Damage By Freeze In County Is Yet Undetermined

Much of Local Wheat Is Not Ruined; Trees And Shrubs Killed or Damaged

Damage to the wheat from last week's blizzard does not seem to be as heavy as was first feared. Wheat that had jointed out was severely damaged in places but most of the wheat in Lynn county had been grazed and had not reached the jointing stage. This was not greatly damaged by the cold weather.

Some farmers report, however, that their wheat was apparently considerably damaged by the high winds and the blowing sand.

Just how much damage was done to young trees and shrubbery remains yet to be determined. It is believed that many young trees and much of the shrubbery were killed. Many of the rose bushes and foundation plantings around the homes as well as many hedge plants were badly damaged and possibly killed.

The trees, which were in full foliage, now present a desolate aspect, but it is believed that new leaves will begin putting out soon, although there is little evidence of it up to the time this is written.

Slaton Slatonite Changes Ownership

Announcement was made last week that J. M. Rankin, superintendent of the Ralls public schools for the past seven years, has purchased the Slaton Slatonite from the Donalds and will assume control on Saturday, April 16. Willard D. Donald will remain with the paper as Linotype operator.

Mr. Rankin will not move to Slaton until about May 20, when his school term expires. He has been a teacher for twenty-one years and has been connected with the Ralls school for seventeen years. The News welcomes him into the newspaper fraternity.

Victims of Wreck Are Improving

All those who sustained injuries in the automobile collision five miles south of town in which four persons were killed a few weeks ago have been making satisfactory progress toward recovery, according to reports given the News.

Mrs. L. J. Barrett of Wells was the most seriously injured and it was thought for several days following the wreck that her survival was extremely doubtful, but she has been steadily improving and she now seems out of danger.

Dorothy Holland, who also was very seriously hurt, is said to be "doing just fine."

Norman Carver and Clarence Overman, others who sustained serious injuries, are also steadily improving. Randall Fults and Turner Rogers received only minor injuries, from which they have practically recovered.

Retail Merchants Ass'n. For City

M. W. Donahoe, recently of Lamesa, has removed to Tahoka and is engaged this week in organizing a retail merchants association.

Up till Tuesday morning nineteen members had signed up and Mr. Donahoe was hopeful of getting many others. Not less than 25 members are necessary in order to make the organization a success. Mr. Donahoe says.

Mr. Donahoe has had much experience as a credit man, having been engaged in the business for seventeen years. In addition to his work for the Retail Merchants Association he will also finance credits on radios and automobiles. He has his office in Reid's Radio Shop.

His family consists of a wife and an eight year old son.

Miss Ward Curry of Lubbock is here this week visiting in the home of Mrs. J. H. Stroud.

Campaign Started

G. H. NELSON
East Texas boy who came to West Texas and climbed to prominence in state affairs, and who is now a leading candidate for Lieutenant Governor of the state.

Nelson On Air Tuesday Night

Announcement has been made that Senator G. H. Nelson will discuss his platform and principles over a radio network next Tuesday night, April 19.

The speech will be broadcast by stations WOAI at San Antonio, WBAP at Fort Worth, WFAA at Dallas, and KPRC at Houston from 9 to 9:30 p. m.

Ed Cook Collects The "Dinero"

Ed Cook of Wells has a penchant for collecting old coins. He was showing the editor a few of his specimens a few days ago, and coins always interest us. So do "greenbacks," and anything else that will buy beans and bacon.

Possibly the oldest of the specimens was a bronze U. S. penny coined in 1859. It is therefore about 79 years old and may be worth several dollars now, for all we know.

Then there was a Canadian penny fully as large as an American half dollar. We'd hate to have to lug a dollar's worth of them around in our pocket. The British penny was large also. He had a British shilling, which is about the size of an American quarter dollar. Also in his collection was a French 5-cent piece and two Mexican coins, the peso and the centavo.

By the way, Ed hasn't confined his coin-collecting to a few foreign specimens. From what we can gather, he has plenty of the good old U. S. A. vintage, which is perfectly good stuff anywhere in the world.

Weathers Opens New Grocery

Larkin Weathers opens a new grocery store and market this week in the new Parkhurst building on the highway about a block east of the main business part of town. The store is to open for business Saturday.

I. L. Burk, a brother-in-law of Mr. Weathers, will have charge of the market.

For many years Mr. Weathers was manager of the Cash Store on Main Street and more recently operated a grocery store in the 6th district.

Yates' Hogs Died Of Pneumonia

W. A. Yates of the West Point community has been the victim of a little bad luck recently. Some time ago he purchased a bunch of East Texas hogs and brought them here to grow and fatten for the market.

A number of them became sick a couple of weeks ago and he has lost six of them. A few others are sick. A state inspector, who killed a couple of the sick ones and made a post-mortem examination, said that they were suffering from pneumonia. The climate, he thought, did not agree with them. On top of that, some of them have worms.

So, Mr. Yates is afraid that his loss eventually will be rather heavy.

Students Win At District Meet

In the district Interscholastic League contests held in Lubbock last Friday and Saturday, we note the following winners by pupils of Lynn county schools.

In Girl's Debate contests, La Vern Lawler and Peggy Adams of O'Donnell tied the Plainview team for third place.

In the Ready Writers contest, Wanda Lee Tinsley, of Tahoka ward school, won first place.

Junior Declamation, ward schools, boys; Marlin Wilson of O'Donnell, third place.

Declamation, rural schools, junior boys; Bill Swearingen, Newmoore, second.

Declamation, rural schools, junior girls; Dorothy Faye Odell, Newmoore, second.

Declamation, rural schools, senior boys; Guy Durham, Joe Bailey, third.

Declamation, rural schools, senior girls; Ila D. Skinner, Newmoore, third.

Three-R contests; Bernice Huffaker, Grassland, third.

Contests in field and track events are to be held Friday and Saturday of this week.

Three Youths Are In Jail

Three youths, each said to be seventeen years of age, claiming Clovis, New Mexico, as their home, are in jail here charged with the burglary of two private residences recently in the Wells community.

The three young fellows were apprehended by John Johnson, deputy sheriff at O'Donnell, and were first placed in the lock-up there. On Tuesday of last week they made their escape from the calaboose but Mr. Johnson soon found and re-arrested them and brought them on to Tahoka, and they have been in jail here since.

It is alleged that they took a quantity of both men's and women's clothing, some groceries, dishes, and a shot-gun from the houses burglarized.

The boys are also wanted by officers at Tucuman, New Mexico, it is said, for car theft.

State Aid Mix-Up Is Adjusted

County Superintendent H. P. Caviness, who went to Austin last week in the interest of four of the rural schools of the county whose state aid had been cut without any explanation, was successful in his mission, obtaining assurance from the Department of Education that the matter would be satisfactorily adjusted.

We were under the impression last week that practically all of the rural schools of the county were affected but Mr. Caviness advises us that only four of them were involved.

The mixup occurred in Austin and was not chargeable to any error or negligence at this end of the line.

Mrs. W. H. Fulkerson, who has been in a Temple hospital for treatment, is at home again and is said to be doing "fairly well."

Plains Weather May Be Compared To The Mule In Josh Billings' Story

Josh Billings said that he had known a mule to be good six months just to get a good chance to kick. That seems to be the way with these West Texas winters.

Just when we thought that the old gentleman had sheathed his sword and departed for good, here he came roaring back, armed to the teeth and bent on destruction—away along here in April, when Miss Spring was entitled to the whole field.

There were few colder days during the entire winter than Thursday, April 7. The maximum temperature that day was 35 and the Charge Forgery Against Two

Two men were arrested and placed in jail here Monday on a charge of unlawfully passing a forged check.

According to local peace officers, the two men were undertaking to work the town. They attempted to pass one of the bad checks at the Jones Dry Goods store and one at the Harris Hardware & Furniture store. They succeeded in passing a small check amounting to $6.20 to the Hogan Dry Goods store, buying a shirt for a dollar and procuring $5.20 in cash.

The two men were in the Harris store in the act of purchasing a rifle when officers entered and made the arrest. They found in the possession of the two men a number of checks already made out and signed, for varying amounts, aggregating more than $400.00. One of the checks exhibited by Justice of the Peace W. S. Swart to a representative of the News purported to be a check for labor in the sum of $24.71, with the name of R. C. Delaney signed thereto, and drawn on a Midland bank. The check which was passed at Hogan's store had the same name signed thereto, we understand.

Officers say that the two men are wanted in a number of other counties for similar offenses.

Mrs. Dimple Cates Painfully Burned

Mrs. Dimple Cates, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Calaway of Draw, was painfully burned last Thursday when her dress caught fire while she was standing with her back to a stove.

As is usual in such cases, when she discovered the fire she dashed out of the house and began running. She stated later that she thought she was running toward her husband, who was near by, but in fact she was running in another direction and he found it necessary to absolutely "run her down." It is said, throw her on the ground, and extinguish the fire.

She was brought to a physician in Tahoka for treatment. Her burns were found to be severe but no serious consequences are expected.

Baptist Building Starts Next Week

Prospects are that work on the super-structure of the Baptist Church will begin some time next week and certainly not later than May 1, according to the pastor, Rev. Geo. A. Dale.

Total subscriptions up to this time are more than $12,000, of which sum about $7,500 have been collected. The pastor and Deen Nowlin, chairman of the finance committee, collected almost a thousand dollars the first three days of this week.

The completed structure, it is estimated, will cost from $16,000 to $18,000. The basement, built in 1925, cost approximately $14,000.

The Cash Store, operated by Kirk and Gaynell Pitts, will have a meat market department in their new location, and F. A. Anderson, who comes from O'Donnell, will have charge of it. Mr. Anderson will remove his family here later.

Announces Platform

ERNEST O. THOMPSON
Of Amarillo, member of the Railway Commission, in making his opening speech Tuesday, said he favored conservation of all Texas' vast natural resources, a war on unemployment, in the form of organized drive to bring new industries to Texas. No new taxes, state regulation of utilities and lower rates, a per capita apportionment of at least $22 for schools, and that he opposes the open saloon, sale of liquor by drink, gambling in all forms and socialized medicine.

Southern Ass'n. Honors School

Tahoka High School has again been honored by being granted membership in the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. Superintendent W. G. Barrett has been informed by the Association.

Mr. Barrett considers the invitation to membership this year a distinction in view of the fact that many high schools and a few colleges are being dropped from membership this year.

Local Students At McMurry Graduate

Among the June graduates at McMurry College, Abilene, is Bervin Caswell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Caswell of the Draw community.

Mr. Caswell is active on McMurry campus. He is a member of Alpha Chi, national scholarship society, and has been a consistent maker of the honor roll. He is also president of the Ministerial Forum and vice-president of Chanters, college chorus.

In August John Sewell will receive his degree from McMurry. He is vice-president of the Ministerial Forum.

Another June graduate at McMurry is Lloyd Hamilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Hamilton of Wilson. Mr. Hamilton is a two letter man in football, a member of the Ministerial Forum and of I. H. R., men's social club.

Commencement is June 2.

M. E. Conference Meeting Thursday

As previously announced, district conference of the Methodist Church will be held here on Thursday of next week.

The chief speaker of the day will be Dr. C. C. Sealeman, president of Southern Methodist University, Dallas, who will preach at 11 a. m.

Dr. Sealeman is not only an outstanding churchman, preacher, and educator but he also wields a mighty influence in the civic and political life of the state.

Many other people as well as Methodists should take advantage of this opportunity to hear him.

Griffing's Brother Critically Ill

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Griffing received a telegram about 11 o'clock Saturday night from the Veterans' Hospital near Berkeley, California, to the effect that his younger brother, Fred, was critically ill. In about two hours Carl and his wife were on their way to the Hospital.

Fred was suffering from a pulmonary hemorrhage, it was said, and it was not expected that he could survive long.

Tahoka Teachers For Year 1938-39 Are Elected

Entire Teaching Force, Board Secretary, And Two Janitors Offered New Contracts

At a meeting of the Tahoka school board Tuesday night, all teachers in the local school system were re-elected.

Principals Lee Dodson and E. H. Smith had been re-elected at a previous meeting, as had a superintendent, W. T. Hanes of Hermleigh. Superintendent W. G. Barrett did not ask for re-election, since he has made plans to enter the insurance business in another city at the close of this school term.

Teachers re-elected for next year, in addition to the principals and superintendent named above, are:

High School
Leslie Browning, teacher of vocational agriculture.

Mrs. Fred Hegi, vocational home economics.

Bob Harlow, coach and science teacher.

Lloyd Harris, assistant coach, 7th grade, and high school civics.

Mrs. Lenore M. Tunnell, English and public speaking.

Mrs. Ruth Assiter, commercial subjects and history.

Jewell Simkins, Spanish and English.

Willie Pearl Dockray, 7th grade.

Grade School
A. R. Bostick, sixth grade.

John Kirkwood, fifth grade.

Ada Hayes, fifth grade.

Lowell Douthitt, third and fourth grades.

Linnie Tippit, fourth grade.

Ernestine Herring, third grade.

Gwen Marr Davis, second grade.

Mrs. Dpek Dunagan, second grade.

Lucille Collier, first grade.

Mrs. Lucy Craft, first grade.

Para Lee Sayles was re-elected teacher of the negro school.

In addition to the above, J. W. Jaquess was re-elected janitor for the high school building and Harold Snowden for the grade school building.

Carl Griffing was retained as secretary, assessor and collector of the school district.

'Possum Is Found In T-Bar Pasture

Lynn county was never noted as a 'possum country—but it can grow 'possums successfully too. We have the proof.

Last Sunday night three Tahoka boys, David Weathers, Travis McCord, and F. E. Redwine, were doing a little exploring, hunting, or something, out in the T-Bar pasture near the twin mills five miles west of Tahoka, and suddenly they encountered a strange animal. They soon discovered that it was a 'possum.

When they made an assault upon the little beast, she sniled and keeled over. They picked her up by the tail and brought her in home. For safe-keeping they placed her in a barn. The next morning when one of the boys went out to the barn to see how their prisoner was faring, they found three little 'possums. In discussing the matter with some of their elders, they found out for the first time that 'possums have pockets or pouches in which to carry their young.

But the boys are pretty sure that Mrs. 'Possum had no babies hidden away when they brought her to town. They think that she became a mother during the night. At any rate the boys can now lay claim not only to one old 'possum but also to three little ones, one apiece.

And they are sure that there is one old papa 'possum out in the T-Bar somewhere.

Two Girls Appear In Recital Thursday

Misses Verda Bartlett and Mary Bland Wells will be presented in a piano recital by their teacher, Mrs. Marcus Edwards, Thursday night of next week at the High School auditorium.

The young ladies are seeking high school credit in piano, and will be the first students to receive such credit here.

Everyone is invited to the recital.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON

NEW YORK.—This summer's session of the Institute of Pacific Relations will have many new factors and policies to consider, as new power formulas and equations are being drawn. The Philippines have changed their mind about cutting their United States towline. Japan and Germany make a joint survey of a 50-mile, low-lying canal route across the upper neck of Siam, which will bring Japan four days nearer Australia and perhaps five days nearer India. England's Singapore naval base isn't what it used to be. Australia announces a big new rearmament program.

Ian Mackenzie, Canada's handsome and versatile defense minister, breaks the news that Canada will rely on the United States fleet, voicing "reasonable assumption," rather than definite "commitments."

And Paul V. McNutt, commissioner of the Philippines, says we should carry "liberty and peace" to the Far East.

Mr. Mackenzie, a Vancouver lawyer, is one of Canada's most famous scholars who writes fluently and publishes articles in Gaelic. In his native Scotland, he was the most illustrious prize scholar of his generation, virtually monopolizing all the medals and garlands of the University of Edinburgh, for attainment in the classics.

He later won a Carnegie research fellowship, gathering more honors in his work on old Irish manuscripts. He later attended the Royal academy at Dublin, wrote Celtic language and picked up a law degree as a sort of afterthought.

He went to Vancouver in 1914, returned for the war, and romped through grades to the rank of captain, fighting in all the major engagements.

He kept his stride in his later success in law and politics in Vancouver, becoming national defense minister in 1935. He is regarded as Canada's most eligible bachelor. He says his favorite recreation is study.

JOSEPH A. LYONS, Australian prime minister who announces a rearmament program of approximately $215,000,000, has no such gift of tongues and reached eminence by a longer and harder road.

He rose to power in the labor movement and, in 1931, like the late Ramsay MacDonald, broke with his party and entered a coalition government. His shift to the right brought him under vigorous assault, but he was re-elected by a large majority last October.

He is sixty years old, gray and tousle-haired, the father of 11 children, and walks with a limp as the result of a railroad accident 13 years ago.

He began his working career as a country school teacher in Tasmania. Insularity and "home rule" marked his attitude a few years ago. Now he recommends as a commonwealth slogan, "Keep in tune with England."

Everywhere, the little nations are calling, "Wait for baby."

TAKING arms against this sea of troubles is the Countess Elaine Dedons de Pierrefeu, formerly Elsa Tudor of the Boston social register.

Under impressive patronage, which includes faculty members of leading universities, scholars, diplomats and sociologists, she organizes a "world youth tour," with a fervor comparable to that of Peter the Hermit leading the children's crusade.

She is recruiting young persons from all nations, including Germany, Italy and Russia, on a world tour to flux animosities and foster good will and understanding. "World peace through world trade" is her slogan.

Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd is among those who give warm endorsement to the plan. Headquarters for the tour are in New York.

The French husband of the countess was killed in the World war. Since then she has been vigorously active in social movements in Europe, Chicago, Boston and New York. For nearly four years she has been traveling around the world, recruiting support for her youth organization among diplomats, economists and business men.

Billion and a Half More to Be Asked for Public Works Program . . . Battle Over Reorganization Bill

Members of the house of representatives were swamped with telegrams from citizens all over the country urging that they vote against the administration's reorganization bill which, it was feared, would pave the way to an American dictatorship. Above is seen Congressman John J. O'Connor of New York, a leading foe of the bill, reading some of the messages he received.

Billion and a Half Wanted

HARRY HOPKINS, chief of the WPA, and Aubrey Williams, his deputy, had a conference with the President, and immediately afterward the word went out unofficially that Mr. Roosevelt contemplated offering congress a public works program calling for the expenditure of $1,500,000,000 to end the recession and revitalize business.

According to the plan this money would be raised by federal bond issues, and would be lent to states and cities without interest for periods as long as 50 years; and it would be repayable in small amounts annually. The President, it was understood, plans to push housing and slum clearance projects, his immediate desire being to stimulate heavy industries.

Williams has said a much greater emergency relief fund than is available would soon be needed if the new thousands of unemployed were to be cared for by the government.

Jesse Jones, whose Reconstruction Finance corporation has been authorized by congress to lend a billion and a half to almost anyone as Jones pleases and pretty much on his own terms, advised business men he would consider their loan applications individually. "The main thing this act does for business men," said Jones, "is to permit them to get loans from us for longer terms."

Kill Reorganization Bill

AT SIX o'clock on the evening of April 8 the President lost his fight for the passage of his government reorganization bill. The house of representatives voted 204 to 196 to send the bill back to committee, thus shelving it for this session of congress at least.

One hundred and eight Democrats, 88 Republicans, 6 Progressives and 2 Farmer-Laborites joined to carry the motion, which sent the bill back to committee, thus killing the bill. Voting against recommitment were 191 Democrats, 2 Progressives, and 3 Farmer-Laborites. Not one Republican voted to save the bill.

The bill, among other things, would have authorized the President, by executive order, to transfer, regroup, co-ordinate, consolidate, or abolish any of the 135 bureaus, agencies, and divisions of government. Certain independent boards and commissions were exempted.

Closing pleas, delivered in dramatic fashion by Speaker William B. Bankhead and Majority Leader Sam Rayburn, failed to swing enough votes to save the measure. The two leaders placed the issue squarely on the President. A vote against the bill was a vote of lack of confidence in the occupant of the White House, they said.

In opposition to all this organized effort were Representative John J. O'Connor, New York Democrat, chairman of the rules committee, a group of other Democratic leaders and the solid Republican minority.

They argued that the nation was fearful of the bill's implications. At a period in history when dictators abroad were growing increasingly arrogant, the congress should refrain from passing a measure which seemed to pave the way for a dictatorship in the United States, they asserted.

tatorship in the United States, they asserted.

The voting on the motion to recommit, offered by Representative John Taber (R., N. Y.), started shortly after 6 p. m. As it progressed the tension was great. The vote was tight again and again. There was tumult when the last member had shouted his vote.

Railway "Court" Proposal

HOW to save the important railways from bankruptcy was the subject of conferences at the White House and of deep study by the President. He rejected the suggestion of an outright government subsidy, and then adopted and offered for legislative action the plan of creating a special unit with judicial or quasi-judicial powers to speed up voluntary reorganization of the carriers and solve other of their problems. The unit may take the form of a special court or a board within the interstate commerce commission.

It is suggested that congress provide that appeal from the unit's decisions be direct to federal circuit courts of appeal.

The creation of the unit was recommended in a report the President ordered prepared and which was made by three members of the interstate commerce commission. These were Chairman Walter M. W. Splawn, J. B. Eastman and C. F. Mahaffie.

Other things recommended were the establishment of a transportation board to study co-ordination and elimination of unnecessary duplication; the facilitation of loans; modification of the bankruptcy act to aid reorganization proceedings, and means for accomplishing consolidations.

"Help Business" Measure

WHAT Sen. Pat Harrison called the "help business" measure, being the revenue bill as rewritten by his senate finance committee, was submitted to the senate. Though Harrison said he expected its speedy passage, others believed at least a full week of debate would be necessary.

Sen. Charles McNary of Oregon, minority leader promised to support the bill, saying, "I think it is a great improvement over the house version. I am in favor of speeding its passage to help business."

Plan to Defend Czechs

JOSEPH PAUL-BONCOUR, French foreign minister, has devised a plan for an alliance linking Soviet Russia, Poland, Yugoslavia, and Czechoslovakia with France for the specific purpose of protecting the Czechs from aggression on the part of Nazi Germany.

The French ambassadors to Moscow and Warsaw and the ministers to Prague and Bucharest, who had been summoned to Paris, were in-structed by Paul-Boncour to sound out the governments to which they were accredited regarding the proposal.

Efforts to bring about agreement between the government of Czechoslovakia and Konrad-Henlein's Sudeten German or Nazi party broke down when Premier Hodza, rejected the Nazi demands for elections among the nation's 3,500,000 Germans to determine whether they should gain autonomy.

What to Eat and Why

C. Houston Goudiss Discusses WATER--the Elixir of Life

By C. HOUSTON GOUDISS
6 East 39th St., New York.

OF ALL the elements required to support life and maintain health and efficiency, water takes precedence. Without it, the protein, carbohydrates, fats, minerals and vitamins, which build and repair tissues, provide motive power for the body engine, and regulate the complex processes necessary to existence would be utterly useless.

Water is the magic stream through which all nutritive elements are carried into and through the body and there held in suspension. It is the ever-ready messenger which distributes heat, moisture and body-building material, where and as it is needed.

Man Is a Sponge
Our bodies are like water-logged sponges, for we carry water to the limit of our capacity. A human being is more than two-thirds water, and this proportion must be maintained, if health and strength are to be preserved.

There is enough water in a person weighing 150 pounds to fill a 15-gallon barrel. Muscles, liver and kidneys are about 80 per cent water, the brain 85 per cent. Even bone is made up of more than one-third water, so you can see that the old adage "dry as a bone" is not strictly accurate.

No cell can function unless it is constantly bathed in fluid. Furthermore, the cells depend upon water to transport their foods through the blood. This alone requires ten pounds of water in constant circulation.

We may term these functions an incoming service. But it is equally important as an outgoing stream. The cells need water to flush away their waste products. And if the surface of the lungs is not kept moist, there can be no intake of oxygen, no output of carbon dioxide.

Without water, no waste would be carried out of the body. Poisonous substances would remain to wreck the system within a short time. Water flushes the countless channels of physical existence—even while we sleep, for it constantly passes from the body through the lungs and skin, as well as through the bowels and kidneys.

Water Starvation
Where do we get all this water? When we are thirsty, we take a

★ All the accumulated knowledge and experience of C. Houston Goudiss, the man who for 30 years has exerted a wide influence on the food habits of this nation, are now available to homemakers through the series of articles now appearing in this newspaper. These discussions are as fascinating as fiction, as up to date as tomorrow, and, above all, authoritative. For no matter what aspect of food is under discussion, C. Houston Goudiss knows whereof he speaks.

★ His work has been a devotion to the study of food, both from the productive and the manufactured standpoint. He believes that better food means a better nation. Sharing these views, we have secured him to assist in carrying out our aims—to be the best available guide in the most important of all matters that affect the homes of the readers of this newspaper—for health, happiness and prosperity depend first of all upon food.

★ Every homemaker will want to clip these articles, and save them. She will find them invaluable aids in keeping her family properly fed.

drink and there the interest of most people ends.

Few individuals give proper consideration to supplying the body with all the water it needs. Yet, when the water content of the body diminishes, health and life are in danger. A loss of 10 per cent of body water is a serious matter, and a loss of 20 per cent is usually fatal.

It is only in rare instances—such as when lost in a desert—that man actually dies of thirst, for even when no fluids are drunk, water is consumed with food. But all about us we see men and women suffering from the effects of water starvation. Some indications of this are dryness of the skin and lips, mucous membranes and scalp. There is also danger of damaging the kidneys which require water to flush away the acid products of metabolism. And very often constipation can be traced to a deficiency of water, which is necessary to soften the contents of the intestinal canal.

None of these ill effects may be feared if you take enough water.

How Much Is Enough?

A healthy, normal individual requires about four quarts of water every 24 hours. That requirement varies somewhat with the season. In hot weather there is a greater elimination of water through perspiration and that loss must be replaced.

However, it is not necessary to drink four quarts of water a day. For part of our needs are supplied by food. The body draws upon three sources for its water: First, water taken as a drink or in other liquids; second, water supplied by foods, especially fruits and vegetables, for although solid foods appear dry, most of them are in fact from 75 to 95 per cent water; third, water formed in the tissues in the combustion of fuel foods. Fat gives the most water when burned. In fact, it produces more water than the weight of the original fat. Sugar gives the least.

Foods Rich in Water

A half-pound potato contains nearly a full glass of water. Some other foods that are more than 70 per cent water are asparagus, berries, string beans, cabbage, cauliflower, celery, cucumber, eggs, citrus fruits, cherries, grapes, melons, apples, raw and cooked greens, milk, onions, cooked green peas, boiled potatoes, sauerkraut, shell fish, meat stews, tomatoes and squash.

Foods containing less than 30 per cent water include butter, cakes, candies, ready-to-eat cereals, crackers, dried fruits, nuts, potato chips, sausage, bacon, syrups and zwieback.

Avoid the Dry Habit

In addition to the water consumed with food, every normal individual should drink about six glasses of liquid daily—as water, milk, coffee, tea or other beverages.

Most people drink far too little water. Women often have the mistaken notion that water will make them fat. To demonstrate the fallacy of this idea, a world-famous physician once remarked that if that were true, poor people would long ago have adopted the practice.

It is possible to drink too much water and those who are suffering from disease should be guided by their physician in determining the amount required. But most normal people could increase both mental and physical efficiency by taking more of this magic fluid.

Drink Water with Meals

The question is often asked—"Is it wise to drink water with meals?" The answer is "Yes."

Have You a Question? Ask C. Houston Goudiss

C. Houston Goudiss has placed at the disposal of readers of this newspaper all the facilities of his famous Experimental Kitchen Laboratory in New York City. He will gladly answer questions concerning foods, diet, nutrition, and their relation to health. You are also invited to consult him in matters of personal hygiene. It's not necessary to write a letter unless you desire, for postcard inquiries will receive the same careful attention. Address C. Houston Goudiss at 6 East 39th Street, New York City.

There is evidence that the drinking of a reasonable amount of water with meals by normal individuals stimulates the secretion of gastric juice, thereby improving digestion. It has also been demonstrated that it aids in the absorption of food by the body and retards the growth of intestinal bacteria.

The homemaker should be just as conscientious in providing her family with sufficient water as with adequate amounts of the other food substances. For water must be included in the list of essential food constituents. It is in truth, the ELIXIR OF LIFE.

Questions Answered

C. D. L., Jr.—Ptyorrhea seems to be associated with a mild vitamin C deficiency which has gone on over a long period of time. To obtain adequate amounts of vitamin C, you should eat plenty of citrus fruits, tomatoes, strawberries and raw, leafy vegetables, such as cabbage.

Mrs. S. T. R.—Answering your question as to what is the most efficient time to begin reducing—the proper time is when the weight first begins to climb above normal. Most people wait until they are 20 or 30 pounds overweight and then reducing becomes more difficult.

Miss T. P. G.—Yes, there is a stimulant in cocoa that closely resembles caffeine in coffee. But a cup of cocoa contains less of the stimulant than is found in a cup of tea or coffee.

Mrs. A. R. M.—No, milk is not fattening. Women especially fear that milk will increase their weight, but this fear is not justified, since a pint of milk, or two large glasses, only supplies 340 calories.

BEAUTY CONTEST for PLANTS!

HAVE you ever wondered why most of the finest gardens in your locality are grown from FERRY'S Seeds? Here's why:

All FERRY'S Seeds are the result of many years of careful breeding, selecting and improving. In developing a new strain, the seed experts of the FERRY-MORSE Seed-Breeding Institute hold "plant beauty contests" to select the finest plants. Their seeds are planted for the next crop. Thus, year after year, weaknesses are eliminated and desirable qualities encouraged.

Select your flower and vegetable seeds from the FERRY'S Seeds store display. All have been tested this year for germination and tested for true-ness to type. So a packet and up. FERRY-MORSE Seed Co., Detroit, San Francisco.

WILLIAM MACLEOD RAINE'S

To Ride the River With

COPYRIGHT WILLIAM MACLEOD RAINE—WNU SERVICE

SYNOPSIS

Ruth Chiswick of L. C. ranch, obsessed by fear of danger to her outspoken and bull-headed father, Lee, from a band of lawless rustlers headed by Sperm Howard, decides to save him by eloping with young Lou Howard, Sperm's son, and comes to the town of Tail Holt to meet him. While in Yell Sanger's store, a crook-nosed stranger enters, sizes up the situation, and when a drunken cowboy, Jim Pender, rides in and starts shooting, protects Ruth, while Lou Howard hides. Disgusted with Lou's cowardice, Ruth calls off the elopement, and sends the stranger for her father at the gambling house across the street. There the stranger, calling himself Jeff Gray, meets Morgan Norris, a killer, Curly Connor, Kansas, Mile High, Sid Hunt, and other rustlers, and Sperm Howard. Lee Chiswick enters, with his foreman, Dan Brand, and tells Sperm Howard of his orders to shoot rustlers at sight. Jeff Gray returns to Ruth and coldly reassures her of her father's safety. At supper, Ruth introduces Jeff to her father and Brand, and in Sanger's store later she speaks cordially to Curly Connor.

CHAPTER—II—Continued

Curly spoke in a friendly way to her father and then to her. Morgan Norris scowled. He had been talking as they entered, but his words had apparently dried up. After paying for the sack of tobacco Sanger handed him, he walked past Ruth out of the store. It seemed to her there was an insolent defiance in the slight swagger with which he moved.

On his way out Curly stopped for another word with Ruth. He considered her the prettiest girl within a day's ride, and he was quite willing to make the most of their rather slight acquaintance.

Lee Chiswick passed them with some bundles in his hands. "I'm putting these in the saddlebags," the cattleman said gruffly. "Yes, Father, I'll be right out," Ruth answered. She knew he was annoyed at her for falling into talk with Curly Connor, a wild young fellow reputed to be hand in glove with the rustlers.

"We're starting," Chiswick growled over his shoulder.

The cattleman walked across the road to the hitch-rack and began putting packages in the saddlebags of his mount. Through the deepening dusk he saw Dan Brand coming down the street leading Ruth's chestnut mare. Morgan Norris leaned against a doorpost at the entrance to the Golden Nugget.

The foreman fastened the chestnut with a slip-knot. "Got to get me some eatin' tobacco," he said, and bowlegged across the road to the store.

As Brand passed the two young people, he gave Ruth a curious glance. Down at the corral where she had left her horse, he had learned a bit of news.

"All set to go?" Ruth asked him. "Soon as I get my chewing." Curly was speaking to the girl in a low voice. She shook her head, decisively.

"No, Mr. Connor. I'm sure I am flattered. But you know Father doesn't like some of your friends. I don't think he would make you welcome at the L. C. if you rode out there."

"Not even if I dropped in kinda by chance?" Ruth laughed. "Young men who drop in by chance don't fool him any more."

They followed Brand out of the store. Night was sweeping down over the valley. The first evening stars were pricking out. Above the door of a saloon farther down the street a lantern had been lit.

Men drifted in and out of gambling-houses. Morgan Norris was no longer in sight. He had disappeared into the Golden Nugget. Mile High and his friend Sid moved with trailing spurs to their companions.

Someone invited them to come back and have another drink. "No, sir, we're hitting the trail," Mile High called back.

From the alley beside the Golden Nugget a flash split the darkness. The blast of a gun sounded—twice.

Lee Chiswick caught at theommel of his saddle, at the same time dragging a revolver into sight. Ruth ran forward and slipped an arm around his waist.

"Get back, girl!" he shouted with an oath.

A man came swiftly, weapon in hand. From the end of the barrel a faint trickle of smoke drifted. The man was Jeff Gray.

Ruth clung to her father, her body between him and the runner.

"Don't you dare!" she cried wildly. "You murderer!"

Gray stopped abruptly, and thrust his gun back into the holster.

"You don't think . . ." he began. "Lemme go, you little fool," Chiswick cried, struggling to free his arms.

Two more guns roared. Dan Brand and Curly Connor had come into action against the crook-nosed man.

Gray dodged behind the horses, crossed the street at a zigzag run, his body low and crouched, and snatched up the trailing reins of his rangy roan. Without touching the stirrups, he vaulted into the saddle. The gelding whirled at a touch, rising to its hind legs. A moment later the rider went racing down the street, lying low on the saddle. Bullets whizzed past him. He did not stop. Horse and man vanished into the night.

CHAPTER III

In an incredibly short time after the firing had ceased a crowd of milling men surrounded the Chiswicks.

All the color had washed out of Ruth's face. Her arm still supported the wounded cattleman. "Someone get a doctor," she begged.

"No doc in town," Mile High answered. "I'll ride to Tough Nut for one if you like, Miss."

Lee drew a hand across the back of his neck and looked at the stain. "Creased me," he said. "Must have knocked me dizzy with the shock. No more than skin deep."

From the outskirts of the press Morgan Norris asked a question. "Who did it?"

"That sorreltop stranger," answered Curly. "Open out a way, boys, and let Mr. Chiswick through. Better get him into the Golden Nugget."

"I'll go into Sanger's," Chiswick said. "No use making a fuss. I'm not hurt."

The broad shoulders of Dan Brand opened a path.

"Are you sure it's . . . not se-

The pain from the grip on her flesh was intense.

rious, Father?" Ruth asked, as soon as they had reached the store.

"Sure," Lee replied curtly. "Just a scratch. Get me water, a clean towel, and some linen to tie up my neck, Yell," he ordered.

Sherman Howard came into the store as Ruth was tying a handkerchief around her father's neck to hold the bandage in place.

He said suavely: "I wouldn't have had this happen for a thousand dollars, Lee. I've got men out on the trail after this skunk, and if they catch him we'll sure string him to a cottonwood."

"Why, the scalawag ate supper with us not 15 minutes ago," Brand burst out indignantly. "Soon as I see him I knew he was a bad hombre, but I didn't figure on him pulling any such a thing as that."

"Haden't been for Miss Chiswick the fellow would have finished the job," Curly cried with enthusiasm. "I never saw anything like the way she stood between him and her father. He couldn't get in another shot."

"You and Dan drove him off, Mr. Connor," Ruth said blushing.

"I certainly owe you thanks for your help," Chiswick said to Curly. "His bullet had knocked me silly and I couldn't do much for myself."

"Yore gun came out mighty swift, sir. I noticed that. Maybe if you hadn't been dazed you might have done better than Dan and me. We both missed clean, I reckon."

"Didn't have time to get set," apologized Brand. "He was moving mighty fast."

"And still is," Curly added with a grin.

"We'll hit the trail," Chiswick told the foreman. "Might bring the horses across to the door."

"Do you think you're able to travel?" his daughter asked, with a worried frown.

"Why not wait till morning, Lee?" Howard said. "You'll be more comfortable at Ma Presnell's. Better play safe."

"You think some yellow coyote will take a crack at me?" the L. C. owner asked bluntly, his hard gaze on Howard.

"No, I think you may be hurt worse than you figure. If you're set on going, Curly will ride with you till you are clear of town, I reckon." "Sure I will," assented Curly.

"Mighty glad to do that. Though you're perfectly safe from that killer, I would say."

"You can't ride beside me, young fellow," Chiswick told him. "But I'll take your proposition up and ask you to go along with my daughter till we get out of this town. You and Dan will flank her. I'll ride in front alone. If there is another murderer wants to get me, here is his chance."

At the edge of the village, Chiswick pulled up, thanked Curly, and sent the young man back. A quarter of a mile farther on he took a hill trail.

"It's five miles farther home this way, Father," Ruth said. "And a rough trail for night travel. With your wound—"

"I keep telling you I haven't any wound," he exclaimed. "We're going this way because it's safer. They'll think we will travel by the main road. If a trap has been laid, we'll miss it."

"Something in that," Brand agreed. "I don't reckon anybody is laying for us, but no need to take a chance."

A crowing cock was proclaiming the advent of dawn when they reached the L. C. ranch.

Ruth poured her father another cup of coffee. He took it absently, his eyes on a paper in his hand.

"Reckon I better put the date in," he said aloud, to himself.

The paper was a bill of sale. It read:

"This is to certify I have this day sold to Barclay Broderick one hundred and eighty (180) yearling heifers branded L. C., Lazy D., and J.-M., and I guarantee peaceable possession of same. Lee Chiswick."

His daughter watched him, waiting for a favorable moment. It was the second morning after their return to the ranch, and she had made up her mind to confess now. She was nervous, for she was not at all sure what he might do. This was going to be a blow for him. Why had she been such a fool?

"Something to tell you, Father," she said.

With a pencil he wrote the date on the bill of sale. "That ought to be about the thing," he looked up. "Yes?"

Small gleaming teeth, strong and even, bit into her upper lip. "Can we go into your office?" she asked.

He finished the coffee. Ruth followed him. In the movement of her fluent body was a fine animal vigor. She shut the door of the little room after they had entered.

Ruth swallowed a lump in her throat and plunged. "When I went to Tail Holt I didn't know you had gone there, Father," she began.

"Didn't?" Chiswick's eyes came to attention. "Then why did you go?"

"I was running away to get married."

He stared at her. "Who with?"

"With Lou Howard." Her eyes clung to his steadily. She held her head up, defiant even in her humility.

He was too surprised and shocked to say anything at first.

"It wasn't his fault as much as it was mine," she went on. "I was a crazy fool. You told me to have nothing to do with him—never to speak to him. You threatened me. I like him, and I resented having you dictate to me. We met secretly. I thought I was in love with him and slipped away to Tail Holt. We were going to be married there."

"One of those cursed Howards!" Lee was still too shaken to explode. "On the way I found out I didn't care for him so much," Ruth continued. "But I was ashamed to turn back then. When that drunken man who was killed later came into Sanger's he—Lou Howard, I mean—"

He didn't finish less than justice. She had been willful, and she had flirted in an innocent way, but she was far from fickle. A few boys had plunged fathoms deep in love with her, but it had been good for their education. Ruth was as clean as the windswept hills, and there was in her a deep loyalty.

Hopelessly he threw out a hand. "My own fault, I reckon. I spoiled you—let you run hog wild—gave you your own way. If I'd used a quirt on you, it might have been better."

Ruth knew why he had been so indulgent. She reminded him of the young wife he had lost two or three years after her birth.

"I took advantage of your goodness to me," Ruth agreed.

"You brothers are boys. I'm proud of—fine steady young fellows who will do to ride the river with I know they will be with me long as they can stand and fight. And I thought I could depend on you too, even if you are a wild colt. I didn't figure you'd walk out on me to join my worst enemy."

"I didn't do that, Father," she denied. "I would always be on your side."

"Trouble is you're a lump of conceit. You figure wrong makes right if you say so. Girl, you're laying out trouble for yourself unless you change your ways, and trouble for anyone fond of you. You'd ought to go down on your knees and thank God you didn't marry this scoundrel. You would have paid for it all your life."

Ruth knew this was true, and admitted it.

"I'm ashamed of myself," she said with unwonted gentleness.

Chiswick looked at her, started to speak, then turned on his heel abruptly and strode out of the room. Ruth knew why he left. Her attitude lapped at his resentment and weakened it. He did not want to forgive her yet, not while the passionate abhorrence of what she had done was still hot in him.

Sardines Characterized as Hobos of the Sea; They Travel Long Distances

After 18 years of intensive study, the sardine has been characterized by the California State Fisheries laboratory as being a veritable hobo of the sea, writes a San Francisco United Press correspondent.

Its wanderings, in fact, are so great that the fish threatens to involve international complications with Japan, Mexico and possibly other countries.

The system which the state laboratory employed has been to catch sardines, tag them and then keep records of where they eventually were caught again.

This has been made necessary by the controversy of whether the sardines caught off the Japanese, Mexican and Russian coasts were California sardines or whether the various sections of the seas harbor distinct sardine populations of their own. All evidence to date indicates that the sardine is a migratory fish.

According to the first report prepared by laboratory officials after checking for 18 years the size, mature, spawning grounds, anatomical characteristics and license tag attached to them, the sardines inhabiting the coast from Lower California to Canada are one homogeneous migratory population.

It has been developed further that most of the spawning occurs off the coast of Southern California and Lower California. The young remain in the warm southern waters for a while, then they get the travel urge and begin their northward swim.

The hobo instinct then develops as they grow in size. At first they are only able to get as far as Central California waters, returning the following spring to the spawning grounds in the south.

Fleet Marriages
Fleet marriages were clandestine and irregular marriages performed at Fleet prison in London by debtor clergymen. Though not illegal, the system was so abused that it was abolished in the reign of George II.

Painful and Weak Feet

By
DR. JAMES W. BARTON
© Bell Syndicate—WNU Service.

DURING examination of recruits for the war the number of cases of flat feet, hammer toe (no movement in the joint of the toe), bunions and other foot defects was very large. While some of these cases were due to "pointed" and narrow shoes, a great many were due to "weakness" of the foot, either inherited or from standing too long in one position—as in the cases of mortormen, policemen, clerks—or from infection of the joints of the foot from diseased teeth or tonsils.

Today, fortunately, shoes are sensibly built for both men and women, and there is less trouble with the toes, arches and soles of the feet. There are, however, a great many foot sufferers who try various makes of shoes, get all kinds of foot "aids" and yet have no comfort with their feet.

In discussing the treatment of foot disorders in the Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. Dudley J. Morton of New York states that the first thought is to remove pain and establish good working ability in the foot. The three causes of pain and loss of good working ability are:

(1) irritation, (2) deep injury or changes due to inflammation, and (3) disordered mechanics, where the bones of the foot are not being held together or up in their proper places by the ligaments and the muscles.

The "irritations" are corns, calluses, warts, which should be removed by surgery, chemical preparations or X-ray. Naturally the shoes should be properly fitted.

The "injured" foot due to wrong standing, to some infective process—teeth, tonsils, or poor circulation, requires rest, removal of infection, and stimulation of the circulation by hot and cold applications, and light exercise such as working the toes and trying to grasp a small object with the toes.

In cases of "disordered mechanics"—flat forward arch or flat middle arch (the common flat foot), properly fitted insoles (adjusted from time to time) give splendid results under the supervision of an orthopedic physician or surgeon.

Strengthening the Sick.

Less than fifteen years ago patients with almost any illness were not allowed to eat solid foods, and very little liquid foods. There was the feeling that foods would create waste products which would get into the blood and be carried to all parts of the body. The bowel was also flushed out daily to prevent accumulation of wastes. In other words food—nourishment and building up the body's strength—to resist the ailment was put in the background. Similarly when a patient was being prepared for operation, he was given small amounts of soft or liquid foods, his intestine flushed out, and often an enema used also to make sure there were absolutely no "wastes" in the lower bowel.

As we think of it now we can understand why so many patients were slow in recovering and why surgical patients remained in hospital about a week longer than at present. It just took this extra week or ten days for the patient to make up for the weakness caused by lack of sufficient food and perhaps also too much purging.

It is also in the last ten or fifteen years only that research physicians have been investigating foods thoroughly, their fuel or food value, the need of minerals, the action of vitamins.

In speaking of the great advance made in the study of foods by research physicians in well-equipped laboratories, Dr. J. S. McLester, one of America's outstanding food experts, states in the Journal of the American Medical Association: "Nutrition was formerly the stepchild of medicine . . . today medical men are keenly alive to the vastly important part which nutrition plays in the prevention and treatment of disease."

Early Use of Metal Furniture

Metal furniture is not a new idea. Egypt and Rome used iron, silver, gold, and bronze furniture, although what little remains is so sumptuous as to indicate that it was a luxury of kings. In 1770, however, a master craftsman of France whose name was Clement invented the. He was accustomed to working in opaque varnish or enamel and he found sheet metal to be a perfect base. During the life of Louis XV Clement made cabinets, chairs, lamps, and desks of tole. At first a curiosity the expensive metal furniture became a fashion, almost a mark of snobbery. The lamps had a dignity of their own which has survived to this day. Clement's other furniture was not as livable as wood furniture.

THREE NEW MEMBERS IN ROTARY CLUB

Three new Rotarians were welcomed into the club at the luncheon Thursday: Truett Smith, Henry Maasen, and Kirk Pitts. The name of Sam Holland was presented for membership and the application approved.

Before Truett Smith was admitted into full membership, Ray Weathers turned prosecutor and made a terrific arraignment of the district attorney. Although placed in the role of a defendant, Truett did not undertake to defend himself, and after much fun was indulged in he was welcomed into the club.

Talks were made by Happy Smith, Rev. George Dale, and Perry W. Goad explaining why they came to Lynn county, in both humorous and serious vein.

On motion of Tom Garrard, all Rotarians were requested to extend a welcome to the Methodists who will be attending the Conference here next Thursday.

Among the visitors present were Phil Overton, assistant attorney general of Texas, Will P. Florence, pioneer citizen of Slaton, and Leonard Cole of Lubbock. Mr. Florence was one of the earliest settlers of the entire South Plains, and he made a brief talk telling about his advent into this section of the state.

The Rotary Club will meet with the farmers at the Farmers Co-operative Gin next Thursday. At their next meeting they will entertain their families with a picnic supper and program.

Miss Christa Cowan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Cowan, as dramatic soprano, had a leading part in the oratorio presented by Prof. Blittz and about 220 other singers in the Lubbock High School Auditorium last Tuesday night. Miss Cowan formerly resided here and has many friends in and near Tahoka who are delighted at her musical achievements.

WICHITA FALLS MAN OUT FOR ROTARY GOVERNOR

The Wichita Falls Rotary Club is sponsoring the candidacy of Linton H. Estes for governor of the 127th district of Rotary International. The nomination will be made at the Rotary conference at Breckenridge May 8, 9, 10.

Mr. Estes is head of a wholesale paper company in Wichita Falls. He has been president of his state trade association and vice president of the national organization. He has been president of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce and active in civic work. He has served the Wichita Falls Rotary Club as chairman of various committees, as a director and as president.

J. Edd McLaughlin of Falls is the present district governor.

Midway

Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas of this community spent the week end in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Giles of Grandview, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Rainey and family left last Wednesday for Detroit, Texas, where they will spend two or three weeks visiting relatives.

The people of Midway and Joe Bailey communities are meeting at the Bethel Church Sunday to celebrate Easter. The two communities will contribute a program to the celebration. There will be, also, dinner on the ground and an Easter egg hunt for the children. Mr. Bryan, the new pastor, will preach.

Miss Ana Lou Henderson spent Saturday night in Lubbock with some college friends of Olton. Honor roll for the month of March:

First grade: Terrell Williams.
Fifth grade: Clara Faye Nodyke, Marlene Stephens, Clovis Stephens, Vada Bell Willingham.

Sixth grade: Bessie Rainey.
Eighth grade: Clara Lee Henry, Mary Louise Rainey, Nelto Stephens, Jim McDonald.

Ninth grade: Iaphene Stephens, Evelyn McDonald, Omega Murphy.

LEGISLATIVE CANDIDATE VISITOR IN TAHOKA

W. P. Florence of Slaton, candidate for representative in the legislature, visited Tahoka Thursday in the interest of his candidacy.

Mr. Florence came to Lubbock county in 1900 and has been a citizen of the county ever since. He has written an interesting little book dealing with his experiences as a West Texas pioneer.

Phil Overton, son of Dr. M. C. Overton of the Lubbock Sanitarium, and assistant attorney general of Texas under "Bill" McCraw, was a Tahoka visitor Thursday. Of course he was deadening a little political timber for his chief. Mr. Overton was a pleasant visitor at the News office.

CO-OP GIN MEETING NEXT THURSDAY

Stockholders of the Farmers Co-operative Gin Association No. 1 of Tahoka will hold their annual meeting at the gin plant next Thursday, April 21, beginning at 9 a. m.

B. J. Emanuel, president, will preside and introduce the speakers who are to appear on the program.

C. E. Bowles, of the Extension Service, Texas A. & M. College, and F. G. Campbell, manager of the Co-Op Mill at Lubbock, will be among the speakers. Local co-op leaders of the county have been invited.

The business session will open at 2:30 in the afternoon. Special entertainment is to be offered the women and children at this same hour.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Lyons of Galveston have been here this week visiting their niece, Mrs. Le-nore M. Tunnell, and her daughter.

A boy weighing 7 pounds and 11 ounces was born to Mr. and Mrs. Alton Cain early Saturday morning in a Lubbock hospital. The little fellow has been named Jerry Dean. Mother and babe are doing well and Alton has just a little quicker step this week.

Miss Lottie Jo Townes came in Thursday to visit with her mother and brothers during the Easter holidays. She is a student in Texas Christian University.

Mrs. S. L. Kerr of Fresno, California, sister of E. H. Boullion of this city, arrived Wednesday for a few days visit here. She and Mr. and Mrs. Boullion expect to leave Sunday for Arkadelphia, Arkansas, where they will visit the parents of Mr. Boullion and Mrs. Kerr, and attend the golden wedding anniversary celebration of the aged couple on April 24.

Joe Davis, who recently retired from the grocery business here, has been employed as a traveling salesman for a wholesale grocery house, with headquarters in Lubbock. He has been transferred to Austin and will work in and out of that city hereafter, we understand. His family will remain here a few weeks, however.

Mrs. Nettie Davis has returned from Los Angeles and near-by cities in California, where she spent two and a half months visiting her daughters, Mrs. Ruby Wood and Miss Mildred Davis, and her sister. Mrs. Davis says she surely enjoyed her trip.

F. A. Anderson of O'Donnell has moved to Tahoka and accepted a job as market man in the Cash Store.

Mrs. Lawrence Harvick is in a Lubbock hospital in a critical condition suffering from influenza and possibly diabetes and other troubles, we understand. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Carpenter of this city.

Burton Edwards, who had been suffering from influenza for two weeks or more, was taken to a Lubbock sanitarium last Saturday. His condition is improving, we understand.

THE BEST GOVERNMENT ON EARTH

President Roosevelt suffered another stunning defeat Friday when the House of Representatives killed his government reorganization bill by a vote of 204 to 196. The Senate had passed the bill, after a long and bitter fight, by the narrow margin of seven votes.

His enemies and even some of his former staunch supporters felt that the bill gave the President too much power. They charged that it delegated to the President legislative power, which the Constitution vests in Congress alone.

They charged that in placing the Civil Service in the hands of one man to be appointed by the President instead of a non-partisan or bi-partisan board as at present, the bill would place the Civil Service in politics and thus virtually destroy it.

They charged that the bill would take away from Congress all power to control or check the spending of the money which Congress appropriates and give the President and the heads of various departments, commissions, boards, and bureaus the power to spend it as they might please without check or control of any kind on the part of Congress.

They charged that in creating a new cabinet position to be known as the Department of Public Welfare or some similar designation, the bill would create a political department to administer relief and other general welfare expenditures and would destroy all hope of keeping this sort of spending separate from partisan politics.

The friends of the bill seemed unable to effectively refute these charges. They merely replied that the charges that the President was seeking dictatorial powers were ridiculous, that he was only seeking efficiency in the executive and administrative departments of the government, and that a vote against the bill would indicate a lack of confidence in the President.

Opposition to the bill was doubtless augmented by the fact that heads of some of the bureaus and boards and departments operating under the New Deal had allegedly assumed an arrogant attitude toward members of Congress who had opposed certain proposals that they or the President had submitted.

Criticism and resentment of their attitude cropped out several times during the debate.

Congressmen had not forgotten also the bitter fight which the President had made to "reorganize" or pack the Supreme Court, and they charged that now he was seeking to dominate Congress and to nullify its acts just as he had attempted to control the Court.

A desperate effort was made by Democratic leaders in both the Senate and the House to hold the Democrats in line and pass the bill.
They succeeded in holding enough of them in line in the Senate to save the day, but the rebellion in the House kept growing until it gathered such force as to be invincible.

So, whatever the merits and the faults of the bill might have been,
and whatever the motives of the President might have been, it has been clearly demonstrated that this country is in no immediate danger of passing under the lash of a dictator—not, at least, in so far as Congress is concerned. President Roosevelt doubtless has never had a thought of becoming a dictator.
But he has sought and used much power and Congress has become weary of it. Congress is content no longer to be a mere rubber stamp.
It is boldly, almost gleefully, reasserting its independence and resuming the exercise of its powers, which it had surrendered in large measure to the President and the heads of the various Departments.

It is well.
The President is the titular leader of the Democratic party and the chief executive of the nation, but under the Constitution the Congress is our legislative body, and the laws it enacts should be the free and unbridled expression of its will and its better judgment. The President can and should make recommendations to Congress, but he should never attempt to dominate it.

We still think that our government, with its three distinct departments, the legislative, the executive, and the judicial, is the best and greatest form of government on the face of the earth.

HITLERISM

This is the way they hold elections under a dictatorship.

The following excerpts are gleaned from a news story sent out from Berlin Sunday by the United Press to the newspapers of the world.

"There was no escape from voting—except from Austria's Jews who were disfranchised by Hitler, and who remained indoors during the day of the greater German Reich.

"They feared to venture out into the streets where Nazis in uniforms ranged up and down, stopping men and women at random to see whether they wore the small Ja button proclaiming that they had voted yes.

"Stormtroopers with official cars went from house to house, with the thoroughness of an American predict captain to see that every qualified voter has cast his ballot.
"Pious Jewish families gathered around Sabbath candles pondering the course of the fate of their nation and praying to Jehovah for mercy.

"A commission watched the balloting at each poll.

"The procedure was simple. The voter received his ballot with yes above a large circle and no above a small circle. . . . After marking his ballot the voter left the booth and slipped the ballot into a small urn—as an official repeated his name loudly. After completing his vote the voter received a large lapel button."

Describing the pre-election campaign, it is said "The campaign left no room for opposition opinions. Only those ardently demanding approval of anschluss (union) were heard in meetings, in the press and on the air."

No freedom of speech, no freedom of the press, no freedom of choice at the polls, no religious freedom; government by threats and intimidation; the lives of a whole people regimented and controlled by a dictator and his satellites.

And yet there are a few people in this country that would be willing to vest all power in one man.
We hope their number may never become legion.

Jack Stricklin of the Terry County Herald gives us some fatherly advice. "We don't know how big Waggoner is," he says, alluding to Tom Waggoner of the Claude News,
"but you are small, Brother Hill, and he may drive his wagon over you some day. Better lay off Waggoner." But you don't know Waggoner, Jack. He's as harmless and helpless as you or I. He wouldn't harm an ant that stung him on the neck. Besides, he too is little no danger in him at all, and a fine fellow with all his vagaries. But he doesn't drive a wagon. He drives an automobile, that he got from the treasonable and tyrannical moneyed interests that helped to saddle the terrible gold standard upon this downtrodden country of ours, but we wouldn't be surprised if he keeps greenbacks plastered all over the windshield.

Ernest O. Thompson, candidate for governor, made his opening speech at Waco Tuesday. Bill Mc-Craw will open his campaign at Arlington on Saturday, April 23. He has already given out a few points of his platform. Thompson says we can get by another two years without imposing any additional taxes.
McCraw says that if we can't he favors levying it on the natural resources of the state, meaning sulphur, oil, gas, etc. Both say that we must increase pensions to the aged needy and faithfully carry out our social security program.
Both are red-headed and neither was ever known to run from a fight. It's going to get warm in Texas before July, boys.

BLACK-DRAUGHT
A GOOD LAXATIVE

Senator G. H. Nelson returned about the first of the week from a woods-shelling campaign in East Texas and has gone again. He thinks the political outlook is fine over in the piney woods. It ought to be. Nelson was born in Cass county and he is just a boy come back home in that part of the state. He surely knows his hickory nuts and persimmons. He can make a convincing speech too, and he has been making 'em over in the land that gave us Jim Hogg and Horace Chilton and Cone Johnson and Tom Campbell, et al. He has a line that those boys like and we predict that somebody is going to have to get up and do some running if he keeps Hobart Nelson out of the lieutenant governor's chair.

They had a plebiscite throughout Germany and Austria Sunday—what we would term a special election in this country—and the returns sounded very much like the returns from Duval county in a Democratic primary in Texas. In Germany they voted in favor of the gobbling up of Austria by "der Fuehrer" at the ratio of 99 to 1.

In Austria, the country that got gobbled up, they voted in favor of it by a vote of 400 to 1. Behold, how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity!

Do you want to SAVE MONEY?

The Standard Ford V-8, with 60-horsepower engine, gives you a lot of car for a little money.

300,000 new owners acclaimed the "thrifty 60" last year. Hundreds a day are buying it in 1938. Why?

Because it is priced low—includes essential equipment without extra charge—and goes farther between filling stations than any Ford car ever built. Owners all over the country report averages of 22 to 27 miles on a single gallon of gasoline.

But economy isn't all the story by any means. The Standard "60" is built with the same precision as the De Luxe "85," and has the same 112-inch wheelbase chassis. It is easy to look at and ride in —as well as easy to buy and run.
There's a Ford dealer near you.

Tests Prove the Power of Food

Demonstrate a Vitamin-Rich Diet Is Vital to Health

By C. HOUSTON GOUDISS
MANKIND owes many things to the animals which have been used as test subjects in laboratories all over the world. As doctors and scientists have waged their war against disease, as they have made great strides forward in the study of foods and nutrition, they have carried on many of their experiments with rats.

The rats pictured here dramatically illustrate the power of food to influence growth. Although these two rats are exactly the same age, the weight of one is twice that of his brother. Where one animal is puny and underdeveloped, the second is fat and sleek and full of vitality.

What has produced such a difference in weight and general physical well-being? Merely a slight difference in diet. The two rats have lived under identical conditions, but the smaller animal on the left has received food lacking in sufficient vitamins, while the other rat has been fed the same diet, reinforced with vitamins.

If a well-balanced food ration is vital to the health of animals, how much more vital it must be for human beings. Surely the lesson is plain to see. If a mother wants her children to thrive she must feed them adequately. The child who is receiving a diet lacking in vitamins has no chance to grow and develop properly. Nor will the adult on a deficient diet attain or maintain optimum health.

EDITOR'S NOTE: To plan a diet wisely, to recognize the foods rich in important food elements, we must learn to utilize the discoveries of science. We must keep abreast of the newer knowledge of nutrition as it is presented by wise, unbiased interpreters such as C. Houston Goudiss, nationally known food authority, who each week offers his "What to Eat and Why" column in this newspaper. In this column Mr. Goudiss translates the latest developments into simple, non-technical language. By following his articles regularly, it is easy to keep in step with the most up-to-date findings of nutritional science.

HISTORIC OUTPOST MAY BECOME MUSEUM

Fort Snelling Won Fame in Civil and Indian Wars.

Fort Snelling, Minn.—Julius Caesar himself could not have erected a more Roman-looking round tower at lower cost than the United States did in 1821 at Fort Snelling.

And Caesar probably would have walloped the Indians, and taken the land from them. Uncle Sam, through the offices of Lieut. Zebulon Montgomery Pike, bought title to the property in 1805 with 50 gallons of whisky.

Sixteen years later, soldiers, many of them veterans of the war of 1812, were paid 15 cents a day in addition to their army pay to build the tower.

It is possible the plans were a heritage from the Caesars, except for 20 rifle slits from which shots could be fired, and which made the tower capable of resisting, with its walls constructed of solid stone quarried from the Minnesota and Mississippi river banks, any form of attack then known.

Family Lives There.

For the last 19 years Thomas Marcum, post civilian engineer, and his family have occupied the tower, remodeling the interior at their own expense into a unique home. Plans now call for tearing out partitions to make one large museum room of the structure.

Before Marcum's occupancy many world-famed characters found shelter in the old tower. Surprisingly, the idea for the German Zeppelin was incubated there.

Union army officials stationed at Fort Snelling during the Civil war scoffed at the suggestion made by a young German military attaché, Count Von Zeppelin, also stationed there, that it might be possible to scout the enemy from the air, thus passing up a chance for the Federal army to be the first to use aircraft for military purposes.

Von Zeppelin, however, failed to become discouraged and on a warm spring night in 1864 rose 300 feet above the round tower, suspended below a canvas bag filled with gas furnished by the old St. Paul gas company.

He said later it was during his 30-minute ascension here that the idea of transcontinental air transport was born. After the Civil war, he returned to Germany to bring the idea to fruition.

Dred Scott Married at Fort. Dred Scott, a negro slave whose name is perpetuated in the famous Dred Scott decision of the Supreme court, married a slave girl in the round tower in 1837. At the time, Scott was a servant of the household of Dr. Emerson, fort medical attaché to Col. Josiah Snelling.

Some 15 years later, in 1848, after Dr. Emerson had transferred and moved his slave retinue to St. Louis, Scott sued for freedom on grounds he had been a citizen of free territory in Minnesota.

The Supreme court ruled that Scott was without citizenship rights and that the Missouri compromise was unconstitutional.

Records recently discovered revealed many illuminating and hitherto not generally known facts concerning the historic importance of the round tower. It was gathered from the records that life inside the walls was a tragic experience for many a young army tenderfoot as result of the whims and caprices of Colonel Snelling.

Flogging an arrogant soldier became quite a pastime during Colonel Snelling's tenancy of the round tower, according to the records, and 200 lashes with a cat-of-nine-tails on the bare back of some luckless rookie was an afternoon's exercise for the colonel.

Divers Again Will Seek Galleon Treasure Trove

London.—A new attempt is to be made to raise from the sea the millions of gold coins, minted when Philip of Spain was at war with Elizabeth of England, which are reputed to lie on the bottom of Tobermory harbor, Isle of Mull.

The coins were in a galleon which was sunk by an angry Highlander who could not get the money for goods he had supplied.

Nearly 400 years have passed since the galleon Duque Florencia set sail with the mighty armada, carrying 30,000,000 ducats. After the armada met with defeat in the English channel, a gale sprang up which swept a number of ships up St. George's channel and the Irish sea to the west coast of Scotland and the rocky strands of Northern Ireland.

The Duque Florencia reached the Isle of Mull. Officers ordered stores from the islanders, but refused payment. As the galleon was putting out to sea, she was blown up by a daring Highlander, who had got aboard and swam ashore after lighting the fuse.

Now Herr Van Wiener, Dutch engineer and inventor of a new type of diving apparatus, has obtained permission to try to raise the cargo. For hundreds of years the romance of treasure trove has lured people to seek the gold.

Wilson Girls Are On Easter Tour

Lubbock, April 13.—An initiation ceremony in a restored Indian kiva near Arrowhead Camp Sunday night will conclude a four-day program for Ko Shari club members at Texas Technological College, in and near Santa Fe, New Mex., next week end.

Fifty women students will leave Thursday morning in two chartered buses and will return to Lubbock Monday. The Easter schedule is an annual observance of Ko Shari, social organization.

Wilson girls who plan to go are Misses Lois and Natalie Crosby, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Crosby. Natalie is a senior arts and sciences student, and Lois is a freshman home economics student.

The girls, their sponsors and patronesses plan to visit the Puye dwellings at El Rito de los Pijoles Friday. Saturday they will visit the Governor's Palace, Bishop's Lodge, the Indian school, laboratory of anthropology, art museum, artists row, and other places of interest in and near the capital city.

Sunday morning they will attend Easter mass at the ancient Lamy cathedral, returning to La Fonda for a club breakfast. Then they will drive out to some of the Indian pueblos to see an Indian dance.

Br-r-r! When It's Hot It's Cold

Friends of Sam Singleton of Tahoka Appliance Co. have been remarking about the change that has come over him.

"Like a kid with a new toy," they say, and although it's a far cry from a toy, the thing in which he is so much interested is as intriguing as any of those modern, talking, walking, squeaking mechanical contraptions that bring shouts of glee from youngsters.

"But there's nothing mechanical about this," he tells you. "It has no moving parts or machinery to get out of order, and it's almost like magic, the way it makes ice from oil heat."

Right. It's a refrigerator, yet not a new idea, he will tell you, but a new model of the modern kerosene-burning refrigerator which for the last ten years has been bringing delight to so many rural residents—even those who live miles from other conveniences.

"Do you wonder that I am enthusiastic?" he asked as he handed us this photograph of the sleek new model. We don't. Would you?

Of course, it's the refrigerator we're talking about, not the young lady "model" shown beside it—but she's passing fair, too, don't you think? And not so cold—even if she is demonstrating the large ice cube and dessert-freezing capacity of the refrigerator.

Come to Church (Easter)

Church Of Christ Revival Opens

The Church of Christ has announced a Gospel Meeting to be held in their place of worship, next week, beginning Sunday, April 17, and closing Sunday, April 24.

The preaching will be done by the local minister, Elder J. L. Nisbett, and the song service will be under the direction of Osa H. Gattis and Frank Sargeant. Services each evening at 8 o'clock.

Every one is invited to attend.

EASTER SERVICES AT METHODIST CHURCH

Next Sunday is the greatest day in our Christian year. We celebrate the greatest event in history. The Resurrection of our Lord.

How thankful we ought to be and how glad. We will have a large class of children and young people and we trust some older ones, also, to join the Church. If any want their children dedicated in Holy Baptism it will be a fitting occasion to do so. We are asking a thanks offering on our benevolences also.

Our young people's work is going well.

They meet at 7:00 p. m. Our evening service will be at 8:00. Let's make it a great day indeed. BEN HARDY, Pastor.

MRS. JACKSON WEDS HASKELL COUNTY MAN

News just recently reached this office that Mrs. Edna Jackson, formerly resident of Tahoka, was married at Sweetwater on March 3 to J. Frank Simmons of Haskell county. Rev. G. T. Palmer, pastor of the Sweetwater Methodist Church, officiating.

Mrs. Jackson is the mother of Jim Jackson, employed in the office of Deen Nowlin. She resided here a number of years and has many friends here.

Mr. Simmons is a stock farmer and is one of the county commissioners of Haskell county.

ELDER DRENNON'S NOTES

O you cold weather, and our fruit is gone! Such is life. Reverses will come, and it depends on how we take them as to our success or failure.

Last Sunday was a good day at the church here. The attendance was larger than usual and much interest was created by the morning sermon on "The Two Deaths." How little attention is given to preparing for death! While some think on the first or natural death not many give much thought to the second or spiritual death; but it is the second death that gives me much concern, as it is to be eternal.

I see by the last issue of the News that the merchants are really trying to keep people from going to Lubbock to buy merchandise. We want to welcome Cobb's store. The Cobb boys are good scouts; we knew them at Brownfield and found them to be square shooters. I have said, and still say, that merchants can meet the competition of the larger places if they will. One of the solutions is to advertise; the other is to have something to advertise.

The good people of this community are circulating a petition asking the picture show to close during worship hour. What a fine thing it would be if the managers could see their way to respect God and the church and close. No nation has ever remained great long that had disrespect for the Lord's Day. I wish our church people would quit buying so much stuff on Sunday, because it is wrong. If the religious people would have more respect for the Lord's Day, so would the people in the world.

As this is election year, the candidates are making the rounds. I told one last week that I was going to investigate each candidate and vote for the best qualified one. I think this is what all voters should do. We should vote intelligently. Alas! How few do!

Don't forget to read the ads in the home paper and trade with them when they meet competition. Yours for more individual thinking and acting and less copy-cattling. Come down to see us some time. R. P. Drennon.

TWO FAMILIES WILL ATTEND WICHITA EASTER SERVICE

Mr. and Mrs. John Berry and Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Reagan and son John will leave early Saturday morning to attend Easter services Sunday in the Wichita Mountains in Oklahoma.

The service consists mainly of a pageant, which begins in the early morning and continues until late in the afternoon. Mrs. Berry has promised to tell us all about it next week.

The average height of men in America is five feet and eight inches, and of women, five feet and four inches.

MRS. J. H. EDWARDS JR. HOSTESS TO H. D. CLUB

Tahoka Home Demonstration club met in regular meeting Wednesday in the home of Mrs. J. H. Edwards Jr., with Mrs. Jack Fenton as co-hostess. Fifteen members and six visitors were present.

Miss Boyd met with us for an angel food cake demonstration. "When you cake has such large air spaces you have treated your eggs too roughly," said Miss Boyd. "Eggs one or two days old make better cakes."

After a ten minute recreational period, refreshments were served, the Easter motif being carried out. Our next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. P. W. Goad on April 27 with Mrs. M. C. Finch as co-hostess.

EASTER MUSIC AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH SUNDAY

Special Easter music will feature the services at the Baptist Church Sunday morning.

The revival which closed Sunday night resulted in the addition of 61 new members. Thirty of them were for baptism, and twenty-four of the number were baptized Wednesday night.

MISS WALDEN CHOSEN FOR HOME TOWN SPEAKER

Miss Laruth Walden has been chosen as Tahoka's representative in the "My Home Town" contest to be held during the convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce at Wichita Falls on April 24-25. This is the first time a girl has represented Tahoka in these contests, we believe.

The Ten-Gallon Hat
According to legend, the 10-gallon hat was named because it was used as a water bucket and also to carry food. And at night, the cowboy even rested his weary head on his "10-gallon pillow." Although all the "gallon" hats were pretty much the same size, they were called not only 10-gallon, but also one, two and five gallon hats, varying with the imagination of the Western story writer.

Name Meanings
Is your name among the following? Melissa is a German name meaning a bee. Mildred is a Teuton name meaning mild threatener. Miles is a Latin name meaning soldier. Minnie is a Teuton name meaning remembrance. Irene is a German name meaning peace. Israel is a Hebrew name meaning God fighteth. James is a Hebrew name meaning a supplanter.

The word "cleave" has directly opposite meanings. It means to adhere closely, and also means to cut apart.

The average curvature of the earth is two inches per mile.

New Tonic Works Wonders Helps Restore Energy

ARE you tired, nervous—your appetite poor? Do you find it hard to do your daily tasks without becoming completely exhausted? Thousands of people who felt just as poorly are praising the wonderful results Pursang has given them.

This scientific preparation acts quickly to relieve this simple nutritional anemia which so often results in a rundown condition. For Pursang contains proved ingredients, such as organic iron, which aid nature in building rich, red corpuscles these three ways.

First, the organic iron in Pursang assists in supplying nature the substance which makes red blood—and which is often deficient in the diet. Second, Pursang helps to step up the appetite. Third, it helps stimulate digestion and assimilation of food. In these three important ways it helps nature build rich, red blood.

When the blood is enriched, energy and strength usually increase. Nervousness disappears. You look and feel like a new person.

If you never feel quite your best; if you are missing out on a lot of the fun of life—give Pursang a chance to help nature build up your strength and energy as it has for so many people. Get Pursang from your druggist today. Take it regularly to assist in regaining your strength and energy.

Pursang Laxative Pills are acknowledged the modern treatment for constipation. Purely vegetable, they give thorough bowel cleansing without gripping.

Lynn County History

As Revealed by the Files of the Lynn County News of April 18, 1913.

A letter was received by the Mayor of Tahoka concerning a good roads trip to be made both by San Antonio officials and Colorado Springs, Colo., officials through this section in interest of a Pike's Peak-Gulf highway, which would run north and south through Tahoka.

Tahoka had also recently received a proposition concerning an international highway to run east and west from Washington, D. C., to San Francisco.

Tahoka is going to have a trades day the second Monday in May, which is the 12th. A four mile foot race will be pulled off for a good big purse. Those promoting the race are confident of raising $50, to be divided between the first two crossing the line. The following are entries to date: O. F. Crouch, James Crie, Rhea Skinner, Geo. W. Smith, Raymond Weathers, Russell Ramsey, Omer Vinson, Joe Barnes, Peg Strong, Mother Bates, Urban Coughran, Oscar Roberts, W. W. Vinson, Clarence Keever, Jim Dyer, Temple Skinner, P. Miller, Nug Skinner, Emmett Fleming, Elmer Coughran, Wade Ray, Ira Doak, H. R. White, Tump Wells.

On Friday of last week word went forth that there will be no more mailing of letters direct on the train. The railway mail clerk is an employee of the railway, not the government, and it is a $200 fine for him to accept mail not in a mail pouch. He has been informed that he must abide by this rule or pay the fine.

Mr. Clarence Keever and Miss Nita Bigham were married at Edin by Bro. Vinson Sunday. They will make their home in the Dr. McCoy residence.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Thomas came in from Post Thursday afternoon and proceeded to move into their pretty new home in North Tahoka.

J. C. Strong's windmill blew down last week.

The News offered free Winter cantaloupe seed to every farmer who would attend the Farmers Institute and Tahoka Commercial Club April 21. The seed was very scarce and cost $1.00 per pound. The object of the News was to get it started as a crop in this country.

Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Smith and little son came in Thursday of last week from Los Angeles to visit their parents and other relatives at Petty. B. T. dropped into the News office Tuesday to set his figures forward several months. He is employed by an oil company in the coast city now. B. T. says that they came over the divide just in time to get the full benefit of our April blizzard.

Watch For Packages From Canadian

Washington, April 1.—Postmaster General James A. Farley announced last night that all postmasters throughout the country have been instructed to withhold all packages on hand or that may be received in their respective post offices bearing the name as sender, "Hendry Connell," Kingston, Ontario, Canada.

This action was taken by the Postmaster General upon the recommendation of the Food and Drug Administration of the Department of Agriculture, which conducted an investigation into the Canadian product as a result of reports received from Orlando, Florida, indicating that at least six persons have died in that city from the effects of taking a preparation called "Ensol" which was sent by Mr. Connell as a treatment for cancer.

National Air Mail Week

The Postoffice Department has announced that the week of May 15-21 will be celebrated as Air Mail Week in commemoration of the 20th anniversary of regular air mail service. The air mail has made wonderful strides during the last few years, and it now covers our country in a network of air mail lines, and connects many foreign countries. Twenty more years, with the present impetus, may see mail delivered to every town in the United States by airplane, and maybe on the rural routes—who knows?

Public School Music Contests At Lubbock

The Public School Music Division of the South Plains Festival will be held in Lubbock April 21 and 22. The two day session will be held in the Senior High School Auditorium. Jefferson's Birthday

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN
National Chairman
Sentinels of the Republic

"The immortality of Thomas Jefferson does not lie in any one of his achievements, but in his attitude toward mankind."

Again, as we observe the anniversary of his birth, Americans recall that tribute to the author of our Declaration of Independence.

What was his attitude? What would it be toward the problems of today? Jefferson's own recorded words answer such questions.

He believed wholeheartedly in the voice of the average citizen in government.

"That government," he said, "is the strongest of which every one feels himself a part."

"I consider the people who constitute a nation as the source of all authority in that nation."

He believed in the constant vigilance of the people over their government.

"Every government," he wrote, "degenerates when trusted to the rulers of the people alone. The people themselves, therefore, are its only safe depositories."

"Whenever the people are well-informed and things get so far wrong as to attract their notice, they may be relied upon to set them to rights."

"It behooves our citizens to be on their guard, to be firm in their principles, and full of confidence in themselves."

He believed in the American idea of balanced powers in government.

"The principle of the Constitution," he declared, "is that of a separation of Legislative, Executive and Judiciary functions, except in cases specified."

"If the three powers maintain their mutual independence . . . our government may last long, but not so if either can assume the authorities of the other."

"It is not by the consolidation or concentration of powers, but by their distribution that good government is effected."

He believed in the power of Congress as a direct representative of the will of the people.

"The authority of Congress," said Jefferson, "can never be wounded without injury to the present Union."

The American people remember those admonitions. They have demonstrated this by protests, both recently and in the past, against usurpations of power, or the surrender of their own or their representatives' voice in government.

And that is as eloquent a tribute to Jefferson as any uttered by great orators.

Mrs. Bennie Sanders came in a few days ago from Cotulla, where she has been residing the past few years, to visit relatives and possibly to locate permanently.

Subscribers Say They Enjoy News

In sending in his subscription to the News, H. P. Burkhalter of Lubbock pays us a high compliment. We keenly appreciate a gentle pat on the back once in awhile, such as this. Mr. Burkhalter says:

"I regard the News as the best country paper I know of and I always enjoy reading it, especially the editorials. . . . Mrs. Burkhalter also enjoys your editorials and says that you are always on the right side of all important issues."

The Burkhalters formerly resided at Grassland in this county but have been at Lubbock the past nine years. We don't know how long they have been reading the Lynn County News but we found Mr. Burkhalter on the subscription list when we took charge more than fourteen years ago and he has been on the list ever since.

I. A. Shattuck of Olton sent in a renewal of his subscription last week also and said, "I enjoy the good News so much." He formerly resided at New Lynn and has been a subscriber for a long time.

G. W. Knoby of Brady is another old-timer here who sent in his renewal last week from Brady, where he now resides. He too has been a reader of the News for many years.

"I am always glad to get it," he states. Recalling the fact that we had recently visited in Central and South Texas, he says: "You called over lots of towns and rivers where I have been. I used to live close to Temple. I went to Belton frequently. I crossed the Leon River many times," and while he didn't say so we'll bet he has been in swimming in that fine stream many a time. Or, maybe he preferred fishing.

Mr. Knoby also resided in Tahoka a number of years and is a longtime subscriber. We always greatly appreciated his friendship.

New BREAD DIET exchanges LARGE figures for YOUNG ones . . .

THE day of the plump young matron is a thing of the past. Modern times and current fashions demand youthful, active figures, irrespective of age.

Because the new Bread Diet maintains energy while reducing it meets every need for today. Developed in leading American laboratories and universities after four years of extensive research, it avoids all of the dangers of extreme measures.

The Bread Diet is based on proved facts that bread is a high energy food, not of itself fattening. Over-weight comes from eating food not utilized for energy. However, no other common food except sugar can be more quickly turned into energy than bread!

But more important, bread contains an excellent combination of carbohydrates and valuable protein. It helps to burn up completely the fat you lose while reducing, without leaving any harmful residue.

By substituting bread for foods that are nearly all starch, nerve and muscle tissues are strengthened. Energy is sustained. And weight goes down—pound by pound.

WILSON WOMEN STUDY SPONGE CAKE MAKING

"It is very essential to measure ingredients accurately in making sponge cake," said Miss Boyd to the Wilson Home Demonstration Club at the home of Mrs. Douglas Finley April 6.

This type of cake should be beaten several minutes and as much of the air should be retained as possible. In so doing, it is necessary to fold the ingredients into the egg whites without lifting the spatula from the mixture. Cake flour is much better for these mixtures than all-purpose flour as it contains less gluten. A greased utensil should never be used in baking sponge cakes.

The club voted to serve the Junior Senior Banquet in order to raise funds, and dismissed the proposed play until a later date.

"We intend to use this in salads, sandwiches, souffle, dressing and in creamed dishes."

GIRL SELECTS SIMPLE PATTERN FOR DRESS

"I selected a simple pattern for my work dress," said Joyce Porter, co-operator in the Petty 4-H Club.

"I used two and one-half yards of print; I decided it did not need any trimming other than the design in the material. The neck opening was fastened with a small bow and the belt was tied in the front. I was careful to baste every seam before stitching. I trimmed the seams evenly and left them unfinished."

Joyce is ten years old and has her clothing goals for the year filled.

Seventh Grade News

The valedictorian and salutatorian for the Seventh Grade was announced by Miss Dockray. Mary Beth Roddy, with highest honors, has an average of 94 8-9, while Wanda Lee Tinsley, a close second, has an average of 94. These young ladies are to be highly congratulated on their fine work.

Miss Wanda Lee Tinsley won first place in the District Meet at Lubbock last Friday in essay writing. The school is very proud of her.

On April 19, Miss Dockrey will take two groups of our school songsters to attend the South Plains School Music Festival. She plans to have a girls' double quartet composed of Misses Verda Bartlett, Betty Lou Frazier, Betty Sue Roberts, Greta Joyce Applewhite, Olga Faye Taylor, Jean Simmons, Percy Dean Tippit, and Edna Janak.

There will be a boys quartet consisting of Edwin Rogers, Billie Jack Edwards, George Hogan, and Truman Hines.

The Juniors are planning the annual Junior-Senior banquet which will be given in honor of the Seniors next Friday week.

Those sailor boys, with the help of Blös Weathers, turned naturalists the other night when they caught a possum in the direction of the Brownfield highway.

Two members of the faculty have some alarming news on each other, and we think it would be TOO bad to know. We also notice that they stick very close to each other in the hopes that they can keep the news from "leaking out."

Well, no more dirt for today. Mr. Jaquess has it all on the auditorium floor.

D. A. Cook of Draw is building an addition to his residence and will repaint and redecorate the old portion of the building, according to Mrs. John Berry, who was here Tuesday.

MUSIC RECITAL AT DRAW

Miss Pearl Edgin will present her music pupils in a recital at the Draw High School on Friday evening, April 15. The program starts at 8 o'clock. Everyone cordially invited.

F. H. Nevill, who has been at the home of Reuben W. Lewis of the New Home community several weeks working, recently returned to his home at Lytle, Atascosa county, for a visit. He was accompanied by his father-in-law, A. T. Robinson, of Lytle, who had also been in the New Home community several weeks.

A. H. (Buddy) McGonagill, who has been residing at San Jose, Calif., the past few years, arrived last week to make his home with A. R. McGonagill, his father, and to farm the McGonagill home place.

B. J. Emanuel of the Magnolia community is remodeling his home and making some additions thereto. When the wood work is finished he will add a stucco finish.

Bob Collier of Lockney is here working at the First National Bank.

Asia First Home of Most of Domesticated Animals

Man has domesticated animals since his earliest days—before he learned to write, for among his earliest records are found drawings and other representations of some of the animals he had taken into his camps and dwelling places.

The continent of Asia seems to have been the place of origin of three-fourths of our domestic animals. Since the first home of man himself is usually also placed there this is not surprising.

It seems probable that all of these animals were first held captive by the early peoples for their food supply and that the other uses for them—for drawing loads, for riding, for giving protection, etc.—occurred to their captors afterward.

It is interesting to note that no new domestic animals have been developed in several thousand years, as far as records show, asserts a writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer. The llama, the alpaca and the turkey have become known to European peoples within that time, but they had long been in use among the inhabitants of the new world.

Cats, camels, most domestic cattle, horses, goats, sheep and most poultry are apparently Asiatic in origin. Dogs are perhaps Asiatic in origin, too, although this is less certain. The ass may have come from northern Africa, the reindeer from northern Europe.

Weather in a Teacup

Here is a practical way of telling whether a day is going to be fine or wet. Drop a lump of sugar into a cup of tea and watch the behavior of the bubbles as they rise to the surface. If they appear as tiny drops—hurry to the side of the cup, there to disappear, then the day will be fine. Should the bubbles grow large and float in the center of the cup for some time, then be sure rain is close at hand. The reason? A writer in Pearson's London Weekly answers: The behavior of the bubbles is due to the pressure of the air. When this is high—in fine weather—the bubbles burst quickly; when low, and rain is near, the bubbles remain intact for an appreciable time.

Distributed "Mourning Rings"

In George Washington's day the curious custom of distributing "mourning rings" among relatives and close friends was common. When a person felt that he had only a short while to live he would order a supply of rings made up, into which could be inserted strands of his hair. A Smithsonian institution collection contains several "mourning rings" of less notable individuals of Revolutionary days. The strands of hair in the Washington ring are gray. Washington in his younger days had sandy hair.

How High Is a Tree?

Did you ever want to know how high a tree was without going to the trouble to the top with a yardstick or tape measure? It can be done all from the ground, says Hoard's Dairyman. Set up a stick straight from the ground and measure the length of the shadow it casts. Now measure the length of the shadow of the tree. Multiply the length of the tree shadow by the height of the stick. Divide this figure by the length of the shadow of the stick and you have the height of the tree.

Boy Scout "Covered Wagon" Tour Planned

Boy Scouts from almost every Troop in the Council will be represented on three Council Covered Wagon Tours that are to cover key towns on the South Plains—to advertise the Boy Scout Circus to be held in Lubbock on Friday, May 6th, at Texas Tech Stadium, J. D. McPhaul, Chairman of the Tour, announced.

One boy from almost every Troop in the Council will gather at Camp Post for a two-day training to put on a thirty minute program for school children and citizens of the town. The school children will be excused from school and go with others on the tour of several towns with all expenses paid. The two-day camp will be held at Camp Post on Saturday and Sunday, April 22 and 23. The tours will all leave from Lubbock on the morning of the 28th and return to Lubbock on the evening of April 29. The Scouts will be guests of the towns where they are at noon and night. This is a signal honor and the outstanding Scout in each Troop will be selected.

Tour No. 3 will include the following towns on its itinerary: Slaton, Post, Tahoka (noon), O'Donnell, La-mesa, Seagraves, Brownfield (night) Ropesville, Levelland.

Lynette Tinsley Is Graphic Writer

A few days following the terrible accident in which four young people lost their lives on the highway south of Tahoka, Lynette Tinsley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Tinsley, wrote to a friend in Brownfield telling her of the tragedy.

The story was so well written that the friend took it to the office of the Terry County Herald, which published the same in its issue last week.

Lynette has the promise of making a real journalist, we believe, if she cares to cultivate her talent.

Mrs. E. S. Davis returned Friday from South Gate, California, where for the past two months she had been visiting her daughters, Mrs. Ruby Wood and Miss Mildred Davis. She was rejoicing that the worst of the blizzard was over when she got home. She says they had fine California weather during her entire stay in that state with the exception of the big flood, which was a little unusual.

Craft Installing New Equipment

The Craft Tailor Shop has just installed some new and labor-saving equipment, including a new boiler and tumbler.

The big new tumbler carries as many as 60 pieces at one load and thoroughly dries them out in a period of thirty minutes, Mr. Craft says. With this new equipment, a suit of clothes can be cleaned, dried and pressed and be ready for delivery within one hour after it is received at the cleaning plant.

Lucille (Beeb) Tinsley, who underwent an operation for appendicitis in a Lubbock sanitarium last week, is doing well and was able to be brought back home Wednesday.

JIM JACKSON TO MIDLAND

Jim Jackson, who has been connected with the Deen Nowlin office here the past two or three years, has accepted a position with the Continental Oil Company at Midland, and he and wife and baby will depart for that city about the last of this month. Jim says he regrets that he must leave Tahoka, though he is going to a more lucrative position, for he has many friends here whom he genuinely appreciates.

Miss Dama Anglin was stricken with an attack of appendicitis early Tuesday morning and was rushed to the West Texas Hospital in Lubbock, where an operation was performed the same morning. She had worked in the Modern Beauty Shop, where she is employed, all day Monday. She was reported Thursday morning to be doing nicely.

Mrs. J. H. McCoy is now visiting her daughter, Mrs. Irene Gallagher, at Desdemona. She was accompanied to that place by Mr. and Mrs. Wade Holland, who went from there to Fort Worth and returned to Tahoka the latter part of last week.

Why... an Oil Polish?

And here, home-makers, is why: The oil element in polish is absolutely essential to all fine wood! For the same reason that we oil machinery—water our plants—massage cream into the face—is oil polish used! The same principle applies—for wood definitely requires this attention to keep it "alive!" The best oil polish has a fine, non-greasy oil base—and it is just this—when rubbed or massaged into the furniture—that prevents the wood from checking, drying out, splitting or cracking. Furniture will not do any of these things, when cared for—and it is the combination of the "oil" and the "rubbing" that prevents it! For the quality oil-polish "feeds" the hungry finish—keeps the wood young! Other polishes may give a quick, easy-to-achieve luster—but a little time and energy (it should not be labor) on the part of the housewife, will pay dividends in the looks and long life of her furniture and woodwork. All experts agree that an oil polish properly used (apply on damp cloth—as directed) is not only better—it is vital! And so, home-makers, take this important tip: Always use an oil polish—and the best one!

AROUND THE HOUSE

Tasty Applesauce.—Applesauce made out of tasteless apples may be enlivened by adding a little nutmeg, cinnamon and cloves, or adding lemon juice for tartness. But if the sauce has a fresh apple flavor, such extra seasonings are unnecessary—in fact, they will blot out the apple's own flavor.

Storing Food Oils.—Store oils, such as olive or vegetable, in the refrigerator. They are likely to become rancid when opened unless they are kept chilled.

When Cooking Eggs.—In cooking eggs and egg dishes temperature is most important. When the protein in egg is heated it coagulates or becomes firm. If this heating takes place slowly, evenly, at a moderate temperature, the eggs will be tender when they are done. But with high temperature the protein in them shrinks and makes the eggs tough.

To Remove Gum.—To remove chewing gum from fabrics, rub with ice and the gum will roll off and leave no marks.

Cooked Pineapple for Gelatin.—Only cooked pineapple should be used with gelatin in desserts or salads, for fresh pineapple contains a substance that acts on the gelatin and does not allow it to jell.

Don't TEAR your "insides" out with rough cathartics!

Sentinels of Health

Don't Neglect Them!

Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of all traces of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure. When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feet tired, nervous, all worn out.

Frequent, scanty or burning passages may be further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance.

The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed by the country over. Insist on Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

Lesson for April 17

THE VICTORIOUS SERVANT (Easter)

LESSON TEXT.—Acts 2:22-36.
GOLDEN TEXT.—This Jesus hath God raised up, whereof we all are witnesses.—Acts 2:32.
PRIMARY TOPIC.—Peter's First Sermon.
JUNIOR TOPIC.—Peter's Greatest Sermon.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC.—Winning with the Victorious Christ.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC.—The Risen Christ Our Hope of Victory.

"Up from the grave He arose
With a mighty triumph o'er His foes;
He arose a Victor from the dark domain,
And He lives forever with His saints to reign.
He arose! He arose!
Hallelujah! Christ arose!"
Let the glad chorus swell the good tidings that the One who humbled Himself to become the servant of all is the "Victorious Servant"—yes, the Victorious Lord!

Easter is the great holiday—a real holy day of the Christian church. We rejoice in the incarnation, for only as the Son of God identified Himself with the human race could He bear our sins on Calvary's tree. We keep the cross before us, for only as He died did He make atonement for our sin, but above all we observe the resurrection, for had He not risen for our justification we would indeed have been without any hope. Ours is a resurrection faith; let us live it in resurrection power.

Life is so serious in its responsibilities and burdens, so often disappointing in its trials and sorrows, that we need to sound the note of victory. But it must be real victory, and it must be assured at the crucial point where all the hopes of man find defeat—at death. Only the Christian has the assurance of victory there, but, thank God, he does really have it in our Lord Jesus Christ.

Turning aside from our studies in the Gospel of Mark for today we consider together the sermon of Peter on the day of Pentecost. He declares Jesus to be:

I. Approved by Mighty Works (v. 22).

Theories may have validity only to the man who accepts the authority of the one who proclaims them, but facts are stubborn things, the reality of which no man can deny. There are those who speak about the Lord Jesus as though we asked them to accept Him on the basis of our claims for Him as the Son of God. They forget the facts of history—from the hundreds of years before His incarnation when the prophets spoke of His coming, down through the account of His earthly life, death, and resurrection to which we may well add the inescapable argument of Christianity as it stands in the world today—all speak of Him as the Son of God.

II. Delivered Up to Die (v. 23).

The cross was not an accident. Jesus did not die as a martyr to a noble but hopeless cause. He came into the world "to give his life a ransom for many" (Matt. 20:28). He said, "I lay down my life. No man taketh it from me, but I lay it down of myself. I have power to lay it down, and I have power to take it again" (John 10:17, 18).

But the fact that the cross was in the eternal plan of God in no way justifies those who slew Him. Though they were fulfilling the divine purpose, they were acting as free moral agents fully responsible for their wicked deeds.

III. Raised Up by God (vv. 24-32).

"It was not possible that he should be holden" of death (v. 24)—what a beautifully final and positive statement. It was an impossibility that Christ should remain in the grave, and it is the absolute assurance of Scripture that he who "be dead with him shall also live with him" (II Tim. 2:11). To the believer, the one who is in Christ, the resurrection of the Saviour is the guarantee that we shall be raised. Christ is the first-fruits of them that sleep in the grave. (I Cor. 15:20.)

Peter in his sermon turns to the Scriptures to prove the resurrection referring to the prophet Joel as well as to the Psalms of David. It would be well for us to do likewise on this Easter Sunday of 1938, for we have infinitely richer resources, for in our hands is the New Testament with the story of the resurrection and all the references of the epistles to this glorious truth.

IV. Ascended and Exalted (v. 33).

"Look, ye saints! The sight is glorious:
See the Man of Sorrows now;
From the fight returned victorious,
Every knee to Him shall bow:
Crown Him! Crown Him!
Crowns become the Victor's brow."
"He humbled himself... Wherefore God hath highly exalted him" (Phil. 2:8, 9). Read Philippians 2: 5-11 as a fitting close to this glorious lesson.

Gaining Knowledge

"More knowledge of God's Word will be gained by a single effort to obey one of His commandments than by a year of reading with no effort to keep the Word of God."

Atonement
No rush to the battle will atone for sin in the tent.—G. Campbell Morgan.

Borrowing Troubles
Do we not know that more than half our trouble is borrowed?

Strange Facts

No Such Thing As a Tree

TREES are the oldest things on earth. You have seen hundreds of them. They grow in great abundance in all but a few sections of the United States. Yet there is no such thing as a tree as a matter of scientific classification.

This oldest living thing gives us not only shelter, food and heat, but such a strangely wide variety of products as clothing material, furniture, paper, rubber, dyes, chewing gum, rosin, turpentine and alcohol. Because trees provide for so many of man's needs and because they live for hundreds, sometimes thousands of years trees have figured in the folklore and religions of many nations. The Algonquin Indians and the early peoples of Scandinavia both believed that their ancestors were descended from an ash tree. To the early inhabitants of England and Italy the oak tree was sacred.

We use the word tree to refer to the giant sequoias and redwoods of California, we use it to refer to the great oaks and beeches of America and Europe and to the slender palm and the little fig tree. But as a matter of scientific classification there is no such thing as a tree because the word may be given with equal accuracy to any plant ten feet tall that grows with a singly woody step and lives more than two years.

THIS "MAKIN'S" TOBACCO STANDS MIGHTY HIGH IN THE SOFT-BALL LEAGUE!

Dick Mansfield shows Marty Fiedler how quick and firm this "crimp cut" tobacco rolls up into a simply grand cigarette

AL VAN CISE (with bat) is up next. "Watch me do my stuff," he tells Bob La Comb (right) and Sammy Shack (front). "After I go in there and knock out a homer, I'll be back for another of those good-tastin' P. A. smokes. They've got the good full body a real 'makin's' smoke should have. There's no harshness to Prince Albert 'makin's' cigarettes. They're cool and smooth, no matter how many I smoke." (And Prince Albert is America's favorite pipe tobacco.)

New Home FFA Enters Contests

Friday, April 8, the New Home Chapter of the Future Farmers of America entered two judging teams in the annual judging contest at Tech College, meat identification team and dairy products judging team.

The meat identification contest consisted of the identification of retail cuts of beef, pork, and lamb. Those on the team were Loyd Russell McCormick, Rowan Caffey, and Joe Lewis. Loyd McCormick tied for third place in the entire contest, and was second in the identification of beef and fifth in the identification of pork. Rowan Caffey ranked second in the identification of cuts of lamb.

The dairy products judging team was composed of Sam Bulman, Roy Randolph and Clyde Ashcraft. The judging contest consisted of the judging of milk, butter and cream. Roy Randolph ranked second in the contest in which 63 boys participated, and ranked fourth in judging butter, and fourth in judging milk.

Following the contest, the team members and their coach, Mr. W. W. Hall, went through the Tech Dairy Plant, Tech Museum, attended the Engineering Show, drove over the Tech Farm, and later attended a movie.

The Chapter is planning a Father and Son banquet for Friday night, April 15. Mr. R. L. Chappelle, head of the Agricultural Education department of Texas Tech, is to be the principal speaker.

Scout Circus Will Be On May 6th

Approximately 1600 Boy Scouts and Cubs from twenty counties in the South Plains Council will assemble in Lubbock on Friday, May 6th, for the Second Boy Scout Circus to be held at the Texas Technological College Stadium beginning at 8 o'clock, Earl Heard, Lubbock, General Chairman announced.

Seventeen fast moving Scouting acts will take place in rapid succession depicting such events as Firebuilding, First Aid, Chariot Races, Communication, Scouts on the Flying Trapeze, Indian Scenes and Dances, and Pioneer Camps with Cowboys, Mexicans and other scenes that appeal to the Scouts and Cubs. One of the most unusual acts will be Noah's Ark where every Cub in the Council will take part, each designing and making his own costume for the animals on Noah's Ark.

The Giant Hoots, the Gook, Giraffe, Ostrich and others will be outstanding among the animals.

John Shewmake Staging Director, said that the Circus this year would be larger and better than the First Boy Scout Circus held in November, 1936.

E. J. Tredway and T. R. Tume of O'Donnell were business visitors here Tuesday.
