COURT CLOSSES SPRING TERM

Six Men Sent To The Penitentiary During Term; Several Cases Are Continued

District court adjourned for the term here last Saturday. The business of the court was rather light this term. Six men, however, have been sent to the penitentiary and another was convicted of a felony but has appealed his case.

There were two pleas of guilty last Friday. S. H. Allison entered a plea of guilty before the court and was sentenced to one year in the penitentiary for driving a car while intoxicated. It developed that he had lost his job and was practically penniless as a result of his spree, and the court suspended his sentence.

M. C. Smith drew a sentence of two years in the penitentiary on a plea of guilty to the forgery of W. M. Thompson's name to a small check. Sentence was not suspended. Others who received penitentiary sentences at this term of the court are:

J. B. Watkins, sentenced to two years for forgery.

Billy Dawson and Louis Rhodes, each sentenced to two years for theft of turkeys.

T. C. Collier, sentenced to two years for theft by bailer.

Anton Lopez, a Mexican, charged with wife and child desertion, sentenced to two years in each case.

Lee Howell was convicted of cotton theft and his punishment was assessed at two years in the penitentiary, but he has appealed the case.

Because of lack of time to prepare for trial, the case against Jack Corley, charged with assault with intent to murder a negro, and the case against Dr. Robert Harp mentioned last week were continued till the next term.

Magnolia Trees Are Being Planted Here

Mr. and Mrs. Pledger Coleman have a beautiful magnolia plant which they procured down at Tyler Saturday and which they hope to grow into a beautiful and luxuriant tree here in due course of time if the climate is not too severe and the winds not too unkind.

Mr. and Mrs. Coleman went down to Tyler Friday, it being a beautiful day, with a trailer hitched to the rear of their car, expecting to bring back a trailer load of shrubbery. But when they awoke Saturday morning, the rain was pouring down, and most of their hopes were drowned with the rain. They did manage to procure this beautiful magnolia plant, however, and they are very proud of it.

Mrs. W. M. Harris of this city also has a couple of beautiful young magnolias and Mrs. Lumsden at Wilson has one or two. So it seems that magnolias are to be given a thorough test here. It is to be hoped that they will stand the test.

Time Is Set For Baptists' Revival

At a meeting of the board of deacons Sunday afternoon, the time for the regular annual revival meeting was set for June 20, to continue two weeks.

The pastor was authorized to procure the assistance of both a preacher and a music director for the campaign.

METHODIST WOMEN ATTEND LAMESA MISSION MEETING

Mmes. Ben Hardy, W. D. Smith, R. H. Gibson, Larkin Weathers, and Fred Boyce attended a zone meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church held in Lamesa Wednesday.

Many women were in attendance and a most excellent program was enjoyed.

Farm Committee At Wilson Elected

With meetings of farmers at Wilson and Morgan last Thursday night, selection of the Lynn county community farm committees was completed.

The committee elected for that district consists of R. J. Maeker, chairman, J. H. Robins and C. H. Hair. Alternates are Louis Shambrock, A. B. Pruitt and T. H. Bassinger.

Committees elected in the other four districts of the county were announced last week.

City Completes Two Water Wells

The City has recently drilled two new wells in the vicinity of the wells drilled last spring and summer a mile north of town.

A few days ago, one of these wells was placed on the pump and the water supply seems to be abundant. The pump was operated several days in succession without cessation pumping about 60 gallons per minute and it is said that the supply was not appreciably diminished. It is believed that the other well is fully as good as this one.

Mayor Jim Dye and some of the members of the city council believe that these wells as well as those drilled last year tap an abundant and unflagging water supply. They believe that the wells drilled last year, which produced a prodigious amount of water when first put on the pump, were later "sanded down" and the supply of water largely shut off. Other members of the council believe that the old wells merely struck a pool of underground water which was later pumped dry.

The new wells seem to indicate, according to Mr. Dye, that the water is there in abundance. One member of the council indicated to a representative of the News that it is his opinion that a sufficient amount of water is there to continue to yield 50 to 60 gallons per minute per well, indefinitely. He thinks that a large pump, however, which would pump around 200 gallons of water per minute, as was done in the wells brought in a year ago, would soon reduce the supply in the new wells and that they would fail as did the old wells. If these wells will pump 50 gallons each per minute without affecting production, he points out that this will afford the city an abundant supply for domestic and irrigation purposes.

At any rate, it would appear at this time that Tahoka should have as much more abundant water supply hereafter than it has ever had before.

Jack A. Robinson Recently Married

Jack Alley Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hall Robinson, is now a married man. This is the word he wrote to his mother here a few days ago.

The bride is the former Miss Kathryn Dillard, daughter of Mr. Dillard, the oil contractor who drilled the Edwards well on the T-Bar Ranch ten miles southwest of Tahoka in 1935.

Jack is located at Mt. Pleasant in the employment of an oil company. The bride was attending a girls' college at Marshall at the time of her marriage and she will remain in school until the end of the term.

Jack Alley was reared here and his wife is well known here, having resided in Tahoka for about a year.

Sheriff and Mrs. B. L. Parker left Wednesday morning with a prisoner, whom they were conveying to Huntsville. The other prisoners convicted here at the recent term of district court were picked up by Bud Russell a couple of weeks ago.

MRS. REDWINE DIED MONDAY

Aged And Much-Loved Pioneer Is Buried Beside Husband, Lived To Age Of 85

Death has again invaded the ranks of the pioneers of this county. Mrs. Joyce Ann Gates Redwine, 85 years of age and a resident of this county for more than 32 years, died at her residence here at about 10 o'clock Monday night. She had been in ill health for several years and had been practically an invalid for more than a year. Her condition became critical about three weeks preceding her death.

Funeral services were conducted at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the Harris Funeral Home, followed by burial in the Tahoka Cemetery. The services were conducted by Rev. H. C. Smith of Amarillo, former pastor of the Methodist Church here, and Rev. Ben Hardy, the present pastor. With one exception, the pall bearers were pioneer citizens of the county, as follows: A. L. Lockwood, W. L. Montgomery, E. H. Boullouin, G. W. Small, J. S. Weatherford, and J. W. Elliott.

Mrs. Redwine, whose maiden name was Joyce Ann Gates, was born in Clark County, Arkansas, on February 12, 1852. She was married to Michael M. Redwine in that state on September 22, 1867, to which union seven children were born, four of whom survive her. They are:

Work Is Started On Woodman Hall

Work on the foundation for the new W. O. W. hall to be constructed here was begun Monday. The pouring of the concrete was finished Tuesday, and the superstructure will go up rapidly.

The building when completed will be an attractive and commodious one for the purpose for which it is being built, and we understand that the Boy Scouts will probably be granted the privilege of using it for their meetings also.

ANNOUNCE CCC ENROLLMENT

CCC enrollment will be conducted in April. Those eligible for a relief standpoint should apply at the local relief office for additional information, if interested. Applications will be taken until the call is issued for selectees.

$13,000 Worth Of Food And Clothing Given Local Relief Clients During 1936

Foods and clothing to the value of $13,000.00 were distributed among the needy in Lynn county through the county relief office here last year, according to a report given us by Mrs. Lois Daniels, County Case Worker. This consisted of $5,668.83 worth of food and $7,530.50 worth of clothing, making a total of $13,199.33.

Supplies for this and all the other relief offices throughout the country are purchased by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and then turned over to the Surplus Commodity Department for distribution through the relief agencies.

These purchases are not made primarily for relief purposes but they are made as a means of reducing the surplus commodities of various kinds and thus helping the producers. For instance, if there happens to be a surplus of fresh apples in the country, the Agricultural Department buys up the surplus and then turns it over to the Surplus Commodity Department for distribution through the relief offices among the needy. So with flour, milk, vegetables and other commodities.

In Lynn county, the demand for supplies is not as heavy now as it has been at other times. As the demand for farm labor increases, the calls upon the relief office will probably decrease correspondingly. The

NATIVE TEXAN, 84, DIES HERE

S. M. Bean Victim Of Pneumonia, After Long And Healthful Life In Texas

Native Texans 84 years of age are very scarce. But Sylvanus Monroe Bean, who died here at 6:30 o'clock Sunday evening, belonged in that classification. He was born on May 3, 1852, in Wise county, Texas, and was therefore nearly 85 years of age.

Death resulted jointly from a severe injury which he sustained in a fall a few months ago and from pneumonia which developed only a few days before his death. Since the fall, in which his leg was badly broken, he had been confined to his bed and had gradually wasted away. Death has been expected for many weeks.

Funeral services were conducted at the Harris Funeral Home here at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon. Rev. George A. Dale of the Baptist Church here and Rev. Ferguson of the Nazarene Church at Grassland officiating. The remains were laid to rest in the Tahoka cemetery.

Besides his aged wife, deceased leaves behind him five sons and two daughters as follows: A. D. Bean of San Antonio, John Bean of Tahoka, Mrs. Minnie Inham of Houston, J. V. Bean of Refugio, Mrs. Jack Curry of Tahoka, Claude Bean of Dublin, and George Bean

Work Is Progressing On Courthouse Lawn

Miss Lilith Boyd is already making the courthouse lawn look different. She is having all the scrawpy trees and all the old mutilated and diseased trees removed. The good trees she is having reset in groups at scattered intervals on the lawn.

When the grass is set out, the shrubbery planted, the flower beds arranged, and the water turned on, we are going to have a different lawn from that which has greeted the eye in the past.

MCPHERSON IMPROVING

The condition of J. B. McPherson, proprietor of Mack's Food Store, who apparently lay at the point of death several days suffering from pneumonia, is now very much improved, according to reports coming from the hospital daily.

Homer Maxey Is Rotary Speaker

A most interesting and enlightening paper on the Petroleum Industry was read by Homer Maxey at the Rotary luncheon Thursday. We are hoping to be able to have it for publication at an early date.

County Attorney Rollin McCord spoke briefly on "What Rotary Means to Me."

Visitors were Jack Moore of Dallas, a guest of Postmaster Happy Smith, and Joe Boles of Crosbyton, a guest of Rollin McCord. Each of the guests made a short talk.

School Trustees Will Be Elected

Two trustees for the Tahoka Independent School district are to be elected for the ensuing three years at an election to be held the first Saturday in April.

The terms of Alvin Hicks president of the board, and Sam Holland, another member, will expire. Four names had been filed for places on the board up to Thursday morning according to Carl Griffing, secretary, two of whom had requested that their names be withdrawn, and a third had not definitely decided to leave his name on. J. O. Tinsley, whose name was filed by friends, has agreed to serve, if elected.

Mr. Griffing states that according to regulations adopted by the board, the name of a candidate must be filed not later than Wednesday, March 24, to be printed on the ballot. The name must be filed by the candidate himself or by five legally qualified voters of the district. Any voters in the district desiring any particular name to be filed should attend to the matter therefore before March 24.

Mr. Griffing further suggests that persons filing a name should procure the consent of the candidate before filing his name. The ballot be made up by Mr. Griffing and the board of trustees and then presented to the News office for printing. The printers will not be authorized to add any names on the ballot which have not been certified by the secretary of the board of trustees. It is important therefore that the above regulations be heeded and observed.

Mr. Griffing states that he understands that neither Alvin Hicks nor Sam Holland will permit their names to go on the ballot for reelection. Mr. Hicks having served a number of years and Mr. Holland having recently qualified as county commissioner.

Other members of the board whose terms do not expire are: Dr. L. E. Turrentine, W. L. Burleson, H. B. Howell, F. M. Billman, and J. S. McLaughan.

Make Honor Roll Make Honor Roll

Several Lynn county students attending Texas Technological College made the fall semester honor roll, according to information received by The News.

The following is the record made by students from this county:

A-Minus: Mrs. Grace Thompson Dyess, daughter of J. Y. Thompson, Tahoka; and Alize Weathers, daughter of L. E. Weathers, Tahoka.

B-Plus: Mrs. Irene Terry Spears, daughter of E. B. Terry, Rt. 1, Tahoka.

B: Marietta Montgomery, daughter of W. J. Montgomery, Tahoka; Sylvester Reese, son of J. L. Reese, Tahoka; Lela Frank Greer son of H. C. Greer, Wilson; and Janet Leavitt, son of W. D. Leavitt, Wilson.

G. A. Edwards and son Garland and Edna Gattis went to Fort Worth Friday to visit the Pal Stock Show, returning home Sunday. The pleasure of the trip was greatly marred by rain.

GREAT THROG WILL BE HERE

Program Is Announced For Annual School Contests During Three Days Of Next Week

Beginning Thursday night and continuing through Saturday afternoon, the Lynn County Interscholastic League meet will be held here next week.

It is expected that every school in the county will be represented, and many hundreds of visitors coming from every nook and corner of the county will be here.

There will be many hard-fought literary and athletic contests, and the winning teams and individuals will be awarded pennants and ribbons galore.

This will be a great opportunity for the business men and other citizens of Tahoka to extend a warm welcome and a friendly hand to the many visitors. As many of our people as possible should attend these events. Everything possible should be done to make our rural friends feel at home while here. There is no better citizenship anywhere possibly than the citizenship of Lynn county, and we are proud of it. We believe that we express the sentiment of the entire town of Tahoka when we say to the people who are planning to be with us next week end that we heartily welcome them and hope that they may have a royal good time while here.

The following is the program of events next week end:

Thursday Night
7:45 o'clock: Declamations: Rural Junior and Senior Boys and Girls in the Gymnasium. High School

Tax Survey Is Ended In County

Cecil B. Ford, who was superintendent of the Lynn county tax survey recently completed here, has been transferred to Post as tax survey superintendent for Garza county.

A complete survey of every tract of land and all city property in the state of Texas is being made. This survey, it is said, will show innumerable glaring inequalities in tax renditions and payments throughout the state and will reveal the fact that much valuable property has been escaping taxation.

Summer Knight Has Serious Operation

The condition of Summer Knight is said to be satisfactory, following a most serious surgical operation which he underwent in the West Texas Hospital in Lubbock Tuesday.

It was a mastoid operation and it is said that the patient was on the operating table for more than an hour. His heart action at times during the operation was very weak and it seemed very doubtful as to whether or not he would survive the ordeal. Many friends here are much gratified that his condition seems to be improving satisfactorily.

SAMSON IS TRANSFERRED TO TAHOKA PROJECT

Jack Samson, who for the past 18 months has been employed as WPA project supervisor on highway 84 east of Post, was transferred to Tahoka this week.

Samson left Wednesday for Tahoka where he will be located three months. He will be in charge of the city water-works project, which includes the drilling of more wells and the lowering of city water mains.

He was replaced here by Matt L. Scovell, of Brownfield, who arrived here last Friday.—Post Dispatch.

Miss Auda Mae Aycox visited her sister in Fort Worth during the week end and incidentally visited the Pal Stock Show.

President and Attorney General Defend Supreme Court Packing Plan

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

WITH the repercussions from the President's fireside radio address and the opening of hearings by the senate judiciary committee, the controversy over the proposition to enlarge the Supreme court took on renewed heat.

President Roosevelt has repeatedly upset New Deal legislation, and avowed frankly his determination to have a tribunal that "will not undertake to override the judgment of the congress on legislative policy."

"The court, in addition to the proper use of its judicial functions," said Mr. Roosevelt, "has improperly set itself up as a third house of the congress—a super-legislature, as one of the justices has called it—reading into the constitution words and implications, which are not there, and which were never intended to be there."

"We have, therefore, reached the point as a nation where we must take action to save the constitution from the court and the court from itself. We must find a way to take an appeal from the Supreme court to the constitution itself."

Mr. Roosevelt divided the opponents of his plan into two classes. The first, he said, includes those "who fundamentally object to social and economic legislation along modern lines" and opposed him in the last election; and of them he spoke with supreme contempt.

Attorney General Cummings appeared before the senate judiciary committee to speak for the President's court bill, and he used much the same arguments Mr. Roosevelt had employed. Senators Borah and Burke questioned him sharply and searchingly, but he was agile in evasion.

Senator Dieterich of Illinois sought to curb the questioning of Mr. Cummings but was squelched by Borah. Dieterich has not committed himself on the bill but is now classed among its supporters.

SATISFIED with the way his administrative plans are going forward, President Roosevelt left Washington for a two weeks' stay in Warm Springs, Ga. He went directly to his white cottage on Pine mountain from which he looks down on the foundation for infantile paralysis sufferers.

Before leaving Washington Mr. Roosevelt said at a press conference that he and Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King of Canada had discussed the St. Lawrence waterway treaty during King's visit.

THE Committee for Industrial Organization has declared open warfare on the American Federation of Labor by authorizing its executive officials to issue certificates of affiliation to national, international, state, regional, city and central bodies and local groups whenever it is deemed. John L. Lewis says the C. I. O. has hundreds of applications for affiliation and that he will take in any A. F. of L. unions that wish to join his organization.

At the same time half a hundred organizers of the American Federation of Labor met with President William Green to plan means of protecting the body against the C. I. O. and to hold the ranks of the craft unions in line.

General Electric and some of the other big concerns that yielded to a certain extent to the demands of the C. I. O. followed the example of the steel companies in asserting that they still reserved the right to deal also with other unions or groups of employees.

Eight thousand employees of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company's Pittsburgh plant demanded a 20 per cent raise in wages and it was feared they would start a strike if the demand were rejected.

Because the Chrysler motor company refused to recognize the United Automobile Workers of America as the sole bargaining agency for all its employees, a strike was called in all its major units in Detroit, and other plants of the company were closed because of dependence on Detroit production.

GEN. FRANCISCO FRANCO, leader of the Spanish Fascists, was reported to be about ready for a final grand assault on Madrid. He assembled a tremendous force of tanks and artillery before Guadalajara and captured several towns near by, threatening the immediate cutting off the capital's last road to the east.

Gen. Franco

So he fought on the line between the Tajuna and Tajo rivers. Gen. Jose Miaja, loyalist commander in the Madrid area, charged that 7,000 Italian troops were taking part in the attack on Guadalajara.

The shelling and capture of the Spanish liner Mar Cantabrico by a rebel vessel was a spectacular event in the war. She was carrying a cargo of planes and munitions from the United States for the loyalists and sought to evade the insurgent cruisers by taking the name of an English ship.

CLARENCE A. DYKSTRA, city manager of Cincinnati since 1930, was selected as president of the University of Wisconsin by the executive committee of the institution's board of regents.

WITHOUT a record vote the house passed the new Duffey-Vinson coal bill, which takes the place of the measure knocked out by the Supreme court. It would set up government regulation of the soft coal industry through a commission in the department of the interior.

What S. Cobb Thinks about

Twilight of Knee Pants. SANTA MONICA, CALIF. — Since our diplomatic group must shed the half-portion breeches they've been wearing at official functions abroad, that means others present will quit mistaking them for footmen and start in again mistaking them for waiters, as formerly.

But the under-rigging doesn't make so much difference anyhow. In the best plenipotentiary circles, it's the top dressing that counts — the gold-plated cocked hat; the dress coat loaded with bullion; the bosom crossed with broad ribbons; the lapels and the throat larch so decorated with medals that, alongside one thus costumed, Solomon in all his glory would look absolutely nude.

THE baseball season couldn't start off properly unless a certain catastrophe impeded beforehand. Every self-respecting player who made a hit last year insists on more salary for this year, else he'll never spit in the palm of another glove. This makes him a holdout. The manager declares the player will take what's offered him and not a cent more. This makes him a manager.

CHANGING Style Capitals. HOLLYWOOD and not Paris is now the world center for fashions, if you can believe Hollywood—and not Paris. At any rate, both for men and women, we do originate many style creations which, in the best movie circles, frequently make the women look mannish and the men look effeminate, maybe that's the desired effect: an oldtimer wouldn't know about that.

CONQUERED Ethiopians attempt to assassinate their new overlord, Viceroy Graziani. Nobody is killed, but several individuals get bunged up. So the conquerors arrest all natives of Addis Ababa in whose hut weapons are found. They round up 2,000 "suspects" out of a total population of 90,000.

THE Public's Short Memory. A FINANCIER, whose exposed devices are as a bad smell in people's nostrils, summarily is ousted from his high place, and the shadows swallow up his diminished shape. A little time passes, and, lo, in a new setting, he bobs up, an envied if not an exalted personage. So-called exclusive groups welcome him in; newspapers quote him on this and that; he basks again, like some sleek and overfed lizard, in the sunshine of folks' tolerance—yes, the admiration of some.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

By REV. HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, Dean of the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.

Lesson for March 21 JOHN'S PICTURE OF THE TRIAL AND CRUCIFIXION

LESSON TEXT — John 19: 4-9, 14-18, 25-30. GOLDEN TEXT — Hereby perceive we the love of God, because he laid down his life for us; and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren. I John 3:16.

THE cross is accepted throughout the world as the emblem of the Christian church. The death of the Son of God for the sins of the world is a focal point not only in history but in theology. It is for this reason that we give so much study to the cross and its meaning.

Calvary comes between Christmas and Easter. Jesus came as the Babe of Bethlehem—God incarnate in the flesh. He died for you and me. Death could not hold him. He arose in victory. He is now at the Father's right hand, an Advocate with the Father. He is coming again. Each statement is an indispensable truth!

THE assigned text gives only a portion of the moving account of the trial and crucifixion of Jesus but suffices to bring before us in graphic contrast four pictures—

I. Pilate—Convicted but Afraid. Pilate was in a most difficult position. To turn one way meant to incur the wrath of the Jews he governed. To turn the other meant that he would be accused of disloyalty to Rome. He was convinced that Jesus was innocent, but was afraid to follow his own convictions.

II. The Jews—Hostile and Hard-hearted. The common people heard Jesus gladly. They loved him and would have followed him. But the Jewish leaders, and those whom they had misled, hated him with malicious hatred.

III. The Disciples—Remembered by the Saviour. The thoughtful tenderness of Jesus in providing for his mother even in his own hour of deep suffering, moves upon our hearts and urges us to follow his example. This is a hard world; let the followers of Jesus be tender and kind.

IV. Jesus—The Saviour. To see the guiltless, spotless Son of God hung on the cross in propitiation for our sins is to bring us to our knees to cry as did Martin Luther, "For me, for me!"

1. Silent. His enemies made great hue and cry against him. Pilate questioned him again and again. Few were the words he spoke, but fraught with more meaning than all the words of men.

2. Strong. All through his life and in his death one is impressed by his strength. All too often sacred art, drawing on its imagination, presents our Lord as an effeminate weakling. No; he was and is gloriously strong.

3. Sympathetic. We have already dwelt on his tender love for his mother. Gentleness is always an attribute of strength, not of weakness.

4. The Saviour. When he cried "It is finished," he did so in no weak submission to an inevitable death. No; he had wrought out redemption, a complete and finished redemption for you and for me.

Now Is the Time. To be always intending to lead a new life but never to find time to set about it, this is as if a man should put off eating and drinking and sleeping from one day and night to another, till he is starved and destroyed.—Tillotson.

Smiles

Belling the Cat. Munhall—What's your idea of civilization, Zeigler? Zeigler—It certainly is a good idea. Somebody ought to start it.

Flash in the Pan. "What's the row over at the carnival?" "A fake dentist sold the fire-eater a set of celluloid teeth."—Boys' Life.

So Did We. The new member of congress was careful to tell the porter on the train just who he was. Then he snapped—"Is my berth made up, boy?" The porter scratched a woolly head. "Nawwir," he apologized. "Ah thought you all politicians made up your own bunk."

LOOK FOR THIS CROSS

The Gentle Word. A gentle word soothes anger, just as water puts out a fire, and there is no soil so barren but that tenderness brings forth some fruit.—S. Francis de Sales.

The Garden Murder Case

"I was fully prepared to run that risk. It wasn't a hell of a lot. What did the old owl-muncher pay, anyway?—less than two to one. A dollar and eighty cents to the dollar, to be exact. I would have been out $18,000. But there wasn't a chance of Equanimity's coming in—I was quite certain of that. I took the chance for Woody's sake."

"Thanks for the affectin' confession," he murmured at length. "I think that will be all for the moment."
"As he spoke, two men with a long coffin-like wicker basket bustled into the passageway. Heath was at the door in two strides.

Its points. However... "He contemplated the tip of his cigarette, then asked: "Would your discretion permit you to comment on Zalia Graem?"
Hammie sat up with alacrity. "Ah!" He nodded his head significantly. "That's something to think about. There are varied possibilities in that girl. You may be on the right track. A most likely suspect for the murder. You never can tell about women, anyway. And, come to think of it, the shooting must have taken place during the time she was out of the room."

I Heard What Sounded Like a Shot.

ately. Hammie answered readily, glancing speculatively at his watch. "Is that all you wish at the moment?"

"That is all, thank you."
Hammie again referred to his watch, hesitated a moment, and then left us.

"Queer reports on that Graem girl." He walked back to his chair musingly. "The time has come to commune with the lady herself."

Garden appeared at the door. "Did you ring for me, Vance?"
"Yes," Vance nodded. "The buzzer is working now. Sorry to trouble you, but we would like to see Miss Graem. Would you do the honors?"

Garden hesitated, his eyes fixed sharply on Vance. He started to say something, changed his mind and, with a muttered "Right-o," swung about and returned downstairs.

Zalia Graem swaggered into the room, her hands in her jacket pockets, and surveyed us with breezy cynicism.

"Miss Graem,"—Vance's voice was courteous but firm—"it will be necessary to ask you questions that you may deem objectionable. But please believe that it will be for your own good to answer them frankly."

"Am I suspected? How thrilling!"
"Everyone I've talked to thus far thinks so." He looked at the girl significantly.

"Oh, so that's how the going is! I thought I detected a vague look of fear in people's eyes. I think I will sit down." She threw herself into a chair and gazed up with simulated dejection. "Am I to be arrested?"

"Not just at the minute. But certain matters must be straightened out. It may be worth your while to help us."

"It sounds ghastly. But go ahead."

"First," said Vance, "we'd like to know about the feud between you and Swift."

"Oh, the devil!" the girl exclaimed disgustedly. "Must that be raked up? There was really nothing to it. Woody bothered the life out of me. I felt sorry for him and went around with him a bit when he implored me to and threatened to resort to all the known forms of suicide if I didn't. Then it became too much for me, and I decided to draw a line across the page. But I'm afraid I didn't go about it in a nice way. I told him I was extravagant and cared only for luxuries, and that I could never marry a poor man."

"And so, the conclusion we may draw is that he played the horses heavily in the forlorn hope of amassing a sufficient fortune to overcome your aversion to his poverty—and that his bet on Equanimity today was a last fling?"

"Don't say that!" the girl cried. "It's a horrible idea, but—it might be true, and I don't want to hear it."

Vance continued to study her critically. "Yes, as you say. It might be true. On the other hand, however, we'll let it pass. Then he asked quickly: "Who telephoned you today, just before the Rivermont Handicap?"

"What has that to do with anything?"
"And why were you so eager to take the call on the den phone and shut the door?"

"The girl leaned forward and looked at Vance defiantly. "What are you trying to get at?" she demanded furiously.

"Are you aware," Vance went on, "that the den downstairs is the only room directly connected by wires with this room up here?"

"The girl seemed unable to speak. She sat pale and rigid.

"And do you know," he continued, without change of intonation, "that the wires at this end of the line had been disconnected? And are you aware that the shot which we heard downstairs was not the one that ended Swift's life—that he was shot in the vault off the hall, several minutes before we heard the shot?"

"You're being ghastly," the girl cried. "You're making up nightmares—nightmares to frighten me. You're implying terrible things."

Vance held up his hand to stop her reproaches. "You misinterpret my attitude, Miss Graem," he said softly. "I asked you, a moment ago, for your own sake, to answer my questions frankly. You refuse. In those circumstances, you should know the facts as they appear to others." He paused. "You and Swift were not on good terms. You knew, as did the others, that he usually went up to the roof before races. You knew where Professor Garden kept his revolver. You're familiar with guns. A telephone call for you is perfectly timed. You guarantee. Within the next five minutes Swift is shot behind that steel door. Another five minutes pass; the race is over; and a shot is heard. That shot could conceivably have been fired by a mechanism. The buzzer wires up here had been disconnected, obviously for some specific purpose. At the time of the second shot you were at the other end of those wires. You almost fainted at the sight of Swift. Later you tried to go upstairs. Adding all this up: you had a motive, a sufficient knowledge of the situation, access to the criminal agent, the ability to act, and the opportunity."

Vance paused again. "Now are you ready to be frank, or have you really something to hide?"

A change came over the girl. She relaxed, as if from a sudden attack of weakness. She did not take her eyes from Vance, and appeared to be appraising him and deciding what course to follow.

Before she managed to speak Heath stamped up the passageway and opened the study door. He carried a woman's black-and-white tweed top-coat over his arm. He cocked an eyebrow at Vance and nodded triumphantly.

"I take it, Sergeant," Vance drawled, "your quest has been successful. You may speak out." He turned to Zalia Graem and explained: "Sergeant Heath has been searching for the gun that fired the second shot."

The girl became suddenly animated and leaned forward attentively.

"After going over the roof and the stairs and the hall of the apartment, I thought I'd look through the wraps hanging in the hall closet," said Heath. "The gun was in the pocket of this." He threw the coat on the davenport and took a .38 gun-metal revolver from his pocket. He broke it and showed it to Vance and Markham. "Full of blanks—and one of 'em has been discharged."

"Very good, Sergeant," Vance complimented him. "Whose coat is this, by the by?"

"I don't know yet, Mr. Vance; but I'm going to find out pronto."

Zalia Graem had risen and come forward.

"I can tell you whose coat that is," she said. "It belongs to Miss Beeton, the nurse. I saw her wearing it yesterday."

"Thanks awfully for the identification," returned Vance, his eyes resting dreamily on her.

She gave him a wry smile and returned to her chair.

"But there's a question still pending," Vance said; "—to wit: are you ready to be frank now?"

"All right." She focused her gaze on Vance again. "Lemmy Merritt, one of the various scions of the horsey aristocracy that infests our eastern seaboard, asked me to drive out to Sands Point with him for the polo game tomorrow. I thought I might dig up some more exciting engagement and told him to call me here this afternoon at half-past three for a final yes or no. I purposely stipulated that time, so I wouldn't miss the running of the Handicap. As you know, he didn't call till after four, with excuses about not having been able to get to a telephone. I tried to get rid of him in a hurry, but he was persistent—the only virtue he possesses, so far as I know. I left him dangling on the wire when I came out to listen to the race, and then went back for a farewell and have-a-nice-time-without-me. Just as I hung up I heard what sounded like a shot and hurried along the hall. An idea went through my head that maybe Woody had shot himself—that's why I went mid-Victorian and almost passed out when I saw him. That's everything."

Race track gambling is making a desperate effort to save its life. Two weeks ago Nelson's amendment proposing repeal, tacked on to a House race-horse jockey bill, passed to engagement by a vote of 20 to 8. But last week the Senate backed up.
By a vote of 15 to 14, it sent the bill to the committee on Criminal Jurisprudence for further hearing.
The Bradbury repeal bill had elready been passed by the House by a vote of 107 to 24. As this is written (Tuesday), a parliamentary battle is on, the repealists seeking to bring the matter to an early vote and the anti-repealists seeking to prevent a vote. The outcome in the Senate, however, seems very doubtful. Some senators seem to have changed their minds about race-horse gambling since the first vote of two weeks ago. The racehorse interests are maintaining a powerful lobby in Austin. The people of Texas should demand that the spotlight be turned on wobbly senators. We still believe that senators and representatives should be required to file sworn statements as to all employment and fees that they receive from private interests and from corporations and their agents during their term of service.
"No man can serve two masters."

Due to the fact that we have freedom of speech and freedom of the press in this country, we sometimes take the liberty to abuse this freedom. For instance, in this very paper we are publishing a communication which contains some of the most absurd, intemperate, and misleading statements respecting members of our Supreme Court that we have seen during recent months. We can usually depend upon the common sense and good judgment of the American people, however, to value such statements at what they are worth. False statements made through ignorance or misinformation or deliberately made for the purpose of arousing prejudice and passion can do a world of harm, but in the end they will not stand up. As for us, we believe that every member of the Supreme Court is a gentleman and a patriot, an honest man, an able lawyer, and a conscientious jurist.
We can truthfully and sincerely say as much for the President of the United States, except that he is not as great a Constitutional lawyer as some members of the Court.

One of the pastors of the town preached a sermon on an unusual pulpit theme Sunday night, Honesty, or, as he stated it, "Why Be Honest." We have often wondered why ministers do not preach more often on the great cardinal virtues.
This was a masterful deliverance and we wished that every young man and young woman in Tahoka who might be tempted to be dishonest could have heard it. We can not take the space to give even a resume of the discourse here, but one of the introductory remarks was enough to challenge our best thought. Many young people, the speaker said, are inclined to regard honesty as an "old-fogey" idea, and then he went on to show how necessary it is to the very existence of all social order. But because an idea is "old-fogey," does that make it worthless? Everything in this life that is worth-while is "old-fogey." All virtue is old-fogey. The ten commandments are old-fogey.
The forces of nature are old-fogey.
The radio and the motion picture and the airplane are recent inventions, but the forces of nature that make them possible are as old as the universe. Honesty may be old-fogy, but as the preacher pointed out it is necessary for the maintenance of the whole business and social world. Without it all would be anarchy and chaos. And we need to be honest not only in our dealings but also in our thinking. We should be honest in the expression of our thoughts, in our political activities, in all our relations to our fellow men—and unselfish. It is dishonesty and selfishness and ignorance that "plays the devil" in this old world.

One of the glories of this country is that we enjoy freedom of speech and freedom of the press, both guaranteed to us by the Constitution. In this country we can make the most absurd and misleading statements imaginable about the President, member of the Supreme Court, and members of Congress without endangering our necks. A citizen of Russia who would openly and scathingly criticize Stalin would probably have his head cut off; a German who would thus criticize Hitler would be imprisoned or shot at sunrise; while an Italian who would dare to castigate Mussolini would never know what hit him.
They have no written constitutions in those countries that the rulers are bound to respect, and the dictators control the courts. In this country we have a "three-horse" government; a Congress to make the laws, the judiciary to interpret and construe the laws, and an executive department to administer the laws. We should be careful to keep the three departments just as separate and distinct as they were when the Constitution was adopted and the Government established.

Secretary Wallace is quoted as stating that he "guessed" about sixty per cent of the farmers of the United States are for the Roosevelt Court plan. Our guess is that at least 75 per cent of them in Texas are in favor of it. If only 60 percent of them throughout the nation are in favor of it, it is as dead as a dodo.

It may be too early to make predictions, but it looks now as if both Secretary Wallace and Postmaster General Jim Farley will be contenders for President in 1940. And there are any number of others doubtless who are hoping that the lightning will strike them.

One of the most "liberal" members of the Supreme Court is a Boston Jew. He voted to sustain the constitutionality of the AAA and some other New Deal measures. His name is Louis D. Brandeis, and he is the oldest member of the court.
We are wondering if a younger man is wanted to take his place.

PATIENCE is a virtue—But Don't wait for prospects. Go after them with advertising!

SUPREME COURT ISSUE

(Editorial Note: The following clipping from another paper was handed to us by a friend with the request that we publish. The News is always willing to give both sides of any issue, and therefore we gladly give space to this article.)

(By R. C. Johnson, Dalhart)
Just why does Pres. Roosevelt want the authority to appoint six judges to replace the six men over 70.
Should they resign or appoint six more if they do not resign?

With them there has never been any depression, drought or flood, except in name, and I believe the majority of the six in question were too old to have sensed the great peril our country was in when President Roosevelt took office.

The majority of these six planned to resign at the expiration of President Hoover's administration, but another Republican was not elected and they decided they would stick it out to save the country.
The greater portion of these six,
as a jury, had President Roosevelt convicted before the case was called for trial.

Ex-President Taft advocated resignation at 70, and too, the present judges, Hughes and McReynolds, favored retirement at 70, but now do not want to practice what they preached.

I have read in a very noted book that we are once a man and twice a child, and according to the laws of nature I believe it is true.

The facts in the case are just this: The most of the six judges have said no for about four years, to the Congress, Senate, President, and the people of the United States, to great laws needed. To understand the spirit of McReynolds, a function was given to honor President Roosevelt, and as he passed by McReynolds deliberately turned his back upon him.

The AAA has done more to bring back recovery than any other law, but if it had come up before the Supreme Court, before it was put to work, recovery would have been greatly hampered. In the great agricultural west during this drought, the lawyer, doctor, preacher, worker, merchant, and banker, as well as the rancher and farmer would have had to fold up their tents and left had it not been for the AAA.

The constitution is exceptionally dear to our people and we will fight to preserve it, but the security of our constitution is not at stake in President Roosevelt's recommendations.

If I were some men who now have a little equity in their property or business, I would be man enough to sell my business or property and turn over the proceeds to the Federal Government, and then you could consistently criticize the President's judicial reform. Senator

Carter Glass says, "I am going to fight it, but there is no use." I think he is right. The people want the judicial reform and are going to have it. President Abraham Lincoln defied the Supreme Court. President Grant appointed two additional judges, brought the Green Back question up again the same year, and the enlarged court declared it constitutional. The Congress and Senate are going to give President Roosevelt the authority he is asking, and the constitution will remain as secure as ever. There is absolutely nothing to all this ballyhoo about the destruction of the constitution.

The bar associations have almost unanimously opposed the judicial reform but a great number of our biggest and best lawyers are heartily in favor of it.

Farmers, ranchers and business men, let's vote immediately in favor of the judicial reform, for our very life depends upon progressive legislation.

REPORTS FROM THE COUNTY CLUBS

MIDWAY H. D. CLUB

Roll call of the Midway Home Demonstration Club at Mrs. I. M. Draper's on March 11 at 3:30 p. m. was answered by each one present giving a recipe containing much milk.

While scoring the sample of milk furnished by each member, Miss Boyd, the agent, told the women that "very often the strainers used are of the wrong type." She showed one of the proper kind.

Miss Boyd gave demonstrations on the making of Neufchatel cheese and processed cottage cheese. Each one was given these and other printed recipes.

Mrs. I. M. Draper served hot chocolate and cookies to Mesdames F. T. Taylor, R. L. Littlepage, G. A. Edwards, R. J. Slover, Pete Curry, Howard Draper, J. C. Wells, Sam H. Floyd, members, Miss Boyd, and Mrs. M. S. Smeltzer, a visitor from South Ward community.

MIDWAY 4-H CLUB

If you want your eyes, hair and complexion to show up pretty, you must wear suitable colors, Miss Boyd told the Midway 4-H Club girls at the home of Mrs. Littlepage Thursday, March 11, at 1 o'clock.

There have been five slips handed in. We will try to have all of them in by next meeting.

Miss Boyd also showed us some stylish patterns.

The members present were: Nieto, Marcilene, and Ioaphene Stephens, Evelyn and Mary Louise McDonald, Beesie and Mary Louise Rainey, Ruth and Irene Grider, Opal and Letha Johnson, Reba Phillips, and Clara Lee Henry.

NEW HOME 4-H CLUB

The New Home 4-H Club met March 12 with our County Agent, Miss Lillith Boyd, and our sponsor, Mrs. Boswell Edwards.

Miss Boyd talked to us and showed us the colors that are most suitable to our complexion and hair.

Some of the members of the club demonstrated their dress slips and hand towels.

We are anxious that our parents know and see the work that our club is doing. So we are preparing our work for the school exhibit, which will be in the very near future.

NEW LYNN H. D. CLUB

"Good care of the teeth is essential to good health," said Mrs. J. B. Hoskins at the New Lynn H. D. club meeting at Mrs. C. C. Coffee's Tuesday afternoon, March 16.

Especially should children's teeth be carefully looked after, as many diseases are contracted through decayed teeth, and one cannot properly chew their food with sore or aching teeth. The mother should use a small tooth brush on baby's teeth and see that they are cleaned properly even after the child is old enough to care for its own teeth.

The club meets April 6 with Mrs. C. B. Caviness.

There is a call meeting at Mrs. C. C. Coffee's March 23.

Mrs. Luther Reed and Mrs. John Meeks are new members of the club.

Visitors present were: Mrs. Tom Stone and Mrs. J. M. Spears. Members present: Mmes. Tommie Baker, Newman Bartley, Roy Kelly, R. W. Barton, P. K. Fleming, C. C. Coffee, C. B. Caviness, E. B. Terry, Susie Bartley, Charles Taylor, and J. B. Hoskins.

EDITH 4-H CLUB

"We usually think of blondes wearing blue, green and lavender," said Miss Boyd at a meeting of the Edith 4-H Club on March 12.

All members have completed their pot-holders and towels. All slips but four have been handed in.

All members were present and brought their sewing boxes.

NEW HOME H. D. CLUB

"Dairy Products" was the subject used for demonstration by Miss Lillith Boyd Friday, March 12 at the New Home H. D. Club in the home of Mrs. Boswell Edwards.

Neufchatel cheese was made by Miss Boyd. This type of cheese is possibly the quickest type made. After the whole milk has clabbered, the whey is pressed from the curds, putting the curds in a cloth and pressing until the curds are dry. After the curds have been pressed add some factory cheese. Work until smooth. Add salt to taste. Neufchatel cheese may be served plain, ground pimientos, or a mixture of chopped olives and nuts are often added to give variety.

Those present were: Mesdames Joe Poindexter, H. A. Parris, Henry Heck, J. R. Strain, and Boswell Edwards.

RELATIVE DIES IN MISSOURI W. E. Suddarth and daughters, Ruth and Betty, were notified Tuesday night of the death at Schell City, Mo., of the late Mrs. Suddarth's father, Mr. James Davis.

The aged man made the trip out here two weeks ago to be present at Mrs. Suddarth's funeral, and was apparently in his usual good health. No details of his illness were available, but it is supposed that the shock of her unexpected death and the strain of the long trip and funeral were too much for him.

He had passed his 90th birthday. Friends here join with us in extending sympathy to the bereaved family.—O'Donnell Index.

W. B. Bishop, who is now connected with the district unemployment office at Big Spring, was here several days last week and this, having been called by the serious illness and later the death of Mrs. M. M. Redwine. Mr. Bishop has been giving study to various lines of Government service and is being steadily promoted, to the gratification of many friends here.

A Coffey of Lubbock, a Texas Utilities employee, was a visitor in the Utilities office here Wednesday.

New Oil Test On Lynn-Terry Line

A new oil test will be started in eastern Terry county, just over the Lynn county line at an early date, according to announcement made from Midland Saturday.

Location has been tentatively made in the center of the north-west quarter of section 28, block A-1, E. L. Survey. This is about five miles south of Highway 84, about eight or nine miles southwest of the Hart test in western Lynn county, and eleven miles northeast of the recently completed Lewright test in southeastern Terry county.

The location is two and one-half miles south of the old Superior-Kingsland hole in section 7, which was abandoned in 1929. It is on a M. Brownfield land. M. R. Hemphill of Brownfield has assembled a 23-section block, leases of which are in escrow, and together with H. B. Anthony of New York City and E. R. Rice of Los Angeles, is selling spreads to finance drilling of well.

Plans are to drill the new test to a depth of 5,500 feet, unless oil in paying quantities is found at a less depth than that, drilling to start within 45 days. Rotary drill will be used to around 4,500 feet, and then a switch made to cable tools.

The Lewright test, W. L. Pickens No. 1, which had attracted considerable interest among the oil fraternity, has been declared a failure when sulphur water was struck. The test was ten miles northwest of the Ray Albaugh discovery well in Dawson county.

FOUR-YEAR-OLD GRANDSON OF N. M. BRAYS IS NEWSBOY

Mrs. Tom Garrard this week brought to the News office a clipping from the Longview News-Journal containing the photograph and an interesting story of Master Macyl Ray Weeks, the four-year-old son of the late Mrs. Noel D. Bray Weeks and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Bray, all formerly of Tahoka.

Mr. and Mrs. Bray moved from Tahoka to Longview several years ago, where their daughter, Miss Noel D., married. She died two or three years ago leaving two small sons, and this clipping concerns the older one.

"Master Macyl Ray Weeks, four-year-old grandson of Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Bray, is the youngest member of the circulation department of the Longview News-Journal. He is an unusually bright child. Before he was three years old he knew the books of both the New and the Old Testament. He takes a great interest in all kinds of business; he waits on most of the customers in his grandfather's store and knows most of the traveling salesmen who make this territory. He is personally acquainted with most of the railroad men who make their runs into Longview. He sells the Longview News-Journal and likes it better than anything he does."

N. M. Bray of Longview was here a few days this week. He resided here several years and hence that little sandstorm we had Wednesday did not bother him a bit—except making him just a little bit homesick for the West again. Mr. Bray is now operating a general mercantile business in Longview.

Congressmen Are Not Only Offenders

(Dallas Times-Herald)

Appalled by the huge amount of money expended during the 1936 campaign, the senate expenditures committee has made a series of drastic recommendations for curbing political slush funds.

One recommendation is worthy of special note. It calls for revision of the postal regulations that govern the free mailing of political matter by members of congress. This has reference to the abuse of the franking privilege.

Congressmen are not the only officials in Washington who flood the mails with franked matter. Tons of pamphlets, booklets, reports and letters are sent out in all directions by department heads. This matter not only congests the mails but keeps the government printing presses running at high speed.

It is constructive for the various departments and bureaus to give the public reports on what they are doing, provided such reports are truthful. But the volume of franked mail is so great that most of it lands in the wastebasket. While criticizing the abuse of the postal system by senators and representatives, the committee might well recommend thorough revision of the whole franking privilege system.

Court Attending Lubbock Meeting

County Judge P. W. Goad and the entire commissioners court consisting of O. W. Small, Waldo McLaurin, Sam Holland, and Tom Hale, went to Lubbock Thursday afternoon to attend the West Texas County Judges and Commissioners Convention which opened there Thursday night.

The convention will be in session throughout Friday and Saturday. Among the notables who will address the convention are Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of the Texas Tech, Claude Teer, chairman of the board of control, Robert Lee Bobbitt, chairman of the state highway commission, and William McCraw, attorney general of Texas.

Mrs. Dr. Emil Prohl of Fort Worth was here Tuesday and Wednesday visiting the Doctor. She and their little daughter will return soon to make their home in Tahoka.

J. R. McIntyre was able to be up Wednesday after having been confined to his room several days with the flu. He reports that Mrs. McIntyre has been ill with the flu for two weeks.

Club and Church News

CHURCH OF CHRIST NOTES
It was mighty cold for cold members to attend worship last Lord's Day, but despite this fact the attendance was fair at O'Donnell at both services.

How many church member's attendance is governed by circumstances and how trivial things will keep them away!

I wish some one would please tell me why members will not attend Sunday night service any more, and also give me a recipe for getting them there. I will sure use it if it is in line with the Bible.

A fine definition for a Christian gentleman: "He is above a mean thing, will not stoop to fraud. He betrays no secret, confided to his keeping and takes no selfish advantage of another's mistakes. He never struts in borrowed plumage and is not one thing to a man's face and another behind his back. He buys no office and sells none, and eats only honest bread."

I will fill the pulpit here next Lord's Day. May we see you in the audience? Remember, it may be your last one on earth. The friendly church with welcome on the door mat.—R. P. Drennon.

Remission Of Taxes Is Opposed

Austin, March 11.—Although the house voted today, 84 to 36, for final passage of a bill to remit to all counties their state ad valorem tax collections for general revenue purposes, the proposal was certain to encounter stiff opposition in the senate.

The remission would be for five years, starting with tax payments at the end of this year. It would deprive the state treasury of approximately $8,500,000 annually.

Governor Allred said at the start of the current session that the legislature should provide approximately $13,000,000 a year in additional revenue. That figure would become $21,500,000 if the senate should approve the remission proposal. The house already had passed an oil tax bill which would raise an additional $15,000,000, with sulphur and corporation franchise tax increases on the calendar.

The counties would use the remitted money to reduce tax rates or finance soil conservation, flood control, lateral road building, and other activities permitted by the constitution. The money would apply to county tax reduction unless the voters decided otherwise.

Rep. Fred Mauritz of Ganado, the bill's author, said the counties needed the money worse than the state. He said it was unfair for the legislature to make tax remissions to a large number of counties and not include all of them.

$7,000 ATTENDING W. F. A. ADULT CLASSES IN TEXAS

San Antonio.—Approximately half of the more than 87,000 students attending Works Progress Administration adult classes in Texas are receiving assistance from the government in the form of work relief, a recently completed survey of the WPA classes discloses.

"This indicates to us that thousands and forced by circumstances to accept work relief assignments are attempting to better their earning capacity by taking advantage of WPA educational opportunities for adults," declared Works Progress Administrator H. P. Drought. "It is interesting also to note that eighteen per cent of the adult students come from the ranks of the unemployed."

Thirty-five per cent of those now attending WPA classes were illiterate at the time of enrollment. The remainder are studying courses which range from grammar school level to early college work.

Approximately half of the students are of Anglo-Saxon lineage, 29 per cent are Negroes, 19 per cent are Mexicans, and the remainder are classified in twenty different racial categories.

WARNING MADE AGAINST SOCIAL SECURITY SCHOOLS

San Antonio.—The Social Security Board has issued a warning against lavish promises made by self-styled "social security correspondence schools" and mail-order "training courses which prepare you for social security jobs."

Oscar M. Powell, regional director of the Board, said such courses are being offered by mail and personal solicitation, in some cases by salesmen posing as government representatives.

"I should like to emphasize," Powell said, "that all positions of the types which are being so advertised must be filled both for Washington and the field offices by persons who have civil service status. The permanent organization of the Board is now well established, yet I understand there are now on file more than 35,000 applications for positions.

"Civil service requirements must be met, regardless of the number or type of courses of instruction completed. Those who offer courses with a direct or implied promise that they will automatically lead to positions with the Board are either wilfully deluding their prospects or are unacquainted with the qualifications necessary for appointment," Powell declared.

The Civil Service Commission, it was said, is prepared to report instances in which there is unlawful misrepresentation of facts, to appropriate federal authorities. Powell also pointed out that the Social Security Board does not make appointments to state agencies administering Federal-State programs under the Social Security Act. These appointments are made directly through the state agency.

Grades

Perhaps many of us have never really thought about what grades mean to us. To the lazy person they mean that perhaps he has barely passed his courses. To the person who really wants to learn for the sake of knowledge, grades are a gauge of his success in learning. Some people say that grades are not an accurate gauge of one's ability or capacity to learn. This may be true, but they are a more or less accurate measure of one's ability coupled with the sincere desire to learn. We may have a great ability for learning and yet not have energy to use it. A person who can learn and will not try deserves no sympathy when failures come.

Good grades bring a person a great deal of satisfaction in the knowledge of work well done. Perhaps many times we have looked on persons who make good grades with envy. Because of this their positions are often not enviable ones. Let us remember that grades are only a measure of or an indication of hard work and not a cause for jealousy or dislike. Let us all strive to make better records in the future so that the reputation of our school will be an excellent one.

Honor Roll

The honor roll for the fourth six weeks period consisting of those students who averaged ninety or better in four or more subjects is as follows:

Lois Montgomery 96.
 Mary M. Tunnell, 95 3-8.
 Jo Alice Brooks, 95.
 Edith Robertson, 93 1/2.
 Max Minor, 93 1/2.
 Charles Gagnat, 92 1/2.

There were seven students who made ninety or better in three subjects.

There were nine students who made ninety or better in two subjects. There were thirty-two students who made ninety or better in one subject.

Seventh Grade Report

Plans have been made for three volley ball games, on next Wednesday night, March 17. These games are to be with teams from Dixie, New Home, and New Lynn. ## Farley Takes Second Term Oath

In the presence of every high official in the Post Office Department, James A. Farley today took the oath of office for a second time as Postmaster General in Roosevelt's Cabinet. The oath was administered by Owen A. Keen, Chief Clerk of the Department. The brief ceremony took place in the office of the Postmaster General.

The Postmaster General is the only member of the Cabinet who is appointed for a stated period. His term, fixed by law, is for and during the term of the President by whom he is appointed, and for one month thereafter, unless sooner removed.

Among those present at the ceremonies were William W. Howes, First Assistant Postmaster General, Harlee Branch, Second Assistant Postmaster General, Roy M. North, Acting Third Assistant Postmaster General, Smith W. Purdum, Fourth Assistant Postmaster General, Karl A. Crowley, Solicitor of the Post Office Department, Harrison Parkman, Purchasing Agent, William L. Slattery, Comptroller of the Department, J. Austin Latimer, Special Assistant to the Postmaster General, William C. Lyons, Administrative Assistant to the Postmaster General, and Williams J. Bray, Secretary to the Postmaster General.

At the conclusion of the ceremonies Postmaster General Farley replied to inquiries from newspapermen that he had no comment to make with reference to reports that he will, shortly, retire from the Cabinet.

Mr. Farley told the members of the press that he was not in favor of the return of two-cent postage on first-class mail until such time as the postal service can be conducted without imposing an additional burden on the taxpayers. He indicated that this would take two or three years.

HOUSTON TO CORPUS CHRISTI AIR MAIL URGED

Washington, March 10th.—Karl Crowley, post office department solicitor, had said today the department hoped to inaugurate a "much needed" air mail service "very soon" between Houston, Texas, and Corpus Christi, Texas.

He made the statement at the conclusion of a hearing on applications of Braniff Airways, Inc., and Eastern Air Lines to provide mail and passenger schedules as extensions to their existing routes.

LIFE-SPAN OF INDIVIDUAL LENGTHENED LAST 35 YEARS

Austin.—"Adult life has been lengthened materially during the past thirty-five years. However, the gain largely has been made in the age bracket below the forty-five year limit. The reason for this lies in the great progress made by medical science in preventing infant mortality. Or to express it otherwise, little folks, on the average, will live fifteen or more years longer than was the case prior to 1901. While undoubtedly this is a magnificent achievement, it serves also to indicate that the obligation of the middle-aged and older, to be reasonably concerned about their health and life prospects, still entirely is justified," states Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

"The truth is that the increase in deaths from heart, kidney, and blood vessel conditions not only has been responsible for blocking an extension to life for the average person who has reached the half-way mark but, from a statistical standpoint, to an extent has neutralized the successful inroads that have been made against tuberculosis and some of the other devastating diseases. And it is right here where personal interest should be more active than it is today.

"Faulty living habits perhaps more often are responsible for a prematurely shortened life than is any other single factor. The stepping up of life's tempo and the exertions associated therewith too frequently prove so absorbing and time-consuming that little, if any, thought is given to the real business of life which is to get out of it in terms of health, happiness, and longevity as much as one possibly can.

The family physician should be the counsellor in this connection. Too often, persons wait until they are ill before taking the doctor into their confidence. And sometimes, it is then too late. Indeed, it should be stressed that sound medical advice on how to keep well, and the early professional detection of an unsuspected condition can mean many added years of usefulness.

Who Pays For Advertising?

CONTRARY to public opinion it is not the advertiser himself, because if he did so the incentive for extensive advertising would be lost.

Does the consumer pay the cost? Certainly not. If he could buy more economically from the non-advertiser he would do so. Most people prefer and demand advertised products, and buy locally from consistent advertisers.

THE NON-ADVERTISER ALWAYS PAYS THE BILL!

Seemingly a paradox, the statement is nevertheless true. Advertising is paid for in increased volume and the volume comes from business taken away from competitors.

The cost of investment in advertising is not added to the cost of the product because the advertising increases his sales, and sells at a corresponding saving because he enjoys quantity, quick turn-over, and actually makes more money on a smaller margin of profit due to the increased volume.

Early Days On The Singleton Ranch

By Miss Billie Brandon
Mr. and Mrs. Hal Singleton, Sr., of O'Donnell, tell some interesting things about the early days in the country where the present community of Newmoore is located.
In 1896, Mr. Willie Singleton and a cook came to this country and settled on land that had never been occupied by white men before. They built a crude shack and lived there nine months without seeing another human being. Later, Mr. Samuel Singleton, father of Willie, came out here.
Their water supply came from "mud-holes where the cattle drank." Sam spent $19,000 digging for water, including several wells and large tanks. Among these were the old "Three Windmill" near the present Newmoore gin, the "North Tank" near Herman Webb's present home, and the "West Tank" near Mr. Nelson's home. Here they dug two wells and tunneled them together. They also dammed up the Gooch Lake.
As time went on other settlers came. Chicago, a little country village was built a mile west of where Lamesa now stands. There they got their mail. The trading center, however, was Big Spring.
The early settlers' chief foods were sour dough bread and meats. Meat was obtained by killing wild animals such as deer and antelope. In addition to beef, which they raised.

One dish called "Son-uv-a-Gun" was made by a combination of the liver, heart, and other parts of the beef. In the summer, these pioneers kept their beef by wrapping it in a slicker and putting it under the bed in the daytime, and at night putting it on top of the house.
In the summer the winds were so hot, men wore masks over their faces for protection. They slept in "sugins" out in the open. There was no bother from the house fly which we now have, but they had buffalo gnats.
Wildlife on the range was very abundant. There were deer, antelope, badgers, bobcats, wolves, rabbits, and various kinds of fowls. The rattlesnake was an ever present menace.
The lobo wolves were such a nuisance to the cattlemen they kept greyhounds to kill them. The wolves would kill and eat them.
Hal Singleton, Sr., relates an instance when he and some others were going to Big Spring. They saw seven lobo wolves eating a grown steer.
The range was covered with fine grass. In places it grew over knee high.
The Singletons ran 10,000 head of cattle, 500 registered cattle, and 200 head of horses.
Corrals were built to catch the horses. Wings were made extending about a half-mile from the corral forming a V-shaped lane leading to the gate. The cowboys would drive the horses into the corral and close the gate.
Some of their brands were—S (Slash—L), HS, and LS; and the registered brand was a lazy S.
When round-up time came each year, a chuck wagon was taken along to feed the cattlemen and cowboys. The cattlemen would gather at one place and help with the branding, etc., then go on to another place.

These cowboys were not adverse to a practical joke. Once they went to Big Spring and got some whiskey. There was a "tenderfoot" on the ranch, and he found the whiskey and drank some. The boys smelling it on him, began to look for the "dog poison". They asked the "tenderfoot" if he had seen anything of it. The "tenderfoot" replied that he hadn't seen the "dog poison" but he had seen some whiskey. They had the "tenderfoot" to show them the whiskey, and when he did so they told him that was the "dog poison" that he had drunk and that it would surely kill him. The poor victim was scared half to death. He begged the men to save his life. They told him if he would drink a lot of sweet milk it would help him. So the poor fellow drank about half a gallon of milk and was still trying to force more down when the boss came in from the North Tank and told him the truth.
Before the Singleton Ranch was broken up into farms, a large ranch house and a bunk house were built. J. F. Rogers, Sr., now lives at the old headquarters. The ranch extended as far south as Pride and as far east as Wells school house, north for 15 miles, and west five miles.
Several years ago the country was broken up into farms. The soil is rich and sandy, and this is a fine farming section, now thickly settled.
In 1923, Mr. Newman and Mr. Moore, two men who were instrumental in making this a farming country, had a school building erected near the old Singleton ranch headquarters. This school was called Newmoore. In 1928, the Newmoore and Slash-L school consolidated, and a modern brick building was erected between the two schools. The old school building is now used for church services.

"AFTER THE THIN MAN" COMING TO THE ENGLISH
"After the Thin Man," which is coming to the English Theatre on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, is more than just another sequel. It picks up where "The Thin Man" left off. Nick and Nora, having conquered New York, are on their way home to bustling, cosmopolitan San Francisco with its colorful, eerie Chinatown, its energetic ferries and its magnificent bridges. Nick has put his sleuthing career in moth balls for good. He and Nora want nothing but lots of peace, quiet and relaxation. It is New Year's Eve when they arrive at the door of their swank Nob Hill home.
And they walk right into a whoopee party. Half of San Francisco, society, policemen, bums, race track touts, ex-pugs and underworld friends, have dropped in to welcome them home.
The telephone rings. Over the wire, Hammett introduces Nick's headache, Nora's aristocratic family, the stuffiest group to be found outside of a museum.
Nick and Nora are invited to dinner. Selma, Nora's cousin, is in trouble. Her dissolute husband, Robert, has been missing for three days. Nora's testy aunt, an overbearing grand dame, wouldn't have anything to do with Nick, but the family honor must be kept out of the headlines.
At midnight, with Nora prodding him, Nick is at the Lichee, a Chinatown dive. Robert is found there with Polly, a singer, and Nick suspects "Dancer," owner of the cafe, with being involved in a blackmail scheme.
Robert leaves the cafe for home and shortly after is found murdered, shot to death. Selma is discovered with a gun in her hand. David who has always loved her, comes to the rescue.
The rest of the story is a deep, dark secret, the ending locked in a safe. To assure that the usual climax would not be prematurely revealed, the last three scenes were not filmed until the rest of the picture was completed.
Nothing is spared to make "After the Thin Man" the funniest, snappiest, most exciting comedy-mystery-melodrama ever screened. It is aimed at only one thing, sheer, unadulterated audience entertain-

Sentinels of Health

Don't Neglect Them!
Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood streams free of noxious waste matter. The act of living—life itself—be constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure. When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backaches, persistent headaches, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feet tired, nervous, all worn out.

Frequent, scanty or burning passages may be further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance.

The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Dr. Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval, are endorsed the country over. Just as they're sold at all drug stores.

It's Capes and Fur Trims for Spring

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

A TREMENDOUS season for suits is the foreword from all style sources. If the man-tailored classic type tunes to your individuality, wear it, for it has an accredited high-style standing among current suit modes. However, in making your selection show that you are thoroughly fashion-informed by choosing a neutral color, for neutrals with flashy, bizarre accessories is an all-important message for spring. In your quest for a fashion-first suit or ensemble it is well, too, to remember that navy is staging a spectacular comeback, with emphasis on tailored navy twills.

It is however, the "something different" urge that has taken possession of designers that is furnishing high-mark excitement in the suit realm. In creating the new models imagination is let play to the limit in the way of color, weave, silhouette and detail. The versatile expression given to softly styled suits and tailored cloth ensembles is amazing.

In this new movement to get away from the strictly mannish versions, capes and fur trims were the two brands that stood out prominently at the fashion previews recently presented by the style creators of Chicago of the wholesale audiences of stylists and merchants

OF KNITTED FABRIC

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Here is just such a type of dress as every well dressed young woman should include in her spring wardrobe. It is in itself an insurance policy guaranteeing a smart and genteel appearance no matter when and where in a day's activities, be it in the class-room, the office, commuting back and forth on the shoppers' special, going about town or taking a morning constitutional on the avenue.

Burro Ranks High

Through Mexico and the Central American states, the burro as a beast of burden ranks second only to man. The burro will scarcely carry more, though he may pack it over a greater distance. Furthermore, the burro moves along so freighted down by his cargo that one scarcely sees him, while the human cargador's burden, towering high above his shoulders, makes his herculean labor the more obvious. The cargadors of Mexico, man for who had gathered from the country over to see "what's new" for spring and summer. The models pictured were selected as being especially representative of what to expect in the way of suit and ensemble futures.

The model to the right is significant in more ways than one. This very beautiful cape costume features the idea of a one-piece dress topped with a modish cape. It is in lightweight wool in the new Dache blue. Unusual blues are the rage and this model emphasizes that fact in that the fur on the cape is fox, dyed in a delectable azure blue—which conveys a most important style message namely, that of furs dyed to match the cloth they trim. This cape will prove a joy to its owner for time to come as it will function most vigorously as a separate wrap. The dress has a skirt built up to a V in front with a belt only in the back. The bodice is enhanced by a heavily embroidered lattice-work yoke.

The two-piece cape costume centered in the trio is done in navy blue wool with white inlay at center front of dress trimmed with navy bone buttons. The belt is navy knit. The very new and smart cape has military shoulders. The imported wool fashioning it combines navy and white. In regard to the new shaggy wools that are making a fascinating play on color there is much to be said. The latest move is to fashion capes of these intriguing novelty wools coloring them with flattering fur (fox is favorite) or making them up sans fur. The idea is to wear a cape over your tailored two-piece suit.

Tucked sheer makes another cape costume as shown to the left in the illustration. This two-piece is very dressy and lovely for spring. The sheer is in mist gray. The one-piece dress has the new high neck trimmed in violet red with spaghetti bow. The belt is also trimmed in violet red. The cape has military shoulders with tuxedo bordering of fox in the same shade as the costume. Note that this stunning young girl wears her beret back on the head in answer to fashion's latest decree. The charm about the furs that trim the new suits and ensembles is that they are so subtle in tone and tint they tune harmoniously to thoughts of spring.

Smart and Pretty Blouses

No. 1271-B

Blouses, like crocuses, always bloom early in the Spring, and here are two versions that can be made from the same pattern that will brighten your wintry wardrobe just like a pot of flowers brightens a room. You can make the dressier version, with charming machine-tucked ruffling, out of an airy organdie. And the sportier blouse with revers and two buttons and a plain-edged peplum, will do nicely in a silk crepe or crisp dimity or percale. There's bouffant charm in the dropped swing-peplum and the big puffed sleeves.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1271-B is available for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. Corresponding bust measurements 30, 32, 34, 36 and 38. The dressy blouse, size 16 (34), requires 2 yards 35-inch fabric, plus 3 yards of machine pleating and the sporty one 2 3/4 yards.

Send for the Barbara Bell Spring and Summer Book containing designs of attractive, practical and becoming clothes. Exclusive fashions for children, young women and matrons. Price, 15 cents per copy.

MRS. M. M. REDWINE DIED ON LAST MONDAY NIGHT
(Cont'd. from first page)
Mrs. Nora Cox and J. M. Redwine of Lubbock, Mrs. Ella Bishop of Wilson, and Mrs. Effie Stice of Lorenzo, all of whom were at her side when she died.
In 1882, she removed with her husband from Clark county, Arkansas, to Comanche county, Texas, sharing the battles of a frontier life with him and their children. They finally settled on a ranch in Lynn county in 1904, about one year after the county was organized and the town of Tahoka founded, and then moved to Tahoka in 1913, where she made her home until her death.
Death claimed her husband, Michael M. Redwine, on January 28, 1932, since which time she shared her home with one or all of her children, who were eager, ready, and willing to administer to her wants at all times.
She united with the Methodist Church when three years of age and lived a consistent and faithful member the remainder of her life. She was a faithful companion and devoted mother, sharing impartially her devotion upon her children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren at any and all times when able to do so.
She appreciated her friends and never missed an opportunity to add to her list a new friend. Her falling trait was always to see the good side of life and people, never commenting upon the shortcomings of things.
Grandmother Redwine is dead; but long will she live in the hearts of her children and grandchildren and those who follow after them.
