Old Winter Stages Comeback, And Brings Rain

Rain, Snow, And More Rain Put Soil In Fine Shape For Crop This Year

Following several weeks of warm, spring-like weather, Old Winter, during the past week, has been staging a return engagement.

The .77 inch of rain reported last week was followed by a snow of two or three inches which fell on Thursday night, netting about .20 of an inch of moisture. Practically all of this melted Friday, sinking into the soil where it fell.

A steady drizzle of rain was falling Thursday morning, and shortly before noon had turned to snow. Prospects were that there would be no let up soon.

The mercury dropped down to 17 Thursday night and several days of wintry weather followed.

On Sunday night the snow gods got busy again, and on Monday morning the earth was covered with a coat of approximately four inches of snow, and the mercury registered a low of 15. Most of this snowfall melted during the day Monday but a little of it still lay on the ground Tuesday. The moisture content of this fall was at least .30 of an inch.

The precipitation of moisture therefore since the first of last week has amounted to about 1.25 inches. It is not believed that much damage has been done by the cold weather, though the buds on many fruit trees were swelling and bursting when the first cold spell struck. The rainfall and the snow have been a very decided help to farmers. Much of the soil had been turned aiseady and was in fine condition to receive the moisture. The unploughed soil has been put in fine condition for turning and farming operations will now proceed even more rapidly than heretofore.

It is never safe to make crop or weather predictions at this time of year, but farmers have been given a good start by Old Man Weather and present prospects for the year are excellent.

C. E. Stice Dies At Home Of Sister

Death came Friday of last week to Edwin Stice of Roswell, New Mexico, at the home of his sister, Mrs. Melvin Hogg, who lives west of Tahoka. Mr. Stice was at various times a resident of Tahoka and was well known here, his parents being old timers here. He was the son of Mrs. Effie Stice, and had been here only a week at the time of his death. Members of the family thought that possibly the change of climate would benefit him, so they brought him here to care for him, but on Friday he passed away.

Charley Edwin Stice was born in Cheyenne, Oklahoma on April 6, 1904, and was almost 34 years old at the time of his death. His parents, who had been reared at Tahoka, removed to this place when he was four years old, and lived here two years when they again moved away. They again lived here in 1918 to 1921. On July 23, 1923, he was married to Miss Annie Hunter of Hobart, Oklahoma at that place. Of this union three sons were born, Paul Eugene, 12, Henry Lee, 9, Jimmy Allen, 6.

The body was taken to Lorenzo for burial, by Harris Funeral Home, where services were held in the cemetery by Reverend Cook, Baptist pastor there.

Besides his wife and children, Mr. Stice was survived by his mother, Mrs. Effie Stice of Tahoka, a paternal grandmother, Mrs. Brewer of Hamlin, three brothers, Bert, Monroe, and Russell of Tahoka and two sisters, Mrs. Joyce Riley of Lorenzo and Mrs. Hazel Hogg of Tahoka.

Judge G. E. Lockhart, who has been critically ill of pneumonia following a fall from a horse in a hospital, was said to be improving Thursday morning.

Miss Mildred Strader has returned to her home in Lubbock after spending a few days here visiting in the home of her sister, Mrs. Yates Harwell.

Civil Suits Heard In District Court Session This Week

Crop And Seed Loans Offered

Government crop and feed loans are again available to the farmers, both landlords and tenants, of Lynn county, according to A. L. Lockwood, chairman of the committee in charge of taking applications for such loans. Other members of the committee are C. C. Connolly and J. K. Applewhite.

The line-up for loans is practically the same this year as last. Landlords must sign waivers for tenants, and tenants may borrow up to $400.00.

The committee is now prepared to accept applications for these loans, Mr. Lockwood says.

Mrs. Tyne Smith Buried Tuesday

Funeral services were conducted at the Methodist Church here Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock for Mrs. Tyne W. Smith, 56, of the Redwine community, who died Monday afternoon at 2:25 in a Lubbock sanitarium. Mrs. Smith had been ill only a few days, death resulting from pneumonia.

Elder V. J. Lorange of Slaton conducted the funeral services and interment followed in the Tahoka cemetery under the direction of the Harris Funeral Home.

Mrs. Smith, whose maiden name was Bertha Clara Wilder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Wilder, was born and reared in central Texas, the date of the birth being January 19, 1882. She was married to Tyne W. Smith at Mart in McLennan county on August 13, 1906. Nearly twenty years later, in February, 1926, she removed with her husband and family to Lynn county, where she has resided since. She had been a resident of this county therefore almost exactly 12 years, during which time she had made many friends in Tahoka as well as her home community.

Deceased is survived by her husband and six children, the names of the children being as follows: Mrs. H. D. Eskew of Mart, Mrs. H. O. Gardner of Houston, G. C. Smith of Post, T. W. Smith of Fort Worth, Miss Ruth Smith and John Smith of the family home. Also surviving are her father, M. T. Wilder of Tahoka, and one brother, T. C. Wilder, whose residence was not known.

For long years Mrs. Smith had been a devoted member of the Primitive Baptist Church, her membership being with the Church in Tahoka since her removal to this county. She and her husband have been among the most faithful and active members of this church, and she was greatly loved and esteemed for her many Christian graces.

The News joins many friends in extending condolences to the bereaved husband and family.

BARNES-SPRUELL WEDDINGS READ

Miss Winifred Barnes and Clyde Spruell were married in Clovis, New Mexico, at the Baptist parsonage there on Sunday morning.

Miss Spruell is the daughter of Mrs. F. E. Barnes of Briscoe and is a graduate of the Briscoe high school. She is employed in the Evans cafe here. Mr. Spruell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Spruell of the Draw community, and is employed by the Phillips Petroleum Co. here. They will make their home in Tahoka.

Mrs. H. O. Perkins returned to her home at Celeste, Hunt county, Wednesday, after a week's visit here with her mother, Mrs. E. N. Weathers, and other members of the family. She was accompanied home by her mother, who will visit there several weeks.

Luke Riley of Uvalde is visiting the W. G. Allen family in the Wells community. Mr. Riley is an old-time T-Bar cowboy, and is said to have built one of the first gins in this section.

Two civil cases have occupied most of the time in district court here this week, although a number of cases have been disposed of one way or another.

On a plea guilty in each of two cases, terms of two years each, to run concurrently were given Kenneth Morrison, alias Burl Bruce, alias Gene Morrow, alias Lee Manning for passing forged instruments. The convicted man passed two checks, $48.00 each to Tahoka and O'Donnell business men.

On pleas of guilty, three men were convicted of driving while intoxicated. One was given 30 days in jail, fined $100, and had his drivers license suspended. Another was given a one year suspended sentence, with suspension of his drivers license for the same period of time. A third was given a one year sentence with suspension of his license for six months.

In the case of Mrs. Lena Duncan of Henderson against her daughter, Miss Bertha K. Duncan of Denton in which 100 acres of land was involved, the jury was unable to agree after deliberating the case from Tuesday afternoon until Wednesday noon. Trial started Monday on the case.

Wednesday and Thursday the court was hearing a suit brought by Clyde M. McDonald against Federal Underwriters Exchange for workman's compensation that McDonald claims is due him by reason of his having secured injuries while working for a construction company, which the Exchange protect, last spring.

Two other cases were settled without trial, two were disposed of locally on pleas of privilege, and one case was continued. A case for the settlement of the estate of Eva J. Lesure, deceased, was settled out of court.

Edwards Opening Implement House

A. P. and A. J. Edwards are preparing to open a new implement house in Tahoka for the sale and servicing of J. I. Case farm machinery. The firm will be known as the Edwards Implement Company.

A new sheet iron warehouse will probably be built to house the firm, but definite announcement will be made at an early date on this.

C. J. Williams of this city is the district agent for J. I. Case people and will assist in installing the new agency here.

Little Smith Boy Of Petty Is Dead

Douglas Smith, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Smith of the Petty community, died suddenly on February 10th. Mr. Smith told The News Wednesday. Burial was in the cemetery at Lubbock.

The little boy had gotten up and was playing around the room on the morning of Feb. 10th, when he was suddenly stricken with some malady, losing consciousness in only a few minutes. He was rushed to a Lubbock sanitarium, but died there in spite of efforts of doctors to save his life.

Besides the father and mother a 14-year old brother, Harley, and two sisters, Willetta, 13, and Irene age 4 months, survive.

FOUNDERS DAY OBSERVED BY P-T ASSOCIATION

G. M. Roberts, principal of the Lamesa Grade school, was the principal speaker at a night meeting of the Parent-Teachers Association last Thursday. About 125 patrons of the school were present. Mrs. J. K. Applewhite presided.

The program was opened with the singing of the PTA song by a group of grade school children. Then, Mr. Roberts spoke interestingly on the subject of PTA work.

A Founders Day program was presented by Meses. H. C. Story, V. F. Jones, Helen Eubanks, and W. G. Barrett, and Meses Tippit, Collier, Davis, Herring and Hayes, while a chorus of women's voices sang. Cake and punch were served.

For Representative

JOHN VICKERS, Lubbock

John Vickers Out For Representative

John Vickers, young Lubbock attorney, this week announces that he is a candidate for state representative from this, the 119th district.

Mr. Vickers, who lives five miles north of Lubbock, is the son of a well-known South Plains lawyer, J. E. Vickers, and junior member of the law firm of Vickers and Campbell, composed of his father and W. W. Campbell.

Mr. Vickers has lived in West Texas all his life. After graduation from Texas Tech, he did post graduate work for a time there in the Department of Agriculture, and then entered the University of Texas Law School, from which he received the LL. B. degree.

The candidate states that he hopes to meet all the voters of this large district that he possibly can before the July primary. In the meantime he asks that the voters give his candidacy consideration. He will announce his platform at a later date.

Livestock Auction Draws Big Crowd

Approximately 400 head of livestock were sold at the big livestock auction sale held at the Gagnat lots in Tahoka Tuesday by the Brownwood Livestock Sales Commission Co. with W. S. Galloway in charge.

As a result of the sale's success, another auction will be held here next Tuesday, and the company hopes to be able to hold such a sale here every two weeks, Mr. Galloway says.

Horse and mule buyers were present from Wichita, Kan., Kansas City, Mississippi, Tennessee, Louisiana and Arkansas, in addition to Texas, he told The News.

If the sale is made a permanent affair, it will bring much money to Tahoka.

Wayward Boys Are Taken To Home

Three boys pled guilty to theft in county court Monday and were sentenced to the state reformatory. Later the judgements were set aside and the cases were retried in district court. One boy, age ten, was committed with his two brothers to the Home for Delinquent and Neglected Children at Waco. His two sisters will be sent later when there is room for them. One boy, aged thirteen, was paroled to the custody of his parents and the other, aged thirteen, committed to the custody of a sister in Hobbs, New Mexico.

COOKING SCHOOL HELD HERE TUESDAY

Sixty-two women and girls were present at the cooking school conducted at the Legion Hall Tuesday afternoon by Miss Mary Alice Crosson, home service director of the West Texas Gas Company.

Mrs. Weldon Leslie of Dallas, formerly Miss Fern Aycox of Tahoka, is visiting this week in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Aycox. She arrived Thursday night in company with Mrs. Sue Robertson, who was returning from a visit in Dallas.

Interscholastic Meet Dates March 24-26

Gagnat Building New Store Fronts

Construction was started Monday on the new front for the Gagnat buildings between the English Theatre and Evans' Cafe. The new front will be of blue construction glass with white stucco above. The buildings, which belong to the McCormack heirs, will be redecorated on the interior also. One new building is under construction just north of Maasen Produce, making four buildings in all.

Several other business firms are said to be considering the improvement of their fronts.

A. M. Daniel Dies From Injuries

A. M. Daniel, 42, resident of Tahoka for about seven years, died in a Lubbock sanitarium Friday morning at 2:55 as a result of complications arising from injuries received when the car he was driving struck a truck in a heavy fog south of Tahoka last week.

Funeral services were conducted at the Methodist church in Tahoka at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, Rev. Ben Hardy officiating. The body was laid to rest in the Tahoka cemetery under the direction of the Harris funeral home.

Argus Marion Daniel was born at Annona, in Red River county, on November 18, 1896. He was married to Miss Lois Goodson at Texarkana on June 7, 1920. To this union one child was born, Argus Marion Jr. (Dan), who is now fifteen years old. Mr. Daniel came to Tahoka about seven years ago and his wife and son came about a year later to make this their home. Mr. Daniel was engaged in the cotton business.

Survivors other than the wife and sons are his mother, Mrs. L. E. Daniel of O'Donnell, two brothers, C. A. and E. B. Daniel, both of O'Donnell, and three sisters, Mrs. Tom Moore and Mrs. J. T. Hemingway of O'Donnell and Mrs. Ernest Goad of Stamford.

Others who attended from out of town were W. K. Goodson, brother of Mrs. Daniel, from Texarkana, Leonard Browning of Jayton, brother-in-law of Mrs. L. E. Daniel, L. F. Goad of Stamford, and Mrs. Harley Wells of Seagraves.

Pallbearers were Wiley Curry, Charles V. Nelms, Neely Brooks, and G. H. (Pat) Hines, Tahoka; and Travis Stuart and John Thompson Lubbock.

Oil Test May Be Nearing Lime

No. 1 Baldrige test, on the southwest quarter of section 151, H. E. & W. T. railway company survey, between Petty and New Home, has been shut down since Saturday at a depth of 4,030 feet. Drilling was expected to start again last night or this morning.

The well is reported to be "looking good," with a likelihood of the bit piercing the lime at almost any time.

Charles Gagnat leaves Monday for El Paso to stand physical examinations preparatory to entering West Point. Recently he was notified that he would not be required to stand mental and scholastic examinations, and if he passes the test at El Paso, nothing else will stand between him and entrance in this great school.

J. H. Edwards of Kilgore is here this week visiting his wife and other relatives and his friend, Judge G. E. Lockhart, who is critically ill in a Lubbock sanitarium. J. H. is connected with the Kilgore office of the State Railroad Commission.

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Slover are the parents of a nine pound boy born Wednesday morning at 4:00 a. m.

Contest Will Be Held In Tahoka Again This Year

At a recent meeting of the University Interscholastic League executive committee, it was decided that the county meet would be held at Tahoka, beginning Thursday night, March 24, and continuing through Saturday following.

The official program, as far as time for events is concerned, is the same as last year, with the exception of the fact that Tiny Tot Story Telling will be held at 10 a. m. Friday.

Preliminaries in debate will be held in Tahoka Saturday, March 19. Preliminaries in Tennis will be played in quadrants Friday, March 18. Winners in each quadrant will continue at Tahoka during the time of the county meet. New Lynn, O'Donnell, T-Bar, and Tahoka were selected as quadrant centers for tennis.

Class champions will be determined in volleyball at the county meet. A county champion will be determined the week following.

In playground ball only class champions will be determined. In some schools local eliminations in playground ball will be necessary because no school system will be allowed to enter more than one team of boys and one of girls in each high school and ward. The 14-inch "inseam" regulation ball will be used in all contests.

An amount in excess of one hundred dollars has been collected locally for the expenses of this meet. Cups, banners and ribbons will be awarded again. It will be an honor and a pleasure to citizens of Tahoka to have as our guests for this occasion probable more than two thousand contestants and patrons. A complete and official program will be carried in the Lynn County News at an early date.

W. G. BARRETT, Director General.

Baptists Planning Church Program

(By Geo. A. Dale, Pastor)
The First Baptist Church of Tahoka will have an all-day program and lay the cornerstone for the new church building the fourth Sunday in March. A program for the day is being arranged and some prominent speakers and musicians will be here for the occasion. Chuck wagon lunch will be served at the church. Old friends and former members of the church and former pastors will be present. An invitation will also be extended all Tahoka people and their friends from everywhere to attend.

The program for the day will appear in this paper soon. The day will, no doubt, be one of the most outstanding days in the history of the church.

The Baptist Church greatly appreciates the splendid co-operation given and every contribution made in helping them to finance this worthy project. A list of all these contributors with the amounts will be given in the Lynn County News of March 25, a copy of which will be put in the archives of the cornerstone. If you have not made your contribution, you are urged to do so now, as they would be glad to have your name included in this list.

This is an invitation to the other churches of Tahoka to join in the big program of March 27th. Watch the papers for other announcements.

Bervin Caswell Is On Honor Roll

Bervin Caswell, senior at McMurry College, Abilene, has made the scholastic honor roll for the first semester with a total of 54 points. Mr. Caswell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Caswell, Route 2, Tahoka, is a graduate of Draw high school.

Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Kemp and Simeon of Post were guests in the J. K. Applewhite home Sunday.

HITLER'S AUSTRIA COUP

Forces Schuschnigg to Put Nazis in His Cabinet . . . Further Demands Expected . . . Other Nations Alarmed

Senator Ellison D. Smith of South Carolina is here pictured as he expounded his views on the farm bill. "Cotton Ed," who is chairman of the senate agricultural committee, said congress should provide a billion and a half to finance the farm program, instead of the half billion to which the cost is now limited.

Edward W. Pickard SUMMARIZES THE WORLD'S WEEK

Schuschnigg Gives In

REICHSMUEHRER HITLER, massing 20 divisions of the German army and presenting what were euphemistically termed powerful arguments, forced Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg of Austria to reorganize his cabinet and give several places to Austrian Nazis.

Complete amnesty for all Nazi prisoners in Austrian jails was immediately decreed, and the Austrian press was forbidden to print hostile criticism of the Nazi regime in Germany.

But Hitler was not satisfied with this, and called to Berlin the new minister of the interior, Dr. Arthur von Seyss-Inquart, a Nazi, to discuss further extension of the "conquest" of Austria.

Italian officialdom was highly pleased with the success of Hitler's coup, saying it accorded with Italy's central European policy and tended to solidify the Rome-Berlin alignment.

Great Britain and France, however, were alarmed by the developments and agreed to lodge joint representations in Berlin and Vienna asking assurance that Hitler intends to preserve Austrian independence.

One London correspondent said the British cabinet had just been informed that Hitler and Mussolini had formed a new secret defensive alliance of which the Austro-German arrangement was only a part.

With the start he has made, it may be expected that Hitler before very long will make the move against Czechoslovakia that has been anticipated for months.

One observer said, "the Fuehrer seems to have started on the road to Bagdad."

Jap Refusal Starts Race

JAPAN having flatly refused to reveal her naval building plans, it is believed that the greatest navy construction race ever seen is about to start, and the United States may feel called upon to take the lead, with England, France and Japan in the competition.

The President may be expected to order increase of the three battleships now planned from 35,000 tons each to 43,000 or 45,000 tons, and such dreadnaughts probably would carry 18-inch guns.

In order to obviate the restrictions on the size of battleships that inhere in the width of the Panama canal locks and to minimize the contingency of interruption of coast-to-coast communication through destruction of a Panama lock by an enemy, the administration is preparing to push the project of a canal through Nicaragua.

Congressmen who fear the President is piloting the nation into war with Japan made probably futile moves to prevent our government from joining in the rearmament race.

Though Secretary Hull had denied that there was any understanding with Great Britain and France concerning Japan, opponents of the administration were still suspicious that it was planning joint action.

Roosevelt said in a press conference that the United States never will consent to Japan's aims for navy parity. He said that in the opinion of experts the American national defense can not rely on a naval establishment designed to defend only one of the country's two coasts.

Wallace Gets Busy

PLANS for putting the new farm program into immediate effect were announced by Secretary Wallace, to whom the law just enacted gives increased powers to control production through acreage allotments and to regulate marketing by quotas for individual farmers.

He said he would soon make acreage and production allocations and call for a referendum on marketing quotas for cotton and tobacco.

Marketing quotas will be more effective unless rejected by more than one third of the farmers voting in the referendum to be held before March 15.

The secretary announced a six-point program embodying the "basic principles" of the broadened farm policy as follows:

- 1. Continuation of the AAA soil conservation program as a part of the permanent farm policy.
2. National acreage allotments for corn, cotton, wheat, tobacco and rice at levels designed to meet domestic consumption and export demands and establish reserve supplies.
3. Federal loans to encourage systematic storage of surpluses in big crop years for use in years of shortage.
4. Marketing quotas backed by penalties on sales in excess of quotas to secure general participation of farmers in holding surpluses off the market.
5. Release of corn supplies from storage under marketing quotas to meet farm shortages or in the case of national need.
6. Crop insurance for wheat to protect producers against drought and consumers against high prices resulting from shortages.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK... By Lemuel F. Parton

NEW YORK.—In 1929, at the age of seventy-one, Frederick H. Prince, the Boston banker, was still playing polo. He has great faith in the durability of men, institutions and governments, as long as they behave themselves.

He left for Europe to forget about business for a while and intimates that it would be a good thing if the government would be similarly neglectful.

Time Better Than Reform for Business — Washington should stop trying to reform business and leave the situation to time," he says.

Time has treated him nicely and he may well give it a testimonial. At seventy-nine, he is the grand seigneur of American business.

SEEN and HEARD around the NATIONAL CAPITAL By Carter Field

Washington.—A horde of mediocre, irresponsible, yet well-dressed and smug people is an unnatural sight to behold. For, outside of Washington, men and women are known by their looks.

The stamina of the laborer is written in his weathered face and on his hard hands. How the banker gets his living shows in his prudent eye.

The store girl's ability to endure monotony and an ill-mannered public is told by her weary smile.

The preacher, the tinker lounge gambler, the petty thief, the college professor—all look their ability to make their way.

But in Washington, as nowhere else, you see the dull, unworried tax leeches by tens of thousands, smug in futile security.

From half past three on, just as the workers in competitive life are buckling down to make hay of the day's effort, the capital crowd swarms out of its marble palaces, gaily jamming the poky street cars and two-bit taxis.

Heading for cocktail lounges or more hours of indolence at home. If it's winter they're muffled up in woollens and furs.

In summer they're arrayed in white linens, marred only on the seats by chair varnish melted in the capital's steamy heat.

Massed faces show not a trace of the alert concern that marks men and women who sail under their own steam.

Along miles of corridors in the Departments of Commerce, Agriculture, Interior, Post Office, you see them going through the motions of work earlier in the day.

But much of the work is mere motion, for by gesture and voice the worker reveals that it doesn't matter much whether the task turns out good or bad.

Many don't even make motions; they lean back in swivel chairs, powder their noses, or sit staring at the electric clock.

When the gong rings they spill out of the buildings like gravel from a dump truck.

Not All Are Drones — How many of these jobs are necessary to the nation's welfare nobody knows.

Probably more than half are justifiable, maybe three-quarters. But generally speaking two out of three of the jobs could be held down by any bright person who wanted to try.

The workers are not sought for the jobs; the jobs are piled up for the workers. Every five or six people must support one for government.

Nothing will be done about it. But there are happy exceptions in this city of drones.

Most congressmen, doubt it or not, are fairly devoted to toil. The post office superintendent of air mail, for example, works like a masher dog.

The chairman of the maritime commission is a demon for labor and he keeps the whole outfit on its toes. A young fellow in the machinery division of commerce drives ahead just as he would in a private firm—or get fired.

can be realized. A mighty effort will be made in the latter part of this session of congress to enact it into law.

Unorganized Labor

For after all, only a small percentage of American labor is organized and able to demand high wages through collective bargaining.

The rest are scattered, helpless and unable to make themselves heard. Families by thousands subsist on such weekly incomes as $14, $18, $25.

Mr. Roosevelt and his followers contend that people living in such conditions are not of much use to society and are not good customers for business.

Why has the wage-hour bill made no progress? Because only the administration is fighting for it.

Industry is against such a law because it fears the government, given an inch, would take a mile and clamp more irons to its leg.

The C. I. O. and A. F. of L. say they are for it, but they do nothing. Bargaining for labor is their particular business, and they don't want the government muscling in.

The South put up the bitterest fight of all, because it pays as low as ten and fifteen cents an hour and thinks its small industries would go broke paying 40 cents.

Besides the administration, of course, the millions of common workers want a minimum wage.

They can vote, and it would seem that congress would respond to them. But congress responds precisely as pressure is brought to bear.

And the lower third, which Mr. Roosevelt says is ill-fed, ill-clothed and ill-housed, can't afford to hire lobbyists and print propaganda.

If the President and his supporters can enact a 40-40 wage-hour law they can hoist their banner, stack arms, and wait for the morning sun to show what manner of country they have captured.

Take Up Dirigibles

Next summer another German airship, much like the giant Hindenburg which burned 36 people to death at Lakehurst, N. J., last May, will cross to the United States.

Its first passengers back to Europe will be a few adventurers willing to risk anything for a thrill.

In time a second German ship will enter the transatlantic service. If no accidents befall, more and more travelers will blimp the Atlantic.

Meanwhile the United States failed dismally in lighter-than-air pioneering. Why? While Germany studied lighter-than-air as a distinct science, this country treated it merely as a sideline for the navy.

Critics say we sent sailors, not aeronauts, aloft in our dirigibles. That is why we came to grief.

If our ships had been owned by private interests, depending on successful enterprise for earnings and reputation, we would have done better.

For certainly it cannot be assumed that the Germans have some supernatural knowledge or secret formula. No, the critics say, the Germans just worked hard at the job, that's all.

Ask Financial Help — Right now three or four American companies are asking this government for financial assistance in building airships.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

By REV. HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, Dean of the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago, © Western Newspaper Union.

MEASURING A MAN'S WORTH

LESSON TEXT—Mark 5:1-17. GOLDEN TEXT—How much then is a man of more value than a sheep?—Matthew 12:12.

PRIMARY TOPIC—A Man Who Went Home Well. JUNIOR TOPIC—What Is a Man Worth? INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What Am I Worth? YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Putting People Before Profit.

Awful is the scene that meets us as we go with our Lord across the sea of Galilee and draw up to the shore of the country of the Gadarenes.

Distressing beyond words is the plight of the man who is under the power of a legion of the demons of Satan; inspiring is the assurance that Christ is victor over the devil and his hosts; soul-searching is the disappointing picture of the men as they evaluate their brother's spiritual need over against personal gain.

The same mighty conflict between the two great spiritual kingdoms, of good and evil, God and Satan, goes on in our day. Jesus Christ is still "greater . . . than he that is in the world" (I John 4:4).

Equally true is it that we must each one of us choose what is to be our attitude toward the conflict, and especially toward the Christ.

I. The Power of Satan (vv. 1-5). Foolish men sometimes speak boldly about Satan as though he were only a weakling, or perchance but a creature of legend.

The devil, who is but one being, operates through many evil spirits, or demons. They are everywhere active, and it appears from Scripture that they seek a physical body through which they may function.

Demon-possession, which was so common in our Lord's day, still exists, especially on the mission field. There are some who believe that the almost unbelievable cunning and brazen wickedness of modern gangsters is an expression of demonic control.

The text graphically portrays what becomes of a poor soul who has gotten into the clutches of Satan. It is a dark and terrifying picture known to us even in this year of 1938. But, thank God, there is a way of deliverance.

II. The Victory of Christ (vv. 6-13). The command of Jesus (v. 8) evidently preceded the cry of the demons (v. 7). Notice that the demon who hated our Lord had no doubts about His being the Son of God. They knew Him. How strange it is that many voices that deny His deity come from the pulpit, the professor's chair, or over the radio, in the name of Christianity!

The demons knew His power, also, for though they adored Him not to torment them, they realized that they must obey His command to "come out of the man." They asked permission to enter the swine.

III. The Perversity of Man (vv. 14-17). The keepers of the swine fled to tell the owners. They and others came to see what had happened.

They saw the demonic seated, clothed and in his right mind, "and they greatly rejoiced and magnified the name of the Lord." Did they? No, indeed! "They were afraid" (v. 15), "and they began to pray him to depart" (v. 17).

Why were they afraid? Two reasons are suggested. In the first place they wanted no spiritual activity that would interfere with their business. Swine were of more value in their sight than the liberation of demon-possessed men.

They have their successors in our day. Such are the men who rent their buildings for taverns and dance halls because they want money. Akin to them are those who counsel against the expenditure of money to keep the church open, the Sunday school operating, and for the sending of missionaries into fields white unto harvest.

A tract entitled "Suppose" asks the pertinent and searching question, "Suppose I were offered $10,000 for every soul I led to Christ; would that impel me to do more than I now do because of the constraining love of Christ?"

Another reason for their fear was that they did not want to be disturbed in their state of spiritual somnolence. Someone has said that the reason the church of our day does not have a revival is because it doesn't want it. If revival fires began to burn crooked things would have to be made straight, worldliness would have to be put away, the pursuit of money would have to be set aside while men sought souls.

Careful Planning — Just the difference in the way the two men use their heads makes the difference in the way they conduct their business. Misdirected, systemless work will make any business management ineffective, while careful planning, simple, effective system, will aid even moderate ability to accomplish vast results.

Repentance — To grieve over sin is one thing, to repent is another.—Robertson.

DORIS DENE'S COLUMN

Daughter's Sacrifice Won't Make Devoted Parents Happy.

DEAR DORIS DENE: I am nineteen and for two years have tried to help my parents who are in financial need. I have not been successful as my job just about supports me. Now I am offered marriage by a much older man. He seems to love me. I have nothing for him but respect and some affection. He can give me everything I need and also make life different for my father and mother. They are my chief worry in life. We are a very devoted family.—Anne H. F.

ANSWER—You can't make a devoted family happy and comfortable through your own unhappy marriage. And no girl of nineteen can marry an older man she does not love and escape much disillusionment and heart-ache before she is through.

Other girls have tried the experiment you propose to make. It's gone well for a while. The devoted daughter in a glow of gratitude to the man who is helping to give her family the comforts they need believes herself to be happy. For a few months she is contented merely to know that her people are being taken care of. Relief from an ever-present worry makes her spirits soar and causes her to believe that she has found life's truest happiness.

But in another few months some of her exultation dies down. Even the most self-sacrificing girl in the world begins to want a happiness more personal than that offered by the spectacle of her parents' well-being. As she learns to accept the fact that the wolf is now established permanently at a respectful distance from the door of the ancestral mansion so her joy in this fact diminishes and her demand for another kind of happiness begins.

It is then that she begins to criticize the man she has married; to realize that she can never love him—and that for her first blind delight in sheer material comforts, she would never have been able to stand him. All his faults are magnified in her eyes. Even gratitude cannot keep her from expressing her unfavorable opinions bluntly. Because she is not in love she cannot make her benefactor happy. And he shortly comes to know the bitterness of being unwanted except for his money—while his young inexperienced wife struggles desperately to conceal her distaste for an unloved spouse.

The result is sordid domestic misery. And it is inconceivable that the parents of the self-sacrificing daughter can find pleasure or happiness in the comforts which have been given at the cost of their child's happiness.

DEAR MISS DENE: I am eighteen and am in love with a boy of whom my parents do not approve because of his nationality and religion. He is wealthy and gives me a very good time. Should I break off with him to please my parents? I now see him every day. I enjoy reading your column every day.—D. G.

ANSWER—No good running around with the boy if you have to do it on the sly. That kind of romance never made for permanent happiness. The sly date may give you a romantic thrill but it doesn't give you the faintest chance to know and understand the boy you're going with.

On the other hand it would be a pity if you broke up a nice friendship simply because your hero happened to be of a different race and creed from yourself.

Why not compromise with father and mother? Ask them for a square deal. Ask that you be allowed to entertain the unwelcome guest in your own home, under the parental eye. Perhaps if your fond parents had an opportunity to know your beau ideal they might appreciate some of his good points.

Dancing M.: It's not a question of ethics, my girl, just a case of plain bad manners.

Nobody has invented any laws yet to cover the conduct of a young lady who has been escorted to a dance by a beau she doesn't care a hang about. The whole question is just a matter of personal opinion—and personally I think you behaved very badly.

If you use a man as an entrance ticket to a dance, you might accord him the same courtesy you would show to the keeper of the zoo when he gives you the special privilege of going inside the monkey-house for a few minutes. That's all I claim.

It is simply good taste to show, occasionally during an evening, that you recognize the boy who brought you to the dance, and who paid for the taxi and who will probably have to take you home. It is definitely not unreasonable of the lad to demand one dance with the fair lady whom he mistakenly supposed wanted him to be her escort for the evening.

If you persist in your rather casual treatment of swains, Dancing M., you'll find that your popularity with the stag-line will be of no use to you, since no practical minded man will bear the expense of escorting you to the dance where the stags are at play.

CHAPTER XV

Joyce sprang from bed, ran to a great rosewood wardrobe and snatched out her polo coat. As she slipped into it there came a knock on the door. Dirk opened. Don Jorge entered, led by Leonardo and closely followed by Lu and Adan. "You don't have to tell me what it was, Maxie," said Joyce. "Let's go to the roof."

Dirk and Leonardo, one on each side, fairly lifted Don Jorge along and presently the whole party emerged into the light of a late moon, climbing almost darkly into a star-spangled sky. They gathered in a huddle against the front parapet and waited in expectant silence. "It's foolish to stand so close together," remarked Arnaldo presently, and as he spoke there came a flash, another boom, but no howling shell—only an earth-shaking thud and then an opaque column of dust where the flash had shown.

Silence again—a long silence, broken at last by Don Jorge. "Tell me, somebody, what you saw; I heard, but for the love of heaven, give me eyes." "Let me speak," said Dirk. "Of course you know it's artillery, Maxie, but I can tell you more than that. It's howitzers—a battery of them—firing from the bottom of the barranca. Since the elevation even of a howitzer has certain inexorable limits, the first shell passed over us and the second—the one you just heard—hit the lip of the gorge. It's my bet there won't be another fired before daylight."

"Why not?" asked Don Jorge. "Because Dorado has to do one of two things, both of them difficult. He must either move the guns farther away along the bed of the barranca or remove the wheels to get a sharper angle, and dropping the carriage is a tedious operation."

"You know a great deal for one too young to have been in the war," said Don Jorge, comforted. "Plattsburg," murmured Dirk. He was interrupted by a carbine volley resulting in a splatter of bullets against the wall beneath them. They retreated in haste, all but Leonardo who hurried to the southern bastion to direct a counter offensive. Safe below, Joyce drew Dirk aside.

"Things look black, Dirk, and there's nobody I want to talk to but you—not even Maxie and certainly not Adan. Artillery, cannon—the one thing I can't answer!" "It's a tough one," admitted Dirk. "I felt so sure," mourned Joyce; "now I feel helpless and a fool." Suddenly she lifted her eyes to his face. "By the way, that bit about the battery of howitzers. Who told you? How did you know?"

"I guess you're no fool after all," said Dirk; "nothing gets past you." He took out the ambassador's letter and handed it to her. "Read that, Joyce; and it's bad news for me any way you take it. If I stay I'll have a black mark against me the rest of my life; if I desert you I'm a skunk—I'd smell in my own nostrils."

Joyce glanced through the letter, then read it again, word by word, phrase by phrase, the color in her cheeks steadily heightening. Her breath began to come quickly; suddenly she crushed the paper into a ball and held it in her closed fist as her wide eyes stared through Dirk and the wall beyond.

"Joyce, oh, Joyce," he begged, "don't take it like that! I'll write him, I'll—"

"Write to whom?" she interrupted sharply. "The ambassador, of course." "The ambassador?" said Joyce. "Oh, that! Why, I wasn't even thinking of your part of it. Onelia," she breathed, "General Onelia!" Her brows gathered in a tight frown.

"Onelia wasn't minister of war when he sent me down here—ordered Pancho to drop me into the lion's den, and then clear out! There's something crooked, something I don't understand. Listen, Dirk, there's a perfectly good flivver, as you know, the other side of the barranca. I have the key to it. Tomorrow—today since it's almost dawn—you and I are going to Mexico City."

"You're crazy!" cried Dirk. "How are we going to cross the barranca—fly?" "We'll ride around it—ten miles down and ten back." "While Dorado and his men twiddle their thumbs?" "Stop!" cried Joyce, her blue eyes almost black. "If you can't help, keep your mouth—Oh, Dirk, darling, I'm sorry. But our horses are faster—so much faster. Doesn't that make a difference? Doesn't it? There must be a way—there must!"

"Sweetheart, I was nearly a skunk, and now I'm surely a rat! But don't worry; I'm cured. Take a bath, eat, change into your riding togs. I'm off to sock a feed of oats into the horses."

"I love you when you talk like that," said Joyce. "I'm glad to promise I'll do exactly as you say except I must see Maxie first." Dirk was on his way before the words were out of her mouth and she turned into Don Jorge's study. "Maxie, there's a chance the guns won't get the range of the house at all. Even if they do, the one thing to look out for is fire. Fortunately there's lots of water and plenty of people to carry it. Do you think there's any reason I should stay?"

"Reason?" repeated the blind man, bewildered and a little shocked by what sounded like a threat of desertion. "No, senorita; it is well you should withdraw from danger."

"It?" gasped Joyce, "I withdraw from danger? Maxie, are you trying to make me laugh?" Color swept into Don Jorge's cheeks and his sightless eyes watered at the corners. "Ah, chica, my beloved child, forgive a blind man for his mistake. Where is it you intend to go?" "Mr. Van Suttart and I will start for Mexico City as soon as it's light enough to see."

Adan Arnaldo, who had scarcely listened and was sitting with head straightened and rose to his feet. "You're going to be terribly disappointed. You don't ride very well, and besides, there are only two horses fast enough to do the trick. Of course it will have to be a race of wits and speed between us and Dorado's outfit."

Don Jorge shook his head doubtfully. "Too far," he muttered. "Toluca is too far. You don't know our campsinos; they won't have to ride, they could walk you down."

Joyce hesitated whether to mention the flivver; out of consideration for Adan, poor exile, she decided not.

"You'll have to leave it to us, Maxie," she said finally. "We'll surely find a way."

"Even so," said Don Jorge, "I don't understand. Say you do reach the city, what then?"

Again Joyce hesitated before she answered. "Maxie, by the ambassador's letter to Mr. Van Suttart, we know General Onelia has become minister of war."

"Onelia," murmured Don Jorge, frowning; then he cried out, "Onelia!" "Yes," said Joyce; "perhaps—perhaps—" She stopped, her lips trembling.

Arnaldo moved forward and something in his pose seized her attention. Most men she had known threw up their heads when they came to some crucial decision, but not Adan—his sank between his shoulders. "It is good you should try to get to Mexico City, but don't go blind. Margarita Fonseca, General Onelia—you think you know them, eh?"

"Why, of course," said Joyce, but the sudden doubt in her eyes belied her words.

"No, no," said Adan. "I'll tell you. Together those two arrange to have Dorado driven out from La Barranca—yes. You think it is for you, but they leave you all alone, abandon you. Why? To make trouble for my friend, General Sebastiano, minister of war. It was almost certain you would get killed, but no matter to them. Even without getting killed it seems you've made enough trouble to put that old fox Onelia into Sebastiano's shoes."

"Oh!" gasped Joyce, cheeks and eyes flaming. "how I see it all! Thanks, Adan; you've cleared up the one point that was bothering me. Oh, I'll get even—I'll—" She broke off and her face, so illumined by emotion, hardened to a look of determination. "I need a cold bath. I've got to dress, eat." She hurried from the room.

The horses were saddled, Joyce and Dirk ready, but with the break of day came heartbreaking disappointment. It was Leonardo who brought the bad news. Descending from the ramparts he reported that Dorado's following had almost doubled overnight. That wasn't the worst of it; secure by reason of their numbers for the first time their riders had dared pass to the northern side of the barranca. Here was the picture: straight out from the eastern gate was the great ditch with the rope bridge gone and the howitzers, temporarily silenced, in its depths. Beyond—near and yet so far—was Pancho's abandoned flivver. What need had Dorado to guard that section? None. Had his men stayed on the south side, as had been their invariable custom, faster horsemen might have ridden around them, but he had been too clever. They had deployed on the near side of the chasm in two broad fans, well out of range, almost three miles to the east and west of the hacienda. There they waited like vultures for the moment when fire or ruin should drive its inmates into the open. Dirk turned away, not caring to see what must be in Joyce's eyes.

"Well," he murmured, "I guess the game is up."

"Wait," said Joyce. "Come here, Dirk. Come quite close, so nobody else will hear. Look in my eyes, Dirk. How far can a horse jump?" He stared at her and the longer he looked the more did a bar of steel seem to form between her eyes and his. "I don't remember the record, Joyce," he said quietly, "but it's well over the width of the barranca at the spot where the bridge used to be. Shall I help you up?"

"Please," said Joyce. He bent his knee and she mounted Rayo; an instant later he was astride Tronido. They tried to walk the horses across the great court and through the zaguan, but the mysterious seismograph of sympathy between horse and rider made the beasts toss their heads and mince sidewise toward the gate. Adan Arnaldo came running after them.

"Where are you going? What do you think you're doing?" "Never mind, Adan," said Joyce. "Open the eastern gate, will you?" "No!" shouted Arnaldo. Joyce turned to Tobalito and raised her skirt. "Open the gate!" she commanded. "Open!" He obeyed; the bar tumbled and one leaf swung back. Joyce was the first to rush through, Dirk hard at her heels; already they were at a full gallop—a near bolt. "Joyce!" he fairly screamed. "Stop! It isn't fair! For God's sake, Joyce, give the horses a chance!"

For the first time he laid quirt to Tronido. The gallant beast took it well. Seeming to sense what was wanted, he laid belly to ground and drew level on the right of Rayo just as the barranca came into full view. That was all Dirk asked. He began to ride Joyce off, slowly at first then with firmer pressure. Now they were galloping in a wide circle, giving the horses and themselves opportunity to steady down. Dirk could talk and be heard.

"You're being a little stupid, dear, aren't you? Perhaps not a horse, but a bullet can. What shall I do with Rayo?"

Boulder Dam's Waters Effacing Old Salt Mine That Thrived as Far Back as 500 A. D.

Waters of Lake Mead, slowly piling up behind Boulder dam, are wiping out an industry which thrived as far back as 500 A. D., writes a Las Vegas, Nev., United Press correspondent.

The old St. Thomas salt mine, with its mountain of salt 300 feet high, said by scientists to have been worked by Pueblo Indians as early as the start of the Fifth century, is disappearing. Residents are wondering if the great pile of salt will contaminate the waters to any extent.

Several years ago the salt mine attracted scientists from afar when evidences were discovered that man, in the dawn of history, had engaged in industry there. Digging tools, fashioned from rocks tied together with leather thongs, were dug up. They proved, said archeologists, that the mine was the base of one of the principal workings of the Pueblo Indians who inhabited the territory from about 500 A. D. until about 1200 A. D.

The more modern history of the mine started in the first of the Bonelli family, emigrating from Switzerland, settled in the St. Thomas section and became influential in its development.

There the Bonellis, according to old timers, organized the Virgin River Salt company and operated the mine and a salt mill for many years. Finally the Virgin River company died, and the mine was worked intermittently by residents of the area. During the last few years thousands of tons of salt have been taken out.

The old mine lies at the base of the salt mountain, but the rising waters of Lake Mead have covered the road over which thousands of tons have been hauled through fourteen centuries.

Shouting From Post to Post to Relay Messages Until about 60 years ago, almost no use was made, for the purposes of communication at a distance, of the simplest, most direct, and most effective medium for the expression and transmission of thought—the human voice.

True, it is recorded that when the Persians invaded Greece, in 480 B. C., they established a line of sentinels who, by shouting from post to post, relayed messages between Athens and Susa in 48 hours. The ancient Gauls used a similar communication system for military purposes. Alexander the Great is said to have employed a gigantic speaking trumpet which could project the voice a distance of 12 miles. Other devices similar to the megaphone, and still others following the principle of the speaking tube, have been used from time to time.

But all of these were relatively ineffective in extending the normal range of the voice. Not until the invention of the telephone, in 1876, was the spoken word set free from the limitations of distance.

MOMENTOUS EVENTS ARE OCCURRING IN EUROPE

Portentous events have been transpiring in Europe the past few days. Just what the outcome will be nobody knows.

In a three hours speech Sunday Chancellor Adolph Hitler put the world on notice that Germany has great ambitions and proposes to effect great changes in her own national status speedily.

Under his leadership Germany will seek to greatly extend her boundaries. She is dreaming of expansion and power and riches, of regained colonies and a far-flung empire. In fact, Hitler is determined to make Germany the dominant power in Europe if not in the entire world. That is virtually what he told the listening millions Sunday.

All this clearly explains his recent startling performances.

Two or three weeks ago he made himself absolutely secure and supreme in Germany by taking personal command of the army.

Then he dropped over into Austria and laid his heavy hand upon the internal affairs of that country. He demanded the appointment of his own Nazi supporters to certain positions of power in the Austrian government. His demands were promptly heeded.

Sunday he gave notice that the 10 million Germans living outside the present boundaries of the German government—in Austria and Czecho-Slovakia, practically—were under his protection and that further adjustment of their status should be expected. He forgot, however, to assure independence to Austria.

It is believed that this is the beginning of a relentless campaign to unite Germany, Austria, Czecho-Slovakia, and at least a part of Poland under the German flag.
When that is done, it is believed that he will push on eastward and southward and include practically all of central and eastern Europe, not including Russia, within his domain.

Obviously speaking chiefly for the benefit of Great Britain, he thundered that Germany would not be satisfied until the colonies—which she lost at the close of the World War were restored to her. This means that Germany will take them by force if force become necessary.

In this connection he boasted of the military and naval strength of Germany. He said that Germany does not want to fight but is not afraid to fight. He criticized the great Democracies of the world and especially showed a hostile attitude toward Great Britain. He declared relentless war upon the communism of Russia and emphasized his alliance with Italy and Japan to stamp out this menace.

On the same day that he was making this combative speech, defying Great Britain and all other unsympathetic powers, Premier Neville Chamberlain of the British cabinet took a most sensational step to bring about friendlier relations between his own country and the German government, as well also as the Italian government. He forced the resignation of Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, who had been hostile to the Hitler and Mussolini governments.

This action almost precipitated a crisis in the British parliament Monday but the crisis passed when Chamberlain announced that since Eden's resignation, Mussolini had already promised to withdraw Italian troops from Spain, and the course of events in London seems to have spread oil on the troubled waters of Germany and Continental Europe.

So, the probabilities are that Germany will be permitted to greatly extend her boundaries and to reclaim her colonies, and thus again become a great world empire.

It is hoped that when this is accomplished, the German people, who are a great people, will then dethrone their dictator and re-establish constitutional and democratic government in Germany, re-establish freedom of speech, freedom of the press, freedom of religious worship, and the right of trial by jury.

O. O. McIntyre, who died recently, was a great newspaper columnist.
We know, because a lot of newspaper big-wigs like Charley Guy and Amon G. Carter say so. Personally, we were never able to see anything to his stuff. Occasionally we tried rarely succeeded in sticking it through. Guess we are not sufficiently sophisticated. We certainly were not interested in the frothy nothings about New York and its night life and so many of the other frivolous things that McIntyre wrote about. We reserve our flowers for the living. We think that Claude Callan, who also runs a column in the Star-Telegram, has McIntyre skinned in a thousand ways. He has the knack of wrapping up a lot of homely philosophy in a bit of humor which makes his column very human and very readable. We wouldn't give a half dozen little paragraphs of Callan's product for a whole mail-sack full of McIntyres'. Flowers for the living.

Strength During MIDDLE LIFE

Strength is extra-important for women going through the change of life. Then the body needs the very best nourishment to fortify it against the changes that are taking place.

In such cases, Cardui has proved helpful to many women. It increases the appetite and aids digestion, favoring more complete transformation of food into living tissue, resulting in improved nutrition and building up and strengthening of the whole system.

Senator Bob Stewart of Fort Worth is offering himself as a candidate for railroad commissioner.
Mr. Stewart is one of the really worthy and capable men of Texas.
He has had experience in many fields of public service that has given him a broad acquaintance with the problems of this state. He has served as district attorney at Fort Worth. He has served as state senator in Austin. He has served as one of the board of directors of the Texas Technological College and is now serving as a member of the board are regents of the state teachers colleges of Texas. He is a graduate of the teachers college at Canyon and of the law department of the University of Texas. He is a man of the highest character. We believe that he would make an able and conscientious member of the state railroad commission. Mr. Terrell has served a long time as a member of this body and has doubtless served well, but the time has come when the people probably would like to make a change. If so, they could probably not find a better man for the place than Bob Stewart.

We don't know of anybody in this country that wants war with any other nation on the face of the globe. We are very sure that nearly all of us would do anything reasonable to avoid war. Furthermore, we do not think that any other nation wants war with us. But nobody knows what the situation will be ten years from now. If our navy at that time should be weak, some great bully among the nations might decide to take us on. We would not be ready, and it would be too late for us to get ready. We think the best insurance against war is preparedness for war. We should have a navy adequate to protect all our shores against any force that any mad-dog among the nations could send against us. Being strong, we could afford to be long-suffering and generous toward other nations, as has been our custom in the past; and we would be in position to set the world a great example as a peace-loving and peace seeking people. Revising Theodore Roosevelt's expression a bit, we should carry a big stick but speak softly and kindly to all the nations of the world.

COST OF OBLIVION

What is the greatest power in the world? Public opinion.
What creates public opinion? Advertising.
Is it not time that business men woke up and realized that advertising is not an expense, but the cheapest and quickest way to success?
It is not advertising that is costly. It is oblivion.—Forbes Magazine.

It is regrettable that even our best men in high official position seem to feel that it is necessary for them continually to play politics.
And possibly they are right; but we wish it were not so. We wish that they could go right ahead doing their duties in an unostentatious way, doing nothing to catch the popular attention and the popular acclaim. They would certainly be more useful public servants—and it might be that they would find their services were more genuinely appreciated and themselves more popular than they can be by continually playing to the galleries and

EDUCATION VS. PUNISHMENT

Many criminals become so because of an over-plus of energy uncontrolled. Education is a better reformer than punishment.

The university that wants to do a big fine piece of work should put an extension department in the penitentiary.—E. R. Roberts, Dallas Technical High School.

The Haskell Free Press is now the sole publication in its field, the Haskell Leader transferring its activities to O'Donnell. The new development is one upon which the community is to be congratulated.
Not that the Leader was not a credible publication. Quite the contrary, and in a field that would justify two papers it would have done fine. But two papers trying to occupy room enough for only one was a sort of slow suicide for both.
The community will be quite as well served by one paper, and at less expense. Another consideration is that Publisher Sam A. Roberts is entitled to a greater support than probably could have been given him indefinitely with two papers in the field. Mr. Roberts has made a hand in community affairs, and will be able to serve in this capacity more acceptably when his own business affairs are in the right sort of shape.—Baylor County Banner.

SHOVE WITH YOUR CAR!*

Your Mileage Merchant Advises...

Try to have the two cars slightly "staggered"—not exactly in line with each other. This often helps if bumpers lock, especially when the car with its bumper below can reach a drain or similar depression. Another way is for the car with its bumper on top to get up on a curb or "hump." That's all "just in case."

Now ask the poor fellow who wants your help to get into HIGH—keeping his clutch pedal down—letting it back gradually only after you get his car under way.

Push with your LOW gear. That's easiest on your car... for half a block. Then if the other fellow's car hasn't started, have him get into neutral and push him up to a nearby

Less Monthly Discomfort

Many women, who formerly suffered from a weak, run-down condition as a result of poor assimilation of food, say they benefited by taking CARDUL, a special medicine for women. They found it helped to increase the appetite and improve digestion, thereby bringing them more strength from their food.

Naturally there is less discomfort at monthly periods when the system has been strengthened and the various functions restored and regulated.

Cardul, praised by thousands of women, is well worth trying. Of course, if not benefited, consult a physician.

FEED AND SEED LOAN SET-UP EXPLAINED

Applications for emergency crop and feed loans for 1938 are now being received at Tahoka, by Fred N. Warren, Field Supervisor of the Emergency Crop and Feed Loan Section of the Farm Credit Administration.

The loans will be made, as in the past, only to farmers who cannot obtain credit from any other source. The money loaned will be limited to the farmer's immediate and actual cash needs for growing his 1938 crops or for the purchase of feed for livestock, and the amount which may be loaned to any one farmer in 1938 may not exceed $400.00.

Farmers who can obtain the funds they need from an individual, production credit association, bank, or other concern are not eligible for crop and feed loans from the Emergency Crop and Feed Loan Section of the Farm Credit Administration. The loans will not be made to standard rehabilitation clients whose current needs are provided for by the Farm Security Administration, formerly known as the Resettlement Administration.

As in the past, farmers who obtain crop and feed loans will give as security a first lien on the crop financed, or a first lien on the livestock to be fed if the money borrowed is to be used to produce or purchase food for livestock.

Where loans are made to tenants, the landlords, or others having an interest in the crops financed or the livestock to be fed, are required to waive their claims in favor of a lien to the Governor of the Farm Credit Administration until the loan is repaid.

Checks in payment of approved loans will be mailed from the Regional Emergency Crop and Feed Loan Office at Dallas, Texas.

Mr. Warren advises that Mrs. Lucille Knight, who has served as application writer for several years, will be in charge of taking applications this year at the office of the First National Bank. Mr. Warren will be in the office each Tuesday.

Mrs. Elbert Rogers was taken to Carlsbad, Texas, Sunday, where she will receive several months' treatment in the sanatorium.

During the first snow, the Seniors made several pictures to be put in the annual. They turned out to be fairly good and will probably be the only snow pictures in the book.

Last Week Judge Louis Reed, District Judge from Lamesa, addressed the student body in chapel. His talk was a very interesting one on the relationship of grown people and school children. The Seniors and Public Speaking classes had to take notes and make a criticism on the talk as one of their yearly themes.

The snow this past week was greatly enjoyed by the entire student body as was shown by a real free for all snowball battle on last Tuesday between all the boys in school versus the Seniors. It was a very exciting affair, but, of course the Seniors won.

District Agent Reviews H. D. Club Work of Past Year

By MISS LIDA COOPER
Extension District Agent

$217,498.60 is the total value of food produced and conserved by 3,801 home demonstration club women and 4-H club girls girls representing 214 clubs on the South Plains of Texas during 1937, as indicated by the home demonstration agents' annual reports from the following counties: Bailey, Castro, Cochran, Dickens, Hale, Hockley, Kent, Lamb, Lubbock, Lynn, Parmer, Swisher, and Yoakum. A total of 564,310 quarts of fruits and vegetables, pickles, preserves, jellies, and meats were conserved. In addition to this, 145,515 pounds of dried cured and stored vegetables and fruits were reported, as well as 232,507 cured meat and 16,928 pounds of nuts stored and 3,623 chickens were grown and marketed; 60,193 dozen eggs were produced, which were sold and used at home.

Besides conserving this amount of food, the women and girls reported, 436 pantries and store houses built and 436 pantries organized.

Mrs. Murray Lea, demonstrator for the Dickens home demonstration club of Dickens county, was interested in the financial contribution she made to the family bank account through her home food supply. Mrs. Lea said: "I have 419 quarts of vegetables, valued at $83.00 which cost me $8.00 to produce and can—a saving of $75.00."

Sand storms and high winds make early gardens impossible in this section of the state. The women and girls have become convinced that the frame gardens will supplement their supply of canned products with green vegetables during the early months. 527 frame gardens were reported in 1937. Mrs. W. J. Carter, home food supply demonstrator of the County Line Club in Cochran county, built a sub-irrigated frame garden of scraps of lumber around the place. The garden was 4x16 feet and cost 76¢ for nails and tile, and 45¢ for seeds. Four crops of mustard, beets, carrots, lettuce, sprinck and turnips were secured during the year from this garden. In Bailey county 89 4-H club girls made frame gardens. In Castro county 64 4-H club girls made frame gardens.

In Yoakum, Lubbock, Lynn, Kent, and Hockley counties, 828 4-H clubs worked on the poultry demonstrations. Their reports show that at the beginning of the year they had a total of 16,607 hens and that on December 1 they had 24,021 hens. In addition, 9,228 chickens were used at home and 2,981 marketed, also 35,000 dozen eggs were sold and 24,955 dozen eggs consumed in the home by the families of these girls. Other demonstrations worked on in the district were clothing, home orchards, yard improvement, bedrooms, and kitchen improvement. Dickens and Lamb counties have some demonstrations developed in yard improvement showing how much can be accomplished in 2 and 3 years' time. Reports from these two counties show 52 lawns sodded; 71 drives and walks constructed, and 1,147 shrubs and plants put out and living, with the addition of 5,487 shade trees.

Mrs. J. M. Whitefield, yard demonstrator in Lamb county, said in her report, "We all enjoyed our yard this summer. It is a grand place to entertain our friends and when it was so hot this summer we enjoyed our evening meal out in the yard. The house has been cooler and the grass has helped in keeping the sand out of the house."

For a long time there has been a need for windbreaks to protect the homesteads from high winds and sands. Through the cooperation of the Experiment Station at Lubbock, progress was made in securing some of these windbreaks. Reports from Bailey, Dickens, Hale, Kent, Lamb, Lubbock, Parmer, Swisher and Yoakum counties show 166 windbreaks were started with 24,962 trees and shrubs. Approximately 14,700 trees were planted around 38 farm homes in Bailey county.

ELDER DRENNON PREFERS TROUSERS WORN AT KNEES

We are about settled and we like it fine, the people are sure nice to us.

But, as the Bible says "He that would have friends must show himself friendly." I find people are about the same the world over and this old world is pretty good to us. After all, it pays us about what we are entitled to. Some don't seem to think so, but I do. But I do think West Texas has the most friendly and biggest hearted people of any place in the world.

A few wise cracks:
Many a man forgets what he ought to know and knows what he ought to forget.

When you find you do not like to hear another praised, it is time to stop and ask yourself some questions.

You are not responsible for what people think about you but for what you give them reason to think.

Those who stay away from church services because Sunday is the only day they have for recreation, would have no day at all for recreation if it were not for those who go to church services.

Just pretending to be rich keeps some people poor. What are you worth to Tahoka?

I will pass on an outline of my last night's sermon, "Five Greatest Things": The greatest possession—the Soul; the greatest calamity—Sin; the greatest remedy—the Gospel; the greatest institution—the Church; the greatest principle—Love. Think on these things!

Sorry to hear Editor Hill is down again with flu, but you will just have to learn not to take everything that is offered you.

Come to see us any day between meals.

Yours for more trousers that are worn at the knees than at the seat.—R. P. Drennon.

WARNING IS GIVEN ON TUBERCULOSIS

Austin, Feb. 24.—Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer, states that slightly more than eleven Texans die each day from tuberculosis. In other words, over four thousand persons died of this disease last year.

In these days of economy, when the seeds of disease are being sown in the bodies of undernourished children, the prevention of tuberculosis is more necessary than ever. Tuberculosis formerly held first place as a cause of death; it now ranks third in Texas, while for the country as a whole it ranks seventh. Pneumonia was the only communicable disease that caused more deaths last year than did tuberculosis.

Tuberculosis has been known for centuries and constant search for a specific cure has been the goal of doctors for many years. However, no medicine, yet discovered, will cure this disease. The treatment consists of rest, proper food, fresh air and proper medical supervision.

The greatest loss of life from this disease is between the ages 20 to 40 years, and its economic cost to families and the State is enormous. Tuberculosis can be arrested if found in its early stages, therefore, the State Department of Health urges that every one not feeling up to par should go to their family physician for a complete physical examination. In this way early beginnings of tuberculosis or other disease may be discovered in their early curable stage.

THRIFTY "60" FORD V-8 AVERAGES 28.85 MILES PER GALLON!

Leads All Cars at Its Price and Above by Setting Miles-Per-Gallon Record in Gilmore-Yosemite Economy Run!

Above: The prize-winning Thrifty "60" Ford V-8 entering the gateway of Yosemite National Park during Gilmore-Yosemite Economy Run.

Below: Checking the gasoline at the end of the run... only 10.9 gallons for the entire trip of 314.5 miles... an average of 28.85 miles per gallon.

Right: Officials presenting the cup to owner and driver of the record-making Ford V-8.

If you're looking for proof of Ford V-8 gasoline economy, here it is in black and white—

COMPETING in this year's Gilmore-Yosemite Economy Run, held under strict A.A.A. supervision, a stock 1938 Thrifty "60" Ford V-8 Sedan made an average of 28.85 miles per gallon of gasoline! In hanging up this record, the Ford V-8 not only won first place in its price class, but also made the best miles-per-gallon showing of 23 cars, comprising all entrants at its price or above! Only 10.9 gallons of gasoline were used for the entire 314.5-mile run.

This sensational record bears out the experience of hundreds of owners who have reported 22 to 27 miles per gallon of gasoline with the Thrifty "60" Ford V-8 in every day use. In dramatic fashion it proves again that here is the most economical Ford V-8 ever built—and one of the thriftiest cars on the road today, regardless of price! Your Ford Dealer invites you to see and drive the smarter, more luxurious 1938 edition of this great economy car.

The Rest Of The Record

BY JAMES V. ALLRED
Governor of Texas

My fight to secure the return of the State's lands has developed rapidly the past week.

When I requested the Attorney General to file a number of suits to recover these lands for the State he told the newspapers that I was childish. From Paul's letter to the Corinthians, he quoted:

"When I was a child, I spake as a child; I understood as a child; I thought as a child. But when I became a man I put away childish things."

I can readily understand why the Attorney General, who calls himself the "Great McGraw," would have to resort to the Scriptures to prove that he has grown up.

Immediately after I demanded that these suits be filed, however, the Land Commissioner cancelled the big lease I had been complaining about—the one where he turned down $103,000 in cash and accepted $370.

This is the second time I have made him back up and cancel out. It appears, therefore, that my "childishness" has already resulted in the cancellation of two valuable leases which he had executed.

You will remember that the Attorney General also said that he would not file all the suits that I had requested, but would file only one test suit. He said that the State's rights would not be jeopardized; but when I pointed out that if these people were allowed to let the matter rock along until a test suit could be drawn out through the courts they would then have their gamble and know whether the well being drilled was a producer or dry; and when I pointed out that these people could even assign these leases to others who could claim to be innocent purchasers, the Attorney General changed his mind and filed nine additional suits.

So my "childishness" has resulted in further action.

The trouble now is that the Attorney General only set up one ground in asking for cancellation of these leases. He did not allege in his petitions that the facts constituted legal fraud, as I had requested him to do. Nowhere did he allege the facts and circumstances which I set out in my letters. I think these facts and circumstances taken as a whole clearly show a fraud upon the rights of the people. I am sorry that the Attorney General is not going to give the court the opportunity to pass on these facts I would rather have three legs to stand on in a lawsuit than just one, especially where millions of dollars belonging to the school children are involved.

To save my life, I can't understand why the Attorney General hasn't been just as anxious to investigate and go after these matters as I have been. Heretofore the Attorney General's office has been regarded as the watch dog for the people. One after another, former Attorneys General have stepped out with lawsuits to protect the rights of the people. The most recent instance was when former Attorney General Dan Moody broke up the highway contracts, and was immediately elected Governor.

The "Great McGraw," as he calls himself, has had a similar opportunity and failed to take hold of it, even after I furnished him with all the facts and made an official request of him. I hope he will yet amend his pleadings and go after these suits seriously and in a fighting mood.

Mrs. Allred and I tremendously enjoyed our visit to Washington. Of course, we were honored beyond expression by being privileged to attend Vice President Garner's dinner to the President; but, to our joyous surprise, the President and Mrs. Roosevelt invited us to have lunch in the White House last Sunday. It was just a fine family party, one which made us all feel perfectly at home. The President is in the best of good spirits, still thinking and working for the people.

MRS. BILLINGSLEY TELLS OF GULF COAST COUNTRY

The News has received another interesting letter from Mrs. Nora Billingsley, who, with her husband and niece, is spending the remainder of the winter on the Gulf coast. They have a comfortable winter camp in a neat two-room house at Green Lake in Calhoun county near Port Lavaca.

Mrs. Billingsley writes of the country as follows:

This part of Texas is very much like the Plains. It is really more level and the land much blacker. There is not much timber, except along the bayous and rivers. The long grey moss that hangs from the limbs of these trees give a picturesque and "Southern" touch to this part of the scenery.

The land is very fertile, and, if it does not rain too much is very productive. Up on the plains we consider ourselves lucky nearly any time that we get a rain. Down here we often hear the wish fervently expressed "I do hope it don't rain." One girl said sometimes it rains here till its a shame and disgrace." Perhaps in her mind was the thought of year before last when her father, on six hundred acres of land, made thirty bales of cotton. Last year on less land, and more rain, he made four hundred bales.

Grass and clover are green and roses are in bloom, but not so many flowers here as it seems there should be with so warm a climate. There is some acreage planted to onions, cabbage and beets. The onions are just a few inches high, the cabbage is expected to be ready to harvest in about a month. The beets are about ready to pull.

MISS ROWLAND IN CAST OF McMURRY PLAY

Ablene, February 23.—When the McMurray College Theatre, Ablene, presents Sophie Treadwell's "Plums in the Dust" February 24, 25, 26, Billie Marie Rowland, daughter of

AND I NEVER HAD MORE PEP IN MY LIFE—THAT NEW BREAD DIET'S WONDERFUL

New BREAD DIET turns excess fat into energy ... safely

HERE is the reducing diet that's safe, sane and efficient. It comes after four years of scientific research in leading American universities and laboratories. It has been tested, and it works.

The Bread Diet is based on the proved facts that bread is a food high in energy, not of itself fattening. Over-weight, comes from food not utilized for energy by the body. No other common food except sugar can be as quickly turned into energy as bread.

The bread in this diet is entirely used and because of its carbohydrates, helps burn up completely the body-fat lost while reducing, without leaving any harmful residue.

By substituting bread for foods that are almost all starch, the body is given the energy so greatly needed while reducing, yet the muscle and nerve tissues are spared. The dangerous after-effects of extreme diets are avoided.

The new Bread Diet provides protective foods and food-energy to keep you vigorous while reducing. Figures return again to normal. You have no unnatural craving for extra foods because the diet is so perfectly balanced. And the pounds roll away.

BOVELL'S BAKERY

You can reduce safely and sanely if you follow this diet outline

• These Diet Meals give about 1500 Calories a day—reducing allowance of the average person, moderately active, with an ideal weight of 130 lbs., who is 10 to 20 lbs. overweight. If your ideal weight is more or less than 130 lbs., increase or decrease foods in these meals, but keep Bread in the right proportion.

BREAKFAST
one glass of orange juice
2 soft boiled eggs
2 slices of toast
one cup of clear coffee with one lump of sugar

LUNCH
one cup of pea soup
pear-sized "heartlet" pear—2 halves, 2 large tablespoons of cottage cheese and 2 lettuce leaves
2 slices of bread
1 cup of tea with 1 lump of sugar

DINNER
half of melon
ribbit steak (average portion—broiled) string beans (½ cup)
spinach (½ cup)
2 slices of bread
one stewed apricot
1 cup of coffee with 1 lump of sugar and 1 tablespoon of cream

METHODIST WOMEN HEAR INTERESTING PROGRAM

The Woman's Missionary Society met with Mrs. C. O. Carmack on Monday, Feb. 21, at 3 p. m. In spite of a snow and slush, the attendance was good.

A very interesting program, "Thy Neighbor and Thyself", was given by Mesdames Gibson, Jones, and Thomas, Dorothy Lee Carmack and Virginia Ray Jones sang "In The Garden," accompanied by Mrs. S. E. Reid at the piano.

A delicious refreshment plate reminded us that George Washington did not destroy all the cherry trees with his little hatchet.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Walden February 28, at 3:00 p. m.

The program will be a missionary theme brought out by a review of Alice Tisdale Hobart's latest book on China, "Yang and Yin."

Devotional was led by Mrs. Howard Henderson.

Anyone wanting hot rolls Saturday or Sunday may phone their order to the M. E. parsonage.

NEW LYNN LEAGUE HAS SOCIAL MEETING

The New Lynn Epworth League met February 20 at 6:45. A program was well rendered by Miss Mezzie-Mae Baker.

The League had a social Monday night, Feb. 14, at Mr. and Mrs. John Meeks. There were about thirty present. Everyone had a nice time.

We have two new members, Miss Civola Smith, formerly of Sulphur Springs, and Miss Naydene Nelson.

METHODIST WOMEN WILL MEET IN LAMESA

The zone meeting of the Missionary Society will be in Lamesa Wednesday, March 2nd, at the Methodist church. All ladies of the local Methodist Church are invited and urged to attend.

There will be a covered dish luncheon at noon.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Baldrige have moved to their farm five miles north of Tahoka on the Lubbock highway.

Chester Connolly and little daughter, Geraldine, are ill with the influenza this week.

Mrs. Leota Kuykendall of Monahans visited in the W. A. Reddell home Saturday.

Geo. Berry, Lubbock attorney, was a business visitor in Tahoka Monday.

Miss Dorothy Lee Carmack is in bed with Bronchitis and flu.

Miss Obara Forrester was ill last week of a throat ailment.

Irvin Stewart is ill this week with a serious case of flu.

HOME STILL AN EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTION

The American home is still an educational institution. A revolution in home economy has relegated many former functions of the home entirely to outside hands. Specialists bake the bread once prepared in home ovens; power machinery has displaced the fireside spinning wheel and loom; the commercial laundry has made the kitchen washtub a memory of days that are rapidly passing. We are happy to release some of the drudgery of the oldtime home to specialized hands, but we cannot delegate, without further thought the training of our children to even the most trusted professional group. The home cannot forget this responsibility. Parents need frequently to visit the schools and to confer with the teachers of their children. In the process of education, home and school must work together.—Will A. Sutton.

MIDWAY 4-H CLUB GIRLS MEET

Each club girl was asked to follow certain good health habits at a meeting of the Midway 4-H Club February 10 at 10:45.

Good health habits were: Eat one leafy vegetable, one serving of potatoes, one other vegetable, one serving of citrus fruit or tomatoes, and one other fruit each day, and sleep eight hours with an open window.

Members present: Clara Lee Henry, Mary Louise and Bessie Rainey, Icaplene, Nieto and Marilene Stephens, Evelyn and Mary Louise McDonald, Clovis Stephens, Opal Johnson, Irene and Ruth Grider, Clara Faye Nordyke, Reba Phillips, Juanita Sawyer, Mable Williams, and the sponsor, Mrs. Spears.

MMES. CONNOLLY AND DYE ENTERTAIN CLUB

Tahoka Home Demonstration club met in the home of Mrs. James Connolly on Wednesday of this week.

A program on "Invalid Cookery" was rendered. Twenty-one members and one visitor were present.

The club meets in the home of Mrs. Jack Corley for its next meeting. Mrs. Crawford will assist Mrs. Corley as hostess.

Rotary Club Has Good Program

An excellent program was presented at the Rotary Club Thursday noon, when talks were made by Jimmy Hogan, Fred Bucy, and J. B. McPherson. Homer St. Clair presided as chairman for the day.

Jimmy Hogan, who is a graduate of the United States Military Academy, popularly known as West Point, presented the principal number of the program, a talk on the operation of and purposes of that great institution. His talk was filled with very interesting facts.

Fred Bucy spoke on the life of the founder of Rotary, Paul Harris a Chicago business man who, with two friends started a little organization of business and professional men in that city which has grown into over 4,000 clubs with 183,000 members in forty nations of the world.

J. B. McPherson talking on the subject "Why Attendance?" gave reasons why members of Rotary are expected to be present at every meeting.

Rollin McCord, chairman of the membership committee inducted two new members into the club, Harley Henderson, under the classification of cotton broker, and Clyde J. Williams, as wholesale implement distributor.

J. O. Tinsley reported his committee had raised $75.00 to meet expenses of staging the county meet in Tahoka next month.

Several visitors were present, including Judge Louis B. Reed of Lamesa, "Stony" Wall of Lubbock, Newt Barham of Tahoka, and two others from out-of-town.

R

The Prescription Sign

Have you ever noticed the symbol on prescriptions? It is inconspicuous, but full of significance—the capital R with a crossed bar, which looks like —Rx. Do you know what it means?

This mark was originally thought to be the sign of Jupiter, and was placed at the head of all prayers for favor or healing addressed to that deity. Then it finally came to mean a recipe for medicines prepared and administered by physicians.

Today the sign stands for centuries of learning, skill and honor on the part of the medical and pharmaceutical professions. For many, many years these two professions have worked hand in hand; one diagnosing human ailments and prescribing remedies; the other, compounding medicines.

When you see the Rx sign associated with our name, you know that all the honor, integrity, reliability, conscientious and moral character of pharmacy are integral parts of every finished prescription that leaves this pharmacy. Everything is done to compound your prescription accurately, and we send them out with a fervent desire that will accomplish all your physicians desires.

HELP KIDNEYS

To Get Rid of Acid and Poisonous Waste Your kidneys help to keep you well by constantly filtering waste matter from the blood. If your kidneys are functionally disordered and fail to remove excess impurities, there may be poisoning of the whole system and body-wide distress.

During, scanty or too frequent urination may be a warning of some kidney or bladder disturbance. You may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel weak, nervous, all played out. In such cases it is better to rely on a medicine that has won country-wide acclaim than on something less favorably known. Use Doan's Pills. A multitude of grateful people recommend Doan's. Fashion Goes Definitely Bolero

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

EVENTUALLY, why not now, a bolero costume? The bolero vogue is sweeping through all fashiondom like wildfire. Both in suits and dresses the bolero has leaped into the very foreground of the mode with such a flourish none can escape it and what's more no one with an eye to chic and charm will want to escape a fashion so flattering, so kind to waistlines, so make-you-look-young as do these new bolero silhouettes. You can get most any type of a bolero outfit you happen to want which counts a lot when you are choosing a fashion "first" for spring. A simple tailored model is very practical in that with a supply of diverse blouses and a collection of intriguing accessories your bolero costume comes well nigh serving as a whole wardrobe in itself. If you decide on a tailleur we would suggest that you look for a tweed in the ultra smart new wheat color or if navy or black be your preference you will be able to find models galore tailored of wool twills (watch twills for they are going big) or of gabardine or of dependable crepe or that which will carry the summer through, triple sheer. See to it that the bolero be duly equipped with trim little pockets, two or more if you please. For those whose fancy turns to softer dressmaker styling there's no limit to the models available. Perhaps the outstanding note is sounded in plain with print combinations. Of these types there is such a vast outpouring from style sources you will feel an attack of brain storm coming on when you try to make a selection. Sometimes the bolero and skirt is in monotone with perhaps a wide binding or bordering of animated print to which a gypsy sash is matched. Then again the entire bolero is of the print with sash to match. With object in mind of calling attention to the widely diverse trends interpreted in the now-so-important bolero costume, the three models were carefully selected from among a showing of advance fashions designed by the Style Creators of Chicago in the wholesale district. These are typical of what you will find in leading shops and departments during the coming months. In the center of the group we present a charming dress of navy crepe, its modish bolero effectively trimmed in white nailheads. "They say" navy is going to be an outstanding color choice for spring. In fact, all blues are good with especial emphasis on the new gray blues. Here's another "pointer:" try with a navy bolero suit a blouse and sash in a soft violet shade, with which wear a boutonniere of spring violets, with plenty of self leaves in cool green. Sugar sacking in the very, very new wheat color makes the costume to the left. It has a brown print silk blouse with sash to match. The meticulously tailored bolero has the smart military influence. Ideal for spring is the sheer wool crepe in beige outfit pictured to the right. The revers in tuxedo style are of cat lynx, the tawny colorings of which tune admirably to the general scheme of things. The fur-trimmed bolero is a fashion highlight that is destined to shine brightly in the style parade, so be sure to keep your eye upon it. In concluding we just thought you might like to know that in the shops you can find the most fascinating boleros of colorful suede with belts or tie sashes to match. Wear them with any skirt or dress and you'll be classed with the best-dressed. © Western Newspaper Union.

LACE RESORT MODE By CHERIE NICHOLAS Every nation has some form of art particular to its people. In Hungary, little nation in southern Europe, this folk art takes the form of exquisite embroidery that has become famous throughout the world. Weisz of Budapest has adapted the traditional patterns of the peasants and styled them for the newest belt modes. Skilled peasants, both men and women, have transferred the gay designs to linen and hand-loomed jute belts. The linen belts in natural or chalk white have bright woolen flowers embroidered on them. The edges are finished with a button-hole stitch of the cheerful yarn. All of them are finished with amusing and unique shaped buckles of natural colored wood, hand-painted with tiny flowers. The hand-loomed jute belts that are perfect with suits, sweaters and light woolen frocks are also embroidered in bright yarns. These belts are washable and of fast colors. They are in time for the crepe frocks of spring and summer.

LATE BELT MODES IN HUNGARY STYLES

Hats of Youthful Drape Style Shown by Milliners. Youthful draped hats are the leading contributions of Paris milliners, and a variety of new designs has been launched for wear with costumes of leading couture houses. Still rising skyward with a forward movement, the newest hats have height in modified form to effect a lengthened silhouette without giving an exaggerated line. Berets, toques and turned-up brims, worn well back on the head or poised to one side, are leaders among the new types.

Three Frocks—a Wardrobe

IF YOU want to be all set for a full and gay Spring, have these three dresses in your wardrobe. Something for morning, something for street and a lovely frock for afternoon parties. All three are easy to make. And you can have the complete group for a fraction of what you would usually spend, if you make them at home. Shirtwaist Style. Trim and tailored, this is the favorite silhouette for Spring. The skirt with kick pleat back and front is fun to wear, very comfortable for walking and going about your daily work. Note the yoke top and inverted pleat in back of bodice to permit perfect freedom. It is a grand spectator sports dress and will make up beautifully in silk crepe, rayon print or cotton fabrics. Princess for Morning. You'll feel sweet as sixteen in this pretty square-necked princess dress with fitted lines. The silhouette is molded and slim. Note the pretty sleeves, puffed high, to make the waistline look even smaller. Choose a pretty cotton print or one of the new rayons to make a dress as charming as the one shown. You'll find the pattern complete with sew chart telling you exactly how to proceed. Fitted Lines for Afternoon. Look lovely and picturesque in this frock on molded lines with uplift at the waist and soft shirring in front of bodice. The roll collar and low V neckline is very slenderizing. You'll enjoy the good lines, the flattery of this dress and its grand wearability. Whether it is a luncheon for six or a dinner at eight, you'll be correctly dressed in this frock. The Patterns. 1976 is designed for sizes 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48 and 50. Size 34 requires 4 1/4 yards of 35-inch fabric. 1452 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 42, 44 and 46. Size 16 requires 4 3/4 yards of 39-inch fabric. 1451 is designed for sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 36 requires 5 1/4 yards of 39-inch fabric. For collar in contrast 3/8 yard. Send your order to The Sewing Circle Pattern Dept., Room 1020, 211 W. Wacker Dr., Chicago, Ill. Price of patterns, 15 cents (in coins) each. © Bell Syndicate.—WNU Service.

TIPS to Gardeners

Good Start Important THE value of a garden plant, vegetable or flower, depends greatly upon the start it gets; so give your seedlings ample care. Begin cultivation as soon as rows are visible, if soil is not wet. Work close to the small plants, cultivating shallower as they grow, to avoid injury to root growth. Cultivate often. Irrigating should not be necessary the first week or ten days after seeds have sprouted. Harold Coulter, vegetable expert, advises that if the ground is baked hard and sprouts do not appear, the surface of the soil may be disturbed slightly with a rake. Small seedlings may be irrigated in two ways: Mark a shallow trench about four inches from the row and run it full of water; or, using a fine spray, apply water from directly above the plants. Watering is most effective when done shortly after cultivation. The best time for irrigation is late afternoon or evening. Small plants should be thinned as directed on seed packets.

Discretion of Speech Discretion of speech is more than eloquence; and to speak agreeably to him with whom we deal is more than to speak in good words or good order.—Francis Bacon.

WHEN COLDS BRING SORE THROAT

Relieves THROAT PAIN RAWNESS

Enters Body through Stomach and Intestines to Ease Pain

The speed with which Bayer tablets act in relieving the distressing symptoms of colds and accompanying sore throat is utterly amazing... and the treatment is simple and pleasant. This is all you do. Crush and dissolve three genuine Bayer Aspirin tablets in one-third glass of water. Then gargle with this mixture twice, holding your head well back.

This medicinal gargle will act almost like a local anesthetic on the sore, irritated membrane of your throat. Pain ceases promptly; rawness is relieved. You will say it is remarkable. And the few cents it costs effects a big saving over expensive "throat gargles" and strong medicines. And when you buy, see that you get genuine BAYER ASPIRIN.

Application There is no lack of good maxims in the world; all we need is to apply them.—Pascal.

MOROLINE FOR BURNS

Good Action Act well at the moment, and you have performed a good action to all eternity.—Lavater.

To help PREVENT many colds VICKS VA-TRO-NOL —a few drops up each nostril at the first sneeze

To help END a cold sooner VICKS VAPORUB —rub on throat, chest, and back of bedtime

To Prosper and Live To live, to work, to help and to be helped, to learn sympathy through suffering, to learn faith by perplexity, to reach truth through wonder—behold—this is what it is to prosper, this is what it is to live!—Phillips Brooks.

"MY MAIN DIVERSION IN LIFE IS THIS EASY ROLLIN', TASTY TOBACCO," SAYS BURL TATUM...

YWA BANQUET HELD THURSDAY NIGHT

Thirty-four guests were present on Thursday night, February 17, at the mother-daughter banquet at the First Baptist Church, given by the WMU to YWA girls and their mothers.

Mrs. H. P. Cavness was toast-mistress and read a toast from the mothers to the daughters, and Miss Eunice Mullins responded. Greta Joyce Applewhite rendered a piano solo. Rev. Geo. A. Dale made the address of the evening, and the program closed with a vocal duet by Mrs. Ruby Wells and Mrs. Dean Nowlin. Mrs. J. K. Applewhite, sponsor of the YWA's, planned the program. A splendid plate was served the guests.

The YWA's held their weekly meeting at the home of Mrs. Geo. A. Dale Monday night. Mrs. Jim Burleson taught two chapters of the book, "Fruits of the Years." Mrs. J. K. Applewhite, the sponsor, and the following girls attended: Misses Pauline Rhines, Edith Robertson, Jodie Bob Névil, Robbie Miliken, Eunice Mullins, Valerie Wells, and Jo Ed Wade.

SPECIAL SERVICES AT MEADOW ANNOUNCED

Rev. J. N. Campbell, pastor of the Baptist Church at Meadow, requests that we announce that Miss Mary Alice Bibby of the Baptist Sunday School Board of Nashville, Tennessee, will bring a tour of Texas with an association-wide meeting at Meadow at 2:30 p. m. Sunday, March 6. She will speak at the evening hour also.

The afternoon meeting is planned primarily for the workers with Intermediates in the Sunday Schools of the Association. She comes under the direction of Pastor Paul McCasland of Wilson, Sunday School superintendent for the Brownfield association. She will be accompanied by Mrs. Joe Trussell of Brownwood, Intermediate worker for Texas.

All Lynn county Baptists, and especially all Intermediate Sunday School workers, are invited to be present.

Mrs. B. H. Howard and son, Grady, of Lubbock, visited a few days this week with the former's daughters, Mrs. Harley Henderson and Mrs. Frank Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. John Brock of Lubbock visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Oliver, and other relatives here Monday night.

Mrs. Brown Bishop has been ill the past two weeks.

MRS. A. N. HUGHES HONORED ON HER BIRTHDAY

Mrs. A. N. Hughes was the honoree at a dinner given her at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Homer Scott, in Lubbock on her seventy-seventh birthday. Baked turkey and trimmings and a large birthday cake with 77 candles were features of the meal.

Besides Mr. and Mrs. Scott those present included her son, Dr. H. H. Hughes, and family of Brownfield, and her daughter, Mrs. R. C. Forrester of Tahoka, with whom she resides, and Miss O'Berá Forrester.

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY MEETS

The American Legion Auxiliary met Tuesday night at the Legion hall in a business meeting. Plans were made for a buffet supper to be given on Tuesday, March 1, at the Legion Hall by the wives of the Legionnaires for their daughters. The purpose of the supper will be to organize a Junior Auxiliary. Gold Star mothers will be honor guests.

A prize will be given the mother bringing the largest number of daughters and new members. All women are asked to bring a covered dish of vegetables, salad, meat or pie.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our friends of Petty and elsewhere for the kind words of sympathy spoken in the short illness and death of our boy, Douglas—May God's richest blessings be yours when this sad hour encircles your home. God bless each and every one of you.

Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Smith and family and Grandfather and Grandmother Smith.

CARD OF THANKS

Words cannot express our gratitude to our good friends for the many kindnesses shown us during the recent illness and death of our beloved husband and father, A. M. Daniel, and for the many beautiful floral offerings. May we be just such friends in your time of need.—Mrs. A. M. Daniel, Dan Daniel.

"HELL DIVERS" AIR SPECTACLE COMING

"Hell Divers," mighty romance of aviation in the navy, with Wallace Beery and Clark Gable co-starred and a supporting cast which includes such prominent players as Conrad Nagel, Dorothy Jordan, Marjorie Rambeau and Marie Prevost, is providing thrills at the English Theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

This drama, filmed with the cooperation of the navy at the Panama maneuvers, aboard the airplane carrier Saratoga, and at North Island, has in it practically every air thrill the service achieves in its annual training. One sees planes hurl themselves downward, two miles in less than half a minute. One sees heroic rescue, salvos fired from great battleships—the whole awe-inspiring pageant of a great navy in full action. Amid this is a romance with the lure of the tropics, with love, sacrifice, struggle and duty.

Beery plays a veteran C. P. O., many years in the navy he loves. His sweetheart, played by Miss Rambeau, waits in Panama, but he always joins the navy again. Comes the conflict with the new navy—

BLACK-DRAUGHT
 A GOOD LAXATIVE

typified by Gable—and an amazing and impressive denouement. One understands the whole navy better from this picture, which George Hill directed in a masterly manner. The expert supporting cast also includes Cliff Edwards, John Miljan, Landers Stevens, Reed Howes and Alan Roscoe.

Mrs. C. C. Ross was to return home last night from Dallas, where she has been attending a state beauty school.

Vernon Davis has recently redecorated the interior of his cafe.
