, Texas, on July 23, 1884. His wife died several years ago. Surviving him are the following children: Mrs. J. A. Giles of Redwine, with whom he resided, Mrs. Oma Young of Tuttle, Oklahoma, Albert Walker of Oklahoma City, W. E. Walker of Tuttle, Oklahoma, and Sam and C. B. Walker both of Los Angeles, California. Also surviving him is a daughter-in-law, Mrs. H. A. Walker of Plainview, together with a number of grandchildren and other relatives.

All of the bereaved ones have the sympathy of numerous friends.

Dr. E. Prohl Opens Office In Tahoka

Dr. Emil Prohl, recently of the St. Joseph's Hospital, Fort Worth, has opened an office in the Thomas building for practice as a physician and surgeon. He is a graduate of Baylor Medical College, and has been with the Fort Worth institution about two years.

Mrs. Prohl and infant daughter, Martha Ann, will arrive in a few weeks to make their home here, the Doctor states. In the meantime, Dr. Prohl has rooms in the Mrs. W. C. Wells home in west Tahoka.

Reared at Fort Arthur, the new citizen has seen lots of fog, but he is still looking for a sandstorm. The News hopes it will be a long time before one comes, but we are fearful that he will have the opportunity of seeing what West Texas wind can do most any minute now.

Mr. and Mrs. Duell Cheatham are expected home this week from Detroit, where they went last week to purchase a new car. They wrote back to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Henderson, that the devastation in the flood area was more terrific than they had expected. They stopped on the way to visit relatives in Little Rock, Arkansas.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Noble left on Wednesday for Rockport, down on the Gulf coast, to spend the spring months.

CITY ELECTION IS WARMING UP

Three Candidates Announce For City Marshal; Two Are Filed For Councilmen

The regular biennial city election is to be held the first Tuesday in April and already interest in city politics is picking up.

Mayor Jim Dye has announced that he will not be a candidate for re-election to this office but he has filed his name as a candidate for city marshal.

Milt Finch has also announced that he will again be a candidate for city marshal, and a third candidate in the person of A. F. McCuan has hurled his sombrero into the ring.

Somebody filed the names of R. W. (Buster) Fenton Jr. as a candidate for mayor but he has instructed the city secretary not to certify his name as a candidate and has instructed the News not to print his name on the ballot. So as the matter stands, there is yet no candidate for this office.

Friends have filed the names of Deen Nowlin and Leonard Craft as candidates for aldermen. The terms of Jim Burleson and Joe Bovell will expire with this election. We have had no intimation from either of them as to whether they will permit their names to go on the ballot again or not.

It is possible that other names will be filed as candidates for one or another of the various city offices, and others may be filed even before this paper comes off the press, but we have heard no other names mentioned in connection with any of these offices.

County Honored For Response To Red Cross Call

Hon. Tom Garrard on Monday received an Honor Certificate awarded to the Lynn County Chapter of the American Red Cross signed by National Chairman Cary T. Grayson for "distinguished achievement" in the annual roll call.

Mr. Garrard says that all the credit for this achievement is due to A. L. Lockwood, Roll Call chairman, and to the men and women of Lynn county who contributed to the cause.

Mr. Garrard also recently received a letter of appreciation and commendation from Wm. M. Baxter Jr., Manager of the Mid-Western Branch of the Red Cross, St. Louis, for the contributions made by the citizens of the county to the flood sufferers of the Ohio and Mississippi River valleys. We quote from the letter as follows:

"I am pleased to acknowledge an additional remittance of $78.90, which brings your chapter's total flood relief contribution to $568.58. This achievement is fine evidence of your community's generosity in response to a great need. In addition I wish to acknowledge our receipt of a shipment of supplies donated by your chapter for distribution by the Red Cross for flood relief purposes. This contribution of one carton of used clothing is being promptly distributed to refugees in concentration centers. In behalf of the flood refugees whom we are serving, I hope you will express our appreciation to all who made the remittance from the chapter possible, as well as the donation of clothing.

"It is indeed gratifying to realize that the Lynn County Chapter exceeded the quota assigned and that the 20th Roll Call was the best secured by the chapter for many years."

The "clothing" above referred to was in fact new quilts, sent in a carton from this city—an error on the part of Mr. Baxter which may be easily understood when the large number of contributions from all over the country are taken into consideration.

Word has reached Tahoka of the recent death of Mrs. J. H. Henson of Lockney, mother of Mrs. A. A. Suits, a former resident of Tahoka. Many friends here will sympathize with Mrs. Suits in her bereavement.

What Irvin S. Cobb Thinks about Streamlined Grandmothers.

SANTA MONICA, CALIF.—All along I've been wondering what has vanished from the city landscape.

I'd grown reconciled to service stations where blacksmith shops used to be and a beauty parlor where once the lively stable spread its fascinating perfumes. So it couldn't be that.

All of a sudden it dawned on me. Since coming here I've seen mighty few 1912-model grandmothers bearing a ring in the movies, and then, with the exception of dear May Robson, they had to wear makeup.

We don't so much mind the young girl who has gone prematurely old—we're accustomed to her—but the old woman who has gone prematurely young, so young that she seems to be advertising the approach of second childhood by dressing to match it—well, that's different.

So now I know what I miss. It's the old-fashioned lady who was neither streamlined nor a four-color process.

Penalties of Old Age. IF, MENTALLY or physically, or both, a man of seventy has so slowed down he no longer can function usefully, what are we going to do about Secretary of State Hull and Secretary Roper, and Senator Glass and Senator Norris, and both California's senators, and a sizable proportion of the outstanding membership of either branch of congress?

And, to avoid cluttering up the words, so to speak, what disposition should have been made, at seventy, of Thomas A. Edison and John D. Rockefeller, Sr., and Henry Ford and Queen Victoria and Cardinal Gibbons and Von Hindenburg and Clemenceau and Professor Eliot and Carrie Chapman Catt and Mark Twain and Elihu Root and Melville W. Fuller, just to mention a few names that come to mind?

Going still further back, one gets to thinking, among others, of Henry Clay and Ben Franklin and Gladstone and Bismarck and Victor Hugo and Alexander Humboldt.

Open Season on Bears. NEW BRUNSWICK is granting free licenses for sportsmen to kill bears this spring. I regard this as an error. It reduces bears, which are picturesque features of forest life, and increases amateur gunners bargaining through the wilderness plugging away at every living object they see, including guides. A greenhorn might miss a sitting union depot—probably would—but he garners him a guide nearly every time.

On all counts, the black bear should have game protection. For every shot he steals, he eats thrice his weight in grubs and ants and bugs; and he's a fine scavenger, for he likes his dead meat high. If he were a veteran member of a Maryland Duck club, he couldn't like it any higher.

Even so, he has been preyed on until, in parts of our north woods, he's practically extinct. Yet, next to a Vermont Democrat, he's probably the most inoffensive mammal found in New England.

Tyranny of the Soviets. SLEEPING through the Soviet embargo on free speech and free press and even free thought, stories came out that the five-year plan shows signs of utter collapse and also that, in their striving for absolute despotism, Stalin and his— for the moment—intimate lieutenants are preparing to "liquidate" by execution or remove by a wholesale campaign of exile all such of their recent ruthless associates as might, through private ambitions, stand in the way of this latest desperate tyranny.

Of course, we hear all sorts of tales about the real inside of the Russian situation, some inspired by hostile prejudice and some by sympathetic partisans.

Women's New Freedom. EVEN in olden days, before they broke loose, women envied us every masculine perk we had, except the moustache cup and possibly chewing tobacco. Since emancipation, seems like they've taken over practically everything we ever had.

The bars are crowded with women, and the smoking rooms and the barber shops and the gambling clubs and the prize-fights and the wrestling matches, and the political caucuses. If it weren't for them, the race-tracks and the night spots would languish and the cocktail mixers might get an occasional rest. Maybe, as a distinguished scientist now arises to proclaim, they could have excelled us in our then exclusive fields, only before this they didn't get a chance to prove it. IRVIN S. Administration's Billion Dollar Housing Bill Introduced—Epidemic of Sit-Down Strikes—Townsend Convicted of Contempt of House.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD © Western Newspaper Union.

SENATOR ROBERT F. WAGNER of New York and Representative Henry B. Steagall of Alabama introduced simultaneously in the senate and house the administration bill setting up a program for the construction of homes for "families of low income."

Under the measure the government may lend to state or local housing authorities $1,000,000,000, from July 1, 1937, to July 1, 1941, the money for this purpose to be raised by bond issues and the loans to be supervised by a new department, the United States Housing authority. To supplement the loans congress is asked to appropriate $50,000,000 to be paid in outright grants. The loans are to bear interest at not less than the going federal rate and are to be payable over such a period, not to exceed 30 years, as the authority may determine.

Competition with private industry is guarded against, according to the authors, "by insuring that housing projects shall be at all times available only to families who are in the low income groups."

The four year program calls for the construction of 375,000 family dwelling units at an average cost of $4,000 a unit. Wagner and Steagall insisted that the bill called for "decentralization."

"All the direction, planning, and management in connection with publicly assisted housing projects are to be vested in local authorities, springing from the initiative of the people in the communities concerned," they stated. "The federal government will merely extend its financial aid through the medium of these agencies. The only exception to the strictly decentralized administration is that the federal government may set up a few demonstration projects in order that local areas without adequate instrumentalities of their own may benefit by an experience in low rent housing."

HAVING virtually countenanced the sit-down strike in the case of the General Motors controversy, the administration found itself embarrassed by that favorite maneuver of John Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization. Out in Monaca, Calif., about 200 employees of the Douglas Aircraft corporation went on strike and "sat down" in the big plant, completely stopping work on $24,000,000 worth of airplanes the company is building for the government. The men defied a trespass warning and an order to evacuate the plant sent them by the police, and Mr. Douglas refused to negotiate with the union until the strikers got out of the buildings. The situation was complicated by a quarrel over worker representation between the Automobile Workers' union, a C. I. O. group, and the Machinists' union, allied with the A. F. of L.

Finally the strikers were indicted for conspiring to violate two old California laws against forcible entry and trespassing, and when 300 armed deputies appeared at the plant, they surrendered and were taken to Los Angeles for arraignment.

Another big government job was halted for a time by a sit-down strike of employees of the Electric Boat company at Groton, Conn., which is building submarines for the navy. There, however, the local and state police soon evicted the trespassers and arrested them, and the rest of the employees, a large majority, resumed work.

Speaking "not as an officer of the administration," Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper said that any sit-down strike "that undertakes to take over private property is a very serious and fundamental thing and in my opinion will not be long endured by the courts."

There was almost an epidemic of strikes throughout the country, many of them of the sit-down variety. Some were settled in short order but others are still on at this writing. Among these was the strike at the Fansteel Metallurgical corporation in North Chicago, where the disgruntled workers refused to leave the plant. Gov. Henry Horner was striving earnestly to bring about a settlement.

John L. Lewis' threat, during the General Motors strike, that "Ford and Chrysler are next," is being carried out. The United Automobile Workers union sent to Walter P. Chrysler demands that the U. A. W. be recognized by his corporation as the sole collective bargaining agency.

OPEN warfare by the government on private power interests will be started soon if the recommendations of President Roosevelt to congressional leaders are acted upon favorably. In letters to Vice President Garner and Speaker Bankhead, the President urged that prompt action be taken to provide for the sale of electric power from the $51,000,000 Bonneville project on the Columbia river in Oregon; and he intimated this might be taken as the forerunner of a national power policy. The recommendations were in accord with a report from the committee on national power policy and also with the position Mr. Roosevelt took in the controversy with Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, TVA chairman, who favored co-operation with existing power companies and consideration for their investment.

Here is what the President proposed: 1.—That not less than 50 per cent of the power, generated at Bonneville be reserved for sale to public authorities, such as states, districts, counties, municipalities and other sub-divisions and to co-operative associations of citizens.

2.—That the government construct its own transmission lines, sub-stations and other facilities for transporting power so as to make the government project independent of existing utility companies.

3.—That the federal government control the re-sale rates to consumers through regulation by the federal power commission.

4.—That the power be sold at rates low enough to promote the widest use of electrical energy, particularly to domestic and rural consumers. These rates, the President insisted, should be fixed with relation to only that part of the total $51,000,000 Bonneville investment that the government saw fit to charge to power generation.

5.—That the federal agency administering the project be authorized to acquire by eminent domain if need be, land, franchises, existing transmission lines.

DR. FRANCIS E. TOWNSEND, the elderly Californian who devised the old age pension plan bearing his name, was found guilty of contempt of the house of representatives because he refused to testify before a house committee that was investigating his scheme last spring and "took a walk" out of the committee room. The verdict, rendered by a jury in the District of Columbia court, made the doctor liable to a sentence of one to twelve years in jail or a fine of from $100 to $1,000, or both. Judge Peyton Gordon deferred sentence until he could pass on a motion for a new trial.

Townsend seemed rather to welcome the verdict, saying he had expected it. "Lord bless you, I'll be all the more active," he said when asked what effect a conviction would have on his movement. "I think it will be the general opinion that I have been the victim of an injustice. Our organization will be spurred to greater efforts."

FOLLOWING the example set by the five operating railway brotherhoods—engineers, firemen, conductors, trainmen and switchmen—the sixteen non-operating brotherhoods, with a membership of 800,000, have voted to demand wage increases averaging 30 cents an hour. This action was taken at a meeting in Chicago of the general chairmen of the brotherhoods. Besides the pay increase, the men ask the guarantee of full time employment for all regularly assigned workers and two-thirds time for "standby" employees.

The non-operating brotherhoods embrace the clerks, telegraphers, carmen, shop laborers, machinists, blacksmiths, dispatchers, boiler-makers, drop forgers, sheet metal workers, electrical workers, freight handlers, express and station employees, maintenance of way men, signal men and sleeping car conductors.

PLANS for the complete blockade of Spain by the other European powers, in order to starve out the civil war, met with difficulties owing to the bringing up of points involving the national honor of France and Russia. The French made certain objections to the land patrol and the Russians to the sea patrol.

The Spanish loyalists were making a desperate effort to capture Oviedo, where the insurgent garrison was attacked by dynamite throwing Basques. The defenders, numbering about 12,000 men, were hard pressed and it seemed impossible that relief forces could reach the city in time to save them. In the Madrid sector, too, the rebels were getting the worst of it, for the government forces were about ready to make a mass assault on Pinzaron hill from which the Franco artillery has been shelling the Madrid-Valencia road.

UNCOMMON AMERICANS

His Gun Became a "Judge" SOMEONE once observed: "The Declaration of Independence stated that all men are equal, but the Colt revolver made that statement a fact." Certainly that was proved on the Western frontier where the quality of man depended upon his quickness of the "draw" and where this little weapon became the symbol of law in a lawless land—it was judge, jury and high executioner all in one. Little wonder then that it should become known as "Judge Colt."

The father of "Judge Colt" was a Connecticut Yankee, born in 1814. As a boy Samuel Colt listened to veterans talk about battles of the Revolution and especially about the feats of a rifleman named Tim Murphy who had a double-barreled rifle. If someone could invent a gun that would shoot five or six times without reloading, that nation would rule the world. But, of course, that was impossible, said the men of that day.

Young Sam Colt didn't believe it was impossible. So he began experimenting with a four-barreled rifle but he couldn't make it work satisfactorily. Then he was apprenticed to a sea captain and from the sailors he learned to carve out little objects in wood.

One day in the Indian ocean, while idly watching the steersman at the wheel, he noticed that regardless of which way the wheel was spun, each spoke always came directly in line with a clutch that could be set to hold it. As he watched he found himself visioning holes in the rim of the wheel—holes which successively came into alignment with a stationary opening. In a flash he saw the answer to his problem of a repeating gun. Then with a jackknife that cost less than a dollar he started to whittle out the foundation of a fortune which was to run into millions.

From that model came the revolver which first proved its value in the war with the Seminole Indians, won an even greater reputation in the Mexican war and by the time the Civil war had begun was an indispensable part of a soldier's armament.

Not only was Sam Colt the inventor of a weapon which vitally affected military history, but he was the first of the great American industrialists. Colt, not the modern motor car manufacturer, conceived and first utilized in his plant standardized machine production, division of labor and the assembly line. He showed the way to the modern promoters of war. . . . he was the precursor of the modern munitions kings—a pioneer in the art of playing one nation against another to increase his sales.

An Important Vice-President

IT'S a standard joke that the vice president of the United States is about the most unimportant individual in our federal government unless the President happens to die. In that case he immediately becomes a very important man. But there was one vice president whose high place in American history is due to his own death, rather than that of a President.

In 1884 Thomas A. Hendricks of Indiana, who had served as congressman, senator and governor and who had twice before been an unsuccessful candidate for the Presidency and once before defeated for the vice presidency, was elected vice president when Grover Cleveland defeated Blaine, the Republican candidate. Hendricks died eight months after his inauguration but his death while in office was not unique. Four other vice presidents—George Clinton, Elbridge Gerry, William R. King and Henry Wilson—had suffered the same fate. But for the first time in three-quarters of a century America became aware of the potential dangers in such a situation.

The Constitution provides that in the case of removal, death, resignation or disability of a President, the vice president shall succeed him. But in 1885 the vice president was dead. Suppose now that the President should also die, resign or be removed from office. Who would then become President? Neither the Constitution, nor any act of congress had provided for that emergency, and apparently no one had ever given any thought to its possible results.

So congress got busy and on January 19, 1886 it passed a law providing for a Presidential succession in case the vice president could not serve. Under its terms the secretary of state would become President. In case he, too, would be unable to serve, the next in line would be the secretary of the treasury and so on down the cabinet—secretary of war, attorney-general, postmaster-general, secretary of the navy, secretary of the interior, secretary of agriculture, secretary of commerce and secretary of labor.

Here's New Way to Initial Your Linens!

Pattern 5749

Here's an exciting new way to initial linens—with crocheted letters that you can make in varied sizes according to the thread and hook you take. Used as insets in towels, pillow cases, sheets or whatever, they make for a "showy" effect, and may be further enhanced by a bit of flower-stitchery. There are enough cut-work motifs to make two pairs of towels or pillow cases or two complete alphabets; and charts for a complete alphabet; a transfer pattern of two motifs 5 1/4 by 8 3/4 inches and two motifs 5 1/4 by 6 inches; directions for use of initials; illustrations of all stitches used.

Don't Irritate Gas Bloating

If you want to really GET RID OF GAS and terrible bloating, don't expect to do it by just doctoring your stomach with harsh, irritating alkalies and "gas tablets." Most GAS is lodged in the stomach and upper intestines and is due to old poisonous matter in the unassimilated bowels that are loaded with ill-causing bacteria. If your constipation is of long standing, enormous quantities of dangerous bacteria accumulate. Then your digestion is upset. GAS often causes heart and lung, making life miserable. You can't eat or sleep. Your head aches. Your back aches. Your complexion is sallow and simply. Your breath is foul. You are a sick, groggy, wretched, unhappy person. YOUR SYSTEM IS POISONED. Thousands of sufferers have found in America the quick, scientific way to rid their systems of harmful bacteria. Advertise your bowels and cleanse out poisons out of BOTH upper and lower bowels. Give your bowels a REAL cleansing with Adol. Get rid of GAS. Adol. does not gripe—is not habit forming. At All Leading Drugstores.

THE GARDEN MURDER CASE

by S. S. VAN DINE

Copyright S. S. Van Dine WNU Service

"Oh, Markham—my dear Markham!" Vance shook his head sadly. "However . . . As you say. There is something back of the lady's histrionics. She has ideas. But she's circuitous. And she wants us to be like those Chinese gods who can't proceed except in a straight line. Sad. But let's try makin' a turn. The situation is something like this: An unhappy lady slips out through the butler's pantry and presents herself on the roof-garden, hopin' to attract our attention. Having succeeded, she informs us that she has proved conclusively that a certain Mr. Kroon has done away with Swift because of amorous jealousy. The lady herself, let us assume, is the spurned and not the spurner. She represents it. She has a temper and is vengeful—and she comes to the roof here for the sole purpose of convincing us that Kroon is guilty."

"But her story is plausible enough," said Markham aggressively. "Why try to find hidden meanings in obvious facts? Kroon could have done it. And your psychological theory regarding the woman's motives eliminates him entirely." "It doesn't eliminate him at all. It merely tends to involve the lady in a rather unpleasant bit of chicanery. The fact is, her little drama here on the roof may prove most illuminatin'."

Vance stretched his legs out before him and sank deeper into his chair. "Curious situation. You know, Markham, Kroon deserted the party about fifteen or twenty minutes before the big race—legal matters to attend to for a maiden aunt, he explained—and he didn't appear again until after I had phoned you. Assumed immediately that Swift had shot himself. Doubt inspired me to converse with the elevator boy. I learned that Kroon had not gone down or up in the elevator since his arrival here early in the afternoon."

"What's that?" Markham exclaimed. "That's more than suspicious—taken with what we have just heard from this Miss Weatherby."

"I dare say," Vance was unimpressed. "The legal mind at work. But from my grompin' amateur point of view, I'd want more—oh, much more. However,"—Vance rose and meditated a moment—"I'll admit that a bit of lovin' communion with Mr. Kroon is definitely indicated." He turned to Heath. "Send the chap up, will you, Sergeant?"

Heath nodded and started toward the door. "And Sergeant," Vance halted him; "you might question the elevator boy and find out if there is any one else in the building whom Kroon is in the habit of calling on. If so, follow it up with a few discreet inquiries."

Heath vanished down the stairs, and a minute or so later Kroon sauntered into the study with the air of a man who is bored and not a little annoyed.

"I suppose I'm in for some more tricky questions," he commented. After glancing about him, Kroon sat down leisurely at one end of the davenport. The man's manner, I could see, infuriated Markham, who leaned forward and asked in cold anger:

"Have you any urgent reasons for objecting to give us what assistance you can in our investigation of this murder?"

Kroon raised his eyebrows. "None whatever," he said with calm superiority. "I might even be able to tell you who shot Woody."

"That's most interestin'," murmured Vance, studying the man indifferently. "But we'd much rather find out for ourselves, don't you know?"

Kroon shrugged maliciously and said nothing. "When you deserted the party this afternoon, Mr. Kroon," Vance went on, "you gratuitously informed us that you were headed for a legal conference of some kind with a maiden aunt. Would you object to giving us, merely as a matter of record, the name and address of your aunt, and the nature of the legal documents?"

"I most certainly would object," returned Kroon coolly. "I fail to see why you should be interested in my family affairs."

Markham swung round toward the man. "That's for us to decide," he snapped. "Do you intend to answer Mr. Vance's question?"

Kroon shook his head. "I do not! I regard that question as incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial. Also frivolous."

"Yes, yes," Vance smiled at Markham. "It could be, don't you know. However, let it pass, Markham. Present status: Name and address of maiden aunt, unknown; nature of legal documents, unknown; reason for the gentleman's reticence, also unknown."

Markham resentfully mumbled a few unintelligible words and resumed smoking his cigar while Vance continued the interrogation.

"I say, Mr. Kroon, would you also consider it irrelevant—and the rest of the legal verbiage—if I asked you by what means you departed and returned to the Garden apartment?" Kroon appeared highly amused.

"I'd consider it irrelevant, yes; but since there is only one way I could have gone and come back,

I'm perfectly willing to confess to you that I took a taxicab to and from my aunt's."

Vance gazed up at the ceiling as he smoked. "Suppose," he said, "that the elevator boy should deny that he took you either down or up in the car since your first arrival here this afternoon. What would you say?"

"I'd say that he had lost his memory—or was lying."

"Yes, of course. The obvious retort. Quite." Vance's eyes moved slowly to the man on the davenport. "You will probably have the opportunity of saying just that on the witness stand."

Kroon's eyes narrowed and his face reddened. Before he could speak, Vance went on.

"And you may also have the opportunity of officially giving or withholding your aunt's name and address. The fact is, you may find yourself in the most distressin' need of an alibi."

Kroon sank back on the davenport with a supercilious smile. "You're very amusing," he commented lightly. "What next? If you'll ask me a reasonable question, I'll be only too happy to answer."

"Well, let's see where we stand," Vance suppressed an amused smile. "You left the apartment at approximately a quarter to four, took the elevator downstairs and then a taxi,

A Settlement Was Reached.

went to your aunt's to fuse a bit with legal documents, drove back in a taxi, and took the elevator upstairs. Bein' gone a little over half an hour. During your absence Swift was shot. Is that correct?"

"Yes," Kroon was curt. "But how do you account for the fact that when I met you in the hall on your return, you seemed miraculously cognizant of the details of Swift's passing?"

"We've been over that, too. I knew nothing about it. You told me Swift was dead, and I merely surmised the rest."

"Yes—quite. No crime in accurate surmises. Deuced queer coincidence, however. Taken with other facts. As likely as a five-horse win parlay. Extr'ordin'ry."

"I'm listening with great interest," Kroon had again assumed his air of superiority. "Why don't you stop beating about the bush?"

"Worth-while suggestion," Vance crushed out his cigarette and got up. "What I wish to leadin' up to was the fact that someone has definitely accused you of murdering Swift."

Kroon started, and his face went pale. After a few moments he forced a harsh guttural noise intended for a laugh.

"And who, may I ask, has accused me?"

"Miss Madge Weatherby." One corner of Kroon's mouth went up in a sneer of hatred.

"She would! And she probably told you that it was a crime of passion—caused by an uncontrollable jealousy."

"Just that," nodded Vance. "It seems you have been forcing your unwelcome attentions upon her, with dire threats; whereas, all the time, she was madly enamored of Mr. Swift. And so, when the strain became too great, you eliminated your rival."

"Well, I'll be damned!" Kroon thrust his hands deep into his pockets. "I see what you're driving at. Why didn't you tell me this in the first place?"

"Waitin' for the final odds," Vance returned. "You hadn't laid your bet. But now that I've told you, do you care to give us the name and address of your maiden aunt and the nature of the legal documents you had to sign?"

"That's all nonsense," Kroon spluttered. "I don't need an alibi. When the time comes—"

CHAPTER VIII

At this moment Heath appeared at the door, and walking directly to Vance, handed him a page torn from his note-book, on which were several lines of handwriting.

Vance read the note rapidly as Kroon looked on with malignant resentment. Then he folded the paper and slipped it into his pocket.

"When the time comes . . ." he murmured. "Yes—quite." He raised his eyes lazily to Kroon. "As you say. When the time comes. The time has now come, Mr. Kroon."

The man stiffened, but did not speak. "Do you, by any chance," Vance continued, "know a lady named Stella Fruemon? Has a snug little apartment on the seventeenth floor of this building—only two floors below. Says you were visitin' her around four o'clock today. Left her at exactly four-fifteen. Which might account for your not using the elevator. Also for your reluctance to give us your aunt's name and address. Might account for other things as well . . . Do you care to revise your story?"

Kroon appeared to be thinking fast. He walked nervously up and down the study floor.

"Puzzlin' and interestin' situation," Vance went on. "Gentleman leaves this apartment at—let's say—ten minutes to four. Family documents to sign. Doesn't enter the elevator. Appears in apartment two floors below within a few minutes—been a regular visitor there. Remains till 4:15. Then departs. Shows up again in this apartment at half-past four. In the meantime, Swift is shot through the head—exact time unknown. Gentleman is apparently familiar with various details of the shooting. Refuses to give information regarding his whereabouts during his absence. A lady accuses him of the murder, and demonstrates how he could have accomplished it. Also kindly supplies the motive. Fifteen minutes of gentleman's absence—namely, from 4:15 to 4:30—unaccounted for."

Vance drew on his cigarette. "I say, Mr. Kroon, any suggestions?"

Kroon came to a sudden halt and swung about. He sucked in a deep noisy breath and made a despairing gesture. "All right, here's the story. Take it or leave it. I've been mixed up with Stella Fruemon for the past year. She's nothing but a gold-digger and blackmailer. Madge Weatherby got on to it. She's the jealous member of this combination—not me. And she cared about as much for Woode Swift as I did. Anyway, I got involved with Stella Fruemon. It came to a show-down, and I had to pay through the nose. To avoid scandal for my family, of course. At any rate, we each got our lawyers, and a settlement was reached. She finally named a stiff figure and agreed to sign a general release from all claims. In the circumstances, I had no alternative. Four o'clock today was the time set for the completion of the transaction. My lawyer and hers were to be at her apartment. The certified check and the papers were ready. So I went down there a little before four to clean up the whole dirty business. And I cleaned it up and got out. I had walked down the two flights of stairs to her apartment, and at 4:15, when the hold-up was over, I walked back up the stairs."

Kroon took a deep breath and frowned. "I was so furious—and relieved—that I kept on walking without realizing where I was going. When I opened the door which I thought led into the public hallway outside the Garden apartment, I found I was on the terrace of the roof. When I saw where I was I thought I'd come through the garden and go down the stairway there. It was really the natural thing to do . . ."

"You knew about the gate leading into the garden, then?"

"I've known about it for years. Everybody who's been up here knows about it. Anything wrong with my knowing about the gate?"

"No. Quite natural. And so, you opened the gate and entered the garden?"

"Yes."

"And that would be between a quarter after four and twenty minutes after four?"

"I wasn't holding a stop-watch or myself, but I guess that's close enough . . . When I entered the garden I saw Swift slumped down in his chair. His position struck me as funny, but I paid no attention to it until I spoke to him and got no answer. Then I approached and saw the revolver lying on the tiles, and the hole in his head. It gave me a hell of a shock. I can tell you, and I started to run downstairs to give the alarm. But I realized it would look bad for me. There I was, alone on the roof with a dead man . . ."

"Ah, yes. Discretion. So you played safe. Can't say that I blame you entirely—if your chronology is accurate. So, I take it, you re-entered the public stairway and came down to the front door of the Garden apartment."

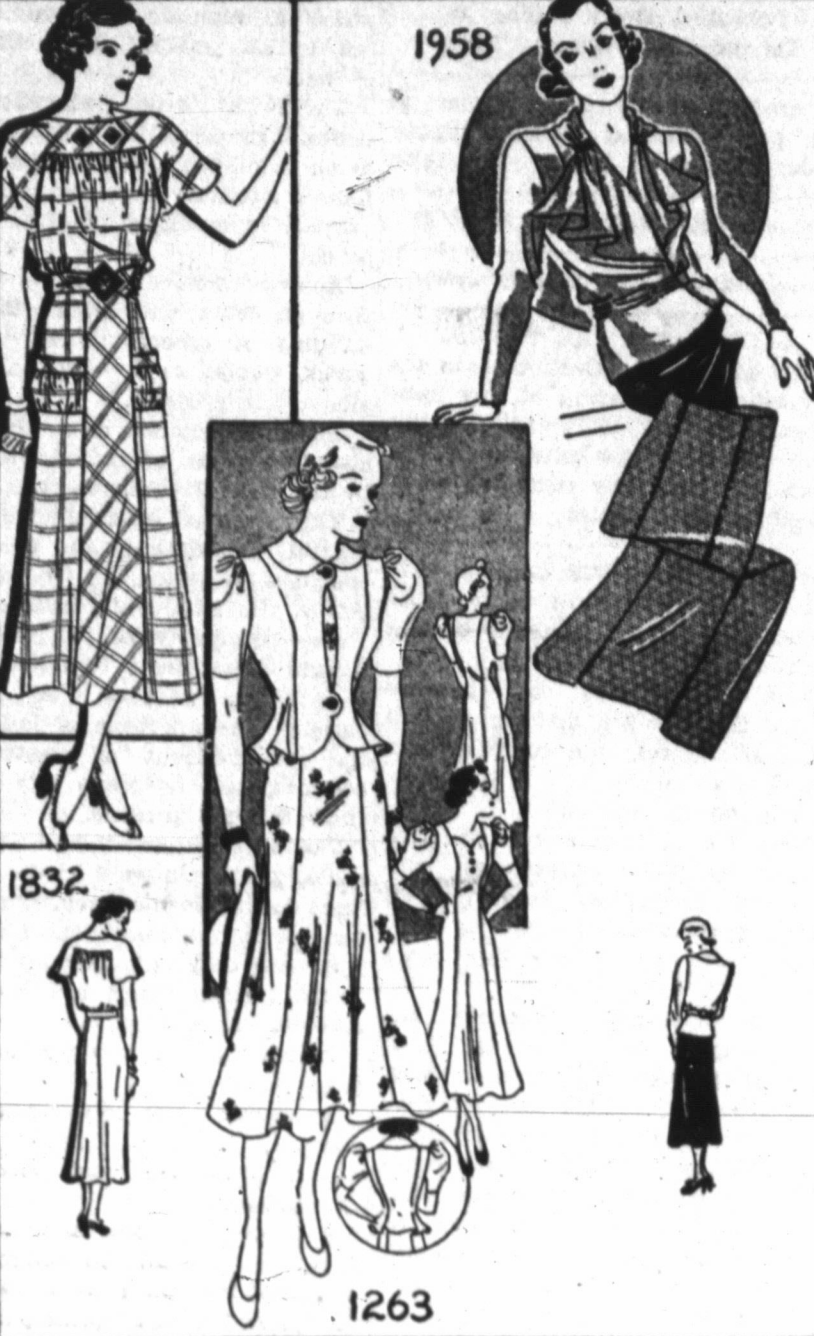

"That's just what I did."

"By and by, during the brief time you were on the roof, or even often you returned to the stairway, did you hear a shot?"

Kroon thought a moment. (TO BE CONTINUED)

First Stirrings of Spring

THE chic young miss above, center, says, "I make my own clothes. I learned sewing from Mother first, got a touch of it in school, and a real exposure in 4-H activities. I choose this dress for Spring because it looks like Spring, and because it takes the minimum of time and money. Puff sleeves and princess lines give a formal note if I wish to impress the folks (which I often do) and the peplum jacket is added for frivolous reasons—when I want to feel a bit sophisticated, and it makes a sweet all-occasion dress."

A Practical Choice. The Lady on the Left says, "I'm practical. I choose patterns that I can cut twice; then I have a gingham gown to set me off in my kitchen and an afternoon dress in which to entertain the Maggie-Jiggs club. The all-of-a-piece yoke and sleeves make me look years younger, the shirred pockets give the decorative note every dress needs, and I can run it up in an afternoon."

Three-Purpose Pattern. The Girl in the Oval has a far-away look in her eyes. She says it's because she wears glamorous blouses like this one. She cuts her pattern three times—no less—and evolves a blouse in eggshell for her velvet skirt; one in velveteen for her tweeds, and the third in metallic cloth for after-five activities. "The skirt with its simple well directed lines is equally well suited to tweeds for sport, velvet for dress and wool for business," says Madam.

The Patterns. Pattern 1832 (above left) comes in sizes 32 to 44. Size 34 requires 4 1/2 yards of 39 inch material. Pattern 1263 (above center) is designed in sizes 12 to 20 (30 to 40 bust). Size 14 requires 4 1/2 yards of 39 inch material for the dress and 2 1/2 yards for the jacket—to line it requires 2 1/2 yards of 35 inch material. Pattern 1958 (above right) is available in sizes 14 to 20 (32 to 46 bust). Size 16 requires 2 1/2 yards for the blouse in 39 inch material and 2 yards of 54 inch material for the skirt.

"WHITHER ARE WE DRIFTING?"
It might be well for us to pause occasionally and ask ourselves this question.

The answer must be, it seems to us, that we are drifting as fast as time and tide can carry us into a sea of socialism.

Why do we say so?
Well, let us take a look at this list of legislative enactments and proposed enactments, nearly all of which were advocated by the Socialist party long before they were adopted by us Democrats.

An unemployment insurance law compelling all employers of eight or more persons to pay a federal tax to provide a fund for insurance of employees against unemployment.

An old age insurance law, compelling all employers to pay a federal tax to provide a fund out of which to pay a pension to retired employees after they reach a certain age.

Old age pensions, entirely distinct from the above, now being paid jointly by the federal and state governments to needy people over 65 years of age.

A proposed minimum wage scale for labor, to regulate by law the wages paid to labor.

A proposed maximum hour week
for labor, to regulate and limit the number of hours an employee may work each week.

A proposed child labor amendment to the Constitution, which would give the federal government power to regulate and prohibit labor by all persons under 18 years of age.

The NYA set-up, whereby students throughout the country are being employed and paid out of the federal treasury for the purported purpose of enabling them to attend school.

Appropriation of federal funds
through WPA and PWA for the building of school houses, public parks, public roads, and innumerable other projects.

The maintenance of a system of so-called adult education, financed by the federal government.

The proposed establishment of a federal department of education,
the head of which is to be a member of the President's cabinet.

Resettlement work, whereby the federal government undertakes to re-establish workers on farms,
through the purchase of lands and the establishment of resettlement colonies, and by loans and donations to such persons.

The now outlawed AAA, whereby rental payments were made to farmers to induce them to reduce their acreage in the major farm crops.

Several different agencies through which federal funds are loaned to farmers and others.

A federal soil conservation program.

A federal water conservation program.

A nation-wide rural electrification program.

A proposed system of crop insurance, now pending in congress.

A proposed plan to virtually fix
the prices of the principal farm products.

A nation-wide housing program,
to be financed and carried on by the federal government.

And other projects and programs
almost without number.

Most of these proposals have real merit, and we have approved and advocated many of them, not stopping to question if these activities on the part of the federal government might not be entirely outside and above the powers granted to it by the Constitution.

And suppose we adopt all these measures, with or without amending the Constitution, is it to be supposed that we would stop there?

Hardly.

It is but a step further to the government ownership of all public utilities, government ownership of the means of transportation, government ownership of the big industries, government confiscation and redistribution or lease of all lands.

We may never go all the way, but we certainly are being swept rapidly and by a strong current toward a sea of socialism.

And possibly it is all for the best.
Who knows? Possibly a purely socialistic program is necessary to solve the problems of this modern day. The "horse and buggy" days are gone forever. Possibly we should all get in the New Deal boat and row with all our might down stream with the current into the limitless
sea of socialism.

But if so, we should first quit calling ourselves Democrats, and we should first change our Constitution to suit the new day—not junk
it.

THE "FORGOTTEN PLATFORM"

Because the present Supreme Court has chucked several of Mr.
Roosevelt's pet New Deal measures out of the window, the President wants what he calls "new blood" on the high tribunal. In other words, he wants men on the court who will declare his laws constitutional, regardless of the constitution, itself.

If he is successful in his plan to pack the court, and the men he picks the court with do his bidding as he hopes, their rulings on such measures as the AAA and the NRA
—which the President hopes to duplicate under a new court—will, to all intents and purposes change the constitution.

What did the 136 Democratic National platform, written by Mr.
Roosevelt's own convention and upon his personal direction, say about changes, if any, in the constitution?

Here's what it said—and here's the plank upon which the President
asked re-election last year:

"THE CONSTITUTION: A promise of both state and federal treatment within the constitution
for problems that cannot be handled solely by the states, such as drouths,
dust storms, floods, minimum wages,
maximum hours, child labor, working conditions in industry, monopoli-stic and unfair business practices.

"If these problems cannot be effectively solved by legislation within the constitution, we shall seek such clarifying amendment to the constitution as will provide states and the federal government adequate authority."

In other words, when President Roosevelt asked the voters to give him a second term, he agreed to seek any changes in the constitution by a regular, set routine of constitutional amendment which,
according to the law of the land,
must be ratified by two-thirds of the states.

At the time he was preparing his 1936 campaign, Mr. Roosevelt was already looking ahead. He knew then that he planned to seek changes in the constitution. And knowing he planned to seek constitutional changes he agreed, by the platform which he dominated, to seek those changes via the orderly method of constitutional amendment.

But as soon as he started on his second term he repudiated that plank in his platform.

In seeking to change the constitution, he decides to go the Congressional route because he considers it easier and more certain.
His patronage axe, which he is already dangling over the heads of recalcitrant representatives and senators, won't work so well in forcing various states to ratify a constitutional amendment but it will force many a Congressman to do his bidding. Hence, the President blandly overlooks the 1936 platform plank, despite the fact that the whole platform was his platform, erected by his supporters and embraced by him as a candidate.

Either Mr. Roosevelt permitted the 1936 constitution plank to go into the platform as another "catch all" for votes or he meant to stay with it when he said he would.

If he has changed his mind, the country has a right to know why.

We await, with interest Mr.
Roosevelt's explanation of this curious situation, but frankly, we doubt that he will mention it. To do so mightn't be good politics and whatever else he may or may not be, the President is a master politician, planks and platforms notwithstanding.—Lubbock Avalanche.

We can see little or no objection to the Summers bill recently passed by Congress and signed by the President which would permit Supreme Court judges 70 years of age or over who have served on the court for ten years to voluntarily retire on full pay. That is just and fair. There is no purpose in such a bill to force the retirement of a majority of the court in order that it may be stacked for a purpose.

TWENTY BUREAUS FOR ONE JOB

What is meant by Senator Byrd of Virginia and others when they declare the governmental machinery of bureaus and commissions needs overhauling may be briefly supported by an outline he recently gave of present conditions of duplication. He declares that at least ten agencies have been concerned with government construction, nine with credit and finance, twelve with home and community planning, and sixteen with wild life conservation, which is only the beginning of a long list he enumerates.

It is not necessary to attack the legitimacy of the aims nor the beneficial values which might ac-cure from these activities to make it evident there is no need for sixteen bureaus to do one job, to grow unchecked and eat up tax funds in unimaginable quantities. In the emergency of the early thirty-threes
these things grew up on us, and,
as Senator Byrd points out, now
underbrush needs to be cleared out.
This is as important to the average citizen in Floyd county as to any citizen anywhere. We suggest you assume a positive attitude in this respect in your dealings with congressional and legislative representatives.—Floydada Hesperian.

FUNDS FOR CONSERVATION
The fact that forty-one counties
in Texas already are being remitted all their state ad valorem taxes for purposes of internal improvements
or for reconstruction purposes following major calamities has made the rest of the state increasingly restive the past few years, and there has come to the fore a plan
in this legislature to abandon all ad valorem taxes for state purposes and apply the funds thus obtained to purposes of conservation. A. B.
Tarwater, representative from this district, is among the proponents of the bill.

The bill could have the funds applied to prevention of soil erosion, flood control, irrigation and drainage projects, reforestation and road building. How far the measure will get is problematical. However, it is getting careful study and a great deal of attention in the capital.—

The difference between President

Jennie Reba Nevill, Billy Margaro, Riddle, Marie Spinks, Robbie Milliken, O'Beru Forrester, Lorene Reese, and Mrs. Moselle Welch.

Margaret Jane Barnett was born at Hartford, Arkansas, on March 4, 1864. At the age of 10 years, she was brought by her parents to Speegleville in McLennan county, Texas, where she grew into young womanhood and where she was married to W. J. Crouch on September 26, 1882.

Almost immediately the young couple went to Richland Springs in San Saba county to make their home. There they resided continuously until 1907, when they removed to Lynn county. They remained here only two years however, and then returned to their old home community, where they continued to reside until the end of 1912. Having breathed the free air of the plains for two years, they again heard the call of the then Far West, and for a second time they turned their faces this way and arrived here on January 2, 1913. They established their home on a ranch four miles west of Tahoka and engaged in ranching and farming until Mr. Crouch's death on October 18, 1932. Mrs. Crouch continued to make her home there with a son, Herman, until death claimed her.

Mrs. Crouch united with the Baptist Church soon after her marriage in 1882, and has been a faithful member since that time. A devoted wife and mother, she lived and labored for the comfort and happiness of her husband and children, and the love that she lavished upon them was amply rewarded in the affection and esteem that they held for her. Hers was one of the gentlest and tenderest of souls, and she was one of the women who have helped to make Texas great.

Surviving her are the following children: Mrs. Hattie Brown, a stepdaughter, of San Saba; six daughters: Mrs. J. L. (Jennie) Nevill, Mrs. H. A. (Zetta) Riddle, Mrs. Lynn (Berta) Nevill, Mrs. Clay (Ola) Hughes, Mrs. Ovid (Nora) Luallin, and Mrs. Jack (Velma) Wells, all of Tahoka; and three sons: Herman of Tahoka and Curtis and Clarence Crouch of Hobbs, New Mexico. She leaves surviving also twenty-three grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren. Two aged brothers also survive, Y. S. Barrett of Whitit and H. G. Barnett of Mercury, one of whom is a retired Baptist minister and the other a retired Methodist minister.

All the children and most of the grandchildren were here for the funeral services, though Herman Crouch was detained at the family home by serious illness. Mrs. Lynn Nevill came from Los Angeles, California, where she was visiting a daughter, to attend the funeral. The children and their families have the genuine sympathy of innumerable friends, and especially of all those who have suffered a similar loss.

Mr. and Mrs. S. N. McDaniel visited the bustling little city of Hobbs, New Mexico, last Sunday.

"Franks" Used on Early Pony Express, Writer Says

While letters were carried by mail, on horseback, before the issuance of postage stamps, in 1847, at Eastern points, the first record we have of a Pony Express in California was in 1848, the year gold was discovered, notes a writer in the New York Sun. Samuel Brannon, publisher of the California Star, at Yerba Buena (now San Francisco) is claimed to have created the pioneer pony express.

He proposed to carry letters for 50 cents each to Eastern points and guaranteed they would reach their destination within two weeks. On April 1, 1848, his pony started carrying mail to Independence, Mo. Instead of arriving there in the specified two weeks' time it took all summer. Then gold was discovered, and in the attendant excitement caused thereby this Pony Express became a forgotten enterprise.

At the time of the gold rush California as a place of importance was entirely non-existent. Population and activity were centered in the north, with three rivers utilized as the main highway. San Francisco had become a city almost overnight, and the other important points were Sacramento, reached by the Sacramento River; Marysville, on the Feather River, and Stockton, on the San Joaquin. Express messengers carried mail on the boats and made the rounds of the mining camps, the envelopes bearing the "frank" of the express company.

Bird, Animal Pests Not Kind That Affect Humans

The idea that swallows, bats, flying squirrels and other wild animals and birds carry on their bodies such pests as bedbugs and lice of various kinds and that these birds and animals actually bring them into human habitations, to the detriment of the human race, is nothing but superstition, according to George B. Lay, Junior Biologist at the North Carolina State College.

Most of our native birds carry at least one species of louse, sometimes more than one; and often one species from each of the two orders of chewing lice and sucking lice. Usually, each species or group of birds has a particular kind of louse as a permanent resident or occasional visitor; and such lice, if they try to get along on a different species or group of birds, find the food not to their liking and die.

For this reason, man is not troubled by the insect pests of wild birds and animals. Bats do carry such pests, but such pests cannot get along on a human being. Most lice, to the casual observer, look alike and the differences between species is structural or very insignificant and would not be noticed except with a magnifying glass, due to the small size of the insects.

Residence Abroad

It is not a question of time, but of intent, when a naturalized citizen goes to his native country on a visit. If a naturalized citizen returns to his native land and remains there indefinitely without contact with the American government, it is assumed that he has forfeited his citizenship, and it remains for him to prove that he has not. Yet, a naturalized citizen who has, for instance, business connections which take him to his native land, and keep him there may stay for years without forfeiting his citizenship. A citizen who returns merely for a visit of a few months or a year, and communicates with the nearest American consul occasionally during the period, informing him of the intention to return, will have no difficulty about his citizenship status.

Became Famous Sculptor

One day in 1861 a young Ohio sculptor by the name of John Quincy Adams Ward was at work in the executive building in Columbus modeling a head of Gov. Dennison. While the governor sat and the sculptor worked, a young state senator by the name of James A. Garfield sauntered in. "Garfield, this is Mr. Ward, a rising young sculptor," said Dennison by the way of introduction. Then, with a smile, he added, "When you become a famous statesman, Ward will make a statue of you." Twenty-five years later the bronze statue of President Garfield, sculptured by the internationally famous John Q. A. Ward, was unveiled at Washington by the Army of the Cumberland.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Rivers That Flow North

The St. Johns River in Florida is supposedly the only river in the United States which flows northward throughout its entire course. There are others, however, which flow north for a part of their course. These include the Monongahela in Pennsylvania, the Tennessee in Tennessee and Kentucky, the Red River of the North in Minnesota and North Dakota, Big Horn in Wyoming and Montana, Powder in Wyoming and Montana.

Wife May' Deed Property

In California a wife may dispose of her separate property by a deed which does not require her husband's signature. Property owned by her before marriage, together with property acquired by her after marriage from her separate funds, is separate property, subject to distribution.

Excellent Rain Falls In County

A much appreciated rain visited this section of the state early Thursday morning, continuing several hours. The rainfall in Tahoka up to eleven o'clock A. M. amounted to only .34 of an inch. While it was not as much as was desired, yet it will be very helpful and encouraging to farmers. There is a larger wheat acreage in the county than usual and the rain will be especially beneficial to the wheat.

Most of the other cultivated lands in the county have been bedded up for the row crops and there is a good underground sear. Crop prospects are good for this season of the year.

B. H. Clark, who has been in bad health several months, was adjudged to be of unsound mind by a jury in the county court Wednesday afternoon. He will be placed in an institution at an early date, where it is hoped that he may entirely recover from his mental and physical infirmities.

BROILING
Gas gives you the intense heat needed to broil meats so fast that the loss of juices is prevented. Full flavor is saved.

ROASTING
Gas gives you the oven ventilation which produces crisp, juicy roasts. Excess moisture is allowed to escape, preventing that flat "steamed" flavor.

BAKING
Baking requires an unlimited range of oven temperatures evenly distributed. That's why Gas assures light, evenly browned cakes, pies, breads.

FRYING
Perfect, speedy frying requires instant high heat—even spread of heat under the skillet—numbless heat variations. Gas gives them all!

The "Sunday School Lesson" published each week in this newspaper has been adopted by thousands of church instructors throughout the United States as a regular part of their weekly work.

It is a review and exposition of the international lesson for each week, prepared by Dean Harold L. Lundquist of the Moody Bible Institute at Chicago, a recognized leader in the nation's church work. Dean Lundquist has been active in teaching youthful groups for years, thereby acquiring an insight into the needs of these people for understandable explanations of Bible passages.

In view of his accomplishments in church work, it is not surprising that Dean Lundquist's exposition of the weekly Sunday School lesson is being used in almost every community of the nation. As teacher or student you will find it extremely helpful.

BRILLIANT COMEDY WITH MUSIC ARRIVES IN TOWN
"Champagne Waltz" a brilliant comedy with music, co-starring Fred MacMurray and Gladys Swarthout, and including Jack Oakie, Veloz and Yolanda, Herman Bing, Vivienne Osborne, Frank Forest, Benny Baker, Ernest Cossart and others open at the English Theatre Sunday for a three days' appearance, bringing to local audiences one of the finest potpourris of wit, beauty, romance and melody yet to reach the screen.

"Champagne Waltz" is built around the gaiety and charm of Vienna.

MacMurray, an American "swing" band leader, captivates the city with the new type music, playing havoc with the famous old Waltz Palace of the Strausses. He meets and falls in love with Miss Swarthout, who is the granddaughter of the musical director of the palace, but doesn't dare reveal his true identity. His success forces the Waltz Palace out of business and when Miss Swarthout finds out who he really is and what he has done, she breaks with him. Remorseful, MacMurray returns to America.

Miss Swarthout and her grandfather come to America where they open a Waltz Place along modern lines which becomes a sensational success. But the girl is not happy. She still loves MacMurray. One day she meets him. What follows brings a happy ending.

The dancing of Veloz and Yolanda in "Champagne Waltz" strikes a new high note for ballroom team dancing and Jack Oakie's typical comedy supplies much of the picture's mirth. The chorus work, in which 350 beautiful girls execute the new swing waltz rhythm, is particularly worthy of note.

Mrs. Winter Knight has been quite seriously sick of the influenza the past two weeks.

Health-Wrecking Functional PAINS
Severe functional pains of menstruation, cramping spells and jangled nerves soon rob a woman of her natural, youthful freshness. PAIN lines in a woman's face too often grow into AGE lines!

Thousands of women have found it helpful to take Cardul. They say it seemed to ease their pains and they noticed an increase in their appetites and finally a strengthened resistance to the discomfort of monthly periods.

Try Cardul. Of course if it doesn't help you, see your doctor.

Texas Independence

We Texans should pause and reflect on the glory of our state as it has grown during the last century. We should make our March Second a more important day than we do, because it marks the birth of our state's freedom which began one hundred years ago. If we do take time to reflect, we will see the immense amount of progress our state has made. We know that Texas consisted of only a few scattered settlements when she so boldly declared her independence from the tyrannical Mexico. What our Texas forefathers lacked in numbers they made up in fortitude and bravery.

Looking back on these gallant heroes we may see that we would do well to imitate them more closely. We should be very grateful for the advantages that their work has given us. We should appreciate the wonderful school systems which their provision made possible. Students should feel that they can only lessen in a small way their debt to our early Texas fathers by using well the advantages they left to make Texas a great state filled with the best people on earth.

Typing Department

The class periods on each Friday are being devoted to the students of the typing classes to speed tests. On a speed test taken last Friday, Feb. 26, there were four students making more than the required thirty words per minute. These are:

Charles Gagnat, 37.3.
 Adina Morgan, 33.7.
 Gosa Lee Thompson 40.6.
 Willie Chappell, 34.3.

The typing classes will have charge of the chapel program on Wednesday, March 3. A contest is to be staged between two teams consisting of the two highest ranking boys of the class—Charles Gagnat and James Thompson—and the two highest ranking girls of the class—Gosa Lee Thompson and Willie Chappell. The student body is expecting to see some speedy typing.

Debate

On last Thursday, the debaters of Brownfield came over for a closed session with the debaters of Tahoka. All of the students gave some speeches that they had written and spent some time in criticizing and discussing their merits. The students feel that they have gained much valuable information from the meeting.

The plans have been made for a debate between the Tahoka debaters and the debaters from Brownfield. The debate is to be held on Wednesday, March 3. This is to be a regular debate with all main speeches and rebuttal work.

Sports

The girls' volleyball team has been having some games during the last week and have plans for more games during the coming week. They went over to Wilson for a game last week and also to New Home. The team is much stronger than any we have had in several years. We are hoping to see our girls win the county in volleyball this year.

Freshman News

The Freshman class has had quite a few of the members out on account of illness during the last two weeks. We are sorry that Levene Jones, popular member of the Freshman class, has been forced to leave school because of ill health.

The Puppy's Whine

Patricia Hill, Editor; Wanda Lee Tunaley and Billy Margaret Riddle, Sixth Grade Reporters; Myrna Dean Gagnat and Peggy Fenton, Fifth; Dorothy Gean Applewhite, Grace Jones, Fourth Grade. Teachers report First, Second and Third grades.

There is about one fourth of our school absent this week. We will be delighted when they return.

First Grade

We are glad to have Eloise Boydston in our school again. We are making a train at school now.

Second Grade

Dorothy Letew has entered the Second grade. She is in Mrs. Henderson's room.

R. B. Jones is back in school after an absence of four weeks.

Mrs. Dunagan's room presented a play, "Hansel and Gretel," in chapel last Friday.

We miss Adele Thompson, who has moved to Post. She was a nice pupil.

Third Grade

The Third grade children of Miss Tippitt's room are studying about wheat this week. We have all planted six grains of wheat in a small bowl, and are watching it come up and grow without any sunshine.

Mrs. Smith's room is drilling on story telling for the County Meet.

The children are also learning more about how important good health is to them.

Fourth Grade

The Fourth grades have been studying picture memory for the County Meet. Also, the Fifth has too.

There are quite a few in our room absent from school on account of the flu.

Miss Douthitt's room is trying out to see which of four students is the best reader, Grace Jones, Arthur King, Truman Boyd, and Patricia Hill.

A new pupil has entered school. Her name is Syble Bower.

The children who are going to enter in theory or music are going to Lubbock to have theory Saturday, March 6.

Fifth Grade

Joan Boston and Dorothy Pullman are back in school.

Sixth Grade

The girls and boys of the Sixth grade played with Midway Monday at 4 o'clock.

Tahoka boys won 18 to 12, but the Midway girls defeated our girls 21 to 12.

One of our reporters of the Sixth grade, Billy Margaret Riddle, left school Monday on account of her grandmother's illness. Dorothy Holland is acting as reporter until she returns.

Charles Reid was absent this week.

We are getting a holiday all day Friday because of the teachers' meeting in Lubbock.

We are working very hard for the County Meet.

G. W. Hickerson Jr. dropped in Friday to have his address changed from Rodessa, Louisiana, to Odessa, Texas. Both are situated near oil fields and G. W. is engaged in the oil business. He will continue to keep in touch with developments here as given through the columns of the News.

Mrs. W. B. Fortner and daughter of Kermitt visited in the home of the former's sister, Mrs. N. M. Wyatt last week. Mrs. Fortner's little girl had recently had her appendix and tonsils removed in a Lubbock sanitarium.

J. E. Henderson and Miss Opal Moore of the Petty community were married recently. They will make their home in that community.

Deliberation Versus "Rush and Jam"

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN
 National Chairman
 Sentinels of the Republic

Probably the most widespread criticism of Congress during the past few years has been based on the eagerness of its members to speed new and unfamiliar measures through the legislative mill.

"Rush and jam" has too frequently been the method—instead of careful study and consideration of all bills which influence the public welfare.

During recent weeks, however, Congress appears to have shown a different attitude. Measures affecting fundamental principles of our government are being subjected to scrutiny and study by various Senators and Representatives who have not hesitated to express either approval or disapproval—and the reasons therefor.

Many have thus reasserted their right to express their own opinions and the opinions of the men and women they represent, regardless of party affiliations.

To all citizens who regard members of both House and Senate as their representatives at Washington, this evidence of politically independent judgment is encouraging. To all Americans it means a stronger voice in government.

Rushing a measure through Congress gives the people little opportunity to understand its purpose and effect, or to let their will be known.

Reasonable study and discussion, in contrast, clarifies the issues involved—not only in members of the Congress, but to the people as well.

After all, it is we, the people, for whom government is organized, and who are helped or injured by its actions. It is we, the people, who bear its burdens and pay its bills. It is to us that our elected officials must answer. And Congress should realize that it will rise in public esteem to the extent that it recognizes these facts and lets us know just what our government is planning to do.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks to each one for the kind deeds, words and sweet floral offerings during the sickness and death of our loving father and grand father, J. B. Walker.—Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Giles, A. S. Walker, W. E. Walker, C. B. Walker, J. S. Walker, Omer Young, Mrs. H. A. Walker, and families.

Ed Evans, one of the new proprietors of the H & W Cafe and who came out to Tahoka from Honey Grove just last week, was called back to Dallas Tuesday by the serious illness of his mother, who was to undergo a major operation in a hospital there.

D. L. Weaver, who has been employed as a salesman at the Hogan Dry Goods Store, has accepted a position as traveling salesman for a wholesale ready-to-wear concern.

New Home

Mrs. Parum and little son Joe are in the Lubbock Sanitarium with mastoiditis, Mrs. Parum having undergone an operation.

Mrs. J. T. Carter and little daughter, Sarah Virginia, are visiting relatives in Denton.

Miss Marguerite Bossey has accepted a position as assistant secretary in the W. H. Woolworth store in Santa Fe, New Mexico, and left last week to assume her new duties.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. King have moved to New Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McKennon of Slaton were visitors in New Home Sunday.

J. T. Carter visited his parents in Happy through the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd McCormick and children accompanied Judge and Mrs. P. W. Goad to Carlton for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Lowe, former New Home residents. Mrs. McCormick and girls plan to visit several days, but the others returned Sunday.

Bro. S. K. McCulloch preached at Dixie Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Reagan of Wilson spent Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Wyatt.

The play presented at the school gymnasium last week entitled "The Elopement" was enjoyed by a large crowd.

The High School students and faculty enjoyed a "Kid Party" at the gymnasium Friday night. Little James Tillman Carter took the prize for being the best dressed kid present.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Balch went to Dallas on business this week. Jess Thomas went to Dallas on business this week.

Judge G. C. Grider and family moved back to the Midway community from a farm near Brownfield this week. The Judge reports that his son, who has suffered so long and so intensely from a fracture of the arm sustained five months ago, is at last steadily improving.

Mrs. Gladys M. Stokes, who has been confined to her home since returning from a Lubbock hospital a couple of weeks ago, is now able to be up part of the time. She has been suffering from influenza and neuralgia, we understand.

CHURCH OF CHRIST NOTES

We missed last week but am glad to report that we had a fine time at the Lectureship. The lectures were inspirational and we got on higher ground by hearing them. The themes of the Lectureship were along the lines of preaching the Gospel of Christ to the whole world.

Oh, how each Christian needs to realize that Christ has placed in our hands the remedy for sin and the responsibility of giving it to a sin-sick world!

How I wish each member of the congregation here could see that the field is white unto harvest, and send forth reapers.

Death invades our community every week of late. How sad to be called unprepared!

Think, friend, if He should call you next, how would it be with you? What a job the preacher has who is called to conduct the funeral of one who is lost. But death has a bright side to the Christian. It is just a going home, falling asleep in Jesus and resting from our labors.

I will fill the pulpit here next Lord's Day morning and evening. Visit the friendly church once anyway. R. P. DRENNON.

Tahoka Rotarians Hear Cal Farley

Tahoka Rotarians were entertained at their regular weekly meeting at the American Legion Hall Thursday noon by a most interesting address on "The European Situation" by Cal Farley of Amarillo.

Mr. Farley was a soldier in the World War and he made a visit back to the scenes of conflict last year. While there he visited nine European countries. His address dealt chiefly with conditions in France, Germany, and England, though he touched also on several other European nations.

We can not give even a resume of his address here, but the intimate knowledge of European affairs that he has obtained by contact with the people over there is very illuminating and interesting to an American.

The meeting next Thursday will be devoted largely to business.

Attention, Car And Truck Owners!

Expiration date for registration of all kinds of motor vehicles will be April 1st, 1937. After that date a statutory penalty of 20% will be added to the amount of registration fee. Therefore, I am giving this information in order that you may have proper receipts when applying for new license plates which will enable this office to render you quick service.

To register automobiles, bring your last registration receipt, in case you have purchased a used automobile, bring the transfer together with the last registration receipt issued on the vehicle.

To register trucks or commercial motors of any kind, weigh trucks empty and bring weight receipt together with last registration receipt as above mentioned.

To comply with the above will be in accordance with the State Highway laws and at the same time you can secure your plates without any unnecessary delay, I earnestly solicit your early registration in order to avoid the usual last minute rush. Thanking you for this and past cooperation.

Car Wreck Here Wednesday Night

The car of C. A. Thomas figured in an accident Wednesday night that did considerable damage to the car but little injury to any of the occupants.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas and the latter's mother, Mrs. Harris, had driven up highway No. 9 a short distance and started to turn in to the residence of a relative on the left side of the highway, and failed to make the clearing of another car coming south. The two cars sideswiped, resulting in much damage to both cars. The south-bound car was being driven by Rev. Denning of Lubbock, a Baptist Minister. He too was uninjured.

Jake Ellis recently purchased the 160-acre Lehev farm in the Petty community and has moved upon it. The Thompson Bros. Land Company made the deal.

Around The Capitol

By J. Doyle Settle

This writer will vigorously oppose the bill sponsored by Petch and others, which in effect would abolish and change a number of the district courts of Texas. The bill seeks to redistrict the judicial districts of Texas, and if passed would abolish the 99th district court, now located at Lubbock and would change both the 72nd and 106th district courts. I do not believe that such drastic changes in our judicial system is necessary and certainly it is unwise at this time.

The Author of this column has introduced a bill to complete a museum at Texas Tech. The bill, which appropriated $50,000, would set up a museum at the college and would preserve for posterity all the historical relics which abound within the confines of West Texas. Such a museum is badly needed, and it is believed that the Legislature will recognize this need and pass this bill. This appropriation will be met with a like amount from the federal government.

I have introduced a bill which would refund the tax on gasoline used in agricultural pursuits to the taxpayer at the time he purchases the gasoline. At the present time, the farmer must go through a lot of red tape, and then wait for a considerable length of time before he receives this rebate in these taxes. My bill would eliminate all this red tape and delay, and would be a great convenience to the farmers of Texas.

I have introduced a bill in the House for the purpose of constructing and establishing a State Hospital for the Insane in West Texas. The bill calls for an appropriation of $817,000 for the purpose of construction and equipping the same. All will recognize the need of such a hospital for West Texas. At the present time there is no institution of this kind anywhere in West Texas, and inasmuch as new institutions of this kind are needed in Texas to care for the increasing number of people who should be confined in an asylum, it is expected that this bill will be given consideration by the legislature, and has a fair chance of passage.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Cowan visited relatives at Crosbyton Saturday and Sunday.

Poorly Nourished Women — They Just Can't Hold Up

Are you getting proper nourishment from your food, and restful sleep?

A poorly nourished body just can't hold up. And as for that run-down feeling, that nervous fatigue, — don't neglect it!

Cardul, for lack of appetite, poor digestion and nervous fatigue, has been recommended by mothers to daughters — women to women — for over fifty years.

Try it! Thousands of women testify Cardul helped them. Of course, if it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician

REPORTS FROM THE COUNTY CLUBS

Miss Lilith Boyd, H. D. Agent

MIDWAY H. D. CLUB
Midway H. D. Club met Feb. 26 at 2:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. H. A. Rowe. After a short business meeting, Miss Boyd exhibited several posters and gave helpful hints on kitchen equipment and convenient arrangement of same. Especially did she stress running water and gave instruction on installing same economically.

The percentage of rural homes equipped with kitchen conveniences and modern lighting systems is small compared with those supplied with radios and automobiles.

Housekeepers are not doing as much as they could and should to conserve energy.

With a small expenditure of time and money and rearrangement of equipment our work could be lightened considerably.

Members present were: Mesdames R. T. Cope, Howard Draper, I. M. Draper, G. A. Edwards, R. L. Littlepage, H. A. Rowe, John Thomas, and F. P. Taylor.

Visitors were: Mrs. W. E. Wheat, Mrs. Buel Draper, and Miss Lilith Boyd, agent.

DIXIE H. D. CLUB

"Of the three outstanding conveniences of the home, water, heat and lights, I would rather have the running water in the house," said Miss Boyd to the members of the Dixie H. D. Club, which met February 17.

"One can have water piped in the house at a very low cost considering the time and work it saves the housewife afterwards," added Miss Boyd.

Members present were: Mesdames A. L. Dunagan, G. L. Cobb, Paul Johnson, Burl Aycox, V. H. Macha, A. C. Aycox, Marvin Berry, and Alex Johnson. Visitors were: Mrs. Lee McFadden, Mrs. George Bovell, and Miss Irma Macha.

DRAW-REDWINE H. D. CLUB
Washing and ironing are among the hardest of the regular household tasks, but it is very often possible to lessen the work considerably by careful thought and planning.

Washing machines save time and labor and are almost indispensable if larger washings are to be done at home. These facts were brought out by Mrs. W. T. Luttrell at the Draw-Redwine Club of Friday, Feb. 19, in the home of Mrs. W. E. Dubree at 3 p. m.

Several talks were made on washing, ironing and drying equipment. Next meeting will be with Mrs. F. C. Thorpe March 5 at 2:30.

Mrs. C. Caraway was a visitor. Members present were: Mesdames F. C. Thorpe, Ralph Cates, Dutch Crawford, W. T. Luttrell, Willis Pennington, and W. E. Dubree.

MIDWAY H. D. CLUB

"I am sure the cost of piping water into our house was less than $10.00," said Mrs. G. A. Edwards, co-operator in the Midway Home Demonstration Club.

"I expect 125 feet of pipe was used in piping water into the kitchen and into the wash house. We had our sink on hand. Larger pipes carry waste water to the hog pen which is below the windmill. One barrel is used as a storage unit.

This supplies sufficient water for use in the kitchen and in the wash house. The wash house is provided with a shower and, too, a drainage in the floor disposes of the waste laundry water," added Mrs. Edwards.

GRASSLAND H. D. CLUB

"Early hatched pullets are the ones that lay most of the early winter eggs," said Miss Boyd at the meeting of the Grassland 4-H club Feb. 5. "Now is the time to start to raise some early pullets for next winter," she added.

Jennie Jo Reeves is a new member of our club. Other members present were: Viola Roberts, Mary Ruth Edwards, Rubie Greer, Mona Laws, Nelda Lois Moore, Margie Shepherd, Doyce Chapman, Jo Ella Saunders, Oleta Saunders, Allene Williams, Jimmie Lou Thomas, Billie Greer, Faye Blasingame, Frances Aten, Rosalie Thompson, Jay Moore, Alta Bess Reeves, Beth Shepherd, and Lois Dean Jester.

GRASSLAND 4-H CLUB

"Slips must be completed and all work must be brought to our next meeting," said Miss Stewart at the meeting of the Grassland 4-H club February 19.

The club elected Mary Alice Norman, vice president, as the new president of our club. Alta Bess Reeves was elected vice president.

Other members present were: Viola Roberts, Mary Ruth Edwards, Rubie Greer, Mona Laws, Nelda Lois Moore, Margie Shepherd, Mary Alice Norman, Jo Ella Saunders, Oleta Saunders, Allene Williams, Jimmie Lou Thomas, Billie Williams, Frances Aten, Rosalie Thompson, Jay Moore, Billie Greer, Alta Bess Reeves, Beth Shepherd, Lois Dean Jester, Lorene Norman, Eula Mae Laws, and Jennie Jo Reeves.

MIDWAY 4-H CLUB

Early baby chicks need special care, said Miss Boyd to the Midway 4-H Club February 26 at its meeting the home of the sponsor, Mrs. Littlepage.

Early chicks are more profitable for early broilers and better layers. All pot holders have been completed and three slips finished. We will have all slips completed soon, ready to start our dresses.

There were six members present: Clara Lee Henry, Evelyn McDonald, Mary Louise McDonald, Icaphe, Nieto, and Marcellene Stephens.

EDITH 4-H CLUB

"Everyone should try to make their diet as near perfect as possible, because it is essential to keep these habits for health and good looks," said Miss Marie Owens, sponsor of the Edith 4-H club at its last meeting.

Most of the girls had their towels and slips finished. Members present: Dorothy Kahl, Rebecca, Hazel and Sibil Jenkins, Dorothy Gean Brower, Juanda Taylor, Eva Woods, Lamyrie Ramsey, and sponsor, Marie Owens.

WITH YOUR ENGINE OIL-PLATED

OIL-PLATING differs widely from other forms of lubrication in this plain, understandable way: It remains lastingly fastened to the pistons, bearings and other engine parts, even when they are not in motion. This is made possible by the Germ Process—patented—which gives Conoco Germ Processed oil its strong attraction for metals, so that every working part becomes durably Oil-Plated.

Oil-Plating is not like any lubrication that merely goes on-and-off. Once Germ Processed oil covers the parts it never leaves their bare of Oil-Plating... Never when the pistons are racing thousands of strokes a minute... Never on any hills, despite any load... Never while you park at a dozen different stores.

So it's nothing to you, when engineers blame more than half of all engine wear on so-called "dry starting." Nor need you worry over all the rest of the annual Spring oil scare. Whether your car is new or old, you can make your longer runs... hit your higher speeds... enjoy your hotter sunshine. Oil-Plating can take it like the longest-lasting part of your engine. For Oil-Plating really becomes a long-lasting part of your engine, as you change to long-lasting Conoco Germ Processed oil. Continental Oil Company

The Curse of Progress

Just Informal

A dumb little girl and her chum were discussing the boy friend of the former.
"The only thing I don't like about him," said her friend, "is that he's too rough."
"He isn't rough," replied the young man's sweetie. "He's just informal."

Sounds Like It

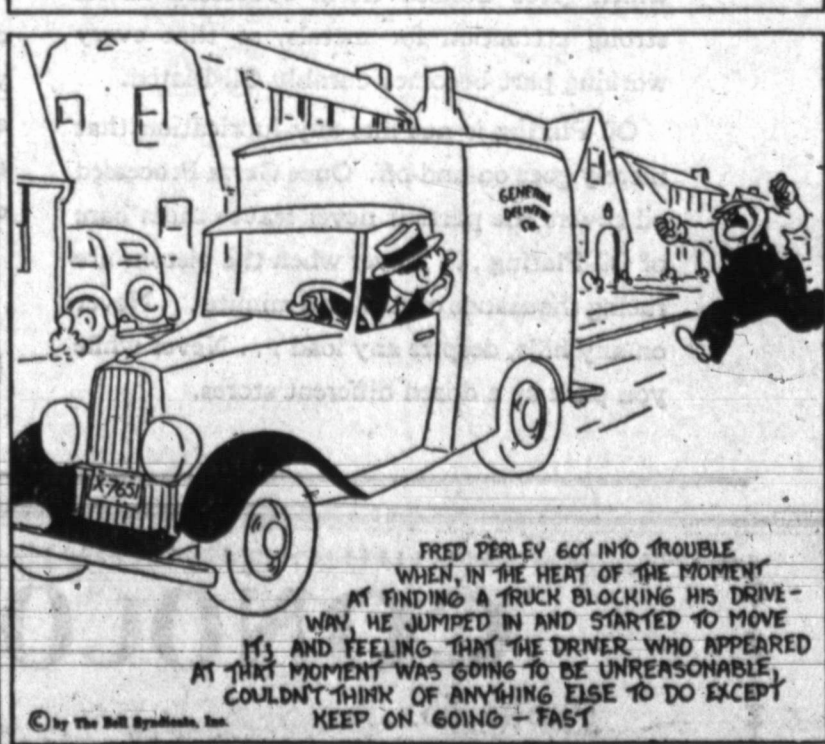

"How long does the train stop here?" the old lady asked of the guard.
"Stop here?" answered the functionary. "Oh, four minutes. From two to two-to-two."
"I wonder," mused the old lady. "if that man thinks he is the whistle?"—Exchange.

Barbecue Chicken

Broil the chickens in the usual way and when they are dished pour over them this sauce:
Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter in a saucepan, add the same quantity of vinegar, a strong dash of tobacco, a teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce, a teaspoonful of sugar, a saltspoonful of salt and half as much pepper. Blend all together, heat to a boil and pour over chickens. Serves in 5 minutes.

Tragedy of Marriage

"Emotion tests of both sexes show that men have more egotistical emotion and less love in their personality make-up than women," says William Moulton Martin, psychologist, discussing marriage in Good Housekeeping.
"Loss of a career may mean little to the average woman if her love nature is satisfactorily adjusted," he goes on, "but rarely will love take the place of success in a man's life even though the winning of a woman's praise may be the purpose underlying his search for fame. It is one of the tragedies of this artificial division of sexes that men waste their time seeking triumphs to please women, while women care far more for the men themselves than for their triumphs."

Immediate Duties
The only way to regenerate the world is to do the duty which lies nearest to us, and not hunt after grand far-fetched ones for ourselves.—Charles Kingsley.

IF COLD is in YOUR CHEST do this now

Before you go to bed rub Penetro on your chest and throat, then apply hot cloth. Relief quickly follows because Penetro is stronger, contains 113% to 227% more medication than any other nationally sold cold salve.
And because Penetro has a base of mutton suet, it conserves and concentrates body heat to enable this stronger medication to help nature break up congestion. The aromatic vapors of Penetro also help to relieve stuffiness and soothe the inflamed area.
Ask your druggist for PENETRO. 25c, 35c, 50c and $1 jars.

Silk Print for Your Easter Frock

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

FASHION foresees as tremendous a vogue for prints as ere eye hath witnessed. What with gay and flowery, bursting-with-color silk prints massing together in a scene of riotous beauty, as they are at the dawn of this new season, the Easter style parade promises to be a colorful pageant.

The beauty of the super-lovely prints brought out this season transcends all that has gone before. Some of them look as if nature itself had thrown clusters of flowers on black or navy grounds and in their own graceful way petals and leaves had fluttered down in pretty confusion. This tendency to depart from the conventional adds to the fascination of the new prints.

One of the charms of a colorful and chic flowery printed silk dress or ensemble is that it breathes the very breath of spring even if snows may not yet have melted out of sight. Then, too, clad in a rapturous gay print you are sure to look lovely regardless of features, avoirdupois or the color of your hair. As to the practical side of the question a vivacious print has a most fetching way of taking kindly to the idea of being worn under your fur or your smart new spring cloth coat which is something to think about, seeing that Easter comes so early this year.

For a fashion "first" the demand centers mostly about the dark-ground types with emphasis on wide spaced effects. Huge floral patterns both for daytime and evening in a maze of vivid colors is the new note for silk prints. There is also a pronounced trend in favor of strikingly bold black and white effects. Also enthusiasm is running high for paisley and cashmere prints with an oriental beauty that baffles description. Very new, too, and outstanding are the flower-striped silk prints.

DUSTY-PINK WOOL

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

A pastel wool frock for spring, and you will be right up-to-the-moment in style. Among the fascinating colors there is no lovelier than the new much-exploited dusty-pink. The attractive two-piece dress pictured is made of a highly fashionable dusty-pink tropical worsted. Allied with a multi-colored knit swager coat the color scheme tunes in delightfully to a gladsome spring day. Jet buttons and a black patent belt add to the prestige of this fashionable costume.

COTTON LACES IN FAVOR FOR EVENING

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Cotton laces have been popular for a couple of seasons past, but most often these have been associated with the sports and daytime frocks for summertime, and in the sturdy types of laces that suggest fabrics. This season, however, they are seen in great quantity and variety for evening, and are competing in favoritism with the prints and sheer fabrics. These cotton laces for evening are the sheer and crisp types, and are delightfully novel and varied in their patterns. They usually follow simple classic lines, not too formal in cut, and are especially nice for young girls. They are most effective when worn over rustling taffeta slips, and this of course makes them the more desirable to the debs and sub-debs.

Hemlines Focus Fashion's Spotlight on Smart Heels

There's no longer any need for women to depend on the chance swish of a skirt to reveal the sparkling heels on their evening shoes. To make certain that heels get the notice they deserve, French designers are sponsoring evening gowns with skirts draped up a trifle at the back.

This is in line with the trend for bringing back views to the forefront of style.

Charm Motif
If you have fallen for the fad of charms in your costume decoration, you'll want a quilted suede bag which displays a charm motif. Some of the same figures which are popular for chain bracelets are presented on the leather surface. Animal themes are featured most but they are far from realistic.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By REV. HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, Dean of the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago. © Western Newspaper Union.

Lesson for March 7

LIFE HERE AND HEREAFTER THROUGH CHRIST
LESSON TEXT—John 14:1-15.
GOLDEN TEXT—I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me, John 14:6.
PRIMARY TOPIC—in the Heavenly Father's House.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Many Mansions.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Why We Need Christ Always.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Life Here and Hereafter through Christ.

It was the night before the darkest day in the world's history. On the morrow the Son of man was to hang on Calvary's tree for the sins of the world—for your sins, and for mine. But for the moment he was alone with his disciples. The last Passover had been eaten together, the betrayer had been discovered, and the Lord has told them that he was soon to go where they could not follow. Peter had, by his bold self-assurance, brought forth the prophecy of his denial. The disciples were disturbed. Then came from the Saviour the words of comfort, assurance, and power which have been the strength and solace of his people through all the centuries. Our life both here and hereafter is in His mighty hands.

I. Comfort (vv. 1-3).
Troubled hearts are everywhere—in the palace and in the cottage, on land and sea. There is a place of rest, thank God! There is One who still speaks the majestic words, "Let not your heart be troubled, ye believe in God, believe also in me."

His comfort is one which covers the future life, for he says:

1. "I go to prepare a place" (v.2). Concern about future destiny is settled at once when Christ Jesus becomes our Lord and Saviour. We need worry no longer. He has gone on before to the Father's house to prepare a place for his own. When we come to that ever-peaceful shore we shall not come as strangers, but as sons and daughters to a prepared place in our Father's house.

2. "I will come again" (v.3) is the word that gives present meaning to the future promise. He not only prepares the place, but he it is who brings us there. The glorious hope of his coming again is the Christian's greatest comfort and mightiest incentive to useful, holy living.

II. Assurance (vv. 4-11).
The doctrine of Christian assurance is one of vital importance, and should be taught in all its scriptural power and beauty. Unfortunately it has so suffered violence at the hands of some of its friends that others have not only come to fear it, but even openly to oppose it. This is most regrettable, for it is manifest that until one has assurance he will make but little progress in Christian usefulness.

The believers assurance rests fundamentally on Christ himself. Two grounds are given in the text.

1. "I am the way, the truth, and the life" (v. 6). These words are their own best commentary. Read them again, slowly, weighing the meaning of each word. If we are in him who is the way, how safe we are! If we are not in him? Read his own solemn words in verse 6, "No man cometh unto the Father but by me." (v. 12).

In Christ dwells all the fullness of the Godhead. He is not only a supernatural being, he is God. How can anyone deny that and read his words in these verses? To do so is to make Jesus a liar and blasphemer.

III. Power (vv. 12-15).
His followers are not left in a world of sin and need as a little group of hymn-singing weaklings, thinking only of the day when they shall be in a brighter land. Ah, yes, they sing hymns and rejoice in them; they look for a better land; their weapons of warfare are not carnal—but weaklings? Oh, no! God uses them to do great and mighty things for his glory.

1. "He that believeth" (v. 12). This army of God carries the royal banner of faith.

2. "Greater works... shall he do" (v. 12). Jesus only began his work on earth. Its greatest development was to be the joyous privilege of his followers.

3. "If ye ask... I will do" (v. 14). Someone has called this a signed blank check on all the resources of God. Faith fills it in, under the guidance of the Holy Spirit. Moody knew how to use it. So did Mueller, Livingstone, J. Hudson Taylor—the list might go on indefinitely. Shall we dare to trust God and add our name as one of those who ask in faith?

The Man of Wisdom
"He is a wise man who does not grieve for the things which he has not, but rejoices for those which he has.—Epicurus.

Thoughts of Good People
The thoughts of some people live so near to God, that to ask them to think of us is to ask them to pray for us.

Chief End of Education
Manhood, not scholarship, is the first aim of education.—E. T. Seton.

Dwelling on Grievances—

Power of Trouble Is Increased And Distributed by Talking of It

THERE is a curious and very much mistaken idea that by talking of our grievances and our troubles, we decrease their power over us to make us miserable. Instead, by dwelling on them we reinforce their power. We not only do this, but we scatter the seeds of their discontent, as we unburden our hearts, and a whole new crop of disturbing thoughts enters into the minds of those who bear with us during our outpouring of words.

Making Misery.
If the person to whom we speak is near and dear to us, our troubles weigh on them almost as their own. We are unwittingly the cause to them of an added weight of discordant thoughts, and perhaps they may be trying to get the better of their own bothers.

Sympathy Versus Help.
We have only to consider the effect on ourselves of listening to others talk of their worries, misfortunes, and hard luck, to realize the depressing power of such conversation. It is seldom we can do anything to help them. In fact persons who talk of their troubles seldom do it to get helpful suggestions. They are bespeaking sympathy and often are disturbed, hurt or annoyed, when they get advice, even though it be excellent. What is wanted is to hear expressions of understanding of their position as difficult, and to hear their actions considered wise. Is this not really what we, ourselves, hope to hear when we air our troubles?

When we are awakened to the fact that talking of our woes adds to those of the listener without lessening ours, that we are implanting troubles in the minds of others, we surely will try to be more careful about giving vent to the misfortunes by talking about them. Moreover, if we do continue to be trouble mongers, no one will be eager to talk with us.

Winning Out.
If, instead of dwelling on our grievances, we discuss pleasant topics, we are not only giving pleasure to others, but we are actually doing ourselves a kindness as well. We diminish our own depression by rising above our troublous thoughts, thus becoming conquerors in and through our conversation.
