Bachelor Has 200,000 Odd Gadgets

NEW YORK.—It is perhaps just as well that Crosby Gaige is a bachelor. He drags home 200,000 patent models, including a corpse preserver, hogcatcher, burglar alarm, an early fire printing press, a dentist's chair, a machine gun, an egg-beater, an engine, a steamboat, a paper-hanging machine—and so on and on.

The patent office models had been gathered by the late Sir Henry Wallasey and kept at his estate in 2,251 packing cases. Mr. Gaige bought them.

A friend of this writer, remembering with sorrow he hadn't brought a birthday present for his wife, stepped into an auction room. He became confused and bought ten barrels of his cookie cutters. It almost broke up his home. Mr. Gaige will have no such trouble.

Mr. Gaige was born the son of the postmaster at Skane Hollow, N. Y., and became a Broadway theatrical producer, with a 200-seat studio at Peekskill on the Hudson, where he indulges his taste for knickknacks such as the above, but with more discrimination than this ensemble suggests.

He is a gourmet, with 300 cook books in his kitchen, has a die-haze machine shop where he makes art objects, is a master of viticulture and a maker and connoisseur of beautiful wines.

He has cattle folds and breeds blooded cattle, a printing plant where he prints typographical knock-outs in limited editions, a huge library with 5,000 reference books, and is distinguished both as a bibliophile and a cook—one of the best cooks in the world, his friends say.

All these concerns are merely extra-curricular. In his 29 years on Broadway, he has hit off his full share of successes, built three theaters and kept steadily out of the red. In Columbia university, he wrote the 1903 variety show, "Illusia."

He got a job with the late Elizabeth Marbury, famous play broker, reading plays at ten cents an act. He saved his money and headed into the show business with a fast running start.

His life is the fulfillment of every commuter's dream. He is of clerical, almost monkish mien, of somewhat austere countenance, with octagonal pince-nez and, like all epicures, abstemious in all things—saving such things as patent models.

He wears red, white and blue suspenders and is very fussy about his handkerchief pocket. He always has the tailor sew a button on it.

An Attack of Laryngitis gave Margaret Sullivan her big start. Lee Shubert saw her in "Three Artists and a Lady" at Princeton, and rushed back-stage with a contract. "You have a voice just like Ethel Barrymore," he said.

She explained that it was merely laryngitis, but the excited Mr. Shubert wouldn't listen. There was nothing to be done about it, so the helpless girl was signed for five years.

That was a bit of luck which, in Miss Sullivan's career, offsets embarrassing entanglements in some of the most elaborate flops in current stage history. Today, she is at the peak of her career as critics turn earthwebs and back flaps over the new film, "Three Comrades," and Miss Sullivan's performance therein.

Her story has none of the up-from-poverty success routine. She is the daughter of a prideful family of Norfolk, Va., a descendant of Robert E. Lee. Her journey to Boston to study dancing was indulged as a passing whim, but there was considerable family eye-rolling when she switched to the theater and began adventuring in summer stock, on Cape Cod and way points.

Her father got her home once, but only for a short time. It is to be hoped that her story won't be widely circulated around Hollywood. It would start all the extra girls sleeping in a draft.

The Average Month

We are apt to think of our present months as having four weeks apiece, but that is not true. The average month contains just about four and one-third weeks. The only month with four weeks in it is February, and in leap year even February has one day over four weeks.

CONGRESS ADJOURNS

Huge Relief and Priming Bill and Wage-Hour Measure Enacted During Closing Days of Session

Here Japanese soldiers with fixed bayonets are seen rushing a Chinese position in a part of Suchow which the Japanese artillery had reduced to flaming ruins. There, as elsewhere, the defenders practically destroyed the city before retreating.

Congress Session Ends

THE Seventy-Fifth congress brought its labors to a close and adjourned, thanked by President Roosevelt for the constructive legislation it had enacted. In its one special and two regular sessions this congress set a peace time record by appropriating more than $20 billion dollars.

Almost at the last moment the $3½ billion dollar relief and pump priming bill was enacted into law. The house accepted a senate amendment boosting the appropriation for administrative expenses of the Rural Electrification administration from $500,000 to $750,000.

Agreement was reached on the $90 million dollar second deficiency bill when the senate concurred in the action of the house in knocking out $225,000 to purchase additional land for the Lake Tahoe National park and $1,300,000 for forestry.

Both senate and house repassed over the President's veto the bill continuing the 3½ per cent interest on Federal Land bank loans on farm mortgages.

Scores of bills of varying degrees of importance were lost in the confusion of the last hours of the session. Among them was the bill authorizing federal law enforcement officers to tap wires to get evidence of violations of law.

Lewis Twice Rebuffed

TWICE in the last days of the session John L. Lewis, C. I. O. chieftain, virtually ordered congress to pass the amendment to the Walsh-Healy government contracts bill so corporations that refused to obey NLRB orders could be blacklisted. Both times Lewis was rebuffed when Speaker Bankhead refused to permit suspension of the rules to bring the bill up in the house. The rules committee of the house was overwhelmingly against this action.

Lewis and some of his C. I. O. lieutenants had boldly marched into the speaker's office to make their demand, and Lewis had summoned congressmen before him in the room, this arrogance arousing extreme resentment. When he had been turned down a second time Lewis was enraged and threatened reprisal at the polls. Calling reporters from the press gallery, he said to them:

"The action of the rules committee is cowardly and pusillanimous."

"In a short time congress will adjourn, and many of the members will return to their districts seeking support as friends of labor. We want to know how good a friend they are before we give them our support."

Great Floods in China

POURING through broken dikes, the waters of the Yellow river inundated many hundreds of square miles in central China. In the first two or three days of the great flood it was estimated 150,000 Chinese were drowned and several times as many rendered homeless. Millions of others were threatened by the swirling waters. The fate of thousands of Japanese soldiers in the area was not known but it was thought many of them must have perished.

Far from the war and flood fronts, the Shanghai municipal council officially declared cholera to be epidemic in Shanghai. In the city's hospitals there were 123 cases, 73 of them originating in foreign-administered areas.

In the Yangtze river valley Japanese continued their drive by land and by gunboat against Hankow,

Wage Bill Now Law

WAGE-HOUR legislation, key stone of the President's social reform program, was put through congress in modified form just before adjournment. The conference committee compromise was accepted by the house 290 to 89. About half the Republican members gave in and voted for the measure, but 48 of them and 41 Democrats were recorded against it.

C. Houston Goudiss Offers More Advice About Reducing

Describes the Perils of Unscientific Methods for Losing Weight

By C. HOUSTON GOUDISS
4 East 39th Street, New York City

MY RECENT discussion of reducing in these columns brought many letters, indicating that the modern woman is, fortunately, weight conscious. This is an encouraging sign. For it shows that you are alert to the dangers of overweight, which not only destroys beauty but may indirectly contribute to heart disease, kidney disorders and diabetes, which take their greatest toll from among the heavyweights.

Teeth, or leave out foods rich in iron and copper and interfere with the formation of the hemoglobin or red pigment in the blood.

One of the most common and most serious errors is to omit all bread, potatoes and cereals, in the belief that carbohydrates are "fattening foods." Carbohydrates are required by the body in order to utilize the fats in the diet, and when reducing, they are also necessary to burn up excess fatty tissue.

Just as fat cannot burn without air, fat cannot be utilized in the body without the presence of starch or sugar. When the diet contains insufficient carbohydrates, fat burns incompletely, resulting in the dangerous acetone type of acidosis.

Guard Against Unscientific Reducing Methods

Some of these letters caused me great concern, however, because they indicate that in spite of my warning against unscientific methods of weight reduction, many women still cling to the idea that there is some magic in the various pills, powders, capsules, saps, salts and mechanical devices that are sold at fancy prices and hold out alluring promises of speedy reducing without dieting or exercise.

It is bad enough that most of these fail to reduce. For they may delay the day when the victim of overweight will undertake a sound and scientific program of weight reduction that will effectively take off weight—thus improving appearance, benefiting health and increasing the chances of longevity. But what is far more serious is that some of these preparations may endanger health or cause lifelong physical impairment.

Counting Calories the Easy Way to Reduce

The one safe, sure and scientific method of getting rid of surplus weight and at the same time maintaining top health—is to consume a diet that is balanced in every respect, but to count your calories at every meal, making certain that you consume fewer calories each day than your body requires for its normal energy expenditure.

I will gladly send to every reader of this newspaper, a copy of my reducing bulletin. This includes a chart showing the caloric value of all the commonly used foods—plus a week's sample reducing menus. By following this scientific plan for weight reduction, you can easily lose from one to two pounds weekly. A more rapid reduction is not advisable.

At that rate, you can lose from six to eight pounds in the course of a month—twenty-four pounds at the end of three months. That is a lot of weight to lose and will make a vast difference in your appearance and in the enthusiasm with which you greet your daily tasks.

Dangerous Drugs

Drugging is particularly to be condemned, and no one should attempt to reduce by this method except under the advice and watchful eye of a physician. There are many invalids today who would be happy and healthy if they had not attempted to take some "reducing medicine" without consulting a physician.

One preparation that is still bought by foolish women—in spite of repeated warnings against its use—may even result in permanent blindness.

Almost equally objectionable are excessive purging—which may leave you a wobbly wreck—and fasting, which is even more dangerous to women than men.

Don't Diet Without Direction

A carefully regulated diet will not only maintain normal weight, but will banish overweight by forcing the body to burn its own excess fat as fuel. Having heard of this scientific principle, many women frantically and foolishly attempt to prescribe their own reducing diets—often with disastrous results.

There is always the possibility that one may omit calcium-bearing foods and thus impair the house was overwhelmed by this action.

Lewis and some of his C. I. O. lieutenants had boldly marched into the speaker's office to make their demand, and Lewis had summoned congressmen before him in the room, this arrogance arousing extreme resentment. When he had been turned down a second time Lewis was enraged and threatened reprisal at the polls. Calling reporters from the press gallery, he said to them:

"The action of the rules committee is cowardly and pusillanimous."

"In a short time congress will adjourn, and many of the members will return to their districts seeking support as friends of labor. We want to know how good a friend they are before we give them our support."

Counting Calories Is Fun

In Hollywood they make a game of counting calories. You, too, will find it amusing, as well as beneficial to health and looks. And you will be rewarded by noting a drop in weight every time you step on the scales.

If Your Weight Is Normal Keep It That Way

It has been determined that the ideal weight—that is the weight that best promotes health and longevity—after thirty, is the normal weight for one's height at the age of thirty.

If you are approximately thirty and your weight is normal, you should send for my Calorie Chart and Reducing Bulletin and use it to help maintain your present weight!

If you are over thirty and overweight, you should not lose another day before sending for the bulletin so that you can begin at once to regain your normal weight by the safe, simple, scientific and joyful direction of this bulletin.

If you are under thirty and overweight, you should not gain another day before sending for the bulletin so that you can begin at once to regain your normal weight by the safe, simple, scientific and

"I quit Sunday school a right long time ago," Norris sneered. "Likely you'd say I was headed for damnation."

Ruth guessed he was proud of his reputation for evil.

"They say there is honor among thieves," she said. "You would stand by a friend, wouldn't you?"

"How do you know friend?" he wanted to know, with a curl of the lip.

"I know mine," she answered.

"What about the sapsheads you've flitted with off and on for the past two years? Would you call them friends, when you were making them think they were ace high with you and they only stacked up as dukes?"

She shook her head, smiling at him faintly. "Don't quote Ruth Chiswick to me. I don't set her up as an example. But I do think I have more sense than I had then."

"Lemme see. How long is it since you ran off with Lou Howard and then jilted him?"

"I'm a reformed character," she told him lightly.

"Don't you get too reformed and we'll get along fine. Understand one thing. Where I'm at I rule the roost. That's all you got to remember. I know you're kind. You have to be treated like a bronce with hell in his neck. Soon as he finds out who is boss, there's no more trouble. Until then I keep my quiet hot."

"Don't you think kindness might work better sometimes?" Ruth inquired, rather casually.

His crooked smile chilled her. "All these lads tried kindness with you. How far did they get? I wouldn't know that. Some of 'em farther than others, I reckon." He waited to give her a chance to protest, but she did not do so. "Some need the whip. You can lash sense into them quicker than you can teach it any other way."

"That's a confession of failure," Ruth said. "I've noticed it often in horse-breakers. The poorer ones, those not in the front rank, lose patience and get vicious with the colts; but top hands keep their heads and break the animals wisely. From what I've heard about you, I'd think you were a top hand, one who would use his brains with horses—and women too."

Her words stung him. "I didn't say you had to keep quiting after they learn to answer their master's voice. I make 'em know who is in the saddle."

"Brute force is one way," Ruth agreed, a touch of contempt in her voice. "I suppose it's good enough for those who don't know a better one. How far are we going tonight?"

"We're going to the Walsh cabin," he said sulkily. "Maybe we'll keep going from there. Haven't made up my mind."

They moved along the brow of a hill, dipped into a canyon, and climbed its rocky bed to a ledge from which they looked down into a small park not more than an eighth of a mile across from one lip to the opposite one. A log cabin stood about a stone's throw below them.

The horses picked a way down along a slope of rubble. In front of the cabin Norris drew up.

He called to Kansas. "We'll throw off here awhile."

"What you mean awhile?" Kansas asked. "Aren't we camping here tonight?"

The suggestion of opposition was enough for Norris. "No," he snapped.

"Why not?" the other man persisted. "We're sure holed up mighty good here."

"Because I say so. That reason enough for you?"

"We're in this together, ain't we?" Kansas grumbled. "You act like I'm some dirty Mexican sheepherder."

"You trying to pick on me, fellow?" Norris demanded, his mouth an ugly slit.

"Nothing like that, Morg. Seemed to me this was a good place to roost. Good feed for the horses. Filled with absenteers, as you might say. I'll bet outside of some of our crowd there aren't half a dozen folks in the world know about this place. Nobody would find us in a thousand years. No, sir. What's the idea in moving on?"

"Kinda like this place, Kansas, don't you?" the other outlaw asked with sulky gravity.

"Looks all right to me," Kansas said stubbornly. He added hastily, reading suspicion in the narrowed eyes of his companion. "But hell! I don't care where we camp."

"Maybe we could agree for you to stay here and for us to go on," suggested Norris significantly.

"What you mean, Morg? Course I'll go on if you do."

"You're so fond of me you'd hate to split up," Norris jeered. He turned to Ruth. "One of these friends you were talking about, the kind that stick closer than a brother."

"What's eatin' you, Morg?" asked Kansas unhappily. "I didn't aim to say a thing to annoy you." With the sleeve of his shirt he brushed away tiny beads of perspiration from his forehead. For the moment the heart of the man died under his ribs. The look in the eyes of the killer had been venomous. Could he have discovered in any possible way that Kansas had told Nelly where they had made his kill?

Ruth watched the wretched man. And Ruth watched first one and then the other.

"No, you wouldn't annoy me, Kansas," said Norris, low and soft. "You'd be for me every way from the ace, wouldn't you?"

"Yes," Kansas pleaded, his voice parched and dry. "I sure would, Morg."

"You wouldn't want me to stay here where nobody could find us in a thousand years, would you?"

"Not if you didn't want to stay."

"Good old Kansas, faithful as Old Dog Tray," jeered the other.

"You—got me wrong, Morg."

"Maybe so," Norris continued to smile, the mocking grin on his face something dreadful to see. "Well, I'm going to the spring to fix up this scratch on my arm while you unsaddle and picket."

Ruth offered timidly to dress and tie up the wound. She did not want to do it, for there was something everything went hazy . . . She saw Norris moving forward, the rifle in his hands. He padded toward the prone figure, his supple body crouched and wary as that of a cat stalking its prey. The face of the man was demoniac. Upon it was stamped the horrid sadistic lust that comes to the habitual killer who has made his kill.

"You . . . you've killed him," Ruth cried, covering her eyes.

He pushed the wretched body over with his toe to make sure his victim was lifeless. "Dead as a stuck shot," he pronounced cheerfully. "When you're Uncle Morg cuts loose they don't even squeal."

His Satanic good humor appalled Ruth. He was immensely pleased with himself. The thing he had done no more distressed him than if he had shot a rattlesnake. The girl looked down at the huddled body which had been quick with life only a moment since, and a sick tremor ran through her. She felt panic rising to her throat—had to shut her mouth tight to keep from screaming.

The killer began to laugh. "I told him we might agree for him to stay here and for us to go on. It will be that way. I'll saddle your bronc and we'll be off."

As Ruth watched him resaddle, she pulled herself out of the wretched conviction that she was lost. It would never do to give up. In what way could she help herself? There must be something she could do. She held her quiet tight in both hands twisting it, while her thoughts darted here and there. If she could leave a message—

The man's back was toward her as he cinched her mount. She slipped the quiet from her wrist and wrote on the ground with the heavy end of it, making sure he did not see. The leather dragged through the dust.

"Wild Horse." Abruptly she stopped, flicking the whip idly. He was bringing the horse to her.

"Hold this while I get Ginger." He gave her a mocking word of warning. "And see you don't try to make a getaway like he did."

The instant he turned to walk to his own straying horse Ruth's quiet was busy. She added the word "basin" to the message and signed with the initial "R." There was time for more.

"All aboard the Honeymoon Express," he called, grinning at her.

She played for time. "Are we going to—leave him like that?"

"Y'betcha!" He added indifferently: "Fellows of his kind don't count with me. I like men with guts and women with jingle."

He moved toward Ruth, to help her mount. Hurriedly she pulled herself to the saddle.

Norris led the way to the rim of the park. He was in villainous good humor, and it expressed itself in a snatch of tuneless song—

"You bet I'll go to Frisco, a-kitting."

On the door of Sherm Howard's house someone was knocking impatiently. The big man playing solitaire at the table put down the ten of diamonds and made sure his forty-four was loose in the scabbard.

He hoisted himself out of the armchair and waddled to the door.

"Who's there?" he asked.

"Me. Mile High. Lemme in, Sherm." The voice held a note of excitement.

Howard shoved back the bolt and threw open the door. The tall, shambling puncher pushed his way into the house.

"Gimme a drink," he said hoarsely.

His host closed and bolted the door, walked to a closet, and brought out a bottle and a glass. Mile High poured half a tumbler full, drank it in two gulps, and sat down.

"Hell to pay," he said.

"What's wrong?" asked Howard, his opaque eyes fixed on the man.

"Lee Chiswick bushwhacked us."

"When? Where?"

"In Live Oak canyon, right after we held up the smugglers."

"Spill it."

Mile High told all he knew, which was not much.

"You don't know whether the other boys got away," Howard said.

" Didn't see any of them down? Didn't notice Lou?"

"No, sir. I saw two fellows on one horse. They were coming lickety-split behind me. But I lost track of them later. They didn't show up at the other end of the canyon. Maybe Lee's men got them. I wouldn't know. It sure was every man for himself."

"It seems to have been Mile High for himself," Howard said bitterly.

Howard drummed with the tips of his pudgy fingers on the table.

"Someone else ought to be in soon with news," he said. "Some of the boys must have got away."

"I reckon, but I wouldn't bet none on it," Mile High replied. "It's sure a mess."

"How did Lee find out what the boys meant to do?" Howard demanded, frowning at the cards in front of him. "Did you tell anyone, Mile High?"

"Not a soul. I don't believe any of the boys did. Kansas made a crack down at the corral about us going to Live Oak canyon. I heard Sid blowing him up about it."

"Do you know who heard him?"

"No, I don't."

"Go down and ask Jim Reynolds to come see me. He might know."

Mile High uncoiled his long legs and rose. As he turned toward the door there came another knock.

"Who's there?" snapped Howard.

"Dan Brand," a voice answered.

"Anyone with you?"

"No."

Howard told Mile High to open the door.

When Brand walked in, he faced two men with drawn revolvers. The foreman said tranquilly, "Put 'em up boys. I didn't come a-smokin'."

Howard pushed the weapon back into its holster. Mile High hesitated. He had been in a battle recently with Brand on the other side.

"Maybe so," the lank puncher said. "But I'll listen just as well with my gun out."

Brand said definitely: "I'll not talk to a man with his gun out; that is, not unless it's fightin' talk, with mine out too."

"Put up your hogleg, Mile High," Howard told his companion. "Don't you see that Dan is here on a peaceable mission?"

After the gun had disappeared, Brand made a correction. "Peaceable or not, Sherm, depending on how you take it. I'll give it to you short and sweet. What I'm here to say is that Lee aims to hang you out Lou to a live oak unless you get Miss Ruth back to the L C may pronto, without a hair of her head injured."

The fat man stared blankly at the foreman. "Good God, man, what d'you mean? If you are talkin' about the Chiswick girl, I haven't seen her since that day you—all were in town together."

"I didn't suppose they had brought her to town. The scoundrels who took her are holed up in the hills somewhere. We don't know where they are roostin'." Maybe you do. Anyhow, you better find out immediate if you want to see Lou again alive."

Insect Pests Now Travel by Airplane; Get Into Country From Foreign Lands

With great clippers of the air quickening communication between many foreign countries and the United States, the job of keeping out alien insect pests is bigger today than ever before for the federal forest-pest quarantine force. By the airplane, destructive insects and plant diseases have easier means of access to the United States, and a better chance of arriving here in an effective condition, declares a Washington correspondent in the New York Times.

In the fiscal year 1937, federal agents inspected 3,321 airplanes from foreign countries and from Hawaii. Inspection of 920 planes resulted in 1,505 interceptions of prohibited and restricted plant material, and the same number of interceptions of insects and diseased plants.

With the co-operation of post office officials, about 250,000 parcel post packages from abroad were also examined for the same pests and infections. The range of examinations covers also shipments of plants and

SEEN and HEARD around the NATIONAL CAPITAL By Carter Field

FAMOUS WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENT

WASHINGTON.—A considerable bloc of railroad officials do not want any more government help in the form of loans. They think more borrowing merely increases the interest they are already groaning under, and making the future blacker instead of brighter.

They are strongly in favor of permitting such railroads as cannot now pay their bond interest to go through the wringer. Of course this does not include borrowing from the government to retire existing bond issues.

For example, if a bond issue of $10,000,000 should fall due next month for railroad A, and the road will save $200,000 in interest charges every year from now on by taking advantage of the RFC offer.

That is quite a different thing from borrowing money for no other reason than to pay bond interest, and thus keep out of the hands of receivers. In this latter case, which is typical of most of them, the railroad would be in a worse fix next year than this, so far as interest charges are concerned.

Next year it would have to pay as much interest on outstanding bonds as this year, and in addition would have to pay interest on the money it borrowed from RFC to pay the interest this year.

There are plenty of reasons for the present difficulty of the railroads, but most of them are not susceptible to much change.

The only improvement, apparently, can come from increased traffic, and this can come only with better times. Even that is threatened here and there by the development of more and more rivers for navigation.

It is not important, from the standpoint of the railroads, that these rivers may never actually handle much traffic. The important thing is that the development of the rivers for traffic will prove an ample excuse for shippers in that territory to obtain rate reductions on heavy products from the interstate commerce commission.

Hit by River Traffic

It is only on heavy products that the railroads at present can depend for revenue. A very small increase in rates on light products will drive shippers to trucks. So that the railroads are menaced from the top by trucks, and from the bottom, measuring in terms of revenue per pound, by river traffic.

The administration, however, is anxious to avoid a flood of railroad receiverships. It sounds bad. It tends to make conditions generally worse.

From the cold-blooded Treasury standpoint, it tends to reduce revenue, particularly from personal income tax returns.

For obviously every time a railroad defaults payment of bond interest is reduced, and this reduction is the cream of the income from the Treasury standpoint. Naturally it comes off the top, and hence out of the higher tax brackets.

There is the additional worry to the administration that default of railroad bond interest bears heavily on the savings banks and life insurance companies, which have a heavy stake in these securities, once considered the most prudent

There are still a few old fossil editors who fight to retain the poll tax. Apparently they are afraid some poor cuse who did not pay a poll tax will enjoy the privilege of self-government along with them. It makes no difference with them that the money all went to buy bread for his babies, no, and apparently they would be doubly sure to disfranchise one like that, for in the last analysis the poll tax is a property qualification. With them a poor man should be classed with criminals, lunatics and aliens. —Ex.

The above gem of wisdom was published last week in the Meadow Star and credited to "Ex."

It may be that editors who fight to retain the poll tax provision in the Constitution as a prerequisite to voting are merely "old fossils" and it may be that those youthful editors and politicians who seek to have it stricken out of the Constitution are merely tadpole statesmen.

This provision was written into the Constitution by the people of Texas in November 1902 to cure a crying evil. If it were stricken out of the Constitution today the evil would soon return.

The purchase of Negro votes, or otherwise controlling them, had brought about a condition of corruption in politics in this state that was an outrage against decency and that often defeated the will of the intelligent white people of the state. The honest and upright people of Texas became disgusted with the situation and demanded reform.

Accordingly, during the administration of that sterling Democrat and statesman, Joseph D. Sayers, as governor, an amendment was submitted to the people proposing this change. The people voted on it in the general election in November, 1902, and adopted it.

At this same election, that other great Texan, Sam W. T. Lanham was elected governor, and it was during his administration, in 1905, that the Terrell election law was enacted containing this poll tax provision of the Constitution which had been recently adopted, and with necessary amendments adopted thereafter, it has been the law of the state ever since. Hon. A. W. Terrell, another great man of recognized ability, was the author of the bill and led the fight for its enactment into law.

Since that time, nine other citizens have served as governor of Texas, namely: Thomas M. Campbell, Oscar B. Colquitt, James E. Ferguson, W. P. Hobby, Pat M. Neff, Miriam A. Ferguson, Dan Moody, Ross S. Sterling, Miriam A. Ferguson again, and James V. Allred. If any one of these nine governors ever suggested to the legislature or to the people that this poll tax amendment should be repealed, we never heard of it.

It has remained for a few budding statesmen who are now running for office on catch-all platforms and a few fine young gentlemen who are editing newspapers, to discover that the great statesmen of a generation ago who submitted this amendment to the people, and the voters who overwhelmingly adopted it, and all the governors and other statesmen of Texas who have appeared, on the political stage since that time are "old fossils" and that the law unjustly disfranchises or works a hardship upon many people and should be repealed. It apparently has never occurred to them that a repeal of this provision of the Constitution and the law enacted in pursuance thereof would have the effect of placing the ballot in the hands of at least 200,000 adult Negroes in Texas, the majority of whom are not capable of casting an intelligent ballot and would become the tools of corrupt and unscrupulous politicians.

The poll tax amendment to the Constitution was enacted by the honest, intelligent, progressive, forward-looking Democrats of that day, and Texas will do bad day's work and take a long step backward if and when she repeals it.

Baylor County Banner.

The longer we live and the more we see of the politicians, the more we value sincerity, ability, and moral courage in a political leader. Those qualities made Bryan and Wilson great. They are qualities that our own G. H. Nelson has in no small degree, and they are qualities that are going to take him places in Texas politics.

The difference between Rip Van Winkle and the merchant who doesn't advertise is that Rip did finally wake up.

The state and federal governments are doing a noble work in relieving distress in this county. No person should be permitted to starve nor to suffer poignantly from poverty.

To relieve such suffering the government may properly help even the shiftless, the thrifless, and the unworthy at times. But that does not mean that it is the duty of the government to support the people. Such an idea seems to have gained wide popularity in recent years, however. Even some so-called Democratic statesmen have fallen for it.

Senator Thomas is quoted as saying recently of the wage-hour law, "If I were arguing the court case involving this law I would contend that the government is entitled to take care of all the citizens of the United States and that for that reason the law is valid." What a doctrine! It has always been the contention of Democrats—and Republicans too—until recent years that it is the duty of the people to support the government and not the duty of the government to support the people. Now great statesmen are turning this maxim around and asserting that the government must support the people. That sounds like communism.

SOCIALIZED MEDICINE

Socialized medicine is a subject at last to be brought before the American Medical Association at San Francisco. Heretofore, the doctors have made an effort to take care of the situation by giving free services to those unable to pay for it. But in the past few years this load has become increasingly heavy to bear, and the profession has begun to believe that help is needed from the government on the needy patients. The movement has not been begun any too soon. And when it finally does come, the doctors may not be hurt as badly as they feared. They will continue with their private practice, but the government will look after those unable to pay their bills. This will call for a much larger service from the physicians, and with a still larger per cent of remuneration. And outside of these considerations, the public will be served in the matter of much better general health. With a higher health average, there will be an increase of efficiency in all lines, and the investment will be one that will return far more than it costs.

THE LYNN COUNTY NEWS, TAHOKA, TEXAS

Old-Timers Are Rotary Guests

A number of the pioneer settlers of Lynn county were guests of the Rotary Club at its luncheon Thursday.

Frank P. Hill had charge of the program and told a few jokes at the expense of old-timers W. D. Nevels and A. L. Lockwood, at the same time paying a tribute to Mrs. Jack Alley who resided in this county when there were only two other women in the county, Mrs. W. F. Petty, wife of the foreman of the T-Bar ranch, and Mrs. Ernest Seeds, wife of the postmaster at Grassland. He recited some of the trying experiences which Mrs. Alley had to undergo in those early days.

All the pioneers present were introduced, to wit: W. D. Nevels, A. L. Lockwood, J. S. Weatherford, J. E. Ketner, Mrs. Jack Alley, Mrs. Hall Robinson, and Mrs. S. N. McDaniels. Brief talks were made by Messrs Nevels, Weatherford, and Ketner, all of which were greatly enjoyed.

A telegram from Ray Weathers, Charles Townes, and Wynne Collier, sent from San Francisco, where they are attending the Rotary International convention, was read to the merriment of every body except Oscar Tinsley. The message bore the information that the boys had reserved a room in Alcatraz for Oscar.

Homer St. Clair tendered his resignation as a member of the club, since he is preparing to remove to Lamesa. He had not missed a single meeting of the club since it was organized two years ago. He also introduced his successor, Mr. Carl Owens, who is removing here from Mangum, Oklahoma, to succeed Mr. St. Clair as local manager for the Cicero Smith Lumber Co.

A. J. Kaddatz suffered an attack of appendicitis early Wednesday morning and in the afternoon he was taken to a sanitarium in Lubbock for an operation, which was performed soon after 5 o'clock. Claude Nowlin, who took the patient to Lubbock, reported him as doing nicely following the operation.

Mrs. J. B. McPherson has as her guest this week her niece, Miss Kindeline Aycock of Lubbock.

Post Delegation Advertises July 4

Between twenty and thirty cars loaded with Post citizens, including a band, visited Tahoka Thursday morning in a tour over the South Plains advertising the three days Fourth of July celebration to be held there Saturday, Sunday and Monday, July 2-3-4.

Their cars were colorfully decorated with publicity matter, and they came into town and left making a lot of noise with their horns and other noise-making instruments.

County Attorney Joe Moss made a microphone announcement of the festivities and invited the people of Lynn county to go over.

Entertainment will include mile-long street parade, program in auditorium, saddle pony races, mammoth fireworks display, and baseball games. Three dances, one Saturday night, July 2, a German dance Monday morning and another the night of the Fourth, will be sponsored by the James C. Cole American Legion post of Post.

While in Tahoka, Glenn Leonard, president of the Post Chamber of Commerce, visited the News office.

Mrs. Hegi Attends National Conclave .

Mr. and Mrs. Fred B. Hegi returned Wednesday of last week from a most interesting visit in California.

Their chief purpose in making the trip was that Mrs. Hegi might attend the bi-annual national conclave of Kappa Omicron Phi, professional home economics sorority, meet in Santa Barbara. Mrs. Hegi, who is teacher of home economics in the Tahoka High School, is editor of "Distaff," the Sorority magazine. She and Mr. Hegi spent a week in Santa Barbara, the sorority being in session three days.

They also spent one week in San Francisco and one week at Glendale, where a brother of Fred's resides. Fred did some ocean fishing there and brought back pictures to prove that he had some great luck.

Leaving here on May 22, they arrived home on June 15, having had a most pleasant and profitable trip.

Filling Station Is Being Constructed .

The rock have been placed on the ground and the premises are being cleared for the construction of another stone service station in Tahoka.

Douglas Finley will have the building erected on lots situated immediately south of the Tahoka Sheet Metal Works on highway No. 9 a block south of the southwest corner of the square. The building will be 40 by 50 feet in size and will be an attractive structure.

Completion of the stone building which Mr. Finley has had under construction for several weeks just across the street south of the City Park on highway No. 84 has been greatly delayed from first one cause and another. No definite information could be obtained as to when work will be resumed but the building is expected to be completed within the next few weeks.

HARLEY SADLER WILL SPEAK IN TAHOKA

Yes, Harley Sadler is coming to Tahoka again—but this time without his show. He will be in Tahoka next Tuesday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock to speak in the interest of his cousin, Jerry Sadler, who is a candidate for railroad commissioner.

Jerry lives at Longview, and has had unusual opportunity to become acquainted with some of the problems with which a railroad commissioner must deal, the problems arising from the oil industry.

Jerry is only 30 years old, but he is reputed to be clean, honest, able, energetic, fair, and courageous. Born and reared in the shadow of John H. Reagan's home, he has an interesting background.

The people of Lynn county will be glad to hear Harley speak in behalf of his cousin, for he has many friends and admirers in this county.

MRS. FORRESTER IS BUILDING APARTMENT

Mrs. R. C. Forrester is building a nice combination apartment and garage on her premises on West First Street. The building will be 20 x 26 feet in size, two story. A double garage will constitute the lower story. The apartment will occupy the second story.

The apartment will consist of three rooms and a bath. It will be neatly finished inside and will be supplied with hot and cold water and other modern conveniences. The building will have a rock veneer. The rocks have been shipped and have already arrived on the Santa Fe tracks. The premises will be surrounded on three sides with a stone wall or fence of varying height.

Already attractive, the Forrester home and premises will soon be among the most beautiful in town.

"HARLEM ON THE PRAIRIE" COMING TO COLE THEATRE

"Harlem on the Prairie," the new picture with an all-negro cast, said to be taking the country by storm, will be shown at the Cole Theatre Friday and Saturday.

Six-guns bark to the rhythm of red-hot swing, ebony-hued outlaws "shoot it out" with the John Laws and love and virtue triumph in an exciting and glorious climax, as Negro romance climbs into the saddle for a song-gallop over the western plains, turning the wide-open range beyond the Rockies into an open-air Dixie night club.

This is the first authentic all-negro musical comedy Western ever produced.

This picture played two weeks at the Capital Theatre in Dallas, two weeks at the Majestic theatres in Houston, San Antonio and Austin, with extended runs in almost every city.

Mrs. L. M. Harris of Big Spring was here from Sunday till Wednesday visiting her sister, Mrs. J. B. McPherson. Mrs. Joe Cooper of Temple, an aunt of Mrs. McPherson, and Mrs. Cooper's daughter of Big Spring also spent Tuesday Night here.

Billy Hill had his tonsils removed in a Lubbock hospital last Friday. Billy has about decided that cutting things out of a fellow's throat from the inside is no minor operation.

Mrs. J. L. Darnell's sister, Mrs. Hodges is here from Roswell this week visiting in the Darnell home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Park and family visited her parents at Myra, Cooke county, this week.

Burt Warren and Dale White are visiting relatives at Rotan and McCaulley.

Church Brick Work Started

A contract was let Wednesday with a Fort Worth concern for the installing of a cooling system in the Baptist Church building now under construction. The contract calls for the thorough air-conditioning of the entire superstructure consisting of the main auditorium and eight Sunday school rooms and other small rooms and also the basement auditorium.

This will be the first completely air-conditioned church on the entire South Plains, it is said, unless some other church shall install a complete system this summer.

Construction work on the building is progressing now very satisfactorily. All the steel has arrived, as well as the brick and the tile. Enough brick have been laid already to show that this is to be a beautiful structure.

SUMMER HOME MAKING CLASS

Madeline Russell acting as moderator, the Summer Home Making Class met and elected officers.

We have about fifty girls attending this class, and we are planning to do the things which the girls need most. Most of the girls have chosen Improvement of the Wardrobe, but we have some who have chosen gardening, yards, cooking, and most everything which is needed in the home.

This class will last four weeks and we have planned to take a trip to Carlsbad if we can, and it is possible. We meet on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday mornings at 9:00 to 11:00.

Mrs. Hegi is teaching this class and would like for more girls to come and get a foundation for the next year's work. She visits on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

The officers are: President Madeline Russell; vice-president, Mary Margaret Tunnell; secretary-treasurer, Laruth Walden; song leader, Neeta Bartlett; reporter, Mildred Cooper; recreation leader, Eloise Roberts, parliamentarian, June Fenner. —Reporter.

Mrs. Raymond Lloyd and little daughter of Lubbock spent several days here this week visiting the former's aunt, Mrs. Belton Howell.

HUGE LENDING-SPENDING BILL IS SIGNED

President Roosevelt on Tuesday signed the huge lending and spending bill recently enacted by Congress amounting to $3,750,000,000.

At a press conference he declared that within sixty days dirt would begin to fly on $350,000,000 of Public Works Administration projects. He stated that judging from the volume of business during the first three months of this year, the national income for 1938 would reach $60,000,000,000, or five billion more than a previous government estimate.

Neither industry nor agriculture is as bad off as some people believe, he said.

Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Hood.

Mrs. J. B. Redfearn and two children left for their home in Amarillo Thursday morning after a two weeks visit here with her father, A. A. Walker.

LEHMAN IS CANDIDATE TO SUCCEED COPELAND

Governor Herbert H. Lehman of New York announced Tuesday night that he would be willing to accept the Democratic nomination for the United States Senate to succeed Senator Royal Copeland, who died a few days ago. Lehman is now nearing the end of his third term as governor. He has been a very popular executive. Until the supreme court reorganization bill came up, he was regarded as President Roosevelt's strongest ally in New York. He expressed strong opposition to that measure, whereupon a coolness apparently sprang up between him and the President. Whether he will have an opponent for the Democratic nomination for the Senate is yet to be seen.

Mr. and Mrs. Clay McCoy and little son have been visiting Mrs. McCoy and relatives here. They returned to their home in San Antonio this week.

Jack Morris is visiting his relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Fowkes, in Lubbock this week.

Spies For Nazis Are Indicted

A federal grand jury in New York has indicted 18 German Nazis who are alleged to be involved in a plot to buy or steal American defense secrets.

The investigations of the grand jury, it is intimated, have uncovered a maze of intrigue and spying which is calculated to astound the nation.

Four of the persons indicted have been arrested and are in prison under heavy bond. The other fourteen are said to be in Germany. Some of them fled from this country when the investigation was begun. Two of the accused are reported to be high officials under the Hitler regime.

Rodeo, Reunion At Big Spring

The fifth annual Big Spring Cow-boy Rodeo and Reunion, which will be held at Big Spring Saturday, Sunday, and Monday, July 2-3-4, will probably draw many pleasure seekers from Tahoka and Lynn county.

All the stunts usually attendant upon such occasions are on the schedule. A parade will be staged Saturday afternoon, in which both Lamesa and Colorado have already indicated their bands will participate.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Robinson and son and a married daughter of Corpus Christi spent Tuesday night here with J. L. Nevill and family. They were on their way to Ropesville to visit Mr. Robinson's father, who is seriously sick. Mrs. Robinson is Mr. Nevill's sister.

Federal Land Bank Interest Extended

Houston, June 20.—The reduced interest rates on Federal land bank and Commissioners loans have been extended by Federal legislation for a period of two years, according to word received today from the Federal Land Bank by Deen Nowlin, Secretary-Treasurer of the Tahoka National Farm Loan Association.

On Federal land bank loans through national farm loan associations the temporarily reduced rate of 3 1/4 per cent per annum will be continued for all interest installments payable prior to July 1, 1940.

The temporarily reduced rate of 4 per cent on Land Bank Commissioner loans is also continued until July 1, 1940, Mr. Nowlin said.

"The temporary interest reduction does not change the contract interest rate, that is, the rate written in the mortgage at the time a loan was made," Mr. Nowlin said.

"At present the contract rates on new land bank loans are 4 per cent for loans through unimpaired associations. The contract rate on all Commissioner loans made through the land bank is 5 per cent. Under the law, as now amended, both land bank and Commissioner borrowers will resume interest payments at their respective contract rates on July 1, 1940.

Farmers who now obtain new loans through an association at the 4 per cent contract rate," Mr. Nowlin continued, "will get the benefit of the 3 1/4 per cent rate for all interest installments payable prior to July 1, 1940, and after that will not have to pay more than the 4 per cent contract rate for the balance of the term of the loan, which may be for as long as 20 to 30 odd years."

NEW LYNN EPWORTH LEAGUE MEETING

At the meeting of the New Lynn Epworth League last Sunday night, the program was well rendered by Mrs. Robert Richards.

At a council meeting, the League elected new officers.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ray Richards gave a social for the League, everyone having a nice time.—Publicity Superintendent.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wyatt and daughter Emma Jean of Port Arthur were here from Friday till Tuesday visiting in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wyatt. They left Tuesday, accompanied by the parents, for a visit to Denver and other points of interest. Mr. Wyatt is an employee of the Gulf Oil Corporation and is taking his vacation.

The News received a card this week from Joy Edwin Brown and Robert Maddox requesting that the news be sent to them at Manassas, Virginia. They are trying their skill as Bible salesmen, we understand. We are having lots of fun, working hard, and seeing the country. Best wishes to all the home folks", the boys write.

James Applewhite returned Wednesday from Norfolk, Virginia, where he went last week in company with Howard Davis of Grassland just taking a look at the country. Howard procured a job there and remained.

Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Gallagher, who have been away several months, have moved back to Tahoka to make their permanent home here. Mr. Gallagher himself is at work in the oil fields at this time.

W. D. Smith Jr. and Hick Gibson returned Monday from a little fishing expedition down on the Concho east of San Angelo. W. D. says they had only medium luck, but they had a good time.

BLUE SOCKS BOW TO EUNICE

Greathouse pitched his second game last Sunday. Wade Holland did the catching. Greathouse got off in a storm the first inning by walking the first three up to bat. He let them have four runs in the first inning. After that he pitched a good game. Since this is the second game he ever pitched, we think he did "mighty good".

French, a long, tall, lanky fellow with an over-handed delivery, pitched for Eunice while Finley caught. A lot of errors were made by the Blue Socks that could have saved the old ball game. You boys get out there for practice every day and you won't make so many errors.

Eunice got four runs in the first inning, two in the second, three in the eighth, and two in the ninth.

The Blue Socks rallied in the fourth and should have made about four runs but they had some difficulties and got only two. They got one in the sixth and one in the seventh.

We are all going down to Colorado town Sunday the 26th to play those boys down there. This will be our first game on foreign soil.

Boy Scout Plans Western Trip

Thirty-three Scouts and Leaders from the South Plains Council will encamp at Camp Post Saturday and Sunday, June 25 and 26, in preparation for a twenty-one day camping tour through New Mexico, Colorado, and Wyoming to the Yellowstone National Park.

The complete route schedule has been made and every detail including camping permits, swimming, and fishing and Health and Safety has been worked out. Mr. Earl M. McClure, Scout Executive will be Chief Camp Director. He will be assisted by G. B. Wadzeck, Scoutmaster of Troop No. 35 at Spur, and has been serving as Camp Director at Camp Post for the past three weeks. Frank Runkles, Scoutmaster of Troop No. 8, Lubbock, who has been in charge of nature study and Indian Lore at Camp Post, will also make the trip. H. I. Kiefer, Reporter for the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, will make the trip as guest of the South Plains Council, and will make regular reports to the home towns as to the progress on the tour.

Lynn county scouts who plan to make the trip are Elbert Boullioun and Jerry Noble of Tahoka, Eldon Carroll of O'Donnell, and possibly others. Other places that will be represented are Lubbock, Plainview, Lamesa, Spur, Floydada, and Amarillo.

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Melton, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Eason, and Miss Mabel Eason went to Brownwood Thursday of last week to visit relatives, Messrs. Leonard and Lloyd Eason. Mr. and Mrs. Melton and Miss Eason returned to Tahoka Tuesday but Mr. and Mrs. Eason proceeded on to Saint Jo to visit her father, J. G. Coffee.

NEW LYNN H. D. CLUB MEETS WITH MRS. DICKENS

WILSON WOMEN'S
H. D. CLUB MEETS

The Wilson Home Demonstration Club met in the home of Mrs. S. A. Cummings, June 16, 1938. Mrs. J. H. Lamb was hostess.

A quilt which the club members had pieced was quilted and given to Mrs. M. C. Brandon, one of our group who is leaving soon.

Mrs. P. D. Server was elected to represent our club at the short course.

Visitors present were: Mmes. O. H. Ray, Lonnie Lumsden, H. I. Lemon, Earl Cummings, Fannie Dawson, S. A. Cummings.

Members present were: Mmes. C. C. McCormick, D. A. Hill, W. H. May, B. W. Baker, J. W. Lamb, Sterling Anderson, Edwin May, S. G. Anthony, Howard Cook, J. F. Covey, M. C. Brandon, P. D. Server, H. B. Crosby, Lloyd Swann, and Clara May.

PROPER BLEEDING IMPORTANT IN KILLING CHICKENS

"We had two dressed fryers in the refrigerator at the same time. One was killed by wringing the head and the other was killed by hanging and cutting the throat. When they were removed from the refrigerator to finish preparing for dinner, the latter had an attractive well-bled appearance; while the other retained more blood and the meat was red," said Margie Shepherd, president of the Grassland 4-H Club, to her members.

"I have been killing chickens the A. & M. method since our demonstration this month. I made the hanger out of a coat hanger. I leave this at the end of the clothes line and then after I catch the chicken I just hang it up and cut its throat. I hook a weight in the roof of the chicken's mouth to hold the head down which gives a better drain. I made my weight out of a small piece of iron with a hole in one end; I fastened a wire in the hole and made a hook at the other end of the wire," said Margie.

SPRAYS CHICKEN HOUSE WITH OLD LUBE OIL

"About a week before I brought my two hundred White Leghorn Baby Chickens home I sprayed the brooder house with used lubricating oil in order to kill any mites and fleas present. I cleaned it out and put fresh dirt on the floor. Since then I have given the house a thorough cleansing at least each week," said Icapheine Stephens, poultry demonstrator in the Midway 4-H Club.

"I rinse the drinking vessels every time I refill them and I scald them once a week. For waterers I use quart fruit jars with the exception of two which are a baking powder can and a syrup bucket. The equipment used in keeping my chicken house clean consists of a rake, hoe, broom and shovel," added Icapheine.

KEEPS CHICKENS UP DURING SANDSTORMS

"During extreme sandstorms I keep my poultry flock housed and spray the house with a disinfectant. This settles the dust some and helps prevent dust pneumonia," stated Freddie Smith, poultry demonstrator in the New Home 4-H Club, when telling about the care of her chickens.

"When I apply used lubricating oil to the house and roosts to prevent lice and mites, I add distillate to make it thin enough to spray on," said Freddie.

A report by the Texas Planning Board shows there are 310 chemical and allied product industries plants in Texas with annual production valued at $74,456,000.

Allison Announces His Platform

In presenting my candidacy for State Representative of the 119th District, I do so fully aware of the problems confronting the people of this district. Being present County Judge of Hockley county, I have been brought to realize the significant need of adequate representation of this great District in our State Legislature.

I refer the people of the 119th District to the citizens of Hockley county, where I have been County Judge for four years, as to my qualifications, my sincerity, and ability to do those vital things necessary for the best interests of those whom I represent.

Within ten days after I reach the legislature I will present a bill amending the present law, so the farmer may retain the four-cent gasoline tax upon purchase, when the fuel is to be used for non-road purposes. Such an amendment to the law would save the farmer valuable time and many dollars he now spends in getting the gasoline tax refund. In the last several legislatures bills have been introduced to prevent the farmer from collecting any part of the four cent gasoline tax, and I, as your representative, will vigorously oppose such bills and work to the end that the farmer may retain the four-cent gasoline tax upon purchase. I will also oppose any bill which attempts to make the farmer pay a registration fee on his farm tractor.

I advocate an increase of the $22 per capita allotment for school children. As your representative I will lend my earnest efforts to see that it is raised—thus insuring greater efficiency in Public School administration, and less taxes for city and rural school districts.

The tax problem in Texas is a simple problem to my mind. I believe men should go to the legislature with backbone enough to equalize the tax on the owner of the natural resources proportionate to that now being paid by the "little man." I will show that necessary backbone at your next State Representative in Austin.

"A sales tax is a poverty tax in disguise," and I will fight a sales tax in any form. The State of Texas does not need additional taxation—it needs proper administration.

In 1936 the Old Age Pension law was liberalized. Thousands of needy persons over 65 were ruthlessly cut from the rolls while many others were denied the chance to put their names on the eligible list.

I favor immediate liberalization of the law in the next legislature, according to the 4 to 1 mandate voted by the people in 1935.

Less than one year ago, when 35,000 destitute children existed in Texas, the people passed a law to care for those unfortunates. Today we have 60,000 destitute children in our state who have not yet received the assistance granted them by a 3 to 1 mandate of the people.

The only reason why these mandates of the people have not been fulfilled is "lack of money". Yet the last legislature spent $300,000 for money than any previous body and appropriated $30,000,000 more eradication of ticks in East Texas.

Surely, if our state can spend $300,000 to eradicate an East Texas insect, we CAN and MUST provide funds to care for our aged people who have made Texas what it is today—and the destitute children future citizens of this state.

The above mandates of the people, as they are being administered today, are a "shame and disgrace" to a state like Texas. And I want the opportunity to do my part to bring the government back to the people.

When I am your representative the mandates of the people shall and will govern my every action in such a way that the state's greatest legislative district, the 119th, will have a representative in Austin who considers the will, problems, and needs of its 130,000 people.

G. O. Threat Tells Of Tennessee Trip

G. O. Threat returned Saturday from a four weeks' visit with relatives at Jamestown, Tennessee.

Mr. Threat was born and reared at that place but left there 52 years ago and had never returned. He found many kinfolks there, including two brothers, whom he had not seen in half a century. Five brothers and two sisters had died since he left the old home, but there were plenty of cousins, nephews and nieces left, all of whom were glad to see their long-gone kinsmen.

The old homestead was not recognizable. Heavy timber had grown up all over the 200-acre farm, and there was no trace of the house.

Though situated in the mountains, Mr. Threat says crops of corn oats and potatoes were very fine, and there is more fruit growing wild there than we could possibly raise by cultivation here, he says.

He enjoyed the trip very much.

Tons of sawdust from Texas lumber mills will be used this year to control grasshopper plagues in the State, according to the Texas Planning Board. The sawdust is mixed with mill-run bran and sodium arsenite. The grasshoppers like the mixture, gobble it up, then die instantly.

Pioneers of Lynn County . . .

We Salute You!

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO Tahoka was little more than a name and an ideal—Lynn county was nothing but a cow pasture. Through your foresight in locating here and developing this great country, we are now a county of progressive towns, modern churches and schools, and high class citizenship. This, we credit largely to your pioneering.

The spirit of you old settlers is reflected in the progressiveness of our present day inhabitants. In commemorating this notable event—more than a third of century of marching ahead—the advertisers whose signatures appear below, are steadfast in their definite policy of making this city one of the foremost in this state. As Lynn county progresses, so progresses its leading firms. And it is a combination of reverence for a glorious tradition plus a vigorous spirit of modernity that keeps the Pioneers of Yesterday still in the vanguard today.

METHODIST CHURCH NOTES

(Ben Hardy, Pastor)
The Vacation Bible School closed with a splendid program given at the Sunday School last Sunday morning. Mrs. R. B. Jones had charge of the program and was assisted by Mrs. Claude Donaldson, Mrs. Irvin Stewart, and Mrs. Ben Hardy. The fifty children in the program delighted the whole school. There were a number of others of our elect women who assisted in the school. I will not try to name them less I leave out some one, but they all did splendid work and we are grateful to them.

Honoring the children of the school, many of the parents and teachers met in the City Park Monday night from 7 to 8:30. There were about a hundred present. A good time playing games was followed by a bountiful spread.

Our young people's work is taking on new life.

Our representatives to the McMurry College Assembly will give their report next Sunday night.

Happy Smith is superintendent of the Young People's Department. He is assisted by Mrs. Daniel Davis.

Don't fail to hear White Parker tell of his work among the Indians next Monday at 3 p.m. in the main auditorium of the church. All are invited, men, women, and children

FATHER-SON PROGRAM

Rev. George A. Dale has announced that there will be a Father and Son service at the Baptist Church next Sunday night. All fathers and their sons who are not attendants of some other church are invited and urged to be present.

The pastor will bring a special sermon for the occasion and he will doubtless leave some thoughts that will be interesting.

Last Sunday was Fathers Day and many references were made to the responsibilities and burdens of the fathers throughout the country. At night, the girls and young women of the church and their fathers had been urged to come, and a check showed that nine whole families were present. Of course many others were there also. The preacher's discourse dealt with the pitfalls and the temptations that beset the girls and the young women of our town, and with greatest kindness he pleaded with them to avoid the dance clubs and indecent picture shows that are often shown.

FATHER DRENNON'S NOTES

Fathers Day passed and we are still alive. After all, it is nice for us to be remembered. God bless those children who do not forget their fathers and mothers in their old days.

Yesterday was a beautiful and also a profitable day with us at the church. The attendance at the morning hour was larger than usual with fine attention to a lesson on Envy. What a monster for destruction is Envy and Jealousy! Solomon said, "Wrath is cruel, and anger is outrageous, but who is able to stand before envy?" We found in the study of the subject that it caused Cain to kill his brother; Joseph's brothers to sell him into slavery; Daniel to be put in the lion's den; and Jesus to be delivered up to die.

I want to commend the fine editorial last week on "Riding high, wide and handsome." It was just my sentiments exactly, and I see it just as Editor Hill does, and that leads me to answer his question or questions of last week: Do you and your people fully understand all of Revelation, every sentence and verse of it? Also all the prophecies of Daniel and Isaiah and Jeremiah? No, dear editor, I do not claim to understand everything in the Bible, for Moses said, Deut. 29:29, that "The secret things belong unto the Lord our God, but those things which are revealed belong unto us and our children forever."

Paul said, Romans 16:25-26, that "The mysteries and secrets of God since the world began was made known by his gospel to all nations." He further said, Acts 20:27, that he had not shunned to declare all the counsel of God. And Peter said along the same line, 1 Peter 1:3, that God had given us all things that pertain unto life and godliness. I conclude from these statements that the apostles through the gospel have revealed God's will to me and that I can understand all that is necessary to be saved and get home to heaven. No, I am not a paragon of wisdom, but I do know that the Baptist Church is not mentioned once in the New Testament. If so, where?

It is a beautiful morning, this; and as I hear the tractors running I am reminded of our dependence on God. Man proposes, but God disposes. We ought to say, as found in James 4:15, If the Lord's will, we shall live and do this or that.

A suggestion: Take all the candidates' cards; write all the promises he makes on the back of them (you will have to write very small), then put them in the trash can and vote as you please. Yours for more people who will vote right rather than write votes.—R. P. DRENNON.

Ed. Note: We wish to say, Brother Drennon, that we have enjoyed your discussions of religious topics very much. We like the fine spirit you have shown. We truly wish that all denominations and groups of Christians might come to understand and interpret all parts of the New Testament alike. But we think that this little exploitation of our respective opinions, yours and the editor's, has clearly demonstrated that it would be futile and foolish to talk about a union of all the churches, or a union of all the "denominations" with your church, unless and until they can all agree on the interpretation and teachings of the New Testament. Scriptures take this matter of Church name for instance. Some of us think that is a minor matter. The name "Christian", as an example, was first applied to the followers of Jesus by the unbelievers and scoffers. Yet that is not a bad name for them. Various names are given in the New Testament to the early followers of Christ. It matters little what the name of a church is. The main thing is, What is it? What does it believe and teach. Just as it matters little what my name is; but it matters greatly what I am—what I believe and teach and do. Many thanks for the many kind things you have said about our editorials and about the paper. We appreciate them all, and we ap-

Nelson Is Making
Vigorous Campaign

AUSTIN Texas, June 23—The most vigorous campaign ever made by a candidate for the office of Lieutenant-Governor this week was in full swing at Lubbock. Nelson of Lubbock pushed his campaign through the Panhandle, Northwest Texas, and Central Texas.

Nelson's campaign speeches now consist of a brief, frank statement of his position on vital governmental issues, coupled with the recitation of the legislative record of his opponent, Coke Stevenson.

Nelson is advocating a one-house legislature, a sound soil conservation law, immediate financing of the state's social security program, and the expulsion of insurance racketeers, while he is opposing the return of the race-track gambling, the open saloon, and the repeal of the chain store law.

In each speech he chides Coke Stevenson for refusing to take a stand on these governmental issues, and then proceeds to cite legislative records which reveal that Stevenson has worked for race-track gambling, the return of the open saloon, and against the chain store tax law, and soil conservation.

Nelson, during the past two weeks campaigned down the Louisiana line, across Central and South Texas, and into the Lower Rio Grande Valley, covering from five to seven towns a day. His campaign received a material boost last week when the Houston Press and the Fort Worth Press endorsed him for the Lieutenant-Governorship, praising Nelson for making the race on issues rather than personalities.

More than 5,000,000 head of livestock was shipped from Texas last year, including cattle, sheep, lambs and hogs, according to Texas Planning Board statisticians.

Lynn County History

[As Revealed by the Files of the Lynn County News of June 27, 1913.]

"Lynn County Blue Ribbon Fruit Country", so says the headlines. The following places were named where peaches could be seen with plums dragging the ground"—W. S. Swan, G. W. Snider, R. D. Morris, G. W. Clayton, G. W. Coughran and T. C. Leedy. At the S. N. McDaniel residence can be seen some wild plum bushes that are lying almost flat on the ground they are so heavily loaded with green fruit.

SHERIFF'S SALE

By virtue of a certain Order of Sale issued by the Clerk of the District Court of Potter County, on the 9th day of June 1938, in a certain cause wherein J. I. Case Company is plaintiff, and C. A. Clem is defendant, in favor of the said plaintiff for the sum of Six Hundred Forty Two 66-100 ($642.66) Dollars, with interest thereon at the rate of 8 per centum per annum, from date of judgment, together with all costs of suit, that being the amount of a judgment recovered by the said J. I. Case Company plaintiff, in the District Court of Potter County, on the 18th day of May 1938, I have levied upon, and will on the first Tuesday in July 1938, it being the 8th day of said month, at Tahoka, Texas, within legal hours, proceed to sell for cash to the highest bidder all the right, title and interest of C. A. Clem in and to the following described property, levied upon as the property of C. A. Clem to-wit:

One CC Tractor open wheel serial number C 307733; One CCC2ARC lister; One XCC2H11 Cultivator.

The above sale to be made by me to satisfy the above described judgment for Six Hundred Forty Two and 66-100 ($642.66) Dollars, in favor of J. I. Case Company, together with the costs of said suit, and the proceeds applied to the satisfaction thereof.

B. L. Parker, Sheriff Lynn County, Texas.

By Doris Connolly, Deputy, Tahoka, Lynn County, Texas. 44-3tc.

Lesson for June 26

SHARING SERVICE WITH THE LIVING CHRIST

LESSON TEXT: Mark 16:1-8, 14-16, 19, 20.
GOLDEN TEXT: And they went forth, and preached everywhere, the Lord working with them. Mark 16:20.
PRIMARY TOPIC: At Work With Jesus.
SECONDARY TOPIC: Jesus Our Living Lord.
INTERACTIVE TOPIC: Minding Your Business—
Making a New World With Christ.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC:
—Making a New World With Christ.

Easter again? No, the calendar does not say so, nor have we forgotten that we observed Easter ten weeks ago, but quite properly we study the resurrection story again today. Not only does it come in the sequence of our lessons as our final study in the Gospel of Mark, but the fact is that every Sunday is a reminder of Easter. The reason why we worship on the first day of the week is that it is the resurrection day. What life it would put into our Sunday worship if the glory of the risen Lord would shine forth (as it should) each Lord's Day in all of our service and worship.

It is difficult to think or write about the living Christ without using superlatives. Our lesson for today brings before us the most important truth that the world has ever heard—"He is risen"; it speaks of the worst thing in the world—"unbelief"; and it presents the world's greatest commission—"Go . . . and preach."

I. The Transcendent Truth (vv. 1-8).

"Ye see Jesus, the Nazarene, who hath been crucified; He is risen, He is not here" (v. 6).

The world anxiously awaits news, and, hoping almost against hope, it longs for good news. This is the good news—the Gospel—the all-important tidings that the Son of God who had taken upon Himself not only the form of man, but the sins of mankind as well, who had tasted the bitter death of Calvary's cross, could not be held bound of death, but breaking its bands asunder had risen from the dead.

This truth becomes the chief burden of the messages of the disciples as they soon went everywhere proclaiming the Gospel. See the sermons recorded in the Book of Acts (2:24, 32; 3:14, 15; 4:10, 23; 10:40; 13:30). It was such preaching that was at the foundation of the Christian church. It may be that we should emphasize it more.

II. The Impassable Barrier (v. 14).

"He upbraided them with their unbelief and hardness of heart, because they believed not." Many are the sins that men commit, but at the root of them all we find the heart of all sin—unbelief.

The tragic consequence of unbelief is that it shuts the door, throws up a barrier to God's blessing that is virtually impassable until God himself gives grace to believe. The astonishing thing is that the hardness of heart and lack of faith here were on the part of those who had been the disciples of Jesus, to whom He had made known the fact that He was to die and to arise on the third day, and to whom there had now come the word of eye-witnesses that they had seen the Lord.

While we marvel at their shortsighted unbelief, shall we not ask ourselves what hindrances we have placed in God's way in our own lives?

III. The Supreme Commission (vv. 15, 16, 19, 20).

"Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to the whole creation" (v. 15). "And they went . . . and preached, the Lord working with them and confirming the word" (v. 20).

The great commission of Christ is still the "marching orders of the church," but how slowly we have marched. The writer of these notes was recently startled by statistics revealing anew the fact that "Christian" America is rapidly returning to the status of a mission field. It is said that last year 60,000 churches in America had no converts, and 9,000 churches were closed during the year. There are 10,000 villages reported to be without church services, and 30,000 communities without a resident pastor.

The command of Christ is that we should go to these pagan communities in our own land with the gospel, and surely it is our double shame that there are still lands where Christ has never been preached, yes, tribes that do not even have a word in their language for the blessed name—Jesus!

If we will go He will indeed work with us (v. 20) and accompany the message and ministry with divine authority and power. Who will go?

Select Good Company

When a man lingers in the neighborhood of sinners he may expect to be tempted. Our company has not a little to do with our conduct.

Try Again

The diligent searcher after truth will not be deterred by many disappointments. His hope may fail, but he will try again.

Key to Success

There is only one key to success, and that is perseverance.

What's New in Swim and Beach Togs

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

TWO features stand out pre-eminently in connection with this season's swim and beach togs, namely the vast variety of materials in use, the other the fact of the dressmaker touch given to their styling. It adds to the interest that gadgets in the way of costume jewelry tuned to sea and sand and outdoor themes usually complete the "picture" of each costume.

Citing a few of the smartest materials employed, first and foremost comes lastex, which is a boon to womankind in that it conforms to "lines" perfectly with a magic this-way, that-way stretching quality which solves the problem of clothes that fit, retain their shape and offer perfect comfort. The big sensation this season is the swim suit of black satin lastex with beach cape to match, completing the sense of luxury. Flower printed lastex ensembles also have their place in the style parade along water edge and sea line.

Other interesting materials employed for playtime clothes and wardrobes for water nymphs include celanese rayon moire, celanese rayon sharkskin, silk prints of fast color, linens in monotone or spectacular print and cottons so sturdy, so handsome, words fail of describing. Then there's wear-ever denim, and washable gabardine, so reliable when it comes to the wear and tear of riotous waves or strenuous mountain climbs.

Another feature that fashion spotlights is the use of striking color contrasts, perhaps in the way of playing up print with plain or the modernistic gesture of making the costume one vivid solid color bold contrasted by another startling color on a sort of fifty-fifty basis.

The models pictured are typical of this season's swim suit and beach ensemble trends. Centered in the group you see a stunning outfit that tunes superbly to a statuesque figure. This comely young woman is wearing black trunks with printed "bra" of celanese rayon sharkskin. A catalin fish pin on her hip answers the call for suitable costume jewelry.

To the right, fashion offers a new bathing suit ensemble that strikingly combines white with bright ocean-blue. The bodice top is blue with catalin fish pin by way of correct gadgetry. The blue beach coat with monk's hood of blue lined with white adds to eye-appeal. This very new and attractive ensemble is of celanese rayon jersey.

A very interesting costume, as shown to the left, uses blue and white cotton print for the beach cape lined with white terry cloth, worn over a loose-fitting white terry cloth suit. Accessory is white catalin Viennese stag horn bracelet with carved edelweiss. This costume won an award and is an adaptation of an Algerian man's costume from the Traphagen costume museum.

To supplement the list of materials smartly in use for beach dress and bathing suit, hopsacking should be mentioned. It is ranked along with sharkskin for shorts and slacks and shirts. Then there are the fascinating crinkle cottons that make such practical and attractive beach coats. Water, sun or sand dim not their beauty or colorfulness.

One of the cleverest ideas is the quilted floral cotton prints. A bolero of quilted print worn with matching printed broadcloth slacks together with peasant kerchief of the same print is a happy suggestion. Try this ensemble, it's a winner this season.

ACCENT ON POCKETS

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

The more decorative and useful the pockets that your dress, jacket, suit or blouse proudly boasts the better. Here you see a pretty lassie framed in a background of apple blossoms wearing a white culotte outfit in new celanese rayon suiting fabric. This attractive playtime costume is pocketed to a nicely, each pocket enhanced with hand-run varicolored stitching. Just because amusing gadgets are essential in the scheme of things this season, this outdoor girl pins a novelty catalin brooch at her throat in the shape of a college girl's cap with tassel.

WONDERS ARE BEING DONE WITH RIBBONS

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

After you have looked about at the new dress collections the thought stays with you that this is decidedly a ribbon season. Summer dresses are given a sprightly look with pert little bows here and there while ribbons galore, wide, narrow in one color or in mingled tones or tri-color gayety are swath and sashed about the waist with utmost artistry.

So utterly have designers yielded to the ribbon urge they are creating clever boleros entirely of ribbon and recently a leading Paris couturiere fashioned an entire dress of ribbon sewing it edge to edge for slender effect and for wide hemline, letting the ribbon ends fly out loose over a silken foundation.

Lots of ribbons on hats this season, too, for bindings, bands and tailored bows and for floating streamers and bonnet ties are seen.

Frilly-Frilly Guimpes or Vests Have Blouse Look

With the classic suit or the more softly tailored bolero-and-skirt costume you are expected to wear the daintiest, frilliest blouse or guimpe or vestee you can find. Of course, if you expect to remove the jacket, it's a blouse you must have. However, with the jacket on, a lacy, fluttery crisp and sheer false front is just the thing. They cost less than a blouse and they are showing such fascinating ones in neckwear departments you will yield to the impulse to buy another and another—which, when you stop to consider, is a fine gesture in real economy.

Sailor Hats

The newest sailor hats have a wide range—from straw to oilcloth.

Cool, Midsummer Fashions

IT'S the simple things that look prettiest in hot weather—dresses like these, with slim skirts, puff sleeves and v-neck.

Dress With Fitted Waistline.

This dress has a beautifully expensive, exclusive look—and it's so easy to do! Only six steps in the making. The lifted waistline is topped by soft gathers that fill out the bosom. Darts at the side make the waist hug your figure, and the sash bow in back adds a touch of youthful charm. Linen, silk crepe, dotted Swiss or georgette are pretty fabrics for this dress.

All-Day-Long House Dress.

Made on modified shirtwaist lines, this dress is simple enough to put on first thing in the morning, and pretty enough to wear all day long. Ricrac braid on the collar, sleeves and pockets makes it especially colorful and flattering. Make up in percale, pique, gingham or linen this will be one of the most satisfactory day dresses you ever owned!

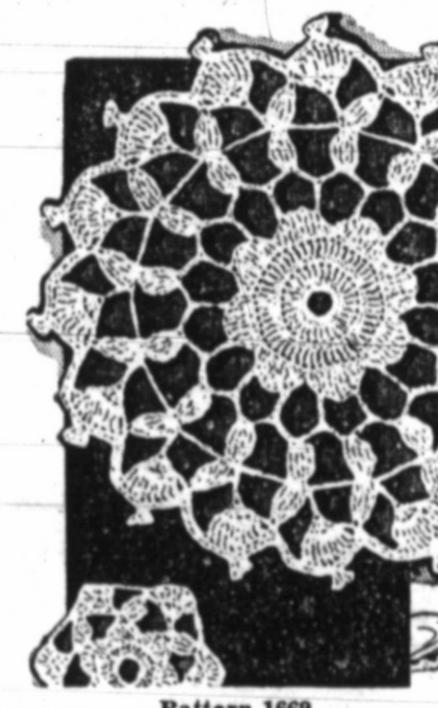

1481 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 3 1/2 yards of 35-inch material.

1529 is designed for sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 36 requires 4 1/2 yards of 35-inch material; 2 1/2 yards of ricrac braid to trim.

Dikes' Kin Has New Oil Well

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Dikes of the Edith community and Mrs. Dikes' mother, Mrs. Flora Dabbs of Southland, returned Tuesday from a trip to Jai, New Mexico, where they report that a good oil well was brought in Saturday on the property of Mrs. Dabbs.

Mrs. Dabbs had received a call Monday telling her of the strike.

Mr. Dikes says that it was not known when they left just how much oil the well would produce but it was evidently a good one. Tom says they had stopped up the hole with seven tons of clay and five tons of cement till they could connect up and get her ready to go but that the gas pressure blew the "gun waddin'" out and scattered oil all over the country.

Mrs. Dabbs has a half section of land there under lease and four wells are to be drilled on the tract. There are 54 producing wells near the Dabbs land. Tom says. Leases are running from $150. to $300 per acre.

It looks like Tom is about to get into the millionaire class. At any rate Tom sho do think a lot of his mother-in-law just now—and alwas did.

Quanah Parker's Kin Visit City

White Parker, son of the famous Quanah Parker, Comanche Indian chief, wife and daughter, of Lawton, Okla., and Rev. A. E. Butterfield, old missionary to the Indian tribes, were interesting visitors at the News office for about two hours Wednesday afternoon.

They are visiting with Ben Moore in O'Donnell Thursday, and will be back here today for the Pioneer Reunion. Monday afternoon, the group will put on a program, free to the public, at 3 o'clock at the Methodist Church. They will have with them many relics and costumes, and are said to have a fine program.

Quanah Parker, half white, died in 1911, leaving three sons, White, who is the oldest, Baldwin, and Lynn. Quanah was the son of Cynthia Ann Parker, who was captured by the Indians at the raid of old Fort Parker, near Groesbeck, and was raised with the Comanches on the Plains of Texas and Oklahoma. His father was the famous chief Peta Nocona. Cynthia Ann was recaptured from the Indians by Capt. Sul Ross on the Pease River, but she died of grief a short time later.

White Parker, who was raised in the Indian territory, is a little over fifty years old. His wife, though likewise raised in the Territory, is white and says she is a "foreigner"—that the Indian is the true American. Cynthia Ann, a brilliant little thirteen-year-old lady, like her father shows her Indian parentage, and, of course, she is named for her great grandmother, Cynthia Ann Parker. Another daughter of the White Parkers is Quanah Topechay. A son, Quanah Parker the Second, died a few years ago.

The White Parkers are interesting conversationalists, and are cultured and well educated. He is pastor of a Methodist Church at Medicine Park Lake, near Lawton. Rev. Butterfield, who is with them, went to Oklahoma as an Indian missionary in 1892.

Slaton Plans July 4 Celebration

Slaton is planning a big Fourth of July celebration.

The festivities will begin with a street parade at ten o'clock in the morning and will close with a street dance at night.

An old fashioned basket dinner will be spread at the noon hour.

There will be speaking after dinner, soft-ball games, and other sports.

A historical pageant will be given at the high school stadium, beginning at 8:30 p. m. The street dance will begin at 9. Slaton invites everybody to come and join with them in enjoying the day.

McCord Family Visits Yellowstone

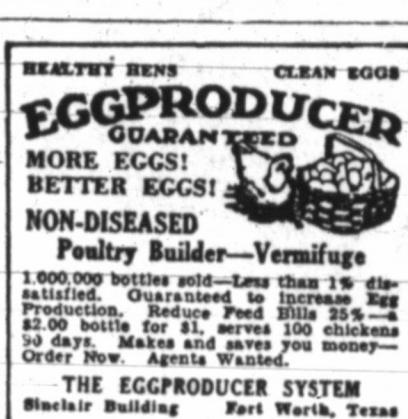

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. McCord and son, H. B. Jr., returned Tuesday from a sight-seeing trip out to the Yellowstone Park.

Leaving here on June 10, they made their first stop at Colorado Springs. The most interesting thing there aside from the beautiful scenery is the Will Rogers Memorial, Mr. McCord says. It is 104 feet high and is made of a single stone. It is a sight worth going a long ways to see.

After enjoying the marvelous scenery en route to the Yellowstone Park, they spent four days in that wonderful playground. Mr. McCord says they could have spent several more days without having seen all of it. Some parts of it were inaccessible on account of snow. Mr. McCord says they were just about to complete the shoveling of the snow off the south entrance to the park leading down to Salt Lake City when they left.

Miss Savannah Ruth Caperton of Bronte is here visiting Mr. and Mrs. Pete Coleman. Miss Caperton is a cousin of Mr. Coleman.

Mrs. T. E. Park became ill and died Sunday, sustaining severe bruises in the fall. She has been in bed since.

Mrs. C. F. Latham visited her son and family, J. M. Ayers, in Lubbock from a ten days visit with her brother in Lubbock.

Miss Adelia Latham has returned from a ten days visit with her brother in Lubbock.

This Special Irrigation Rate will be Effective on July Meter Reading

Cont. No. _____

SPECIAL IRRIGATION CONTRACT

Date _____

NAME _____

In consideration of the special rate granted herein for watering and beautifying my home lawns and gardens (other domestic use included), and not for commercial purposes, I hereby agree to pay the City of Tahoka the minimum service charge as set forth below on each monthly bill issued to me for water used from and after the June meter reading and to continue indefinitely, which minimum entitles me to the use of 10,000 gallons without extra charge, and I agree to pay for all additional water used at the rate set forth as follows:

First 10,000 $2.50 Minimum

All over 15c per 1000 gal.

All charges to be subject to a ten per cent discount for payment within ten days from date of bill.

This contract is signed with the distinct understanding that the City Council reserves the right to discontinue this special irrigation rate at any time they deem it necessary. In case I wish to be taken off the irrigation rate, I agree to send or present to the City Secretary a written statement authorizing her to put me back on the regular water rate.

This contract does not cancel the contract I now may have with the City of Tahoka for water service but supplements the same and is subject to all the ordinances and regulations of the City not in conflict herewith.
