6 Constitutional Amendments Up To Voters Next Monday

An election will be held throughout Texas next Monday for the purpose of approving or rejecting six constitutional amendments which have been submitted to the people by the legislature.

All the election machinery has been oiled up and is ready to go in Lynn county. Election ballots and supplies are being distributed to the election officers in the various election precincts, and every eligible voter will have an opportunity to express his will at the ballot box.

Results of the election in each voting box should be phoned in or brought in to the office of the county clerk just as soon as the votes are counted, so that the results may be promptly tabulated and compiled throughout the state.

We give below the substance of each proposed amendment so that the voters may have a fair knowledge of the changes proposed before going to the polls.

House Joint Resolution No. 26 proposes an amendment which would give the legislature power to provide assistance to the needy blind over 21 years of age not to exceed $15 per month per person, who are actual bona fide citizens of Texas and have resided in the state not less than 5 of the last 9 years immediately preceding his application for such assistance; provided no habitual criminal, no habitual drunkard, and no inmate of any state-supported institution, shall be eligible for such assistance. The State would also have authority to accept any additional sums of money which the Federal Government may offer for this purpose.

House Joint Resolution No. 26-A proposes an amendment which would give the legislature power to provide assistance to destitute children not to exceed $8 for one child or $12 for the children of any one family per month; providing the legislature may impose such restrictions and regulations as to it may

Texas Utilities Co. Extends Service

The installation of additional electric generation equipment at Tucco Station near Abernathy will increase the capacity of that power plant 10,000 H. P.

The estimated cost of a new steam driven turbo-generator including boilers, auxiliaries and other improvements to be installed has been placed near $300,000.00. All preliminary work incidental to the installation is finished and the machinery is expected to arrive at an early date.

This improvement marks another forward step in the development of the high plains area of West Texas and assures the section ample power from a dependable and economical source.

Texas-New Mexico Utilities Company serves 53 towns and communities in this part of West Texas and eastern New Mexico. Its transmission lines total more than 700 miles in length and bring central station power to the homes, farms and industries of many more sparsely settled areas and rural districts.

The development of rural electrification and the use of electric power for irrigation will demand large quantities of energy and under its policy of keeping abreast of the requirements of the territory served the company is making this expenditure.

Edith School Will Open September 2

A. R. McGonagill has authorized the News to state that the school at Edith will open on Thursday, September 2.

A. B. Griffith will be principal of the school there another year.

Hon. Tom Garrard was a business visitor in Berger Tuesday.

Bussell Preaches On 76th Birthday

Rev. W. P. Bussell of New Lynn was a pleasant caller at the News office Monday, and he reported that on the preceding day, which was his seventy-sixth birthday, he conducted services and preached at the Baptist Church at New Lynn.

Brother Bussell for many years was actively engaged in the ministry but has preached only on rare occasions the past year or two.

Lynn County News Has 34th Birthday

Jack Stricklin, editor of the Terry County Herald, announced a couple of weeks ago that that newspaper had reached its thirty-second birthday.

Well, the Lynn County News this week publishes Number 1 of Volume 34, which would indicate that it had just passed its thirty-third birthday. As a matter of fact, its thirty-third birthday came on October 9, 1936. The fact that the paper suspended publication for a few months in its early history and missed coming out now and then while ostensibly being published regularly back in those early days, accounts for the fact that Volume 33 did not come to an end on its birthday last October.

A copy of the first issue of the Lynn County News dated October 9, 1903, framed and protected by a glass cover, hangs on the wall of the News office today. It is an interesting sheet, and a credit to the town of that day. We are proud of even the first issue of the Lynn County News. The name Inez Lilly stands at the mast head as owner and the name of Otis Lilly as editor and publisher.

The News this week publishes No. 1 of its thirty-fourth volume, but on next October 9 it will be thirty-four years old. We are striving to make it a worthy servant of the people of our county, and we appreciate the cooperation of our citizenship generally. Just a few more new subscribers each week and just a little better support on the part of our business men, and we promise you the News will soon become a "humdinger".

Billman Is Back In The Sanitarium

Many friends will regret to learn that it has become necessary for F. M. Billman to return to the sanitarium in Lubbock for further treatment. W. S. Anglin, local manager of the Texas-New Mexico Utilities Company, took him back to the sanitarium last Saturday. He is said to be in fine spirits and seems to be getting along well, but physicians have had little to say as to his condition.

Mr. Billman was accidentally hurt several weeks ago while handling a large piece of ice with machinery at the local ice plant, the ice falling upon him. A year ago he had an operation for a stomach trouble and had never entirely recovered, a large portion of his stomach having been removed. It was feared at the time of the recent accident that internal injuries had been sustained, but it seems to have been difficult to determine positively just the extent of his injuries. Friends are hoping that he may soon be able to return to his home and to his work.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Haney returned Sunday from a vacation trip to Ruidoso, Hot Springs, El Paso, and intermediate points. Monday night they went to Abilene for their little daughter, Blisey, who visited relatives there while they were on their trip.

Rev. and Mrs. Geo. A. Dale and Mrs. C. T. Oliver visited friends at Clovis, New Mexico, Tuesday.

Magnolia School Seeks Solution To Turmoil

Committee Goes To Austin In Attempt Settlement School's Complicated Affairs

At a mass meeting held at Magnolia School Wednesday night, plans were discussed whereby that district may get relief from the complicated situation of being grouped with New Lynn and consolidated with Garlynn. The Lynn county school board, a group of citizens and members of the Tahoka board, the New Lynn board, the Garlynn board, the Garza county superintendent, and about 35 trustees and patrons of the Magnolia district were present.

There are many angles to the unworkable situation, but many people are of the opinion that some solution fortunate situation, affecting this harmonious meeting.

A committee consisting of Deen Robinson, Garza county superintendent, C. C. Connolly, chairman of the Lynn county board, and one representative each from the boards at Magnolia, New Lynn, and Garlynn left Thursday morning to confer with L. A. Woods, state superintendent, at Austin.

It seems that a petition from about 80 percent of the voters of the Magnolia district was presented to the county board in the spring asking for grouping of the district for high school purposes with New Lynn. Action on the petition was delayed, however, on the insistence of one of the Magnolia trustees. Some time ago, another petition was circulated and presented to the county Judge of Lynn county calling for an election to consolidate Magnolia with Garlynn; and a similar one was circulated in Garlynn. An election was called for August 16, but in the meantime the Lynn county board had acted on the grouping petition. The election

Hail Damages Large Section Around Dixie; Rains Helpful

Scattered showers covered much of the territory of Lynn county Sunday night, accompanied in some localities by destructive hail.

The three communities suffering severely from the ice pellets were Three Lakes, West Point, and Dixie, the stricken area in the latter community projecting over into the vicinity of New Home.

The most serious and extensive damage, according to reports coming to the News, was sustained in this Dixie-New Home area. Some of the cotton crops apparently were almost completely destroyed while others suffered much damage. Farmers sustaining serious losses are: Lee Short, Chester Short, J. E. Hill, Kelley Hill, G. B. Sherrod, L. S. Todd, Buel Draper, Boyd Rice, Fred House, A. P. Pitts, W. R. Warren, Henry Heck, Earl George, Grayam George, R. W. Lewis, R. H. Bates, Waymond Smith, J. R. Strain, and others.

At West Point several farmers suffered losses, among them Bill Darby and H. R. Tankersley. Some sheds and outhouses in this community also were blown down.

Among those who suffered damage from hail and wind in the New Lynn community were: Jake Holcomb, Lynn Yandell, Geo. Parker, and Messrs. Sales, Walker, and Lackey. Considerable damage was also done by the wind in this community.

It is believed that the rainfall was helpful to the crops not destroyed by the hail. Many localities in the county received rain without hail. The precipitation in Tahoka amounted to .60 of an inch. It covered very little territory south-east of town. Cotton had begun to suffer very considerably from the intensely hot, dry weather that had prevailed for a month and many farmers were complaining of shedding. Unless a general rain comes soon, the cotton crop of the county will fall far short of the promised yield two weeks ago.

Clay McCoy's Adopt Little Orphan Boy

Mr. and Mrs. Clay McCoy, now of San Antonio, have recently adopted a six-weeks-old baby boy, according to Mj. McCoy's sister, Mrs. Holland. They have named the little fellow John Clay, in honor of the foster father and Mrs. McCoy's father John McKay.

Mr. McCoy is a son of Mrs. J. H. McCoy of this city and a grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Wells, and he formerly resided here. He is now Field Man for a Medical company at San Antonio.

Miss Margaret Worthy of Roscoe is spending the week here as the guest of her friend, Mrs. Jim Burleson. Miss Worthy was a popular teacher in the high school here a few years ago.

Col. Thompson Is Guest Of Lubbock

Announcement has been made that Col. Ernest O. Thompson of Amarillo, member of the Texas Railroad Commission, will hold a hearing on matters under his jurisdiction in Lubbock on Wednesday, August 25.

Parker F. Proffy, general manager and Charles Guy, editor of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal publications, have planned a banquet to be given in honor of the distinguished guest at the Hilton Hotel on Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock.

In addition to a number of business and professional men of Lubbock, all the editors of the South Plains are being invited to attend.

Reunion Of Eastland County People Held

W. S. Anglin announces that the annual reunion of the former residents of Eastland county will be held in the McKinzie Park in Lubbock next Sunday.

Quite a large crowd was in attendance at the reunion last year, at which time Mr. Anglin was elected secretary of the association. Dr. Moorehead of Meadow is the president.

September 9-10 Are Dates Set For Big Celebration

Committees Appointed And Funds Are Being Raised For Event In Tahoka Next Month

For the first time in many years, Tahoka is to have a great gala occasion and a free barbecue. The movement was set afoot a few weeks ago by the Rotary Club, a finance committee appointed, and the boys were told to get the money.

This committee—or rather two members of it, J. B. McPherson and Buster Fenton—in due time got busy and canvassed the town for the necessary funds. As a result, they have subscriptions, nearly all of which has been paid, amounting to about $950.00. They also have assurance that some others will yet contribute.

At a meeting of the general committee Tuesday night, definite steps were taken to bring the matter to a successful conclusion.

The time agreed upon for the occasion is Thursday and Friday September 9-10.

The place selected for the barbecue, amusements, and festivities lie south of the courthouse square.

Committees were named to make arrangements for the various types of amusements. It is expected that a rodeo will be staged during the two days and a carnival company will probably be here. A softball game will also probably be arranged for Thursday and Friday nights. The big free barbecue will be served on Friday. An immense crowd is expected each day.

Committees named Tuesday night are as follows:

Barbecue committee: Terry Noble, Claude Wells, and Sam Holland.

Table and Service committee: Wiley Curry, Homer St. Clair, Chester Connolly, Judge P. W. Goad, W. S. Anglin.

Purchasing committee: J. B. Mc-

Bob Harlow New Bulldog Coach

Bob Harlow of Brownwood is the new coach for Tahoka High School, succeeding Prentice Walker, resigned. He was elected at a meeting of the school board last Thursday.

Harlow has issued a call for all lettermen and other prospective candidates for the 1937 football team to meet him at the high school Monday morning at 8:30 o'clock for the first practice session.

The new coach is a 1937 graduate of Howard Payne College, where he played two years at fullback and two years at tackle on the football team. In his senior year, he was captain of the team, and was named on the mythical all-conference eleven. He played two years on the Howard Payne basket ball team. Previous to entering college, Harlow had four years experience on the Brownwood high team. He has had some teaching experience in the physical education department of the college, and comes highly recommended by teachers in that institution.

In addition to coaching, Harlow will teach science in Tahoka high school.

Tahoka Schools Buy New Bus

A new school bus of 60-student capacity was bought by the local school board at a meeting last Thursday night for service over the route east of Tahoka. The bus is of the most modern all-steel body type, and replaces the old wooden body bus.

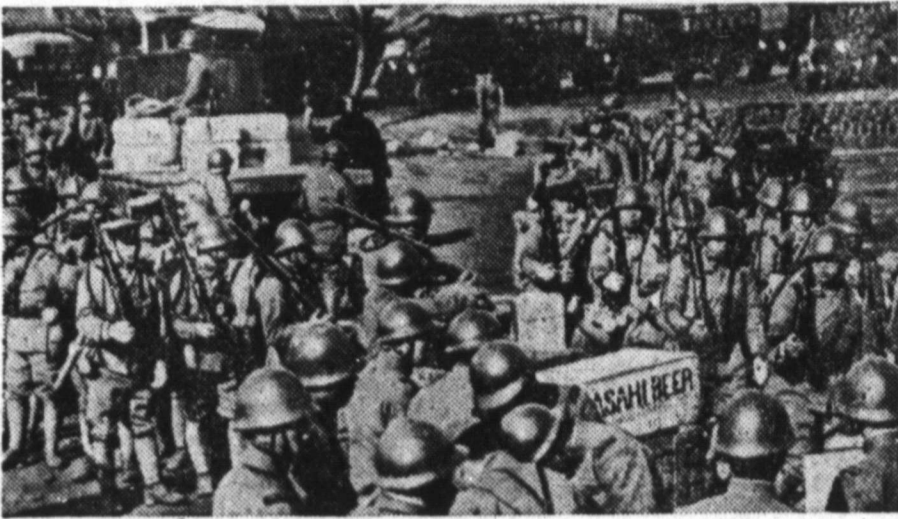

High school students from Grassland, Edith, and New Lynn, and high school and grade students in the east part of the Tahoka district will be transported to school in the bus.

Nominee Draws Rebuke

WITH his customary exercise of the dramatic, President Roosevelt nominated Senator Hugo L. Black (Dem., Ala.) to fill the vacancy on the Supreme court bench caused by the retirement of Justice Willis Van Devanter.

Senator Black

For 20 years it has been a custom, when a senator is appointed to high office, for his nomination to be considered in open executive session.

Senator Black has been a militant leader in the fight for the President's wages and hours legislation.

Black practiced law in Birmingham after being graduated from the University of Alabama in 1906.

ALTHOUGH war was still without benefit of official declaration, the army of the Chinese central government clashed with the Japanese invaders for the first time.

The Japanese opened up immediately afterward with heavy artillery fire which the Chinese failed to return.

Japanese warned that all of their forces in North China, some 40,000 fighting men, would be loosed upon the Chinese if they made any attempt to return to the old capital in Peiping, now held by the invaders.

South Demands Crop Loans

CONGRESS regarded adjournment as possibly farther off than ever as the wage-hour bill got all tangled up with surplus agricultural control and cotton loans in what looked like a hopeless mess.

committee doesn't know how to write such a bill and make it stick, in view of the Supreme court's decision on the AAA.

Now the Southern bloc has made it clear that it will not push through the President's much-desired wages and hours bill, as dictated by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, unless southern farmers get their cotton loans.

The result of the whole affair is a complete stalemate. Somebody will have to give in; somebody probably will, and there will be old-fashioned "hoss-trading" on a wholesale scale.

SEEN and HEARD around the NATIONAL CAPITAL

By Carter Field

FAMOUS WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENT

Washington.—Two distinct reversals in public sentiment, utterly unrelated, though both very human, have contributed to President Roosevelt's recent troubles with congress, and promise to make him a lot more trouble in the session to come.

One of these is nation-wide—the other southern. The former is much easier to understand. It is another evidence of that age-old trait of human nature illustrated by the old rhyme:

"The devil was sick, the devil a monk would be. The devil got well, the devil a monk was he."

When President Roosevelt went into office the country was sick, economically. The chief criticism of the administration he supplanted was that it had floundered along, instead of doing something to correct a bad situation.

Unquestionably there were some defections from his supporters during the second two years, but these were much more than replaced by the people who had come to be dependent on the federal spending policies, both as to farm and work relief, so that his popular victory in 1936 not only exceeded that of 1932, but the congressional election of 1934 as well.

But the dissenters have been growing in number. The emergency having passed, they began to chafe at the continuance of what they had hailed earlier as remedies. During the 1936 campaign the Republicans tried their best to make the people tax conscious.

Revolt Likely to Grow

In the first place, the voters did not believe them. In the second, the idea of an emergency was still present. There was not any general conviction that the hard times were definitely over.

Turn Conservative

Significance of the fact that twenty-two Democratic senators voted to recommit the wages and hours regulation bill is more obvious than the deductions to be made about opposition to President Roosevelt on the Supreme court enlargement bill, but the two things are down the same alley.

Expect It to Help

Just how those advocating this plan would have handled Henry Ford in the recent situation is an unanswered question.

been Senator Hugo L. Black of Alabama, and Representative John E. Rankin of Mississippi.

Not Surprising

Which might not be surprising, Alabama being regarded mostly as a very conservative state, economically and socially, except that Senator Black has been the nemesis of the princes of privilege right from the day the Roosevelt administration came into power in 1933.

Mr. Rankin has held firmly in an anti-privately owned utility position several laps ahead of Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska and a few more ahead of President Roosevelt all the way through the New Deal administration so far.

CHAPTER VIII—Continued

He dropped to his knees and touched it. Sticky! He flashed his light on it. Sniffed. Turpentine? He sank down on his heels and choked back a shout of laughter. He had been fooled by red paint. How had it come here? What was that dark heap beyond it? Overalls! Blue denim overalls still warm from the wearer's body. The driver of the car he had heard a few moments ago must have shed them before he left the garage. Why had he worn them? Mark projected and rejected explanations with lightning speed. The man who had shinned from the balcony had come from the room where the scenery was being painted. Wasn't the roof of the cottage on the backdrop red? Why the shower? Why the shave? Was it he who had removed the key from the door of the storeroom tonight? But that man had disappeared via the connecting door, presumably into Look-out House. He flashed a dim light over the white cover. More red! A clumsy X. "Make X on cover when—" The words on the scrap of paper in the storeroom were explained. "X marks the spot where the body was found." The sentence flashed into Mark's mind as if set in electric lights. Body! Jed was missing! Perhaps his body had been dumped inside the limousine! He set his heel on the thought. He would imagine a horror like that. That infernal cross probably meant nothing, but he'd take a look-see so that he wouldn't ask himself later, "Why didn't I?" Soundlessly he reached the other side of the limousine. The disarranged cover which left the door exposed revealed also a license plate. All set to go. He flashed his light inside. Something long, something rounded on the rear seat was covered with an automobile robe. Dread paralyzed Mark's hand for what seemed to him hours; then with a muttered imprecation he thrust into the robe. The silver! Nothing white the silver! That X on the white cover was a sign that it had been moved from his house. Who had moved it? That was easy. It had been removed while he and Jed had been at the Reburns by the man who had driven away. Sure of plenty of time he had stopped for a shower and shave. Moving the loot to the garage had been his share of the job. Would a pal appear to drive the stuff off? "He will, and here he is!" Mark muttered, as the frosty gravel outside the garage crunched faintly. A key in the lock! Not a minute to waste. Where should he go? Inside Brooke's town car! The breaks were with him. It wasn't locked. The garage door was sliding back. Mark saw a patch of sky. He banged his forehead as he plunged headfirst into the sedan, and saw a million stars. His head spun as he crouched in the space left by the turned back seat and drew the door shut without latching it. He held it in place as barely breathing he listened. Footsteps on the cement floor! Cautious footsteps. A light on the ceiling! Suppose it should flash into the town-car? It had stopped. Whoever it was, was taking his time. An engine turning over! Was some darn fool starting a car with the garage door closed? Mark raised his head turtle-fashion. No, the door was open. He might have known it. Was it likely that the bandit would allow himself to be bumped off by carbon monoxide? Not that bad boy. He had too much at stake. He must follow. How? He couldn't trail in another car. He would be heard. Could he hang on to the empty trunk-rack? That was an idea. He would follow the limousine out of the garage, slip into the shadow of a shrub when the man went back to close the door, then grab the trunk-rack when the car started again. A stunt, but he'd make a stab at it. If he were to hold the man now he would learn nothing of his destination. He cautiously tiptoed after the limousine. He was safe behind the shrubs when the driver returned and noiselessly closed the garage door. A soft hat was drawn low over his eyes, but Mark knew him. Henri. He was behind the wheel again! The limousine was coasting down the incline! Mark crouched as he ran after it. As the engine started, he drew himself carefully to the trunk-rack. He barely breathed. Had the driver felt a jar? Evidently not. He was increasing speed. He was not headed for the causeway. He was going in the opposite direction. What did that mean?

After spinning past old landmarks, the car slowed down and stopped. Mark saw the white cottage. The filling-station. He must not be seen here. Surely the driver would make contact with someone inside before he left the limousine. Henri stepped out of the car. He stopped as if to make sure he was not observed. Mark slipped off the trunk-rack. He was cramped and stiff. He hobbled rather than walked into a deep purple shadow cast by a pine. He could see the cottage. He held his breath as Henri gently turned the knob of the front door and entered. What would he do next? Come back to the limousine? What a chance to grab him. What was he doing inside the house? He was taking his time. The door was opening again! Mark hardly breathed. A man slipped out. His hat was pulled down over his eyes. He slunk along in the shadows. Reached the shore road. Ran on the dried grass which bordered it as if pursued by furies. Had that been Henri? Had he delivered his message? Had he been warned to beat it? Couldn't have been a fight inside. No loud voices. Had the limousine with the silver been left for someone else to drive away? Someone else! What a break! What a break! He would drive it back and park it in his garage—no, that wouldn't do, he would leave it with Mike Cassidy. Mike was as dependable as the sun. He stole from the shadow of the pine. With every faint crunch of his feet on the frosty ground his blood stopped running. Could he reach the limousine before someone came? Only a few feet more. He was behind the wheel. With a hand stiff from cold he touched the self-starter. Hang it! Wouldn't you know the motor would back-fire! A light! In the front dormer! He had awakened someone! He hadn't a moment to lose. With his ears strained to detect pursuit, with his eyes roaming from side to side, Mark shot the car ahead. He went in an opposite direction from that taken by Henri—if the man who had burned up the road making his getaway from the white cottage had been Henri—he wouldn't run the chance of overtaking him. It seemed years before he reached Mike Cassidy's garage at the entrance to the causeway, hours before he could rouse the man, before he partially opened the door. "Let me in quick, Mike," he whispered to the blinking, cursing proprietor, who was gripping something that gleamed dark and blue and ugly in a hairy, ham-bone fist. "It's only you, Mr. Mark! Thought it might be a hold-up." Cassidy's lower jaw swung like a gate on loose hinges. He slipped the automatic into his pocket before he rolled back the garage door. "Where can I hide this?" Cassidy pointed. Not until the limousine was stowed behind a motley collection of broken-down cars did Mark Trent explain. "I've just rescued the family silver, Mike. The yarn I have to tell you will beat any of the thrillers you get over the radio. Not afraid to keep the car here, are you?" Cassidy's red-rimmed eyes grew moist. He wiped his nose on a shabby coat sleeve. "I ain't afraid to do nothing for you, Mr. Mark. You an' your family give me my start; sometimes you've kept me goin' when I didn't know where the next meal was comin' from. I felt mean when I let my Maggie go to work for Mrs. Hunt who treated you so bad, but we needed the money somethin' terrible, so she took the job, though it was at that new fillin' station that's tryin' to put me out of business." A telephone rang. The two men stared at one another. Mark's blood turned to ice. Cassidy whispered: "Holy mackerel! Who's callin' this time of night? Have they traced you and the silver this quick? Perhaps there's a gang after you!" Mark nodded toward the telephone. "Answer!" His muscles tensed as he listened. "Cassidy's garage—You, Maggie! What t'h'll—Stop blubberin'—What! Who?—I can't hear, you're cryin' so—Something terrible?—Never mind, never mind. I'll call police headquarters—You've got to stay there, girl, till I get Bill Harrison. If anyone comes, don't talk. Don't talk!—Sure, I'll come, just as soon as I get the police." "Mike! What's happened?" Cassidy's face was ashen as he shook Mark's hand from his arm. "Wait!" He dialled. He spoke into the transmitter. "Someone's hurt bad at the white cottage—that new filling station on the point—Mike Cassidy talkin'—I got to go. You don't understand—my daughter's there—All right, I'll wait here." He hung up and wiped a grimy hand across his sweat-beaded forehead. "That was my girl, Maggie, who called." "Talk, man, talk! What's happened?" "Someone hurt bad." "Who?" "I couldn't make out." "Someone hurt at the white cottage! But I was there not more than ten minutes ago, Mike." "If I was you I wouldn't say that, Mr. Mark. It wasn't just hurtin'. I was breakin' it easy. Someone's dead."

CHAPTER IX

"Don't move! I've got you covered!" In obedience to the hoarse warning, Sam and Brooke Reyburn stood as if turned to stone in the dark hall of Look-out House. Lights flared. Brooke stared incredulously. Was that Jed Stewart with his hand on the switch glaring at them with wide dilated eyes, with his mouth open as if he had just swallowed a salt wave? That was a flashlight he was pointing at them, not a pistol. It was Jed Stewart without his coat, with his black bow tie under one ear, with only one shoe on. "For the love of Mike, Jed Stewart, perhaps you'll tell me why you're holding us up in our own house? Why this Public Enemy No. 1 touch?" Sam demanded. Stewart blinked. "What are you two doing wandering round this house half dressed at this time of night?" "Stop shouting, Jed. You'll have Lucette down here," Sam said. "Come into the living room and tell us what you're doing in this house, Jed." "Let's go to the kitchen instead, more likely to stabilize our emotions," Brooke suggested. "I'll make cocoa and we'll scramble eggs. Jed, must need food after the late excitement—he's fairly twitching with it—and I feel hollow in my toes. Come on, Sam." "Sounds okay to me. I'm a growing boy, I need lots of nutriment. You'd better eat, Brooke; you didn't touch a thing when we came back from rehearsal. I'll run up and get a couple of bathrobes. Take these, Jed." He kicked off his slippers. "I'll put on shoes upstairs." Sam followed her into the kitchen. "Sam can be speedy when he wants to be," she admitted, as her brother entered with a lurid bathrobe over his pajamas and another all red and green stripes which he flung at Stewart. "There you are, m'lud." "Bring the milk, eggs, butter and bacon from the icebox, Sam. Toss me that apron, Jed, the big white one—that's right. Toast some bread, Sammy." Soon Sam sniffed. "Doesn't the bacon smell dandy! Here you are, folks." He arranged thin, crisp strips around a mound of fluffy scrambled eggs. "You and Jed sit down, Brooke, and I'll bring the cocoa after I find the marshmallows to drop into the cups." Brooke slipped off the apron and waited until Sam had served steaming hot cocoa with a little melting white island floating in each cup and helped himself lavishly to scrambled eggs and bacon, before, with elbows on the porcelain table, chin on her clasped hands, she suggested: "Now that the shock of discovering us roaming round in our own house has somewhat worn off, perhaps you'll tell us how you got in and why, Jed?" Stewart leaned back in his chair with the air of a man whose appetite has been abundantly satisfied. (TO BE CONTINUED) Snakes Have Quick Tongues Garter snakes are among the commonest of our native reptiles. The quick, darting forked red tongue gathers many insects for food, which together with frogs, toads, salamanders and worms, forms its principal diet. It is perfectly harmless and of great economic value. It hibernates below the frost line in soft mud or sand and emerges in early spring after being awakened by warming suns.

"Perhaps You'll Tell Us How You Got In and Why, Jed?"

Why Firestone Standard Tires are EXTRA SAFE

TAPPING RUBBER TREES ON FIRESTONE PLANTATIONS IN LIBERIA From these plantations come an ever increasing supply of the world's finest rubber. Economies in producing new materials, when discovering and distribution make it possible for Firestone to give you so much for your money.

YOU GET EXTRA PROTECTION AGAINST BLOWOUTS—eight extra pounds of rubber are added to every 100 pounds of cord by the Firestone patented Gum-Dipping process. By this process every fiber in every cord in every ply is saturated with liquid rubber. This counteracts dangerous internal friction and heat that ordinarily cause blowouts. YOU GET EXTRA PROTECTION AGAINST PUNCTURES—because under the tread are two extra layers of Gum-Dipped cords. YOU GET EXTRA PROTECTION AGAINST SKIDDING—because the tread is scientifically designed. YOU GET LONGER NON-SKID MILEAGE because of the extra tough, long-wearing tread. Firestone Standard Tires give you all these extra value features because they are first-quality tires built with high-grade materials and patented construction features. You SAVE MONEY because you buy this high quality and extra value at such low prices. Before leaving on your vacation trip, join the Firestone SAVE A LIFE Campaign by equipping your car with a set of new Firestone Standard Tires—today's top tire value. OUR DISASTROUS FARM
POLICY

Peter Molyneux in THE TEXAS
WEEKLY points out that after four years of experimental legislation by the Federal Government respecting cotton production and its price, the cotton-raisers of the South are still faced with a crisis.
With a 15-million bale crop in prospect, the price threatens to drop to the bottom and the Government is planning to adopt the artificial remedy of again "pegging the price"
so as to save Southern farmers from disaster.

This is the situation today in spite of the fact that for the past four years acreage-reduction programs have been enforced by the Government, and even this year we have an acreage of 25 per cent less than the average acreage during the years 1925 to 1929 inclusive.

Mr. Molyneux gives the figures.
The average cotton acreage in the five-year period, 1925-1929, was 44,882,000 acres. The Government estimate of the acreage that will be harvested this year is 33,429,000 acres, a reduction of 11,453,000 acres, or 25.5 per cent.

We have had a greatly reduced acreage since 1933, which has resulted naturally in reduced production. This reduction in production has been enhanced further by several drouthy years; and yet
after all these years of acreage-reduction and drouth, with a promised normal production this year, the farmers are faced with a price emergency, and the Government must again rush to their aid to save them from disaster.

Why is it that, after years of acreage-reduction and drouth, we are still faced with disastrously low prices?

Mr. Molyneux, as he has frequently done before, again points out the trouble. "The trouble for this, of course, is the declining consumption of American cotton abroad," he says. The annual average of American cotton consumed abroad during the 1925-1929 period was 8,317,000 bales, he points out. During the past 12 months foreign consumption of American cotton has been only about 5,000-000. The decline has been steady since 1930.

"When the Democratic administration tackled the problem of cotton in 1933, it paid no attention to the declining foreign markets for cotton, but resorted to the policies of 'crop control' and price-fixing Government loans," Mr. Molyneux further points out. "The object was to reduce the surplus by cutting production below the level of consumption, and to hold up the price by means of loans. But these policies not only did not check the declining market for American cotton, but actually accelerated the decline. The pegged price of American cotton, together with curtailed

production in the United States, had the effect of stimulating foreign production. . . . Thus the Government policies reinforced the original cause of the decline of the foreign markets for cotton, which was the high tariff policy of the United States, and the decline continued.

It is not merely a question of restoring our markets any longer.
It is a question of checking the continued destruction of those markets. . . . In view of this, does it not seem high time that the cotton farmers of Texas, and their political representatives, should begin to insist that something be done about the market for cotton? Is it going to require the total destruction of their markets to wake them up? . . . Four years ago the farm leaders who were demanding control and subsidy and Government loans declared that the process of restoring our foreign markets was too slow. They had to have a quick remedy for an "emergency" situation. Well, it looks like they are now face to face with a new "emergency", and meantime the process of destroying our foreign markets has continued inexorably. . . . And nobody in Washington is even talking about doing anything to check that process. Instead, Congress is now engaged in enacting legislation which is calculated to intensify that process. We mean the Black-Connery bill, the bill which proposes to set up barriers between the States of the American Union similar to those that are now set up between the nations. The Black-Connery
bill, which is put forward as a wages and hours bill, will supplement and reinforce the Hawley-Smoot Tariff Act which is at the base of most of the troubles of American farmers of all kinds today, and which is driving the cotton farmers out of business entirely."

We give these views of Mr. Molyneux to our farmer friends because we believe they are worth serious consideration. We are sure, however, that President Roosevelt and the New Dealers are going to do nothing about the tariff. They are not going to repeal the Hawley-Smoot Tariff Act, that infamous Republican tax measure, because they know that if they did so they would alienate organized labor,
which believes a high protective tariff helps the industrial laborer.
They are therefore committed to a policy of serving organized labor, and while the Republican tariff is surely and steadily destroying the Southern farmer's cotton market,
the New Dealers are seeking to mollify and satisfy him by offering him year after year a subsidy of some kind, which they have ingeniously dubbed "the farmer's tariff". But as Mr. Molyneux has pointed out, this process can not continue indefinitely, and somewhere down the line a day of reckoning is coming. Some of us would like to call a halt and return to Democratic principles and policies
before our foreign cotton markets are utterly destroyed, but the outlook is none too rosy.

Much discussion has been aroused
in the South over the Black Connery
wages and hours bill. The measure looks like it would go on through,
in spite of the fact that it is loaded with dynamite. A commission would be set up to administer the law, and they would have in their power life
and death to small factories, especially in the South, where the wage scale general is lower than in the North. With scales as they now are, many small business concerns can operate at a profit, which with higher overhead operations might not make a go of it. Small help it would be to the laborer if the factory where he worked would be forced to close. Another danger is to be observed. If the labor costs in any concern should prove excessive, the management in many cases would be able to displace this labor with machinery or short cut methods that would finally pay a less wage total, even at a higher rate, and further aggravate the unemployment situation. There is still another danger of the bill to the South, where agriculture predominates. Suppose laborers in factories get their wages hiked and hours cut down. It would result in higher prices for what the farmer has to buy, and he is paying too much for a lot of his "stuff" now. Southern Congressmen would do well to give their farmer friends some sort of break in all this new deal legislation. Let's not fix it where he can't buy anything at all.—Baylor County Banner.

SENATOR BLACK AS SUPREME COURT MATERIAL

The appointment of Senator Hugo
Black of Alabama to fill the vacancy on the Supreme Court created by the retirement of Justice Van Devanter came as a distinct surprise to the nation.

Aside from any objections that might be urged against the new appointee, we are gratified that the President came South to get his man.

That the appointment was made for a specific purpose, however, must be obvious to every one. Few Southern Democrats are as radical in their views as Senator Black.
None of them has been more loyal or subservient to the President. He has actively and with apparent enthusiasm supported practically every proposal of the President. He is one of the joint authors of the Black-Connery bill which would make the President a virtual dictator over the industry of this country—which would give him the power of life and death over practically every industrial establishment. It would give him the power, through a board of five members appointed by him,
to fix the wages of employees engaged in every class of industry and even of the employees of every individual industrial concern engaged in interstate commerce or in the production of goods in competition with those coming from another state. It would therefore give him the power to favor industrial enterprises situated in one section of the country to the detriment of similar enterprises situated in other sections. It would even give him the power to foster one individual industrial concern and choke its competitor to death. No man should be given such power in a democracy.

In fact, when any man is given such power we no longer have a democracy. Hugo Black is one of the authors of this bill. If it should be passed by Congress, it will inevitably become the duty of the Supreme Court soon thereafter to pass on its constitutionality—and Hugo Black, author of the bill, will be a member of the Court.

Senator Black was also one of the uncompromising supporters of the President's bill to give him power to reorganize, or "pack", the Supreme Court. This bill, if passed, would have given him power over the Court and its decisions never contemplated by the Constitution and necessarily fatal to the independence of that branch of our government.

Notwithstanding this record of Senator Black, we have confidence in his integrity and patriotism. We hope and believe that his responsibilities as a Justice of the Supreme Court will sober him. He must necessarily become a more devoted student of the Constitution. He is reputed to be an able and even brilliant lawyer. It is true he has had practically no experience on the bench. His only experience as a jurist is limited to a term of two years as city recorder of the city of Birmingham, Ala., equipped with a brilliant mind, as we believe him to be, and if he is intellectually and morally honest, as we believe he is,
then in the course of time, he should become an able and useful member of the great Supreme Court.

Senator Wagner of New York is a native of Germany. He came to this country when nine years old.
He grew up in New York city. He is a capable fellow with a benevolent spirit. In the Senate he has sought to improve the living conditions of the common laborer. He has sought also to increase the comforts of the homes of the poor. Now he is seeking to pass an antilynching bill. In all these matters
he is motivated by a most commendable spirit of benevolence, but he apparently has little regard for our federal constitution. If he has ever read it, it must have made little impression upon him. But the same may be said of many others, who were born in this country.

The recent general expression of belief that President Roosevelt had intended to appoint Senator Joe Robinson as Associate Justice of the U. S. Supreme Court and the more recent actual appointment of Senator Hugo Black to the position raises a question that we believe should be seriously considered by the American people. Regardless of the ability and qualifications of the two men mentioned, we do not believe that it is good policy for any man who has been active in the enactment of a law to be placed in a judicial position where he may be called upon to pass on its constitutionality. This is especially applicable to members of the Supreme Court, for from their decision there can be no appeal. Senators and Representatives in Congress should either be barred from appointment to positions on the Supreme Court or they should be forbidden to sit on cases involving the constitution-ality of laws which they themselves have helped to enact.

While the sun is shining in the

just had a carnival here on a block of land partially surrounded by residences. The noise and the filth and the dust created by this carnival were offensive to every resident in that vicinity. There ought to be an ordinance to prevent a recurrence of the establishment of such nuisances. In behalf of the residents who were annoyed by this show and others who may be so annoyed
hereafter, we appeal to the city council to pass an ordinance prescribing the territory in which such shows hereafter may be exhibited.

South Plains Fair Dates Are Set

Lubbock, August 19.—The dates for the 24th annual exposition of the Panhandle South Plains Fair Association were announced as September 27 through October 2, following a meeting of the Board of the Fair Association here the past week.

Because of the late start, preparations were begun without delay and the directors stated that the fair this year would include all the features of those in the past, with all departments enlarged and with several departments added. Negotiations were immediately started with two outstanding carnival companies now playing in Kansas with the expectation that one of the two will be signed for the midway attraction.

The directors, among other things, decided to present a program of horse racing in spite of the unexpected difficulties on that score, and instructions were given to secure the best entertainment available for an outstanding program of free attractions.

One of the departments to receive special attention will be that for swine. High market for hogs and the high cost of feed, it was explained, have combined to reduce the swine population of the South Plains to its lowest in years. Directors were informed that many farmers have urged that swine exhibits be stressed in the belief that it will tend to revive South Plains pork production.

Successful Revival Held At New Lynn

Rev. W. P. Bussell reports a most successful revival in the Baptist Church at New Lynn recently, the meeting closing on Sunday night, August 8.

"We had a fine meeting", he said, "ten additions to the church, nine by baptism and one by statement; about 16 or 17 conversions. They had an old-time shouting meeting—made us think back long ago. Everybody seemed to enjoy the meeting."

"Brother Robinson did the preaching, all but two sermons. Brother Towney preached two days at the 11 o'clock services.

"The crowds were so large that not more than half the people could get in the house at the night services. Some came from Post and Tahoka. Good crowds also attended the day services. The best meetings were in the day services. The Lord knows where all the people came from; I don't. It seems that every body was up with their work and just took out and came to the meeting. The church was greatly revived."

Brother Bussell also reports that the public school opened at New Lynn on Monday, August 9, with five teachers. A large crowd of patrons was present, and the school started off nicely.

Sweetwater Host To Newspapermen

Eighty West Texas newspapermen attended the annual convention of the West Texas Press Association in Sweetwater last Friday and Saturday.

And Sweetwater spared nothing to entertain the guests. For diversion there was a luncheon Friday at noon; golfing, swimming, motor boating and a barbeque at Lake Sweetwater in the evening; a theatre party and dancing at night; a breakfast Saturday morning, the program of which was broadcast over the radio. Interspersed were programs of particular interest to newspaper men.

Lake Sweetwater park recently built by the city and CCC men, is an outstanding amusement center. In the beautiful Bitter Creek Valley and surrounded by many trees, the lake affords an ideal site for the sixty or seventy summer cottages, the camp units, picnic grounds, grass green golf course, tennis and croquet courts, club house, etc. The body of water affords excellent fishing, and swimming and boating. In addition to three sailboats, there are said to be about 60 motorboats.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hill and Patricia, attended the convention.

Tahoka FFA Boys Are Commended

The News Wednesday morning received a communication from W. T. McKee, proprietor of a tourist park at Christoval, praising the F. F. A. boys of the Tahoka High school, who recently spent a night or two at his place. We quote from his letter as follows:

"I take this opportunity of expressing my appreciation of having Prof. Hufstetler and his boys with me for a short visit. I have had 10 years in this business and have never had a nicer behaved party with me. You parents should be, and I am sure are proud of them."

Mr. McKee then proceeds to also commend Mr. Hufstetler very highly, but when we showed him the letter his sense of modesty prompted him to urge that we not print that part of the letter.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Reid of De Queen, Arkansas, are spending a few weeks here and in neighboring communities visiting their sons and a daughter, O. M. and Thomas Reid of Tahoka, J. N. Reid of New Home, and Mrs. T. A. McClure of Hurlwood, Lubbock county.

A small amount of gas at the shallow depth of only 52 feet was encountered Sunday in the shallow oil test fifteen miles west of Tahoka on the Terry-Lynn county line, it is said by local men who witnessed the phenomenon.

Gas emitted from the hole in sufficient quantity to cause a small explosion or "puff" when lighted matches were dropped into the hole.

Mr. and Mrs. Oran Short left Sunday to visit relatives at Stamford, after which they expected to see the Frontier Fiesta at Fort Worth and the Pan-American Exposition at Dallas.

Mr. W. H. Womack became suddenly ill Tuesday, suffering from something like acute indigestion. He is reported to be improving.

ELDER DRENNON CLOSES MEETING AT MESQUITE

I closed the Mesquite meeting Monday morning at the water's edge. It was one of the most pleasant meetings I have held this summer. The attention was the best ever. The love of the people for one another was surely fine.

I was made to think how fine it would be if we would work more for the upbuilding of our own community. Cooperation and love are two great factors in making a community a good place to live.

Borden county does not have so many people in it, but what it has sure hang together. The only thing I have against the county is it has too many rattlesnakes.

I will begin a meeting Friday night of this week at Lueders, where Jesse Eubanks lives. He invites all his friends of Tahoka to come take in the meeting and do some fishing. I hope to do two kinds of fishing while there—for men and for fish. I like the fishing for men most. Jesus said, "Follow me and I will make you fishers of men." I hope to catch some people in the gospel net.

This is my last meeting for this summer. Thirty-three have answered the gospel invitation thus far. I hope for many more before this meeting closes.

Services here. Bible study 10 a. m. Communion 11 a. m. Visit the friendly church.—R. P. Drennon.

METHODIST PASTOR OFF FOR SHORT VACATION

The pastor and family are leaving for the Davis Mountains this Wednesday. Will miss one Sunday from our pulpit (the first time this year). We will be back about August 26th and will be in pulpit the 29th.

Will begin our round-up work in earnest. The conference year is moving to a close, conference meets November 17. We have much to be thankful for and quite a bit to do. Let's all do our best for a fine closing of a good year.

BAPTIST W. M. S. ELECTS OFFICERS

Election of officers was the main matter of business at the Baptist W. M. S. meeting at the Church Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Dale was responsible for the devotional, and Bro. Dale brought some interesting thoughts on Lydia, the business woman and first European Christian, who brought enthusiasm, earnestness, intelligence and tact into the service of her Lord.

Reports were given by the recording and the corresponding secretaries, and by chairmen of standing committees.

Officers elected for the ensuing year are: President, Mrs. J. B. Walker; recording secretary, Mrs. H. M. Snowden; corresponding secretary, Mrs. A. O. King; pianist, Mrs. J. W. Fortenberry; chorister, Mrs. R. C. Wells.

Those present included Rev. Geo. A. Dale and Mmes. Dale, Walker, Weathers, Hufstader, St. Clair, Pennington, Billman, Howell, Fortenberry, Snowden, King, and Hill.

LOCAL COUPLE MARRIED IN LUBBOCK RECENTLY

Their many friends will be surprised to learn of the marriage of Mrs. Ouida Johnson Rigby and Coy C. Cathcart in Lubbock by a Baptist minister on Wednesday, August 11. A friend, Mrs. Ruby Palmer accompanied them.

They are making their home in the Harvey Freeman apartment on South Sweet Street, Tahoka.

O. E. S. MEETING

(Delayed)

A most enjoyable occasion was the anniversary meeting of the O.—E. S. on the high school lawn on Tuesday evening of last week in commemoration of the founder of the Order, Rob Morris.

A brief talk, giving a sketch of the life and work of Mr. Morris was given by Truett Smith.

Judge C. H. Cain also responded to calls for a speech, and he gave a few pertinent and interesting facts about Masonry.

Mrs. A. M. Cade presided during the brief program.

Refreshments of cake and cream were served to the members of the Eastern Star and to the husbands of members, who were invited guests.

REPORTS FROM THE COUNTY CLUBS

Miss Lillith Boyd, H. D. Agent

MRS. WEAVER TELLS HOW TO MAKE BRINED PICKLES

"It is easier for me to make pickles from brined cucumbers than to follow other recipes", said Mrs. A. C. Weaver, Home Food Supply Demonstrator in the Tahoka Home Demonstration Club to the home agent recently.

"I used 9 quarts of rain water to 1 part salt in starting the brine. Each morning after gathering the cucumbers, I added them to the others and added brine in the above proportion to cover. I covered the top with a plate that would fit into the stone jar and weighted it down. To keep the brine strong enough, I add extra salt on top of the plate each week. Usually 1/4 to 1/2 pound of salt to 10 pounds of cucumbers is sufficient. My cucumbers have been in the brine six weeks and some of them are not cured yet. I test them by slicing a medium sized one lengthwise to observe an even color throughout without any white areas. After they are cured they are ready to be made into either sweet or sour pickles", added Mrs. Weaver.

THREE LAKES H-D CLUB MEETS WITH MRS. HICKERSON

"Flavor is the main thing to be considered in making cookies," Miss Lillith Boyd said to the Three Lakes club ladies at their meeting in the home of Mrs. G. W. Hickerson August 5.

Three kinds of cookies were made. The foundation sugar cookie recipe was used with two variations. Coconut was used in one as adrop cookie, Chocolate rolled cookies and date bars were also made.

Plans were made to entertain the husbands with a picnic.

Refreshments of lemonade and cookies were served to Mesdames Amos McMillan, J. W. Edwards, Carroll Edwards, Jarrell Cox, C. F. Gaylen, Fred McGinty, Misses Johnnie McClintock, Mildred Cox, Patsy McGinty, Maxey Lee McMillan and Merl Akins of Tahoka, and La Verne Boyd of Mineral Wells.

COOKIE DEMONSTRATION IS GIVEN AT MIDWAY

Miss Lillith Boyd, the Lynn county home demonstration agent, discussed the making of cookies for the Midway club women August 12, with Mrs. Howard Draper.

There are three kinds of cookies—roll, drop, and ice box cookies.

Roll cookies can be made in different shapes and flavors. Drop cookies are the easiest cookies to make. Ice box cookies are tasty but require more time. Cookies can be made in every home and can be served at a minute's notice.

Mrs. Louis Salmon and Miss La-verne Boyd were visitors.

Members present were: Mmes. R. B. Floyd, I. M. Draper, M. O. Spears, Rufus Slover, Howard Draper, L. M. Nordyke, and R. L. Littlepage.

Many friends here will be glad to learn that Miss Mavis Brasfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Brasfield, who now reside at Andrews, has almost completely recovered from injuries she sustained several weeks ago when she was thrown or fell from the running-board of a car which was being driven upon the streets of Odessa. Her head struck the pavement, causing a fracture of the skull.

N. C. Rainey made a visit to the oil field near Seagraves the first of the week. He says that Seagraves is on a boom and all kinds of property is high. He thinks Tahoka and Lynn county are to get a big oil play soon.

Roger Curry of Rule come in Monday afternoon to spend a few days here visiting his brothers, Charlie Curry of the News mechanical department, and John Curry, who works at the Phillips Service Station.

Mr. and Mrs. Ott Patterson visited relatives in Comanche and Jack counties last week.

HEAVY RAIN FALLS AT PRESS TIME

Since the rain reports on the front page were written, other rains have covered the entire county. A heavy rain fell here and over much of the county Thursday afternoon.

At 6:40 p. m. Thursday, the rainfall here for the afternoon totaled 3.35 inches, with rain still falling. Down town streets were flooded, and some business houses on Sweet Street were forced to keep the water swept out of their front doors.

In fact there was sufficient water on the street to float a boat, and Reginal Frazier did that very thing.

NEW POST OFFICE CLERK ARRIVES

Miss Ethel Calahan, the new post office clerk here taking the place of M. O. Canaday, her parents, and her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Scott arrived Tuesday from Nashville, Arkansas, and are occupying the Canaday home here. Miss Calahan was expected to begin work in the post office today.

M. O. Canaday and family have removed to Nashville. Mr. Canaday taking the place of Miss Calahan in the post office there.

Word has reached Tahoka friends that Mr. and Mrs. Otis Harris of O'Donnell are parents of a fine little son weighing a little more than five pounds, born at Plains Hospital, Lubbock, Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Harris was formerly Miss Euna Tredway, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Porter Tredway of Tahoka, and she grew to womanhood here.

Edd Hamilton, Jim Wetsel, and C. T. Oliver were business visitors to a new prospective oil field in Yoakum county southwest of Plains Monday. Two wells are being drilled there with some showing of oil, they say.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Davis returned last week end from their vacation trip out through New Mexico, reporting a most pleasurable trip.

Mrs. George Goad and two children of Fort Worth are here for a visit in the home of her brother-in-law, Judge P. W. Goad.

Mathews Writes About Poultry

Some time ago we asked Fred Mathews to give us an article on his poultry operations. Fred has been in the poultry business in a big way for several years and is making a success of the business. He has paid some high prices for some high-bred fowls and doubtless has the most highly-bred and finest flock of chickens in the county. Not only does he make the business pay but he gets a lot of pleasure out of it, for he is a poultry fiend. He has written us the following information and observations, which we pass on to our readers, about his

RHODE ISLAND REDS

The Rhode Island Reds were admitted to the Standard by the American Poultry Association in 1906.

Possibly more Rhode Island Reds are admitted to Poultry Shows than any other breed on account of their beauty.

Nearly all of the states are holding some kind of egg laying contests and for the last three out of four years the Rhode Island Reds have led all other breeds of chickens.

Last year Mr. Parmenter of Massachusetts set a new unsurpassed high for all breeds by winning with a ten-hen pen of Rhode Island Reds that laid 2964 eggs in 51 weeks.

We have about 400 chickens, and none for sale. We intend to keep about 250 laying hens. We are trying to keep medium good color in our flock and keep up high egg production.

At the present we have one pen mated with a male from a hen that laid 303 eggs in one year. This male's father was from a hen that laid 316 eggs in one year. This male's ancestry for many generations were trapnested.

We have another pen of the same strain.

Our breeding pens are under trap and selected males from selected hens will be held for future breeding purposes.

In our opinion it is better to diversify, as too long hours on a tractor will make and is making a physical wreck of many of our best

A poorly nourished body just can't hold up. And as for that run-down feeling, that nervous fatigue, — don't neglect it!

Try it! Thousands of women testify Cardui helped them. Of course, if it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician

The summer session of the New Moore school started August 16, with a good enrollment.

Mrs. Bill Battle of Hope, New Mexico spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Brandon.

Rev. D. Cox is conducting a revival meeting at the Newmoore church.

Mrs. Arvil Huddleston is visiting with her sister, Mrs. Leonard Moore in Lamesa this week.

Mr. Cathey Morrison and Miss Anna Mae Frost of O'Donnell were married August 13 at Lovington, New Mexico. They will make their home in O'Donnell.

Mr. and Mrs. Seymour left for their home in Monument, New Mexico after spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Crutcher, Mrs. Seymour's parents.

Mrs. Marie Cox has been employed as teacher in our school again, after having been away two years. We are very glad to have her with us. She is teaching the primary grades.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Hegi returned Monday afternoon from a few days outing spent at Ruidoso. Pete says that he didn't do a thing but read and rest. He didn't even fish any. Says he sho' did have a fine time.

Little Miss Dona Deen Barrington of Paducah spent last week here visiting her aunts, Misses Nell and Sina Barrington.

manhood, so a good flock of chickens is a good source of revenue. Also Foreign nations are stealing our cotton market.

The Plains have advantages and also drawbacks for poultry. Practically all of this section's poultry houses are too hot and close for summers and entirely too cold for winters. Too hot and close means roap and too cold means energy spent trying to keep warm instead of using same to produce eggs.

The plains are shy of trees, and filth also congregates on level spots, as we have a lack of drainage, and with lack of trees chickens hang around sheds too much where they should have leaf mold to scratch in.

The plains also have advantages such as cool nights, if we will only almost tear the chicken houses down for air passage; and our grain supply is also more plentiful.

We have about sixty trees set out and intend to keep chickens out of houses in the heat of the day during summer and train them to seek shade under trees by driving them to such places and keeping mash, feed and water at such places.

We have some exhibition Reds that we aim to show at the Lubbock Fair in October.

Yours very truly

FRED MATHEWS AND MISS FAYE BLASINGAME WED.

The News is informed that Fred Mathews and Miss Faye Blasingame, both of Grassland, were united in marriage at Lueders Sunday night, Elder Jesse Eubanks, formerly of Tahoka, officiating. After the ceremony the couple proceeded on their wedding trip to Hot Springs, Arkansas, and after a brief visit there will return to Grassland to make their home. Fred has recently made some improvements on his home there in preparation for this happy event.

News of the wedding was first brought to us by a letter from Elder Jesse Eubanks, which we received Tuesday morning, which we pass on to our readers for their enjoyment.

"Dear Mr. Editor: Just a bit of interesting news for you. You have lost your Fred. Fred Mathews, I mean.

"Yes, Fred drove by my place last night, August 15, and presented a marriage license signed by Mr. R. C. Story and requested that I do the rest. Sure he had the girl with him too, and complying with Fred's request I said the words that united this happy couple in holy wedlock. The fortunate young lady was Miss Faye Blasingame of Grassland.

After the ceremony the young couple departed for Hot Springs, Arkansas and other points to spend their honeymoon. They left happy.

"A long time ago I promised Fred if he ever found the girl just come to my place and I would perform the ceremony free of charge. Fred at last found the girl and took me up on the proposition. I think the statute of limitations should have outlawed the deal, don't you?"

"Success to you and The Lynn County News. Your friend—Jesse C. Eubanks."

After the opening program Mr. Green explained the plan for the division of the school and made other announcements. The only new member of the faculty, Mr. Dodson, was introduced. Mr. Dodson is to teach science and Math in the high school.

FOOT BALL

Longhorn foot ball practice seems well under way now. Twenty-four boys are coming out. Of that number only about six are letter men, but the others are enthusiastic and eager to learn the game. Their motto seems to be "Practice makes perfect", but that is what we want for an A-1 team.

The season opens Friday, August 27, with a game with Ropesville here. Needless to say the team and student body are eager to win the game. The support of all the fans in the district is needed.

The Redwine boys had a meeting Monday and elected Mr. Jimmie Crawford captain of their ball club for the coming year. The boys say that they are planning to win many games this year.

Faculty Attends Summer School

Six of the eight members of the Draw-Redwine faculty attended school this summer. Mr. Green worked on his master's degree at Tech, Mr. Dought and Mrs. Collins also went there. Mr. Benzett and Mr. Dodson attended East Texas State Teachers College from which Mr. Dodson is to receive his degree next week. Miss Ebenhart continued her work at the University of Texas. In spite of the hot weather and the hard work all of them report a profitable and enjoyable summer.

Revival At Methodist Church

Brother Young of the Mobeetie Methodist Church has been preaching for the last week in revival services being conducted at the Draw-Redwine Methodist Church. Large crowds have heard inspiring sermons each morning and evening. James Baker of New Lynn is leading the singing.

REDWINE NEWS

There was a good crowd at Sunday school on last Sunday. Brother Braswell will be here next Sunday. Let's all be present and try to keep the enthusiasm that was created during the revival.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Giles visited O-Kay last Friday. They attended the Baptist revival in progress there and reported that the services were inspirational and successful.

THE PLACE OF RELIGION IN A NATION'S LIFE.

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 25:1, 2, 8, 9; 29:43-46; 40:34-38.
GOLDEN TEXT—Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord. Ps. 33:12.
PRIMARY TOPIC—The Meeting House.
JUNIOR TOPIC—The House of the Lord.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—
Why a Nation Needs Religion.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—
The Place of Religion in a Nation's Life.

The nation of Israel was under the direct government of God—a theocracy as distinguished from a monarchy, or a democracy. God spoke to them through his servant Moses, but his relationship to the people was far more intimate than that of a distant power delivering laws through a representative. God dwelt in the midst of his people, and today we consider how he made provision for a place in which to meet with them, for a holy priesthood to minister before him, and made known his personal presence by a manifestation of his glory.

I. A Place to Meet God (Exod. 25:1, 2, 8, 9; 29:43-46).

Every place of worship, whether the tabernacle in the wilderness, or a church on a busy city street, testifies to the fact that man is indeed "incurably religious." He is a spiritual being, made by God for fellowship with himself. He is never satisfied until he meets God.

The pattern or plan for the tabernacle was given by God (v. 9), and was to be followed in every detail. But note that the people were to make a willing offering of all that was needed for its construction. God gives man the glorious privilege of partnership with him. Shortsighted and foolish is the man who grumbles because the church needs money. A father might just as well grieve because his children outgrow their clothing. Thank God if your church is alive and growing, and be glad for the opportunity to buy it some "new clothes."

Sacrificial gifts and faithful building according to God's plan, brought to completion a place of meeting which God sanctified and accepted.

II. Priests to Minister to God (vv. 44, 45).

Note, first, that they were men called of God. Those who stand to minister to him for the people dare not appoint themselves, or seek an appointment by men. They must be "God-called."

They were also sanctified, or ordained, by God. Only as men act in true recognition of God's selection and setting apart of his chosen servants does ordination have real meaning.

Finally, notice that the priests were "to minister to" God. His servants are to serve him, and thus to meet the need of the people for whom they speak. They are "put in trust with the gospel," and therefore to "so . . . speak; not as pleasing men, but God" (1 Thess. 2:4). If you have that kind of a pastor, praise God for him, and give him your earnest support and encouragement.

III. The Presence of God (Exod. 29:45, 46; 40:34-38).

He dwelt in the midst of his people. Christians also know what it means to have "God with us," for such is the very meaning of the name "Immanuel" (Isa. 7:14; Matt. 1:23). He it was who as the living Word "became flesh and dwelt among us" (John 1:14).

For our further instruction and blessing let us observe that when God dwelt with his people his glory "filled the tabernacle" (v. 34). Is that true of our churches? Have we so loved God and so fully yielded ourselves and our churches to him that he is free to fill the place with his glory?

The word "abode" in v. 35 is significant. What blessed peace and assurance must have come to Israel when they knew that God had come to abide with them. In this world of transitory things we need such an anchor for the soul—God's abiding presence.

But God's people must move on. There are victories to be won, a promised land to take. So we read that the cloud arose when they were to move forward, and when it was "not taken up, then they journeyed not until the day that it was taken up."

The Psalmist tells us that "the steps of a good man are ordered by the Lord" (Ps. 37:23). I believe it was George Mueller of blessed memory who inserted three words—"and the steps." The man, or the church, or the nation, that trust God, will have both "steps" and "stops" "ordered by the Lord."

Beginning of Eternal Life

Eternal life does not just mean that when our bodies die our souls last on. It means a kind of life which we can begin to live here and now, and which cannot be destroyed by death because it is united with God.—A Day Book of Prayer.

Always an Answer

A little girl was once teased by a skeptic, who remarked that God had not answered her prayer. "Yes," she said, "he answered. He said no."

SIX CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS UP TO THE VOTERS

 seem expedient; and providing such assistance shall never exceed $1,500,000 in any one year. The State would likewise have authority to accept any additional sums of money which the Federal Government may offer for this purpose.
 House Joint Resolution No. 23 proposes an amendment which would provide that no property shall be assessed for ad valorem taxes at greater value than its fair cash market value, and providing that the State and all governmental subdivisions thereof may allow a discount for payment of ad valorem taxes before they become delinquent.
 Senate Joint Resolution No. 16 proposes an amendment which would authorize Harris county to levy a tax in lieu of the issuance of bonds for the building of roads and bridges and would apply to Harris county alone.
 Senate Joint Resolution No. 9 proposes an amendment which would abolish double liability of the stock-holders of state banks for the debts and obligations thereof.
 House Joint Resolution No. 24 proposes an amendment which would abolish the salary system of paying peace officers and other public officials and require a return to the fee system. The amendment abolishing the fee system was adopted only a couple of years ago and applies only to the larger counties. This amendment does not directly affect Lynn county.

 The amendment abolishing the fee system in the larger counties was adopted because of the crying evils growing out of that system. Under this system, county officers and even precinct officers, such as justices of the peace and constables, in the larger cities, received fees amounting annually to thousands and thousands of dollars, some of them receiving several times as much remuneration as the governor and other state officials. The fee system also bred much corruption and dishonesty on the part of minor officials, often causing gross miscarriages of justice. It is not believed that the people of Texas will permit a return to this pernicious system. This amendment should be voted down.

MAGNOLIA SCHOOL SEEKS SOLUTION OF PROBLEM

 order, and the petition, set out that should the two districts Magnolia and Garlyn be consolidated supervision would be under Garza county and high school students would be transported to Post. Such a district would reach within about eight miles of Tahoka and nine miles of Post, and lie almost wholly in Lynn county. The election held on Monday carried in each district, but there is a question as to whether or not the grouping order antedates and invalidates the consolidation election.

Tahoka has become interested in the affair because of the possible splitting up of schools in the eastern section of Lynn county, and because she feels that the placing of the consolidated district under the supervision of Garza county and the transfer and transportation of pupils from the old Magnolia district to Post would be unwise, unfair, and hurtful to Tahoka and Lynn county in many ways.

B. J. Emanuel was unanimously named chairman of the meeting Wednesday night.
