District Court Session Opens; Criminal Cases Set Monday

New District Judge
Louis B. Reed Is On The Bench

The fall term of district court opened here Monday morning with Judge Louis B. Reed on the bench. Present were District Attorney Truett B. Smith, District Clerk Miss Hattie Server, and Court Reporter John Edmison.

The first work of the court was to empanel a grand jury, and the following twelve men were selected as members of that body: W. R. GARDENHIRE of O'Donnell, foreman; S. E. REID, E. J. COOPER, A. C. AYCOCK and HOMER ST. CLAIR, all of Tahoka; R. L. BEATTIE and N. S. PARKER of O'Donnell, C. E. CAMPBELL of Wilson, J. WRIGHT EDWARDS of T-Bar, L. HAGLER of Gordon, F. E. WARREN of Morgan, and HILLARY SMITH of New Home.

The following bailiffs were sworn: Milt Finch, door bailiff, Dee Sanders and John Johnson, riding bailiffs.

The body began its investigations immediately.

Two divorces were granted and the disabilities of a minor were removed by the court on the first day of the term. No jury was summoned for the first week, and this week is being used in the hearing of non-jury cases.

Several civil suits have been set for trial next week, and several for the third week. The criminal docket has also been set for the third week.

Women Entering Fair Contests

Lynn county Women's Home Demonstration clubs will take part in preparing an education exhibit at the Panhandle-South Plains Fair, which opens in Lubbock next Monday.

Better cake making will be the exhibit furnish by these women, recipes, equipment, and the finished product will be shown.

Lynn county 4-H club girls will enter the clothing contests.

Wheat Smut Can Be Controlled

Smut in wheat can be controlled by proper seed treatment, according to V. F. Jones, county agent.

Smut in wheat is carried in the form of small spores on the seed. These smut spores can be destroyed by various means of seed treatment. The most common form of treatment is the dust disinfectant of the seed before planting. The county agent's office recommends the use of 2 ounces of copper carbamate to the bushel of seed, or one-half ounce of improved ceresan to the bushel of seed. Either one of these materials is very effective if properly applied. The seed and the disinfectant dust must be thoroughly mixed, mixed until each seed is coated with the dust used.

The seed may be sown immediately following treatment, or they may be kept for any period of time after treatment before being sown.

CHILDREN USE 500 MUSCLES IN WRITING

Denton, Sept. 23.—When your child bends lower and lower over his paper, his tongue between his teeth, his feet twisted around his chair, he is experiencing what educators call "the hygienic difficulties" of learning to write; for writing, experts say, calls upon some 500 muscles, perhaps more than are used in any other form of human activity.

How these hygienic difficulties may be minimized through the use of manuscript writing, a small "running print" readily coming into use in American school systems, is explained in a booklet written recently at the request of a Chicago publisher by Miss Nellie Griffiths, professor of education and associate director of student teaching at North Texas State Teachers College.

Luther Moore, brother of Mrs. L. Reese, is here visiting the family. He will probably remain here and work through the fall.

Subsidy Payments Are Available

Lynn county farmers who have sold cotton from the 1937 crop prior to September 15th, who desire in later make application for the three cent subsidy payment are asked to file the buyers' receipt with the county agent's office not later than September 30th, according to V. F. Jones, county agent.

Sale receipts on all cotton sold after September 15th should be filed in the county office within fifteen days of date of sale.

Government sale certificate forms have not been received to date. As soon as they are received they will be distributed to buyers of cotton. In the meantime, secure from the buyer a copy of original sales receipt showing date of sale, name and address of producer, number and gross weight of the bales purchased. The buyer should sign the sales receipt and give his address. These sales receipts may be mailed or delivered in person to the county agent's office in Tahoka in accordance with the above instructions.

Benoy Gattis Receives Injuries On Bicycle

Benoy Gattis was the victim of an accident one night last week which came near being serious. Only minor injuries were in fact sustained, however.

While riding along the street on his bicycle he was struck by a car driven by Clovis Hunnicutt. Mr. Hunnicutt's lights, it is said, were not very good and he did not see the boy on the bicycle, who, at the time he was struck, was trying to get out of the way of the Hunnicutt car.

One of Benoy's knees was wrenched and severely bruised and he sustained several cuts on various parts of his anatomy. His bicycle was almost completely wrecked.

Marriage Business Is On Increase

Several couples from neighboring counties have been married here recently.

Among these were Bill Wilson and Miss Xumlee Trumbler of Brownfield, who were married here Monday, Justice of the Peace W. S. Swan officiating.

On last Saturday a Lubbock couple came down to Tahoka, procured a marriage license, and were united in marriage by Elder Jacob C. Foster of the Church of Christ. This couple gave their names as A. A. Raines and Mrs. Lillie V. Raines. They had been married before but had separated and been granted a divorce. They finally patched up their marital difficulties and decided to be re-married, a happy turn of affairs which, it is hoped, will be entirely successful.

Another couple, married here on Wednesday of last week, hailed from Slaton. They were D. J. Speed and Miss LaVerne Gamble. The wedding vows were taken before Rev. J. T. Howell, pastor of the Methodist Church at Wilson.

For some strange reason, no Lynn county young people have applied for license during the past two weeks.

O'Donnell Index Has Substitute Editor

Mrs. Perrell Farrington, editor of the O'Donnell Index, is again ill, we are informed, and will probably be confined to her bed several months upon the order of her physicians.

Miss Jim Ellen Wells of O'Donnell will serve as substitute editor during Mrs. Farrington's illness, we understand. Miss Wells has served in this capacity before and is well qualified to do the work.

The News hopes that Mrs. Farrington may speedily and completely recover from her illness.

Many residents of Tahoka are suffering from severe colds and some of them from hay fever this week.

Young Man Dies After Attack In Cotton Field

H. W. Calaway Relates Story Of Death of Cotton Picker On His Farm Near Draw.

Stricken Tuesday morning while picking cotton on the H. W. Calaway farm near Draw, Sam Holton, a young man about 21 or 22 years of age and a stranger in this county, died Tuesday night before reaching Tahoka while Mr. Calaway and a young man of the community were on their way with him to a hospital in Lubbock.

Mr. Calaway met the young man Sunday and hired him to pick cotton. The youth picked all day Monday and was picking Tuesday. Mr. Calaway had a conversation with him just a few moments before he became ill, giving him some directions.

Trench Silos Are More Popular

Trench silos are becoming more and more popular in Lynn county, as shown by the fact that many farmers are using this method of storing their grain this year.

Among farmers who have already dug silos are: Maurice Small, R. L. Littlepage, T. H. Charters, P. E. Askew, A. L. Dunagan, and Wilburn Thomas.

County Agent V. F. Jones says there is a possibility that twenty-five silos will be dug this fall. There are possibly ten or fifteen silos which have been dug in past years.

Singing Here Next Sunday Afternoon

G. W. Simmons and W. M. Lee have requested the News to announce that there will be a community singing at the Baptist Church here Sunday afternoon, beginning at 2:30 o'clock.

C. H. Mansell and a number of singers from O'Donnell, it is said will be here to take a part on the program.

The public is cordially invited.

Farmers Terrace 15,060 Acres Land

Fifteen thousand and sixty acres of crop land on 131 farms of Lynn county received supervision from the county agent's office in running terrace or contour lines since January 1st, according to County Agent V. F. Jones.

Terrace lines were run on 47 farms, for a total of six thousand ten acres. Eighty-four farms had contour lines run for a total of nine thousand fifty acres. These farmers in addition to receiving extra benefits from the increased crop yields by conserving moisture and preventing erosion of the land, are receiving extra cash benefits from the 1937 Soil Conservation Program for soil conserving and erosion preventing practices.

This type of soil conservation and erosion preventing practices have long been recommended by the Extension Service. Terracing and contour farming is recognized by good farmers as a very important means of conserving soil moisture and preventing erosion, and farmers are eagerly availing themselves of the services of the county agent in putting these practices into operation.

The old idea that the Plains country was level and did not need terracing and crooked rows is rapidly disappearing and we now find terraced and contoured fields to be a common practice on most of the better operated farms.

Father And Son Banquet Planned

Plans are being made by Chester Hufstader and his Vocation Agriculture boys for a Father and Son banquet on October 6th.

Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of Texas Tech, and Hon. Tom Garrard, vice-chairman of the State Board of Education will be the principal speakers.

Farmers Make Plans For One-Variety Cotton For Next Year

Asphalt Is Poured On Street Center

The unpaved portion of the street lying along the west side of the public square has been given a "hot top" this week by the City.

This was done at very little expense and materially increases the appearance and usefulness of this portion of the street. The Lone Star Construction Company, which is spreading the asphalt on highway No. 84 west of Tahoka, furnished the material and spread the topping at an approximate cost of $40.00 to the city.

The city council is to be congratulated upon this improvement.

Hot-Top Poured On Highway 84

The Lone Star Construction Company is this week spreading the asphalt topping on highway No. 84 west of Tahoka from the Terry county line eastward to the end of the pavement five miles west of Tahoka. The work will probably be finished this week.

The completion of this work will give a continuous stretch of paved highway all the way from Tahoka to Brownfield. Highway No. 84 is also being improved in Garza county east of Post, and preparations are being made for its improvement west of Brownfield. It is already surfaced through Kent county. The Highway Department is also preparing to improve the road from Aspermont to Haskell.

It is particularly important to residents of Garza, Lynn, Terry, and Yoakum counties as well as to tourists that this highway be completed across the South Plains as early date as possible.

Mrs. Tunnell Is In Car Accident

Mrs. Lenore Tunnell and little daughter, Savannah Sue, were slightly injured late Sunday afternoon when the car in which they were riding was struck by another car at a street intersection in Lubbock.

Both were taken to a hospital immediately after the accident, where several stitches were required to close a gash on the arm of Savannah Sue which was inflicted in the smash-up. Mrs. Tunnell received some severe bruises on the head but was not seriously injured.

The car, driven by Mrs. Tunnell, was badly damaged. The other car struck the rear end of Mrs. Tunnell's car.

More Contributions To Roundup Fund

J. B. McPherson and R. W. Fenton Jr. have furnished the News with a financial report of the receipts and expenditures of the Tahoka Roundup committee, showing total receipts of $1,285.50 and total expenses of $1,163.53, leaving a balance of $121.97 in the bank.

Contributions made and not previously published include the following:

First National Bank	$25.00
A. J. Mullins	5.00
G. W. Small	5.00
Jim Banister	5.00
S. W. Associated Tel. Co.	10.00
Wayne's Roller Rink	5.00
W. D. Nevels	5.00
Pepsiola Bottling Co.	5.00
A. E. Houston	2.50
D. L. Nicholson	2.50
W. O. Thomas	1.00
Ed Evans Cafe	5.00

If there are yet any outstanding bills, parties are requested to present them to J. B. McPherson for payment.

Lakeview Citizen's Fingers Cut Off

R. W. Allen of the Lakeview community had the misfortune of having two fingers of one hand cut off one day last week while lowering some pipe into a well. The pipe accidentally slipped and caught the middle finger and the little finger, practically severing them from the hand.

He was taken to a Lubbock hospital where the little finger was placed back in position and probably saved. The middle finger, however, was completely amputated.

Mrs. Cecil Bradshaw and little son of Meadow and Mrs. Lester Goad and two children of New Home visited in the home of Judge and Mrs. F. W. Goad Sunday and a day or two following. Mrs. Lester Goad is a daughter-in-law and Mrs. Bradshaw a daughter of Judge and Mrs. Goad.

Farmers Hear A-M Experts In Meet Held Monday

A. & M. Experts Tell Need Of Farmers In This Area For Better Grade Of Cotton

Farmers from all section of Lynn county crowded into the district court room Monday morning to hear experts from the Extension Department of the A. & M. College discuss some of the problems confronting the farmer today. All the seats on the lower floor were taken and a few were compelled to stand. Chester Hufstader, teacher of Vocational Agriculture in the high school here, also brought his classes down to hear the discussions and to take notes. They occupied the gallery in the back of the court room.

The main topic of discussion was the matter of a better staple cotton. E. A. Miller, Extension Agronomist, was the first speaker. He called attention to the fact that while only 22 per cent of the crop in Texas last year was less than 7-8 of an inch in length, 68.5 per cent of the crop raised on the South Plains was less than 7-8 of an inch in length. This cotton is unsatisfactory. He contended that Japan, who has been one of the big purchasers of Texas cotton, has been turning Texas cotton down the past few years on account of so large a per cent of it being of the short staple variety. They have been going to India for their cotton, where a longer staple cotton is produced.

A contributing cause to the loss of our foreign markets, he stated, is the tariff policy of our government, the maintenance of a high protective tariff against the goods of these countries which have been buying American cotton.

Texas suffers the greatest loss from short staple of any section of our country, he pointed out. The Southeastern States raise practically no short staple cotton, and the cotton mills in that section of the country use most of the cotton raised east of the Mississippi River. California has been increasing her production by leaps and bounds the past few years, but all of it is long staple cotton.

The only reason cotton mills buy the short staple at all, he said, is because they can get it cheap. He urged the farmers of this county to quit raising short staple cotton and to adopt a single long staple variety for the entire county. He declined to recommend any particular variety but suggested that a committee investigate and select a variety well suited for this section.

He cited some localities where this has been done, calling particular attention to Coupland in Williamson county.

Other Students Enter Colleges

As we feared last week, we failed to mention all those who were going away to college.

Miss Helen House, graduate of Tahoka High, has returned to Baylor College, Belton, to resume her work.

Miss Lottie Stephens of Midway has entered West Texas State at Canyon.

Morrow Building Model Dairy Barn

W. A. Morrow, farmer living three miles west of New Home, is building a modern dairy barn at his place, equalled by few on the Plains.

Mr. Morrow has a fine bunch of pure Jersey cows and is going into the milk business strong. He markets Grade A raw milk at Lubbock.

Miss Billie Rowland of New Lynn, a graduate of the Loraine high school, left last week to attend McMurray College in Abilene this year. She had just returned from a visit with relatives in Fort Worth and in Tulsa, Oklahoma.

Fiery Cross Haunts Justice

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT suffered what was probably the most embarrassing period of his entire political career as the whole country stormed over the publication of what was claimed as documentary proof that Hugo L. Black, recently appointed a justice of the Supreme court, was and is a member of the Ku Klux Klan.

The series of articles, copyrighted by the North American Newspaper alliance and printed in the newspapers which subscribe to its service, included reproduction of Black's resignation from the hooded brotherhood, allegedly turned in to the organization in 1925 but never made known to the public or to the Klansmen in general. It also contained reproduction of the minutes of a Klan meeting in the following year at which Black was said to have become a life member and was given a gold "passport," one of the highest honors conferred by the order.

Implications of the revelations, if they are true, are manifold. President Roosevelt asserted that he had no knowledge that Black was a member of the Klan when the appointment was made. He refused to comment further until Black returned from Europe, where he was vacationing. Black, hounded for a statement by the press, went into seclusion in London and refused to confirm or deny the accusations.

Opposition to the administration lost no time in making political capital of the situation. Senators who had been marked for political extinction because they had dared to oppose the administration on the plan to add six new justices to the highest tribunal found it the finest kind of defense ammunition. They pointed out that the President, in his opportunity to appoint one new justice of the liberal character he desired, had appointed a man who, if it were true he belonged to the Klan, was incapable of administering impartial justice to Catholics, Jews and negroes. Other senators declared they never would have voted for his confirmation had they known he was a Klansman.

It was admitted that since Black had already taken his oath of office there might be no means of correcting the appointment other than by influencing him to resign. This the President might do, it was believed, if Black did not deny the charges upon his return to the United States.

Showdown on 'Sub' Piracy

GREAT BRITAIN and France were massing the greatest destroyer fleet ever operated in the Mediterranean sea, to police it and safeguard neutral shipping from attacks by "pirate" submarines, as a result of the agreement signed by nine powers at Nyon, near Geneva. The powers signatory to the pact also included Greece, Yugoslavia, Turkey, Rumania, Bulgaria, Egypt and Russia.

Italy and Germany had refused to attend the conference when Russia publicly accused Italy of operating the "pirate" submarines which sank two Russian ships, and threatened reprisals if Italy did not pay indemnity.

The principal provisions of the agreement, which Germany and Italy were invited to join, were:

1. Mediterranean shipping will be restricted to the regular ship lanes, which will be patrolled by French and British warships, in both the eastern and western stretches. If Italy agreed, she was to be allowed to patrol the Tyrrhenian sea.
2. Patroling navies will attack and attempt to destroy any submarine which attacks merchant ships other than Spanish, without first giving passengers and crew opportunity to leave in lifeboats, as outlined in the 1936 London naval treaty.
3. Signatories expressly declare that they do not concede belligerent rights to either party in Spain.
4. Patrol ships arriving on the scene of an attack too late to prevent it will be authorized to attack any submarine in the vicinity, provided they are satisfied it is the guilty one.

5. These measures will be executed by the British and French fleets anywhere in the Mediterranean with the exception of the Adriatic. Eastern powers will protect neutral shipping in their territorial waters.

6. Signatories agree not to let any of their own submarines put to sea in the Mediterranean unless accompanied by a surface vessel, except in certain "exercise" zones.

7. Signatories will not permit foreign submarines in their waters unless in urgent distress or on the surface and accompanied.

It was plain that delegates knew that explosions might occur in half a dozen European capitals if their pact did not get into operation before there were any further attacks on shipping. They were embarrassed in conference by the Russian foreign commissar, Maxim Litvinoff, who insisted on naming Italy as the "pirate." Russia at first refused to sign, on the grounds that the second provision was no protection at all, merely requiring submarine commanders to be "gentlemanly" before sinking ships, and that it implied recognition of both Spanish parties as belligerents. Britain's Anthony Eden was reported to have convinced the signatory powers that it would be impossible for a submarine to sink a ship under those conditions.

China's German Strategy

JAPAN'S long-awaited "big push" in China was believed definitely "on" as the Japanese assumed virtual control of North Hopei, and made important thrusts into the Chinese lines at Shanghai, after the most terrible fighting of a month of undeclared warfare.

At about the same time, the Chinese, heeding at last the advice of German officers generally conceded the "brains" of the central army, began a strategic retreat to the "third area of defense" mapped out by these same officers after the Shanghai conflict of 1932, which was conducted under identical conditions.

Apparently the Chinese plan of retreat was to withdraw defending troops from the range of Japanese naval guns in the Whangpoo and Yangtze rivers. The Chinese were reluctant to leave positions which they claimed had been held against the Japanese invasion, but the German advisers finally won them over to the theory that these positions had been held at a cost far out of proportion to their importance.

The first strategic stage of the Chinese fighting in Shanghai—as planned by the German officers—was to slow down and harass, the landing of Japanese reinforcements; the second, to divide the Japanese lines, and the third, to deprive the Japanese of the use of their naval guns.

Realizing what is going on, the Japanese command has ordered rapid advance no matter what the cost, in an effort to change an orderly retreat into a complete rout. As a result, the Japanese for the time being are the heavy losers in men, rather than the Chinese.

No Help for Munitions Ships

ANY American merchant vessels which carry arms or other implements of war to China or Japan will do so at their own risk, President Roosevelt warned shipping concerns. This policy applies to all of the articles listed in his proclamation of May 1, 1937, when he invoked the neutrality act against both parties in the Spanish civil war.

The President's order also forbade any government-owned vessel from carrying war materials to China or Japan. Unless war is declared he has no control over other American shipping, but he warned shippers that if ships carrying such cargo are bombed or attacked they need expect no action on the part of the United States.

Copeland Loses in Primary

TWENTY-ONE arrests were made as violence dogged the polls in New York city's most spirited mayoralty primary in years. Senator Royal S. Copeland, who ran for the Republican nomination although he was supported by Tammany Hall, lost the honor to Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia, fusion candidate for reelection. Copeland made his bid for the G. O. P. nod by bitterly opposing President Roosevelt, but the stamp of Tammany precluded his nomination. The Democratic nomination was captured by Jeremiah T. Mahoney, who had the backing of Democratic national chairman James A. Farley.

what Irvin S. Cobb thinks about:

The Big Book Craze.

SANTA MONICA, CALIF.—We're promised a historical novel longer than any yet—say half a million words or so. Of course, the author probably uses some words at least twice, but that won't reduce the gross tonnage unless they're very short words.

I can't take it. While still convalescent from "Anthony Adverse," I was stricken down by "Gone With the Wind" and had such a relapse that even now I barely can hold on to my stomach such comparatively light and trifling stuff as volume VET to ZYM of the encyclopedia.

When reading this modern, bulk literature, it upsets me to find my legs going to sleep before I do. And the constant pressure makes callouses on my second mezzanine landing.

I admit these mass production books serve nicely as door stoppers and for pressing wild flowers. I also heard of a chap who detected a prowler under his window and dropped a frothy little work of fiction weighing slightly less than nine pounds on the back of the fellow's neck, dislocating three vertebrae. At last accounts, the surgeons were still picking long jagged chapters out of his spine.

In my present mood, what I crave is the romantic stuff of olden days, in which our sainted Aunt Sophie was wont to inscribe "Alas, how sad!" or "Only too true!" in pale violet ink on the margins. What happened to all the Aunt Sophies anyhow?

An Actor's Temperament.

WE'VE all been waiting for something to top it, but the best wheeze of the month remains the one that was emitted, not by a paid gagster, but by a simple stagehand at one of the studios when Mr. Leslie Howard refused to go on making a picture until a group of distinguished visitors, including Mr. Charles Norris, the novelist, had been shoofed off the set.

"He ain't sore at you gents," stated the stage-hand to the ousted parties, "but he's been playin' 'Hamlet' on the regular stage and he ain't used to havin' a crowd watchin' him while he acts."

If Mr. Norris and his friends wanted to see some really great acting they should have patronized the professional wrestling matches. That's where they put on the heavy dramatic stuff—beautifully rehearsed, perfectly done.

Children's Education

I LIKE the way the wealthy classes in England rear their children. Little Rosemary doesn't recite for the company after dinner, as if Master Jones-Twiggler Minor gets uppity at school, he gets thrashed.

Many a rich American has known how sharper than a serpent's tooth it is to see his daughter grow up a wanton and his boy turn out a wastrel. Yet, with few exceptions—no few that the newspapers comment on them—few fathers that less of coddling and pampering and spoiling in adolescence and more of wholesome discipline might produce a higher average grade of heirs.

What set me to thinking along this line was being 'tother night at a party where a poor little four-year-old, having already the pitiable assurance of a veteran prima donna, was fetched in to give impersonations. She never again could impersonate natural babyhood though, more's the pity! And her pert small brother was encouraged to dominate the talk.

Mark my word for it, that kid is going to come to no good end—not even a well-spanked end, which would help.

Mr. Pincus' Coup.

IN THESE topsy-turvy times liberal-minded patriots who are striving to steer a middle course between ultraenthusiastic left-wingers and ultraconservative rightists might do well, methinks, to follow the example set by Mr. Pincus.

Mr. Pincus had opened a clothing store. Immediately on one side of him was the clothing store of Mr. Ginsberg and immediately on the other side was the clothing store of Mr. Dreifus; and three clothing stores in a row were too many even for Essex street.

So the adjacent competitors framed a plot to put the newcomer out of business. Next morning their rival, coming down to open up, found over Mr. Dreifus' establishment a flaming legend, to wit:

BANKRUPT SALE
And above Mr. Ginsberg's door was this equally prominent announcement:

CLOSING OUT SALE
Within an hour, smeared across the entire front of Mr. Pincus' store, exactly in between the other two, appeared a huge sign reading as follows:

MAIN ENTRANCE.

SEEN and HEARD around the NATIONAL CAPITAL By Carter Field

Washington.—Frank R. McNinch, the new chairman of the power commission, is apparently trying to frighten the electric industry into reducing rates. Which is rather curious, for if the electric industry should reduce its rates sharply, as a result of McNinch's warning, the almost inevitable result would be that there would be weakening of public support for the Norris seven TVA's bill which is supposed to be passed at the next session of congress. And such a culmination would be most unsatisfactory not only to Senator George W. Norris, who has come to approve of McNinch, but to President Roosevelt, who appointed him.

After pointing to the record-breaking figures for sales of electricity in the first seven months of 1937, McNinch remarked:

"This revelation of unparalleled growth and prosperity is the answer to those devotees of that ancient superstition of hydromancy who gazed at the water of a few hydro plants the government was building and predicted the destruction of the private power industry."

"It is both interesting and significant," Mr. McNinch said later, "to note that, as electric rates have gone down, production and consumption have gone up. It has been and is a short-sighted policy to keep electric rates 'as high as the tariff will bear.' Such false economy holds down the 'traffic' and hurts the power industry as well as the public. It has now been demonstrated beyond all cavil that the public wants and needs more and more power in industry, in commerce, in the home and on the farm. Only those who see through a glass darkly now fail to understand that the interests and prosperity of the power companies and of the consumers alike look in the direction of electrifying America."

With all of which, incidentally, the utility executives agree, though, unfortunately for their own good, too few of them probably will heed the warning about high rates soon enough.

Worth Watching

Incidentally, McNinch is an interesting figure in politics—well worth watching. He was an up and coming cog in the Farnhold Simmons machine in North Carolina, years ago. Then he angered the boss, and Simmons retired him to obscurity. For years he found every road leading to anything politically barred by the relentless Simmons.

But then came 1928, and the nomination of Al Smith by the Democrats. Simmons sulked. Hat in hand, McNinch called on his old chief. He agreed that Smith should be beaten. Simmons encouraged him, first secretly and later openly. McNinch led the North Carolina Hoovercrats, and carried the state, with aid from Simmons and the normally impotent Republicans, by an overwhelming majority.

But mark this. Of all the hundreds of key Democrats, including many far more important than McNinch, who revolted, McNinch is the only one who has ever succeeded in getting to first base since! Simmons himself was defeated on that very issue in the next primary. All over the South the same thing happened.

Normally, in a rebellion, the leaders get short shrift. But in a revolution they come into power. In the South the fellows who won, back in 1928, and who carried Virginia, North Carolina, Florida, Texas, Kentucky, Tennessee and Oklahoma for Hoover, had their reward in political banishment and popular dislike. All but McNinch.

Herbert C. Hoover seemed to feel no gratitude to any one in the South who had risked his political future for him. With the exception of McNinch! Maybe Hoover figured that most of these Hoovercrats were just fighting Smith because he was a wet, or a Tammany politician, and therefore didn't deserve any reward from him. And, of course, in a way Hoover—on this one thing—was right.

But how about McNinch? How did he persuade Hoover that he, alone of all the southern bolters, deserved reward? And how did he convince Franklin D. Roosevelt that his powers should be increased? That man has something.

Boland Has Something

Patrick J. Boland, Democratic whip of the house, is not as well known to the general public as he deserves. The title carries the idea to most folks of a sort of sergeant-at-arms, or call boy, who rounds up the congressmen for a vote. Sounds like a leg job rather than one involving leadership.

Actually, of course, it is rather an important place, which gives its holder the privilege of sitting in on the party councils, and at least the opportunity of demonstrating his ability, if any. Add to that the point that congressmen get to know each other pretty well, and usually form rather accurate judgments of each other's ability, entirely aside from any previous records, and it becomes obvious that Mr. Boland has something.

Which makes his recent statement about next session more important. What Mr. Boland said was that the Norris seven TVA's bill (eight if you add in the modifications of the present TVA) would be stripped of all its phases concerning power before passage next session.

Now President Roosevelt very definitely wants power included in the seven TVA's legislation. So does Senator George W. Norris, daddy of the original TVA. So do all the New Dealers. All of which spells out that there will be a real fight on an unexpected front in the next session, to be added to those already on the sure list—taxes, wages and hours regulation, and, unless Mr. Roosevelt is kidding the legislators, Supreme court enlargement again. It was right after adjournment of the last session—the only one so far since March 4, 1933, when any impartial referee would not give all the rounds to Mr. Roosevelt—that Attorney General Homer S. Cummings took the public into his confidence on this—holding that the Supreme court issue must be settled and settled right.

Listening In

Now, of course, all the senators and representatives, whether at home or taking a holiday, are engaged in their normal between-sessions function of holding their ears to the ground. They are busy finding out what is the safest thing for them to do in the next session.

At this stage, Mr. Boland, Democratic whip of the house, takes a public stand against the President and the New Deal on an issue which most observers and members of congress thought was going to slide through next session without a real struggle.

Mr. Boland proved himself an accurate judge of what is the shrewd thing to do in politics in 1930, and has demonstrated it several times since.

In 1930 there was a vacancy in the Scranton, Pennsylvania, congressional district. Largely a hard coal mining district, it should, on cold logic, be wet. Henry H. Curran, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, was interested. He sent this writer down there to investigate.

It developed that no one of the candidates for the Republican nomination was really wet politically. The Republican leaders thought it was not safe—thought the dry sentiment still too strong. Over in the Democratic primary, generally regarded as futile because the district was so strongly Republican, Pat Boland was running as a winging wet against a dry. This writer urged support of Boland as the only chance.

But a little later Boland decided to enter the Republican primary as well as the Democratic. The Pennsylvania law permitted that at the time, though it has since been changed. He won both primaries! And has been re-elected three times since! He has something.

Looks Like Surrender

Foreboding events in the next session of congress, particularly as to the cleavage between President Roosevelt and the New Dealers, on the one hand, and the conservatives on the other, the surrender of the President in signing the sugar bill cannot be exaggerated.

Bitterly as President Roosevelt objected to this bill, as expressed not only in private conversations but in writing, there is just one explanation for the signature. Had he vetoed it, it would have been necessary to call an extra session of congress to pass some substitute, as the present quota law expires on December 31. The President had no particular objection to the extra session. In fact, he was undecided for some time whether he would call one, entirely irrespective of the sugar situation.

But he was finally convinced that not all the strength the administration could bring to bear would result in passing the kind of sugar bill he wanted even if he vetoed the present bill and called an extra session.

Most convincing on this was Vice-President John Nance Garner.

All Know Story

The importance of all this now is that every member of both house and senate knows the whole story. They know, in effect, that the President was badly beaten on two issues very close to his heart—sugar and Supreme court enlargement. So they will be less fearful of opposing any of the President's "must" measures from now on. Which bodes evil for the Roosevelt program in the next session.

The conflict of personalities is also significant. It was Pat Harrison who really led the fight for the present sugar bill, a fight which came to a boil during the struggle of the Mississippi senator to be elected Democratic leader in place of Joe Robinson. Everybody knows that it was President Roosevelt's influence that beat Pat, and elected Alben Barkley, of Kentucky. So Pat lost the honor he craved, but the President lost a fight in which he was more determined than on any measure this session except the court bill.

Restraint Will Cheer Those in Mourning

DEAR Mrs. Post: I am a mourning and many people have called on me in the past few weeks. Always they talk about my dear departed husband and I live through the torments of having to face the hard realities of the future alone. Today a friend came to see me and not once during the whole time did she mention my trouble. She spoke of the things that had been happening in the outside world with which she knew I must have grown out of touch, and when she left I felt very much cheered. This seems a good point to make in your column for the benefit of those who would co-operate in making the world a more comfortable place for those in real sorrow. I feel sure that most people think they should talk about the departed one when paying such a visit.

Answer: I am very glad indeed to make the point you suggest, although it seems almost unbelievable that anyone could be so insensitive as to speak to people about their really great sorrow further than to reply to whatever they themselves may say. Even they who do talk about the one they have lost would be more greatly comforted by a person who listens with sympathy and perhaps says something appreciative about the one who has died, but it almost always causes pain to be asked questions or to have the subject pursued by the visitor.

How Does One Speed a Lingering Visitor?

DEAR Mrs. Post: What is the most courteous way of telling formal acquaintances, who come to call and stay longer than expected, that it is necessary for them to leave? In the case I am referring to we hardly knew the visitors and did not know how to tell them that we had to dress and drive a distance through city traffic into the suburbs in order to keep a dinner engagement.

Answer: No question is so hard to answer as that of politely speeding a not departing visitor. And we are all of us apt to put those with whom we have an engagement to inconvenience because of the fear of being rude to a visitor in our own house. To glance at the clock and become restless is very bad. The way would be to say frankly, "I am sorry; I wish we could keep on talking but we must dress and drive to Suburbantown." Sometimes when time is really limited and someone comes, it is better to greet her by saying, "I am so glad to see you but I am very distressed to have to tell you that we have only a few minutes before we have to leave for the country."

Mixing Up Furniture.

DEAR Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me just how far one may go in mixing furniture? I mean, should one room contain pieces of the same period, or may pieces of various styles be combined properly in one room? And what periods are most compatible?

Answer: Rooms with mixed furniture have generally much more charm than those which too strictly adhere to a definite style. The only important rule to be observed is that crude pieces can not very well be put with those which are finely finished. And yet, the becomingness of one piece to another is much more a matter of feeling than of rule. For instance, one might put Jacobean pieces with Georgian as well as with Italian, but one could not very well put Jacobean next to fragile examples of Hepplewhite.

Greeting the Boss.

DEAR Mrs. Post: On the way out of our office building the other day I passed one of our executives whom I seldom see. He said, "Good morning Miss Brown, how are you?" and took me so completely by surprise that I said, "Fine, thank you" and don't believe that was the proper answer for me to have made. Under such a circumstance, what does one say?

Answer: "Very well, thank you" is the punctilious reply and the fact that you said "Fine" was certainly not out of the way. In the business world, however, it would have been equally proper to merely say "Good morning" unless you had really been ill and his question was therefore asked intentionally.

Catching Last Drop.

DEAR Mrs. Post: How can syrup or cream poured from a pitcher or be kept from losing the last drop over the side, which not only looks unsightly but often soils the tablecloth?

Answer: If you stop short when pouring, the last drop is not likely to run down the side of the pitcher. But if it should spill over a little, take your clean spoon and hold it under the lip to catch the drop. A pitcher, by the way, which is to be set upon the table should have under it a tray or a coaster or possibly a matching saucer.

The laughing tenderness of his voice twisted Brooke's heart unbearably. She tore her thoughts from him and watched her brother. She could see his lips move in unison with the lines spoken on the stage.

The curtain fell slowly on the minor climax of the first act. The setting and theme had been established and the characters presented. The audience applauded enthusiastically. From a hole in the curtain Brooke saw the New York producer go up the aisle. Would he return?

"Don't you dare go away, don't you dare!" she flung at his straight back.

"How did it go?" Sam's voice was hoarse.

"It's wonderful, Sam. Not an unnecessary word; every line was 'Forward march!' for your story. The acting is the best I've ever seen in an amateur performance."

"So what? Does it prove anything? They're all good except Daphne; she isn't getting her lines over. I hold my breath every time she opens her mouth. Isn't Trent great? He's the spark-plug of the cast. Wait till you see him in the crucial moment in the next act, when he thinks the girl he loves has double-crossed him."

Jerry Field appeared beside her dressed in leather jacket and knickerbockers, with a gun in his hand.

"How's it going, Brooke?"

"I can't see the stage, but from the response of those out front I'd say it was a hit. You're grand in that sports costume. You've made every point, Jerry."

"Thanks. That's because when I say a word of love to Lucette I'm saying it to you." He caught her hand and pressed his lips to it fervently.

"Please—don't, Jerry."

"You've said that too many times, sweet thing. After the play we'll have a reckoning—get me!"

"After the play," Brooke repeated the words to herself. So much was to happen that would change lives, after the play.

"Hey! Field! Field, come on!" Sam's whisper. Sam's beckoning hand. Brooke followed Jerry as far as the wings from which she could see him drop to a log on the stage, left center.

"Why don't you turn thumbs up and end the poor boy's torment?" asked a low voice behind her.

She turned quickly. Something in Mark Trent's voice made her furiously angry.

"That's quite a suggestion that I end the poor boy's torment. I will. Tonight."

"Don't do it until I change after the show. I want to drive you home, Brooke. There is something I must say to you."

Brooke felt the blood rush to her face and recede. Had Henri double-crossed her and told him about the will? Did Mark Trent think she intended to hide it? She wouldn't give him a chance to accuse her before she produced that paper locked in her desk. She said as steadily as she could with his eyes boring into her soul:

"Sorry. The minute the curtain falls, I shall dash to Lookout House to change into something snappy for the grand celebration. You wouldn't have me come to your grand party in this green knit, would you? Quick! Sam wants the wings cleared."

She backed out, conscious of Mark Trent's disturbing presence close beside her.

"The music has stopped! There go the footlights!" She caught his sleeve, looked up and begged in an unsteady whisper:

"Do your best, Mark. This act will kill or make the play."

His lips were on hers so quickly that she had no chance to protest. He kissed her passionately, thoroughly; said in a husky whisper:

"Credit that to the silent policeman. Now, I'll play that part to the hilt."

Brooke tried to ignore her racing pulses. She mocked:

"I seem to be in the path of an emotional cyclone; first, Jerry Field; now you. I suppose Jed will be the next. Your cue! Quick! Quick!"

In an instant he was on the stage. Brooke shut her eyes tight in an effort to steady a whirling world. Mark Trent's lips on hers had been like an electric current through her body. Every pulse, every nerve responded.

She listened. It was very still in front, a sort of hypnotized stillness. She could hear the voices of the stage, but she couldn't keep her mind on what they were saying. Even as she supplied properties, even as the actors made their entrances and exits she was thinking of Mark Trent's eyes as he had looked down into hers, was wondering what he wanted to tell her on the way home?

How Reyburnish! The incurable dramatic streak in the Reyburn temperament had been in the saddle when she had planned that.

CHAPTER XIII

As the curtain fell with dramatic slowness for the last time, the audience stood clapping and calling. As it rose again, Brooke saw the blond marcelle, second row center, make its way up the aisle followed by a man with sleek black hair. The producer and the manager! They had come back for the third. That must mean something. Were they leaving before speaking to Sam? He was on the stage now in the midst of the cast who had taken their bows; the arms of the women were heaped with flowers. He had put on coat and collar and tie but the white bow had gone rakish. He looked very young as he stood grinning boyishly and waiting for a chance to speak. His voice shook as he said:

"Thanks lots! Glad you liked it. Couldn't have put it across without their help." He indicated the men and girls around him on the stage, and the audience broke into thunderous applause. The curtain fell slowly.

Brooke's eyes were blinded by happy tears as she started for the dressing-room. She must get back to Lookout House to change for the party. The girls of the cast were going to Mark Trent's in the evening frocks they had worn in the last act. Leaving the wings, she collided with the marcelled blond. The New York producer! He was unaware of her murmured apology as he gesticulated and talked to his sleek-haired companion. She listened unashamedly and heard him say:

"It's got everything. Humor, suspense, moving simplicity, fidelity to ideals, and unflinching movement."

"But has it got box-office?"

"I'll gamble my last dollar on it. It's the old recipe for play-writing carried to perfection."

"Make 'em laugh; make 'em weep; make 'em wait. Where'd you say that boy got his start?"

Brooke dodged acquaintances and strangers in evening clothes who were crowding on to the stage to greet the actors. In the dressing-room she slipped into her fur coat and ran downstairs to her town car parked near the rear entrance.

The snow was falling half-heartedly as if it had not quite decided if it were worth while to come down at all. She drove swiftly toward home. Mark Trent had asked her to plan his party, had told her to go the limit in preparations to make it a success.

"Go as far as you like with everything, only be sure that there is enough to eat and sufficient help. To have plenty is an obsession of mine."

There would be plenty and then some. Just before she left Lookout House for the Club theater, the caterer had arrived with his van and a horde of waiters. They had sounded like an army making camp.

Trent's Japanese cook came forward to open the door of the car when she arrived. Snow powdered his shoulders and cap. His eyes glittered in his swarthy face. His teeth gleamed as he ducked his head in a funny little bow. Brooke let down the window.

"I won't get out here, Taku. I'll run into our garage. All the space outside will be needed for the cars of the guests."

"You right, Mees. Thank you. Much big party, Kowa say."

Would there be room for Sam's coupe? Brooke wondered, as she drove into the garage. One corner had been filled with ice cream tubs. He could leave it outside, she decided. She shut off her engine and partially closed the door as she went out.

As she reached the dark hemlock behind the Other House, she lingered for an instant in its deep shadow. How still the world was. Snow fell as softly as if someone had slit open a pillow and shaken down its feathers. There was no near sound of surf tonight.

She shrank deeper into the purple gloom under the tree as two men came down the back steps from the kitchen—waiters, she knew by their clothing. Not more than five feet from her one of them stopped to light a cigarette. He growled:

"The boss can wait for them ice cream tubs till I get a smoke."

"Sure he can. Light up again and take a look at this."

A hand held a scrap of paper within the light of a match. The same voice said:

"It's the picture of the dame who said: 'He was a swell-dressed fella. Guess I'll have to date her up!'"

The other man closed his hand over the match.

"You an' your dames! Forget 'em for tonight, or you'll crack up on this job. Come on!"

As Brooke dressed in her room, the words and suggestive laugh of the man who had produced the picture kept boiling up through her jubilation over Sam's success, through the inescapable memory of Mark Trent's eyes and voice as he had caught her in his arms.

She was adjusting a rhinestone and synthetic emerald clip to the shoulder of her white satin frock when a thought forked through her mind like lightning. The amber and brown eyes of the looking-glass girl frowning back at her widened with amazement; her red lips moved.

"He said—he said—I'll have to date her up!"

In an instant she was on the floor beside her desk with a big manila envelope in her lap. She pulled out a bunch of clippings. She had it! The picture of a girl, Maggie Cassidy, and under it the caption:

"She said that the man she saw in the garage was a swell-dressed fella."

The waiter who had shown the other man the clipping was the Bath Crystal Bandit, the man she had recognized at the Supper club! He was the man who had tied up Hunt in the garage! Was he also the murderer of Lola Hunt?

Why was the man in Mark Trent's house tonight? His pal had said: "Forget 'em, or you'll crack up on this job." What job? Something big must have tempted him to come so near the scene of his last hold-up, or had that newspaper headline stating that he was being followed to Canada made him feel secure?

What was he after? More jewels? "Get a peek at Mrs. Gregory out front, third row, center. She's blazing with jewels."

Jed Stewart's words answered Brooke's question as clearly as if whispered in her ear. The man had come for Mrs. Gregory's diamonds.

She must notify the police! She snatched her hand from the telephone in its cradle on the desk. Not that. Wires had ears. She would go herself. Across the causeway. To Inspector Harrison at headquarters. She could go and the back before she was missed. Suppose she were stopped on the way! Where was Henri? Was he in on this? She must locate him before she left the house.

She caught up a green velvet wrap, stuffed some bills into her emerald satin bag. Pelted down the stairs, into the living-room toward the bell. Stopped. Where was the parrot? He was not in his cage! Had he made another break for freedom? She looked between the gilded bars. What seemed to be merely a bunch of green feathers lay stiffly on the bottom.

"Well, if this isn't just one of those days!" she said aloud.

"Oh, Brooke!" Jerry Field called from the hall.

As she appeared in the doorway, he exclaimed:

"Of all the gorgeous creatures! You look like a million!"

"Jerry, drive me across the causeway, will you? Quick!"

"What's the matter?"

"I must go. Is your roadster here?"

"Left it by your garage."

"By the garage!"

Brooke's blood congealed. Suppose as they stepped into the car the two crook waiters should appear for a tub of ice cream? Would the men suspect her errand? Into her mind flashed her reply to Mark Trent:

"That's quite a suggestion that I end the poor boy's torment. I will. Tonight."

What a thought for this crisis! What a thought!

"Wait a minute, Jerry! While I'm upstairs, set the parrot's cage in the back hall, please. I—I can't bear to have it here. You'll see why."

She raced up the stairs, charged into her bedroom, pulled a suitcase from the shelf. On the way down, she took the two lowest stairs in a jump. She thrust the case into Field's hand.

"What's the big idea?"

"Don't—ask—questions! Let's go!"

"You can't walk in the snow in those white satin sandals, you'll ruin the green heels."

She pushed him toward the door. "Get going! Get going!"

"Well, I'll be darned! Come on."

Brooke felt the dampness between the straps of her sandals. It seemed miles to the garage. There was Jerry's roadster! A waiter was coming down the back steps. It might be the Bath Crystal Bandit! She called in a guarded voice to the Japanese who was directing parking, but loud enough for the man on the steps to hear:

"Taku! Put this suitcase in the rumble. And, Taku, if you see my brother, tell him—I tell him!" she raised her voice, "that Mr. Field and I have run away to be married."

Too Much Water in Tissues

By
© Belt Syndicate.—WNU Service.

SOMETIMES you see an overweight man or woman, who, instead of having a red or rosy complexion, looks unusually pale, in fact, "pasty" describes their appearance accurately. They are suspected of having heart and kidney trouble, as this pale, podgy appearance is often present in chronic inflammation of the kidneys. However, when the finger is pressed into the flesh, the flesh does not "pit," and this overweight and pasty appearance is simply due to too much water being allowed to remain in the body tissues.

Now this condition is believed to be due to some disturbance in the pituitary gland lying on the floor of the skull. This little gland seems to regulate to a considerable extent both the water and the starch consumption by the body tissues. Unlike the ordinary or usual overweight cases where the excess weight is due to overeating, these pasty podgy individuals are really not large eaters; in fact they are small eaters. Thus many have been known to retain their weight on 700 calories a day, which would be about one-third the amount of food eaten by the average individual of the same weight and height.

"The patients are usually young (twelve to twenty years of age). The output of urine from the kidneys is much below normal, being about one pint a day, whereas the normal output should be more than twice that amount. Such are the characteristics of the 'water retainers' as these individuals are called."

Method of Treatment.

You can thus see that the accumulation of water is a big factor in weight production.

Naturally if the pituitary gland is at fault in these cases it would be thought advisable to give by mouth or injection some extract of pituitary gland.

In outlining the treatment for these "water retainers," Dr. A. H. Douthwaite in the British Medical Journal says:

"Treatment consists of (1) cutting down the fluid intake to about 1½ pints a day; (2) limiting or cutting down on salt by avoiding salt entirely, both at the table and in the cooking; (3) giving a diet of low caloric (fuel or food) value as follows:

Six large bananas
1½ pints of skimmed milk
¼ of medium sized cabbage or lettuce

"Divide the above into three or four meals. Loss of weight will be about one-half pound daily. After two to three weeks substitute for two bananas two eggs and a little butter and green vegetables. Fish and lean meat a week later."

"(4) The use of small doses of calomel (mercury) beginning with very small doses (one-tenth to one-quarter grain), and gradually increasing it if there is no reaction or symptoms due to the mercury, or if there is not too much purging."

"The above complete treatment may be repeated four times a year if necessary."

Now this looks very simple but in this type of overweight—water retention—as in all types of overweight the reduction of food is bound to affect the whole body, and notwithstanding the benefit to the working processes of the body by the loss of this water weight, the heart may be affected and must always be watched carefully.

Women Fight Cancer.

Because millions of dollars are being spent and hundreds of research physicians are working night and day to try to discover the cause of cancer, many may have the idea that until that cause is found nothing can be done to save the lives of those afflicted with cancer. Yet every day men and women are attending clinics where by the use of the X-ray, radium, and the knife many are saved.

What should prove a powerful force in spreading the idea that cancer is curable is what will be known as "The Women's Field Army," sponsored by the American Society for the Control of Cancer. Without guns, without uniforms, without poison gas, a war is being launched. It is a war of education against one of the greatest menaces of life: cancer. The first drive against cancer is indeed a war to save human life. The soldiers are the women of America and the enemy is cancer.

The leaders of the organization feel that an educational drive, carried on over a period of years, can save perhaps 40 per cent of the 140,000 who die each year. This Women's Field Army will work through the medical societies of the states or provinces.

LAWYERS

Lawyers are just human beings. As D. A. Simmons, president of the Texas Bar Association, pointed out in his address to the Lubbock Bar Association Saturday night, they come from all walks of life. They represent no particular class. They have varying political views. They differ on matters of government, economics, industry, and religion.

Morally, they are perhaps no better and no worse than the average man. Among them may be found many of the finest characters the country ever produced, and some of the worst. Most of them, however, occupy middle ground morally, just as a vast majority of the people do.

One would not be justified in praising the whole legal fraternity, for some lawyers are consummate scoundrels. Neither would one be justified in condemning the whole legal fraternity, for many of them are among the finest and most useful citizens we have.

But President Roosevelt seems to make no distinctions between the good and the bad. In his speech at the foot of Washington Monument the other night he rapped them all as a class. If he thought there were exceptions, he did not deem it worth while to mention the fact.

Now while many lawyers doubtless often deserve stern criticism, and while it is a fact that they disagree among themselves respecting many matters, there are some important things concerning which most of them do agree.

Most of them have a high regard for the Constitution of the United States.

Most of them are sticklers for our representative form of government, with its three co-ordinate branches. Most of them have the highest respect for our courts, and most of all for our Supreme Court.

Most of them would fight to the last ditch to preserve the integrity and independence of the courts.

Most of them believe that if the time ever comes when the Supreme Court is made the puppet of the Chief Executive, then the beginning of the end of our government in its present form is already here.

Lawyers are just human beings, but they have made a special study of law and of government, and they would deprive no man of life, liberty, or property except by due process of law, and they would not nullify or change any part of the Constitution except by the means provided in the instrument itself.

CONSERVATION

Congressman Marvin Jones told 1,000 men in Amarillo last Wednesday how he wanted the conservation money handled in the dust bowl. He did not mince words or evade issues. Petty bickering must be out. County fights must not be engaged in. Jealousies between counties and communities must not be staged. The dust bowl problem is a five-state problem, and must be handled as an area problem rather than a county or community problem. The appropriation secured for this work was a personal triumph for Marvin Jones. Congress and the President trusted him, and trusted the Panhandle Water Authority with a big job of spending the money wisely. The people are getting this money to stop the ravages of dust and erosion. If the money is wisely spent, more money may be secured. If necessary, should the money be unfortunately wasted, then those who wasted it must bear the blame. Congressman Marvin Jones would be personally disappointed, and the faith in the people of this area to do the wise and fair thing would be badly shaken. The directors of the Conservation group have a big job ahead of them. Let every citizen and every land owner strive to see that every dollar spent is wisely spent, and that dollars are spent in the places where they are needed, rather than being wasted on unwise projects.—The Canyon News.

We are glad Marvin Jones told them how the cow ate the cabbage. We are strictly for this soil conservation program. We believe that the building of many dams across the streams and the ravines of the Panhandle will prove to be invaluable to the country. They will help to conserve both the water and the soil. This program will not only benefit the present generation but it will be beneficial to the numberless generations that are to follow. We hope, however, that it is kept free from waste and graft. The laborers should be paid well, but they should also be required to work well. In fact, it is to be hoped that the work will be done by contract, let through competitive bidding. No monkey business should be tolerated. We hope Marvin Jones sees to it that that money is well spent.

The President of our country, in a radio speech last Friday night, renewed his attack upon the Supreme Court, which is the head of a co-ordinate branch of this government. Especially did he ridicule one of the Justices who had "reversed himself," meaning Associate Justice Roberts. If Justice Roberts did in fact reverse himself, that reversal worked to the advantage of the President, for it upheld the constitutionality of a New Deal measure which the President had sponsored if he had not actually whipped it through Congress. It would seem unbecoming for the President to criticize a Justice for a reversal which redounded to his, the President's, advantage. Furthermore, if Justice Roberts was honest in his decision, he deserves the commendation and not the ridicule of the President. If he was not honest in it, if he was influenced to render such opinion by political pressure brought to bear upon him by the President, then the opinion reflects no credit upon him nor upon the President. It in fact marks a shameful chapter in the Executive and Judicial history of this country. And it shows what might be done if the whole court of nine members, or a majority thereof, could be brought under the thumb of the President.

Such meetings as the farmers had here Monday, we think, are very enlightening and helpful. Everyone must have been convinced of the importance of raising only long-staple cotton hereafter. Some farmers in private conversation take the position, however, that such a program is impractical on account of the fact that half-and-half cotton matures much more quickly than the long-staple varieties. Hail in the summer and early freezes in the fall are often destructive of the long-staple varieties, they say, whereas, the short-staple variety can be planted later in the summer and a crop matured before killing frosts usually come in the fall. To obviate these difficulties, we understand, that experiments are being made to produce a 7-8 inch staple cotton with the quick-maturing quality of the half-and-half. It is obvious that the short-staple varieties are becoming more and more objectionable in the markets of the world and if the tendency continues there will never be any profit in raising the short-staple varieties.

A press report from San Angelo bore the information that 35 complaints for drunken driving, filed since the last term of the district court, awaited investigation by the grand jury. A day or two later, a news story from Sweetwater stated that the grand jury there had just returned 23 felony indictments, 13 of which charged drunken driving. One can not wonder at this record when he notes the great number of beer signs that greet the eye as he drives along the streets of these little cities. The heavenly "regulated," "controlled," "revenue-bearing" liquor traffic is again writing its record—a record which will become blacker and blacker as the years come and go.

We are wondering when and how we are going to reduce. The national debt in 1933 is reputed to have been 22 billion dollars. It is now reputed to be 37 billion, an increase of 15 billion dollars in less than 5 years. Thirty-seven billion dollars is some money, about $1,000 for each family in the United States, for we have not far from 37 million families in this country. This debt can be paid only by taxation, and most taxes are shifted finally to the ultimate consumer. You and I and our children have a job, brother.

The old-time saloon was so bad that the "repealists" a few years ago assured us that they would not permit its return. Well, maybe they didn't. But a woman was not allowed to attend bar in an old-time saloon. Women and girls are serving beer, and maybe liquor in a thousand joints in Texas today.

COTTON PICKER ON H. W. CALAWAY FARM DIES

tions relating to his work, and then started on across the field. He had gotten scarcely fifty yards away when another picker called to Mr. Calaway that the young man had fallen over. Mr. Calaway rushed back to where they were and found the young man lying on the ground unconscious and apparently in agony. He rendered what first aid he could and then took the young man hurriedly to O'Donnell for medical treatment.

A physician there pronounced the trouble epilepsy. He did what he could to relieve the youth and advised Mr. Calaway that he would soon recover from the attack. Mr. Calaway took him back to his home and there continued to work with him as best he could in an effort to relieve him. After further communication with the O'Donnell physician, Mr. Calaway along about nightfall decided to call Dr. Turrentine. When Dr. Turrentine arrived he pronounced the trouble either meningitis or a blood clot on the brain and advised that the young man could not possibly live but a short time.

After further consultation, Mr. Calaway and a neighbor decided to try to get the young man to a hospital and they started with him in a car, but the youth died before they reached Tahoka.

The W. M. Harris Funeral Home was called, who took charge of the body and prepared it for burial.

Mr. Calaway had found an identification card and a few dollars in money in one of the youth's pockets the identification card giving his name as Sam Holton, Rt. 2, Lexington, Texas, also giving the name of his mother, A. communication was sent to her, and later a brother of the young man sent instructions to the Funeral Director relating to the preparation of the body for burial. An ambulance came from Rockdale Wednesday night, together with a brother of the dead man, and conveyed the body back to that place for burial.

Deceased, as we understand it, left a mother, five brothers, two sisters, and other relatives surviving. Mr. Pierce, an uncle, resides at Post and was here throughout the day Wednesday with the body awaiting the arrival of the ambulance.

Mr. Calaway stated that while the youth was a stranger to him he was a fine looking young fellow.

Miss Beverley Wells, tax assessor and collector for the O'Donnell Independent school district, was here Tuesday on official business. She stated that it was estimated that fully two thousand Mexicans were camped within the city limits of O'Donnell Sunday, having come to Lynn county to pick cotton.

DAVIS, tackle on the 1937 Texas Tech Red Raiders team, is expected to be one of the outstanding linemen in the Southwest this year. Tech is playing the University of Texas at Austin this week end, but will entertain Montana University at Lubbock next Saturday.

AMERICAN BOY INTRODUCES NEW FOOTBALL GAME

In the early fall issues of The American Boy there'll be presented the story of a new game—six-man football—fast as professional football, wide open as basketball, thrilling as hockey!

The game came to life through the need of small schools for some substitute for 11-man football, which was too expensive. Stephen Epler, a Nebraska graduate student in athletics, developed the game of six-man football to meet this need. In six-man football anybody can score, the possibility of injury from mass plays is minimized, and the game is open enough for spectators to follow every exciting development.

The new game is a hit. New schools are taking it up every day. In coming issues The American Boy tells the world about this practical new game. In addition, it presents The American Boy Official Handbook, which can be obtained from the magazine at 20 cents a copy, or 15 cents when bought in bulk.

Note: Subscription prices of The American Boy will be raised in the near future. Send your subscription order at once to take advantage of the bargain rates now in effect: one year at $1.00 or three years at $2.00. Send your name, address and remittance to The American Boy, 7430 Second Blvd., Detroit, Mich. On newstands the price is 15c a copy.

Osa Gattis has accepted a position with the Higginbotham-Bartlett Company here.

G. M. Reid recently took his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Reid, back to their home at De Queen, Arkansas, after they had spent several weeks here visiting. After they had been there about a week they decided that they liked West Texas better than their home state and so they got ready and came back with G. M. They landed in Tahoka Sunday. G. M. brought back with him some muscadines grown in that state and shared them with the editor Tuesday.

V. L. Botkin and family, who resided a year or more at Grassland, have again removed to this county from Coryell, their home for many years. Mr. and Mrs. Botkin a year ago purchased the J. V. Dyer farm about four miles east of town and they will reside on this place. Mr. Botkin says that the worms almost absolutely destroyed the cotton crop in many parts of Coryell county this year.

Mrs. C. B. Townes and Mrs. E. S. Davis and son, Daniel Davis, went to Fort Worth last Saturday. They expected to visit relatives there and at Cleburne and return home about the last of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Harley Henderson and children returned Wednesday from South Texas, where he has been buying cotton.

Mrs. J. H. McCoy left Tuesday to visit her son, Clay McCoy, and his family in San Antonio.

Jury Returns 12 Indictments

After having been in session less than three days, the grand jury turned in twelve indictments Wednesday afternoon and recessed until October 13, when they expect to complete their investigations for the term.

The indictments returned include one assault to murder charge, four burglaries, two cow theft cases, one forgery charge and one for passing a forged instrument, one for desertion of the wife and children, and two for driving while intoxicated.

Among the defendants in custody when the indictments were returned were Rodell Blake, a negro, charged with assault with intent to murder; El Garrett, another negro; and Henry Reed, charged with cow theft. Blake is in jail here and Reed is serving a term in the penitentiary on another charge.

H. M. Larkin left Tuesday to spend a few weeks visiting with his brother-in-law, Stony Smith, at Ingram.

New Members Rotary Club

One new member, Albin Seth, was welcomed into the Rotary Club Thursday and two other names were submitted and acted upon favorably.

The program for the day consisted of short addresses by L. C. Haney, pharmacist, and Roy Young, grocer, on their respective vocations.

Several other brief talks were made.

W. T. Bovell presented the matter of Fire Prevention Week, suggesting some kind of clean-up campaign. Mayor Deen Nowlin stated that one of the difficulties in the way right now is the fact that the City has no dump ground. A committee consisting of E. I. Hill, Homer Maxey and Roy Young was appointed to work in cooperation with the Fire Department in a clean-up campaign.

Aubra Cade reported $28.00 in the fund raised to be contributed to the purchase of the Big Bend Park. He was instructed by a vote of the club to hold the money pending further investigation and developments in this matter.

Visitors present were Jack Howard of Ogunquit, Maine, Jim Becker of Lubbock, Dr. Tim Green of Tahoka, and George Canpon, Lamesa.

Women To Attend State H. D. Meet

Mrs. James Connolly of the Tahoka H. D. Club, Mrs. T. I. Tippit of the Friendship Club, and Mrs. S. G. Anthony of the Wilson Club will leave Monday morning to represent Lynn county at the meeting of the Texas Home Demonstration Association in San Antonio Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week.

They will go in a bus filled with women club members from the Lubbock district. Starting from Lubbock, the bus will arrive in Tahoka at about 9:45 Monday morning. They will return home Friday.

"We the People" And Our Constitution

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN

National Chairman
Sentinels of the Republic

"WE THE PEOPLE of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union, establish Justice, insure domestic Tranquillity, provide for the common defence, promote the general Welfare, and secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America."

That, as every one knows, is the Preamble of our famous Constitution, whose 150th anniversary America now celebrates.

To a world accustomed to rule by kings or favored cliques, the American Constitution must have seemed both startling and impractical when signed at Philadelphia's historic Independence Hall, on September 17, 1787.

But today we know its worth. History, and the unprecedented development of the United States in area, in prestige, and in the progress of all its people, has demonstrated how effective a form of government was established on that firm foundation.

Today it stands an object of reverence by all Americans; a model of freedom to the oppressed of all nations.

At this time of nation-wide celebration, America pays tribute not to the Constitution alone, but also to the men who out of their experience and their aspirations for a free and happy nation wrote that famous Charter of Liberty.

But such tribute, however sincere, is not enough. The strength and power of the Constitution depend on the support of every successive generation to which it guarantees liberty and opportunity.

Only by that support have we remained in the past, and can we remain in the future, a government of the people, by the people and for the people.

Only by that support can we the People continue to rule.

That is the message and the spirit of the Constitution Day Celebration.

Cade Completes County Tax Rolls

Aubra M. Cade, county tax assessor, completed his tax rolls a couple of weeks ago and took them to Austin last week. Out of the 254 counties in the state, his were the 21st rolls to be filed. Lubbock county's were 22nd.

Mr. Cade says there was an increase in taxable values in the county this year over last year of $404,330. This increase is due principally to the increased number of new tractors and new automobiles in the county and to the larger stocks of goods being carried by the business men.

The valuations this year were $6,163,425 as compared with $5,759,095 last year. The total valuations are still a little below those of pre-depression years.

Miss Mary Seroyer returned Wednesday from a visit of two or three months with friends at Clovis, New Mexico. She was accompanied back to Tahoka by Mrs. B. H. Baker of Clovis, who returned to her home Thursday.

Mrs. Viva Woodley, who had been suffering with fever for almost two weeks, was taken to a Lubbock hospital Monday morning, where a diagnosis disclosed that she was suffering from typhoid.

Mrs. Fred Bucy was taken to the Lubbock Sanitarium Wednesday afternoon and was to undergo a major operation Thursday morning. No word had come from the sanitarium at the time of going to press.

South Plains Fair Opens Monday

In spite of the busy season just beginning, it is expected that the attendance at the Panhandle-South Plains Fair which will be held in Lubbock next week will break all records. Many Lynn county people are planning to attend.

The agricultural exhibits should be the best ever shown.

The horse races each day on the new $25,000 track, the band concerts each morning and evening, the fireworks display every night, and the T. J. Tidwell shows on the Midway are expected to attract record-breaking crowds. In addition to this, the Russell Brothers Circus will show on Monday and Tuesday. A magnificent extravaganza, Michaels Big City Circus, will be given each afternoon and night.

There promises to be plenty of fun and entertainment for everybody.

Midway

Scaphene Stephens, Reporter

We are still having singing every Sunday night in the Midway school building. Our programs which are given every Sunday night have been a great success and everyone is invited to come.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Kitchen have spent a great deal of their time the past week in Lubbock with Mrs. Kitchen's brother, who is seriously ill.

Mrs. Ivie of Cottonwood is visiting in the home of her brother, L. M. Nordyke.

Messrs. Nordyke, Henry, and Luttrell and their families spend Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. King of Dixie.

Mrs. W. T. Gillespie of Lubbock visited her sister, Mrs. G. A. Edwards Thursday.

Mrs. J. C. Wells visited Friday in the home of her sister, Mrs. Doug Wells, of Itasca.

G. A. Edwards left Friday to attend the market at Fort Worth.

Mr. and Mrs. Rainey and family visited Sunday in the home of Mr. Rainey's sister, Mrs. Pat B. Healey.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stephens are visiting in the home of his cousin, L. A. Stephens.

Attend Lubbock Rotary Meeting

Fourteen members of the Tahoka Rotary Club attended an intercity meeting of Rotarians at the livestock pavilion on the Texas Tech Campus Wednesday night.

The principal address of the occasion was made by Congressman Geo. H. Mahon. It was a good speech, well delivered, and it was much enjoyed by the auditors. Mahon was introduced by Judge George Dupree. Short talks were also made by District Governor Edd McLaughlin of Ralls and past Governor Jim Wilson.

Sixteen clubs were represented and more than 200 Rotarians were present.

The American Spirit

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN

National Chairman
Sentinels of the Republic

During the past year many Americans have been reading a book which describes various problems in the art of living that still await solution.

It is a cheerful book. It believes a large number of those problems will be solved, and that the solutions are not so far away. It believes that men and women striving with diligence, sincerity and self-confidence will find the answers—as did, for example, Thomas Edison and Luther Burbank in their separate and important fields.

During the same period have appeared other writings, either emanating from Europe or inspired by foreign pessimism. These take a different point of view.

They despair of the capacity of men and women, as such, to solve their problems. They urge that all initiative, all responsibility be surrendered to those who hold the reins of government—as in many foreign lands today—and that youth trade its hopes, its energies, its self-reliance, for a problematical and dull future of state care and state guidance.

Here are two divergent viewpoints. The first is American in approach and in method.

The second is foreign. It is the antithesis of the spirit which conquered our raw frontiers, and converted them into some of the most fruitful and pleasant home-sites on earth.

The new frontiers to be conquered are no longer geographical. But the spirit which will tame them and build thereon a fuller and happier life for men, is the same spirit of personal courage and confident enterprise that actuated our earlier pioneers.

It is the American spirit.

Littlefield Plays Here Friday

Tahoka Bulldogs will play their second game of the season this afternoon, Friday, at 3 o'clock when they meet the strong, Littlefield Wildcats on the local field. The game will be Littlefield's season opener.

Tahoka opened the season last Friday with Brownfield here, the visitors taking the long end of a 19 to 0 score. The game was an interesting one however, the local boys putting up a stiff fight. Tahoka was forced on the defensive through most of the game, but at times showed much power. Before the season is over, the Bulldogs will round out into an excellent team, no doubt. A large crowd saw the contest.

Mrs. Minnie Denton returned last Friday night from Chicago, where she has been visiting for about two months.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Tate visited relatives in Comanche last week. Mr. Tate's father, J. H. Tate, accompanied them home for a few weeks visit.

Mrs. Eura Tippet was released from a Lubbock hospital and was brought back to her home here last Saturday, following an operation several days before.

REPORTS FROM THE COUNTY CLUBS

Miss Lillith Boyd, H. D. Agent

NEW LYNN WOMEN HOLD CLUB MEETING

The New Lynn club met with Mrs. C. L. Walker. As there was no demonstration, the members talked over a program for raising money for the club. A committee was appointed to work out a program and make plans for a carnival to be held near Halloween. They will announce it to the public as soon as all plans are made.

Mrs. C. C. Coffee, a former member who moved to T-Bar, was showered. She received quite a number of nice presents.

Mrs. J. A. Honea and Mrs. C. D. Lackey were the new members for this meeting.

Mrs. C. C. Coffee and Mrs. L. C. Smith of T-Bar were visitors. The club meets with Mrs. Thurmon Tuesday, Oct. 5.

Members present were: Mmes. Doyle Terry, Andrew Cooper, J. A. Jaynes, E. B. Terry, P. K. Fleming, H. A. Winkler, T. D. Lishman, C. B. Caviness, Newman Bartley, R. W. Barton, W. W. Rowland, C. L. Walker, Tommie Baker, Dan Carpenter, and Susie Bartley.

CLUB GIRL OUTSTANDING IN WORK THIS YEAR

Kathryn Osborn, clothing demonstrator in the Petty 4-H Club, did outstanding work in both clothing and storage for her clothing this year.

In describing her clothes closet she said: "My clothes closet is 3 feet by 4 1/2 feet and extends to the ceiling. Mother, father and I built it at a cost of 48c. We made the frame out of an old truck sideboard. We collected cardboard boxes from several sources and made a double wall of cardboard with a door constructed like the walls. The inside was first papered with newspapers and last with white paper to make it lighter inside. The outside was finished with newspapers and on the outside of this with wall paper to match the rest of the room.

"There are five shelves on one side and a long one extending the length of the closet above the rod for hanging garments. I used a broom handle for the clothes rod."

DIXIE CLUB WOMEN MEET WITH MRS. BUEL DRAPER

The Dixie Home Demonstration Club met Wednesday, September 15th, with Mrs. Buel Draper as hostess.

A demonstration on loaf cakes was given by Miss Boyd. The cake was cut and served.

iced grape juice, cookies and cake were served to Mmes. G. L. Cobb, A. L. Dungan, Watson, H. Bearden, L. E. Huffaker, G. B. Sherrod, Paul Johnson, Miss Boyd, and the hostess. Our next meeting will be with Mrs. Alex Johnson October 6.

MRS. WEAVER HOSTESS TO TAHOKA H. D. CLUB

The Tahoka H. D. Club met in the home of Mrs. A. C. Weaver at 2:30, September 22, for a cake demonstration.

In making butter cakes, the butter should be thoroughly creamed before adding the sugar. Then some of the flour should be added first, and some added after all milk has been used. This makes a finer texture.

After the cake demonstration, Miss Boyd led a discussion on making introductions.

Members drew names for Tahoka Club Friends for the month of October.

The club voted to change the time of meeting to 2:30 p. m. The first meeting in October will be at the home of Mrs. Chester Connolly. Mrs. George Small and Mrs. H. B. Howell were visitors.

Members present were: Mmes. A. C. Weaver, Jack Fenton, M. H. Crawford, W. S. Anglin, Claud Wells Chas. Nelms, R. W. Fenton, Cecil Shaw, Jack Corley, Milt Finch, H. M. Snowden, Chester Connolly, J. H. Edwards Jr., and James Connolly.

TOMATOES CONSERVED IN VARIETY OF FORMS

"I have conserved 135 containers of tomatoes that I grew from three rows, each approximately 35 feet long," Mrs. Lloyd Edwards, co-operator in the Friendship Home Demonstration Club, said.

"Of the 135 containers, 15 are tomato juice and 10 are chili sauce. In canning the tomatoes, I processed the quart jars for 40 minutes in a water bath of boiling water. I packed the most uniform ones into the jars and made puree from others and filled the jars," Mrs. Edwards added.

One hundred and thirty-five containers of tomatoes is the amount necessary in the canning budget to supply a family seven times a week for four months.

DIXIE WOMEN'S CLUB ENTERTAINS HUSBANDS

As a courtesy to their husbands, the Dixie H. D. Club members entertained with a "42" party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Johnson Friday night, September 10.

After several interesting games of "42", delicious refreshments of ice cream and cake were served to the following members: Mr. and Mrs. Herman Bearden and Jamie, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Cobb and Nancy Ann, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Berry, Mrs. L. E. Huffaker and children Don and Bill, Mrs. A. C. Aycox, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Johnson and Verna Jo, visitors Mr. and Mrs. H. Bayse and children, and the host and hostess and Dorothy Nell.

WILSON CLUB MEETS WITH MRS. SERVER

The Wilson Home Demonstration Club met at the home of Mrs. P. D. Server September 22.

"Women in the Bible" was the theme of the program rendered. Each member answered the roll call with a favorite Bible verse.

Members present were: Mesdames Jack Miller, L. B. Thornton, B. W. Baker, Edwin May, J. F. Covey, P. D. Server, W. H. May, H. G. Cook, M. C. Brandon, S. G. Anthony, and H. B. Crosby.

Dixie

There was a large crowd out for Sunday School and preaching Sunday. Bro. Howell did the preaching. Miss Elizabeth Hill, who has been teaching at Brownfield has returned home to spend a few days. She will return to Brownfield the first of October.

Mrs. Burley Taylor of Albuquerque, New Mexico, has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. King.

Laura Bell, Vel and LeRoy Bailey of Levealand are visiting their uncle J. M. Murrell and family.

Visitors in the W. P. Inman home Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Inman and sons, and Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Shearer and three children and Mr. and Mrs. Babe Cox of Crosbyton, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Nelson and daughter of Meadow, Mr. and Mrs. T. Cowan and children of Tahoka, Mrs. Bill Wood and Mrs. Luther Wood and Mr. and Mrs. Loke and son of Lovelock, Mr. and Mrs. Claud James and daughter, Mr. Pete Ehrhridge and two children, Mr. Jesse James and mother of Post, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Corsey, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Johnston of Clayton, Oklahoma.

Miss Oleta Price is attending the Draughton's Business College in Lubbock.

Miss Frances Tunnell is on the sick list this week. We hope she is well soon.

Cotton Report Shows 685 Bales

The harvesting of Lynn county's bumper cotton crop opened up in earnest Monday morning but progress has been hindered considerably by light showers that have been falling the past two or three days and by a heavy rain that visited some portions of the county Wednesday afternoon and night. Prospects are good for much more rain as this is written.

At eleven o'clock Thursday morning 685 bales had been ginned in Tahoka this season, which means that 516 bales had been ginned since our report last week.

Middling cotton 7-8 inch grade and better was bringing from 7.90 to 8.50 cents per pound on the local market. One ginner questioned stated that most of the cotton being ginned was 7-8 inch staple and another reported that fully 75 per cent of it was of that staple. Some of it runs as much as 15-16 and a small per cent as much as an inch. Cotton seed were still quoted at $17 per ton.

After a week's visit here, Mrs. L. P. Lavole of Newmarket, New Hampshire, mother of Mrs. Rollin McCord, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Howard of Ogunquit, Maine, friends of the family, are leaving today for their far-away homes. They are accompanied home by Mrs. McCord, who will visit there a number of weeks. Guess Rollin will be a little meaner than usual in the prosecution of criminals the next few weeks.

Dayton Nance of Barrington, Illinois, is here this week visiting his father, J. B. Nance. He is in the service of the A. & P. Grocery Company in Barrington.

Judge and Mrs. Tom Garrard attended the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo Wednesday.

Conserving Soil On Pasture Land

A pasture improvement demonstration is being conducted by Tom Garrard, lawyer-ranchman of Tahoka, on his ranch 3 miles south east of Tahoka, under the supervision of V. F. Jones, County Agent.

The nature of the pasture improvement is based largely on the conservation of soil moisture. Mr. Garrard is attempting to prevent run off of rainfall on sloping land by contour listing of the land. This is being accomplished by listing the land with a two-row lister, following lines run by the county agent. Two furrows were listed and space for two additional furrows are left blank with the intention of listing out the blank space as soon as the listed furrows have soded over.

Scattering small mesquite grubbs were taken out ahead of the lister. This is another important practice in the improvement of our range land, as mesquite is rapidly gaining a strong foothold on some of the best range land on the South Plains.

Twelve contour pasture demonstrations with a total of six hundred twenty four acres were established in Lynn County this year in cooperation with the 1937 Soil Conservation Program, working through the county Extension Service Agent. Most of these demonstrations were on small acreages that are considered as "stomp lots" around the farm. Many of these small pasture areas had been overgrazed, with practically no vegetation left on the ground, which would permit the run off of practically all the water following a hard dashing rain. The ridges and furrows provided in contour listing, hold this water on the land. Under favorable moisture conditions as we have had this year, buffalo and grama grasses have spread rapidly and taken up some of the space formerly occupied by unpalatable and noxious weeds.

By giving our pasture land a little more care as to conserving the rainfall, and not overgraze too heavily, many of the undesirable weeds will be crowded out by the good grasses.

Mrs. R. S. Cade of Pecos was here recently visiting in the home of her son, Aubra M. Cade, and is now visiting at Slaton.

Mr. and Mrs. Acie Bailey have returned to New Home to operate a grocery store.

METHODIST W. M. S. REPORTS ACTIVITIES

Have you noticed the number of agents for various things of late? Surely, Lynn county's cotton crop has been advertised! Salesmen at the rate of at least one a day are calling to take subscriptions, to any and every paper and magazine published, and also to take from Tahoka a nice fat bank bill. If you are interested in these subscriptions (any of them) either for renewals or for first subscriptions, your civic pride might want you to know how to keep this money floating in all our business enterprises in Tahoka. Listen, Mrs. R. H. Gibson is our duly authorized agent to take any and all subscriptions for our society, and our merchants will supply our needs. Call 200 and let her know you will help and give her your subscription. She will attend to it without delay or uneasiness on your part. Just tell the solicitor we have our own home town agent and we will be under lasting obligations to you.

Mrs. Cliff Thomas, Mrs. Anglin, and Mrs. Fenton contributed to a fine program at the church Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The study book, "Moslem World" was ordered and sessions begin the first Monday in October. Join the class for a good, helpful study.

The rummage sale of used clothes was opened at Mack's 2nd. Grocery in the balcony last Saturday and a nice sum was realized. Send your used clothes to the parsonage or to any member of the Society.

The parsonage and all its appointments are looked after by the Missionary Society. The pastor and family are kept comfortable in a furnished, modern home.

Our reports for the quarter will be made in executive session Monday afternoon. All our reports are up to par with any other Society in this district—not so large as some places, but all requirements for an A-1 Society are met. The year's work will round out with all obligation met.

Thanks to our kind editor who has so generously published our squibs.

SUNDAY PROMOTION DAY AT THE METHODIST S. S.

Next Sunday is Promotion Day in the Church School. Our new Sunday School year begins October 1st. Be in your place next Sunday.

BAPTIST WOMEN DONATE TO ORPHANS HOME

Though meeting in circles and studying different books, the Baptist W. M. S. membership voted Monday afternoon to raise the $25.00 in cash and a box of new clothing for Buckner Orphan's Home. It is planned to send these donations next Monday, and all having gifts should see Mrs. Dale.

Blanche Rose Walker Circle meeting with Mrs. Geo. A. Dale had a lesson from "Basil Lee Lockett," after which Mrs. Dale served iced punch and cookies to Mesdames Martha Stroud, E. N. Weathers, F. M. Billman, A. O. King, Wylie Fortenberry, J. B. Walker, Karr Wells, Ratcliff, and Dale.

The Sallee Circle studied the "Personal Service Guide" in the home of Mrs. E. I. Hill, who served punch and cookies to Mesdames S. H. Holland, W. O. Robertson, Garland Pennington, W. C. McKenzie, Jim Burleson, and Hill.

The Lottie Moon Circle continued their study of the Mission book, "Sharing With Neighbor America," as they met in the home of Mrs. Homer St. Clair. During the social hour ice cream and cake were served to Mesdames H. M. Snowden, B. Howell, K. R. Durham, Scott, A. D. Seth, and St. Clair.

ELDER DRENNON VISITS IN OKLAHOMA

I had a very pleasant visit last week end in Oklahoma. I visited Oklahoma City and Sayre where I preached last Lord's day. The crops were not so good around Sayre, in fact they just don't have the soil to make them good. I never found any land in Oklahoma (the part I visited) as good as it is in good old Lynn county. I sure appreciate our state more when I visit others. We have a wonderful country and don't realize it. Texas is great in size, scenery, diversity of soil and good people. Our capitol building surpasses that of most any state in size and history. But Oklahoma sure does advertise what she does have, a thing we need to learn.

One thing I sure did not enjoy while in Oklahoma was the sales tax and the trouble it puts one to in making change, but as it is coming in this state sooner or later I guess I had just as well like it. We all like to see Uncle Sam spend his money, but when he calls on us to foot the bill it is not so pleasant, but we had just as well make up our minds that we are going to have to dig down deep in our jeans for he is going to need it.

I will fill the pulpit at O'Donnell next Lord's day.
R. P. DRENNON.

MISS DORIS HULL MARRIES

J. B. CLAYTON, AMARILLO
Miss Doris Hull, daughter of Mrs. O. J. Hull, formerly a resident of Tahoka, became the bride of J. F. Clayton of Amarillo last Friday night, and the couple will make their home in that city.

The Halls resided here a little more than two years, the bride's father, Rev. O. J. Hull, being pastor of the Baptist Church here during that time, his pastorate ending with his sudden and unexpected death from heart trouble.

Miss Hull has many friends here. Following her removal from Tahoka she became a student in the Texas Technological College and later received her degree from that institution. The groom is unknown in Tahoka.

NEW LYNN EPWORTH LEAGUE HEARS PROGRAM

The New Lynn Epworth League met Sunday evening, Sept. 19th, at 7:30 o'clock. Miss Sayles had arranged an interesting program. Mrs. Bartlett will arrange the program for next Sunday evening.

By urging everyone to render the part assigned to them, the League is making a special effort to give better programs each Sunday, and with the hearty co-operation of all our membership is growing and we will have a larger attendance.

Those who will meet with us are always welcome.—Pub. Supt.

ORGANIZE SUNDAY SCHOOL AT SOUTH WARD

The people of South Ward community met Sunday afternoon at 2:45 to organize a Sunday School and church. There was a good attendance.

We will elect officers Sunday, Sept. 26, so please be there and fill your place. Let us do our best for God. Preaching will be at 3:30 each afternoon. We extend to all welcome! Psalms 122-1.
MRS. CLARA NEWTON.

MRS. SMITH HOSTESS TO RAINBOW CLASS

The Rainbow Class of the First Baptist Church met at the home of Mrs. Smith Monday night. There were ten present. We talked about business matters and played games. Ice Cream and cake were served for refreshments. All reported a nice time.—Reporter.

CHURCH SERVICES AT CHURCH OF CHRIST

Elder S. A. Ribble of Shamrock will preach at the Church of Christ here next Sunday morning and at night, according to announcement made by D. A. Stevens.

All members of the congregation are urged to be present and everybody is cordially invited.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Atkinson returned Monday from a two months stay at Hot Springs and Alamogordo, New Mexico. Mr. Atkinson says that the climate was fine and they certainly did have a good time. He saw one bear and plenty of deer but never pulled a trigger.

Our Bill of Rights

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN
National Chairman
Sentinels of the Republic

Recently America observed with nation-wide ceremonies the 150th anniversary of the signing of our Constitution on September 17, 1787.

During the same month occurs a similarly significant, though less widely observed anniversary, commemorating the adoption by Congress, on September 25, 1789, of our American Bill of Rights.

Ratified by the States, and proclaimed in force by December of 1791, this group of ten amendments constitutes one of the greatest bulwarks of personal liberty in all history.

Why? Because it is the Bill of Rights that assures to all Americans their treasured freedom of religion, of speech and of the press.

It is the Bill of Rights which guarantees them the right to trial by jury, the right to own property, and protection against such forms of oppression as imprisonment without legal process, cruel and unusual punishment, or unreasonable search and seizure.

It is the Bill of Rights which retains to the people all other rights not delegated to government.

Check these rights and privileges against the few permitted those peoples now oppressed by the new tyrannies overseas.

There, news dispatches report a growing record of deprivation of the right to worship, to speak, to assemble, to labor or to live as the conscience and the spirit of the individual citizen impels him.

There, unjust imprisonment, trials that are mere mockery, blood purges and the like, continue to make a travesty of freedom.

Such things don't happen in the United States. And they will not happen here so long as the Constitution and the Bill of Rights prevail, with an independent judiciary to sustain them.

That is what makes the anniversaries of our Constitution and our Bill of Rights such significant celebrations, not only to Americans but to all who believe in the liberty of man.

FOR SALE—160 acres in cultivation, in sight of Tahoka; some cash, balance long time easy terms; no trades; by non-resident. I will be in Tahoka during month of October. A. W. White. 67c.

Take a tip on kitchen cleanliness from our Westinghouse Electric Range users. They all say, "It's so nice and clean." There's a reason: no smoky flame, no soot, no greasy film or dirt in electricity! Curtains, walls, utensils, the range itself—all stay bright and new so much longer.

Come in and learn why the Westinghouse Electric Range is the biggest "bargain buy" in years. It's faster, cooler, and more economical than ever before.

The Farnall Tractor Proves Its Worth

No farmer who has used a tractor this year would go back to the horse and mule days on the farm. No power like it with which to list the land. You can put your land in shape for next year's crop in less than half the time you can with horse power, and do a better job of it. Then, when planting time comes, you can get your crop planted and have it up before the other fellow can get half of his planted. And cultivation with a tractor is quick and easy.

This year all Farnall Tractors are equipped to burn Distillate, Kerosene, and Gasoline

You can use your choice and cut the expense of operation to the minimum.

Be It Ordained by the City Council of the City of Tahoka, Texas:

Section 1. That, hereafter, it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to carry on or pursue the business of buying, selling, bartering, or exchanging new or second-hand or used motor vehicles within the corporate limits of the City of Tahoka, Texas, without first procuring a license therefor as provided in this ordinance.

Section 2. By the foregoing is meant any person, firm or corporation carrying on, or conducting the business of selling or exchanging automobiles or motor vehicles who, within the City of Tahoka, Texas, sells or offers for trade or exchange, or barter, or advertises for sale in any manner, or solicits prospects or customers, or sells, or offers in any manner to sell new, used or second-hand automobiles, in the City of Tahoka, Texas.

Section 3. Every applicant for a license to carry on or conduct the business as set out above, shall file with the City Secretary a written application, signed and sworn to by the applicant. Said application shall contain the following information:

(a). The name and residence of each applicant, if an individual or partnership; if a corporation, its name, principal place of business, and the address of each of the officers and directors of said corporation, and the name and addresses of each and every party financially interested in said partnership or corporation.

(b). The length of time each applicant, if a person or partnership, has resided in the City of Tahoka, Texas; the business or occupation pursued by him during the five years immediately preceding the application, giving the place where such business or occupation was followed, whether he is married or single, whether he has within the last ten years been convicted of a felony or misdemeanor, and if so, giving the nature of offense and the court in which the conviction was had. If the applicant is a corporation, the application shall contain the same information with respect to each of the following officers: President, Vice-President, Secretary, Treasurer, and General-Manager.

(c). The place where such business is to be located or carried on.

(d). Each application shall be accompanied by a bond in the principal sum of $5,000.00, payable to the City of Tahoka, Texas, with at least two good and sufficient sureties, or sufficient collateral security, or an approved bonding company, licensed to do business in the State of Texas, approved by the City Council, conditioned that during the term of the license the applicant will duly observe all laws, ordinances, rules and regulations which are now in force or which may hereafter become applicable.

(e). Each application shall also be accompanied by a sworn statement setting out fully that the applicant is in a position to fully comply with Section 5 hereof.

(f). When an application and bond have been filed as provided for herein, the City Council shall make an investigation, and if the applicant is found to be a suitable person to carry on and conduct such a business, and if the bond is found to be good and sufficient, and is approved by said City Council, a license shall be issued by the Mayor and City Secretary to engage in said business, after payment has been made to the City of Tahoka, Texas, the fee hereinafter required. Provided, that no such application shall be acted upon by the City Council until same has been filed with the City Secretary and has remained on file for a period of ninety days. The City Council, however, may waive this provision provided the applicant was carrying on and conducting such a business as described herein in the City of Tahoka, Texas, on January 1st, 1937, and continuously since that time up to the passage of this ordinance.

Section 4. Each dealer shall pay

Plan School Pilgrimage to Exposition

L. A. Woods, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, visited the Pan American Exposition in Dallas last week, with members of his staff, and joined with Exposition officials in outlining plans to bring 500,000 Texas school children to the World's Fair before its close October 31. Railroads are running scores of special trains for school children and the movement will also be by automobile and bus. "The public schools of Texas should make the Pan American Exposition a field event this year," Superintendent Woods (right) said. Assistant Director General Frank N. Watson.

an annual license fee of $25.00. No license shall be issued for a period of more than one year. All licenses shall be numbered in order in which they are issued, shall state the location of the business of such dealer, shall state the date of issuance and date of expiration of license, and the name and address of the licensee. Said license shall be kept displayed in a prominent place in place of business of the holder thereof.

Section 5. That every person, firm or corporation operating, maintaining, or carrying on the business of buying, selling, bartering, or exchanging new, or second-hand, or used automobiles or motor vehicles, within the corporate limits of the City of Tahoka, Texas, shall keep or cause to be kept a detailed record of each such transaction, which record shall at all times be open for the inspection of the City Marshal or any officer detailed by him, and such person, firm or corporation shall, as often as the City Marshal shall direct, make out and deliver to him, on a blank form to be furnished by the City Marshal a full and complete report of the purchase, sale, exchange, storage, or other transaction with such property. The said report shall contain the name of the person from or to whom purchased, sold, bartered, or exchanged, the make, the state license number, body number, style and seating capacity of all second-hand automobiles purchased, sold, exchanged, or placed in storage, together with such other information concerning said property as may be necessary to prove ownership or identity of such second-hand automobile or motor vehicles.

Section 6. That every person, firm, or corporation operating, maintaining, or carrying on the business as herein described, shall in lamson county and to communities in Victoria county. At Coupland, by adopting a single variety, they found that they got a better production by 26 lbs. per acre and got from 2 to 4 cents per pound more for their cotton. They also got a larger yield of seed and sold them at a higher price. Other communities had profited in a similar manner. California several years ago learned the advantage of marketing its crops co-operatively, he pointed out, and by selecting the best varieties and marketing co-operatively it had forged to the front as one of the leading agricultural states of the Union. Last year it produced 642,000 bales of long staple cotton, surpassing several of the Southern states in production.

FARMERS HER A. & M. EXPERTS MONDAY

At the close of his discussion he introduced Ed P. Lichte, Extension Gin Specialist, who touched on many phases of the cotton problem but made his speech short and snappy.

"Pick your cotton, don't pull it," he advised the farmers.

"Don't pick it while the dew is still on it or while it is still wet following a shower," he advised further. Gins simply can not turn out a good grade of cotton when it is picked while wet and farmers lose heavily by this practice, he stated.

Texas cotton properly harvested spins better than any other in the world, he declared. That is the verdict of the mills everywhere. "But Texas cotton is not acceptable because we don't send what we sell," he quoted an English buyer as stating. He scored some farmers for defrauding by placing high-grade cotton on the outside and filling the inside with rag-tag stuff, often placing small stones and other heavy materials inside the bale. He displayed a metal tag attached to a long rod which he said would probably be placed in every cotton bale ginned beginning at no distant date. By this means every bale of cotton could be traced from the mill back to the producer and when a fake bale was found at the mill, the ginner could be held responsible, who could hold the producer responsible.

He called attention to the three kinds of government loans that will be made on cotton. Loans of 9c cents per pound will be made on middling cotton of 7-8 inch staple or longer. Loans of 7½ cents will be made on grades below middling of 7-8 inch staple. Loans of 8 cents will be made on middling cotton of 13-16 inch staple. The interest rate is 4 per cent. Loans will be made only to those who will agree to comply with the Government program to be adopted for next year.

Mr. Lichte also explained that 130 million dollars has been authorized to be paid as a subsidy to farmers complying with the Government program. This subsidy will be paid in amounts not exceeding 3 cents per pound on a 65 per cent production base. The county agent can more fully explain this to any farmer who desires further information on the subject.

County Agent V. F. Jones made a few remarks and submitted the matter to those present relating to the raising of a longer staple cotton. By an almost unanimous vote those present voted to conform to the long staple program and the county committee and chairmen of the local committees and such other citizens as these should name were authorized to take the matter in charge.

Following this meeting, the farmers present were again called, in session and asked to consider the matter of prices to be paid for cotton picking and pulling. Following considerable discussion, most of those present indicated an intention to have their cotton picked and not pulled.

While no schedule of prices was agreed upon, many declared that they would rather pay 75 cents per hundred pounds for picking than 35 cents for pulling.

John Heck, who presided at this meeting, stated that he is both a producer and a ginner of cotton and he cited some of the difficulties facing the ginner. They lose money by buying cotton, he declared, because they are virtually compelled by the farmers to pay a uniform price for cotton regardless of its staple.

No action was taken, however, to solve the problem, but attention was called to the fact that the ginner in Dawson county had recently decided not to buy cotton at all. It was apparently agreed that this would be a wise policy for the ginner of this county to adopt.

Mr. and Mrs. Austin Moore arrived Monday afternoon from Coryell county. Mr. Moore will be employed through the fall at West Texas Gin No. 1. He is a nephew of Mrs. J. L. Reese.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Mathis and little son Don Mack of Levelland visited Sunday in the home of Mrs. Mathis' parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Milliken.
