Fifty Sheriffs, Texas rangers, highway patrolmen, police, city marshals, constables, and prosecutors from a large area of West Texas met at T-Bar ranch headquarters, eight miles northwest of Tahoka, Monday night, ate barbecue, organized a West Texas Law Enforcement Association, and declared war on livestock and poultry thieves.

Lines are ready for use as far east as the Tahoka-Lubbock highway. In the meantime, lines in the east part of Lynn county and in western Garza county are going up steadily.

Dawson and Hockley county residents seeking extension of the lines to include their counties must hurry. Resident Engineer Edward P. Price says, for funds in Washington for these extension will not be available much longer.

Lynn county has received the last half of the transportation aid, a total of $4,346.00, for schools.

The building will be stuccoed on the outside, plastered on the inside, air-cooled, and made modern in every respect.

Tankersley states that modern bowling alley equipment has been bought of 4-alley size. There will be seats for spectators. He hopes to organize teams for competition with teams at Post, O'Donnell, Lamesa, and Brownfield.

J. B. Hankins will come here from Brownfield to operate the alley and he will be assisted by Jake Leedy.

The building will be of stucco finish, 32x60 feet in size, and will ultimately have 250 storage boxes, although only 150 are being installed as a start.

These storage boxes will be available to farmers on a yearly rental basis of $10.00 per year per box, according to W. W. Hall, vocational agriculture teacher at New Home. Each box will hold around 300 pounds of meat.

Court Proposes Agriculture Building For Lynn County

Erection of an Agriculture building on the courtyard at a cost of about $15,000.00 is being considered by the Lynn county commissioners court, Judge P. W. Goad stated.

The building would take care of all government agencies operating in the county, especially the constantly growing county agent's department which has been expanded until there is no room for further expansion in the present courthouse.

Also, nearly all county officials are becoming cramped for room and some of them must have more space, the Judge says.

The court would expect to erect the building without the voting of additional bonds. Some funds could be raised from the permanent fund, and they would expect to secure a Government grant through PWA, or the successor to this agency. For a building of this type, the Government would make an outright grant of approximately 55 percent, which

H. H. Rumph, supervising examiner for this district, said, "Quitting without good cause may result in a claimant's being assessed one of the stiffest penalties of the unemployment compensation law."

He explained that the penalty for quitting without good cause ranges from the loss of one benefit check to the loss of all benefit checks.

"The intent of the law is to help the worker who is unemployed through no fault of his own," Rumph declared, "and it is not to be confused with old age benefits or relief."

Back-To-The-Farm Movement Plan Given Impetus

Lynn One Of Four Counties In Northwest Texas Eligible This Next Year

Lynn county has been selected by Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace along with Lamb, Dawson, and Lipscomb, in Northwest Texas for participation in the Bankhead-Jones Tenant Purchase program during the coming year, according to Jack Welch, Lynn county Farm Security Administration supervisor. Other new counties in Region 12 include only Chaves county, New Mexico, Elbert county, Colorado, and Fenney and Thomas counties Kansas. Lynn was selected as one of this group because of its outstanding farm record of the past few years.

The tenant purchase plan is more or less an experiment, and not more than ten tenant farmers or farm laborers will be given purchase loans.

The program is one of the weapons being used to break up the growing tenancy problem and to offset the trend toward larger farms. Tenancy in the nation is steadily increasing, it is said, 42 percent of the farms now being operated by tenants.

In Lynn county nearly 1,000 farmers have left the farm in the past ten years, many of whom were

Breath Bad, Lousy? You May Need This

Just as the lighthouse flashes a friendly warning to sailors, so Nature sends out headaches, bad breath, biliousness, which often warn of constipation.

Too many misunderstand or neglect these symptoms and thereby may invite a host of constipation's other discomforts: sour stomach, belching, loss of appetite or energy.

Be wise. Take spicy, all vegetable BLACK-DRAUGHT tonight by simple directions and clear your bowels gently, promptly, thoroughly. This intestinal tonic-laxative helps give tone to lazy bowels.

Its long life and popularity testify to BLACK-DRAUGHT'S merit.

Refrigeration Food Locker Project New Movement Among Farmers

(By Don Turner, County Agent)
Rapid expansion of local locker plants which provide refrigerated storage for perishable farm products such as meat, poultry, fruits, and vegetables is one of the most outstanding recent developments in the field of food distribution and storage.

Several locker plants are in operation at the present time on the South Plains and the construction of other plants is now under consideration. Construction of a plant at New Home is now under way, and several meetings have been held at Tahoka to discuss the possibilities of organizing a co-operative refrigerated food storage locker association here. The boards of directors of the two Co-op gin associations here have been appointed to make plans, and if sufficient interest on part of people is manifested, construction should get under way in the near future.

Seldom has any new development created so much interest in its use, influence, and future possibilities as has the refrigerated locker. These lockers may be described as a safety-deposit box kept in a room with the temperature at near zero, where families may store frozen food supplies that have been grown at home or purchased at wholesale.

Lockers are usually rented to customers on an annual basis. After the carcass is dressed on the farm, it is brought in to the plant and placed in the chill room and left from two to four days. Temperature in this room is usually kept from 32 to 36 degrees Fahrenheit. When carcasses have been chilled and aged they are transferred to the cutting and processing room where they are cut into roasts, chops, steaks, hams, bacon, etc., by a trained meat cutter or butcher, as directed by the locker patrons. All cuts are wrapped in moistureproof paper and stamped with date, locker number and description of cut. The package of meat is then placed in individual lockers. The temperature in this room is kept at around 10 degrees above zero Fahrenheit. Each patron has a key to his locker and the plant manager has a master key to all lockers.

Refrigerated lockers are especially convenient for seasonal fruits and vegetables such as strawberries, sweet corn, and others. These can be grown on the farm or purchased in season when prices are low, placed in lockers and are available at any time of year.

The committee is anxious to know the sentiment of the people regarding the advisability of constructing a co-op. locker plant at Tahoka, and in another space in this paper appears an announcement regarding plans for soliciting patrons for lockers.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Johnson, accompanied by their son, J. Moman Johnson, and wife of Lamesa went to Brady last week end to visit Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Knoy. Mrs. Knoy is very ill of heart and kidney trouble. The Knoys are former citizens of Tahoka.

Lockwoods Back From Long Trip

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Lockwood returned last Thursday night from an extended trip to the Northeast. They were accompanied by his niece, Miss Annie McDonald, teacher in the Amarillo schools, and his nephew, Jack Roney, who recently graduated from high school there.

Mr. Lockwood says they went by way of Chicago, Detroit, through the five-mile tunnel into Canada, and through Canada to Niagara Falls, New York, thence to Buffalo and New York City. He says they spent two days at the Fair, and greatly enjoyed it. The shows and exhibits were good.

While they were at the Fair, the King and Queen of England visited the grounds, and they stood within a few feet of them. He thinks the Queen is a very beautiful woman, but the King is too stiff.

In Plattsburg, New York, they visited Mrs. Lockwood's niece, and at Washington, D. C. where Mrs. Lockwood was raised, they visited her sister and friends and saw the sights of the nation's capital. On the return trip, they visited one of Mrs. Lockwood's old schoolmates in Richmond, Ind.

The party left here June 3, returned July 14, and passed through thirteen states.

He became ill while returning from Fort Worth and was taken to the hospital Friday. Paralysis in the legs had developed and soon spread to his body.

"You can't strike against the Government" was President Roosevelt's comment when WPA workers began staging strikes in various cities of the North last week protesting against the wage cut provided in a recent law enacted by Congress and approved by the President. The law in question raised the working hours per month to 130 without raising the monthly pay check. Notwithstanding the President's comment, other strikes were staged. At Minneapolis there was wild rioting, and one man was killed and seventeen other persons were injured. Thus the Government itself is experiencing some of the trouble now that big privately-owned industrial plants have experienced heretofore. We agree that Government employees have no right to strike against the Government. That is, they have no right to use violence, resort to picketing, or employ any means to prevent others from working if others wish to work at the wages offered. But why shouldn't the same rule apply to private business, especially since the Government through the National Relations Labor Board has provided the machinery for practically fixing wages to be paid employees? Any WPA worker who is not satisfied with his job or with his wages can quit. Any employee of private business can do the same thing. Why should the employer not have the right likewise to terminate the services of the employee any time he may become dissatisfied with the character of service being rendered? If we had a law with teeth in it prohibiting picketing, a lot of the violence attending labor strikes would be obviated, in our humble opinion.

Governor O'Daniel lopped off more than five million dollars from the general appropriation bill with his veto pencil last week. That sounds fine, and most of us no

We think Gov. Lee O'Daniel did a great thing recently when he vetoed the new liquor regulation bill passed by the legislature. The bill probably had some good features but its enactment into law would have almost absolutely destroyed county local option. It provided that any precinct in a dry county might hold an election and vote itself wet if it so desired. In such event, there could be few county-wide dry spots except in some of the most sparsely settled counties, for nearly all of the most populous counties have towns in them that are wet in sentiment. Under the proposed law, after the citizens of a county had voted to banish liquor joints from the entire county, then the people of some town or precinct might immediately call an election and vote itself wet, which would play havoc with prohibition in that county. It is the same proposition that was fought out in Texas thirty-five years ago when the wets sought to ram the Willacy bill through the legislature. It failed to pass the legislature then, but it got through this year. We are glad it found Governor O'Daniel standing at the gate with a big stick in his hand ready to kill it.

President Roosevelt seems to have lost much of his influence over the U. S. Senate. We suspect that it is due largely to the fact that too often he has undertaken to drive rather than to lead. Maybe Congress has grown somewhat jealous, too, of its own powers. For the past two years it has been asserting its own constitutional rights as the law-making body of the nation. It has become somewhat tired of acting as the mere rubber stamp of the President. It has gotten fed up on granting to him dictatorial powers. The President made the first great tactical blunder of his administration when he sought the power two years ago to make over the supreme court to suit his own purposes. He made the second great tactical blunder when he sought to purge the Senate and the Democratic Party a year ago of certain Democratic Senators who had opposed his supreme court packing scheme. He will have a rocky road ahead if he seeks a third term.

Almost every day we read of some fool getting tanked up on liquor and then pulling a wild murder stunt, followed sometimes by suicide. Sunday the papers carried the story of a guy down at Burleson in Johnson county who got drunk on beer and then decided to clean up on his family. He first beat up his wife and then went to the barn and attacked his own father with a board, inflicting severe wounds and bruises. Following him to the barn, the wife had witnessed his attack upon his father. She then started back to the house and he followed after her. She went into the house and came out with a gun. He came on, threatening to kill her and her two children. She ordered him to stop but he heeded not the warning. Then she pulled the trigger and that ended his carnival of crime. He was celebrating his twenty-seventh birthday, and a great celebration it was. Thousands of tragedies are being enacted in this country every year as the result of immoderate use of liquor. Everybody that wants to can vote for the legalized sale of the vile stuff but we have never done so and never expect to do so.

Texas livestock breeders have sold more than 6,000 herd sires in the State of Louisiana within the past three years. The Texas Breeder-Feeder movement has thoroughly demonstrated the ability of east Texas and the Southeastern States to breed, feed and finish livestock for the market. Louisiana has taken the lead in replacing cotton acres with livestock and feedstuff.

doubt can applaud his action on the whole, but there are some instances where his action was almost disastrous. We believe that it is false economy, for instance, to strike out items for the repair of public buildings which are in grave need of repair.

Nevill Family See Arizona's Wonders

Returning to Tahoka at an early hour Sunday morning from a two weeks visit with relatives in Arizona, the J. L. Nevill family have since been trying to describe to friends the marvelous works of Nature as well as the none the less marvelous works of man which it was their privilege to behold while in that state.

The Nevill family consisting of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Nevill, Everett, Ray, Elwayne, Jodie Bob, and Jennie Reba, together with Mr. Nevill's sister, Mrs. Elton George, left here on the morning of July 2, and following the scenic route that passes through Roswell up the Hondo Valley, across the White Mountains and thence onward through a variety of desert sands and mountain scenery, they arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Fleming at Flagstaff, Arizona, about eleven o'clock that night—twelve o'clock here.

They arrived just in time to see the big Indian pow-wow staged in Flagstaff on July 2-3-4. Ten thousand Indians, it was estimated, participated in the big event. The thirty tribes, one following another and each dressed in its own peculiar garb, staged a mammoth and colorful parade each day, winding up with an Indian dance at night. There were rodeo performances in the day time.

On July 4, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Lynn D. Nevill of Flagstaff the party visited beautiful Lake Mary. Another day was spent in Oak Creek Canyon, a beauty spot of that section, to see the thrilling motor boat races.

Part of the group visited in Phoenix while on the trip. They visited the Percival Lowell Observatory near Flagstaff.

Another day they visited the ice caves, which contain perpetual beds of natural ice, from which they extracted 75 pounds which they used in making ice cream.

They received the greatest thrill of the entire trip when they went to Boulder Dam, some two hundred miles west of Flagstaff. Boulder Dam is the world's highest dam, being 726 feet high. Its crest is 1,244 feet long. At its top it is 45 feet thick, at its base 660 feet thick, built of concrete. The waters of the Colorado River and its tributaries which it impounds, known as Lake Mead, is the largest man-made lake in the world. It is 115 miles long and covers 146,500 acres of land. Its greatest depth is 589 feet. The Boulder power plant is likewise the world's largest. This dam is the greatest engineering feat of modern times. It was particularly amazing to Mr. Nevill and sons, all of whom are carpenters and builders.

They were also much interested in the big saw mill at Flagstaff and the elegant lumber that it turns out—nothing like it, they say, in this country.

This side of Flagstaff they visited and marvel at the famed petrified forest, petrified logs 200 feet long lying prostrate on the ground. They all agree that it was indeed a wonderful trip.

Baldy Peak or Mt. Livermore in Jeff Davis county is the highest point in Texas, reaching 8,382 feet, while Texline in Dallam county is the city having the highest altitude in Texas of 4,694 feet.

Miss Gertrude Bishop is here visiting in the J. B. Nance home, and with her many friends.

J. B. Nance last week made a business trip to Los Angeles, Calif. Leaving Tahoka on Sunday he made the trip to the West Coast city and was back in Plainview by Wednesday night. He and Mrs. Nance came back to Tahoka Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Turner left Thursday for Chama, New Mexico, where they expect to "rough it" and fish in the mountains for about ten days.

More than 75 towns are listed in Texas which only have a population of 10 persons. Pleasant Mound in Dallas County is given a count of five.

Thomas Tells Of Yellowstone Trip

Many Tahokites are taking long and interesting trips this summer. Mr. and Mrs. A. I. Thomas and Mr. and Mrs. J. A. South returned Saturday from a visit at Casper, Wyoming, and a pleasure trip to the Yellowstone National Park, having left Tahoka on July 5. Mr. Thomas has furnished us a resume of the journey.

The first place of interest he mentions is Raton Pass in north-eastern New Mexico. "At one place on this road," he says you may stop and look down at the town almost under you."

Colorado, he says, has a lot of fine farming land as well as mountains. "In one valley in Colorado we found cherry orchards. We were told at one orchard that it contained 1,900 trees, and they were gathering about a ton of cherries per day."

At Casper, Wyoming, they visited Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hunt, Mrs. Hunt being a sister of Mrs. Thomas and South. One of the interesting sights near that town is old Fort Casper, where a massacre of whites was perpetrated by the Indians about the year 1865. A young officer, Casper Collins, it is said, sped into the midst of the Cheyenne warriors in an effort to rescue a wounded comrade. The heroic young officer died when his horse stampeded and thwarted the rescue. The old fort has been reconstructed and restored to its original appearance.

Accompanied by Mrs. Hunt, the Thomases and Souths made their next stop at Hell's Half Acre. At Cody, they found the Cody Museum and a statue depicting Bill Cody mounted on his horse, life-size. Situated on a hill of rock at the west end of the town, the statue represents Cody, rifle in hand, looking down at the ground in search of Indian tracks.

Beautiful roads, he says, lead on into the park. They made a drive of about 200 miles in the park, seeing a herd of buffalo, two elk, four or

Women Answer From 12 States

To date, Touring Reporters have visited the principal cities of 12 Southern states; have asked 1297 users their famous question: "Did CARDUI help you?" Of those 1297 users, 1206 said they were definitely benefited by CARDUI. That's 93 out of every 100. What a record! CARDUI is a good stimulator for lagging appetites, a real aid to digestion and assimilation. That's why its proper use enables so many women and girls to build up physical resistance, and thus helps them avoid the periodic pain of functional dysmenorrhea due to malnutrition.

five deer, and about twenty bear along the highway. These bear, for the most part, are harmless, but one day while they were in the park a twelve-year-old boy had quite an exciting experience. This boy started to skinny up an 80-foot lodgepole pine near Camp Roosevelt. When he reached the first big branch he stopped to catch his breath but not for long. Right behind him was a big black bear. The lad forgot he was tired and resumed his climb. So did the bear. Yells attracted spectators, who summoned a ranger, "Scotty" Bauman. When efforts to rope the bear or scare him out of the tree with rocks and sticks failed, Bauman opened fire with a rifle. The youngster waited till the bear's last throes had ended before descending, full of resolutions never again to climb a tree in the bear country.

On their way home they visited an extinct volcano near Capulin, New Mexico. Ascending, the road circles the mountain for two miles and you land almost at the top, at an altitude of between eight thousand and nine thousand feet. Messrs. Thomas and South scaled the top and then descended to the bottom of the crater and back. The

Mrs. R. H. Turner was here Tuesday and reported that Mr. Turner's condition is improving and that he can be up a part of the time and will be home in a week or ten days. If he continues to do as well, they have an apartment in Lubbock and Mr. Turner is taking treatment.

Mrs. Belle Matthews who left here last week for the West Coast and other points, writes home-folks from Colorado that she is having a wonderful time and seeing lots of sights. She also stated that her winter coat felt mighty good while on Pike's Peak.

Mrs. Claude Wells and daughters Marjorie and Barbara, Mrs. George Small, and Misses Ruth Hale and Mary Ellen Conway went over to Carlsbad Saturday afternoon, went through the Cavern Sunday and returned Sunday night.

Mrs. J. B. Bolin and son, James, of O'Donnell visited in the home of Mrs. Lenore M. Tunnell last week end.

whole trip was one of thrills and pleasure.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Cox and son, Billie, and daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Avalie Norman, returned Tuesday from a fishing trip to the Little Wichita River down in Clay county. Mr. Cox says they caught nine fish, a total of 50 or 60 pounds, on Monday and therefore had plenty to eat. The weather was so hot and dry that they decided the Plains was the place for them. Mr. Cox said crops were rather poor all the way, except around Munday, and the hot winds made him want to rush home to see if anything had gone wrong with his good crop at Grassland.

ELDER DRENNON'S NOTES

These notes are coming from Denison, Texas. We left O'Donnell last Friday, arrived here safe and sound but awfully hot. Started the meeting at Willow Springs yesterday with fair crowds and fine interest.

Since leaving home we found that Lynn County is about as well off for crops as any place we have seen. This county is suffering from drouth at the present, which is cutting my watermelon eating down.

A rather strange coincidence happened yesterday. A week ago yesterday I preached on "Having to Make a Choice", and yesterday I was called upon to make one of the hardest decisions I have had to make in a long time. I arrived here late Saturday afternoon, went to bed at 11 p. m.; at 4 a. m. I was called over the telephone from O'Donnell to come back and hold Brother Roger B. Street's funeral. I had to decide between staying here and beginning the meeting or coming back and holding the funeral. I finally decided to stay here. I hope I made a wise choice and that my friends at O'Donnell will forgive me if I did not.

This made me think anew of the great need of making the right choice when you are called upon to render a decision.

It is not quite as hot here as usual due to a good breeze blowing most of the time, but we miss the good cool nights of good old Lynn county.

I will continue the meeting here for two weeks, then go to Crowell for thirteen days.

More next week the Lord willing. Yours for more people who will not mistake reputation, wealth or popularity for character.—R. P. Drennon.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Harris were called to Sweetwater recently by the death of Lee Burns, 31, husband of Mr. Harris' niece, who died suddenly from an accidental injury sustained a month previously while playing a wrench under a car. The wrench slipped, striking him on the head and inflicting a severe wound. Death resulted from a blood clot forming on the brain.

Mrs. D. B. Cheatham, who recently underwent a major operation in a Slaton hospital, was brought home Saturday morning. She is reported to be improving nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Anglin returned last Thursday from Hugo, Okla., where they spent several days visiting her relatives.

Miss Thomas prepared a very appetizing cereal and served it with cooked fruit to those present. She advised that cereals be eaten with whole milk rather than rich cream, since milk is more easily digested, and with little or no sugar.

There were 14 members present. Preparation of school lunches will be discussed at the next meeting which will be with Mrs. C. E. Short August 8, at 2:30 p. m.

"CALLING DR. KILDARE" COMING TO ENGLISH

Young "Dr. Kildare" goes through another whirlwind adventure, this time solving a murder case in "Calling Dr. Kildare," second of the medical-detective series, showing at the English Theatre Sunday and Monday, with Lew Ayres and Lionel Barrymore in the featured roles.

In the second picture based on Max Brand's stories, Ayres becomes infatuated with Lana Turner, hides a wounded fugitive from the law for her sake, clears him by finding the real murderer, only to discover that by doing so he has lost the girl. The wise old Dr. Gillespie, played by Barrymore, solves his problems in a unique and dramatic twist.

Players include Laraine Day as a nurse, a new heart-throb for Kildare, Alma Kruger as the hard-boiled superintendent of nurses in the big hospital in which most of the action is laid, Nat Pendleton and Marie Blake as comedy team, Bobs Watson as the ripped boy Barrymore heals, Samuel S. Hinds, Lynne Carver, Emma Dunn, Walter Kingsford, Reed Hadley, and Nelt Craig. Dramatic highlights include a transfusion operation in a fugitive's hideout, the dramatic capture of a murderer and its tragic aftermath, a gripping scene between Barrymore and Bobs Watson, playing the crippled boy, and many intimate details of hospital life and the work of police detectives.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Edwards and son, Malcom came over from Dallas Friday to visit their daughter Anne in the home of Mrs. Edwards' parents, Rev. and Mrs. George A. Dale. They returned to Dallas Sunday leaving Malcom and Anne to spend their vacation here.

Finis Connolly returned Tuesday from a two months stay in California. Though he visited Los Angeles and other places most of the time was spent with his sister, Maxine, Mrs. Bonnis Brower, near San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Calvery who bought the former Guy Lemond home on the Lubbock Highway in the north part of town have had the interior refinished throughout and plan to move into it in a few days.

The wife of Marto Ramirez, section hand on the Santa Fe here, underwent major surgery at a Slaton Hospital Wednesday.

"Dad" Faires Sells His Farm Home

Mr. and Mrs. Faires are the salt of the earth, and Tahoka would be glad to welcome them as town folks. Mr. Faires was county commissioner from this precinct for many years. Both he and Mrs. Faires, who has been confined to her bed for years, have more friends than they can count.

Gordon Mills, school teacher at Peossvet school, Lubbock county, and Ola Thompson, third man in the car, a hitchhiker from Cleveland, Okla., were slightly injured.

Mrs. Vance Tredway, the former Miss Bonnie Lee of Tahoka, of Slaton, underwent a major operation in a Lubbock sanitarium last Tuesday and is doing as well as could be expected, according to relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Nettles of Meadow are the parents of a son weighing 5 pounds and 12 ounces, born Monday morning in a Lubbock hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. B. B. West are expected home this week end from a two weeks' trip and visit with the Arnold Houstons at Leesburg, Fla.

Mr. Wyman G. Johnson of Ralls visited in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Johnson over the week end.

ODDS AND ENDS

By Bee Eye the Elder

Rodeos! Rodeos! Rodeos! Rodeos everywhere! And half the music that comes over the radio is cowboy songs composed probably by fellows who never spent a day in their lives on a real ranch, and sung by drug-store cowboys. Rodeos are as modern as the automobile, the picture show, and the radio. We oldsters never heard of one mayhap until we were thirty years old. But we enjoy the rodeo stunts and the cowboy songs just the same. The first and about the only cowboy song we ever heard as a child was that old sad, weird, sob-provoking composition that came right straight out of somebody's breaking heart, we don't know how many years ago, "O Bury Me Not on the Lone Prairie".

No, the rodeo is a modern invention. Back in the days when Texas was really in the raw, the popular means of summer entertainment was the picnic, the Fourth of July then as now being the most popular day for these occasions of hilarity, amusement, entertainment, and political discussions. Nearly every community sometime during the summer would have its picnic, not the little semi-private, semi-public affairs that we call picnics now, but a gathering of practically all the people of the community and many from neighboring communities, and for amusement there would frequently be the "flying-jenny", a big base-ball game in the afternoon, and probably some horse-racing. For the inner man, there would be several loads of fine melons on the grounds, "ice-cold lemonade, made in the shade and stirred with a spade", or maybe it would be "ice-cold lemonade made in a slop-bucket and stirred with a soap-stick". Then at noon, the boxes of grub would be toted in from wagons and buggies and dinner spread, several families usually spreading their dinner together. And such feasts as those good women would provide! Fried chicken and cakes and pies 'never-thing!'

There were no automobiles in those days, and everybody came in wagons and buggies and surries or carriages or carts or gigs, on horseback, afoot, and just every old way available. These picnics were usually held in some grove or natural park near a stream and often near a spring, and horses were tied to trees and shrubs, and fence posts, and wagon wheels everywhere just on the outskirts of the picnic grounds proper. One of the most vivid memories we have of these great occasions was the nicker and whinnying of the horses tied about the grounds and the shrill strident notes of the katydids in the trees, which seemed to be performing for the special benefit of us little boys and girls who had come from the prairie farms to enjoy the festivities and the excitement of the day.

But the main event of these picnics was the public speaking. Sometimes it would be a masonic picnic, sometimes a Confederate veteran picnic when the boys in gray would meet and talk and laugh and cry together and sometimes hug one another, sometimes emit the "rebel yell" when some fervent speaker recounted their triumphs against superior numbers or made some telling point against the "damnyankees".

But nearly always there were discussions of current political issues by one or more orators of the region or the state, some congressman or candidate for congress, a U. S. Senator, a governor, or candidate for these or other high offices. Sometimes there would be joint discussions. And the people would be there by the thousands. And they would listen, and applaud, and sometimes whoop and yell for their favorite.

In this day of rodeos and radios, it is almost impossible for even a statesman to get a real hearing at a public gathering of any kind except by a mere handful of people. It was different then.

I remember one occasion when Jim Hogg spoke at a big picnic at Moody in his first campaign for governor. Probably it was the fourth of July. At any rate the event had been well publicized throughout the entire country, and on the evening before the picnic covered wagons from miles and miles away began to pour into the town. On the next day, it was claimed that ten thousand people were present to hear him. The number was probably greatly exaggerated just as crowds are still overestimated by practically everybody; but an immense throng was present, and doubtless two or three thousand people sat spell-bound under the big shed where he spoke and listened to his masterful arraignment of the railroads for the exorbitant freight rates they were charging the people and to his fervent appeal for the creation of a state railroad commission.

Moody was situated out on the prairie, and there was no inviting shade, stream, or spring to attract the people, but they came because the knew Hogg was going to speak and that it would be a whale of a big picnic. I was just a boy then—just a green country boy—but I took quite a bit of interest in politics and I think I listened to every word of this two-hours speech of big brainy Jim Hogg.

At all these big picnics some noted speaker was present, sometimes two or three of them—and believe me, "there were giants in those days". Just listen to this brief roll call: Old Dave Culberson, Richard Coke, John H. Reagan, Roger Q. Mills, L. S. Ross, George "Warwick" Clark, Charles A. Culberson, M. M. Crane, and numerous others, including that rising young orator and statesman, Joseph W. Bailey.

The early nineties saw also the rise of the Populist party, led in Texas by some of the ablest men and best rough-and-tumble debaters in the state—Harry Tracey, "Cyclone" Davis, Thomas P. Gore, the blind man from Mississippi, Thomas L. Nugent, Jerome C. Kearby, Barnett Gibbs, W. F. Douthitt, and scores of lesser lights.

All these were ready to speak at the drop of the hat, and when a Democrat got tangled up with one of them he usually felt before it was over that he had hugged a wildcat.

All of which created lots of fun and excitement at the picnics, which usually drew their thousands.

But these days, folks would rather see some guy ride a bucking bronco or a Brahma steer, and the fellow who can stay on top of one is a popular hero. If folks want to hear a political speech or a "fireside chat" they turn on the radio. There is only one kind of politician who can draw a crowd these days. That is the fellow who can supply plenty of hillbilly music.

So long, folks. We'll be seeing you next week maybe.

J. B. McPherson, who recently bought the M. H. Edwards home, is having the same remodeled and will offer it for sale.

WEST TEXAS OFFICERS

MEET AT T-BAR RANCH

sheriffs, deputies and other officers.

Capt. Gault and Sheriff Parker led much of the discussion, which ended in the officers voting to go after the cattle thieves. They agreed to tighten down on laws now on the statute books of Texas and to file complaints for violations of these laws. The fellow who is transporting, selling, buying, or slaughtering cattle and poultry illegally will have heard going in the future.

Farmers and ranchers in this section are losing annually thousands and thousands of dollars worth of livestock, because of thefts, mostly of one or a few head hauled to market or to butchers in trailers, pickups, and trucks.

Butchers Are Warned

Because of the fact that it is hard for one officer or one official organization to work independently all officers in this section are banding together for united efforts in protecting the farmers and ranchers from the organized work of motorized cattle rustlers.

Any person engaged in slaughter and selling of animals for market who fails to report to commissioners court of the county in which he transacts such business, at each regular term, the number, color, age, sex, marks and brands of every animal slaughtered by him since the last term of said court, accompanied with the bill of sale or written conveyance of such animals except those raised by himself shall be fined $50 to $300.

May Search Vehicles

As to transportation of livestock, it is provided:

Any person who is the driver of a vehicle containing any livestock or domestic fowl . . . who fails to have in his possession and exhibit to any person upon demand a written permit authorizing said movement signed by the owner or caretaker of said stock or fowl or from the owner or person in control of the land from which the driver began said movement shall be fined from $25 to $200 for each head of stock or fowl in the movement—unless the driver upon demand makes a written statement containing all information required. He must name the place of origin including name of ranch or other place; point of destination including name of ranch, market center, packing house or other place; number of livestock or fowls with the description thereof, including kind, breed, color and also marks and brands if any.

Penalty Is Heavy

Declining to comply with the law allows the officers to search the vehicle to ascertain if it contains stolen property and to detain movement for a reasonable length of time. Forged or false permits would cause a fine of from $200 to $300, or imprisonment of from 60 days to six months—or both.

Any man hauling livestock not his own, or buying, receiving, or slaughtering livestock for his own self protection should have a bill of sale or transfer following appearance of these press notices, or will lay himself liable to prosecution or at least stops on the highway for investigation by West Texas officers.

Ranch Furnishes Beef

Mr. and Mrs. D. Sanders of the T-Bar were hosts at the ranch. "Big Jim" Robinson, long-time Lubbock officer, noted by his ranch cooking, prepared the barbecue from a beef given by Crawford Edwards, Fort Worth, who with his father Cass O. Edwards own the 110-section 55-year old ranch. B. L. Parker, Ed Sanders, and others furnished much other food, which included red beans, pickles, onions, fried pies, cobbler, bread, and coffee. The crowd declared it a delicious meal.

The food was served chuck wagon style at the historic old Double Lakes spring near the ranch house, and the organization was formed in the shade of the cottonwood trees at the spring.

Among those present were: W. M. Lee, city marshal, Tahoka; Garland Brown, Castro county sheriff; J. O. Newell, Deaf Smith county sheriff; Joe B. Price, deputy sheriff of Terry; Capt. Maney Gault, Texas Ranger; Lester Stewart, ranger of Wichita Falls; Tom Abel, sheriff of Lubbock; Earl Wilson, Brownfield city marshal; Bob Crowder, ranger of Wichita Falls, and Mrs. Crowder.

Sheriff Jess Gore of Brownfield; Victor H. Lindsey, assistant district attorney, Lubbock; Louis Cartwright, sheriff of Knox county; John Sartin, sheriff of Gaines county; Pat Taliaferro, ranger of Amarillo; Frank Mills, ranger of Lubbock; Hugh Pharies, ranger of El Paso; H. R. Winston, former county judge of Terry county; John Price, deputy sheriff of Brownfield; Neal Arthur, ranger of Amarillo.

O. R. Martine, sheriff of Hale county; Ed Price, deputy sheriff of Seagraves; Norvell Redwine, M. Y. Hollowell, B. L. Woodell, Sgt. S. E. Tabor, and Mrs. Tabor, of the State Highway patrol, Lubbock; "Big Jim" Robinson, Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. D. Sanders; A. M. Bennett, sheriff of Dawson county; Hoyt Curry, chief of police, Plainview; District Attorney Truett Smith, Tahoka.

Jim Powers, sheriff, and Drew Story, deputy sheriff, of Garza county; Frank Hill, Lynn County News; R. C. Hankins, Lubbock Avalanche; Mary Howell, Lubbock Times; Sheriff B. L. Parker, Deputy Ed Sanders, and Sam Price, Tahoka; Jack Reeves of the license and weights division of the department of public safety, Lubbock; W. E. Renfro, sheriff of Bailey county; Shorty Bartley, Muleshoe constable; Warner Huggins, Jim Ford, Claude Johnson, and Bobbitt Robinson, assistants to "Big Jim"; Tom Majors, Max Westerman and L. P. McCasland, highway patrolmen Big Spring.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Edwards and family have as their guests this week Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Wood and daughter of Bartlett, Mrs. C. C. Mills and daughter of Dallas, and Miss Bernice Edwards, until recently employed in the AAA office at Bryan. Mrs. Wood, Mrs. Ellis and Miss Edwards are sisters of Mr. Edwards, who is manager of the new compress here. Miss Edwards expects to make her home here.

Geo. C. Lindley of T-Bar was in the office Saturday and gave assurance that crops in his part of the county were still looking fine. It's wonderful how well crops can do in this country with so little water.

Rush Dudgeon, went down to Waco last Saturday on a business trip.

COURT PROPOSES NEW AGRICULTURE BUILDING

would leave the county to furnish about $7,000 on a $15,000 building.

Such a building would be of permanent construction of brick and concrete and would be used by the county agent's office with the many phases of its work, the home demonstration agent, the Farm Security Administration, the Old Age Pension, Relief, and other such agencies.

It appears, the county officials say, that Government farm program in one shape or another is here to stay. Quarters are now cramped, more and more space is being needed. The tax office and the county clerk's office are becoming overrun. And now that the Government will help and no new bond issue will be necessary, this seems like a good time to build additional space.

The proposition is being explained with the hope that taxpayers will let their wants for or against such a building be known to the commissioners court.

LYNN SELECTED FOR TENANCY EXPERIMENT

tenants thrown off the farm by landlords, who have found tractor farming more profitable and who have had to dispose of tenants because of the reduced cotton acreage.

Under the Bankhead-Jones tenant purchase act, tenant farmers, share-croppers, and farm laborers may purchase farms with 40-year loans carrying three percent interest.

Only farms within Lynn county may be purchased by the farmers, who must also be residents of this county. To keep land speculation out of the picture, several safeguards have been devised by the FSA: the price per acre must be in keeping with its value; the loans may not be repaid completely until after five years; the county committees have the ultimate decision on the farms to be purchased, although the borrower is expected to find the farm which he prefers to buy.

A high standard of farming ability is required by the FSA in the applicants for loans. It is preferred that they be men under middle age, with families, who have had extensive farming experience. They must have good character and reputation in their communities, and have their own livestock and equipment.

Applications may now be filed at the Farm Security Administration office in the court house at Tahoka.

This year Region 12, which includes all of New Mexico, West Texas, the Panhandle of Oklahoma, southeast Colorado, and southwest Kansas, has been allotted $579,137 for tenant purchase loans. This sum is to be allotted to the eight counties. No county will be allowed to make more than 10 loans.

This sum compares with the $471,699.19 with which this region was allotted during the past two years. With this amount 60 farms were purchased during the two-year period.

Twenty-nine of these loans, totaling $234,712.24 were made in Wheeler, Floyd, Hall, Randall, and Hansford counties in Texas; 12 loans, totaling $87,176.95 were made in Roosevelt and Eddy counties in New Mexico; 13 loans totaling $103,114 were made in Bent and Prowers counties in Colorado; two loans, totaling $15,065, were made in Texas County Oklahoma, and four loans, totaling $31,571, were made in Mean and Wallace counties in Kansas.
