Hot, Dry Weather Boon To Crops Of County

Some Farmers Beginning To Wish For Shower, However; Good Crop In Prospect

The continued hot weather the past week has been a boon to farmers, though, some of them say that they would be glad to have a shower now.

The favorable weather has enabled them to work out a large part of their crops, though many still report the weeds bad. Many hoe hands are going out from town each day assisting the farmers in cleaning out the weeds and grass.

Cotton has been growing rapidly as a general rule, though we have heard reports to the effect that a field now and then is not doing so well.

The acreage is larger than it has been for years, and if a fairly good yield per acre should be produced the total crop harvested in this county this fall will be one of the largest in the history of the county.

Due to the fact that the foreign demand for American cotton has been decreasing each year for the past several years, it is almost certain that if a large crop should be produced this year the price next fall will be much lower than it has been the past two or three years. The gathering of a large crop, however, would give much employment to idle labor, and our country will probably be swarming with cotton pickers from other parts of the state by the last of October.

Fed crops are still doing well but a good rain would be helpful.

Baptist Revival Meeting Continues

The revival services which are being conducted at the Baptist Church will come to a close Sunday night.

The preacher, Rev. J. W. Williams has been bringing some very fine messages, discussing many of the fundamental teachings of the Bible. Mr. Ira M. Powell, director of music, has also been doing excellent work in this capacity, his solos being especially appealing and helpful.

Some of the best services of the meeting have been the morning services, according to those attending. The services given especially for the elderly people last Friday morning and the "experience" meeting on Wednesday morning of this week were outstanding hours.

The crowds at the night services have not been as large as had been hoped. To date there have been only a few professions of faith and additions to the church.

The Methodist Church dispensed with its services last Sunday night and will do so again next Sunday night in order that the members might attend the revival services.

Tahoka Boys Taking Courses In Radio

Harris Frazier left Tuesday of last week for Port Arthur to take a seven months radio course.

Vance Gildersleeve, who has also been a resident of Tahoka the past four years, left Saturday for Port Arthur, where he expected to take the same course. He went in company with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Gildersleeve, who were moving to Yorktown. They were to accompany Vance to Port Arthur and return to Yorktown a few days later.

The course which these boys are taking includes electrical engineering, typing, and sending and receiving. They will get two months of practical experience in these subjects.

Baptist Meeting At Dixie Next Week

Rev. S. K. McCulloch, pastor of the Baptist Church at New Home, announces that he will begin a revival meeting in the Methodist Church at Dixie next Sunday afternoon.

Lee Frazier of Hagerman, N. M., known as the "dream singer," will lead the song services.

Electrical "Short" Injures Two. At Bottling Plant

Toy Ketner And Newt Smith Were Victims of Near-Serious Accident Last Tuesday

Toy Ketner and Newt Smith were the victims of an extremely shocking and near-serious accident Tuesday morning while undertaking to move a crowning machine at the Tahoka Bottling Works where they are employed. G. C. Payne was also considerably shocked but not so seriously injured.

While moving this machine, which is operated electrically, it evidently "shorted out" and the entire voltage of the electric current passed through their bodies. Practically all of Newt's teeth were knocked loose and a bad injury to the mouth and lips was sustained, while the visible evidence of Toy's injuries are a blistered spot in the mouth and on one of the legs. Payne was only shocked.

When the current struck, Newt was knocked or fell loose from the machine, but Toy stood transfixed and was unable to tear himself loose. Smith and Payne finally got a rubber hose and threw around Toy's head and neck and succeeded in pulling him loose.

By that time, Paul Howell and others working near by, hearing the calls and groans of the injured men, rushed into the building. A physician was called and their injuries treated but neither Smith nor Ketner was able to be back at the bottling plant Tuesday or Wednesday.

Mavis Brasfield Is Hurt In Accident

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hartman were called to Odessa Tuesday by the serious condition of Mrs. Hartman's sister, Miss Mavis Brasfield of Andrews, whose skull was fractured Saturday in a fall from a moving automobile on the streets of Odessa. They returned to Tahoka Wednesday afternoon, reporting the condition of the patient as somewhat improved.

Miss Mavis was riding on the running board of a car filled with other young people when in some way she lost her balance and fell off, her head striking the pavement with such force as to fracture the skull. She was taken to a hospital in Odessa for treatment. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Brasfield and resided here for a number of years, the family removing to Andrews last year.

Miss Mavis has many friends here who hope that her recovery may be speedy and complete.

Cecil Ayers Joins Spur School Force

Cecil Ayers, teacher of vocational agriculture in the Tahoka high school the past year, left Thursday for his new field of labor at Spur. He has been elected to a similar position in the high school there at an increase in salary.

Although Mr. Ayers came to Tahoka only a year ago without any experience as a teacher, he gave entire satisfaction and evidently did a good work here.

Not only will he receive a higher salary at Spur than he did here, but his responsibilities will be much heavier. There are about 350 pupils in the high school there against approximately 200 in the high school here.

While Tahoka friends regret Mr. Ayers' removal, they are congratulating him upon his promotion and hope that he may enjoy marked success in his new location.

Chester Huffstodler, successor to Ayers here, and wife will move to Tahoka about July 15. It is said, and will reside in the Fred Barker home. Mr. Huffstodler is taking some special work in Texas Tech this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Barrett and children have been visiting Mrs. Barrett's mother at Dawson, near Waco, the past week.

Bill Burleson and Jack Applewhite were business visitors in Amarillo Wednesday.

Tahoka Business Houses Will Be Closed Monday, July 5th

Since July 4 falls on Sunday, the business men of Tahoka will observe Monday as a holiday this year.

A few months ago a committee appointed by the Rotary Club conferred with the business men and as the result of the conference they circulated an agreement which practically all the business men signed naming four days in the year to be observed as holidays, namely, July 4, Armistice Day, Thanksgiving Day, and Christmas.

It is believed that practically every business man in town except those operating cafes will close Monday. The town will probably be "air-tight" on that day. Car owners should be sure to have their gasoline tanks filled on Saturday. At any rate they should not wait till Monday morning and then expect to buy gasoline, for probably all the filling stations will be closed.

Some of our people will probably observe the day by remaining at home, some will visit relatives and friends elsewhere, while some will resort to the public parks and other amusement resorts for entertainment.

There will be little business transacted in Tahoka Monday.

Mrs. Hegi Attends Nat'l. Meeting

Mrs. Fred B. Hegi, teacher-elect of home economics in Tahoka High School, last week attended the annual convention of the American Home Economics Association, held in Kansas City. She reports 3,000 home economists from over the nation were present, and thinks she received much information that will help her to make the work of the department in the local high school more successful.

Mrs. Hegi also visited with her parents, Senator and Mrs. H. E. Cox, at Goodrich, Kansas.

Mrs. Hegi assumed her work in the Tahoka home economics department June 1, and this summer is assisting a class of girls with their home ec. projects.

Rev. W. K. Johnston Is In Sanitarium

Many friends here will regret to learn that Rev. W. K. Johnston of Lubbock, pastor of the Presbyterian Church here, is rather seriously ill in the Lubbock Sanitarium.

Rev. Mr. Johnston was taken ill at Morton several weeks ago. He was taken to the home of his son, Dr. Johnston, at Levelland, suffering from pneumonia. Later still he was taken to the Sanitarium.

Friends here are solicitous as to his condition but hopeful that he may speedily and completely recover.

Gildersleeves Go To South Texas

L. D. Gildersleeve and family left Saturday for their new home at Yorktown, DeWitt county, where Mr. Gildersleeve will continue his work as rural mail carrier.

Mr. Gildersleeve and family have been residents of Tahoka since April 1, 1933, coming to this place from Mercedes in the lower Rio Grande Valley. He has been carrier here at different times on routes 3, 5, and 2, No. 2 being his most recent route. He not only gave eminent satisfaction to his patrons, but he and family made many fast friends while here who regret their removal.

Public spirited and capable, Mr. Gildersleeve has taken an active part in the work of the state, district, and local rural letter carriers associations. For two years he was president of the West Texas Rural Letter Carriers Association, whose territory embraces eleven counties.

Mr. Gildersleeve will not actually begin work at Yorktown for a few days yet, since at this particular time he is taking the annual vacation allowed each carrier.

H. L. Roddy and family of Yorktown arrived here Thursday, Mr. Roddy succeeding Mr. Gildersleeve as carrier on route 2 here.

T. I. Tippit has been suffering intense pain the past few days from an infection of one of the hands. It was blistered a few days ago while operating a tractor, and the sore became infected. His whole hand and fore-arm are badly inflamed.

Alton Cain of the Gaignat Hardware store was in Lubbock Monday attending an Electrolux Service school and Tuesday an Electrolux sales meeting.

Board Elects Two Primary Teachers

Two newly elected teachers having already resigned the places to which they were elected in the Tahoka schools for 1937-38, the school board last Thursday night elected Miss Gwen Marr Davis of Plainview and Miss Ernestine Herring of Lubbock. They will teach in the primary grades.

Miss Davis, daughter of the superintendent of Plainview schools, graduates from Texas Tech this summer and has had special training in the direction of playground activities, glee and chorus clubs, and dramatics, as well as classroom work.

Miss Herring, likewise a Texas Tech graduate, has had special training in music, dramatics, and declamation instruction.

These two teachers were elected to succeed Miss Helen Helton of Canadian and Mrs. Claude Gentry of Crosbyton, resigned.

Mrs. Edwards Cuts Arm On Window

Mrs. Burton Edwards was the victim of a rather unusual accident a few days ago when she received an ugly wound on the fore-arm while trying to raise or lower a window.

The sash fit tight in the frame and when it finally moved under the force she was exerting her hand slipped and broke out the glass. The broken glass cut a very severe and painful gash in the arm.

Grassland Farmers Trying Irrigation

While irrigation of crops has not been needed in Lynn county thus far this year, yet a number of farmers in the vicinity of Grassland are prepared to irrigate portions of their crops if and when it should become necessary.

In fact, two or three of them irrigated small patches last year. Among these was Claude Thomas. He had a well from which he irrigated 20 acres of cotton, and from this patch he gathered 25 bales. This year he drilled another well, and with the two wells is prepared to irrigate a hundred acres if it becomes necessary to irrigate at all.

Wesley Greer, who lives a mile west of Grassland, also has two good wells, both drilled this spring, and K. D. Probst living just east of Grassland has one well.

But the best well in that vicinity is the one on the E. A. Thomas place. It is said to be capable of producing as much as any other two wells yet drilled.

Six-inch and eight-inch piping are used to convey the water out of these wells. While some of the wells have weakened under constant pumping, each of them seems sufficiently strong to irrigate several acres of land during even the driest years, and each of them is probably worth thousands of dollars to the owners.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Powers and daughter, Miss Pauline, of Alhambra, California, arrived Wednesday last week for a visit with their daughter and sister, Mrs. Egbert Evans, in the Dixie community. The Powers family once lived in Tahoka, moving from here to California about fifteen years ago.

Drink Of Kerosene Fatal To Young Mexican Girl

Three-Year-Old Girl Drinks Cup Of Oil, Lives Only A Short Time

Adele Garcia, 3-year-old daughter of Edgar Garcia and wife who reside on the John Evans farm eleven miles north of Tahoka, died in a physician's office here late Thursday afternoon of last week from drinking kerosene.

The parents and two sons were in the field hoeing, having left Adele and an older sister at the house.

The older child had taken a bucket of kerosene down from a shelf and put some of it in the container of an oil stove unthoughtfully leaving the bucket sitting on the floor. The younger child came along, picked up a cup, dipped up some of the kerosene and drank it, evidently thinking it was water. The older girl ran to the field and notified the parents. J. C. Powers of Alhambra, California, who was visiting the Egbert Evans family, rushed the child and its parents to Tahoka in his car at a terrific speed, but the child was in a dying condition when they reached Dr. Turrentine's office. It died few minutes later.

The remains were buried in the Tahoka Cemetery Friday afternoon under the direction of the Harris Funeral Home. Services were conducted by Rev. John H. Ferguson, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene.

Meeting Of Baptist Workers In Lubbock

A meeting of Baptist workers of district No. 9 was held in Lubbock Monday for the purpose of promoting throughout this district the state-wide evangelistic campaign which is to begin next Sunday and continue throughout July and August. The announced goal of the campaign is 100,000 conversions. About 450 workers attended the meeting.

Heading the delegation from Tahoka were Rev. Geo. A. Dale, local pastor, and Rev. J. W. Williams of Hobbs and Ira M. Powell of Big Spring, here conducting revival services. Others attending were: Mmes. Geo. A. Dale, C. T. Oliver, D. V. Smith, F. M. Billman, J. R. McIntyre, Wiley Fortenberry, J. B. Walker, P. W. Goad, R. C. Wells, E. I. Hill, and Misses Margaret Preston, Berta Hill, Valerie Wells, and Genell Fortenberry.

Attend Dinner For Lamar Forrest

Homer St. Clair and Joe Nevils attended the lumberman's dinner given at the Hilton Hotel in Lubbock Tuesday evening and night in honor of Lamar Forrest of Lamesa, who was recently elected president of the State Lumbermen's Association.

They report that about 200 lumbermen, most of them from West Texas, were in attendance.

The principal address of the occasion was delivered by G. H. Zimmerman of Waco, president of the Wm. Cameron Lumber Company. Other brief speeches were made, including one by Mr. Forrest himself.

Mr. Forrest started into the lumber business at Slaton, where he resided many years. Later, he established several other lumber yards in this section of the state, including one in Tahoka, which was operated a few years and then discontinued. A few years ago he removed to Lamesa, where he has since resided.

Mr. Forrest is not only a successful lumberman but he is a forward-looking, progressive citizen, who has done much to promote the development and the interests of this section of the state.

We regret to report that the condition of Summer Knight does not show much improvement. He has been suffering lately from rheumatism in one of the hands, together with his other ailments, and is still confined to his room. Mrs. Knight is planning to take him to Hot Springs, New Mexico, for treatment as soon as he becomes physically able to go.

West Part Central Ward Building Is For Sale

Board Is Again Advertising Old Abandoned School, Built In 1911, For Sale

The older part of the now abandoned Central Ward school building is again being offered for sale by the Tahoka school board, the building to be wrecked and removed from the grounds. Such was the decision of the board at a meeting Thursday night.

The action was taken as the result of a bid submitted by a Lubbock building contractor, who would move the brick and lumber to that city for use in constructing residences.

Competitive bids will be accepted by the board, however, on Tuesday, July 13, and bidding is open to all. The board reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

That part of the building offered for sale is the old part, or west half, consisting of two stories and basement, which was built in 1911. The structure may be sold either with or without the plumbing and gas fixtures and piping.

Tom Garrard, vice chairman of the State Board of Education, will ask permission of that body in its meeting next week, to wreck this school building.

The present plan of the local board is to keep the newer section of the building for any possible future needs of the district. With the present trend of elementary education toward the reduction in number of school districts by consolidation, it is possible that Tahoka will some day need more school room. Also, should we have a boom, Tahoka schools could meet the emergency. In either case, the district would not necessarily have to vote additional bonds. It is also pointed out that the fact that Tahoka already has ample school room, a surplus in fact, should be attractive to rural districts considering consolidation with a larger district because of the fact that no bonds are likely to be voted here for a good many years to come.

House Destroyed By Fire Saturday

A farm house situated several miles south of Tahoka and occupied by Sam Weathers and family was totally destroyed by fire early Saturday morning. Mr. Weathers was not at home at the time.

The origin of the fire was unknown. It caught back in the kitchen and had made great headway before it was discovered by Mrs. Weathers. Not only the house but practically all the furniture was destroyed, only a bedstead and two mattresses being saved. There was no insurance on the property.

Mr. Weathers and family are staying temporarily with Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Barnes.

King Brothers Open Lorenzo Theatre

Lee and C. B. (Boots) King last week opened a theatre in Lorenzo, Crosby county, and the business is being operated by their brother, Jack King, and Mrs. Lee King.

Lee states that the theatre opened to nice crowds. With an excellent wheat crop now being harvested and good cotton and feed crops in prospect in Crosby county, these hustling young business men should make a success of their Lorenzo venture.

Excellent Cotton On Thompson Farm

W. M. (Bill) Thompson was exhibiting some cotton blooms around town Wednesday taken from his farm six miles east of town. Right now he is all smiles—and has a right to be. He has 160 acres of cotton that is knee-high (to Bill) and almost knee-high (to Bill) beginning to bloom. The cotton was planted the last days of April and the first of May.

Bill says he lost a fine $200 mare last week. She dropped dead in her tracks while plowing in the field.

F. D. R. EYEING THIRD TERM?

Belief He Is Grows in Capital . . . State Troops Act For Peace in Strikes . . . Mediation Board Hits Snags

"Humanizing" the Majority

AS MAJORITY members of congress met on Jefferson island in Chesapeake bay with President Roosevelt, to have their relations with the chief executive "humanized," the belief in Washington circles that the President is willing to accept a third term expanded to the greatest proportions thus far.

The spark which touched off the latest cloakroom hissing of a third term was the declaration by Gov. George H. Earle of Pennsylvania that he would give "unqualified and final" support to a Roosevelt - for - President movement in 1940.

Further reports had it that John L. Lewis, chairman of the Committee for Industrial Organization and leader of the sit-down strikes that have swept the nation, was working toward the same end. The President has only indirectly disavowed such an ambition. He said at his victory dinner:

"My great ambition on January 20, 1941, is to turn over this desk and chair in the White House to my successor, whoever he may be, with the assurance that I am at the same time turning over to him as President a nation intact, a nation at peace, a nation prosperous . . ."

The "humanizing" on Jefferson island was interpreted as attempts to salvage the New Deal programs, which have been getting a mild kicking around in congress of late, through heart-to-heart talks between Mr. Roosevelt and his supporters in the Capitol.

Several pieces of attempted legislation, most notably the President's Supreme Court bill, have apparently created a split between the conservatives and liberals in the Democratic party. The President's continued silence throughout the C. I. O. strikes has been a factor, too. Democratic members of congress are puzzled to decide whether the President is unwittingly bringing about the split, or is doing so deliberately with an eye to freezing out the conservatives and creating a completely liberal party.

They would also like to know whether he is silently supporting John L. Lewis or is simply giving the C. I. O. leader plenty of rope with which to hang himself.

States Patrol Strike Areas
AS NATIONAL guardsmen, ordered out by Gov. Martin L. Davey, arrived on the scene to protect the public peace in Ohio cities where C. I. O. steel strikes have caused bloodshed and threatened more, violence dwindled, temporarily at least, to the throwing of a few stones and choice epithets.

At Warren, troops dispersed pickets and allowed loyal workmen to move in and out of the Republic Steel plant. A general strike which the C. I. O. had ordered and claimed to be 40 to 70 per cent effective was recalled after a day, with the threat, "The next time our men are called out, it will be on even a larger scale."

At Youngstown the strikers were celebrating the order by which several hundred state troops were forcing the four plants of Republic and the Youngstown Sheet & Tube company to remain closed. Then Gov. Davey reversed his order, commanding troops to keep the plants open.

Shortly before the arrival of the troops, in Youngstown two C. I. O. strikers had been killed and 25 persons injured as strikers and local police fought for hours in front of a Republic plant.

Bethlehem Steel's plant at Johnstown, Pa., was closed and kept closed for several days by Pennsylvania state police under instructions from Governor Earle. Martial law was finally lifted.

Any eastward movement of the sit-down strikes was given something of a setback when strikers in

"Terrible Resurrection"

By FLOYD GIBBONS Famous Headline Hunter

YOU know, boys and girls, there are all kinds of fear. Some of them are worse than others, and the fear that comes on you when death is staring you right in the eye comes pretty close to being the worst of them all. But there is one kind of fear that is worse than even the terror of approaching destruction.

Martin J. Colbert, Chicago, had a taste of that sort of terror once—the kind of fear that has been known to make men's minds crack and turn them into gibbering idiots. Mart had an experience with the ghastly unknown. He saw the impossible happen.

He saw something that couldn't be explained except as the horrible manifestation of some ghastly supernatural hand. He saw a row of dead and buried corpses start rising from their grave!

It was a thing terrifying enough to make hardened men drop senseless from sheer fright. It shook Mart Colbert to the very marrow of his bones. All this happened in 1902, along about the end of June. For several years Mart had been in South Africa, fighting with the British forces in the Boer war.

Solemn Duty Precedes Big Celebration.

When peace was declared at the end of May, 1902, he was a soldier in the Fifth R. I. Lancers, a cavalry regiment, stationed about fifty miles from its depot at Naawport, Cape Colony.

When the good news was received, the Lancers packed up and started back to their depot, and when they arrived there it was announced that they had two weeks in which to clean up and rest, and get ready for one last job they would have to do before returning to England. That job was to bring in the dead, scattered in temporary graves throughout the country, for reburial in a military cemetery.

The two-week rest period passed all too quickly and Mart was detailed to a squad consisting of himself, three other privates and a sergeant, commanded by Lieutenant Cooper.

They proceeded to a point about fifteen miles from Naawport, where the Lancers had been in action some time before, and where a number of their men had fallen and were buried.

The Kind of Work That Raises Goose-Flesh.

Arriving at the spot, the men started to work at their grisly and unpleasant job. It was open country, and there was an abandoned farmhouse about a quarter of a mile away.

The lieutenant carried a rough map, made in the field, which showed where all the dead of the regiment were buried, and he pointed out the graves which were to be dug up.

It was the sort of work that gave the men the jitters. They dug up the bodies of two of their old buddies, but none of them relished the job

Corpses began pushing their way up out of the ground!

As they took the second man out of his grave, one of the men discovered a third grave close by. It was a wide grave—much wider than the other. When it was pointed out to the lieutenant he said it looked as if several bodies were buried there together.

He looked on his map, but this grave didn't appear on it. Whatever was underneath that broad mound, it was evident that it contained none of the Lancers' dead. But in order to be on the safe side, the lieutenant ordered the men to dig up that grave as they had dug up the others.

Their Eyes Couldn't Believe What They Saw.

It was that grave which was to give Mart and his buddies the most terrible fright of their lives.

The men were taking turns with the spades. Two men at a time went down into the graves to do the digging. Mart and another fellow had dug down the first couple of feet, and now two other men were in there digging.

Mart, another private, Sergeant Kirby and the lieutenant were standing at the edge of the pit, watching the others work. The two diggers had worked their way down to about a level of four feet below the ground. Their spades were working rhythmically, tossing out one scooping of earth after another.

Mart was looking at the bottom of the grave, when suddenly, his whole body stiffened. The other men saw it too.

The earth at the bottom of the grave began to move. Dirt and stones fell aside, and a row of long buried corpses—hardly more than skeletons—began pushing their way up out of the ground!

Strong Men Fainted in Terror.

Down in the grave, the two diggers dropped—unconscious from sheer terror. Mart, with the icy hand of fear clutching at him, turned and ran. The rest of the men did likewise.

No sensation Mart has ever known could quite equal that strange, horrible feeling that came over him at the sight of those long-dead skeletons pushing their way up through the earth at the bottom of their common grave!

They ran full tilt for about fifty feet—and then they stopped, looking at each other in fear and wonder. They looked back at the grave, but there was no other sign of life there.

Then they got a grip on themselves. What about the two men who had been digging—the men who were now lying senseless in that ghastly pit with its row of moving corpses? They had to get them out of there.

Explanation Is a Satisfactory One.

They went back slowly—reluctantly. The men were still lying there unconscious. The corpses—a row of bones clad in rotted clothing and topped by grinning skulls, were where they had been when they last saw them. They had moved upward a few inches and then stopped. They went down and pulled out the two unconscious men—and found out the explanation of the whole grisly business.

The corpses had been buried on a bed spring. It had collapsed with the weight of the earth that was piled on it, but as the men dug down, the pressure was relieved, until, when the earth was almost all shoveled away, the spring rebounded again, pushing the bodies upward.

"We found that this was a Boer's grave—probably people from the abandoned farmhouse a quarter of a mile away," says Mart. "We could tell that by the remains of civilian clothing that still hung to the bodies. The lieutenant ordered us to put the bones back in place and fill up the grave again. But afterward, we did no more digging for the rest of the day."

Oldest Catholic Settlement

According to "Famous First Facts," the first Catholic church settlement was formed at St. Augustine, Florida, in 1565, though Mass was said as early as 1524 in Manhattan island for Verazzano and probably earlier services were held by the explorers from Greenland. Figures on church membership in the Catholic Almanac indicate highest percentage of Catholics to church members in New Mexico, lowest in North Carolina.

Carbon Monoxide

Carbon monoxide gas in itself is not harmful nor toxic. It is dangerous due to the fact that it produces oxygen starvation. Gradual starvation is more dangerous than sudden saturations by much larger quantities. Carbon monoxide poisoning is a serious matter at sea level. The medical profession claims that thousands of persons are daily affected to some degree by this gas. Serious, even fatal, poisoning is common.

SEEN and HEARD around the NATIONAL CAPITAL By Carter Field

Washington. — Congress is all headed for a big high tariff drive. So far it has no head, no organization. But that is bound to come. Up to date it is an individual industry and district situation. Some hundreds of different industries, which compete with imported products, are pounding away on their senators and representatives insisting that amendments to the tariff law be passed. They want the rates on their products boosted high enough to make up for the increases in cost of production since the present rates were written, plus the increased costs to come when the pending wages and hours legislation is written into law.

For instance, take the manufacturers of women's shoes, up in Edith Nourse Rogers' Massachusetts district. Their principal foreign competition comes from Czechoslovakia. They had a duty of 20 per cent on women's shoes. Some time back they made a case before the tariff commission and succeeded in convincing the commission so completely that the commission gave them as big a boost as the law would permit—fifty per cent. This made the duty on sewn women's shoes 30 per cent.

But even this is not enough, even for present conditions, to equalize costs of production, the manufacturers say. Besides which, the Czechs have been sending in cemented instead of sewn shoes lately, and these have to pay only 20 per cent.

But when the new wages and hours law goes into effect, they point out, they will simply have to close down unless the tariff is boosted beyond the present legal capacity of the tariff commission to raise it. In short, they must have an act of congress.

It Doesn't Happen

Politically speaking the idea of putting through a bill to raise the duty on shoes and shoes alone is almost unthinkable. It simply does not happen. Always there are more representatives from districts which buy shoes but do not make them and who therefore are inclined to vote against a measure which would have the effect of increasing the cost of living for their constituents.

This apparently does not occur to the shoe manufacturers. But it will to the representatives of shoe manufacturing districts before many days pass. For the interesting part of the situation is that shoes are just one of about a hundred industries which are worried to death by the increased costs the wages and hours bill is going to impose on them.

All of them are screaming to their friends on Capitol Hill that they will have to close down when the wages and hours bill goes into effect—unless they can get enough additional tariff protection to deprive the foreign manufacturers of this advantage.

The late Representative William P. Connerly, of Massachusetts, who introduced the wages and hours bill in the house, attempted to meet the problem. His bill would bar goods produced without regard for the wages and hours restrictions of the bill. The senate draft has the words "in any state" after the word "production." Connerly left these out.

But no one takes this seriously. They think it would be impossible to enforce, and they are certain his idea will disappear before the final passage of the bill.

Worries Treasury

One trouble about the gold situation—which is causing furore on Capitol Hill and gray hairs in the Treasury department—is that the gold producing and holding nations just don't believe us!

If they could be sure that Uncle Sam was not going to reduce the price of gold—in dollars—from thirty-five an ounce, the desire to sell just might fall off amazingly. Of course, it's true that gold is worth a little less to a good many foreign sellers than thirty-five good American dollars. They want the dollars, and, what with tariffs, and quotas, and reciprocal trade treaties and whatnot, it is not so easy for them to get the dollars any other way than by shipping gold for them.

But nobody can estimate what the situation would really be if all the gold producers and holders in the world outside the United States could be convinced in some way that Roosevelt and Morgenthau were not going to reduce the price. At present, and for some months, there has been an uneasy feeling that the price would be reduced by the world's biggest gold buyer. Hence there was the urge to get under the wire before the price was lowered.

It's simpler when put the other way around. What the foreign chaps are really doing is not so much selling gold as buying dollars. For Uncle Sam to reduce the price of gold would mean to them simply that they would have to pay more for these dollars. So the present situation is much like what would happen in a small town if all the housewives suddenly began to believe that canned milk was going to advance three or four cents a can, without warning, but very soon.

All the housewives in town, save a few who would be very hard up, would be at the grocer's next morning laying in a supply. Very provident ones would ask the price of a case. And incidentally such a movement, if sufficiently widespread, would have the effect of pushing the price of canned milk up anyhow, even if the rumor had been entirely false at the beginning.

Close Parallel

This last is a very close parallel to what has happened on gold. As a matter of fact there was no intention whatever of reducing the price of gold when the rumors first began to circulate in foreign capitals. Some one figured out that America really didn't need all this gold, could not afford to go on borrowing money, on which interest would have to be paid, to buy it. So he began commenting on the possibility of a reduction in price by Washington.

The word went round the world like wildfire, and gold began pouring to the United States. It had been coming steadily before, but now it became such a flood that the British government stepped in, at the request of Washington that something be done about it, and began buying.

The trouble really is that all the precious metal dealers in the world—and they are credited with being a pretty shrewd crowd of operators—remembered the American silver fiasco. How the same administration now in power started to put the world price of silver up to $1.29 an ounce, starting when it was around 45 cents. How they ran it up, by big purchases, to nearly 30 cents, and then, suddenly, got cold feet. Whereupon the price of silver dropped right back to 45 cents, with Uncle Sam still holding all the silver bought at higher prices.

They expect the same thing again, and it is not difficult to understand why.

Big Fight Ahead

Compulsory arbitration of labor disputes, with government officials as the referees, will be the issue in the next big labor campaign, high New Deal officials predict. When it comes all the present labor leaders will be in the opposition, and will part company for the first time with a considerable element of the New Dealers.

The fight will not come, New Dealers admit privately, until the present campaign is over, with victory perched on the banners of organized labor. Some of them think this will take two years, some figure it will take longer, but they do not expect the opening of the compulsory arbitration fight until the entire country is on a closed shop basis.

A hint of this, and that the probability is realized by New Dealers and labor leaders alike, was manifest in the recent Consumers' Power strike in Michigan. John L. Lewis rushed lieutenants to the spot by plane, stressing in his public statement that the men did not know an agreement had been reached. He obviously did not want a discussion as to the right of the men to tie up an industry, and punish hundreds of thousands of innocent bystanders, in order to hurry the negotiations.

But Governor Frank Murphy had just wired a demand that power be furnished without any such apology. It was immediately after hearing this that Lewis' statement was issued. There was a suspicion at C. I. O. headquarters that Governor Murphy's demand would have been made regardless of this agreement having been reached.

That was a disturbing thought. It involved not the obvious difficulty about unauthorized strikes, insubordination in labor ranks, etc., but whether labor has the right to strike when such a strike would bring hardship and suffering—instead of merely advanced costs—to the general public of any community. It is the sort of issue involved in the general strikes so much discussed a few years back, and tried unsuccessfully in England.

Sure to Come

Compulsory arbitration is coming. There is no doubt about that. But it is not coming quickly. It may not come for several years. But the feeling even among strongly pro-labor New Dealers is that someone simply must be supreme, and this someone must have political responsibility—be responsive to the public.

But there will be no real move with any chance of success, the New Dealers say, until labor has won the present campaign. Until then, they think, the government should be on the side of labor.

For the objective, of course, is to have the principle of collective bargaining in operation in every industry, with the closed shop universal. When that stage is reached, they say, then labor must accept its responsibilities. It is almost unthinkable that its demands in every instance should be sound. Sometimes labor leaders will demand more than they should receive—the interests of the people who buy the products of that industry being considered. In such cases, it will be necessary for the government officials to decide on the merits of the dispute.

C. I. O. AND DICTATORSHIP

The Supreme Court in its decision upholding the Wagner Act called attention to the fact that that law does not compel employers to enter into contract with any particular labor organization. But Miss Perkins, backed by the President, has been using governmental pressure to compel steel operators to enter into written contracts with John Lewis' C. I. O. She even suggested to Governor Davey of Ohio that he close steel plants in that state and "keep them closed until they signed an agreement." She suggested further that Davey use the state commission's subpoena power to bring the steel men to a conference with the strike leaders.

But Davey seems to have been "fed up" on these communistic tactics. He still has the spirit of Americanism coursing through his veins. He still believes in the freedom of contract in this country. He replied to Miss Perkins that he had "no right to keep plants closed except in case of riot"; and to her suggestion that he bring the operators to Columbus by subpoena and hold them there till they sign written agreements, he reminded her that this "in private life would be kidnapping. Until the courts have decided that the companies have to sign contracts or agreements, I have no right to take any one and hold them."

We have always been somewhat prejudiced against the "captains of industry," and we yet have no sympathy whatever for any business crook big or little who seeks only to exploit labor, but it seems we now have a communistic labor organization in this country that is as dictatorial and autocratic as any Stalin or Lenin ever dared to be; and we are in favor of keeping America still American.

Of course President Roosevelt doesn't want a third term, but it seems that some of his astute political friends keep putting out feelers to get the sentiment of the country. Recently Jim Farley made a trip to Texas, and he repeatedly threw out the suggestion that it might become necessary to draft Franklin D. for a third term. More recently another member of the President's cabinet, Secretary of War Woodring, made a similar suggestion. Then Governor Earle of Pennsylvania broke into print. He took occasion to deny that he would be a candidate for the Democratic nomination and ardently declared his support of the renomination of the President. There is not another man in the entire country knee-high to him, the Governor asserted. It would seem a little early to start a boom for the President's renomination. We believe that the President himself is too good a politician to permit such a boom to be started now if he really has any designs for a third term in the White House. What then can be the purpose of these suggestions? Maybe it is to create fear in the minds of some who are about to rebel. Maybe it is just a suggestive crack of the party whip. The President has a big program to put over yet, including laws providing for maximum hours of labor, minimum wages, regulation or prohibition of child labor, some kind of a new NRA, possibly absolute control of all industry and commerce, and his proposed supreme court reform measure. It will be necessary to crack the party whip a lot to put this entire program through. And about two years from now, if the Fates seem propitious, a real boom for a third term for the President may be started. But in the event of his renomination, John Garner will not be his running mate, nor Joe T. Robinson, nor any other Southern man we can now think of. It is more likely to be Governor Earle, or Governor Murphy, or even John L. Lewis.

Alexandre Hogue, who claims to be a native of West Texas, although the way he spells that first name would indicate that he has departed from his raising, has painted a picture purporting to depict conditions in the "dust bowl." Sand dunes and dead cows, it seems, characterize the Panhandle, according to the artist. Many of the Panhandle newspaper boys, Chamber of Commerce secretaries, and others have been jumping on Hogue as a slanderer. Some of them have poked fun at him. This, according to the Dallas News, has made him furious. The News suggests that the people cooperate with the soil and conservation experts, as Hogue suggests. Let the News be informed that the people of West Texas are cooperating. They believe in soil conservation. They are terracing and contouring their farm lands, and even their pasture lands. Some of them are even planting soil-building crops on part of their acreage. They favor the building of dams across the rivers and creeks; and canyons and draws in this section of the state to conserve both the water and the soil. They are even planting out trees and laying out parks in order to make the country a more attractive and comfortable place in which to live as the years go by. And may we have the temerity to suggest that the people of West Texas adopted some of these soil and water conservation tactics long before the people of North Texas and East Texas and Central Texas turned a finger to keep their hillside from washing away.

"Special sessions are necessary because the laws of Texas now are such that the regular four months sessions of House and Senate are good only for filibuster activities," said Governor James V. Allred in an address a few days ago. If so we either ought to change the laws or change the system. We do not believe in hasty legislation. On the other hand, we believe in deliberateness and accuracy. But there does not seem to be much of either under the present system. Filibustering and dilly-dally tactics are usually resorted to and the passage of bills held up till the closing days of a session and then they are rushed through at a speed that makes close and careful scrutiny well nigh impossible. If the legislature can not find the means by which it can make itself more deliberate and more proficient, then the unicameral body seems to be the only alternative.

Nobody can accuse the Fort Worth Star-Telegram of being disloyal to the Administration at Washington. Usually it chimes in its approval of everything done or suggested by the President or by Jim Farley. If it ever dissented in any matter, it politely neglected to comment. Therefore we were surprised to find, tucked away in an editorial appearing in that paper Monday, the following observation: "The Public does not know what the Democratic or Republican party stands for today—nor do their leaders." Does the Star-Telegram mean to say that F. D. R. and Biz Jim themselves do not know exactly what they want? Or does it mean to suggest that they are losing their grip on the party? We wonder.

We shall soon see how effective the Presidential smile is. F. D. R. tried it last week end on rebellious and recalcitrant Senators. He invited all the members of the House and the Senate to meet him just for a picnic luncheon on Jefferson Island. They came. Serious discussion seems to have been taboo. Eating and drinking, boating and bathing and even fishing, were the principal items on the menu—but the President did most of the fishing, fishing for support. He baited his hook with smiles and jokes and friendliness, which are the most enticing bait any man can use. The President's Supreme Court bill comes up this week.

Governor Allred is quoted as having stated in a speech at Silsbee a few days ago that he expects to call a special session of the legislature later in the year to consider telephone and other public utility rates in this state. We have often wondered why somebody hasn't proposed regulation of telephone rates. At least there should be a searching investigation of the telephone business. We are under the impression that the big telephone companies are making huge profits on their investments in this state and that they pay very modest salaries to the girls who sit at the key boards. We hope the Governor turns on the light.

Announcement was made Monday of the recent execution of 37 more "wreckers" in the Soviet Far East. The victims were described by the Russian authorities as Trotskyists, Japanese spies, and "diversionists." They were convicted of wrecking Soviet Far East railway operations. Word also came from Germany Monday that a dozen additional Catholic priests and Protestant ministers had been thrown into prison for inciting the people to disobedience.

When You Need a Laxative

Thousands of men and women know how wise it is to take Black-Draught at the first sign of constipation. They like the refreshing relief it brings. They know its timely use may save them from feeling badly and possibly losing time at work from sickness brought on by constipation.

If you have to take a laxative occasionally, you can rely on ence of the Government, which means Hitler. In Russia and Germany such courts as they have are under the thumb of Stalin and Hitler. How important it is that we Americans shall preserve the independence and integrity of our courts!

A ray of light respecting plains climate and the "dust bowl" seems at last to have penetrated some of the benighted minds of Washington and thereabouts. A scientist in Carnegie Institute has discovered that droughts in this section are not interminable but that they are recurrent. He says that they return at fairly regular intervals. He estimates therefore that another cycle of drought and sandstorms will visit this section of the country about forty or fifty years hence. We suggest that he break the news to the various brain-trusters that infest the Capital.

"Therefore all things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you do ye even so to them." This golden rule of conduct was proclaimed nineteen hundred years ago. It has never been given a chance to demonstrate what it could do in our national and international life. If generally adopted, all differences between capital and labor would vanish like the mists of the morning; starvation wages would be eliminated; working conditions in the mines and the mills would become ideal; guns would quit belching forth death and devastation. All war would cease. Why not try it on an ever-increasing scale?

HARVEST IS A HUMMIN'

Harvest is getting into full swing. Floyd county farmers and all available labor are working day and night cutting that golden grain so precious to this section.

A conservative estimate of the county's wheat will be around 3,500,000 bushels. It is reported that one field near Floydada is producing 40 bushels to the acre on dry land. The dry land in this vicinity is averaging from 18 to 28 bushels.

A few irrigated wheat tracts have been cut this week but a majority of them will not be ready until the latter part of this week or the first of next. The acreage that has been cut averages from 36 to 40 bushels to the acre.

For the first time in years, Floyd county is making a "whopper" of a wheat crop and can we use it! The grocery stores and drug stores, cafes, and filling stations are remaining open until after midnight in order to accommodate the harvesters.

Everybody's working. And everybody's happy!

Goodbye Depression. Hello Prosperity. That is the theme song in Floyd county these days with combines running night and day harvesting the biggest crop in the history of the county—around three and one half million bushels. This will definitely "push" the county out of "the woods" onto the road of prosperity. Following the wheat will come the cotton and feed crop—making two pay days within the year. Come to Floyd county.—Lockney Beacon.

LIVING UP TO MY AD

Giving you tops in Mileage

I know the trouble. So many oil ads yell mileage, that you can't tell one way or another. I don't want my own ads to be in that class, so I'd like you to know all I'm staking, when I personally recommend Conoco Germ Processed oil to you. In my case, you see, I'm the owner of my business. And there's nothing makes repeat customers for me like my Germ Processed oil... or I ought to say, the long mileage it gives you. The patent Germ Process makes this oil get fastened real firm to the bearings and cylinders and other parts—as if they'd been built with an actual plating of oil that can't separate... can't thin out and burn right up. Neither is it going to run down every time you stop. Then you can't make any "dry starts" with Oil-Plating, and right there is where engineers say you will end a good half of all the wear you used to get in Summer. The less wear, the less oil your engine eats. You'll get on to this yourself, from your cool quiet Oil-Plated engine. And that's how I make another good friend for my Conoco Germ Processed oil.

REPORTS FROM THE COUNTY CLUBS

NEW HOME H-D CLUB MEETS WITH MRS. SMITH

Today we have a number of labor saving devices which ten years ago were only dreams to the women. The New Home Demonstration Club enumerated these devices at their regular meeting Friday June 25 in the home of Mrs Aubrey Smith.

Among those named was the automatic refrigerator, running water, sinks and the disposal of water, butane gas on the farm, and a number of small articles such as good paring knives, cheese graters, and fruit selves.

With rural electrification in the air, a paper on "Kitchen Wiring" was given by Mrs. Boswell Edwards. This article pointed out how in a few years the kitchen would be an electrical center in the modern home. Since this is true, it is well to plan the wiring carefully in order that the present needs be met adequately and that the improvement of the kitchen will not be held back in a few years after the kitchen is built or remodeled. The motto in wiring a kitchen is to "look ahead."

Members present were: Mesdames H. A. Parris, Joe Poindexter, J. R. Strain, Henry Heck, G. N. McWhorter, Boswell Edwards, Aubrey Smith.

Visitors were: Mesdames E. S. McNeil and J. C. Veach.

NEW HOME GIRLS MAKE PLANS FOR POULTRY SHOW

The New Home 4-H Club met Friday, June 25th, at the school house. Plans were made for the Dress Parade and Poultry Show to be held at Tahoka High School on July 10th.

Every girl should try to be at the next meeting July 9. Complete plans will then be made for the encampment.

EDITH 4-H CLUB GIRL SELLS INFERTILE EGGS

"I began selling infertile eggs during May", Mary Stewart, poultry demonstrator in the Edith 4-H Club, told the home agent.

"I find that caring for eggs properly is not much extra trouble. In the afternoon, I gather, stamp, and place the eggs in a crate and store in a cool place. As a reward for my work, I receive from 2c to 4c more per dozen for the eggs. During the month of May, I sold 98 dozen and we used 10 dozen and 7 for table use. My hens averaged 14.43 eggs each in last month. As this is slightly below the average, I feel that the flock could have been cull-ed a little more closely", said Mary. Mary has charge of the entire poultry flock and has kept a record since being elected demonstrator in November.

They brought with them Mrs. Etta Pippin, a sister of Mr. Inman and a cousin of Mrs. McDaniel, who has been visiting with the McDaniels here the past two months and who accompanied them to Sayre a couple of weeks ago.

Mrs. W. M. Harris received word Monday that her sister, Mrs. Florence Robinson, who has been seriously sick for several weeks at Sulphur Springs, has grown much worse, and little hope is entertained for her recovery. On account of her own illness, Mrs. Harris is unable to visit her.

R. C. Blair, a former citizen of this county but now a resident of Hockley county, called and renewed his subscription Monday. He resides about twelve miles southwest of Levelland. He is still interested in the people of Lynn county and keeps the News going to his address.

After spending several months here with her daughter, Mrs. R. C. Wells, Mrs. F. L. Kelly left Thursday to visit a step-son and family at Clovis, New Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Burleson visited relatives in Hobbs, New Mexico, Sunday.

"I have renovated one dress. I have filled all my clothing goals except having my clothes closet finished. I am making the closet of cardboard with a wooden frame", added Ioaphene.

Independence Day 1937

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN

National Chairman Sentinels of the Republic

With a spirit of reverence, as well as of patriotism, America observes this year the 161st anniversary of the Declaration of Independence.

At the same time it commemorates the 150th anniversary of the United States Constitution.

Between these two celebrations there is a close relationship. Together they commemorate the fact that our nation was created and constituted the Land of Freedom.

It was the Declaration of Independence that proclaimed to the world that all men are created free and equal, that they are endowed with certain inalienable rights, that to secure these rights governments are instituted.

Without that Charter of Liberties, the freedom won by the courage and the self-sacrifice of our fathers would have perished.

To the men who, through those two historic documents, gave substance to our national ideals, all Americans owe a debt of gratitude today.

To realize what they established for us, it is necessary only to consider the growth in area, in prestige and in the well-being of its people that America has achieved.

To realize from what they protected us, it is necessary only to observe the repression of human rights and of the human spirit which today afflicts so many nations abroad.

Independence Day, 1937, thus becomes a dual anniversary. It commemorates our birth as a nation, and it demonstrates that only through the power of human liberty and through government instituted to secure such freedom, can a country progress and endure.

On us rests the responsibility of keeping that spirit alive.

SOCIETY

ELDER DRENNON REPORTS ANOTHER FINE DAY

Another fine day with the good people at O'Donnell last Lord's day. I wonder if the church ever stops to consider how much better their preacher would be if he were treated better. I had a rather strange subject for the morning sermon. It was "What would this church be if every member were just like me." This will be good for us to think on in regard to a town, home, or country, and after all the church is no stronger or better than the members are individually.

I want to express my thanks for the fine way the people treated the children from Boles Orphans Home here, at Dixie and O'Donnell. They were greeted with fair crowds at each place, the collections were good, and, Oh you fine cats—the result, my stomach is out of order, as I was with them at each place.

While listening to the programs on the radio I am made to wonder why they do not give us more programs that are clean and uplifting. I believe if we Christians would demand them we could get them. What do you say, Christians?

I want to make mention of the fine yards and lawns we see as we travel over the city. What an improvement has been made with such little expense. Also I am pleased with the clean streets in the business district. I believe they are kept cleaner than any place we have lived.

I will fill the pulpit here next Lord's day at both hours. This may be the last lessons I will give until after my summer meetings. I hope to be out in the field until September.

Visit the friendly church and hear a full gospel preached—R. P. Drennon.

METHODIST WILL HAVE PATRIOTIC SERVICE

A good service was held last Sunday morning. We dismissed the night service out of courtesy to our Baptist brethren, and will dismiss the next Sunday night also.

We are glad to welcome several new members recently—the Rogers and Walden families.

Our revival begins July 25. Rev. B. L. Nance, our visitation evangelist, will be with us the two weeks. He does his work in the homes and business houses. His work is very effective.

The first week we will have services only at night. The second week we will have both day and night services. Rev. D. B. Doak will be with us this last week. He is an old time friend of the pastor and was formerly your pastor and presiding elder.

Be with us at the Methodist Church next Sunday morning at 9:45 for the Church School and stay for the 11 o'clock service, which will have a patriotic theme.—Reporter.

MRS. CARMACK DIRECTS METHODIST W. M. S.

A very interesting program, directed by Mrs. Carmack, was given at the Methodist Church Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Walden joined the Society, and we are pleased indeed to have her.

We have a few more "Golden Chains" (an aluminum scrubber) on hand for sale at ten cents. They are a fine help for cleaning carrots, potatoes, celery, etc.

Next Friday at 4 o'clock at the Church the Bible study will be resumed. Read carefully the first eleven chapters of Genesis; then concentrate on chapters 4 to 7. Join us in a helpful study of the Word.—Reporter.

MISS PAULINE HARPER WEDS M. L. KUYKENDALL

M. L. Kuykendall, adopted son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Kuykendall, and Miss Pauline Harper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Harper, both of the Edith community, were married Saturday night at the home of Rev. S. K. McCulloch of New Home, who read the marriage vows.

The young couple will continue to reside in the Edith community.

MARRIED AT O'DONNELL

Cecil White and Miss Georgia Lee Barrett of O'Donnell were married at the Baptist parsonage in O'Donnell by the pastor, Rev. J. M. Lunford, Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Aycock and son, Billie, spent last week in Denver, Colorado, attending the convention of Colorado Life Insurance Co. representatives. In addition to attending the convention, they took advantage of the occasion to make the famous loop trip through Estes Park, over the new Trail Ridge Road into Rocky Mountain National Park, to Grand Lake, and back into Denver by way Lookout Mountain. Gilmer says the scenery was astoundingly beautiful. High in the mountains the ground was covered with snow. The new Trail Ridge Road, first opened last year climbs to an elevation of 12,700 feet above sea level, and for 12 miles, the road runs along a mountain ridge at an elevation of 11,000 or over. The road is wide and safe and the average car is not forced into low gear and seldom into intermediate to negotiate the climb.

Bigger, the business man, was signing his letters.
"I see," he said, to his typist, "that you have spelled received with 'ie' and 'ei' in another."
"I'm sorry," she said, "one of them was a slip."
"Well, you'd better correct it before you post the letter."
"Certainly. By the way, which one will I correct?"
"Why-er-why, the one that's wrong, of course."

Worriement
A man had been visiting a certain widow every evening for some months.
"Why don't you marry her?" asked a friend.
"I have often thought about it," was the reply, "but where on earth should I spend my evening then?"

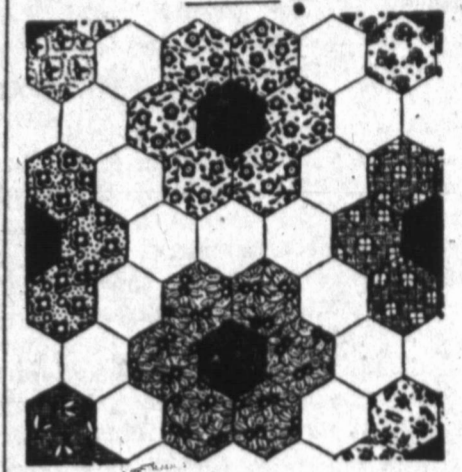

Where's My Hat?
"The next person who interrupts the proceedings will be sent home," declared the judge.
"Hurray!" yelled the prisoner.

Use of Copra

The word "copra" comes from the Malayan "kopperah," or coconut, and is now used to denote the dried meat of the nut. The oil extracted from copra is used for making soaps, candles and butter substitutes; the residue or pulp, is used for feeding cattle. Much of the product gathered on the South Sea islands goes to Sydney, Australia, for this purpose. Coconuts are the wealth of the islanders. They supply food and drink to the natives, and the milk of the growing nut is changed by fermentation into a toddy.

WHAT means this demonstration, To home, to street, and hall? What means this celebration Joined in by great and small? Why all this bustling, bustling, And why these banners gay? What are these things denoting? It's Independence Day!

First FOURTH of JULY Celebration

FOURTH OF JULY first was observed as a holiday with a "public levee at the home of the President" in 1786, three years after the close of the Revolution, it is revealed in papers brought to light by the historical research department of the Carnegie Institution of Washington, states a writer in the Washington Star.

them recd. etc. etc." That same day the New York Daily Advertiser printed an account of the celebration: "The morning was ushered in by the ringing of bells and a discharge of cannon. At 12 o'clock a grand procession (headed by city watchmen and closed by citizens) . . . to the house of his excellency the Governor—and from thence to the house of his excellency the president of Congress, where the compliments of the day were first paid to his excellency by the Governor, and afterwards by his worship the mayor, in behalf of the citizens of New York.

CONGRESS' FIRST SITTING THERE were two reasons why the Constitution framers provided for such a long lapse of time between election of a congress and its first sitting. The chief reason was that the framers believed it unwise to have legislators take office soon after election because of the danger of hasty action.

AROUND the HOUSE Items of Interest to the Housewife

Preserving Broom.—Soaking a broom in boiling salt water every two weeks will help preserve it. Washing White Gloves.—White gloves can be kept white by washing them after each wearing with a soft brush and a pure soap. Fire Prevention.—To avoid fires keep all cleaning cloths that have been treated with oil in a covered metal container. Removing Peach Stains.—Fresh peach stains can be removed from linen with a weak solution of chloride of lime. Picking Raspberries.—Red raspberries will keep better if picked early in the morning. Cheese Molds.—Pour 1 1/2 cupfuls milk over 2 cupfuls soft breadcrumbs; add 3 well-beaten eggs, 1 heaped cupful grated cheese, 1 teaspoonful salt, pepper to taste, and 1 tablespoonful melted butter. Pour into buttered molds and bake from 20 to 30 minutes in a moderate oven. Keeping Peeled Apples.—Peeled apples can be kept white until used by keeping them immersed in water to which a little salt has been added. Apple and Rhubarb Jelly.—Cut apples into quarters. To every pound of apples add one cup of rhubarb juice. Simmer until the apples are soft. Strain through a jelly bag without pressure. To each pint of juice add one pound of sugar. Boil slowly, removing all scum until the juice will jell. Pour into tumblers and seal with paraffin. Luncheon Dish.—Boil 2 pounds spinach, press out all moisture, and chop fine. Have ready 1/2 pound cooked macaroni and 2 hard-boiled eggs cut into slices. Well grease a pie dish, put in a layer of macaroni, sprinkle with grated cheese, and season with pepper and salt. Then put a layer of spinach with sliced eggs on top. Repeat the layers and pour in a little milk. Cover with a thick layer of breadcrumbs with pieces of butter on top. Bake for 10 minutes. Orange Peel Marmalade.—Take six orange rinds, or four orange, two grapefruit or orange and lemon rinds, cover with water and pinch of soda, cook till tender; drain. Take out white pulp with spoon. Put rinds through chopper, yielding two cups chopped rind, add water to cover, about two cups add sugar, about two cups; simmer slowly for three hours. Bottle in the usual way. WNU Service.

Uncle Phil Says:

Better Improve the Other Foot Put your best foot forward, of course, but that doesn't conceal the defects in the other one; it's got to come, too. Meeting sudden emergencies makes one hardboiled. Look at war and after-dinner speaking. "Travel is broadening;" it makes one more resigned to the nuisances at home. Civilization may not be doomed, but it may be doomed to a good many dark ages in which brains are flouted. A man may pull down his character in an effort to build up his reputation. People dress handsomely to please themselves more than to impress others. An Interest Worth While You can't buy friendship. You can sometimes buy interest in yourself that turns to friendship. Don't be stingy with your bright thoughts. But who is? Woman's place is the home, but not all of the time in the kitchen; a good husband wants his wife to adorn the parlor as well. You can be very happy in a cabin with no carpet, a shake-down bed, a few bowls and skillets and the plainest food, if you don't have to endure that kind of life. There's one big fine word to say for a banquet; you forget the day's troubles there. One may not like pushing buttons in order to get things done, but he likes it better than doing the "things" himself.

Hot Weather is Here— Beware of Biliousness!

Have you ever noticed that in very hot weather your organs of digestion and elimination seem to become torpid or lazy? Your food sours, forms gas, causes belching, heartburn, and a feeling of restlessness and irritability. Perhaps you may have sick headache, nausea and dizziness or blind spells on suddenly rising. Your tongue may be coated, your complexion bilious and your bowel actions sluggish or insufficient. These are some of the most common symptoms or warnings of biliousness or so-called "torpid liver," so prevalent in hot climates. Don't neglect them. Take Calotabs, the improved calomel compound tablets that give you the effects of calomel and salts, combined. You will be delighted with the prompt relief they afford. Trial package ten cents, family pkg. twenty-five cents. At drug stores. (Adv.)

Liberty's Sacred Shrine

SCATTERED along the Atlantic coast region from Boston to St. Augustine are countless historic old brick structures invested with the glamour of romance, of stirring adventure, of heroic sacrifice and earnest, patriotic devotion to country, but nowhere is one instinctively moved to bare his head in a sincere reverence so much as in Independence Hall, where more than 150 years ago a handful of patriots dared the wrath of Great Britain and declared for American freedom. Even today one seems to feel the presence of those dauntless spirits in the very atmosphere of those plain, old-fashioned rooms, hung with mementoes of the days of '76. About it hovers the best traditions of American patriotism. Other walls have rung with patriotic declaration, with impassioned oratory and bold defiance, but nowhere has loyalty to country and earnest devotion to the cause of liberty found such deathless expression as was voiced in that Declaration of Independence announced by the ancient Liberty bell in the cupola overhead on that memorable Fourth of July so many years ago.

Doubtless more loving care has been lavished upon this old building than upon any other in America. It stands today virtually as it was in '76. Here the Declaration of Independence was adopted on July 4, 1776.

JOHN ADAMS' WISH IN A letter written July 3, 1776, John Adams revealed to his wife the hope that the fourth would become "the great anniversary festival" sustained with "pomp and parade, shows, games, sports, guns, bells and illuminations. . . ."

Mahon Asking For Veteran Hospital In West Texas

Washington, D. C., June 30.—Hearings by a special committee on the need for a general medical and surgical veterans' hospital for West Texas may be expected within the next few weeks, according to Congressman George Mahon. He conferred with Colonel George E. Ijams, a member of the special committee appointed by General Frank T. Hines, Administrator of the Veterans Administration, to make a general study of the need for additional veterans hospital facilities. The West Texas-Panhandle section is one of two areas in the United States designated by the Administrator to be given particular consideration.

As originally appointed, the special committee consisted of Dr. Thomas Parran, Jr., Surgeon General of the United States Public Health Service and chairman of the special committee, General Geo. H. Wood, special representative of the administrator on National Homes for Veterans, and Colonel George E. Ijams, assistant administrator of the Veterans Administration, but Dr. Parran was unable to serve. Rear Admiral P. S. Rossier, Surgeon General of the Navy, has been asked to serve as chairman, but his acceptance of the assignment had not been given last week. As soon as the committee is completed, open hearings will be held to consider the need of our new hospitals.

Mahon stated that he expected to appear before the committee and urge favorable recommendation for the West Texas Hospital. He has a bill pending in Congress which authorizes an appropriation for a hospital to be erected in the Fifth American Legion District comprising all of West Texas. Bills with more limited restrictions as to location have been introduced by Congressman Marvin Jones of Amarillo, Congressman Ewing Thomason of El Paso, and Congressman Clyde Garrett of Eastland.

Mahon pointed out the necessity for cooperation of all West Texas areas in the effort to secure a favorable recommendation from the Veterans Administration at this time, stating that competition between individual cities could easily detract from the weight of argument for the Veterans Hospital for all West Texas. He stated that the appointment of the special committee with designation of West Texas for special consideration was more definite encouragement than had heretofore been given by the Veterans Administration.

Drouth Predicted 40 Years Hence

Washington, June 27 (AP).—The farmers of the great drought area will catch it again in another forty or fifty years, if a Carnegie Institution scientist has sized up Mother Nature correctly.

Dr. Frederick E. Clements, an expert on plant distribution, the weather and cycles of growth, said Sunday that droughts return after fairly regular intervals.

"Having learned that drought recurs, it is natural to assume that dust storms likewise return with the cycle," he said.

Dr. Clements said the great plains are an unrivaled reservoir of soil fertility; throughout much of the recent drought many experiment stations and progressive farmers continued to harvest good crops.

It is a misconception to think there was any great exodus from that area, he said, adding that the population of the states concerned has remained virtually stationary.

Mrs. D. C. McGrew of Hot Springs, Arkansas, who is here visiting her sister, Mrs. Belle Matthews of Grassland, has a teaching record that is not often duplicated.

She began teaching at 16 years of age and is now 47. She has taught each of the intervening years in her home county, Garland county, Ark. In August, she will begin her tenth year in the same school, the Lakeview school near Hot Springs. She has never taught outside of this county. She holds a college degree.

He stated that the appointment of the special committee with designation of West Texas for special consideration was more definite encouragement than had heretofore been given by the Veterans Administration.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenoth Reid, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Alley Robinson, and Mr. and Mrs. Tip Audde, who have been employed in the oil fields at Talco, Titus county, are here this week visiting the home folks. Kenoth and Jack Alley were reared here, and Mrs. Audde is the former Miss Maxine Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Jones.

Jim Dye received a letter Tuesday informing him that a sister and her husband residing in Alabama were each hopelessly sick, each in too serious condition to realize the condition of the other. Mr. Dye is unable to go to their bedside at this time.

Hon. Tom Garrard has gone to Austin, where he will next week attend a meeting of the Texas State Board of Education, of which body he is vice chairman.

Truman Walker, who has been with the Craft Tailor Shop here, has recently opened a shop in Seagraves.

W. B. Bishop, now of Big Spring, representative of the National Re-employment Service, has been in the county this week cooperating with farmers in locating labor and in routing local labor as it is released. Mr. Bishop is a long-time resident of this county and his home is still at Wilson.

Miss Mona Ray Edwards, operator at the telephone office here, has been transferred to Levelland as night operator.
