Hail Damages Large Part Of Lynn County

Replanting Southeast Of Town; Other Ares Too Dry

A terrific hail and rainstorm visited Tahoka and a vast area east and south of town last Saturday afternoon, utterly destroying thousands of acres of cotton and doing damage to other thousands of acres.

As a result, planters are running on hundreds of farms in the county this week replanting the destroyed acreage.

The damaged area included parts or all of the following communities: Edith, South Ward, Midway, Redwine, Draw, Joe Bailey, T-Bar, Wells, and Three Lakes.

Much rain and wind accompanied the hail.

In Tahoka there was much damage to the roofs of residences and business houses by hail. The rainfall amounted to .71 of an inch. In some localities the rain was much heavier, the lakes being filled with water.

Some damage was done to the feed crops too but this was not serious.

Cotton got off to a late start in this county by reason of continued cold and dry weather in the spring. Then, after it had come up, much of it was destroyed by high winds and sandstorms that continued much later in the spring than usual. In fact, there has been more high winds and sandstorms here in June this year than was ever known before.

Continued dry weather in some communities in the west and north-west portions of the county made it impossible for many farmers to get a good stand of cotton.

Then much of the cotton in the county that survived the dry weather, the high winds and sandstorms, and local hard rains was destroyed by the hail. It seems that Nature is working hand in hand with the Government this year to reduce the acreage in Lynn county.

But, the cotton being planted this week may turn out to be the best cotton in the county next fall. Such as this has often happened, and it may happen again.

State Supt. Woods Tahoka Speaker

State Superintendent L. A. Woods spoke to a small audience in the county court room here Wednesday night. His audience consisted chiefly of school trustees from several communities of the county. The size of the crowd was greatly reduced, no doubt, by the threatening rain clouds that were approaching from the west. Furthermore, the speaking had not been very well publicized.

It is regrettable that a large audience was not present to hear Superintendent Woods. We do not know how efficient a state superintendent he has made but he talked sense Wednesday night. He came with no palliatives, with no Utopian promises, with no nostrums as a cure-all for taxes. He showed why the expenses of government are much heavier today than they were in other years. The state government was operated on $30,000,000 a year during Governor Hogg's administration, he pointed out, while the expenditures are now about $150,000,000 per year. But nearly a hundred million dollars of this amount are expended for school and highways. The people would not stand for a cut in either of these items, he said. They are constantly clamoring for more roads and better schools. He admitted that there might be some useless boards and bureaus and some savings in the operation of the government might be made but these would be insignificant. These candidates for office who are promising everything in the matter of pensions and other favors and who are claiming at the same time that if elected they will greatly reduce the cost of government, can not do it and will not even try to do it, he said.

Quanah Parker's Son Is Coming

The Church people of Tahoka and of Lynn county are being offered a rare treat in the coming of "White" Parker, son of the noted Quanah Parker, to the Methodist Church at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon, June 27, when he will speak concerning his missionary work among the Indians.

"White" Parker is himself a Methodist preacher and is a member of the old Indian Mission Conference in Oklahoma. He has lived a useful life and has had a most interesting career.

His coming is sponsored by the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church but the meeting is for everybody.

L. N. Nichols, 65, O'Donnell, Dies

Funeral services were held in the Methodist Church in O'Donnell at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon of last week for Leroy N. Nichols, a long-time citizen of that town, who died on the preceding day at 2:00 p. m. Burial was in the cemetery at O'Donnell. The funeral services were conducted by Elder R. P. Drennon of the Church of Christ and Rev. M. R. Pike, pastor of the O'Donnell Methodist Church.

For 27 years Mr. Nichols was a rural mail carrier, being compelled by ill health to retire about three years ago. He entered the service at Guymon, Oklahoma, where he remained four years. Then he removed to Decatur, Texas, where he remained in the service for fourteen years. He was transferred to O'Donnell about eleven years ago where he faithfully pursued his duties even after he became too ill to work. He was stricken with paralysis about three years ago, and for the past 19 months he had been confined to his bed.

Mr. Nichols was born in Iberia, Missouri, May 20, 1873, and was therefore just a little past 65 years of age at the time of his death. He grew to manhood and was married in that state on July 28, 1895. Six children were born of this marriage, one son and five daughters. One of the daughters died in infancy. The remaining five children still survive and were all present at the funeral. They are: Mrs. J. B. Walker of O'Donnell, Mrs. C. C. Casey of Plainview, Mrs. Paul Welch of Jacksonville, Miss Clara Ruth Nichols of O'Donnell, and J. R. Nichols of Amarillo. Surviving also are sixteen grandchildren and other relatives.

Deceased had long been a faithful member of the Christian Church. The pall bearers were the mail carriers here and at O'Donnell. Numerous honorary pall bearers were named.

Mrs. "Buddy" Knight Has Operation

Mrs. K. F. Knight of San Angelo, who has been suffering from some kind of head trouble the past two or three years, underwent an operation in a sanitarium in Dallas recently. No tumor on the brain was found, as had been expected, only a scar, according to information given by K. F. to his father, W. L. Knight of this city.

She is undergoing a course of treatments since the operation which it is hoped will prove entirely efficacious.

Miss Laruth Walden returned home Monday after a three weeks visit in Flomont and Quitaque. She was accompanied home by Misses Doris Dee Sachse and Lorene Rhodrick of Quitaque.

Manufacture of citrus meal as a livestock feed, from formerly waste fruit peels by dehydration process is a growing by-product industry of Texas' lower Rio Grande Valley's citrus industry.

Governor Candidate

Wm. McCRAW.

Candidate for Governor, who will spend this week end on South Plains.

Wilson, Morgan Vote Saturday

An election is to be held in the Wilson and Morgan school districts Saturday to determine whether or not the latter shall be annexed to the former, according to Superintendent S. G. Anthony, who was here Tuesday.

Only six grades are being taught at Morgan, the high school pupils being transported in to Wilson. This program will not be changed by annexation-it is said.

Silver Star Is Opening Friday

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Edwards are announcing in this week's issue the opening of their sandwich shop, ice cream parlor, and service station, located about a mile and a half north of town on Highway 9. The business will be known as the Silver Star.

Both the interior and exterior of the building has been remodeled and redecorated, lunch counter and booths installed, and a very pretty effect secured on interior decoration.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwards state that this will positively not be operated as a "road house" or public dance hall, but that they expect to cater to the nicer folks.

A large parking lot has been cleared, and special attention will be given "curb patrons."

EXCURSIONS FROM EL PASO INTO MEXICO IN JULY

Tom Garrard, acting secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, has received a communication from Lt. Col. Manuel Esparaza, General Consul of Mexico, announcing that the National Railways of Mexico will run an excursion from El Paso to Chihuahua City, capital of the state of Chihuahua, leaving El Paso Saturday, July 2 at 9 p. m. and arriving in Chihuahua at 7 a. m. the next morning.

Little Miss Anne Evans of Slaton spent several days this week here with her aunts, Mrs. L. F. Craft and Mrs. Anne Evans.

Water From New Wells Is Turned Into City Mains

Water from one of the new wells out on the City's property three and a half miles north of town was turned into the main Wednesday morning, and both the City reservoirs were full in the afternoon when a representative of the News accompanied Mayor Deen Nowlin to the plant.

Only one of the big wells is on the pump at the present time. Piping has been laid to each of the other two new wells but pumps the other he shrd shrdupshrd have not yet been installed in them. Pumps from some of the City's old wells will be taken up and placed in these new wells. The pump now being used at the new well was taken from one of the weak old

McCraw Comes To South Plains

The name of William E. McCraw appears in our announcement column this week as a candidate for governor.

It is unusual for the names of candidates for state offices to be run in the political announcement columns of the newspapers, and Mr. McCraw has not requested us to so run his name, but a warm friend and supporter of his has done so, proposing to pay the regular announcement charges. McCraw's name will therefore appear in this column in this paper from now until a nomination is made in either the first or the second primary.

In recent addresses McCraw stated: "As governor, I expect to call the actual farmers and ranchers of every section to join forces in a real program for the improvement of rural life. Texas needs a far-reaching soil conservation policy, and I propose to assist the farmers in getting it. . . . Better marketing conditions, more farm-to-market roads and better rural school opportunities all will receive full attention in my administration."

McCraw also gave assurance of a friendly interest in the welfare of the farmer's economic cousin, the small merchant. He cited his successful defense of the chain store tax as one instance of his aid to the small merchant and pledged to work toward equalization of the opportunities for all sizes of merchants.

McCraw will speak in Lubbock at 8 o'clock Saturday night, and Lynn county people are invited up to hear him.

Hoppers Menace To West Texas

Grasshoppers in almost unprecedented numbers are reported to have made their appearance in some of the Western and Middle Western states and even in portions of West Texas, but we have not heard of many on the South Plains yet. Many have been reported in some of the counties below the cap rock.

Farmers and business men of this section are keeping a keen lookout for their appearance here and will probably be ready to combat them if they should appear in large numbers. Poisoning is probably the most effective manner of fighting them.

Tahoka Men Are Reunion Members

Tahoka, members of the Texas Cowboy Reunion Association, composed of oldtime cowhands, which will hold its annual meeting during the Reunion in Stamford July 4, 5 and 6, include J. H. King, Ben Lee, C. W. Seth, J. N. Wadkins, G. W. Short.

Dean Frank C. Whitmore of Pennsylvania State College says the South will be the "chemical frontier" of the nation during the next 35 years, citing the region's ability to supply, in proximity to each other, such basic chemical materials as sugar, petroleum, sulphur, natural gas, cellulose, starch and vegetable oils.

Old Settlers Meeting Friday Next Week

Rotary Delegates 'Frisco Bound

Mr. and Mrs. Wynne Collier, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Weathers, and Charles Townes left Tuesday morning for San Francisco to attend the Rotary National convention which will be in session there next week. They expect to be back in Tahoka along about the first of July.

Mr. Collier is the retiring president of the Tahoka Rotary Club. Mr. Weathers is the in-coming president, and Charles Townes is the secretary elect, succeeding Deen Nowlin.

It should be noted that Wynne's and Ray's wives wisely went along Charles is a good boy and needs no escort.

Boy Scouts At Encampment

Several Tahoka Boy Scouts are attending the annual South Plains Area encampment near Post this week. About sixty boys are at the camp W. A. Reddell, local Scoutmaster says. He has made several trips over there this week and says the boys are having a great time and are no doubt learning much.

Those attending from Tahoka are: Roy West, Jerry Noble, Euel Akin, Billy Barham, and D. F. Reddell. Conrad White of Fort Worth, who has been here visiting D. F., is also in attendance. The boys expect to return home Saturday night.

Fire Damage To Gagnat Warehouse

The first fire that Tahoka has had in the business district in a long time broke out late Wednesday afternoon in the storage room of the Gagnat Hardware and Furniture business, but comparatively little damage was done. The fire department responded promptly to the call and soon had the flames under control.

It is thought that the fire started from the burning of some paper and trash in the street near the back end of the building, the high southeast wind blowing a piece of burning paper into the building.

Burton Hackney Loses Sight In Eye

Word came several days ago from the hospital in Dallas, where Burton Hackney, county attorney of Terry county, has been receiving treatment for an infection of the right eye, that the sight of the member is completely gone, with no hope of recovering it. It will not be necessary to remove the eyeball, however, as was first feared.

Mr. Hackney is a brother of Mrs. G. H. Nelson and formerly lived in Tahoka.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Roddy went down to Hico Friday night and returned home Monday bringing with them Mrs. Roddy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Alford. Mr. Roddy says he and his family watched the tornado which struck Clyde from a short distance east of Abilene. On their return from Hico, they viewed some of the havoc wrought by the storm.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pridemore of Lubbock, Mr. and Mrs. Truett Smith and Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Gagnat were visitors in the M. C. Thomas home at Grassland Sunday. Mrs. Pridemore is the former Miss Beulah Smith and a former teacher here.

Mrs. Hall Robinson underwent an operation for sinus trouble Monday afternoon in a Lubbock hospital. She was able to return home Tuesday.

Miss Ruth Evans, teacher in the Portales, New Mexico, Junior College, is here to spend most of the summer visiting her sister, Mrs. L. F. Craft.

All Day Program, Barbecue, Parade Are Planned

Plans are being perfected for the Lynn County Old Settlers Reunion to be held here Friday of next week, June 24, according to Happy Smith, the secretary.

This will be the fourth annual meeting and the attendance is expected to be the largest in the history of the organization. The attendance has steadily grown from year to year and many out-of-county visitors were here last year. Happy says that they have already heard from many who are coming from a distance this year, and pioneers are expected from all over West Texas.

A merchants' parade featuring pioneer garb, conditions, and customs is being planned for the morning. This will be the first of its kind here, but it is hoped and believed that it will be a colorful affair.

The meetings will be held in the auditorium-gymnasium of the grade-school building, where they were held last year.

A business meeting will be held at ten o'clock in the morning and this will be followed by an address. The speaker has not yet been announced.

Lunch will be served at the noon hour, consisting of barbecued beef, barbecued goat, and barbecued chicken with all the accessories. A prize is offered to the woman bringing the best sample of pastry to the luncheon.

Mrs. J. W. Elliott is chairman of the program committee. Serving on the committee with her are Mrs. Waldo McLaurin of O'Donnell and Mrs. Gladys Stokes of Tahoka, assisted by Miss O'Bera Forrester, Mrs. M. H. Edwards, and Mrs. Irvin Stewart.

One feature of the program will be a sing-song in which the old-time songs will be used. The leader of this singfest has not yet been announced. There will also be plenty of instrumental music.

Jim Weatherford will also direct a program of violin and guitar music given by Messrs. Morris and Nevill. Mr. Morris lives north of Tahoka and Mr. Nevill is a visitor in the home of R. W. Lewis of the New Home community.

An oldest costume contest will be staged, for men and women.

Also a prize will be given to the oldest pioneer of the county present.

Mrs. Tom Garrard will have charge of the old relics booth, and any one having an old relic of any kind is requested to bring it in.

The festivities will close with an old-time square dance at night.

Tahoka-O'Donnell Men In Wreck

eling in the same direction, driven by W. L. Knight of Tahoka and C. N. Hoffman of O'Donnell on Highway No. 9 about eight miles south of Lubbock Monday afternoon resulting in serious injury to Mr. Hoffman, is attributed to a dense cloud of sand and dust which was sweeping across the road at the time.

Mr. Knight also sustained painful but not serious injuries to the head and shoulders, and Charles P. Hoffman, son of C. N. Hoffman, received minor injuries.

Soon after the accident, Mr. Hoffman and son were picked up by another car and taken to a sanitarium in Lubbock, where it was found that Mr. Hoffman had sustained a fracture of the knee cap, a cut on the forehead, and other cuts and bruises. His wounds were dressed and while they are serious, it is not contemplated that they will prove fatal.

The radiator of the Hoffman car was ruined and the car was otherwise badly damaged. The trunk of Mr. Knight's car was crushed and a hole knocked in the radiator, causing all the gasoline to escape and he had to be pushed in.

Both cars were traveling south returning from Lubbock, and a high F. Craft.

Conferees Agree on Compromise Terms Which Leave the Southerners Angry and Highly Dissatisfied

Wage-Hour Compromise

CONFEREES of senate and house who were trying to draft a compromise wage-hour bill that both bodies would accept defied threats of a filibuster by Southerners and agreed on wage and hour provisions which met some of the Southerners' demands but left them still dissatisfied and angry.

Overriding protests that the wage scale agreed upon will re-establish the outlawed national recovery administration, the conferees adopted provisions calling for:

Establishment of a 25 cents per hour minimum wage for the first year and increasing to 30 cents in the second year.

Establishment of industrial boards and an administrator to fix wages between 30 cents and the ultimate goal of 40 cents during the next five years.

Providing for a flat 40-cent minimum after seven years unless an industry gave adequate proof that such a rate was unsound economically and would "substantially curtail employment opportunities."

Establishment of a maximum work week of 44 hours during the first year, reducing to 42 hours in the second year and to 40 hours thereafter.

The work week would not apply where union contracts already in effect permit hours in excess of the maximum fixed in the bill.

Plan Relief Politics Quiz

HARRY HOPKINS, head of the WPA, asserted that the renomination of Senator Gillette by Iowa Democrats showed that his vast organization was not playing politics. But prominent Democratic senators are not so sure this is true, or will be true during the remainder of the year. Ten of them signed a resolution, introduced by Millard E. Tydings of Maryland, calling for the appointment of a senatorial committee of three to investigate any charges of politics in relief that may arise during the 1938 election campaign. The resolution made no reference to the Iowa primary in which Hopkins backed Otha Wearin, the loser.

Senator Harry Hopkins

The ten signers of the resolution, including both supporters and critics of the Roosevelt administration, were, besides Tydings: Adams of Colorado, Bulkeley of Ohio, Burke of Nebraska, George of Georgia, Gerry of Rhode Island, Hatch of New Mexico, King of Utah, McAdoo of California and Wagner of New York.

Senator Hatch said he would try again at the next session to impose restrictions on participation by relief workers in party conventions or other political activities.

House Ousts Jenks

ARTHUR B. JENKS, Republican, who had served 18 months of his term as representative from New Hampshire, was unseated by the house and replaced by Alphonse Roy, Democrat, who was declared defeated in the 1936 election. The vote to oust Jenks was 214 to 122. When it was announced, all the Republicans, Progressives and Farmer-Laborites and some Democrats marched out in a body as a gesture of protest.

This action by the house was apparently taken to aid the campaign of Senator Fred Brown of New Hampshire for renomination. Roy has a large following among the French population of Manchester, N. H.

Wheat Allotment Check

FIELD representatives of the agricultural adjustment administration began checking farmer participation in the AAA program to determine 1939 wheat allotments in the ten north central states. The check also will determine eligibility of farms for wheat loans and for premiums on farms covered by crop insurance.

Officials of the AAA in Washington indicated that rates for loans on the forthcoming wheat crop may range from 60 to 86 cents a bushel, depending on grade and distance from markets.

Authorized under the new farm law to set the rates between 52 and 75 per cent of a "variety" price, which government economists have placed at $1.15 a bushel, the officials said the "base" rate, the amount to be paid on a standard grade of wheat at a definite market, would be close to 60 cents a bushel.

Loan rates will be lower with the distance from central markets, AAA spokesmen indicating that the loan rate in western Kansas, for example, might be as low as 40 or 45 cents a bushel.

The AAA is hoping, officials said, that growers would not opt for rates which would tend to retard exports by pegging prices above those in world markets. The aim of the loan, they pointed out, is to help farmers withhold surplus wheat to prevent upsetting of prices.

Wearin Loses in Iowa

OTHA WEARIN, Iowa representative favored by the Roosevelt administration for the Democratic senatorial nomination, was defeated in the primary.

Running far ahead of him was Senator Guy M. Gillette, who had been marked for elimination because he voted against the court packing bill.

Gillette sought renomination for the senate on a platform of loyalty to President Roosevelt, but said he would retain the right to judge each New Deal proposal on its individual merits if he is re-elected. He was one of the foes of the President's reorganization bill and other administration measures.

In the Republican side of the primary Former Senator L. J. Dickinson, uncompromising foe of the New Deal, defeated Representative Lloyd Thurston.

Huge Navy Plane Planned

THE house appropriations committee included in the second deficiency bill an additional billion dollars for construction of the world's largest military plane, and the Navy department is now ready to go ahead with the construction of the monster, which may weigh 50 tons. The original model will cost upward of $3,000,000.

Rear Admiral Arthur B. Cook, chief of the bureau of aeronautics, said the new plane would exceed considerably the 5,000-mile range needed for a nonstop round trip from San Francisco to Honolulu. The plane will be partly armored and will carry a crew of 10 to 14 men. It is expected to be the forerunner of a squadron of 15 or more in the next few years.

For Rivers and Harbors

UNANIMOUS approval was given by the senate to the $37,000,000 rivers and harbors bill, but provisions giving the War department sole jurisdiction over water developments were eliminated. These projects were left under the control of the federal power commission.

The senate accepted an amendment by Senator Norris of Nebraska exempting the Tennessee Valley authority from the jurisdiction of the secretary of war.

HOW to SEW By RUTH WYETH SPEARS

EITHER crochet cotton or wool yarn in two or more colors may be used for a knitting bag or purses of woven fillet mesh. The foundation is made in the lightest color. The knitting bag in the sketch is white fillet with navy blue threads woven through, as shown. The zipper purse and vanity pouch are ecru with carmine and Delft blue woven stripes. The plain spaces between the stripes are made by weaving through the fillet mesh with matching thread.

To start the fillet foundation, make a chain the length of your bag, then chain 5 more, turn, and make a double crochet in the 6th stitch from the hook. Chain 2, skip 2 and make a double crochet in next stitch. Repeat to end of row, then chain 5 and turn. *Make a double crochet in the top of the last double crochet. Chain 2. Continue across the row, then chain 5 and turn. Repeat from * until you have enough of the fillet mesh to make your bag or purse. The weaving is done with double thread and a large blunt needle. Work across and then back through each row of the fillet mesh as shown. When a new weaving thread is started, hide the ends in the edge of the crochet.

Prize Winning Recipes To Be Announced Soon

C. Houston Goudiss, who writes our "WHAT TO EAT AND WHY" series, reports that the Cake Recipe Contest which he recently conducted through the columns of this newspaper was a gratifying success.

A tremendous number of recipes were submitted and the home economists on the staff of his Experimental Kitchen Laboratory in New York city have been busy for days testing and tasting almost every imaginable kind of cake. They report that our town has some very fine cake bakers!

They regret that it was impossible to acknowledge individual entries, but they thank every home-maker who entered the contest, and have asked us to say that each recipe will be given the most careful consideration.

Because of the volume of recipes submitted, they will require a little while longer to complete their tests and to arrive at their decision as to the winners of the $25.00 first prize, the five second prizes of $10.00 each, and the ten third prizes of $5.00 each.

Prize winners will be reported in these columns in the near future, and as announced at the beginning of the contest, prize winning recipes, together with those receiving honorable mention from the judges, will be printed in a booklet to be distributed nationally.

"In this Western country men respect a decent woman," Ruth urged desperately, already aware of the futility of such an appeal to him. "I'm not Curly Connor," Norris replied, with a hateful smile. "What I want I take. You're going with me, understand. Maybe, if you're good, I'll make you Mrs. Morgan Norris." The smile went off his face as the light goes from a blown candle. His gaze swept the room. "Where's the other wench gone?" he demanded harshly. Nelly had slipped out of the room a minute earlier, as inconspicuously as a shadow. Evenly her mistress said, "I expect she has gone to the smoke-house for a slab of bacon." "You'll have to take some heavier clothes, both of you," Norris mentioned, accepting the explanation without question. "Go to yore room and pick them. I'll drift along with you."

She shivered. "I'll have my father give you anything you like if you'll go now with your friend. I'll see he does not pursue you." "That fellow can't give me anything," he cried, with a furious oath. "I'll do the giving when we meet—a bullet through the heart. . . . Get up and shove along to yore room for the clothes—unless you want to go as you are."

He dragged Ruth to her feet and pushed the girl in front of him from the room. Kansas backed out of the house and bowlegged his way to the stable. He took the same ropes he had used for the other horses and went to the corral. No expert, it took him several minutes to catch two ponies. His churning thoughts were full of hatred as he threw, missed, and gathered the rope again. He despised himself for taking this lying down. Hate o Norris seethed in him. He made up his mind, as soon as he was out of this jam, to cut loose from the Tail Holt bunch and go back to Texas. Kansas led the roped horses back to the stable and saddled. His gaze swept the road along which Chiswick's men must approach the ranch. If it came to a showdown he could jump a bronc and light out, leaving Norris to play his hand alone. He heard a sound of something moving at the hitchrack on the other side of the stable. It might be a horse stirring—or it might not. Stealthily he moved through the stable to the door and looked out. His revolver was in the open, ready for action.

What he saw surprised him. The girl Nelly was pulling the slipknot that tied one of the animals to the rack. Kansas moved toward her. "Where you going?" he demanded. Nelly gave a little cry of fear, staring at him, her fingers flying to her open mouth. "I—I—please let me go, Mister," she wailed. To Kansas came a thought. He was a stupid man, and his mind usually worked slowly. But his safety was at stake. He had to look after himself or this crazy fool Norris would lead him into trouble from which there was no escape.

His furtive glance swept to the house. No sign of Morg, who was probably busy inside with getting the food ready. Kansas stepped closer. Instinctively he lowered his voice, though he knew nobody could hear him. "Girl, I'll let you go," he said. "Fork that bronc and light out. Keep going till you reach Chiswick and his posse. Tell Lee Kansas helped you get away. Tell him I'll be with his daughter and Norris watching over her all the time. Tell him I'm against this thing every way from the ace, but Morg is bent on having his way. His idea now is to hole up in the old Walsh cabin back of Crowfoot. Don't forget the name, girl. It's Kansas. I'll be doing all I can every minute for Miss Chiswick. Don't forget that too."

"I won't forget," she promised breathlessly. "All right. Light a shuck and go like the heel flies were pesterin' you." He added: "I'll have to make a play at shooting at you." Nelly pulled herself to the saddle and was off, gathering the horse to a gallop in a few jumps. Kansas fired in the air twice. He ran toward the house shouting at the man inside it. Norris ran out to the porch, gun in hand. "She's gone!" Kansas screamed. "Jumped one of the horses while I was coming back from the corral. I took a crack at her and missed."

The killer looked at the horse and rider diminishing in the distance. "Suits me fine," he said. "I didn't much want her along anyhow. But we'll have to get going myn pronto. Finish saddling and bring the horses to the house. We'll pack the grub on there." He went back into the house and into the bedroom where he had left Ruth a few moments before. The man moved noiselessly. He was of the tiger-cat breed. All his motions were smooth and rhythmic, as if he trod on padded feet. Curtly, he snapped at her, "You got what clothes you'll need?" "Yes."

"Enough to keep you warm nights if we're on the dodge outside. That's all you can take." Again she pleaded with him. "I don't know what-all you've done, but if you'll only let us go I'll see you get off. It would be madness for you to take me. Don't you see that?" "No more of that," he said harshly. "We're on our way." He took her back to the porch. Kansas was bringing up three saddled horses. Ruth looked round. She had to fight down her terror to keep from getting panicky. "Where is Nelly?" she asked. "She isn't going on our picnic," Norris said. "But—you said—" Ruth broke off, her eyes filled with fear. She swallowed, then tried again. "You haven't—you didn't—" She was thinking of the two shots she had heard. "The young lady lit out while we weren't looking," Kansas explained. "He was busy packing the horses. While you weren't looking," Norris jeered. "Stand aside. I'll do that packing. You don't even know how to tie a rope. Where you be in back in Kansas at the plow-handles you left." Kansas said sulkily, "I didn't leave any plow-handles." Kansas led the way and Norris brought up the rear. The riders circled the pasture and took the hill trail back of it. The outlaws pushed the horses, anxious to get out of sight before they were seen by any Chiswick riders. As they topped each rise, all three of them turned in the saddle and swept the valley below with their eyes. Presently the folds of the hills enclosed them. As Jeff Gray rode from one land wave to another, heading north by east, he had a conviction that he was losing a lot of time. If Norris and his companion were making for the L C ranch-house—and he had no doubt of this, since they had to find another horse—they would get there long before he did. He was letting himself get tangled up in the hill country. Eventually he would get his bearings, but every minute was of importance. He swung due east, along a rock ledge that barred the way. His judgment was that he had been working too far north. Now he was going due east. From the ledge a voice came, one with an Irish brogue, upon which was superimposed the drawl of the cattle country. "Stop right where you're at, me lad, and throw up your hands."

Hour after hour they wound deeper into the hills.

Startled, Gray pulled up. His heart turned a somersault, but he looked up with an expressionless face. "First off, drop that gun," the voice ordered. The man whose face peered over the ledge was Pat Sorley. A wave of relief swept over the rider. He was not going to be shot down. "Lucky I met you, Pat," he said coolly. "I'm lost. Get yore horse and take me to the ranch." "You've got a gall, young fellow," Pat told him. "I said to drop that rifle." "I reckon to use it soon if I get a break," Gray said, ignoring the command. "Listen, Pat. War has broke loose. Chiswick has just had a fight with a Tail Holt crowd who came to dry-gulch some Mexican smugglers. Morg Norris and another fellow are heading for the ranch to get another horse. Nobody is at the house except Miss Ruth and Nelly. Don't talk. Get busy. We've got to ride there hell-for-leather." "Are you lying to me, you scut?" demanded Sorley. "No. I came from town to warn Chiswick and was with him during the fight. We caught them in Live Oak canyon after they had ambushed the Mexicans." Sorley had heard how Gray had saved young Chiswick. Swiftly he made up his mind. "All right. I'll be with ye in a jiffy. Don't run off again while I'm getting my pony."

He joined the other a minute or two later. They rode knee to knee, traveling as fast as they could without injuring their mounts. They dropped down from the broken hill-country toward the valley. Below them they could see a huddle of buildings at the L C home ranch-house. The windmill flashed signals as the blades of the wheel caught the sun rays. At that distance it was too far to make out any signs of life, but the peacefulness of the scene was reassuring. The ranch-houses disappeared, cut off by a hilltop as the riders continued their descent. "Likely those divils aren't heading this way at all at all," Sorley said, "and we're worryin' ourselves for nothing."

"I hope so," Gray replied. He did not share the line-rider's optimism. He knew that if he were in Morg Norris' place his urgent impulse would be to strike for the nearest point where a horse could be got safely. "And if they went to the ranch Miss Ruth might be out gallivantin' over the country the way she does," Pat went on, bolstering up his assurance. "Half the time that girl spends in the saddle." Gray pulled up abruptly. "Listen," he said. To them drifted the sound of a galloping horse. Instantly Gray lifted his pony to a canter and rode out of the draw in which they were. The approaching rider was a woman. He moved forward to meet her. She caught sight of Sorley and dragged her horse to a halt. "They've got Ruth!" she cried. "Who?" asked Pat sharply. "I don't know. Two men. I—I—got a horse and ran away." Nelly broke down and began to sob. "Two men with one horse?" Gray inquired. "Yes. They found horses in the corral, and they made us pack food."

"What d'you mean, they've got Ruth?" the crook-nosed man asked grimly. "They're taking her with them. I was to go, too, but I got away like I said. One of the men let me go." "Which one? Did you hear his name?" The girl suspended her sobs. She looked at this hard-faced stranger whose eyes were like a day of judgment. His strength communicated itself to her. "No. Yes, I did, too. He said his name was Kansas, and that I was to look after Ruth. He said he was against taking her, and to remember that they would make first for the Walsh cabin back of Crowfoot. That is where they will hide." "Did he call the other man Morg Norris?" "He called him Morg." "How did Kansas get a chance to let you go?" "The other man had sent him out to rope and saddle horses and I slipped away to the stable. This Kansas caught me there. But he let me go. He pretended to shoot at me as I rode away."

CHAPTER IX

Ruth knew she must not show fear. No matter how urgently it knocked at her heart, she dared not let it appear on her face. The man who had her in his power was a bully, and if she gave any sign of panic, he would take a devilish delight in trading on it. Hour after hour they wound deeper into the hills. Each added mile increased her worry. Not many people had penetrated the folds between these steep and rugged passes. Her friends would not know where to find her. They might as well look for the proverbial needle in the haystack. Norris rode beside Ruth, insulting her with his jeers and even more with his admiration. She looked straight ahead, hot shame in her cheeks. It was in her mind that she deserved this. Punishment had come home to her for all the careless-flirting she had done in the past. Upon her hand, lying for the moment on the pommel of the saddle, he let his fingers close. Ruth did not snatch her arm away. She moved it definitely but without haste. He grinned. "You don't like me, sweetheart." Her scornful eyes rested upon him for an instant. "I come of decent people," she said. His vanity was colossal. It came to her that perhaps she could play upon it to save herself. He liked to talk about his prowess. By flattery she might deflect him from the purpose playing in the shallow surface of his mind, might at least lead him to move toward it with finesse. She made a change of front. It was useless to reproach him with outraging her rights, since he recognized no claims of others. Better to let him see himself as a lover irresistible, gradually wearing down her will to fight his fascination. "Don't you believe in any moral law at all?" she asked, looking at him with critical interest. (TO BE CONTINUED)

Gray fired the next question at Sorley. "Where is this Walsh cabin?" "Way up in the hills. You follow Lance creek—that's the one back of the house—pretty near to its headwaters. Then you cut across mighty rough country to Escondido pass. The Walsh cabin is in a little park on the yon side of the pass. Unless you knew where it was, you wouldn't find it in a hundred years." "You'll have to go with me, I reckon, Sorley. I'd never find it alone. We'll stop at the ranch and pick up some grub," Gray turned to Nelly. "You're not afraid to ride alone to meet Chiswick, are you?" She said, "No," very dubiously. "Good girl," the stranger said quietly. "We wouldn't let you go alone if there was any danger." "You—you won't let them hurt Ruth, will you?" she begged.

No muscle in the man's grim immobile face changed, but the eyes that looked into hers had a cold fierce deadliness appalling in its ruthlessness. He made no threat in words, no promises. "Quien sabe?" he murmured. A moment later he was galloping toward the ranch. They found the place deserted. Gray flung himself from the saddle, grounded the reins, and strode into the house. On the kitchen table he found a note written on the margin of a torn piece of newspaper. "Dear Lee, We had to borrow some grub for our honeymoon in the hills. Your son-in-law, "Morg Norris."

One for All, All for One, Even Germs Take Up the Chant, Scientists Assert

Two Department of Agriculture scientists announced discovery of four types of bacteria that give up their rugged individualism when the going gets tough and organize themselves into an army, marching on parade with the precision of West Point cadets, writes a Washington United Press correspondent. Scientists long have believed that bacteria act, like ruthless savages, on the principle of "the devil take the hindmost." These four species, however, unite in a co-operative organization when the water in which they live starts to dry up. They move in ranks with as many as 50 individual bacteria in a single, even file. Half a dozen ranks of bacteria may parade across a microscopic field in a few minutes, it was said. Dr. Francis E. Clark and N. J. R. Smith, of the bureau of plant industry, solved the mystery of the socially conscious bacteria. The phenomena was first described by J. L. Roberts, a graduate student of the University of Texas. Dr. Clark and Smith, working independently, discovered the same thing while doing research in the Department of Agriculture laboratories. They pursued their studies further and found what made the bacteria act so strangely. It was reduced moisture, they reported. Do these spore-forming bacteria inherit some astonishing trait which guides them when their living conditions become unfavorable? Dr. Clark and Smith do not know the answer, although they have been working on the puzzle for months. All they know is that, when the moisture is reduced, these four species of bacteria organize into co-operative units to save themselves. Under the microscope, the bacteria form an even row of many dozens. Out in front, one or more individuals may lead the parade—like drum majors. They move so rapidly that magnified 100 or 200 times their actual size they "march" out of view within a very few minutes. Behind the rows in even formation, a few stragglers fall out of line and vainly try to keep up with the larger crop—just like soldiers

Overweight Burdens the Heart Fatty deposits increase the work of the heart, because each extra pound demands the pumping of additional blood. It has been estimated that every pound of fat requires six-tenths of a mile of blood vessels to nourish it! Thus, the individual who is 20 pounds overweight is carrying around 12 miles of excess blood vessels. Naturally, the heart must work faster and harder to pump blood through these extra miles, and it is not surprising that it is frequently overstrained. Heart disease and high blood pressure are often associated with excess fat. So pre diabetes and kidney disease. And when fat creeps around the abdominal muscles, it may interfere with normal elimination. Life May Be Shortened Furthermore, life insurance companies estimate that the more overweight the body becomes, the slighter the chances for longevity. All the data that have been assembled indicate that as age and weight increase, the death rate rapidly accelerates. Gross overweight may shorten life by as much as ten years. What Should You Weigh? It is generally held that under the age of thirty, it is advisable to weigh from five to ten pounds more than the average for one's height and age. But after thirty, a weight of ten to twenty pounds below the average is desirable. In fact, leading authorities now agree that it is an excellent plan to endeavor after thirty to maintain the normal weight for one's height at age thirty. Reducing Methods to Avoid If you have allowed yourself to become overweight, you should and can reduce. But you must go about it in a scientific manner. Do not put your faith in worthless or dangerous methods that either fail to reduce or may cause you to lose your health faster than you lose weight. Never take any sort of drugs for the purpose of reducing, except under the advice of your physician. Many drugs which are said to speed up bodily activities and burn up fat may injure the heart, produce cataracts of the eyes, and

Nationally Known Food Authority Describes the Right and Wrong Methods of Reducing

By C. HOUSTON GOUDISS, 6 East 39th Street, New York City.

THERE was a time when overweight was indulgently tolerated and even respected. It was believed that width and wisdom went together and that fat people had the best dispositions. Surplus poundage was regarded as an indication of wealth for it implied that one had plenty to eat and did not have to work.

The modern point of view, backed by medical science, is that overweight destroys beauty, multiplies the chances of disease and subtracts years from your life.

Most of the degenerative diseases of middle life occur more frequently in those who are overweight than in those whose weight is normal. The entire body functions at a disadvantage for the excess fat is present inside as well as outside of the body. Just as the abdomen, hips and arms are burdened with excess fat, so are the internal organs stifled with needless tissue.

Are You Overweight? You can REDUCE Safely - Surely - Comfortably. Send for This Free Bulletin Offered by C. Houston Goudiss. Readers of this newspaper are invited to write to C. Houston Goudiss, at 6 East 39th Street, New York City, for his scientific Reducing Bulletin, which shows how to reduce by the safe and sane method of counting calories. The bulletin is complete with a chart showing the caloric value of all the commonly used foods and contains simple menus that you can use as a guide to comfortable and beautiful weight reduction.

do other serious damage. Other drugs may have a harmful effect on the kidneys.

The various fad reducing diets which women pass about among themselves are likewise dangerous, because they are usually unbalanced. They may lead to a serious type of acidosis; to nervous disorders, faulty elimination, or deficiency diseases.

Less dangerous, but wholly ineffective, are a variety of salts, soaps, pills and devices said to make fat vanish as if by magic.

It is also a fallacy to believe that rubbing, massaging or pumping will effectively take off weight.

Rational Weight Control The one scientific method of maintaining normal weight or getting rid of a surplus is to recognize the fundamental fact that all body fat originates as surplus fuel. This weight control is chiefly a matter of regulating the diet so that the food intake does not exceed the energy expenditure.

Counting Calories The person who has become markedly overweight as a result of overeating should put himself in the hands of a physician, but the maintenance of normal weight depends largely upon learning to count calories. Many people are puzzled by the word "calorie," which is a term of measurement used to measure both the fuel value of foods and the body's energy needs. For example, a tablespoon of sugar furnishes 50 calories; a tablespoon of butter, 100 calories; one-fourth of a large head of lettuce only 12 calories.

The energy requirement for a normal adult man engaged in a sedentary occupation is from 2,200 to 2,800 calories daily; work done standing or walking requires up to 3,000 calories daily. A woman requires from 2,000 to 2,500 calories daily, depending upon her activities. By becoming familiar with the caloric value of foods, it is possible to construct a well-balanced diet, and at the same time to cut down on fuel values so that you consume less energy foods each day than the body requires. This will force the body to burn some of its own fat for fuel and result in a safe, scientific gradual weight reduction.

I shall gladly send readers of this column a chart showing the caloric value of all the commonly used foods. You will find that by eating 500 calories less each day than the body expends, you can reduce your weight a pound a week. And with the chart before you, you can cut out 500 calories without even missing them.

Sample Reducing Menus In planning a reducing program, it is essential to include in each day's diet adequate amounts of the protective foods. To help you plan a balanced diet, a week's sample menus have been included in my Reducing Bulletin. By keeping your weight down, you may have at least ten years longer in which to enjoy life. In becoming master of your fat, you will truly become master of your fate.

RIDING HIGH WIDE AND HANDSOME

Several of our neighboring newspapers gave the Friday before last sandstorm that rolled up in black billows, and lasted about an hour a great write up, and succeeded well. We enjoyed the glowing account and at least one intimated that Almighty was riding high, wide and handsome on the storm to inspire humanity. Wonder if he thinks that God was riding that storm over in Lynn Co. a month ago that killed a lot of people and destroyed their all regardless of whether they were Christians or infidels? It seems to us that a lot of people easily get the law of nature and the law of God mixed.—Terry County Herald.

And so you don't think God has anything to do with the weather, eh? It is controlled entirely by the laws of nature and there is no relation between the laws of nature and the laws of God.

Well, it may be that you are right. We don't know. But we should like for you to answer a few questions for us.

Who made the laws of nature anyway? Who made this old earth? Who made the sun and the planets and the innumerable stars that stud the skies. Wasn't it some intelligent power that we call God?

Do you think that God created these heavenly bodies, countless millions of them, and flung them out into space with a "Let 'er go Gallagher" with no thought of ever paying any further attention to them?

Oh! each is held in its place and its course by the laws of nature, eh? without any further oversight by the great Mind and Spirit that created them.

If so, that is the greatest miracle

In all the universe. Just take this little old earth, for instance. It is whirling around on its axis at a speed of a thousand miles per hour. If you were standing at any point on the equator you would be traveling east with the rotary motion of the earth at a speed of more than 16 miles per minute, or more than a quarter of a mile per second. Some speed, isn't it?

But that is nothing. The earth also revolves around the sun. In making one revolution, scientist tell us, it travels about 580 million miles. That requires one year's time. It travels around the sun therefore at speed of 1,600,000 miles per day, or 66,700 miles per hour, more than 1,100 miles per minute, nearly 19 miles per second. Think of it!

The scientists further declare that there are many millions of stars, perhaps a billion of them, and that many of these are each much larger than our sun. All these are traveling along their courses through space at a speed so great that our little minds can not comprehend it.

Their movements are controlled, we are told, by two laws of nature, Gravitation and Centrifugal force. Masses of matter attract each other and tend to come together. That is gravitation. Matter once set in motion tends to travel in a straight line. That is the law of centrifugal force.

Now with millions of heavenly bodies rotating and revolving through space at an inconceivable speed, the law of gravitation tending to pull them together, and the law of centrifugal force tending to drive a body, like the earth, further away from its parent body, like the sun, how is such an even balance of these forces maintained so that there is not a general smash-up?

Some scientists may be able to leave God out of it and explain this to their own satisfaction, but not to ours. The little insignificant heavenly bodies, meteors, are constantly colliding with the earth and being wrecked. Why are there not occasional collisions of the larger heavenly bodies—of whole solar systems?

We prefer to believe that the hand of God, figuratively speaking, is continually upon them and holds them in their courses.

If so, isn't his hand upon this old earth too?

You profess to believe the New Testament. Now, if Jesus could calm the storm on Galilee 1900 years ago, can't God control the storms in Lynn county and Terry county today?

We do not pretend to know why God permits a devastating tornado, a destructive hail, or a stifling, blighting sandstorm, for Paul tells us that God's ways are past finding out, but we can see and admire his majesty and his power in the storm, just as we can see his glory in the sunset, his purity and his sense of beauty in the rosebud, the tulip, and the lily, and his goodness and providential care in the snowy fields of cotton and the golden harvest of grain.

There was a touch of ridicule in your statement that we had intimated that the "Almighty was riding high, wide, and handsome on the storm." But one of the prophets of the Old Testament expressed the same idea much more beautifully than we could when he said, "The Lord hath his way in the whirlwind and in the storm, and the clouds are the dust of his feet."

In the Eighteenth Psalm you will find this picturesque language: "He bowed the heavens also and came down; and darkness was under his feet. And he rode upon a cherub, and did fly; yea, he did fly upon the wings of the winds."—Riding high, wide and handsome, eh?

There are numerous similar expressions in the Bible, but we give just one more: "O Lord, my God, thou art very great; thou art clothed with honor and majesty. Who coverest thyself with light as with a garment; who stretchest out the heavens like a curtain; who layeth the beams of his chambers in the waters; who maketh the clouds his chariot; who walketh upon the wings of the wind."

We understand you are something of a Bible student, Jack. How did all this beauty and this imagery in the Scripture escape you?

Those Japanese certainly have gall. The other day they requested American and other foreign shipping and naval vessels to vacate a 200 mile stretch of the Yangtze River in China. They have no more authority to demand that our shipping and naval vessels shall get off of the Yangtze River than we have to demand that Japanese vessels get off of it. There are doubtless a bunch of pacifists in this country, however, who will be howling for us to comply with this arrogant demand. They will be saying that we should abandon our shipping interests in China, the protection of American property and, American lives there, and tuck our tails and run. We think that it was a fine answer that Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, commander of the United States Asiatic fleet, sent back to the Japs Sunday night. Here is what he told them: "1. The United States Navy will remain complete freedom of movement on the Yangtze, and will proceed any place where Americans are in danger. 2. The American command will not change the color of its warships, which are painted white, to conform to any color scheme suggested by the Japanese. 3. The United States does not regard the warning of Japanese naval officials relative to the Yangtze as relieving the Japanese in the slightest degree of responsibility for damage or injury to United States warships." We think that is exactly the answer that should have been given. And America should back it up to the letter.

A boom has been started in Washington for John Garner for President in 1940. Some of his friends have started a similar movement in Texas. About the greatest drawback is his age. He will soon be 70, you know.

Mrs. F. M. Billman and son Joe Bob and Miss Anita Reddell visited in Abilene and Clyde Sunday.

A man whose name is Vivian O. Thompson made application to the Democratic executive committee a few weeks ago under the false and fictitious name of Vernest O. Thompson to have this name printed on the ballot as a candidate for governor. The fraud was discovered later and on last Monday the committee refused to permit his name to be printed on the ballot. The committee did exactly right. Thompson of course had no hope of being nominated governor. His only purpose was to confuse his name with that of Ernest O. Thompson, who is a candidate for governor, and to cause some voters to cast their ballots for a person not intended when they come to scratch their ballot in the July primaries. Any man who will attempt such a fraud upon the people deserves the utmost contempt of every honest person. Be it said to the credit of Bill McCraw, who is also a candidate for governor, that he with others protested against this name being printed on the ballot to the possible injury of his leading opponent, Ernest O. Thompson, the intended victim of the fraud, very properly and sagaciously refrained from any comment on the matter. Possibly some partisan of some other candidate who thought he was very smart prompted the Dallas Thompson to attempt the deception. It is not probable that any candidate for governor had anything to do with it, but it is hoped that the person or persons who did will yet be exposed and be covered with the disgrace which they deserve.

For some time John L. Lewis has been a powerful labor boss, and most labor bosses seek to become political bosses. A few days ago he and a few of his lieutenants went to the leaders in Congress and proceeded to lay the law down to them respecting proposed legislation. Congressmen should listen to sane and legitimate arguments advanced from any and every source, but they should defy every would-be political boss.

One of our citizens argues that while federal aid is available we should erect a series of dams along every creek, draw, and gulch in our county as a water and soil conservation move. The prevention of floods and the prevention of erosion would be one return on the investment, and the storing up of water for livestock would be worth something. With all the water coming as rain held in our county it would tend to soak down to increase the underground supply and the evaporation with something to work on, might tend to return more moisture to this area. We know that where water is held where it falls in a field it is very beneficial, and the same would hold true for an entire county. We need more water to make our county the garden spot it should be.—Big Spring News.

Less Monthly Discomfort

Many women, who formerly suffered from a weak, run-down condition as a result of poor assimilation of food, say they benefited by taking CARDUI, a special medicine for women. They found it helped to increase the appetite and improve digestion, thereby bringing them more strength from their food.

Naturally there is less discomfort at monthly periods when the system has been strengthened and the various functions restored and regulated.

Cardui, praised by thousands of women, is well worth trying. Of course, if not benefited, consult a physician.

FORMER WILSON BOY WEDS IN LOS ANGELES

The News has received announcement of the wedding of Mr. Doyle Manor, formerly of Wilson but now of Los Angeles, and Miss Doris Walker, the happy event taking place on June 1, at 9 p. m. It was a quiet home wedding with only the members of the family present.

The bride was formerly employed as a stenographer for Sears, Roebuck & Co. at Dallas. The groom is employed by the Los Angeles Furniture Company, and they will make their home in Los Angeles.

The groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Manor, formerly lived in the Dixie and Wilson communities in this county but are now living in Bell Gardens, California. Their many friends in this county will doubtless be much interested in this announcement.

Harley Sadler, (right), famous Texas showman, has broken a life-long custom of keeping out of politics to become the West Texas campaign manager for his kinsman, Jerry Sadler, (left), of Longview 30-year old candidate for Railroad Commissioner of Texas. "I consider Jerry the best man for the job," is Harley's explanation for breaking his non-intervention policy. Harley says: "Put Sadler in the Saddle and he will ride the broncho of monopoly."

The Vacation Church School is in progress now. About 60 children are in attendance with a dozen teachers and helpers. They will put on a program next Sunday night.

Our revival will be August 7-21. We are expecting a great meeting.

On Monday afternoon at 7 o'clock there will be a picnic in the City Park, sponsored by the Missionary Society in honor of the very fine Vacation Bible School. All parents are most cordially invited to bring the children and a picnic lunch. Every one invited.

We have planned our summer meeting, which will begin August 1, continuing through the 21st. We want you to plan now to be here. We have called one of our very best evangelists, Rev. R. L. Holder at Lamesa. He is safe, sound preacher of the gospel. Our pianist and soloist is Miss Lona Webb of Gatesville, a very fine character. You will be encouraged to live a more efficient life by hearing these fine workers.

THE LYNN COUNTY NEWS

Ralph Brock Is "House" Candidate

In order to fully acquaint the voters of the 119th District with Ralph Brock, the following sketch of his life is offered.

Brock is a native West Texan. He was born on a farm in Crosby county in 1915. After living there for eight years, he moved with his mother to a farm south of Lubbock. Since 1927 Brock has lived within the City of Lubbock.

Ralph early became interested in the Boy Scouts, and attained the highest rank in that organization. Throughout his entire Scout career Brock was an outstanding leader, not only in Lubbock, but in the South Plains Area Council as well.

Brock's scholastic record speaks for itself. Graduated from Lubbock High School in 1933 with highest recognition, receiving a scholarship to any denominational school of his choice in the South; two years of Pre-Law training in Texas Technological College with an "A" average in his work; three years of outstanding work in the Law School of the University of Texas; was granted a Bachelors degree from this institution June 6.

Brock was entirely self-supporting throughout the five years of his college and university training, engaging in practically every type of employment from that of common laborer to assisting one of the Texas Senators in the Capitol. In this latter connection, Brock familiarized himself with the workings of our Legislature from a practical point of view, and made many acquaintances which should prove invaluable to him as your Representative.

Ralph was one of seventeen law students in 700 to be selected as a member of the Board of Student Editors of the Texas Law Review, and was awarded a prize for his outstanding contributions to the publication during the 1936-1937 school year.

Brock makes the following statement regarding his candidacy:

"I pledge to work as hard for you as your Representative as I have worked in my own behalf, with continuous Christian service in the Halls of the Texas Legislature, and without discrimination for or against any interests, person, or persons.

"I believe that:

1. There must be strict economy in the administration of your State Government without sacrificing efficiency.

2. Texas Must be redistricted so that West Texas will have its just representation.

3. Liberal Old-Age Pensions must be provided for the needy.

4. The Teacher's Retirement plan must be vitalized by prompt legislative action.

5. The Truck load-limit should be increased.

6. There should be closer supervision of the sale of liquor by prescription in dry counties.

7. The development of Texas Technological College must not be hampered by inadequate appropriations.

8. Rural Electrification should be encouraged and assisted to the greatest extent possible.

9. A long range Soil Conservation program must be initiated.

10. The markets for our farm and ranch products must be protected.

ELDER DRENNON'S NOTES

Last week we unintentionally omitted a part of Brother Drennon's Notes, which destroyed the meaning of it. What he said was: "If I am practicing anything not authorized by the New Testament I will quit it, or if I am not doing what it says I will begin now", etc.—The Editor)

I am delighted to be able to start another week with conditions as favorable as they are. We have had good rains in most of our trade territory and every one is feeling better. What a difference a rain makes on the faces of those who need it. I wish we could get a smile that dry weather or hail would not rub off.

Yesterday was a splendid day at the Church here. I spoke last night on "The Life of Jacob". We found in the study of his life that the first part of it was lived without complete surrender to God. He came face to face with God at Peniel where he wrestled with the angel until the break of day and his thigh was dislocated. Then when he saw his utter helplessness, Jacob made a surrender. Many in the church are just making a mere pretense at serving God, not even making God a good second in their lives. If they could only reach their Peniel, what a change it would make in them! One of the greatest needs of the church today is for the members to put the Kingdom of God first in their lives.

When I heard of Dr. Knapp's death I thought of what a fine thing it would be if he could just cast his mantle upon some one else as Elijah did Elisha, but as he could not we are glad he used his talent for the betterment of society from a literary standpoint as well as many other ways.

Just a few more things about the editor's note last week and the week before.

As to our interpreting the Bible, I think Peter answered it when he said "Knowing this first, that no prophecy of the Scripture is of private interpretation", 2 Peter, 1:20. Just let the Bible be its own interpreter. If we can't all understand the Bible alike then God has made a mistake in giving it to us. I feel sure we can, when we will lay denominational spectacles aside and take the Bible just for what it says without any private interpretations.

As to the question I asked last week, "Do you know of any sound scriptural reason why we should not all be one?", perhaps you answered it in the last part of your note last week but I hardly think your answer was adequate. Please notice it again this week.

I want to congratulate the Church of Christ at Tahoka on the splendid improvement in appearance they have made to their church building and grounds. It surely looks much better.

I also want to make mention of the splendid ads the grocery stores have had in the News lately. Their prices are in line with Lubbock and the people should stop and buy there. Keep it up if you want to keep people from going to Lubbock.

Yours for more people who are more interested in the church that Christ built than they are in their denomination.—R. P. Drennon.

Ed. Note—As to interpreting the Bible, we know of no "denominational" preacher or preachers who spend more time in the pulpit interpreting the Scriptures than do the ministers of your church, Brother Drennon. We do not say this to your discredit; rather we think that it is a practice that is to be commended.

As to our understanding the Bible alike, there are some parts of it that many of us do not understand ed against the competition of foreign products.

11. The establishment of cotton and Grain Research Laboratories is essential to our progress.

12. The present $22 per capita appropriation together with an adequate Rural aid fund must be maintained.

13. The Government must be brought home to the people.

SHERIFF'S SALE

By virtue of a certain Order of Sale issued by the Clerk of the District Court of Potter County, on the 9th day of June 1938, in a certain cause wherein J. I. Case Company is plaintiff, and C. A. Clem is defendant, in favor of the said plaintiff for the sum of Six Hundred Forty Two 66-100 ($642.66) Dollars, with interest thereon at the rate of 8 per centum per annum, from date of judgment, together with all costs of suit, that being the amount of a judgment recovered by the said J. I. Case Company plaintiff, in the District Court of Potter County, on the 18th day of May 1938, I have levied upon, and will on the first Tuesday in July 1938, it being the 5th day of said month, at Tahoka, Texas, within legal hours, proceed to sell for cash to the highest bidder all the right, title and interest of C. A. Clem in and to the following described property, levied upon as the property of C. A. Clem to-wit:

One CC Tractor open wheel serial number C 307733; One CC2ARC lister; One XCC2H11 Cultivator.

The above sale to be made by me to satisfy the above described judgment for Six Hundred Forty Two and 66-100 ($642.66) Dollars, in favor of J. I. Case Company, together with the costs of said suit, and the proceeds applied to the satisfaction thereof.

By Doris Connolly, Deputy, Tahoka, Lynn County, Texas. 44-3tc.

Sylvester Reese, senior student in Texas Tech, spent the week end in Tahoka with his parents.

at all. Do you and your people fully understand all of Revelation, every sentence and verse of it? Do you fully understand all the prophecies of Daniel, and Isaiah, and Jeremiah, and the others? If so, you are a paragon of wisdom.

Isn't your present understanding of the Bible due in part to your own study of it and partly to the explanations and interpretations, written or spoken, given by others?

As for ourself, we would not understand nearly so much about the Bible as we do if somebody had not explained or interpreted it for us. And we admit that we may have the wrong conception of some parts of it. Won't you admit as much for yourself?

The Santa Fe Railway System carloading for the week ending June 4, were 18,208 compared with 22,137 cars for the same week last year. Received from connections were 4,247 cars compared with 5,442 for the same week last year. Total cars moved were 22,355 as compared with 27,579 for the same week 1937.

The Santa Fe handled a total of 24,492 cars in the preceding week this year.

Dr. Bradford Knapp Tech President, Is Buried

Friends and admirers throughout Texas and in other states were shocked and grieved when they learned of the death of Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of the Texas Technological College, which occurred between eleven and twelve o'clock Saturday morning.

The body lay in state in the administration building of the College from 2 to 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon and more than a thousand friends from all walks of life called to pay their respects to the distinguished dead.

Funeral services were conducted in the college gymnasium at 10 o'clock Monday morning with Dr. Jack M. Lewis, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, delivering the funeral discourse. The body was buried in the Lubbock cemetery with Masonic honors. Hon. Jewell P. Lightfoot of Fort Worth, former attorney-general of Texas and former Master of the grand lodge of Texas, delivered the funeral oration.

Dr. Knapp, 67, had been in ill health for the past two years, and he had been forced to be away from his office most of the time for the past three months. Though sick he went to the College and delivered a message to the graduating class on Monday morning of last week. On Tuesday morning he collapsed at the breakfast table and was rushed to a hospital. His collapse at the time was attributed to acute gastritis, but he suffered several heart attacks thereafter and died of "heart-block" Saturday morning.

Dr. Knapp was the son of Dr. Seaman A. Knapp, a distinguished educator and a pioneer in Extinction Service of the United States Department of Agriculture. Following in the footsteps of his father, he himself served as a director in the Extension Service. He served as dean of Agriculture in the University of Arkansas from 1920 to 1923, was president of the Oklahoma A. & M. College at Stillwater from 1923 to 1928, and president of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute at Auburn from 1928 to 1932. He was elected president of the Texas Technological College in the latter year and had served in this capacity since.

He was married in 1904 and leaves surviving the widow, three sons and two daughters.

He was a member of the Presbyterian Church.

Mail Order Buying Does Not Pay

Recently, a local party ordered a bucket from a mail order house for which he sent them only 23 cents, but included 11 cents for postage. The bucket cost him 34 cents delivered here after a period of waiting.

Comparing that bucket with one in stock of a local merchant, he found that he could have bought the same bucket here for 24 cents.

That is a fair sample of the "wonderful" bargains you are offered in the big catalogs. The only difference, perhaps, was that the mail order house made an appeal to the purchaser through an advertisement, while the local merchant did not. At any rate, one is often surprised at the saving to be made by buying at home. The price scale above would apply to most any purchase.

UNCLE BILL KELIS' MEMORY GEM

If I were called upon at this time to suggest a memory gem for every school boy and girl past the fifth grade, I would suggest the American Creed as follows:

"I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people, whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a Republic; a sovereign Nation of many sovereign States; a perfect union, one and inseparable, established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes. I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it, to support its Constitution, to obey its laws; to respect its flag, and to defend it against all enemies."

Before a boy or girl received a diploma, I would have him repeat the above from memory and follow it with the Ten Commandments.

I believe that if every boy and girl could be made to realize that to be a true American is one of his noblest heritages, that when he went to college, he would think twice before he would join the Communists, the Nazis or the Fascists whose ideals are unamerican, and whose chief aim is to aid in the overthrow of the United States government.—Uncle Bill in Sterling City News Record.

T. E. Park returned recently from Sivel's Bend in Cooke county where he visited a daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Allen. He ordered the News and the Pathfinder sent to their address. While Mr. Park greatly enjoyed the visit, he was glad to get back out here where the sandstorms are so familiar and friendly. He missed a big one or two while away., the best of the season.

Miss Marjorie Wells, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Wells, recently entered John Tarleton College at Stephenville, and the parents say that she seems highly pleased with the school. Miss Marjorie is one of our most deserving young people, having been one of the best pupils in our high school in spite of the fact that she was compelled to overcome great physical handicaps.

Ralph Erock of Lubbock, a recent entrant into the race for Representative in the legislature, was interviewing the voters in Tahoka Tuesday and made a brief call at the News Office. Mr. Brock just recently received his law degree from the University of Texas and has hung out his shingle as a practitioner at the bar in Lubbock. He is a young man of pleasing personality and much promise.

Mrs. Harley Henderson spent several days last week visiting her parents in Lubbock.

O. O. Sproles and son, Ascar, of Quemado, down on the Rio Grande, but formerly residents of this county were here over the week end. They had brought a truck load of watermelons they had raised on their irrigated farm at Quemado to Lubbock and could not resist the temptation to visit in Tahoka for a day or two. O. O. says irrigated farming is all right but that it requires lots of hard work.

Here's Good Health, Governor!

AUSTIN, Texas.—The milk route to good health was recommended by the Governor and the State Health Officer of Texas as Governor James V. Allred (right) issued a proclamation designating June 9 to July 6 as Milk and Dairy Products Month. "Here's good health," the Governor was saluted by Dr. George W. Cox, who added: "Good, clean, safe milk is the nearest perfect of all foods."

"How Old Is Ann?" Gave

Puzzle Sharks a Problem
The question, "How old is Ann?" refers to an old mathematical problem which had a wide vogue at the beginning of the Twentieth century. On October 12, 1903, the New York Press, in its column "On the Tip of the Tongue," printed the following letter submitted by a correspondent who signed himself John Mahon and gave his residence as Brooklyn: "Mary is twenty-four years old. She is twice as old as Ann was when she was as old as Ann is now. How old is Ann now? A says the answer is sixteen; B says twelve. Which is correct?"

Mark Sullivan, in Our Times, says that this letter "started people sharpening pencils over the entire country, and for half a dozen years remained a subject of dispute and means of pastime." The imperfect manner in which the problem was stated (both the answers given were incorrect) not only confused those attempting to solve it, but also contributed to the fascination of the task. Several persons, it was reported, went insane trying to find out how old Ann was. All sorts of "Ann problems" (some of them entirely new and some of them merely modifications of the original) were published for the amusement of the public.

From what source the writer of the letter printed in the New York Press obtained the original problem is not known. That it antedates 1903, in one form or another, is probable. Some people have attributed the original Ann problem to Sam Loyd, an inventor of puzzles and brain-twisters, but there is no evidence to support the claim. The problem as stated in the paper presents no particular mathematical difficulties and is readily solved by algebra. The answer is that Ann is eighteen years of age, says a writer in the Indianapolis News.

Music Feature Of Rotary Program

Music was featured on the program of the Rotary Club Thursday. Miss Edith Robertson gave a piano solo that was much enjoyed, and Dr. Kenneth R. Durham led in the singing of several songs that had a kick to them. Also, the newly developed quartet composed of Dr. Durham, Homer St. Clair, Henry Maassen, and J. O. Tinsley gave a snappy number that brought an encore.

Three new members were officially inducted into the club: Ben Clinton, A. L. Smith, and Jake Leedy. Leonard Craft spoke the words of welcome and counsel and delivered to them the insignia. Happy and Truett Smith presented the matter of having a merchants' parade at the Old Settlers Reunion next Friday, and a number of business men present indicated a desire to take part in the parade. A number of out-of-town visitors were present.

MAXEYS ENTERTAIN

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Maxey were hosts Monday night at their new home in Lubbock to a group of Tahoka friends. Those attending the entertainment from here were: Messrs. and Mmes. Prentice Walker, Lawrence Evans, Wynne Collier, and Frank Hill. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sewell, now of Lubbock, were also guests.

Residents of many Texas rural areas not served by gas or electric lines now enjoy the convenience of gas ranges, lights and heaters through "canned" butane gas, which is delivered in liquid form but expands, forms its own pressure and is piped into the various gas appliances in the form of dry natural gas.

Elton Gattis and A. R. Milliken drove to Lawton, Oklahoma, Saturday on a pleasure trip. Miss Eloise Roberts, who was visiting relatives there, returned to Tahoka with them Sunday.

Homer St. Clair Will Move To Lamesa

Homer St. Clair, local manager for the Cicero Smith Lumber Company, has received notice of a promotion. He is to be placed in charge of the yard at Lamesa July 1, with a somewhat better salary than he is being paid here. He and family will move about the first of July.

Many friends here regret that this good family are removing from Tahoka, as they have entered activities of the town during their residence here. Mrs. St. Clair was reared here, and with the exception of a few years spent at O'Donnell and Lamesa she has lived here all her life. Homer is a member of the of the Baptist Church, and he will city council, of the Rotary Club, and be greatly missed in each of these organizations. The boys, too, have many friends here who will miss them.

May they prosper in their new home.

A piano solo "Cathedral at Twilight" (Wagness) was given by Patricia Hill; Bette Ruth Wyatt sang "I Love You Truly" (Bond); and a toast was given the bride by Mrs. Frank Hill. Miss Leta Frances Wyatt gave a toast to the groom, her uncle. Only relatives and a few friends were present.

Many friends at Tahoka, O'Donnell, and Three Lakes, where the bride has lived also, wish the couple much happiness and prosperity.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Fowlkes and Miss Willie Marsh Chappell of Lubbock were here Sunday visiting Mrs. Val Morris. Mrs. Fowlkes and Mrs. Morris are sisters, while Miss Chappell is Mrs. Morris' daughter and is now attending a business college in Lubbock.

NEW OFFICERS FOR EPWORTH LEAGUE ELECTED

The Methodist young people met Sunday evening and elected new officers for their Epworth League.

The following officers were elected: president, Frances Shelton; vice-president, Mary Bland Wells; secretary-treasurer, Louise Park; publicity chairman, Leta Frances Wyatt.

The attendance is greatly increasing and we are expecting it to continue so. So let's all come out and boost it. Remember our League at 7:30 o'clock Sunday evenings. Every one is cordially invited.

Little Miss Alice Guy of Waco is here visiting her friend, Mrs. G. M. Stewart.

MISS OLA BELLE SINGLETON RETURNS TO AUSTIN

Miss Ola Belle Singleton left Sunday for Austin, going by way of Fort Worth, to resume her duties as secretary to Governor Allred. She was accompanied by Willella Nelson of Lubbock, daughter of Senator G. H. Nelson, who will visit there for about a week. She was also accompanied as far as Fort Worth by Mrs. Travis Stuart and two children, who went there on a visit.

Miss Ola Belle came home the latter part of May, under the advice of physicians, to take a long rest. She recuperated so rapidly that she was able to return to her duties much earlier than she had anticipated.

An eight and one-half pound daughter was born to Mrs. Frank J. Wood of Oswego, Oregon, Friday morning at the home of her sister, Mrs. Flournoy Moore, who resides in the central community in this county, according to Dr. Ann West of Dallas, who was here at the time and who was the attending physician. Mrs. Wood was the former Miss Levis Bosworth. The little daughter has been named Betty Caroline.

Secrets of Ancients Survive Attacks of Modern Science

With television soon to become a serious rival to the movies, and giant airplanes and "press-the-button" warships things which raise little comment from the average man, it is surprising that there are many secrets known to the ancients which have survived the attacks of modern science, says a writer in London Answers.

The Greeks could not weave linen or wool on anything like the scale we weave them today. But they wove them into the plemia, a form of cuirass which could not be penetrated by the sharpest dart or arrow. The secret has been lost—perhaps forever.

The Romans sank wells for water to great depths. Exactly how they did the boring we do not know. They also made glass which would bend yet not break. This would be quite useful today.

The beautiful purple dye, known of old, has eluded the dye-makers of today. And modern builders can make nothing of the strong and durable cement used by the Greeks and the Romans in their walls. This cement was stronger and harder than the stone itself.

The knowledge possessed by the ancient Egyptians was very extensive. They had a method of dressing stone to withstand the ravages of time and weather. They also perfected the art of embalming. Probes, forceps, and other surgical instruments have been found in Egypt. For what purpose they were used we will never know.

That secret, along with many others, passed away with the destruction of the famous library at Alexandria in the Fifth century. The loss of the knowledge contained in that library was a blow to civilization.

Reading and Thinking

Reading furnishes the mind only with materials of knowledge; it is thinking makes what we read ours. So far as we apprehend and see the connection of ideas, so far it is ours; without that it is so much loose matter floating in our brain.—Locke.

Must Books Be Read?

The collector of books need not fear the challenge that is sure to be made, sooner or later, by his skeptical acquaintances: "Have you read them all?" The first idea he ought to get out of his head is that he must only buy books for immediate reading.

"The charm of a library," said that devout book lover, the late Arnold Bennett, "is seriously impaired when one has read the whole or nearly the whole of its contents."

Bennett confessed that he had hundreds of books he had never opened, and which, perhaps, he never would open. But he would not part with them. He knew they were good, and as he gazed on them, he said to them, "Some day, if chance favors, your turn will come. Be patient!"—Liverpool Post.

Best Thoughts

Try to care about something in this vast world besides the gratification of small selfish desires. Try to care for what is best in thought and action—something that is good apart from the accidents of your own lot. Look on other lives besides your own. See what their troubles are, and how they are borne.—George Eliot.

WHEN LIFE DEPENDS ON TIRE SAFETY

On May 30, Floyd Roberts shattered all track records for the 500-mile Indianapolis Race, averaging 117.2 miles an hour using Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires.

IT'S ALWAYS Firestone

FOR 19 CONSECUTIVE YEARS THE WINNERS OF THE INDIANAPOLIS 500-MILE RACE HAVE PROTECTED THEIR LIVES WITH FIRESTONE GUM-DIPPED TIRES

THEY said it couldn't be done — that tires could not withstand the torture of the new high speeds. Yet Floyd Roberts set a new record, at this year's Indianapolis Race, averaging 117.2 miles an hour for the 500 miles on Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires.

With the sun-baked brick of the straight-away and the granite-hard surface of the turns pulling and grinding at their tires, 33 daring drivers, every one on Firestone Tires, waged a thrilling battle for gold and glory. Never before have tires been called upon to take such punishment. Never in all the history of the motor car has tire safety been put to such a gruelling test. Yet not one tire failed — not one single cord loosened — because Gum-Dipping, that famous Firestone patented process saturates and coats every cotton fiber in every cord in every ply with liquid rubber counteracting the tire-destroying internal friction and heat that ordinarily cause blowouts.

Why risk your life and the lives of others on unsafe tires? Join the Firestone SAVE A LIFE Campaign today by equipping your car with Firestone Triple-Safe Tires — the only tires made that are safety-proved on the speedways for your protection on the highways.

Are You a 'Canny' Canner?

By JOSEPHINE C. BOND.
Do you get 100 per cent returns from your canning efforts? It isn't always enough to do "lots of canning." You may have 500 full jars in your cellar at the end of the season, but if 100 of these leak because of cheap or old rubber rings, you are only getting an 80 per cent return on your labor.

One of the greatest mistakes the housewife canner can make, I have found, is to yield to the mistaken clerk who substitutes "unknown brands" for advertised brands produced by reputable manufacturers. Substitution may be all right at times, when an item can be used up in a short time. But when it comes to jar rings—play safe—buy a recognized brand.

There is a lot of difference in jar rings. The rubber used in them is compounded, or mixed, in much the same way that the batter for a cake is mixed, and, like cake batter, unless the recipe is tested and the ingredients of the best, the results will be disappointing. Inferior jar rings will "check" or crack and allow air to seep into the jars.

Sentinels of Health
Don't Neglect Them!
Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure. When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eye—feet tired, nervous, all worn out.
Frequent, scanty or burning passages may be further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance.
The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. One Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed the country over. Insert in Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

LESSON TEXT—Mark 15:22-39.
GOLDEN TEXT—For even the Son of man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many. Mark 10:45.
PRIMARY TOPIC—God's Wonderful Love.
JUNIOR TOPIC—On Calvary.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Self-Sacrifice for Others.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Love's Supreme Sacrifice.

"A Christianity without a dying Christ is a dying Christianity. History shows us that the expansiveness and elevating power of the Gospel depend upon the prominence given to the sacrifice of the Cross. An old fable says that the only thing that melts adamant is the blood of a lamb. The Gospel reveals the precious blood of Jesus Christ, his death for us as a ransom, as the one power that subdues hostility and binds hearts to Him" (Alexander MacLaren).

We consider today that darkest of all days in the history of the world—when wicked men with cruel hearts and hands crucified the loving Son of God. But, thanks be to God, it was also the day when bright hope shone forth for sinful humanity, for in His death Christ bore our sins upon the tree, the veil was rent, the old sacrifices were set aside, and the "new and living way" was opened into the "holiest by the blood of Jesus" (Heb. 10:20).

I. Crucified—That We Might Live (vv. 22-28).

The details of and circumstances surrounding the crucifixion are of deep interest to every Christian. We stand with Luther and weep as we see Christ's unspeakable agony, not only of body but of spirit, and we cry as did Luther, "For me, for me!" How can any believer contemplate the cross and withhold self, substance, or service from Christ?

Equally earnest and heart-searching is the message of the cross to the unbeliever. He knows he is a sinner (Rom. 3:23), he knows that "the wages of sin is death" (Rom. 6:23), and he knows that "neither is there salvation in any other, for there is none other name under heaven given among men whereby we must be saved" (Acts 4:12). Here at the cross he meets that one "who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes we were healed (I Pet. 2:24). There were two malefactors who were crucified with Him, and one rallied at Him. The other said, "Lord, remember me when thou comest into thy kingdom"; and Jesus said to him, "Today thou shalt be with me in Paradise" (Luke 23:39-43). Unbeliever, who reads these lines, will you not just now take the eternal life which Jesus died to make possible for you?

II. Forsaken—That We Might Be Accepted (vv. 29-36).

The railing, head wagging, and other abuse that men heaped upon Jesus as He hung on the cross, must have been a grievous thing for His tender loving heart to bear. But it was as nothing compared with that hour when, covered with all the sin and curse of the world, He who knew no sin "was made sin for us" (II Cor. 5:21), and God turned away from Him.

We cannot fathom the full meaning of that hour, we dare not attempt to explain it, we can only accept it and thank God that because He did become sin for us we may be "made the righteousness of God in him" (II Cor. 5:21).

III. A Veil Rent—That We Might Enter (vv. 37-39).

The death of Jesus was not the pitiful weakening of a human martyr. Here was the Son of God, crying with a loud voice (v. 37), giving up His spirit to the Father (Luke 23:46), declaring that the work of redemption was "finished."

As a visible indication of that part—and as a declaration that the old dispensation of law had given place to the dispensation of grace, God tore the temple veil in twain. Only He could have done it. No man could have torn this sixty-foot long, twenty-foot wide, and inch-thick curtain from top to bottom. It had hung in the temple to keep all but the High Priest out of the Holy of Holies, and he entered with fear and trembling but once a year as the representative of the people. Now all this is changed. We have now, "brethren, boldness to enter into the holiest by the blood of Jesus, by a new and living way, which he hath consecrated for us, through the veil." Therefore, let us draw near with a true heart and full assurance of faith" (Heb. 10:19-22).

Carefree Cotton Fashions

THESE two designs are particularly good inspirations for summer daytimes—they're cool, simple, becoming and easy to make. More than that, they are styles that adapt themselves to all seasons and many different materials, so that you can use them over and over again. The house dress can be made in a few hours, with a diagram, and the jumper frock includes a detailed sew chart, so it's no trouble at all.

House Dress in Large Sizes.
With darts at the waistline and inside tucks on the shoulders, this dress has an unusually good line—trim and slenderizing. Pleats in the short sleeves make them loose and easy to work in. It buttons down the front, and therefore goes on in a jiffy. Gingham, seersucker, percale and broadcloth are the best materials for this. Trim it with bright ricrac braid.

Girl's Jumper Blouse Frock.
With a jumper frock in dark cotton and several crisp white blouses, it's easy to keep your young daughter looking fresh and smart—and cuts down on the laundry, too. This style, with its flare

Tools not in use should be placed on shelves, in racks, hung up, or otherwise safely stored in tool sheds, according to their nature.

Strange Facts

Movies Catch Fire-Rain

A RAIN of fire, thousands of degrees in temperature, fell upon the surface of the sun. Sprays of flaming atoms shot up 150,000 miles from the sun's surface. A terrific explosion took place in which part of the sun's atmosphere was lifted 600,000 miles above the sun's surface. On the earth there were clear skies and cloudy skies, sunshine and rain. Even the most sensitive radio waves were not disturbed. Yet one instrument, made by man, recorded this rain of fire.

The spectroheliograph is the instrument invented by scientists which has made possible these amazing photographs of fire-rain. This instrument is essentially a spectroscope with a slit which transmits only one line of the spectrum. A photographic plate is moved across the slit at a rate equal to the sun's apparent rate of passage, the sun's light entering the slit through the object glass or mirror of a telescope. On September 17, 1937, the eye of the solar camera received and recorded celestial fireworks in motion pictures.

These solar pictures were shown for the first time in Philadelphia at the recent annual meeting of the American Philosophical society. They are the work of Dr. Robert R. McMath. The rain of hot fire falling upon the sun, revealed for the first time by improved solar photography, presents the greatest mystery. No one knows why it rains fire on the sun, or where the fire-rain comes from. Yet pictures have been taken of it, falling in great curving spirals. It is as mysterious to modern scientists as rain water was to our primitive ancestors.

REPORTS FROM THE COUNTY CLUBS

MISS LILITH BOYD, H. D. AGENT

O'DONNELL 4-H CLUB GIRL GIVES REPORT OF WORK

During 1937-1938 Ioma Page's record shows she made 59 articles and garments in club work as demonstrator in the O'Donnell 4-H Club.

"Club work has taught me to take better care of my clothes", said Ioma.

She kept a clothing record which included making a clothing inventory, listing clothes needed, and keeping a clothing account beginning last September.

Ioma made a shoe rack for her clothes closet. In improving her storage she said: "I added two shelves, lowered the clothes rod, and painted it white, and finished the floor with dark oak paint."

WELLS 4-H CLUB GIRL TELLS OF CLOTHES CLOSET

"Before I built my clothes storage, I kept my clothes in a chest of drawers and in a trunk", said Clota Rae Jones, clothing demonstrator in the Wells 4-H Club.

"Now my dresses and coats are conveniently arranged on hangers in my new clothes closet in my bed room. I keep folded garments on the three shelves, and my shoes hold their shape better and are kept off of the floor on the shoe rack. Hat stands prevent my hats from becoming mashed and pockets on the door contain miscellaneous articles.

MIDWAY H. D. CLUB MET WITH MRS. OTIS CURRY

Midway H. D. Club met June 9, 1938 at the home of Mrs. Otis Curry.

Miss Boyd demonstrated the making of shunshine cake and jelly roll.

During the baking period we indulged in recreation which furnished amusement to the following members: Mmes. R. B. Floyd, Rufus Slover, Pete Curry, R. L. Littlepage, Jno. Thomas, Alice Duncan, Curtis Driver, I. M. Draper, and visitors, Mrs. Wiley Curry and Mrs. J. O. Patterson.

GRASSLAND HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB

"I have canned 29 No. 2 cans of English peas since last Club meeting", reported Mrs. C. E. Short, president of the Grassland H. D. Club at a meeting of the club June 14 in the home of Mrs. A. L. Shepherd.

"I grew these in the open garden and had some for table use for a month from two plantings", she added.

Miss Lilith Boyd, C. H. D. A. gave a demonstration on jelly roll making.

MIDWAY 4-H CLUB GIRL BUILDS CLOTHING CLOSET

"My clothes closet cost twenty-five cents. It is 41 inches long and 38 inches wide since mother and I have it completed", said Nieto Stephens, clothing demonstrator in the Midway 4-H Club.

"We had the 2x4's for the frame and the panel boards used in making the outside walls. Also, we had the nails and door lock. A refrigerator crate was used in making the door. We papered the closet inside and outside with paper left from finishing the walls of the room. An old wagon rod made a stationary clothes rod. I pushed the rod through the wall leaving the ring end on the outside. After I select my dress to wear, I hang it in this ring until I am ready to dress. Two shelves were added at one side. Two card board hat racks keep my hats in shape. From a mop handle and the ends of an apple crate I made my shoe rack. The door hinges were given to me. My storage was completed when I painted the wood-work, clothes rod, shoe rack and hat racks. The paint cost 25c.

A suggested new-use-for cotton by W. G. Hayden, Big Spring, Texas, editor: Cotton fabric such as used in road construction should prove ideal for roofs on flat top homes and business buildings. Combined with asphalt, it should make a weather-tight, durable and economical roofing material, and create a new volume market for cotton he says.

A collision between two cars traveling southeast wind was blowing. Mr Knight says that he saw a whirling mass of sand and dust approaching the highway from the southeast and as it approached the highway he began checking the speed of his car, and he was traveling on eight or ten miles per hour when it completely enveloped him. He could see only a short distance in front of him and did not know that a car was approaching from the rear. At this juncture the Hoffman car crashed into the rear end of his. He was thrown loose from the steering wheel and his front seat was knocked out of place. As soon as he could recover his balance he grabbed the steering wheel and steered the car off the pavement and stopped a hundred yards from the point where he was struck.

Mr. Hoffman evidently was likewise blinded by the dust and sand and did not see the Knight car in front of him. He was driving about 45 miles per hour, it is said.

Mr. Hoffman for about six months operated the store here known as the Tahoka Appliance Company store. During the fall he bought cotton in O'Donnell, and at the time he was hurt he was intending to leave Tuesday morning for the lower Rio Grande valley to buy cotton there this summer and fall.

Evidence of the value to merchants of stimulating the auto-tourist trade is seen in statistics showing that, on the average, 26 cents of each tourist dollar goes to the retail merchants.
