WELL MATCH O'DONNELL AGAINST THE WORLD

Yes, we believe that O'Donnell, our busy little neighbor on the south line of the county, is entitled to the distinction of having more harvested but unginced cotton piled on its gin yards and on the open spaces at the outskirts of the town than any other cotton ginning point in the entire world.

We have never seen anything anywhere to compare with it, and we have never seen anybody else who has. How many thousand bales of seed cotton have been thus concentrated, we do not know, but there are literally acres and acres of land covered with big piles or long ricks of cotton in close proximity to one another.

The ginners of O'Donnell may have fairly accurate information as to the amount of cotton that has been thus concentrated, but we doubt if many others have.

Aside from the gin yards, there are three concentration areas, one immediately west of the town, another southwest, and a third south. All are just outside the city limits.

The gathering of the immense crop by countless Mexicans and other cotton pickers that have swarmed into the county proceeded so rapidly that soon great mountains of cotton were piled on the gin yards. The fire hazard became so great that there was danger of all fire policies on the gins and the cotton being canceled.

Honestly, we don't believe that there is any place in the whole world that can match it. It is worth going miles to see.

We doubt if there is an inland village in the United States that can match Grassland, twelve miles east of Tahoka, in the number of bales of cotton ginned in a single season.

producing area and it has three big modern gins. Already this fall, it has ginned approximately fourteen thousand bales of cotton. Where is there another inland village that can equal this record.

CARE IN SELECTING COTTON SEED IMPORTANT

Many farmers and ginners believe that under the Government cotton program, plains farmers will be compelled to get away from half-and-half cotton as much as possible. Emergencies may arise when its use may become advisable, but ordinarily it is not believed that its use will be wise.

Consequently farmers everywhere are looking for the best long-staple varieties for their respective sections of the country. Some time ago a committee of farmers was selected in this county to investigate different varieties and make recommendations.

This week, however, we heard a big ginner of the county discussing the merits of various varieties which he had tried out. His choice was different from any of the varieties recommended by the committee. He says that this particular variety has been so prolific in his community this year that there is a great demand for the seed.

The News does not pretend to know what is the best variety to plant, but it hopes that no mistake in this respect will be made by the farmers of this county next year. Prolific, early-maturing varieties, and especially prolific varieties, should be selected in all instances.

NEWSPRINT PAPER PRICES ADVANCE

The News, along with all other newspapers, is facing a marked increase with the coming of the new year in the prices for newsprint and other paper stock used in the publishing of a newspaper and in the printing business generally.

The increase in newsprint, on which this newspaper is published, will be about 22 per cent, we understand. There will be material advances on job printing paper also. In fact, the price of paper and other printers supplies have been advancing for several months.

It seems imperative that the News will be compelled to advance its subscription rates and also its advertising rates during the coming year to meet the continued advance in prices for everything a newspaper publisher must buy. Not only has the printing material advanced in price but the cost of living has also increased.

We are not yet announcing any advance in our subscription rate or in our advertising rates; we are only giving a warning as to what may be expected soon.

Brazil is the latest country to submit to the heel of a dictator. The President of that country recently joined the ranks of Hitler and Mussolini. By his own decree, he has abolished the federal congress, and the legislatures of the several states. He has deposed their governors and appointed new ones to take their places.

HENRY FORD

Henry Ford, of "Model T" Fame, has just closed down one of his plants, throwing several thousand workmen out of employment, because the CIO labor unions told him what he could and could not do. They thought they could force Ford to give up all the factory and then dig down in his jeans for whatever surplus he may have made in the past but their little scheme did not work.

O that we had some means of getting our vacant lots cleaned up! Especially those lying contiguous to the highways that pass through the town.

THE "LONE WOLF" HOWLS Editor E. I. Hill of the Lynn County News, Tahoka, howls loud and long because we put old Lynn's cotton way down about 80,000 bales. Well, after hearing a lot of other reports last week, we raised it to 125,000 last week, Bro. Hill. Now, shall we revise up or down. We like to please our customers—Terry County Herald.

Yes, and the "Lone Wolf" of the Terry County Herald would have howled like a whole pack of "kloties" if we had published to the world that Terry county's 60,000-bale crop was estimated at 30,000. In fact the "Lone Wolf" is constantly howling on less provocation than that.

There are demagogic politicians in Texas who are making a political football of old-age pensions. They are pretending to favor the payment of $15.00 by the state and $15.00 by the Federal Government to every person in Texas over 65 years of age. There are at least 300,000 people in Texas over 65. It would cost the State 54 million dollars each year to pay each of them $15.00 per month, which is more than the State spends on all its highways and nearly twice as much as it spends on its public schools.

Santa Fe spends $125 million .. in Eleven States!

The Santa Fe, in 1936, paid out more than 125 millions of dollars for materials and supplies, fuel, wages and salaries, and other items of operating expense, in the eleven states in which it operates. The amount assignable to each state was as follows:

Table with 2 columns: State and Amount. Includes Illinois ($8,600,282), Louisiana ($137,989), Iowa ($1,086,406), Colorado ($4,865,701), Missouri ($8,197,033), New Mexico ($15,111,396), Kansas ($27,049,366), Arizona ($12,919,152), Oklahoma ($9,606,664), California ($21,251,768), Texas ($16,216,061), Total ($125,061,818)

From 1927 to 1936, inclusive, the monies disbursed by the Santa Fe in these states for operating expenses totaled $1,350,499,728.

This average annual expenditure of more than 135 millions of dollars over the past decade, devoted entirely to the purchase of goods and services, has been of inestimable value in promoting local industry and trade, and in providing varied employment for thousands of persons, throughout Santa Fe territory.

Indians' Names Serve as a Part of Their Record

Indian children have an infant name for identity, and an "earned" name, usually acquired in the teens, which is given for outstanding achievement or personal idiosyncrasy. A third name is usually given, called a "dream" name, when the recipient has dreamed of his guardian in the spirit world. The name by which he is best known, however, is the second or "earned" name.

An infant Indian name is not associated with any family, as we use a surname, but merely puts a temporary little tag on the child, according to a writer in the Washington Star. It is often rather amusing, such as the name "Two Ways," given an Indian toddler because he went first to the right, then to the left when learning to walk.

When in his teens an Indian boy may distinguish himself with the bow and arrow. Perhaps his aim is so fine that he may hit a mark expertly, even when aiming over his shoulder to the rear; in this case, he will surely be given the achievement name of "Aims Back." Every one will thus know of his cleverness.

Since the American Indians are forced to live in a modern world, full of white people, with names chosen in a different way from their own, many of them have prefixed American names to their own for convenience. So we find such names as Tom Day Rider, Charles Ironbreast, and Mike Little Dog among the Indians.

Mrs. W. A. Reddell, D. F. and Laverne took Mrs. Reddell's mother, Mrs. Harms, to Chico Thanksgiving day, returning home Sunday.

Congress—And The Average Citizen

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN
 National Chairman
 Sentinels of the Republic

Although Congress thus far has achieved little in its special session, the American public sees, in current indications, several rays of hope.

From various statements emanating from Washington, the average citizen is encouraged to believe that Government is beginning to think of him as the man for whom it actually exists.

Washington, for example, is giving thought to the great army of American consumers—which includes more than 129,000,000 members. Instructions have been issued to determine why the costs of food and necessities for all the people have risen so markedly in recent years.

It is giving thought to the average citizen as a worker. Efforts are being made to supplant guesswork with actual facts and figures on the numbers of jobless, and the reasons for their unemployment.

It is giving thought to him as a wage-earner. Efforts are being made, by some members of Congress, to strike the shackles from the wrists of private enterprise, and thus encourage employers to expand those productive activities on which all payrolls depend.

It is giving thought to him as a taxpayer. Efforts are being made, by some Congressmen, to cut the waste in government which has boosted public debts, public deficits and public spending to heights that take now a terrific toll from all workers, in taxes both direct and indirect.

It is giving thought to him as a citizen and constituent. Many Congressmen are now tuning in on his voice, even though it means lending a less eager ear to bureaucrats who demand huge checks, drawn on the public account, for fresh and often impractical experiments.

All these things are still promises. But, despite earlier disappointments, the American public continues to hope they will be fulfilled. If not, it's a fair guess that a lot of Congressmen are going to be asked the reason why.

J. W. Fortenberry spent Thanksgiving day here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Fortenberry, returning to Post Thursday night, where he has been employed the past two months in the Double-U Land office. After graduating in the high school here, J. W. took a thorough business course.

Toys Gathered For Christmas

Mrs. W. T. Clinton reports that the response to the request made last week for the donation of toys for the children and of clothing and other useful articles for the needy was very gratifying and she wishes the people of Tahoka to know that she appreciates their liberality. The toys and other articles are being mended where mending is needed and will be distributed as previously stated.

Mrs. W. C. Alderman of Childress spent the Thanksgiving season here with her uncle, W. L. Brown, and wife, and their daughter, Mrs. W. C. Wells. It was the first time Mr. Brown had seen his niece in twenty years, and he says it was a most happy meeting.

PHEBE K. WARNER CLUB PROGRAM INTERESTING

A most interesting program was given on Friday afternoon, November 26, when the Phebe K. Warner Club met with Mrs. C. L. Hafer at her home on North Fifth Street.

Mrs. Fred B. Hegi had charge of the program for the afternoon. She gave an inspiring talk on "Home", closing with Guest's poem, "It Takes a Heap of Living to Make a Home."

An added feature to the program was the presence of three high school young ladies who came with Mrs. Hegi to carry out her theme. Miss Doris Lawler gave a well prepared paper on "Budgeting", followed by an interesting talk on "Nutrition" by Miss Rosa McKenzie, who displayed and explained a food chart. Miss Ida Botkins' contribution was a talk on "Christmas on a Flat Purse". She showed numerous practical and beautiful Christmas gifts made of inexpensive material.

During the social hour Mrs. W. B. Slaton assisted the hostess in serving a Thanksgiving luncheon to Mesdames J. K. Applewhite, R. W. Fenton, Sr., L. C. Haney, F. B. Hegi, Homer Maxey, R. L. Richardson, G. M. Stewart, H. C. Story, L. E. Weathers, H. M. Snowden, Ben Hardy, Tim Green, W. O. Henderson and Misses Botkin, Lawler and McKenzie.

For the next three months Mrs. Roy Young was appointed Parliamentarian and Mrs. Haney was chosen Reporter.

The club will have its next meeting on Tuesday, December 14, at the home of Mrs. Homer Maxey.

ELDER DRENNON'S NOTES

Thanksgiving Day past, Christmas just ahead, and then New Year's will be upon us before we realize it.

Thanksgiving Day was indeed pleasant for me. With my family and a few friends, we sat down to a bountiful dinner, and best of all, the cost was very small, due to the generosity of the Maasen Produce Company, who gave us a fine dressed turkey and the trimmings, for which we are indeed thankful. What a fine thing to live among such fine people!

Among the people of West Texas are to be found some of the best people in the world, and somehow after living here awhile you just can not be satisfied anywhere else. (There are a few exceptions.)

ernment". I wonder how many Christians stop to think of their duty to the civil authorities. Please read Romans, 13th chapter; also I Timothy 2:1-2, and I Peter 2:13-17, and our government with all its faults is still the best in the world to live under, I think.

With the gathering of this bountiful crop I want to sound a note of warning again. Don't forget, Brethren, that a portion of it belongs to God; that you are just stewards. Please read Luke 12:13-31, also Luke 16, the entire chapter, lest you forget; if this is not enough, then turn to Malachi 3:8-12, and think hard. I will fill the pulpit at Gall next Lord's Day, the Lord willing. Yours for more fair play with God as well as men. — R. P. Drennon.

MRS. MARTHA STROUD CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

"Flowers for the Living" seems to have been the motto of a group of friends who met in the home of Mrs. N. M. Wyatt, Tuesday afternoon to honor a long time resident of Tahoka, Mrs. Martha Stroud, on the eve of her eighty-third birthday.

The program, directed by the hostess, Mrs. Wyatt, opened with a talk by Rev. George A. Dale, in appreciation of the life of Mother Stroud, "who, on the eve of her 83rd birthday is receiving the prize she has won—the honor of a good name."

The audience joined in singing one of Mother Stroud's favorite hymns—"The Lights of Home". This was followed by a duet, "The Little Old Lady", rendered by Olga Faye Taylor and Jerry Jean Simmons, after which Margaret Durham gave a reading expressing thanks for Mother Stroud. Shirley Sue and Neilene Anderson, Dolores Nowlin and Nancy Nell Wyatt rendered the song, "Precious Book". Informal talks of appreciation were given by a number of those present who praised Mother Stroud, as a church member, neighbor, and friend.

A reminder of the years that Mother Stroud has spent bringing sunshine and cheer to the people of Tahoka was given in the duet "Auld Lang Syne" given by Mesdames R. C. Wells and K. R. Durham in old fashioned dresses with capes, reticules, etc.

Then came a table bearing a silver Christmas tree almost buried in attractive packages, which were opened and admired. This was followed by a large pink and white birthday cake bearing 83 lighted candles, the group singing "Happy Birthday

WILSON COUPLE WED

Thursday, November 25, was a happy Thanksgiving day for Mr. Walter Luckner of Lubbock and Miss Lydia Kaatz of Wilson, for on that day, at 5 P.M., they were united in marriage at the St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Wilson, with Rev. Lange officiating.

Miss Lorene Kaatz, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Mr. Carl Luckner, brother of the groom, was best man. Bridesmaids were Misses Gertrude Luckner, Laura Nock, and Delphine Hahn. Grooms-men were Oswald Schade, Felix Nolte, and Herman Wuensche, with Mary Ellen Limmer as flower girl and Earl Kaatz as ring bearer.

The bride wore white satin with full length veil and carried an arm bouquet of white roses and ferns. The bridesmaids and flower girl wore moire taffeta in pastel colors and carried white and pink roses.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents in Wilson immediately following the ceremony.

The young couple will make their home in Lubbock.

Governor's Aid Is Local Visitor

Dr. and Mrs. J. R. Singleton spent Thanksgiving Day in Austin with their daughter, Miss Ola Belle Singleton, who is secretary in the office of Governor James V. Allred. They were accompanied home Friday by their daughter and by her friend, Miss Lillian Pardew, who is also a secretary in the Governor's office. The ladies returned to Austin Sunday.

Miss Pardew's home is at Wichita Falls, and this was her first trip to the plains. So, she got the low-down, at first hand, on Lynn county's bumper cotton crop and on a Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Garrard spent most of last week down in the Maason-Kerrville country hunting deer. It was merely a hunt, however, as they frankly admit that they found not a one of the beautiful fleet-footed animals,—except a big buck that stood tantalizingly within easy gunshot on the highway as they were starting on their way home. T. T. says that he wore holes in the seats of his trousers and came home foot-sore, with no deer meat. We never did quite understand how he wore out the seat of his trousers hunting deer.

typical plains sandstorm. The party came through Dawson county Friday afternoon and through Donnell about nightfall, where they saw the immense quantities of cotton piled on gin yards and on the prairie waiting to be ginned. Then, before morning, a pretty good sized sandstorm struck and proceeded to cut up for several hours in a manner that would do credit to some of its most robust predecessors.

We asked the ladies to carry the word back to Austin that we have raised 125,000 bales of cotton in Lynn county this year and not a single pink boll worm, that anybody knows of.

New England Doughnuts Fried in Fireplace Pots

Before stoves were introduced to New England kitchens, about 1830, the boiling and stewing and the frying of doughnuts were done in pots and kettles hung on hooks and trammels suspended from long cranes in the fireplaces. A log so large that it burned practically all day, leaving enough at night to be covered with ashes and placed back of the andirons; a forestick nearly as large was placed on the ashing and then a superstructure of kindling and sticks of wood. These were lighted from the indispensable tinder box, a tin receptacle that contained the flint and steel that struck the fire on a charred rag. The cover was a candlestick, never without its candle. To be without was regarded as the height of shiftlessness and gave rise to the phrase, "he never had any tinder," according to a writer in the New York Sun.

Of the accomplishments of an old New England fireplace, a woman who knew by experience wrote, 75 years ago:

"Meats were roasted on spits suspended from hooks over the mantle, or in tin kitchens in front of the fire. The Dutch oven also was used. This was a shallow tin vessel, in which the meat, or dough, was placed, and on the iron cover, coals, so that top and bottom of what it contained were evenly browned. A little before the advent of stoves the reflector was invented. This was tin, and only half way between the sloping top and bottom was a shallow pan in which the delicious sakeratus biscuits were baked. Delicious shortcake was rolled on tin sheets and baked before the fire. But the brick oven was the dependence for baked beans, brown and white bread, pies, puddings and custards."

Capture of Two Sharks

Proof of Right to Wed

Among many of the New Guinea coastal tribes it is compulsory for a native to capture at least two sharks unaided before he may marry. In most cases, says a writer in the New York Times, the sharks are caught in a very ingenious trap. The trap is merely a big float carved out of a long piece of soft wood. Through a hole in the center of the float there is fastened a length of strong, hand-woven cane rope, knotted at one end and tied in a running noose at the other.

Towing this curious contraption the bridegroom-to-be sets out in his tiny canoe. He takes along with him several dead fish, one of which is tied at the end of a long stick. With this he seeks to attract the shark toward the canoe. When the shark draws near the fisherman places his trap in the water with the noose hanging downward.

Then, using the strong-smelling fish as bait, he tempts the monster until, in order to secure the fish the shark thrusts its head through the cane noose. As it does so the noose tightens and the shark is caught. At once it plunges away in terror. The dragging float, exerting a pull on the noose, gradually forces the shark's jaws open and before long it chokes or drowns, and may be towed ashore.

Warning Given On Ventilation

AUSTIN, Texas, — "With colder weather on its way to Tex., it's time to think about home temperatures during the winter months," states Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

"There is evidence that thousands of homes are constantly over-heated during the winter. In fact, many families tolerate an indoor temperature during the colder months to which they would and do strenuously object in the summer. Such persons are not only uneconomical with their fuel supply, but are endangering their health as well," Dr. Cox continued.

"People living in homes with over-heated temperatures become soft, the system is weakened and is a decided disadvantage defending itself against the sudden change from a too great intramural heat to the penetrating cold.

"Consequently colds, bronchial troubles and pneumonia, taking advantage of the situation, step in and do much unnecessary, and not infrequently, fatal damage. You will agree that this is entirely too high a price to pay for a few extra degrees of unneeded heat.

"We all know families who are starting on their annual scourge of colds and sore throat. But this does not alter their affinity for super-heat. They ignore the fact that 68 to 70 degrees is the best temperature. A thermometer kept within that range, plus proper humidity, is a definite safe-guard. We need that safe-guard. What does your thermometer read?"

Jim T. Sanford and son Walter of Klondike, Arizona, were here recently visiting the former's brother, Sam Sanford, and family. Mr. Sanford was born and partly reared in Nolan county near Sweetwater but as a mere youth he went to Arizona. There he grew to full maturity, married, and for many years did not find time to return to Texas. He found West Texas to be a far different country from the West Texas which he left many years ago.

Farmer Brings 17 Bales To Gin At One Trip; Recalls Early Days

Here's another nice cotton tale — No, it is not a tale; it is a fact. E. A. Thomas, one of the Thomas brothers who operate two big gins out at Grassland, says that one farmer, Lee Roy Davis, brought seventeen (17) bales of seed cotton to the gin at one trip the other day. He piled it on three trailers, hitched a big tractor to it, and here he came — seventeen bales at one time. Then Mr. Thomas became reminiscent. He said he remembered the time when the farmers down in north-east Texas used to bring their cotton to the gin a half bale at a time. They would unload the half bale in a stall and then go back after the other half. One day a fellow created a sensation by bringing a whole bale at one load. And then the editor became a bit reminiscent too. He remembered that when he was a kid there was a horse-power gin in his community. There was a machine with two or three tongues protruding from different sides of it. The horses were hitched to these "tongues" and followed one another, either single file or two abreast, around and around the machine, beating out a circular track around it. Ten or twelve bales a day, as he remembers it, were a good day's work. Ginning machinery, as well as nearly every other kind of machinery, has been revolutionized during the past generation or two.

Heart Attack Fatal To Negro

A negro known as Judge Slaughter, peking cotton for L. H. Perkins, died suddenly of heart trouble late Wednesday afternoon of last week. He had become ill in the field and he and other negroes had come to the Perkins barn, where they were sleeping, just before night. Slaughter complained of a terrible pain in the chest. He also requested a fire to be started in the stove, as he was cold, and lay down on a couch. He requested that his sister in Waco be requested to come out and take him home and started to give directions as to where she could be found. But he never completed the sentence. Investigation revealed that he was dead. The body was prepared for burial by the Harris Funeral Home and was shipped back to Waco for interment.

Lynn County Pupils Take High Rank

Sylvester Reese of Tahoka, Clinton Walker of Lubbock, Clytus Paris of Wilson, and Juanita Haynes of Miami, all Juniors in the Texas Technological College, were among the students who were initiated into the Alpha Chi fraternity Thursday afternoon. The members of Alpha Chi, a national fraternity based on merit, is composed of fifty Juniors and Seniors in the upper ten per cent. Tech has only recently been granted a charter by the fraternity. Clinton Walker until recently was a resident of Tahoka and is a graduate of the Tahoka high school. Miss Juanita Haynes is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Haynes, former owners and editors of the Lynn County News, and she resided here as a small child. Sylvester Reese was brought up in the News office and is now foreman of the Tech printing department. Miss Anita Reddell was recently honored by being elected secretary of the Alpha Society at Mary Hardin-Baylor College, Belton, where she is a student.

Enamel Romantic Product
The ingredients from which the enameled surface of plumbing fixtures are made come from many different parts of the world. Tin oxide from the Malay States, kryolith from Greenland, barium carbonate from Germany are among the 20 elements which are combined to make the glass-like surface.

Cranberry Thrives Best In Acid Peat, Muck Soil

The cheery little cranberry, once called craneberry, because its blossoms resemble a crane's head and neck, is not modest in its requirements. It demands low-lying land saturated with water; prefers acid peat or muck soil. There must be reservoirs to constantly feed thirsty fields through miles of radiating canals—to flood marshes quickly against killing frosts and as a measure of insect control, states a writer in Prairie Farmer. It must have winter protection. Just before heavy frosts covered; they lie snug through winter beneath a blanket of ice. They must have a blanket of sand, too, one inch thick atop the ice, to settle gently but firmly around vines in spring when the ice goes out to absorb heat and help keep frost away; to discourage weed growth; to give old runners a chance to re-root and thus renew the bog. Marshes are drained in the spring and from short mother vines new shoots creep. Buds swell and send out a short shoot upon which pink waxen blossoms bloom. When petals fall, tiny berries emerge to grow and plump. Slowly their color fades from green to creamy white; to coral pink, while the rare and vigorous flavor develops within. Gathered, dried and boxed, cooler weather turns the berries full flavored and a rich, ruby red.

Periscope Is Old
Johann Hevelius constructed the first periscope in 1637, his object being to provide armies with an instrument by means of which they could observe the enemy from cover, as, for instance, from a trench. He called it a "polemoscope" and it consisted of a field glass equipped with two plain mirrors inclined at an angle of 45 degrees. During the World war it was called a "trench-mirror." Rear row spectators use them at games and parades.

Fifth Avenue of Copenhagen
New York may have its Fifth avenue, Paris its Champs Elyse, Berlin its Unten der Linden, but Copenhagen, in Denmark, has its Stroget, the Stream, a twisting, winding, narrow little street through which you can saunter, for nobody walks or runs, in 20 minutes. It connects two important squares and is the center of the shopping district—artistic, cafe and pastry shopping.

Founded Ottawa, Canada
Nicholas Sparks, a young man from Woburn, Mass., founded Ottawa, capital city of Canada, early in the Nineteenth century, and one of the principal streets of the city bears his name. Ottawa is regarded as one of the most beautiful cities in the world and the parliament buildings are among the best examples of Gothic architecture.

James Minor Is Injured Again

BROWNWOOD. — Two Howard Payne backfield regulars are nursing injuries as the Yellow Jackets prepare this week for their game at Abilene Saturday with the Cowboys of Hardin-Simmons university. James Minor, the "Tahoka terror," has not recovered from a head injury received Thanksgiving day at Georgetown when the Jackets captured the Texas conference title with a 20-7 victory over Southwestern. Jack Price of Santa Anna received a severe ankle injury early in the same game. Price has probably been the best punter in the conference this season. The heaviest Howard Payne back at 190 pounds, he has been a valuable line plunger. Minor has been a flashy ball carrier. In scoring 36 points, he has averaged 35.5 yards on each of his six touchdown jaunts. He alternates in the backfield with Waymon Pilon, a Richland Springs high school product who now resides at McAllen. Wilson is tied with Minor for the scoring leadership on the team and has averaged 18 yards on each of his six touchdown runs. Other regulars are ready.

Draw-Redwine

Rural High School No. 1, better known as Draw-Redwine, blasted the lid off of the 1937-38 basketball race last week by playing the strong New Home lads at New Home. Although our boys lost by a wide margin many praises were heaped on them by their fine showing. Having just hung up their football uniforms, the Draw-Redwine representatives were a bit rusty in the fine art of handling the round ball but with a few more practice sessions Coach Green expects to have the locals in tip top form. This year's club is built around three Seniors who will be wearing the red and black for their last time. These three last year men are Florence, Hensley, and Jackson who have seen plenty of action on the maple floors of this county. Also supporting these will be Crawford, Truett Giles, Don Giles, Uzzle, Jones, and Holloway who like wise are not new to this indoor sport. The girls were also beaten by New Home but with a group of Freshmen and Sophomores to work with Coach Dodson feels confident that before the season ends his girls will be in the win column more often than in the lost slot. With the fine spirit that has been evident in the student body and with the community support, these boys and girls should bring many honors to 'Old Draw-Redwine High' during the current basketball season. Don't miss it folks—"Romance in a Boarding House!" A comedy in four acts presented by the high school students December 3 at Draw auditorium. This play will appeal to you because of its fun and laughter.

Civic Affairs Is Rotary Program

At the Rotary Club luncheon Thursday, Tom Garrard moved that steps be taken to adorn the town with Christmas lights and decorations and that a public Christmas tree be provided. The motion prevailed, and President Wynne Collier appointed J. O. Tinsley, W. Knight and Charles Walden to take the matter up with the business men. Deen Nowlin gave a brief discussion of city affairs but stated he could give more definite and valuable information a little later. Homer St. Clair discussed two matters of importance to the development of Tahoka. He hoped that some means could be found whereby our remaining ranch lands might be converted into farms, and that some adequate steps also might be taken soon for the establishment of a hospital in Tahoka.

Trucks Collide; Two Men Injured

Bud Davis of O'Donnell, driving an empty seed truck south, and a Brownfield man driving a Cosden oil and gasoline truck coming north, were each hurt painfully but not critically when their trucks sideswiped on highway No. 9 at the intersection in the highway at the lake seven miles south of Tahoka Thursday morning. The Cosden truck overturned and was badly damaged. The driver sustained a bad gash over one eye, another gash on the face, and numerous broken glass cuts of a minor nature. The seed truck was only slightly damaged and Mr. Davis, the driver, sustained only minor abrasions of the skin on the leg and arm. Investigation by highway patrol officers, we understand, fixed no blame on either driver.

"Good morning, have you had a nice rest?" the landlady asked her new lodger.
"No," was the reply. "your cat kept me awake."
"Oh," said the landlady. "I hope you are not going to ask me to have the poor thing destroyed?"
"Not exactly," said the mild little man. "but would you very much mind having it tuned?"—Tit-Bits Magazine.

THE WORLD AT ITS WORST By GUYAS-WILLIAMS

HOUSEHOLD QUESTIONS

Ripening Bananas.—Green bananas can be ripened by placing them in a paper bag and keeping them in a dark closet for a day or two.

Improving Vegetables.—Sugar, added in the proportion of a fourth of a teaspoon to two cups of vegetables, will improve the flavor of cooked corn, beets, peas and lima beans.

When Mending Gloves.—Slip a thimble on your finger when mending gloves and the darn can be made very easily.

That Breakfast Omelet.—That omelet will not fall if a pinch of powdered sugar and a pinch of cornstarch are added to the omelet mixture.

Manipulating Velvet.—The usual method of pressing seams, especially in velvet, is to get a second person to hold one end of the material while you hold the other. Flatten out the two sides of the seam, then pass the iron along on the wrong side.

Concerning Mirrors.—Never hang a mirror where it faces a glare of light. The back of the mirror should be protected so that no light or water could possibly enter.

Advertising Did It

In 1869, when advertising was almost unknown, the total value of manufactured products in the United States amounted to only $3,385,860,354. As a result of creating a demand through advertising the value of our manufactured products increased over a period of 69 years to a total of $70,434,863,443.

Your druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not thoroughly satisfied with the benefits obtained from the very first bottle. Creomulsion is one word—no two, and it has no hyphen in it. W. L. TUNNELL DIES SUDDENLY

That was 66 years ago. There, while a mere boy, he met and soon learned to love the little girl, Dora Moore, who afterwards became his wife. They were married on June 5, 1895.
Five children were born of this marriage, all of whom are still living except the oldest, Hansford, who died here about a year ago. The others are: Howard of Lovington, New Mexico, Charles of Houston, Roy of Tahoka, and Hythen, Mrs. W. L. Rowe, of Tahoka. All were here for the funeral except Charles, who was in New York City at the time of Mr. Tunnell's death. Besides the widow and four children, he also leaves nine grandchildren.

Other relatives in this county are Ben Moore of O'Donnell and Lit Moore of New Home and their families, the two men being brothers of Mrs. Tunnell.

Mr. Tunnell united with the Methodist Church at the age of 41, about the time he removed to this county. His membership for many years had been with the church at Draw. By his industry and thrift he acquired a competence for himself and family, and by his honesty, kindness, and consideration for the rights and feelings of others he gained the confidence and esteem of a wide circle of friends. It has been said of him that he never uttered an unkind word to any member of his own family.

Having come to Lynn county when it was strictly a ranch country, Mr. Tunnell has seen it develop into a great farming region, and he has been a vital factor in its development. In fact, he was possibly the first man that made a success of farming in this county.

It is no wonder that, in spite of the exceedingly busy season, hundreds of his friends quit the toils of life and crowded into the church Tuesday afternoon to pay their tributes of respect to this outstanding citizen who had been cut down so precipitately by the ruthless hand of Death.

Peace to his ashes!
