660 Cars Inspected In Safety Lane Saturday

Over Half Given OK Tags, But Repairs Are Requested On Many Motor Vehicles

That Safety Lane conducted here Saturday by the state Department of Public Safety seems to have been a decided success, since 660 of the car owners of Lynn county availed themselves of the opportunity to have their cars inspected for defects. This was a considerable increase over the number of cars that ran the gauntlet here last year, when 544 cars passed through the lane.

Of the 660 cars inspected, 373 were found to be OK, while 287 were marked up defective, according to Sergeant Hammett Vance of Austin, one of the men conducting the Lane. Some of these cars, of course, had more than one defect.

There were 192 cars having defective brakes, 156 with defective lights, 100 with defective windshield wipers, 68 with defective horns, 16 with defective mufflers, and only one with defective steering gear.

Many of the defective cars were taken to workshops for repairs Saturday afternoon. Deputy Sheriff Norvel Redwine and City Marshal Milt Finch will re-check these defective cars to determine if they have been repaired. Sergeant Vance announced. The Sergeant expressed his appreciation of the cooperation given by local officers in conducting this inspection.

Those here Saturday representing the Department of Public Safety were: Captain W. W. Legg, Sgt. Hammett Vance, Sgt. Ross Dickey, L. P. McCasland, J. C. Ferguson, Jack Reaves, W. E. Renfro, Weldon Lawson, and Tom Tidmore. Local officers assisting were Norvel Redwine, Milt Finch, and W. M. Lee.

Propose Oil Test In Draw Area

A mass meeting of land owners in that section of the county was scheduled to meet at Draw school house last night (Thursday) to discuss the blocking of lease for the purpose of drilling an oil test.

A representative of parties interested in making the proposed test was present to present plans for the well.

Though several oil test have been made in western Lynn county, this would be the first test in the east half. Some leasing has been done east of Tahoka the last few months.

Mayor Of Roscoe Is Victim Of Shooting

Arthur J. Parker, 51, mayor of Roscoe, was shot and mortally wounded last Friday afternoon by Bill Dawson, 58, night watchman, on a street in Roscoe.

Five shots were fired, it is claimed, three of them taking effect. One entered the chest and passed near the heart, one went into the stomach, and one passed through the shoulder. A .32 caliber pistol was used by the assailant.

After being shot Parker walked unaided to a hospital 50 yards away, where he received treatment. He died about 3 o'clock Sunday morning.

Dawson surrendered his pistol to X. B. Sanders, a business man whose place of business is situated just across the street from the scene of the shooting. Sanders, who for many years was city marshal, saw some of the shots and rushed across the street to disarm the perpetrator of the crime.

Parker had been mayor of Roscoe for 15 of the last 17 years. Dawson had been night watchman for the past two years. Early in the year, the city council had asked him to resign, but he refused. They reduced his salary, but he still held on. About Thursday of last week, Mayor Parker notified him by written notice that he had been discharged, and the shooting followed. Parker was unarmed.

Rural Districts Sign For Lights

The campaign to get subscribers to the rural electrification project being promoted in this county will come to a close next Tuesday.

The farmers of the county have responded to the proposition in a most gratifying manner, according to County Agent V. F. Jones and his assistant, C. A. Lawrence.

The communities which have been canvassed out of Tahoka are: Wilson, Gordon, Morgan, Magnolia, Grassland, Redwine, Draw, Jos Bailey, O'Donnell, Wells, Edith, Dixie, and a part of Midway. The canvass has not been completed at New Lynn and in the vicinity of Tahoka. Lakeview and New Home have been canvassed as a part of the Meadow project.

190 Pensioners In Lynn County

There are 190 persons in Lynn county receiving Old Age Assistance from the State, according to County Clerk H. C. Story. This is an increase of 25 over the number of those who received such assistance during the month of January. There were 165 on the rolls in January, 186 in February, 190 in March, and 190 in April.

The average payment to these old age "pensioners" for the four months has been as follows: January, $16.63; February, $16.57; March, $16.61; April, $16.46.

Total payments to Lynn county citizens for these four months were as follows: January, $2,745; February, $3,082; March, $3,157; April, $3,128, the total for the four months being $12,112. Half of these funds came from the State and half from the Federal Government.

A comparatively small portion of the funds were raised from a stamp tax. The State requires that a stamp be placed on certain kinds and classes of instruments filed for record in the office of the county clerk in each county. Revenues amounting to $423 have been collected in this county by Mr. Story from this source since the first of January, and he has just purchased from the state treasurer, Charley Lockhart, additional stamps to the amount of $609 to be used on instruments filed hereafter in his office.

Boy Scouts Are Having Outing

In company with M. L. Penn, retiring Scoutmaster, six Tahoka Boy Scouts and one visiting Scout visited Camp Post near the city on Post Monday where a scout encampment is being held.

The company consisted of Kenneth Ross, Claude Sliver, Wilbert Finch, Herbert Womack, Al J. Barnes, and C. W. Conway Jr., all of Tahoka, and J. D. Bacon of Skidmore, Bee county, who is here visiting C. W.

The boys found 77 Scouts in the encampment there this week, representing troops at Lubbock, Lamesa, and Ralls.

Tahoka Boy Scouts will be in camp there next week, together with other scouts from Plainview, Hale Center, Olton, Littlefield, Sudan, Mulshoe, Levelland, Brownfield, Ropesville, Post, O'Donnell, and Matador. Possibly other troops that have not attended one of the other camp sessions will also attend, according to Marshall Mason, Camp Chairman.

Parents need not hesitate about sending their boys to camp because of the heavy rains and inclement weather as the new Camp Mess Hall and ranch house afford adequate facilities to protect the Scouts from any kind of weather.

This will conclude the regular Scout Camp periods at Camp Post. All Scouts and leaders who have not already made their reservations to attend this period should do so by sending $1.00 preliminary registration fee which will be applied on the camp fee to the Boy Scout Office, 413 Myrick Building, Lubbock.

Preston Stramer has accepted employment as a truck driver at Lamesa.

Rotary Governor Fred Wemple Is Speaker Here

Makes Fine Address At Tahoka Club; Mack Penn Offers His Resignation

District Governor Fred Wemple of Midland was the principal speaker at the Rotary luncheon here Thursday. He gave an earnest practical talk concerning the work and the ideals of Rotary that must have been helpful and inspiring to every Rotarian present.

M. L. Penn, president of the local Rotary Club, read his resignation as a member of the club, since he is to leave our town for another field within the next few days, expressing his appreciation of the club and of the people of Tahoka.

Tom Garrard, a former fellow-townsmen and a long-time friend of Governor Fred Wemple, arose and paid a most beautiful tribute to that gentleman.

Upon motion a standing vote of thanks and appreciation was given to Governor Fred and President Mack for their fine services, and of regret that Mack is to leave.

A financial report was given by the secretary, Dr. Kenneth R. Durham, showing the Rotary treasury to be in a healthy condition.

Will Order Survey Hwy. 84 East

The prospects are that the surveying of highway No. 84 east of Tahoka may be begun within the next few weeks, according to County Judge P. W. Goad.

Judge Goad says that he was informed by District Engineer G. M. Garrett of Lubbock a few days ago that if the commissioners court would pass an order guaranteeing right-of-way, the highway department would be ready to begin making survey promptly thereafter.

The commissioners court will meet next Monday, when it is expected that this matter will be given attention.

Work on this highway west of Tahoka is progressing steadily. The laying of caliche has reached a point twelve miles west of Tahoka. It is expected that this job will be finished before the first of August. If so, it is hoped that at least one coat of topping may be placed some time in the fall.

Contract was recently let for the placing of the asphalt base preservative on 11.6 miles of this highway extending from Brownfield to the Lynn county line.

Caliche work on this section of the highway is not yet quite finished but will be finished soon. When finished, it is expected that about two dozen of the WPA workers on this project will be transferred to the Lynn county end of the road.

The progress that is being made on highway 84 west of Tahoka is very gratifying to the people of this county, and the prospects of beginning work east of Tahoka at an early date will be even more gratifying, for it will serve more people.

Leslies Transferred To Quitaque

Roy Leslie, local manager of the West Texas Gas Company, received notice from headquarters this week that he is to be moved from this place to Quitaque and the Quitaque manager is to take his place here. The exchange, it is understood, is to be made some time next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie have been here just a little more than five years. He has been so efficient and accommodating in his administration of the affairs of the office and both of them have become so intertwined in the life of our town and community, that our citizenship feels like protesting strenuously against their removal. We have been wondering if the Company might not yet be prevailed upon to permit them to remain here.

Mr. Leslie's scheduled successor, C. M. Walden, has been manager at Quitaque for nine years. He and his wife have two children. Mr. Leslie began work for the Company under him several years ago.

Heavy Rains And Hail Visited County During The Past Week

New Oil Survey Crew In Tahoka

A crew of fourteen men, said to be representing the Continental Oil Company, came to Tahoka early this week to make a seismograph survey of this county.

Work was to begin Wednesday. It is expected that it will require several months for them to make a complete survey of the county.

As has been the case heretofore, the workers have found it difficult to find houses and apartments for their families, twelve of the fourteen men being married men.

The crew came to this county from Lamesa, where they have just completed a survey of Dawson county.

Several of the other major oil companies have made surveys of this county before, and some of these companies, it is understood, have leased quite a bit of acreage in the county.

Whether there will be any drilling in this county at any time soon yet remains to be seen.

Delinquent Tax Bill Is Passed

Delinquent taxes may hereafter be paid by installment or in partial payments, in accordance with a law enacted at the regular session of the legislature.

Senator G. H. Nelson this week sent a copy of this measure to the News with the request that we advise the people as to its provisions.

"On and after July 1, 1937," says the law, "taxpayers owing delinquent state and county taxes, covering both real estate and personal property, shall be permitted to pay such delinquent taxes in partial payments."

All payments under this Act shall be due and payable within twenty months from the date of July 1, 1937, such payments being due and payable in ten monthly installments, provided that the first payment shall be made on or before September 1, 1937.

No payment for less than $1.00 will be accepted, and no partial payment account for delinquent taxes totaling less than $10.00 will be opened.

The county tax assessor and collector can doubtless give any further information that may be desired respecting this new law.

Many in this county who owe delinquent taxes will doubtless take advantage of the installment plan of payment under the new law, since many are able to pay their taxes in small installments who are not able to pay them in a lump sum.

Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Botkin and daughter, Ida Christine, drove down to Gatesville Saturday to spend a few days visiting relatives.

Montgomery Girls Working On M. A.

Misses Grace and Marietta Montgomery, who received their B. A. degrees at the close of the regular term of the Texas Technological College, have entered the summer school of that institution and are doing post-graduate work. These fine young ladies have no thought of quitting college until they receive their Master's degrees.

Miss Lois Montgomery, who was a member of the graduating class of the Tahoka High School the past year and received her diploma two weeks ago, is planning to enter some college this fall.

It is unusual for so many daughters in the same family to have an ambition to go to the top in the educational world, and their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Montgomery, have ample reason to be proud of them.

Mr. A. B. Griffith, principal of the school at Edith the past year, has ordered the paper sent to him in Denton during the summer.

Wilson, New Home Schools Close

The public schools at Wilson and New Home had their closing exercises last week, being the last schools in the county to close.

S. G. Anthony is superintendent at Wilson and J. T. Carter at New Home. Both have been re-elected to their respective positions for another year.

Horse Racing Is On Way Out

The law permitting race-track gambling which resulted in the establishment of Arlington Downs between Dallas and Fort Worth, Alamo Downs at San Antonio, and track near Houston, was repealed last Saturday, when the lower house of the legislature quickly approved the repeal bill which had been passed by the senate.

Senator Nelson of this district was author of the repeal measure. Bradbury of Abilene had introduced a like measure in the house. The Bradbury bill was adopted by an overwhelming vote in the house and sent to the senate. The repeal measure had hard sledding in that body. The Senate was almost equally divided on the issue and every obstruction imaginable was thrown in the way of its passage. Nelson and two or three other senators led the fight for it.

Following the passage of the repeal measure, Governor Allred submitted to the legislature the matter of prohibiting gambling on dog races and other forms of gambling.

Gambling on the horse races had grown into a monstrous evil. According to the Dallas News, $68,000,000 flowed through the pari-mutuel windows since betting on the races was legalized in this state a few years ago.

Tom Garrard Calls Farmer Meeting

Hon. Tom Garrard, chairman of the Lynn County Agricultural Association, has called a mass meeting of farmers to be held in the courthouse here Saturday afternoon June 19. His call follows:

To all members of the Agricultural Association and those interested in agricultural problems: A mass meeting of the farmers of Lynn county is hereby called to meet at the court house in Tahoka at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, June 19, to discuss contemplated agricultural legislation now pending in Congress and other matters of vital importance to agriculture.—Tom Garrard, Chm. Lynn County Agricultural Association.

ATTEND FAMILY REUNION

Superintendent W. O. Barrett and family attended a reunion of the Barrett families and some of the collateral kin held last Sunday in a wayside park on highway No. 7 twelve miles this side of Snyder.

Mr. Barrett's mother of Anson proposed the reunion, the first of its kind the family has had, and he declares that it was a decided success. Barrett families were there from Anson, Lamesa, Wheeler, Tahoka, and other places. One of the relatives from Dallas was there, and more than 70 in all were present.

Nice shade and other conveniences together with an abundance of good things to eat added much to the pleasure of the occasion, but of course the main thing was the reunion itself of the many members of the Barrett families.

SINGING AT REDWINE

Announcement is made that the Southeastern Lynn County Singing convention will be held at Redwine next Sunday afternoon, beginning at 3 o'clock. The public is cordially invited.

Some Damage Is Done To Crops By Storms

Crop Prospects Good, Though Some Farmers Replanting Cotton And Feed

Hail wrought considerable destruction in several comparatively small localities in Lynn county Monday afternoon, while heavy rains probably did more damage.

One of the localities visited by hail was the West Point neighborhood. A few crops in that vicinity were either destroyed or badly damaged. Robert Noble, perhaps, was the greatest sufferer. Hailstones of immense size fell at his place and on some of the neighboring farms. One stone was picked up that is said to have measured 11 inches in circumference, while stones as large as tennis balls are said to have been numerous. Most of the stones were rough and jagged. They were too scattering, however, to work much damage. C. T. Tankersley says that they made great indentations where they struck the ground in his field. Horses poited by the stones became wildly excited. "One of those large stones would have killed a horse if it had struck him on the head," Mr. Tankersley thought. But it was the smaller stones that did most damage to crops.

Quite a bit of damage was also done in the Three Lakes and T-Bar neighborhoods. The hail and heavy rains have made it necessary for much of the cotton in these neighborhoods to be planted over. W. M. Waldrep of T-Bar was here Tuesday morning buying seed with which to replant his crop. Damage to crops in the Midway community was also reported, though the acreage that must be replanted, we understand is small. A terrific rain fell in the vicinity of O'Donnell, necessitating the replanting of much cotton. Only 21 of an inch fell in Tahoka.

In the neighborhood of Ropes and Meadow, which are in Hockley and Terry counties respectively, much havoc is said to have been wrought by a terrific storm. Heavy rains also fell in Lynn county on Thursday night of last week. Last week's issue of the Lynn County News was scarcely off the press when rain began to fall. For fifteen or twenty minutes it literally came down in torrents, something like an inch of water falling in that brief period of time. The total rainfall that afternoon and night measured 1.54 inches. The streets of Tahoka were rivers of water for several hours following the rain, and next morning there was much water in the lakes.

While considerable acreage in the county had not been planted when these rains began, and while many crops are being planted over following the rains, yet the major portion of the crops are up and growing. The prospect for both feed and cotton are fine. Farmers and business men generally are hopeful of one of the best crops in the history of the county.

Miss Dudgeon Is Honor Graduate

San Marcos, June 10—Edna Dudgeon of Tahoka was elected to final or graduate membership in the Texas Iota Chapter of Alpha Chi, National Honor Society, of Southwest Texas State Teachers College.

Miss Dudgeon, a member of the spring graduating class, received a Bachelor of Science degree from the college June 1 when announcement of her election to Alpha Chi was made. She had previously been elected to the society as a junior and a senior during her enrollment.

Carroll Edwards reports a very heavy rain but not enough hail to hurt in the Three Lakes community Monday. Everybody was planting over but he thought prospects for a good cotton crop were good enough.

Windsor and Wallis Are Married, Anglican Church Outwitted—Tax Dodging by the Rich to Be Investigated—House Rebels Yield.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD © Western Newspaper Union.

EDWARD, duke of Windsor, and Mrs. Wallis Warfield, the American woman for whom he gave up his throne, were married in the Chateau de Candé, Monts, France, and are now spending their honeymoon at Wasserleeburg castle in lower Austria. Almost at the last moment the Church of England was outwitted by the action of an obscure provincial clergyman from the north of England, and the civil ceremony performed by the mayor of Monts was followed by a religious wedding conducted by that same minister, Rev. Robert Anderson Jardine, in flat defiance of the protests of the leaders of the church.

Duchess of Windsor

Sixteen principal guests were present in the chateau when Mayor Mercier, pronouncing the English names with difficulty, and speaking in French, performed the civil ceremony and pronounced the duke and Wallis man and wife. Vicar Jardine, who had volunteered his services, recited the solemn religious rites as prescribed by the church, the duke placed the ring on the duchess' fourth finger, and they knelt on white silk cushions while the minister prayed. Throughout the entire service the famous organist, Marcel Dupré, played softly. The duchess, who cannot be called "her royal highness," wore a gown of Wallis blue and the correspondents privileged to be present were agreed that she was a beautiful, gracious and serene woman. The Chateau de Candé, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Badaux of New York, was lavishly decorated with flowers. Wedding presents were numerous, of course, and some of the richest were sent by members of the British royal family.

Vicar Jardine was reproved by the church dignitaries for performing the religious ceremony, but the Bishop of Fulham, who has jurisdiction over Anglican church affairs in France, after sending a telegram of protest, admitted the vicar might not be disciplined. He insisted the only valid service Mr. Jardine could perform was benediction after the marriage. All Anglican church ministers on the continent had been warned not to marry the duke and Wallis.

ADMINISTRATION leaders, from the President down, "turned the heat" on the rebellious members of the house, and the latter sullenly gave in and passed the billion and a half dollar war relief bill about as Mr. Roosevelt and Harry Hopkins wanted it. One after another the restrictive amendments earmarking $505,000,000 of the total for projects of a solid type, flood control and highways, which had been adopted in committee of the whole, were called up again and voted down by substantial majorities. The final vote by which the measure was sent on to the senate was 323 to 44.

The revolt collapsed after Majority Leader Sam Rayburn, Democrat, Texas, outlined Mr. Roosevelt's position. He said the President had agreed to provide adequate funds from the relief bill for PWA projects, highways, grade crossing elimination, flood control and water conservation work.

Taunted by Minority Leader Bernard Snell, Republican, New York, for the general character of his statement, Rayburn admitted he did not know the exact amount of money that the President would divert to the various projects, which have been described as "vote-getting" and "pork."

One of the "rebel" leaders, Joseph Starnes of Alabama, though voting for the bill, announced that congress would never again "relinquish its control of expenditures."

Still sore, especially at Harry Hopkins, the congressmen discussed the need for investigation of the relief administration, and a resolution calling for such action was introduced by Maury Maverick of Texas.

SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR HAROLD L. ICKES was taken to the Naval Hospital in Washington to be treated for an intestinal disorder. Physicians said he probably would be absent from his office for several weeks, a protracted rest being imperative.

BY HUGE majorities in both senate and house congress overrode the President's veto of a bill to extend the war-risk insurance act for another five years. It gives that additional time in which war veterans may exchange their government held term insurance policies for other forms of life insurance and affects about 23,000 men who have not converted their policies. Representative Rankin of Mississippi said these veterans were "too poor" to make the conversion at this time, and added: "The President apparently didn't consult with those familiar with veterans' affairs when he vetoed this bill."

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT sent a message to congress asking for legislation creating seven regional power authorities patterned after the TVA. He proposed the country be divided into these regions: The Atlantic seaboard. The Great Lakes-Ohio valley. The Tennessee and Cumberland river basins. The Missouri and the Red River of the North basins. The Arkansas, Red and Rio Grande river basins. The basins of the Colorado and other rivers flowing into the Pacific south of the California-Oregon state line. The Columbia river basin.

TAX dodging by wealthy men and women, excoriated by President Roosevelt in a special message, is going to be investigated speedily by a joint committee of congress. The resolution for the inquiry was introduced in the senate by Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi, chairman of the finance committee; and in the house by Robert L. Doughton of North Carolina, chairman of the ways and means committee. The investigation is designed both to focus public attention on the extent of the alleged tax evasion and to provide congress with information necessary for the drafting of corrective legislation. Senator Harrison said:

"I am sure that congress expects that, where the law has been violated, prompt action will be taken by the government against the malefactors."

He added that men and women referred to, not by name, in the President's message, would be given the opportunity to testify before the committee if their names were disclosed.

Accompanying Mr. Roosevelt's message was a long letter to him from Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau in which were outlined eight devices which he said are being employed by a minority of rich individuals to evade taxes.

Legislation asked by the President would be an emergency measure. It is not to be confused with legislation to revise tax schedules, the President said.

"In regard to that subject," Mr. Roosevelt continued, "I have already suggested to the congress that at this session there should be no new taxes and no changes of rates."

GENERAL HAYASHI's semimilitary government of Japan was forced to resign by the major political parties, and Emperor Hirohito summoned Prince Fumimaro Konoe, president of the house of peers, to form a new cabinet. This prince proceeded to do, and he was meeting with almost complete success in finding men who would accept office. Temporarily he had trouble in getting a finance minister. The new government includes representatives of the big Seiyukai and Minseitō parties and is considered, therefore, a national coalition cabinet. Presumably it is committed to a large army and navy, a strong foreign policy and drastic administrative reforms.

Prince Konoe said he would strive to end the rivalries among the various forces in the empire, meaning especially the disputes between the army and the political parties. The army will support him, but its domination over Japanese policies is practically ended with the retirement of Hayashi who was accused of trying to set up a Fascist regime.

BEFORE adjourning to October the Supreme court overruled a government request that it refuse to review litigation challenging the constitutionality of federal financing of municipal power plants. By consenting to pass on the controversy, the court deferred a final verdict in the case until next fall, after arguments are heard.

The Department of Justice contended this would postpone the employment of many thousands of men. Officials of the Public Works administration declared the court's action means that "at least another six months" will elapse before questions affecting the release of $31,000,000 for fifty-four public power projects are settled.

FLOUDD HEADLINE HUNTER FLOUDD GIBBONS' ADVENTURERS CLUB

Holla Everybody

"Siberian Melodrama" BY FLOYD GIBBONS

HERE'S a yarn that sounds as if it might have happened out in the old Wild West when two-gun hoppers fought it out in the streets and booted and spurred cowpunchers cleaned out dance halls with well directed volleys from their six guns.

I don't know whether those things ever happened out in the West. All I know is what I see in the movies. This incident I'm going to tell you about sounds like the West, but it happened way over in the eastern part of Siberia, and it happened to Samuel C. Taylor of New York City.

You know, we had troops in Siberia for a couple of years after the World War. Sam Taylor was one of them. He was with a platoon of sixty men from Company D, Thirty-first United States Infantry, stationed at the little Siberian town of Uglonays.

The town itself was nothing but a railroad station and a few houses. The soldiers were living in half a dozen box cars that had been taken off their wheels and set on the ground beside the track. But though the town was small it was affording plenty of excitement.

Sam Was Provost Guard. It was about the middle of January, and for days the Americans had been watching an army go through the town. It wasn't a hostile army—but at the same time it wasn't a friendly one either. It was a Bolshevik army moving to attack Vladivostok, not far away as distances go in Siberia.

Sam says there were thousands of them, well equipped with machine guns, and lugging enough field pieces to blow those sixty Americans and their box cars to Halifax. But they couldn't be bothered with the Americans. Taking Vladivostok was more important.

On the afternoon of January 18, Sam was acting provost guard at the railroad station. It was a bitter cold day. A cutting wind was sweeping past the station and Private Pat Strong, on sentry go, was stamping up and down the platform. Two Bolshevik troop trains had just pulled in on a siding, and Bolshevik soldiers had crowded into the station where they could buy hot tea and vodka. And as Pat Strong paced up and down the platform a big Russian said something to him in Russian.

Pat couldn't understand him. He came to port arms while the Russian stormed and gesticulated, and finally grabbed Pat's gun. Pat tried to pull the gun away, but the Russian was a powerful brute. He spun Sam Fired and the Big Russian Fell.

Pat around and threw him in a snow bank. A couple more Americans came running up. He threw them into the snow bank too, and made a mad dash for the station.

That's where Sam came into the picture. As provost guard, he raised a sentry box down at the end of the platform. He saw the fight just as the Russian broke loose and started into the station, and he came out on the run. With the other three Americans at his back he started after him.

He Fired First and Got His Man. Says he, "I went bursting into the station as if the whole United States army were on my heels. That station was full of Bolsheviks, singing, talking and yelling. Lots of them had rifles, some of them had hand grenades tied to their belts. But I didn't have time to look over the grenade situation just then. That big Russian had found himself a rifle. I was five feet inside the door when I spotted him, but he must have seen me first because he was raising his gun."

Sam had a forty-five automatic, and it was a question of whether he or the Russian could shoot first. Without even taking time out to think, he whipped that automatic up and let go. The big Russian dropped. For an instant there was a dead silence in the station. "Those Russkies were surprised," says Sam, "and so was I. For a second—well—I almost opened fire on the whole damn bunch of them, but I caught myself just in time."

It was a tough spot and Sam knew it. Here was a whole roomful of wild Russians and he had just shot one of their pals. If he started out the door, some of them would be sure to begin shooting. If that happened, there'd be general disorder, with sixty Americans fighting a whole troop train full of Bolsheviks. And what was more to the point, it would be curtains for Sam.

Glass Crash Routed the Russians. "I had to use my head," he says, "and I decided I'd bluff them. I stood in the middle of the floor, waved my pistol over their heads and pointed to the door. And then happened the thing that probably saved my life. In swinging my arm I tightened my grip on the pistol to keep from dropping it. And in doing that I squeezed the trigger too hard. BANG! Off she went again. That bullet struck somewhere behind the bar and down came a lot of glassware."

Sam says the falling glass created a terrible racket. The Russians must have thought a shell had burst in there. They turned and stampeded for the door, and Sam says they went through it like a Kansas tornado. In ten seconds there wasn't a Bolshevik in the place.

"And where were the other three fellows?" says Sam. "They were outside, turned into a rear guard. When they heard those shots inside and saw all those Russkies piling out, they ran for camp to tell the others the Russians had eaten me alive and were coming to eat them too."

Sam says he certainly did NOT feel like a hero when he went into that station. He just didn't have time to think about it. "It was only after I got inside," he says, "that I realized I was in a swell pickle. I've often thought afterwards, suppose I'd hit one of those grenades those Russians had tied to their belts."

Boy, that WOULD have been an adventure.

Narcissus Very Old Long, long ago, in the dim history of ancient civilization, we read of the narcissus being found in paintings and carvings in Egyptian tombs. The same flower was frequently used by the Greeks in their ceremonial processions. In more modern times we find that as far back as 1629 the famous botanist Parkinson wrote a treatise on the narcissus, illustrating ninety varieties. It is a long and fascinating journey through the ages down to the wonderful creations. The name narcissus was given to this botanical genus by Linnaeus, the great Swedish botanist, after a beautiful youth, who, Greek mythology relates, was transformed into this flower.

Key Conductor An ordinary door key was the first lightning conductor. Benjamin Franklin was making experiments to prove that there was a difference in the latent electrical power at different heights at all times, clear or stormy. He flew a kite made of a silk handkerchief, two sticks, and a piece of wire extending a foot above the frame. One day a thunder-storm came up suddenly, and the whole kite and the wet twine becoming electrified, several little shocks were felt by Franklin. He hung a key near the base of the twine, notes a writer in London Tit-Bits Magazine, and so obtained a stream of sparks. At that moment the idea of a metal rod to act as a lightning conductor was born.

SEEN and HEARD around the NATIONAL CAPITAL By Carter Field FAMOUS WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENT

Washington.—Detroit and Los Angeles merchants are burned up because their citizens buy so much in Canada and Mexico, bringing their purchases in duty free under the $100 exemption. So they are trying to get congress to amend the law. They have no objection to the $100 limit being applied to returning European tourists, or for once a year tourists who take their vacations in Canada or Mexico or Cuba.

But the man who runs across the international line from some nearby American city every little while, chiefly for the purpose of getting tariff-free bargains, that's the fellow—and his wife—they are after.

Detroit merchants estimate that citizens of that city buy about $5,000,000 worth of merchandise a year in Canada under this $100 exemption clause. The city's board of commerce has representatives in Washington working to stop this "leak." They are getting co-operation not only from Los Angeles but from Seattle, El Paso, Buffalo and Erie.

The American Retail Federation and other retail groups are co-operating. Some of the estimates for the total amount of Canadian and Mexican goods brought in legally without payment of duty under this $100 exemption runs as high as $50,000,000 a year.

They say it is not only the money—they always do say that. But when Mrs. Smith Jones meets Mrs. Brown Robinson after such a foray to duty-free stores across the line she boasts about it. This not only encourages the second lady, and her sisters and neighbors to go and do likewise, but it builds up the sneaking impression that the American storekeepers are a lot of gyps, and that it is positively a civic duty to thwart them in their attempted robbery.

The Old Come-On

Then, too, the storekeepers know perfectly well that the person who goes shopping to get a bargain generally buys something else. That is the whole underlying basis for the "loss leader" device so frowned upon by the federal trade commission. The store advertising some particular bargain knows that if it can get people into its doors by selling something the customers know is very cheap, the probability is that one in every two will buy something else—something on which the storekeeper makes a real profit.

So this mouth to mouth propaganda that bargains are to be had over in Windsor, when the Detroit folks are talking, or down in Agua Caliente, if the Los Angeles and San Diego wives are talking about their shopping, is insidious.

Some of these tariff dodgers really buy only for their own use, but many of them resell, and make the trip as often as the law allows—once every thirty days. Canada offers tempting furs and duty-free British wool cloth and garments. Mexico has fine Indian art objects. Both admit varieties of foreign goods almost duty free because their duty does not happen to compete with local industries.

According to the Los Angeles merchants, the movie stars are the worst offenders. They like to run over to Mexico anyhow, for one reason or another. They resent federal taxes in a really big way and get a thrill out of cheating Uncle Sam legally, which may not bother the Treasury much but it is certainly a pain in the cash drawer for the Los Angeles department stores and specialty shops.

Incidentally, Los Angeles thinks the proposed amendment futile. It would permit the $100 exemption only if the tourist had been out of the country at least forty-eight hours.

"That's just a nice week-end," say the southern California dealers. They want the period made much longer.

Not an Accident

It was not just an accident that several newspapers had prominently displayed stories the day after the announcement of Justice Willis Van Devanter's resignation that the probable appointee in his place would be Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader of the senate for these many years.

The story was deliberately fed out by several senators who are strongly opposed to President Roosevelt's Supreme court enlargement plan. It was intended to embarrass the President in his fight, and to make absurd the contention that the court needed "young" men.

Being as the Arkansas senator is sixty-five, and is known to be a conservative at heart, the idea of his appointment was calculated to open the way to columnists and editorial writers all over the country to point to the absurdity of the situation.

But it was more than that. The story was put out by senators who not only are opposed to the President on the court battle, but who would not object to seeing him embarrassed aside from that. Indeed it is not too much to say that some of them, most active in pushing the idea that the President would certainly appoint Robinson, and getting it in print, were opposed to the court plan more because they were against Roosevelt than for any intrinsic merit in this particular battle.

Now the point is of course that Robinson has cherished the ambition to sit on the Supreme court bench for nearly twenty years. There is not a member of the senate who does not know about it, not because he talks about it all the time, but because in such a long period of time such an ambition would naturally reach the ear of every member of the upper house.

Robinson Popular

Now Robinson is a very popular man among his colleagues, all magazine articles and general reports to the contrary notwithstanding. Not that he has been particularly misrepresented in either magazine articles or gossip. He is hot tempered. He would do almost anything for the sake of the Democratic party. He would sacrifice almost any conviction if it seemed to interfere with the chances of success of his party, and he goes to what some think are extremes in loyalty to whoever is the party leader at the time, whether it be Woodrow Wilson insisting on ratification of the League of Nations treaty without the dotting of an "i" or the crossing of a "t," or whether it be Franklin D. Roosevelt insisting on six "young" justices for the Supreme court.

But his colleagues understand that. They are politicians too. They know what the Democratic party means to a man of Robinson's age, who has raised in the South, and who has seen local federal officeholders appointed by an opposition President during all his adult life. So they do not let the things that seem to offend some outsiders trouble them at all in appraising Joe. Outside of these points, which do not bother or even mystify them, they think Joe a grand person. He is an old friend of most of them, a co-worker, a pal, a hunting companion, a golfing opponent, yes, even a drinking companion.

So if the President throws him down, after all this build-up which has been fed to the newspapers by the President's enemies, the least that can be said is that it will not do the President any good.

Much Like Revolt

President Roosevelt is confronted with the most difficult situation he has yet encountered. It has all the earmarks of a revolt. It may peter out utterly, in fact, the reasonable probability would seem to be that it will. And it may turn into the sort of mess that will continue to plague the President as long as he remains in the White House.

Senators and representatives are insurging in every possible degree, and on every possible issue.

It began with the government re-organization proposal. This was something to give every member of the senate and house pause.

There was not a vote in either house which was not slightly or importantly influenced by personal friends and lieutenants scattered through the government departments and bureaus—any or all of whom might be put at the mercy of the White House in the course of the re-organization.

The insurgence became positively eruptive after the President asked congress to surrender its control over appropriations by permitting him to cut any one of them fifteen per cent in his discretion. This followed the proposal to enlarge the Supreme court, which has received plenty of public attention, and does not need any diagraming.

So there is bad feeling, among members of his own party, toward the President all over Capitol Hill.

Pass Big Guns

It is notorious how such senators as David I. Walsh of Massachusetts, Royal S. Copeland of New York, Burton K. Wheeler of Montana, and Vic Donahey of Ohio have been bypassed on many appointments or which senators would normally be consulted.

Two preliminary moves figured as weather vanes to indicate how things were shaping. A house committee voted five to four to cut relief expenditures from a billion and a half to a billion flat. This challenged not only the President's views as to what should be appropriated for relief but his own economy plan—to cut fifteen per cent from such appropriations as he might choose.

More important, because more votes were involved, was the action of the house in voting 384 to 7, on a roll call, to extend the CCC camps for only two years instead of making them permanent, as the President wished. Unimportant except as showing the temper of house members, they voted also to cut the salary of the CCC director from $12,000 to $10,000.

SYNOPSIS

Brooke Reburn visits the office of Jed Stewart, a lawyer, to discuss the terms of an estate she has inherited from Mrs. Mary Armada Dane. Unwittingly she overhears Jed talking to Mark Trent, a nephew of Mrs. Dane who has been disinherited. Mrs. Dane had lived at Lookout House, a huge structure on the sea, built by her father and divided into two, for her and Mark's father. Brooke had been a fashion expert, and Mrs. Dane, a "shut-in," hearing her on the radio, had invited her to call and developed a deep affection for her. Mark discloses that Mrs. Dane had threatened to disinherit him if he married Lola, from whom he is now divorced. He says he does not trust Henri and Clotilde Jacques, Mrs. Dane's servants. He says he is not interested in an offer of Brooke's to share the estate with him. Leaving her department store job, Brooke refuses an offer to "go stepping" with Jerry Field, a carefree young man who wants to marry her. At a family conference she learns she must live at Lookout House alone, since Lucette, her younger sister who is taking her job, her brother, Sam, a young playwright, and her mother plan to stay in the city.

CHAPTER III

Through the open transom above the office door came the hum of typewriters. Mark Trent, behind his desk, scowled in the direction of the sound. He had paid good money for those machines on the understanding that they were noiseless. Curious that he never had been annoyed by them before. Must be this confounded note in his hands. He read again:

Dear Mr. Trent—
Many times your aunt has told me of the Thanksgivings you spent with her at Lookout House. Won't you dine here on the coming holiday? My mother, sister and brother will be with me. There are many family treasures which you should have. I would like to go over there with you, and more than all, I want to thank you for pulling me out from under that car. I really wasn't so ungrateful as I sounded. This is a late invitation because I have been bolting up my courage to ask you. Please come. Bury the hatchet, or accept the olive branch, or however peace between enemies—though I am not for a moment your enemy—is being accomplished now.

Sincerely yours,
Brooke Reburn
Lookout House

He dropped the note and frowned at the red carnations in a crystal vase on his desk. He lived over the instant he had seen a girl go down in the street, had seen a speeding car almost upon her. How had he managed to save her? Colorless and dazed as she was, he had thought her the loveliest thing he ever had seen as she looked up at him. As for a second he had steadied her in his arms, his brain had fought against her attraction and the live warmth of her body had prompted him to growl at her. No wonder she had been angry, and no wonder — he admitted honestly — Mary Armada Dane had been taken in by her. Well, one victim in the family was enough. She shouldn't hypnotize him.

He drew letter paper toward him and picked up a pen. He'd settle this question of friendship between them for good and all. Little schemer!

Dear Miss Reburn, he wrote. As he hesitated as to how to word his regrets, another picture of the girl as she had appeared between the hangings in Stewart's office flashed in his mind with startling clarity.

He must get along with that note. His frowning regard of the opening door changed to a welcoming smile as a head poked in.

"Come in, Jed. What's on the little mind now?"

Jed Stewart perched on a corner of the flat desk. He pulled one of the red carnations from the vase and drew the stem through the buttonhole of the lapel of his checked coat.

"I'm taking a lady to tea, need a posy to make me look like a million, so combined utility with business and came here. Knew you always had them."

"What's the business? If you've been sent again to ask me to take half of that—"

"Hold everything; that's all washed up. The matter has not been mentioned to me since the day you and Brooke Reburn met in my office. I guess you killed her interest in you by your infernal sarcasm."

"Hope you'll enjoy the house and fortune, Miss Reburn. Happy landings! Perhaps I'd better say, safe landings, sez you."

"Oh, you think so? Read that."

Jed Stewart frowned over the note Mark Trent tossed to him. He read it through, reread it. Looked at his friend.

"Going?"

"Going! What do you think?"

Mark answered a buzzer. "Who? Mrs. Gregory. Of course I'll see her."

He explained hurriedly to Stewart. "It's an old friend of Aunt Mary Armada's. She sailed for France a week before my aunt died. She's a martinet, one of those terrible women who don't care where the lash of their tongue falls, and a confirmed matchmaker."

"This is mighty good of you, Mrs. Gregory, and it's a clear case of thought transference; not ten minutes ago I was thinking of you."

A wave of feeling menaced the clarity of Mark's voice as he bent over the white-gloved hand of the woman who had entered the office. She had been a vital part of the life at Lookout House which now seemed so irretrievably far behind him. A smile tugged at his lips as he observed that the floppy wide-brimmed picture hat was the model she had worn since as a boy he had admired the deeply waved blonde hair it shadowed. The hair was still faultlessly marcelled, but it was snow white.

She settled into a chair with the same rustle of taffeta he remembered, and adjusted a diamond brooch of a size and brilliance to make a discriminating thief avidly flex supple fingers. She peered up at him through a jeweled lorgnette, with eyes once a brilliant blue, now the color of faded larkspur.

"Handsome as ever, aren't you, Mark, in spite of the way those two women let you down. First that wife, with a grande amoureuse complex, and then Mary Amanda. I don't wonder that your hair at the temples looks as if it had been touched by frosty fingers, if you are only thirty. Who's he?"

She waved her lorgnette toward Stewart, who, back to the room, apparently had been absorbed in a study of the calf-bound books on the shelf.

"Stewart, of the firm of Stewart and Stewart, attorneys. Jed, come here. I want to present you to Mrs. Gregory, my first love."

"Hmp! Flatterer! You always could coax my heart out of my breast with your wonderful smile and your voice, Mark." She peered chalky face. Jed was as amazed as he.

Jed began to speak. "I was fond of my client Mrs. Dane, and your reference to her last will brought back a picture of the delicate woman in her wheel chair with—"

"With that disreputable parrot swearing in the cage behind her. The bird was there when I witnessed the will; I didn't know but that she would insist upon Micawber's being the other witness, but she called in Clotilde and Henri Jacques, it was her nurse-companion's day off. If I had to choose between the parrot and that French butler as my co-resident on a desert island, I'd take Mr. Micawber. After they went out, Mary Amanda and I were alone for a few moments in the freight. It was the last time I saw her—"

"Handsome as Ever, Aren't You?"

through her lorgnette as Jed Stewart took the hand she extended with the air of a sovereign.

"Stewart and Stewart! You were Mary Armada Dane's lawyer, weren't you?"

The contempt in her voice deepened the color of Jed Stewart's already sufficiently ruddy face.

"I had that honor."

"Honor! Do you call it an honor to help cheat her nephew out of his inheritance?"

"Really, Mrs. Gregory, Jed can't be held responsible—"

"Hold your tongue, Mark. I've started, and now I intend to get rid of a few things that have been boiling and sizzling inside me since the day I heard that Mary Amanda had cut you out in favor of that fashion adviser she'd gone crazy about."

"Forget it, Mrs. Gregory. I don't need the money—"

"Of course you need it. No one has money enough now because no one has a sense of financial security. Didn't you take over all the lame ducks as your share of your grandfather's property so that your aunt wouldn't be worried by them? Aren't you making that ex-wife of yours an allowance? Mary Amanda told me. What's she been doing since she left you for that French count? It was a French count year, wasn't it? They were buzzing round rich girls thick as wasps' about a broiled live lobster."

"She has married, I understand."

"Married! After she divorced the count! The third time! Getting to be a habit, isn't it? She isn't entitled to a penny. I don't wonder your aunt was furious when she found out that you were giving her money. Perhaps that's the real reason she cut you off, though I thought it was because she didn't believe in divorce; on that subject she was stuck back in the eighties. However, that wasn't what I came here to talk about. I just wanted to tell you that if I had known what was in that will I witnessed two days before I sailed for Europe—it was just a week before she died—now, Stewart, don't look at me with your jaw dropped as if I were a moron with a Medusa complex—of course, I know that a person isn't supposed to know the contents of the will she witnesses, but I still say that had I known that your aunt was leaving her money away from you, Mark, I would have cut off my hand before I signed."

Mark Trent's heart stopped and galloped furiously on. A will witnessed a week before Mary Armada's death! The will which had been probated was of a date two months prior. As he opened suddenly stiffened lips to reply, he met as he observed that the floppy wide-brimmed picture hat was the model chalky face. Jed was as amazed as he.

Mrs. Gregory dabbed her reddening eyes with a lace-edged handkerchief. She straightened, demanded angrily:

"Why am I slobbering like that? I love life! I wouldn't give up my place in this problem-logged world for all the stary halos and golden harps you could offer. Thinking of your aunt set me off. The last few times I saw her I had noticed that she seemed distraught, as if something were worrying her. I've wondered since if she would have told me what she had done if I had not had to hurry away. I called Henri before I left. As I looked back, she seemed white and exhausted. As I drove away I saw that girl driving in."

"That girl? You mean—"

"The Reburn girl, of course, Stewart. You ought to get a position somewhere as an echo. I'd met her several times and I liked her too before I knew what she had done to Mark. She made me forget that I was old enough to be her grandmother. Charming manners. Well, I must run along."

"Thank you for your interest in me, Mrs. Gregory. I'm going down to your car with you. Wait for me, Jed."

The woman turned on the threshold. "I hope, if ever you draw another will cutting out a rightful heir, young man, you'll be swished in boiling oil."

Stewart grinned. "Not boiling oil, madam, not boiling; couldn't you reduce the temperature a degree?"

She smiled. "We'll see, we'll see. You're an engaging boy, if you are a poor lawyer. I'm to spend the winter in my country house— not far from the Dane-Trent property—everybody's doing it this year. Motor down some Sunday for lunch."

"Sure, I'll come. Meanwhile, would you mind not telling anyone that you witnessed Mrs. Dane's will?"

"You don't think I'm proud of my part in that robbery, do you? I wouldn't have mentioned it now, but I wanted to square myself with Mark Trent's mind was in a tumult as he chatted with her in the corridor, inquired for her health on the way down in the elevator, told her that he thought of her rich fruit cake whenever he attended a wedding. She looked up at him sharply as they waited at the curb.

"Then you still attend weddings?"

"Why not? I attend like them."

"After your experience, I should think you would shun them. Ever see Lola?"

"No."

"Here's my car. That's Dominique at the wheel. Remember him, don't you? He drove my horses before I had an automobile, and the only thing I have against him is that he recommended his friends the Jacques to your aunt. She made so much of Henri that he got dictator-minded and tried to run the whole place."

Jed Stewart was walking the floor when he entered his office. He stopped abruptly.

"Well," he demanded, "did she talk any more?"

"Not about the will. Why the dickens didn't you ask questions?"

"Didn't dare. Don't you see, Mark? Boy, don't you understand? Someone has snitched that second will she witnessed."

"Did you draw it?"

"Never heard of it. Perhaps your aunt had an acute attack of remorse. I argued with her, as much as a lawyer can argue, against cutting you out; she wouldn't come to me about a new will. Didn't Mrs. Gregory say that she had been dis-trait the last few times they had been together? She thinks it was because Mrs. Dane was making up her mind to disinherit you; that and I know that the will to that effect already had been drawn."

"You passed up a grand chance to cross-examine her, Jed."

"Didn't dare. She thinks the will she witnessed is the one probated; doesn't know that if it had been she would have been summoned to prove her signature. We mustn't let a suspicion of this second will get out. Where is it?"

"She said the Reburn girl drove in as she left the place. Do you suppose Aunt Mary Amanda told her what was in it and that she—"

Jed Stewart stopped his restless pacing. His eyes and voice were troubled.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By REV. HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, Dean of the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago. © Western Newspaper Union.

Lesson for June 13 THE BROTHERLY LOVE OF JUDAH

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 41:18-34. GOLDEN TEXT—Let brotherly love continue, Hebrews 13:1. PRIMARY TOPIC—Benjamin's Big Brother. JUNIOR TOPIC—Big Brothers. INTERMEDIATE TOPIC—Loving as a Brother. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Self-Sacrifice in the Family.

The fundamental unit of society is the family. It is of more importance than the state, the church, and the social order of which it is a part. The breakdown of the home and the sacred relationships sustained between parents and children, or brothers and sisters, points to the destruction of society itself. God established the family in the garden of Eden. His plan and purpose have never been changed, nor have his laws for the protection of the home, for the sanctity of marriage, for brotherly love, been set aside. Men and nations may devise other plans and follow the dictates of the flesh, but that road always leads to ruin.

The continuation of our story of the life of Joseph and his brethren brings before us today the filial and paternal love of Judah, and affords us an opportunity to stress true brotherly devotion. No one should fail to review the connection between the chapter before us and the lesson of last week. Joseph had been dealing with his brethren who had failed to recognize him as the one they had sold into captivity. He was bringing them kindly but definitely to that point of repentance at which he could show himself gracious to them. In doing so he had brought disaster upon them. Being happily on their way homeward with a new supply of food, they were overtaken and Benjamin, the beloved of Jacob, stands accused as a thief, and by their own words condemned to die.

In this crisis the mouths of the ten others are closed, but Judah, who has really saved the life of Joseph (Gen. 37:26, 27), stands forth to make an eloquent and pathetic appeal to Joseph. It presents him as a brother who is

I. Courageous

Easy rests the yoke of family life as long as all is joyful and prosperous. But when adversity strikes, when sorrow comes, or sickness, or sin, then the true test of devotion is at hand.

It was a brave and manly thing for Judah to stand before the one whom he knew only as the man who was "even as Pharaoh." The circumstances were all against him. He expected the flaming anger of the offended ruler. His brethren had collapsed in despair. It was one of those dark hours which come to every family when someone must demonstrate true love by being strong-hearted and steady.

II. Intelligent

Crises call for more than a cheerful smile or an encouraging word, much as they do mean in such an hour. But we must be prepared by our close contact with our loved ones to speak and act with vigor and assurance.

The plea of Judah is a masterpiece of logic, argumentation, and appeal, demonstrating that Judah was not only well-informed about his family and its problems, but ready to use his knowledge skillfully and effectively.

III. Sacrificial

One step deeper goes the devotion of this man to his father and his brother. He has done no wrong that merits punishment, but evidently his brother has been guilty. Had he been of the spirit of Cain he would have said "Am I my brother's keeper?" and let him answer for himself. Why should he suffer for another? Why should he allow himself to be imprisoned in a strange land to save his father from sorrow and his brother from what seemed to be the just reward for his deeds?

Thus reasons the man of the world, but such is not the language of love. "Let thy servant abide instead of the lad as a bondsman"—so speaks the true brother. And this is but a faint prefiguring of the One "who sticketh closer than a brother," who "though he was rich, yet for your sakes became poor that ye through his poverty might be rich" (Prov. 18:24; II Cor. 8:9).

Let us improve the opportunity to review our relations with our own family, to determine whether there is aught that we in intelligent and courageous self-sacrifice should do for our own.

An Aim in Life

We want an aim that can never grow vile, and which cannot disappoint our hope. There is but one such on earth, and it is that of being like God. He who strives after union with perfect love must grow out of selfishness, and his success is secured in the omnipotent holiness of God.

A Guide to Paradise

The life of a faithful Christian man is a guide to paradise.—Thos. a Kempia.

Correct Vacation Toggery

VACATIONING they will go—Vera, Mom and Flo. And they will enjoy themselves the more because their wardrobes after Sew-Your-Own are just exactly right.

Mother in this model will be mistaken for daughter many a time because her design and dots are so very youthful. She will have various frocks in various materials developed on this theme, and in one of them, at least, the dots will be red.

Dates for Dangling.

Vera, to the right, has a date for dancing and when her escort admiringly effuses some such nonsense as, "That gown must have come on the last boat from Paris" she will toss her dark head and say, "No foreign frocks for me. I Sew-My-Own." Her dress of soft flowered material with demure braid at the neck and hem almost makes a sweet old-fashioned girl of her, but the tailored collar and trim cut label her the sophisticated young thing that she really is.

Collegiate.

Only a snappy sophomore can fully appreciate just how smart are those buttons down the back of the model to the left. Her yoke and neckline are "Oh, so new, my dear"; her plaid as British as she would like her accent to be. Best of good vacation wishes to the three of them from Sew-Your-Own.

HAMILTONIAN DEMOCRATS

That the Democratic party has abandoned the viewpoint of Jefferson and Madison respecting the interpretation of the Constitution and has adopted the viewpoint of Alexander Hamilton, leader of the Federalists and chief political enemy of Thomas Jefferson, is indicated in a recent decision written by Justice Cardoza himself, "liberal" member of the Supreme Court, who has consistently voted to sustain all the New Deal measure except one, the NRA, which was outlawed by unanimous decision of the Court.

In one of the recent decisions written by Justice Cardoza he stated:
"Congress may spend money in aid of the general welfare. There have been great statesmen in our history who have stood for other views. We will not resurrect the content. It is now settled by decision.
The conception of the spending power advocated by Hamilton and strongly reinforced by Story has prevailed over that of Madison, which has not been lacking in adherents."

As is well known, Alexander Hamilton was the leader of those who believed in a strong centralized government. He took no stock in the doctrine of "states rights". He didn't concede that the state had any rights. He made no secret of the fact that at heart he was a monarchist. He favored a liberal construction of the Constitution in favor of the powers of the Federal Government. Jefferson and Madison were strict constructionists. Madison was a member of the constitutional Convention and possibly had more to do with the framing of that great instrument than any other single individual. So great was his influence and so outstanding was his work in the convention that he has often been called the Father of the Constitution.

As a strict constructionist of the Constitution, an implacable opponent of a strong centralized government, and an advocate of "states rights", Thomas Jefferson, strongly supported by James Madison, became the founder of the Democratic party. That was one of the cardinal doctrines of the Democratic party up to the time of the inauguration of President Franklin D. Roosevelt.
Since that time President Roosevelt has joined the Hamiltonians and has been demanding an ultra liberal construction of the Constitution. Apparently a majority of Southern Democrats have joined him in this demand. They have completely abandoned the time-honored doctrine of "states rights" as heretofore propounded by Democrats from every stump and forum in the country. Under the Roosevelt leadership they have become so zealous and determined in their fight upon this old Democratic doctrine that they are now clamoring for the President to fire those members of the Supreme Court who are not "liberal" enough to suit him and to appoint "liberal" members in their stead.

It may be that Justices McReynolds, Vandevanter, Butler, and Sutherland have been construing the Constitution too strictly; we are not passing judgment on this matter. But it must be conceded that, although not all of them are Democrats politically, they have been expressing the time-honored Democratic viewpoint. And they have been expressing it with a degree of clarity and force that are well nigh unanswerable. The political miracle of this generation is that Southern Democrats should now join in the cry to "Crucify them! Crucify them!" for adhering to the doctrine to which they themselves have subscribed for so many years.

Strange as it may seem, we Southerners have become Hamiltonian Democrats.

FOR A THIRD TERM?

Jim Farley, congenial postmaster general and chairman of the National Democratic party, made a sweep through the Southwest last week. Jim likes to meet the people.
His publicity department sent word ahead that Jim was coming, and invited all towns to extend a welcome to the big chief. All towns were delighted to have Farley speak from the platform of his train. Farley is the potential Democratic nominee in 1940; but he dropped the word that there is a strong demand for a third term for President Roosevelt. The third term has been a hurdle over which no President has been able to hop. But Roosevelt has smashed so many precedents that no one can safely predict what might happen in 1940. Great political events face the American people during the coming four years.
—Canyon News.

It is barely possible that Roosevelt has visions of a third term.
There is plenty of evidence that he would like to be drafted and elected.
But he is doubtless too keen a politician to imagine that it could be done. It is more probable that he and Farley are inspiring the third term talk in order to bolster up his waning power over Congressmen.
His court reform bill seems doomed to defeat and many Congressmen have recently been showing a spirit of rebellion respecting other Roosevelt proposals. When Congressmen know that a President is serving his last term, they become less subservient to his will. As long as they believe that there is a probability of his re-election, they are more timorous and tractable. Franklin D. is a master politician. And so is Jim Farley.

It is not safe to count the chickens until they are hatched, but the West Texas hen is already on the nest, covering a big setting of fresh, fine eggs. We are confidently expecting a big brood of prosperity chickens to be hatched off in the fall.

The best rehabilitation program we have yet discovered is plenty of rain and a little hard work, both at the right time. It takes both to make bumper crops.

Yes, the smartest of us are funny creatures. A lot of us newspaper boys have been just tickled to death because one old "mossback" on the Supreme Court turned "liberal" resulting in a majority opinion upholding the constitutionality of the Wagner Act. This decision brought great consolation and boldness also to one John L. Lewis and the C.I.O. boys. They began immediately to expand their field of activities. They threatened Henry Ford. He's our next victim, they said. We'll make hash of him if he doesn't bow his knee to this great industrial Molloch, John Leonine Lewis. But Ford had his own notions about how he should run his own business. He issued a pamphlet and circulated it among his employees showing how fair he had been with them and challenging the C.I.O. leaders to build a factory of their own if they thought they could manage an automobile factory better than he could and could pay better wages than he was paying and could provide better working conditions than he was providing. It was a frank and fair statement, and immediately a lot of the newspaper boys who have been shouting themselves black in the face praising the Wagner Act and the majority opinion of the Supreme Court that sustained it, began shouting the praises of Henry Ford for his defiance of the would-be labor dictators who had been made inordinately bold by the Wagner Act decision. We are funny folks.

MORE THAN THE SURFACE SHOWS

The more one learns of the substrata of the earth's surface in this region the more it becomes apparent that there are things here more than a good, fertile topsoil.
For instance, the other day we looked at the outcroppings of what must be a huge deposit of volcanic ash in Briscoe county. A similar one is known to exist in the northwest corner of Dickens. Down in Lynn county they are boring holes and the searchers are happy if they find a particularly repulsive stinking water. A considerable area of such kind has been found, it is said, to add, some day to the wealth of the country. Natural gas that will burn can be extracted on a few minutes notice from an irrigation well on France Carthel's farm north west of Lockney.

Some of these natural resources may be generations coming to light, but they are there to be developed some day in spots all over the broad areas of the plains and lower panhandle. Some oil development already is apparent in Motley. And so it goes, the wealth with the land, some of which get if you can and do not sell.—Floydada Hesperian.

Recently we had occasion to be in the good old town of Rogers, Bell county, and naturally we dropped in to see our long-time friend, Senator
C. W. Taylor, editor of the Rogers
News. In the next issue of his paper Senator Taylor published a eulogy of your humble servant that any weekly newspaper man might be proud to receive. While this big, fine bouquet was entirely undeserved, it was most keenly appreciated, nevertheless, especially since it came from Senator Taylor, who is a man of fine literary attainments and keen political acumen and who has himself been a newspaper editor and publisher for more than a third of a century. Many, many thanks for the flowers.

We believe that there is a better way to settle labor disputes than by a resort to the sit-down strike by employees or to machine guns by employers. There is a peaceable and constitutional way. It should be adopted.

Texas chickens can be deloused by simply hanging a banana stem in the chicken house, according to a report received from California by the Texas Planning Board which states that lice leave the chickens and congregate on the banana stem.

Immediately upon the filing of such application with the Health Officer, the Health Officer, or inspector provided for in this ordinance, shall inspect the plant or bakery wherein such products are prepared and manufactured for sale, and if said

If said Health Officer or inspector shall find that said plant or bakery is not equipped or operated in compliance with the provisions of this ordinance he shall refuse to grant such permit until such plant and bakery is equipped and operated in accordance with such requirements. The Health Officer of the City of Tahoka, or inspector herein provided for, shall inspect all bakeries holding permits of the City of Tahoka, not less than once each month.

Section 9. (a). It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, association or corporation, whether as principal, agent or otherwise, to sell, offer for sale or deliver bread, pies and doughnuts intended for human consumption, within the limits of the City of Tahoka, prepared, manufactured and baked in any bakery, the owners or operators of which have not obtained a permit as provided by this ordinance which was in force at the time of the preparation, manufacture and baking of such bread, pies and doughnuts.

Permits may upon request be renewed for successive additional periods of one year each under the same terms and conditions provided for in the issuance of the first permit. In the event the Health Officer should refuse to grant a permit, or to renew a permit, an appeal from his decision may be made to the governing body of the City of Tahoka. Should the Health Officer find on any inspection of any bakery that the requirements of this ordinance are not being complied with he shall immediately notify the person, firm, association or corporation owning or operating said plant or bakery, or the agent or the person in charge of the management of said plant or bakery, and unless such violation is corrected within three days from the date of such notification, said permit shall be revoked by the Health Officer. An appeal from such order of revocation may be made to the governing body of the City of Tahoka. In the event of such revocation the person, firm, association or corporation whose permit is revoked may be permitted to re-apply for a permit under the terms and conditions hereinabove provided for the issuance of permits.

Section 11. The violation of any provision of this ordinance, shall constitute a misdemeanor, and any person convicted thereof shall be fined in any sum not exceeding $100.00, and each day such violation shall continue shall constitute a separate offense.

If any one or more of the provisions of this ordinance shall be held unconstitutional or void for any reason as applied to any one or more of the products of bakeries herein designated, such invalidity shall not affect any other product or products herein designated, but such ordinance shall be deemed valid as to such other product or products.

Section 13. This ordinance shall take effect upon its due publication as prescribed by law.

Passed and approved, this 7th day of June, 1937.

HERSCHEL COLLINGS AND GLADYS DOUTHIT WED

Herschel Collings and Miss Gladys Douthit, popular young people of this county, were united in marriage at 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, June 1, at the parsonage of the San Jacinto Methodist Church, Amarillo. Rev. H. C. Smith reading the marriage vows.

Spending the night in Amarillo, they made a brief honeymoon trip to Wichita Falls. They had planned to go to Santa Fe, New Mexico, but heavy rains and high waters in New Mexico compelled them to change their plans.

Mr. Collings is a young man of sterling qualities, having made a most creditable race for county clerk of this county last year.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Douthit of this city and has been practically reared here.

These young people will make their home in this county. They have the best wishes of a great host of friends.

LAYMEN WILL GIVE METHODIST PROGRAM

On next Sunday the laymen will have the program. Claude Donaldson, V. F. Jones, Joe Poindexter, and others will have part. There will be special music and the talks will be worth-while. The general subject will be "A Fellowship Church. We are expecting a large crowd."

At 8:30 Sunday night will be a children's program, closing out their Vacation Bible School. There are around fifty children, with about a dozen of our elect women giving their time.

Be on time next Sunday at 9:45 for the Church School and stay for the 11 o'clock service.

METHODIST WOMEN STUDYING GENESIS

The Bible study beginning with Genesis started Monday afternoon with the M. E. Missionary Society, with good interest.

For next Monday each is asked to read the entire book of Genesis. This is necessary that we may get an impression of wholeness, of unity—necessary to any real study. The session will be held at Methodist parsonage at 4 o'clock.

Time of meeting has been changed until 4:00, since the afternoons are getting long and warm.

The Bake and Buy Sale will be discontinued for a few weeks.

Agents for magazines are working the town weekly. Please do not forget that Mrs. R. H. Gibson is our authorized agent for both renewals and subscriptions. Shall we keep the money at home? See her for any and all subscriptions.

An invitation is extended to all and each to attend the Bible session with Mrs. Hardy at the parsonage. Read Genesis, and bring Bible and notebook.

The children have enjoyed a rare treat all week at the Vacation Bible School. A keen interest has been manifested, thanks to Mrs. Jones and her faithful helpers. It isn't a light nor easy thing to put over, but has been executed beautifully. It's an inspiration to hear the children sing and see their enthusiasm.

The bride was dressed in navy blue crepe with white accessories. The ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Jesse Watson.

Miss Mary Annice White, sister of the groom, accompanied the couple. Mrs. Carmichael and daughter, Ruth, attended also.

Following the ceremony, the party was honored with lunch at the home of the bride's parents, and the newlyweds and Miss White left immediately for Tahoka. COOKING UTENSILS STUDIED BY NEW LYNN H. D. CLUB

A talk was given on cooking utensils by Miss Lilith Boyd, Home Demonstration Agent, to the New Lynn H. D. Club at Mrs. P. K. Flemings Tuesday June 1st. In buying cooking utensils one should consider, first: will it be used enough to pay for what it costs or will it just be in the way most of the time? And second, will it last well for the price paid? In selecting knives one should see that the handles are put on in a substantial way and be of good steel. And pans should be as free from seams and unnecessary wrinkles as possible and they will be easier to keep clean. In buying cooking glass one should get the kind made for baking.

Mrs. A. P. Cooper was named as council representative alternate.

NEW HOME HEARS ELDER DRENNON

Last Lord's day was a very pleasant day for me, preached three times. In the afternoon at New Home found a fine group of people present to hear me. It is a pleasure to preach to such a fine bunch of live wires as they.

At the morning service my subject was "Leaving the mind of Christ." Philippians 2-5. What a grand thing it would be if all God's people had the outlook on life Christ had. It was humble, pure, unselfish, prayerful and forgiving. The bible says "As we think in our hearts so are we" then the way to remedy our lives is to get our thinking straight.

In the afternoon we spoke of "The Sin of Unbelief" which to my way of thinking is the besetting sin of our day. We talk about "Walking by faith" and then murmur and complain. Paul says in "Romans 8-28" That all things work together for our good. Do we believe that? Then why grumble about what happens. At night the lesson was on "The transforming power of the gospel when believed and obeyed." The thing that is hurting the cause of Christ most, is that the world cannot see enough change in our lives after conversion.

Friday night of this week (that is tonight) a girls quartette from Tipton Orphans Home will render a program here, beginning at 8:15 P. M. The public is invited, no charges. Remember our meeting July 25th to August 2nd. A welcome awaits you at the friendly Church.

I will fill the pulpit at O'Donnell next Lord's day.

Rich deposits of the relatively rare fluor spar, a mineral which is all but indispensable to porcelain, glass and steel manufacturers, have been found in the Big Bend country, according to the Texas Planning Board's mineral resources committee which predicts that the Big Bend section ultimately will prove a source of wealth equal to that which the East Texas oil field has yielded. Gold, silver, lead, zinc and copper are being mined in the Big Bend now.

The tourist business ranks second to oil in Texas according to statistics compiled by the Texas Planning Board which shows that oil last year enriched the state $450,000,000; tourists, $446,000,000; all agricultural crops, $384,000,000; and cotton, $210,000,000.

The investment in highways made by Texas taxpayers will not be protected, the beauty of the roadside preserved, and the safety of the traveling public safeguarded until advertising signs are excluded from residential and rural districts, Marvin Nichols, of Fort Worth and head of the Texas Planning and Civic Conference, said recently.

WHERE IS THE DUST BOWL?

(An Editorial)

The great Dallas News, in its issue of June 4, contains an editorial entitled "Dust Bowl Rehabilitation" pleading for the cooperation of farmers and ranchmen with the Federal Government in its Dust Bowl program, and recommending the retirement of "Dust Bowl" and "marginal" lands from cultivation.

This time, however, the great Dallas newspaper is careful to specify that portion of the South Plains which it thinks should be so retired. Only that portion of the plains lying west of a line passing through Lubbock and Plainview should be rescued by the Federal Government from the clutches of the farmer and restored to the ranchman, the News thinks.

"A lot of misleading information," says the News, "has been broadcast about the drought areas of the west and Southwest, some of which has been harmful to the more stable farming regions lying east of the 20-inch rainfall line which passes through Lubbock and Plainview. The fact, however, stands out that such farming as has persisted west of that line has been largely marginal and has brought ruin in its wake periodically. The Federal Government's Dust Bowl program should have the effective support of the region it is intended to serve."

Among the counties lying wholly west of a line passing through Lubbock and Plainview and which the Dallas News would ban from agricultural pursuits are Terry, Hockley, Lamb, and Castro.

We doubt if our neighbor, Jack Stricklin of the Terry County Herald, would consent for his fine county to be re-converted into mere ranch lands. It claims an average corn production of more than one million bushels per annum and is the largest corn producing county in all West Texas. On account of the abundance of feed produced in Terry county, William Randolph Hearst has established vast feeding pens at Brownfield and has been feeding from 7,000 to 10,000 head of cattle there annually the past few years. While Terry is not one of the largest cotton producers in the state, it nevertheless surpasses many east Texas counties in this field. During the twelve years from 1924 to 1935 inclusive its cotton production ran below 10,000 bales only one year, being 9,792 in 1928, and it ran as high as 33,848 bales in 1933. Its average production for the twelve years was 18,483 bales. Compare that with Anderson, Cooke, Coryell, Freestone, Gregg, Grimes, Henderson, Nacogdoches, Panola, and others, and you will find this record not so bad even as a cotton producer.

What about Hockley and Lamb counties? Neither of these counties began developing agriculturally until about twelve years ago and never really got into cotton farming until 1926. Yet, from 1926 to 1935 inclusive, a period of ten years, Hockley county produced an average of 27,875 bales annually and Lamb an average of 41,090 bales annually. How many counties in Texas can beat the Lamb county record? Probably not more than a dozen. For four years in a stretch, 1929 to 1932 inclusive, Hockley county produced 30,882, 28,283, 63,108, and 52,179 bales respectively, and for a period of five successive years, 1929 to 1933 inclusive, Lamb county produced 51,151, 36,866, 79,470, 61,776, and 52,908 bales respectively. These figures are taken from the Texas Almanac published in 1936 by the Dallas News and were compiled by the U. S. Bureau of the Census, showing the number of bales ginned in each county for the years indicated.

Castro county lies a little farther north and is outside the cotton belt proper, but it is one of the heaviest wheat producing counties in the state. According to the Texas Almanac, in the dry year of 1935, it produced 1,195,903 bushels of wheat. Only six counties in the state exceeded this production, and all of them lie on the plains or in the Panhandle. They are Carson with a production of 2,033,972 bushels, Floyd with 1,722,665 bushels, Hale with 2,167,809 bushels, Hansford with 1,614,074 bushels, Ochiltree with 1,945,801 bushels, and Swisher with 1,397,538 bushels. All these were comparatively light yields, for 1935 was a dry year. But compare Castro county's production with that of Denton county, which produced only 483,022 bushels that year, Collin county, which produced only 342,699 bushels, and Grayson county, which produced 313,911 bushels, and the importance of Castro as a wheat producing county becomes apparent.

Now, in the light of these figures, we should like for the News to state whether or not it believes that these counties should be retired as agricultural counties and converted back into purely ranching propositions.

We believe that there are lands in some if not all of these and other plains counties that should be converted back into pasture lands, but the acreage which should be so converted is comparatively small. We believe further that the Resettlement Administration can do a good work, but in order to emphasize its importance, the Administration, we believe, is itself guilty of exaggeration and the spread of misleading propaganda.

The News at least should revise its map of the territory which should be retired as agricultural lands.

Flag Day, 1937

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN
National Chairman
Sentinels of the Republic

"It is a whole national history. It is the Constitution. It is the Government. It is the free people that stand in the Government, on the Constitution. Forget not what it means; and, for the sake of its meaning, be true to your country's flag."

That admonition was spoken by a great American, long decades before the observance of Flag Day on June 14 of each year became our national custom. It gains in significance as the years roll on.

For the American flag is known to the world as the symbol of human liberty. It was born in a struggle for freedom. It has carried that message wherever flown—not only over our own continent but on all the winds of the world.

Today much of the world would welcome its message. For freedom and democracy are still under fire; in many lands the rights of liberty of speech, of thought, and of endeavor—symbolized by the Stars and Stripes through its century and a half of existence—are still imperiled.

And from the political scrapheaps of those nations which exalt domination by the few over government by the many, are frequently imported ideas which, if accepted, could dilute or destroy our own clear concepts of liberty.

Flag Day, 1937, will serve a noble purpose if it reminds us of those things. It will serve a still higher one if it refreshes in all of us the determination to preserve for our own posterity that precious freedom which our fathers won for us, and which their flag and ours still proclaims to all the world.

Judge H. W. Calaway, a city man who several years ago moved to the country and is getting by with it, was here from his home near Draw Monday and stuck his head into our door to say Hello. The Judge says the rains have come just right in his locality this spring and there is more wheat and better wheat in his part of the country than ever before. He thinks the weather man, as well as the President is giving this country a new deal, and he is strong for both.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Cade were in Floydada Monday and Mr. Cade went back Wednesday. He had been invited to go and tell it to the Court. He was a witness in a case that involved a young man residing near the north line of Lynn county. Mr. Cade took a squirt at the wheat as he drove along the highways and says that some of it was fine. As to the remainder of it he didn't express himself, due possibly to his habit of observing all the rules of good politics.

After a visit of a few days here, Mrs. O. D. Pierce, the former Miss Payne Brown, returned Thursday of last week to her home at Eagle Pass. She was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Pearl Brown, who expected to visit there a couple of weeks.

Jeff Sherrod of Sterling City, 86 years of age, is here visiting his brother, F. M. Sherrod. Like his brother, F. M., he is a West Texas pioneer and has resided at Sterling City ever since the North Concho was a mere gully.

Miss Helen Park, who has been so seriously ill with meningitis, is steadily improving and is now able to be up part of the time. She hopes to be able to be back at her post in the Gagnat Hardware store in a week or two.

Mrs. J. K. Applewhite and daughters, Mrs. Prentice Walker, Greta Joyce and Dorothy Jean, visited in Ballinger last week with Mr. and Mrs. Layne Morgland, who formerly lived here. Sheila Vance Moreland returned home with them to visit in Tahoka for a few days.

Barbara Jean, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Noel Cooper, who is taking x-ray treatment for an affection of the bone in one of her legs, seems to be improving, according to reports from the family.

Elizabeth Howard of Lubbock is visiting her cousin, Patricia Hill, a few days this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Sanders and Mrs. Weldon Jones made a business trip to Lubbock Monday.

Mrs. Dudley Martin and babies of Draw visited Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Payne and family Monday.

Sheriff B. L. Parker made a trip last Sunday to Ardmore, Oklahoma, to confer with peace officers respecting Frank Dice, a prisoner there, who has signed a written confession as to a number of burglaries committed in this state and is believed to have been involved in the theft of lubricating oil from the Conoco bulk station at O'Donnell in April. Mr. Parker thinks others were also involved in this job and is persistently working on the case.

Jeff Connolly was a business visitor to Gail Monday. As much as Jeff has traveled and as many places as he has visited, he admits that this was his first trip to this historic old West Texas town. And he swears that he made the entire trip without turning his car over.

President Samuel T. Bledsoe, of the Santa Fe Railroad, shakes hands with Engineer J. W. Martin at the conclusion of the record-breaking run of the Super Chief from Los Angeles to Chicago. Standing behind Mr. Bledsoe is C. L. Rice, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce. The crack Santa Fe streamliner made the 2,228 mile run in 36 hours and 49 minutes, clipping two hours off the previous record. To break the record, the Super Chief averaged greater than 60 miles per hour for the entire distance.

Don't Irritate Gas Bloating

If you want to really GET RID OF GAS and terrible bloating, don't expect to do it by just doctoring your stomach with harsh, irritating alkalies and "gas tablets." Most gas is lodged in the stomach and upper intestine and is due to old poisonous matter in the constipated bowels which are loaded with ill-causing bacteria.

If your constipation is of long standing, enormous quantities of dangerous bacteria accumulate. Then your digestion is upset. GAS often presses heart and lungs, making life miserable. You can't eat or sleep. Your head aches. Your back aches. Your complexion is sallow and simply "Your breath is foul. You are a sick, grouchy, wretched, unhappy person. YOUR SYSTEM IS POISONED."

Thousands of sufferers have found in Adierka the quick, scientific way to rid their systems of harmful bacteria. Adierka rids you of gas and cleanses foul poisons out of BOTH upper and lower bowels. Give your bowels a REAL cleansing with Adierka. Get rid of GAS. It is not gas that is not gas—is not habit forming. At all Leading Druggists.

Watch Your Kidneys!

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.

Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength.

Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder may be burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Wide Use of Prints for Sports Togs

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

WHEN the world takes a holiday at the beach, tennis court, golf course, aboard ship or wherever vacation lures the playful, watch prints. We promise you that you will see prints this summer such as you have never seen before, armies of them, droves of them, processions of them!

It would seem as if style creators are just discovering that if there is one place more than another where riotously gay prints lend themselves dramatically to the picture, it is at the beach and its environs. The vibrant blue and green hues of the sea, the vast dome of a glamorous opalescent sky, the bright glare of the sun, the stretches of golden sand call to the colors, and to more color and more in the fashion parade.

So it is that prints for beach and for swim wear have become a hobby with designers this summer. Needless to say, for the most part it's linens and cottons that "steal the show" when it comes to rollicking, frolicking beach and sea-going costumes. The grand thing about the spectacular printed linens and cottons that are so thrillingly enlivening the pageantry of fashion where sea-breezes blow is that you can wear them with all confidence, knowing that they have been scientifically processed so that they won't shrink and they won't lose their high color no matter how wet the water, no matter how many duckings they get, no matter how relentlessly scorching sun rays attack. This assurance of non-shrinkage and of color endurance that goes with modern wash materials has, as a matter of fact, proved persuasive in encouraging the movement that is now on of featuring tub prints in a big way for beach fashions and also for swim suits.

As to whether you don linen or cotton in the existent orgy of prints that is being staged on land or sea is entirely a matter of choice since one is declared as good style as the other. A truly amphibian suit done in the modern spirit is worn by the exultant water nymph centered in the accompanying picture. A swim suit of this type, made of print, the patterning of which is as smart and distinctive as is this patterning and which is guaranteed sanforized shrunk as is this print, will do honor to even the most ultra-of-ultra cruise wardrobes.

Any girl would look pert and modern in the clever sport pajamas here shown. It is one of the newer prints that have so much swank and at the same time so many practical advantages not only for beach wear but for house wear as well. This gaily patterned linen washes like a hankie.

And do for fashion's sake see the cunning play suit to the right in the group. Yes, you can have a costume exactly like it, buy it already made or get the material and sew your own. The new Hungarian cotton prints such as have been used for the making of this fetching outfit are selling as fast as they can be measured off on the yard-stick. The colors are rich and glowing and the prints faithfully reproduce original old-world fabrics. The trick is to make them up in keeping with their quaint design, in just some such peasant manner as here shown. Full skirt of course and rather short is according to the prescribed formula. Tune it to practical active sports wear by choosing a divided-skirt pattern. Let the bodice be backless for comfort and for "style" on a hot summer day. And to the entire add a smart bolero to give it that picturesque peasant flavor which fashion thinks so well of this season.

To Clean Varnished Floor.—Clean off well with steel wool and benzine and, when thoroughly dry, re-varnish.

To Remove Lettering.—When making tea towels or the like from cotton sacks, soak the sacks for several hours in kerosene before washing, to remove lettering.

Swedish Eggs.—Make a rich white sauce with milk butter, very little flour or cornflour, mustard, salt and finely chopped parsley.

Boil the required number of eggs for four minutes; they must be allowed to get hard. Shell them, cover with the sauce and serve at once.

When Cleaning Mirrors.—Be very careful about using so much water that it trickles under the frame. A semi-dry method of cleaning is preferable.

Salmon Wiggle.—One small can peas or fresh peas in season; one pound can salmon, flaked; one pimiento chopped fine; two tablespoons butter, two tablespoons flour, two cups milk. Seasoning. Melt butter, add flour and seasonings. Stir in milk slowly and cook until thick and smooth. Add salmon, peas and pimiento. Serve hot on toast or in puff paste shells.

TIPLESS GLOVES
By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Here it is, the latest step toward chic and toward greater freedom—the tipless glove, cut to show brightly polished nails. The open-air fever, starting with toeless shoes and crownless hats, has gone to the fingers. If your gloves are copper red as gloves and accessories are apt to be these days it's robin-red nail polish you'll be wanting. The suit is of horizon blue, softest feather-weight woolen. The wide revers, the modified umbrella skirt, the squared shoulders and the boxy jacket with its jaunty swing make this smart street-and-travel costume as modish as it is practical.

PASTEL LACES FOR WEDDING DRESSES

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Pastel laces for the wedding gown, as well as the bridal party's dresses are a new note this season, and one that bids fair to gain in popularity through the season. Very pale pastels are used, so pale that they are almost white, and yet have a special shimmer that would not be attained by plain white. One of the loveliest of these pastel wedding gowns that we have seen is of palest blue linen thread, and the edge of the train, and the edge of the slit skirt, are scalloped with the scalloping accented by tiny-pleated net in the same blue. The neckline, too, is edged with the fine net pleating.

Net, as well as lace, ranks highly for bridal gowns this season. Silk net, particularly, is adapted to molding the figure, and when cut on a princess line, accenting the slender figure, it makes a truly beautiful bridal gown. And whereas net veils are prevalent over lace bridal gowns, a net wedding dress is best set off by a lovely lace wedding veil. One veil that we have seen, over a net gown, was of lace, and very short. A bertha collar of lace was attached to the net train, the lace forming borders on the sides of the train.

Summer Velvet
Summer velvet is taking its place in the sun. The sheer quality of the fabric with its rich velvet pattern adapts itself particularly well to summer wedding clothes.

Gloves
Gloves deserve a whole chapter in themselves. They mirror fashion trends as clearly as clothes. Femininity is uppermost.

Flowers Everywhere
Flowers are everywhere. It is newest to wear two boutonnières, one on each lapel of your suit.

JOYS GLOOMS

HEY... COME ON, GLOOMS... I'VE FOUND A FAMILY THAT'S STARTING ON A PICNIC!

NICE WORK! HURRY UP MEN... WE'LL SPOIL THEIR FUN!

I HOPE DADDY HURRIES UP... SO WE CAN START!

HIST! THERE THEY ARE! GET 'EM, GLOOMS!

SAY, YOU'RE NOT STILL EXPECTING ME TO GO ON ANY PICNIC, ARE YOU?

WHY, JOHN... WE'VE BEEN WAITING FOR YOU!

WELL, GO AHEAD AND WAIT! I DIDN'T SLEEP MORE THAN TWO WINKS LAST NIGHT... AND I FEEL TERRIBLE!

WELL... IT IS HARD TO FEEL SORRY FOR YOU! THE DOCTOR TOLD YOU COFFEE-NERVES CAUSED YOUR SLEEPLESSNESS... BUT YOU WON'T PAY ANY ATTENTION!

IF YOU WOULD CUT OUT COFFEE FOR 30 DAYS AND DRINK POSTUM INSTEAD AS THE DOCTOR TOLD YOU TO, YOU WOULDN'T FEEL SO BAD ALL THE TIME!

BEAT IT, GLOOMS... POSTUM LICKS US AGAIN!

OH, WELL... YOU TO, YOU MAYBE I WILL TRY IT!

30 DAYS LATER

YES, SIR! HIS DISPOSITION IS SURE SUNNY SINCE HE GOT RID OF HIS HEADACHES AND SLEEPLESSNESS!

WHAT FUN THESE PEOPLE HAVE HAD SINCE HE GOT RID OF HIS HEADACHES AND SLEEPLESSNESS!

YOUR MONEY BACK... IF SWITCHING TO POSTUM DOESN'T HELP YOU!

If you cannot safely drink coffee... try Postum's 30-day test. Buy a can of Postum and drink it instead of coffee for a full month. If... after 30 days... you do not feel better, return the top of the Postum container to General Foods, Battle Creek, Michigan, and we will cheerfully refund the full purchase price, plus postage! (If you live in Canada, address General Foods, Ltd., Cobourg, Ont.) Postum contains no caffeine. It is simply whole wheat and bran, roasted and slightly sweetened. Postum comes in two forms... Postum Cereal, the kind you boil or percolate... and Instant Postum, made instantly in the cup. It is economical, easy to make and delicious. You may miss coffee at first, but after 30 days, you'll love Postum for its own rich, full-bodied flavor. A General Foods Product. (This offer expires Dec. 31, 1937.)

Don't be a Gloom! DRINK POSTUM!

A seven pound daughter was born to Postmaster and Mrs. W. E. (Happy) Smith in a Lubbock hospital last Saturday night. Mother and babe are both doing well, but Hap has been somewhat out of his head all the week. He has been trying to wear out the new highway between Tahoka and Lubbock, and the boys over at the post office have had a hard time trying to get any assistance from their boss. But Hap is to be excused. He always did like girls, and this is the third one in a row in his family.

Mrs. C. A. Lawrence, Miss Marjorie and Russell were here from Idalou last Saturday to spend the day with Assistant County Agent C. A. Lawrence.

Allred Approves Tech Library

Governor James V. Allred on Tuesday approved the appropriation of $275,000 recently made by the legislature for the construction of a library building at the Texas Technological College.

This is a building for which the Tech has been working and longing for several years. With 2500 to 3000 students the past few years, it has had library facilities for only 300, it is said.

Senator G. H. Nelson is given much of the credit for the appropriation being made. Spencer A. Wells, vice-chairman of the board of regents, is quoted as saying that the success of their efforts is due in a large measure to the "decidedly meritorious work of Sen. G. H. Nelson on the finance committee of the senate and chairman of the sub-committee that considered the education appropriation for the upper house's finance committee and that he "deserves special credit for the masterful manner in which he maneuvered Tech's needs in free conference committee of the senate." He also called attention to the senator's managing to include also in the bill appropriation for cottages and pavement on the college campus, according to the Lubbock Avalanche.

Wells also gave due credit to the "excellent work" done by Representative Doyle Settle in the House.

Bascomb McCord says most of the cotton in the east half of the county is looking fine. He took a spin over this territory the first of the week and came back highly pleased with prospects. Very little replanting is necessary. The cotton has come up with a long shank and looks thrifty, especially in the Grassland country. But the weeds have come too and he says quick work will have to be done to clean out the crops.

Mrs. R. P. Weathers and daughter, Mrs. Bill Sewell, returned Sunday from a ten days visit with relatives in Corpus Christi. We never heard of either R. P. or Bill doing a single questionable thing while their wives were gone. The conduct of both was absolutely blameless. It's your treat, boys.

Mr. D. W. Gignat, Charles, and Myrna Dean left Sunday morning for Kansas City, accompanied by Mr. Gignat's father and mother, who had visited here a few days. Among the pleasures which were theirs while here was the privilege of attending the graduation exercises of the Tahoka High School, when they saw Charles receive his diploma.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Patterson returned a few days ago from a two months visit with relatives at Abilene and Seymour. They had a pleasant visit, but of course they were glad to get back to good old Lynn county, in spite of the fact that they found it distressingly wet out here.

Mrs. B. H. Baker of Clovis, New Mexico, and her guest for the past several weeks, Miss Mary Seroyer of this city, drove down to Tahoka Thursday afternoon of last week and spent the night with Mrs. Verner Smith, returning to Clovis Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel D. Bacon and children of Skidmore, Bee county, who have been here the past week visiting the C. W. Conway family, left for their home Thursday morning, accompanied by Mary Ellen Conway, who will visit there a few weeks. Mrs. Bacon and Mrs. Conway are sisters.

Mrs. Travis Davis has been in a most critical condition the past several days from heart trouble. Her many friends are hoping that her condition may soon show a decided turn for the better.

Mahon Asks ROTC For Texas Tech

Washington, D. C. June 9.—Congressman George Mahon appeared last week before the Senate Appropriations Committee urging that funds and officers for an additional ROTC unit at Texas Technological College be provided. The item would be included in the War Department appropriation bill which is under consideration by the Senate Committee at this time. He had previously presented the matter to major General E. T. Conley, Adjutant General of the Army.

Texas Tech was given a Senior Engineering ROTC unit last year, and the work which has already been accomplished has received high recognition by War Department officials. The report of the ROTC Inspector from Fort Sam Houston, headquarters for the Eighth Corps Area, made March 1 this year, recommended that an additional unit be established at the College, preferably a Field Artillery unit. This type of unit would make the training available to about 1200 students at the College who are ineligible for training in the existing Engineering unit which is open to engineering students.

The outcome of the matter will depend upon the disposition by the House and Senate of the proposed appropriation item for funds and personnel. The War Department advised Mr. Mahon that the Texas Tech application for such a unit was in excellent standing.

Superintendent W. G. Barrett and County Tax Assessor and Collector A. M. Cade chased off down to Knox City on some unrevealed mission last week and they drove off the pavement somewhere on the route into the mud, and it was some mud, they declare. Lots of rain had fallen in that section of the West.

Mrs. Jim Wetzel and Baby Tot leave today (Friday) for a two or three weeks visit with Mrs. Wetzel's daughter, Mrs. P. A. North, at Arp, Smith county.

Miss Minnie Hood, teacher in the Shamrock public schools, is home for the summer. She will teach at Shamrock again next year. Miss Hood is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Hood, who reside near Central Church eleven miles east of Tahoka.

Mrs. A. P. Martin of Tulsa spent Saturday and Sunday here visiting her sister, Mrs. I. I. Gattis.

Miss Eva Douthitt underwent a minor operation in the Lubbock Sanitarium last Friday morning, having her tonsils removed.

Donnie Sue Milliken is spending the week at Levelland with her sister, Mrs. W. C. Mathis Jr., the former Miss Tommy Milliken.
