More Rains Are Aid To Crops

Light to heavy rains fell throughout Lynn county and over the entire South Plains Saturday and Saturday night, insuring fair to bumper crops in the different localities.

At the Hardberger Gin and Wayside Filling Station on Highway 87 twelve miles north of Tahoka, the rain was very heavy. It was comparatively heavy, according to reports, from Wayside on West into Terry county. A heavy rain also fell in the vicinity of O'Donnell. In other communities throughout the county the rain varied from a half inch to an inch and a half.

Many of the localities where the rain was rather light last Saturday, however, had had good rains here before and did not really need the additional rain that came Saturday. One exception to this rule is a large portion of the northeast quarter of the county. At New Lynn, Gordon, and Morgan, the showers all the summer have been light and in most of this territory the rain was also light Saturday. Only fair yields of cotton and maize can be expected from these localities this fall.

In the south half of the county the crops are better as a rule than in the north half, though there are localities everywhere that have bumper crops in prospect. As characteristic of the reports that come from many sections, Wash Hickerson of Three Lakes says that his cotton is very fine and promises to be as good as in 1937. W. M. Waldrip of T-Bar says that not only is his cotton excellent but that he has the best feed crop he ever made.

From Grassland, Draw, Redwine, Joe Bailey, Midway, Edith, Dixie and other places come similar reports. Unless worms, or hail, or an early frost should work havoc with the crops, the prospects are now good for a crop of 80,000 to 75,000 bales of cotton and more feed than one can shake a stick at.

Lynn County News Starts 36th Year Of Publication With This Issue

This issue of The Lynn County News is No. 1 Vol. 36.

Ordinarily that would indicate that it has just completed thirty-five years of publication and is just starting in on its thirty-sixth year. As a matter of fact it is nearly 36 years now since the first issue of the News came off the press. This first issue, a copy of which we have framed and hung on the wall of our shop, was published on October 9, 1903.

We should have completed Volume 35 therefore last October. But unfortunately, after the News had been published less than a year it was compelled to suspend publi-

Former Pastor Here Dies In Colorado

Elder L. J. McCarty, who was pastor of the Primitive Baptist Church here for many years, died last Friday at Crawford, Colorado, where he had been residing the past year or two. He was a resident of Crosby county while serving as pastor here.

Burial was at Crawford, Colorado, since all his children now reside there. Friends here had no detailed information as to his last illness and death.

Ask New Roads To New Home

Citizens residing in the vicinity of New Home have filed petitions with the commissioners court asking for the opening of two new public roads in that precinct.

One of these roads would be an extension of the Petty road from the point where it intersects the New Home-Meadow road on north a distance of four miles to the north line of the county.

The other road lies three miles east of this and would extend from the Lubbock county line one mile south to intercept another public road. It would be two miles west and three miles north at its south end from New Home.

Juries of view have been appointed to lay out and make a report on the proposed roads.

City Streets Are Being Improved

County commissioner George Small last week had many of the streets of Tahoka graded with the county grader used in the maintenance of the roads in precinct No. 2, which includes most of the city of Tahoka, the county paying for the work.

Mr. Small takes the position that since citizens of Tahoka pay a large portion of the taxes in this precinct, they are entitled to some returns for their money in the way of street improvement. While the expense to the county is comparatively small, the benefits derived therefrom by the people of Tahoka and even other citizens of the county are great.

Judges Selected For Round-Up

Three judges for rodeo events at the Tahoka Round-Up have been selected, it was announced Wednesday.

They are: Foy Proctor, Midland banker and cattleman; Tom Standefer, sheriff of Cochran county; and Mel Telford, former sheriff of Terry county.

All are experienced rodeo men and judges.

It's a rough game—but the cowboys like it, and the crowds like it. Scenes similar to the above await rodeo fans at the third annual Tahoka Round-Up here next Thursday and Friday. The upper picture shows a cowboy in the act of bulldozing a steer. The lower one, shows a contest in which the horse is the winner.

Large Edition Of News This Week

This week's issue of The News, in both news and advertising columns, lays special emphasis on the Tahoka Round-Up next Thursday and Friday.

That the town is Round-Up conscious is evidenced by the fact that advertisers have made possible a 20-page special edition advertising the affair.

The News management wishes to thank the 75 business firms represented in the advertising columns for their kind co-operation in turning in early copy which made this issue possible.

BUDGET HEARING

Judge P. W. Good states that the annual budget hearing of the county government will be held next Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. All taxpayers are invited to attend.

Coach Jackson Moves To City

Leo Jackson, new coach of Tahoka high school, and wife arrived Tuesday to make their home in Tahoka.

Jackson, who had just returned from the Texas High School Coaches' association meeting in Houston, is making plans for the beginning of football training Sept. 1. This week he is meeting prospective squad members. Though he has not seen the local boys work-out, he is very optimistic in regard to the prospects.

"All boys of high school age will be urged to come out for football, regardless of size, and all squad members are promised action sometime during the season," Jackson says. "I would like to talk to each high school boy within the next week or two."

New Beauty Shop Opens This Week

Mrs. Mary Hudman is opening a beauty shop to be known as the "Co-Ed Beauty Shop" in the upstairs apartment at the rear of the new City Barber Shop, formerly occupied by Jim Dye.

Mrs. Hudman formerly operated the old Co-Ed Beauty Shop owned by Mrs. Myrtle Cooper Dulin and has had much other experience as a beautician.

Change Made In Voting Precinct

Action was taken by the commissioners court Monday removing the polling place from the old Magnolia school house to the Garnolio schoolhouse situated one mile east and one mile north of old Magnolia. The new district was created some time ago by the consolidation of the Magnolia and Garlyn districts and the name changed to Garnolia.

Mr. and Mrs. D. B. English returned Wednesday from Albany where they visited Mr. English's brother and family, having gone down Monday.

Interest In Annual Affair Is Growing

Doctors Speak At Rotary Club

Though several Rotarians were out of town Thursday on the booster trip, thirty-five were present at the regular luncheon.

Walter Anglin, in charge of the program, introduced Dr. Chase Thompson, who spoke on the dreaded disease of syphilis, bringing many astounding facts as to the prevalence of the disease. Efforts at treatment and control were told, and the Doctor stated that the State Health Department would soon inaugurate a campaign in the newspapers and over the radio to educate the people on the subject. He says one person in ten in the United States has the disease.

Dr. J. W. Sinclair spoke on Canada. He was born and raised in the Dominion, and he brought many interesting facts of history, geography, etc. concerning that great country.

Aggie Teachers At State Meet

The three vocational agriculture teachers of Lynn county, W. W. Hall of New Home, Stillwell Russell of Wilson, and Leslie Browning of Tahoka, attended a state meeting of the vocational agriculture teachers at the Texas A. & M. College last week. Mr. Hall reports that there were 607 aggie teachers in attendance.

Lectures and addresses were given daily by noted educators and by some of the teachers attending.

For recreation following the work of the conference each day, the teachers indulged in contests in many characters of games. Mr. Hall won the medal as the champion checker-player, and Mr. Russell of Wilson was runner-up as a horse-shoe pitcher.

Mr. Browning is good at a lot of things but he brought back no trophies.

West Texas Primitive Baptists Will Open Meeting Here Next Week

Final arrangements for the entertainment of the Primitive Baptist Association to be held here on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, August 25-26-27, are to be made at a meeting of the church here next Monday, according to information given the News.

It is expected that several hundred people will be here attending the association. The territory of this association covers a large portion of West Texas, and many visitors are expected from other parts of Texas, from Oklahoma and New Mexico.

At previous associations held

With interest at a high pitch, Tahoka is all set and ready for the third annual Tahoka Round-Up Thursday and Friday of next week, which event local citizens hope will far exceed last year's successful show for entertainment, color, and size of crowds.

About 30 or 40 cars of Round-Up boosters, led by the Tahoka band and a fire truck, Thursday visited in Grassland, Post, Southland, Slattin, Lubbock, Levelland, Morton, Muleshoe, Sudan, Littlefield, Anton, putting on a short program in each place advertising the celebration here next week. At Lubbock, police cars escorted the delegation into town amid fanfare, a parade was staged, and a program put on over the radio.

Friday another booster trip is scheduled by way of Brownfield, Seagraves, Seminole, Lamarsa, O'Donnell, and D'Av.

Many Cowboys Expected

Feature of the Round-Up is the rodeo each afternoon at 2 o'clock and each night at 8 o'clock, at which $900.00 in cash plus cowboy entrance fees is being offered as prizes in the four events of bronc riding, calf roping, steer riding, and bulldozing.

Stock will be furnished by Beutler Bros., Elk City, Okla., who furnished the stock last year and who are said to have the roughest bucking string of stock under one management in the nation. Cowboy entrants are expected from several western states. Many championship title holders are expected on the entry list.

Judges are Foy Proctor, Midland banker and cattleman; Sheriff Tom Standefer, Morton; and Mel Telford, Brownfield. Milt Good of Dickens will be announcer.

Indians Are Coming

A special attraction at each rodeo performance will be the show put on by Chief Baldwin Parker and his Comanche Indians from Cache, Okla., in full costume. Their program includes the war dance, scalp dance, two step, Comanche past-times, Indian love song, historical sketch of Cynthia Ann Parker, Quanah Parker, and the Plains, In-

Join The Parade

Citizens, business firms, civic organizations, and schools are urged to enter a float, decorated car, or horse and rider in the parades next Thursday and Friday.

Days of the Old West will be the general theme of the parades. The committee in charge especially would like to have a covered wagon, chuck wagon, horse and buggy, old cars, sidesaddles, etc., entered.

The parade committee is composed of Lee Roy Knight, G. W. Simmons, D. W. Salignat, Sam Holland, W. S. Anglin, H. O. Hargett, and Tom Mott.

here by this denomination there have been from 800 to 1,000 visitors ere. Two previous meetings in the past fifteen years were held under the old hilly tabernacle, which was torn down a few years ago. Announcement as to the place of the meetings will be made next week.

Practically all the leading ministers of this denomination in Texas will be here. Singing of the old-time hymns is always a feature of these gatherings, and many people of other church affiliation will doubtless avail themselves of the opportunity of attending one or more of the services.

Famous Bucking Stock Will Be Used In Rodeo Here Two Days Next Week

When Tahoka Round-Up holds forth next Thursday and Friday, some of the most famous rodeo stock in America will be on hand to enter competition in the arena with any rodeo contestant who wishes to try his luck.

Beutler Bros. of Elk City, Oklahoma, are bringing to Tahoka 25 bucking horses, 10 or more Mexican bulldogging steers, and 25 Brahma bulls for the steer riding events. These stock are being publicized in Middle Western newspapers this year as being the toughest string of rodeo stock owned by any outfit in the country. Many of them are the same stock which participated in last year's Tahoka Round-Up, and anyone who saw last year's shows will vouch for the fact that the animals are plenty tough.

Beutler Bros. are furnishing the stock for many of the leading shows of the middlewest this year, including the Guthrie 89ers, Guymon Pioneer Days, Dodge City Boot Hill Round-Up, Springfield Rodeo Top o' Texas, Anvil Park, Custer City Round-Up, XIT Reunion, Shattuck Stampede, Midland Rodeo, Woodward Elks Rodeo, Oklahoma State Fair, Tri-State Fair, Arkansas State Fair, etc.

Among the top bucking horses are: Chainfoot, Amos, Sunflower, Strawberry, New Deal, Star, Dr. Baker, Red Snapper, Powder River, Honky Tonk, Bad River, Rasputin, and Relief Worker.

Among the Brahma steer herd will be the famous No. 6 and Huey Long, neither of which has ever been ridden, and Lynn Beutler states that he will personally offer $100 to any cowboy who can ride either animal 10 seconds.

Close Successful Grassland Meeting

The most successful meeting of the Church of the Nazarene at Grassland has had in many years came to a close last Sunday night, according to Rev. J. R. Ferguson, pastor. Large crowds were in attendance and there were about forty responses to the appeals made by the evangelist and the pastor.

Rev. Lee Hance of Bethany, Oklahoma, was the evangelist, and M. C. Richey of the Grassland community directed the song services. Generous contributions for the benefit of the evangelist and the pastor were made on the last day of the revival.

The birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Leon McPherson of Seagraves in the West Texas Hospital at 10:35 o'clock Tuesday night has been announced. The little lady weighed 6 pounds and 13 ounces. Mr. and Mrs. McPherson resided in Tahoka until a few months ago, when they removed to Seagraves where Leon is employed in Mack's new store there.

Dr. and Mrs. E. Prohl and daughter Martha Anne, accompanied by Miss Erma Davis, went to Austin Saturday night where they are visiting this week. Dr. Prohl expects to be in his office again this Saturday.

THE WORM LOZENGER

Know Your Rodeo.

after he has leaped to the steer.

HIGH ROLLER—Horse that leaps high when bucking.

HOOILIHANING — Leaping on the horns of a steer in bulldoggings in a manner to knock him down without having to resort to twisting him down.

LOGGERS—Holding the saddle horn.

JUGHEAD—Foolish horse.

MAIL ORDER COWBOY — A tenderfoot in custom-made cowboy regalia and devoid of range experience.

MAN-KILLER — A wild horse with homicidal mania, that strikes at mounted or unmounted men.

Top Cowhands Expected Here

Top cowhands from several Western states are expected to enter this year's Tahoka Round-Up. Since the prize list has been raised to $90 in each event, with cowboy entrance fees added, more entries are expected than last year.

"Have you been to any other doctor before you came to me?"
 "No, sir. I went to a druggist."
 "You went to a druggist? That shows how much sense some people have. You went to a druggist, and what idiotic advice did the druggist give you?"
 "He told me to come and see you."

MR. WALLACE, PLEASE

"Is the Secretary of Agriculture in?"
 "Not just now, madam. What do you want him for?"
 "Well, I have a geranium that isn't doing so well."

MIGRATING BIRDS ARE ALREADY COMING SOUTH

Bird migrations from the North into Texas has already started. Long billed curlews and upland plovers have been seen in south-central Texas. They are the forerunners of a number of other species of migratory birds which include not only many species of ducks and geese but song and insectivorous birds such as robins, starlings, meadow larks, mourning doves, several varieties of sparrows, warblers of several different kinds, and buntings.

Teal, one of the smaller species of ducks are usually among the first of the ducks to migrate south each year. However, hunters generally regard them as migrating in September, October, and November. Representatives of the Game Department sighted teal as far south as Laredo in early August last year.

WEDDING DAY

"Were you excited on your wedding day?"
 "Excited? Say, I gave my bride $10 and kissed the preacher."

Jane (discussing operas with a friend in street car)—I simply love Carmen.

Conductor (blushing)—Try the motorman, Miss. I'm a married man.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Haney of Roscoe were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lum Haney last week end.

ANTELOPES CHASE COYOTES

The woods and plains of Texas abound with unusual stories, but the most unique occurrence observed recently was in Hudspeth County, where a herd of 25 antelope was seen chasing two coyotes for several miles.

State Game Warden W. D. Stubblefield was riding with Bob Ingram of El Paso along a draw on the old Mitchell Ranch when, suddenly a coyote came up over the ridge with approximately 25 antelope in close pursuit. Stubblefield stopped his car. The antelope chased the coyotes over the other side of the ridge without noticing the men, who then drove to the top of the ridge and saw that the antelope were still pursuing the coyote. First one and then another closed in on El Coyote. Suddenly another coyote jumped up with the first coyote and Stubblefield and Ingram continued to watch the unusual pursuit for approximately a mile. Then the coyotes and the antelope made a turn towards the car. When the antelope spied it they stopped, stood for a few seconds, then took out across the hills. The coyotes also disappeared rapidly—in an other direction.

"People who have half an hour to spare usually spend it with somebody who hasn't."

Scout Camporall
October 13 and 14

Lubbock, August 17.—The South Plains Council annual Boy Scout Camporall will be staged this year, October 13 and 14 in Lubbock, M. E. Heard, activities chairman, said today.

Scouts and leaders will be guests of Texas Tech at the Arizona State-Tech game Saturday night, October 14. Scouts will pitch their camp Friday night on the Tech campus and take part in a big program Saturday. The Lions Club of Lubbock is sponsoring the event. Some 750 Scouts are expected to attend from the 20 counties of the council.

Rev. Dale Is Having A Great Meeting

The editor received a card Tuesday from Rev. George A. Dale, who is conducting a revival meeting in the First Baptist Church in Mineola, in which he states: "The meeting is going fine, have had twenty-three conversions up to Sunday; had large Sunday; large crowds are coming. The hottest weather I ever saw, very dry."

The meeting will close next Sunday night and he says he will be home Tuesday.

ELDER DRENNON'S NOTES

I am back in good old Lynn county after an absence of thirty days; and I want to say it is good to be back.

I slept soundly last night under two covers, while the night before I slept in Foard county under no cover and with an electric fan humming.

Lynn county as a whole has as good crops as I saw on my 2,300 mile trip. So you good people in Lynn county had better let well enough alone.

I will be home until next Friday night when I will begin a meeting at Johnson school house in Terry county.

Our meeting here at O'Donnell begins Friday night of this week with Evangelist Frank Cox of Austin doing the preaching, and Brother Claude Cheairs leading the song service. The meeting will continue ten days with services morning and evening.

Yours for more people whose religion is as hot in the winter as summer.—R. P. Drennon.

W. M. Waldrip and family, who reside one mile north of the T-Bar school house, returned last week from a trip through the piney woods of East Texas and thence as far north as Fort Smith, Arkansas, returning through Oklahoma. Mr. Waldrip tells some tall tales about the steep hills in Arkansas. He was also struck with the peculiar customs of the people in some sections. At Fort Smith, for instance, he says he saw well-dressed women going barefooted. W. M. should not have been shocked, however. At many places in Texas in Texas, one can often see "well-dressed" women with much larger bare spots than that.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Donaldson, who are expected home this week from their South Texas trip, have been detained in Temple by the serious illness of Mrs. Donaldson's father, Rev. J. P. Callaway, who is in a Temple hospital suffering from gall bladder trouble. The aged minister was pastor of the Tahoka Methodist Church more than twenty-five years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Young and little daughter returned Saturday from a week's outing spent on the upper reaches of the Red River in New Mexico. Roy says he had lots of fun trying to hook those mountain trout and was very successful; he caught one—a big one about as long as his hand. Roy says it's fine scenery, fine climate, and was a fine outing.

Rev. and Mrs. C. M. Whitley, evangelists, who will open a revival at the Church of the Nazarene Sunday which will continue through September 3. The pastor, Rev. Betty Ellis, will lead the song services, and Miss Lona Webb will be pianist.

Mrs. J. W. Sinclair and Miss Kathryn Armstrong are planning to spend the weekend at Carlsbad, New Mexico and go through the Cavern.

Dogwood Tree Is Traced to the Time of Christ

Although the various dogwoods are sometimes so small that they seem hardly more than a good-sized shrub, they have been known for centuries and their legendary history reaches into Greek mythology, to the Roman empire at the time of Christ and to the folklore of early American Indian tribes. Their slender, twisted branches and unusual four-petaled flowers have seemed to call for explanation and the legends have tried to account for them, writes Paul Davey, tree expert, in the Washington Star.

One of the legends is to the effect that the dogwood, because of the hardness of its wood, was chosen for use in the cross at the crucifixion. The technical name of the tree is Cornus, from the Latin corna, a horn, and refers to the character of the wood. The legend runs that the dogwood was much distressed at being chosen for such a terrible purpose and that the Savior, sensing this feeling, made to the tree this promise:

"Never again shall the dogwood tree grow large enough to be used for a cross. Henceforth it shall be slender and bent and twisted and its blossom shall be in the form of a cross—two long and two short petals and in the center of the outer edge of each petal there shall be nail prints, brown with rust and stained with blood, and the center of the flower will be a crown of thorns."

"All those who see it will remember it was on the dogwood that I was crucified and this tree shall not be mutilated or destroyed, but cherished and protected as a reminder of my agony and death upon the cross."

It is a beautiful way of explaining the peculiarities of the dogwood. History does not bear out the legendary assumption that the cross was made from the wood of the dogwood, but that does not take away from the beauty of the legend.

Red River Colored by Clay
The Red river of the North (there's a Red river in Texas and Oklahoma) is often colored by the clay through which it runs. Hence the name. Rising in Minnesota, it flows 350 miles almost straight north into Lake Winnipeg. In spring the headwaters thaw while farther north it is still frozen solidly. Floods result. Before railroads came the river connected Canada with the Mississippi river. Small steamers went up it to Lake Traverse and thence down the Minnesota river to the Mississippi.

Frigid Finger Reaches Low
New Zealand breaks the rule that glaciers usually stop near the lower limits of perpetual snow, above the timber line. Some of its rivers of ice wind over wooded slopes to end only among tree ferns and other sub-tropical vegetation. Fox glacier reaches down to 670 feet above sea level. Its surface is rough with patches of rock debris and with the sharp ridges of great crevasses.

Kipling's Autograph
The late Rudyard Kipling once was asked by his grocer to pay his bills by check. Mr. Kipling did so, then noticed the checks never came back from the bank. He investigated, found the butcher was selling the checks as autographs. Since the author rarely autographed anything, his name on a check was worth more than the check itself!

First Lamp Patent in 1798
In 1798 the first lamp patent was issued to John Love, of South Carolina, for a yellow lamp. The earliest patented lamp known is the nursery lamp made by William Howe, of Boston, dated 1812. The second earliest example appeared nearly two decades later, in 1831, and the patent was issued to John W. Schulz and William Trull. Between the granting of these two patents twenty others had been issued.

Mr. and Mrs. Deen Nowlin and children, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Edwards and Mrs. Inez Knight left Monday for Eagle Nest, New Mexico for a week or ten days vacation.

FREAK COLORED SQUIRRELS FOUND NEAR CAT SPRINGS

Pure albino squirrels, that is those which are all white and have pink eyes, are extremely rare but are occasionally found in Texas woods. However, the spotted squirrel, which is black and brown, is even more unusual. In fact, the first of that type to be reported to the Game Department was found just recently. Yet, strange as it may seem, an albino squirrel and a black and brown nut-eater were both found within a few miles of each other near the East Bernard River not far from Cat Springs, Texas, recently. Mr. Emmett Knepton of Cat Spring captured the albino when it was extremely young and has raised it in his back yard. Mr. Knepton also reported the black and brown spotted squirrel, which was killed by a hunter near his place.

MIDWAY NEWS

School will begin at Midway Monday, August 21. The former teachers, Mr. V. C. Carter and Miss O'Veil Warren, who have been attending summer school at Tech, and Miss Lottie Jo Stephens, who has been in school at West Texas State Teachers College at Canyon, have returned home for the opening of school.

A two-weeks singing school being held at Midway will close Friday night was a box supper. Every one is urged to come and buy a box.

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Stephens and children returned home last week from a trip to the Gulf.

Mrs. John Thomas' sisters of San Saba have been visiting in her home this week.

Billy, Jackie, and Dwayne Driver are spending the week in Lamesa with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Schultz of Dixie visited Mr. and Mrs. Harold Everson Sunday.

Mrs. I. M. Draper is home from a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Oscar McGinty of Spur.

Mrs. Hattie Adams is visiting her sister, Mrs. G. E. Turrentine this week. Together with the Turrentines she made a trip to Brownfield Tuesday.

"Rains in Terry and Yoakum counties have helped the crops which we saw Tuesday", Brother Turrentine stated. "The Denver, and Wesson oil fields seem to stretch interminably southwest from Bennett field in south central Yoakum and the town of Denver City is growing very fast", he added.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Fenton Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Edwards visited relatives in Fort Worth and Dallas over the week end.

Thomas And Walker Families Attended The World's Fair

Mr. E. A. Thomas and two daughters, Miss Martha Faye and Julia Kathryn, of Grassland and Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Walker, formerly of Grassland but now residents of Pecos, New Mexico, returned on Thursday of last week from a trip of more than three weeks duration which took them as far south as Jacksonville, Florida, as far east as Washington and New York, and Chicago, Ill.

After visiting relatives in Alabama, the party proceeded to Jacksonville, Florida, and thence up the coast to Roanoke, Virginia, where they spent three days visiting Mrs. Walker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Davis.

Their next stop was Washington, where they were admitted to the galleries of the Senate Chamber through the courtesy of Senator Tom Connally while that body was considering the big lending-spending bill, and they heard part of the discussion. They saw Vice-President Garner and visited the White House. Two of the interesting sights were Mount Vernon, which they explored to their hearts' content, and the magnificent cathedral on the outskirts of Washington that has been under construction for several years and is still unfinished.

They spent nearly six days in New York City and visited the fair two days. The sight to be seen there are too numerous to mention but one of the most interesting was the Statue of Liberty on Bedloe's Island, which they visited.

From New York they went to Buffalo and Niagara Falls, whose beauty and magnificence, Mrs. Thomas says, are indescribable. They viewed the Falls from the American side.

Their journey home brought them through Chicago and St. Louis. On their way out from Texas, Mrs. Thomas says that they saw wonderful crops in Louisiana, Mississippi, and Alabama. They also saw much wonderful scenery but had paved roads practically all the time and traveled more than six thousand miles and never had even a flat on the entire trip.

Polly: Frank asked me last night how old I was.
Maudine: What did you tell him?
Polly: A lie.

Insects Have Own Tools to Bore Holes in Wood

Insect egg-laying requires many tools, of which some are surprisingly like man-made tools. The Sirex saw-fly, for example, says a writer in Pearson's London Weekly, uses a gadget very like a gimlet, with which it bores holes in wood to house its eggs. Another type of saw-fly has at its tail two tiny saws fitted with sheaths. These cut slits in stems or leaf veins in which the eggs are placed.

The ichneumon fly works hard for an hour to drill a hole more than an inch deep in tough wood. And the ichneumon fly is well aware, in a way mysterious to us, that it will strike a grub in the wood on which to lay its egg. Its young will then have living food to eat when they are hatched.

Also there is a locust which lays its eggs in the earth by boring the soil with a tool like the cobbler's awl, and working on the same principle.

The hypodermic syringe of the surgeons injects fluid under the skin; so does the sting of an insect. Actually, when we knock the bee off our skin, his sting, and part of his body, are left behind. Consequently, the bee soon dies. And that is why it was thought bees could sting once only.

But, given time, the bee can remove his sting and fly off to do more damage with it. The remarkable apparatus he uses to inject poison has barbs which attach it securely to our flesh.

The wasp, as it happens, stings a caterpillar, not to kill it, but to paralyze it—as by our anesthetics.

Pioneers in Smoking

The Encyclopedia Britannica says that the introduction of the tobacco pipe to Europe is generally ascribed to Ralph Lane, first governor of Virginia; in 1585 he brought an Indian pipe to Sir Walter Raleigh and taught that courtier how to use it. Another authority, "The Social History of Smoking," says that the honor of having first smoked a pipe of tobacco in England is divided among several claimants, Captain William Middleton, Captain Price and Captain Koet having smoked together in London. The same author states that pipes were smoked in England before 1584, the plant having been introduced into Europe about 1560 and been under cultivation in England by 1570. Raleigh first brought the practice of smoking into common use and it is probable that he was initiated in the art by Thomas Harriot, whom he had sent out to Virginia for the specific purpose of inquiring into and reporting on the natural productions, including of course tobacco.

Know Your Rodeo.

You can't hoolihan the puncher's lingo—you have to get down and twist and wrestle with it. For the benefit of the tenderfoot, these definitions should give a lift if you really want to know what the boys are talking about.

BICYCLING—The act of scratching a horse first with one foot and then with the other in the manner of riding a bicycle.

BITING THE DUST — Being thrown from a horse.

BLOWING A STIRRUP—Losing a stirrup, which disqualifies a rider.

BRONCHO—Mexican word for "mean", shortened to Bronc; a vicious, unbroken horse.

BROOMTAIL—Wild mare.

BRONC-BUSTERS — Cowboys who "break" horses.

BUCKAROO—Cowboy.

BUCKING, BUCK - JUMPING, FITTING—Gyrations of a bronc in trying to unseat rider.

BULLDOGGING — Often termed steer wrestling; throwing of a steer by his horns by a "bulldogger".

CANTLE-BOARDING — When rider scratches back of cantle.

COMMUNITY LOOP — Extra large loop thrown by roper.

after he has leaped to the steer.

HIGH ROLLER—Horse that leaps high when bucking.

HOBLED STIRRUPS — Stirrups tied under the horse's belly.

HOOHLIHANING — Leaping on the horns of a steer in bulldogging in a manner to knock him down without having to resort to twisting him down.

LOGGERING—Holding the saddle horn.

JUGHEAD—Foolish horse.

MAIL ORDER COWBOY — A tenderfoot in custom-made cowboy regalia and devoid of range experience.

MAN-KILLER — A wild horse with homicidal mania, that strikes at mounted or unmounted men.

MAVERICK — An unbranded stray.

NOSE BAG—A canvas receptacle for holding horse feed and which is strapped to the horse's head at feeding time.

OUTFIT—Equipment of rancher or rodeo contestant.

PEGGING — When bulldogger sticks steer's horn into ground.

PULLING LEATHER — Holding to saddle while riding bronc.

RODEO — Officially pronounced Ro-day-o with emphasis on the second syllable, but just plain, old ro-de-o to the cowhand; Mexican word for "round-up" or gathering of cattle on open ranges.

SCREWING DOWN — When daylight can be seen between the bronc rider and the saddle.

SOUGAN—Part of the cowboy's bed equipment, similar to a quilt.

SPADE—A Spanish bit.

TIGHT LEGGING— Holding legs tight against bronc and falling to "scratch."

WALKING-BEAMING — Sawsaw motion of ingenious buckers, wherein they land alternately on front and hind feet.

WATERHOLE—Place for liquid refreshments; similar to the "19th hole" in golf.

Wrangling—Rounding up, saddling and riding range horses. Pecos Enterprise.

Miss Edith Robertson left Tuesday to visit a friend at Clovis, New Mexico, a few days.

Top Cowhands Expected Here

Top cowhands from several Western states are expected to enter this year's Tahoka Round-Up. Since the prize list has been raised to $90 in each event, with cowboy entrance fees added, more entries are expected than last year.

Earl and Ray Grider, Taboka, who have been participating in many rodeos in this section this year, say that they will enter and that many West Texas rodeo followers will be in the arena at Tahoka.

Lynn Beutler is expecting entries from such well known riders, ropers and bulldoggers as: Chas. Broadnax, Pampa, 1938 XIT champion; Tex Doyle, Pampa, champion of 1938 Cheyenne Frontier Days; Eddie Curtis, El Reno, Okla., three times champion at Madison Square Garden, New York City; Victor Schwartz, Wichita Falls, broncriding champ at Denver and Fort Worth; Geo. Yardley, Roswell, N. M., who has placed high in many famous shows; Ken Hargis, Rutlyville, Colo.; Duane Ryan, Duncanville, Oklahoma.

Pete Hager, Perry, Okla.; Clyde Fletcher, Shattuck, Okla.; Jim Olsen, Pampa; Homer Pettigrew, Grady, N. M.; Eddie Curtis, El Reno, Okla.; Eddie Smith, veteran roper from Wellington, Texas; Hub Whiteman, Clarksville; and many others who are well known in the rodeo world.

Lieut. Stanley Roberts, wife and daughter visited here this week with his sister, Mrs. Claude Donaldson. Lieut. Roberts is with the CCC camp at Linden, over in deep East Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Clay McCoy and little son and Mrs. McCoy's sister, Mrs. C. E. McMordie, all of San Antonio, were here from Sunday to Tuesday visiting Clay's mother, Mrs. J. H. McCoy, and his sister, Mrs. Dude Holland, and other relatives.

MIGRATING BIRDS ARE ALREADY COMING SOUTH

Bird migrations from the North into Texas has already started. Long billed curlews and upland plovers have been seen in south-central Texas. They are the forerunners of a number of other species of migratory birds which include not only many species of ducks and geese but song and insectivorous birds such as robins, starlings, meadow larks, mourning doves, several varieties of sparrows, warblers of several different kinds, and buntings.

Teal, one of the smaller species of ducks are usually among the first of the ducks to migrate south each year. However, hunters generally regard them as migrating in September, October, and November. Representatives of the Game Department sighted teal as far south as Laredo in early August last year.

 "He told me to come and see you."

 "Not just now, madam. What do you want him for?"

ANTELOPES CHASE COYOTES

The woods and plains of Texas abound with unusual stories, but the most unique occurrence observed recently was in Hudspeth County, where a herd of 25 antelope was seen chasing two coyotes for several miles.

State Game Warden W. D. Stubblefield was riding with Bob Ingram of El Paso along a draw on the old Mitchell Ranch when, suddenly a coyote came up over the ridge with approximately 25 antelope in close pursuit. Stubblefield stopped his car. The antelope chased the coyotes over the other side of the ridge without noticing the men, who then drove to the top of the ridge and saw that the antelope were still pursuing the coyote. First one and then another closed in on El Coyote. Suddenly another coyote jumped up with the first coyote and Stubblefield and Ingram continued to watch the unusual pursuit for approximately a mile. Then the coyotes and the antelope made a turn towards the car. When the antelope spied it they stopped, stood for a few seconds, then took out across the hills. The coyotes also disappeared rapidly—in an other direction.

"People who have half an hour to spare usually spend it with somebody who hasn't."

Tech Red Raiders Ready To Go

Lubbock, Aug. 15.—(spcl)—Texas Tech's 1939 football campaign will amble from around the corner, rake away the moth balls and make its public appearance on Tuesday, September 5th. That's the red letter day when the Texas Tech gridiron warriors will shed their divies and don their flaming scarlet and black silks and cleated shoes for fall training.

After 16-days of training maneuvers the Red Raiders will invade El Paso and unload their deadly touchdown cannons against the Texas School of Mines in the first of their eleven major treks to the battle front.

Many of the Tech gladiators who moved into stardom last season when the Red Raiders rolled through an untied and undefeated season are straining at the hitching post and eager to start churning across the nation's gridirons.

Coaches Pete W. Cawthon and Russell "Dutchy" Smith have received many letters from the Red Raiders and here's a few lines from one by Rex Williams, the big 190-pound who played 495-minutes last season and is a 1939 All-American nominee:

"It is my ambition to play my senior year in another Bowl game. I know we are going to have some

J. C. Warrick, Lynn county boy, who is making quite a record in Oklahoma as an evangelist for the Church of the Nazarene. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Warrick and was reared at Grassland.

HEAVY LOSSES

A small boy came hurriedly down the street and halted a stranger who was walking in the same direction.

"Have you lost half a dollar?" he asked.

"Yes, yes, I believe I have!" said the stranger, feeling in his pocket. "Have you found one?"

"Oh no," replied the boy. "I just wanted to find out how many had been lost today. You make fifty-five."

Two business men were riding in the subway, sitting side by side, saying nothing but looking very worried. After many minutes one of them heaved a long deep sigh. The other looked at him for a moment and said, "You're telling me!"

rough going this season but that's the way I like it. This will be my last year and I am eager to make it my best."

The big Tech center played in the 1938 Sun Bowl game at El Paso and the 1939 Cotton Bowl classic at Dallas.

The following is from Walter "Bull" Rankin, the powerful smashing Tech fullback:

"Believe me, coacher, I'm triple ready. Have stayed in great shape all summer and can hardly wait to grab that football and start going. Have plenty of endurance because have been eating butter beans, corn bread, salt bacon, onions and drinking clabber milk all summer."

"Coach, my football temperature is hovering around 125 in the shade."

Parody Written By A Cowboy

The following parody on the fine old poem entitled, "Make Me A Child Again Just For Tonight", was picked up among the cowboys somewhere by J. Evetts Haley while he was collecting material for his history of the XIT Ranch. Haley incorporated it in that volume as a kind of prelude to the interesting and graphic story which he wrote. The parody follows.

Backward, Turn Backward

Backward, turn backward, O Time, on your wheels,

Airplanes, wagons, and automobiles.

Dress me once more in a sombrero that flaps,

Spurs, flannel shirt, boots, slicker and chaps.

Give me a sixshooter or two in my hand

And show me a steer to rope and brand.

Out where the sagebrush is dusty and gray,

Make me a cowboy again for a day.

Give me a bronc that knows how to dance,

Buckskin of color and wicked of glance,

New to the feeling of bridle and bits;

Give me a quirt that will sting where it hits,

Strap on poncho behind in roll,

And pass me the lariat so dear to my soul;

Then over the trail let me lope far away,

Make me a cowboy again for a day.

Thunder of hoofs over range as we ride,

Hissing of iron and smoking of hide,

Bellow of cattle and snort of cayuse,

Longhorns from Texas as wild as the deuce;

Midnight stampedes and milling of herds;

Yells from the cowmen, too angry for words;

Right in the midst of it all I would stay,

Make me a cowboy again for a day.

Under the star-studded canopy vast,

Campfire coffee and comfort at last;

Bacon that sizzles and crisps in the pan,

After the roundup smells good to a man.

Tales of the ranchmen and rustlers retold

Over the pipes as the embers grow cold;

These are the tunes that old memories play,

Make me a cowboy again for a day.

QUAIL PROJECTS IN SIXTEEN COUNTIES

Raising quail by providing natural cover and a sufficient food supply has reached the point where there are now projects under way in 16 counties of the state, it is announced by Phil Goodrum, Director of Research and Education for the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission. By providing sufficient food and cover for birds, it has been found they will increase appreciably without the State resorting to re-stocking.

The general plan of fencing areas ranging in sizes from one-quarter to five acres to prevent stock overgrazing the section is being followed in the majority of the counties in which the quail restoration projects are being carried on.

In the past the majority of the areas in the experimental project have proved highly successful in quail raising and it is believed certain that most of the projects now under way will do a great deal towards restocking the birds in the various localities. The counties in which the projects are being carried on are Guadalupe, Clay, Brazoria, Jasper, Orange, Polk, Tyler, Wharton, Liberty, Bell, Falls, Colorado, Milam, Lubbock, Taylor, and Harris.

DOG STORY

Some men at the club were telling dog stories after a day's shooting. After some time, when the tales had got very "tall," one little man, who had been quite silent, said:

"I have a dog that makes all yours seem foolish. I generally feed him myself after dinner, but the other day a friend dropped in and the poor animal slipped my mind. After the meal we went into the garden. The dog scratched up a flower and laid it at my feet, with the most yearning look in his eyes. It was a forget-me-not."

Early Cowboy's Success Depended On Cooking as Well As On Riding

(Plainview Herald)
It used to be that a cowboy was not worthy of the title until he could cook sourdough biscuits, say men who rode the range before the turn of the century.

An hombre might be able to bust broncs all day long, rope and tie with the best of them and still be useless around a camp if he couldn't cook.

"A cowboy learned to cook, or else," declared Charles F. Vincent of Plainview, with the XIT from 1894 to 1898. "A man just wasn't a cowboy until he could cook in some fashion."

"Sometimes we would be by ourselves in camp for days at a time and it was cook or eat it raw and we cooked," said Vincent, adding that he was once alone in a cow camp for fifteen days without seeing a human face.

"No, I didn't see my own face," Vincent said, "for a mirror wasn't among my equipment. I once went eighteen months without shaving."

Many are the tales among early day cowmen regarding sourdough bread. Most of the fellows who pounded leather in the 90's and live in this section are still active. Probably it is because a better reason is lacking, but ask one of them the secret of his good health and most times he'll say it's due to his diet of sourdough—with plenty of "everything on the range" in it.

Appetites, But No Stomach

Cowboys didn't have stomachs, they just had appetites, old time cowmen declare. O. R. Martine recalls the time when the cook found his dishrag in the sourdough barrel. Martine also tells of an incident when the cook noticed that his sourdough "wiggled" when he poured it into the flour to make bread. The "wiggles" was a water-dog that had found its way into the sourdough barrel after the cook dipped up water from an open tank to add to the sourdough.

But it was fine bread, serving those who pioneered in prairie schooners as did hardtack those who pioneered before the mast.

Ace Hooper, with the XIT from 1892 to 1894, and now a resident eight miles northwest of Hale Center, probably holds the "meal a minute" title for the range—if there were such a title. Hooper who took his cooking in his range experience, said he once prepared breakfast for 44 men in 40 minutes. "I served them beefsteaks, sourdough biscuits and coffee," Hooper said.

Will Martine of Plainview was with the XIT from 1888 to 1890 and became a sourdough biscuit addict. The Plainview man eats sourdough biscuits once or twice a week, has been making the cowman's staff of life for more than fifty years and is sure fire with every batch he turns out.

Sourdough Recipe

In giving his recipe for sourdough bread Martine cautions the novice not to be "too darn clean" if success is expected.

Following is Martine's sourdough recipe.

"Take flour and water with enough sugar to sweeten, so that it will ferment good within 12 or 24 hours, depending on the weather. Mix into a batter-like consistency and place in a crock or jar (crock preferred) and keep covered in a warm place—not too warm."

"When fermented, add flour and water so that you will have a reasonably stiff dough; knead sensibly; make into biscuits, smear with grease, set aside for a time, then bake in a hot oven."

Martine said never to use all of the batter. "Leave some in the vessel, stir in more flour, a little sugar and water, and you are ready for the next time."

"You don't want to be too darn clean about sourdough vessels, or object to the odor. Some of the best sourdough cooks never wash the inside of the vessel where the dough ferments, no matter how strong the aroma. Practice makes perfect."

The usual range menu consisted of sowbelly or beefsteaks, frijoles, lick (syrup), prunes, sourdough biscuits and coffee.

O. R. Martine, also a former cowboy cook, said his recipe for coffee was one package of Arbuckle's boiled until it would float a rock. "Drop a rock in the coffee pot and if it sinks, the coffee is too weak," Martine said.

The usual utensils used around a chuckwagon were a pot rack consisting of three rods, two driven upright in the ground and one across them, a three-gallon coffee pot, several dutch ovens, dishpan, tin plates, cups and knives and forks.

A "squirrel kettle", used for cooking stew, frequently was among the cooking utensils, cowboys say.

TAHOKA BAPTISTS ATTEND Y. W. A. ENCAMPMENT

Misses Beryl Robertson, Jodie Bob Nevill, O'Berla Forrester and her cousin, Miss Aliene Hughes of Albuquerque, New Mexico, and Mrs. George A. Dale attended the Y. W. A. encampment at Cita Canyon this week. They left here Monday morning and returned Wednesday night.

They enjoyed both the outing and the program very much.

LYNN COUNTY CLUB GIRLS WIN AWARDS

Miss Marcelene Stephens of the Midway 4-H Club was presented the Gold Star medal by Miss Maurine M. Natt, county home demonstration agent, at the meeting of the county council here last Saturday.

This means that Miss Stephens won the distinction recently of being one of the 147 outstanding 4-H club girls in the entire state. This is quite an achievement and distinction, since it must be remembered that there are thousands of club girls in the state.

At the short course given at the Texas A. & M. College recently, a tea and party was given honoring these 147 girls. At least 1,500 girls were present, Miss McNatt says.

Miss Stephens had a place on the county council program here last Saturday, making a report of her trip to the A. & M. College and of the Short Course there which she attended. Her expenses on this trip were paid partly by the county council and partly by the members of her own club at Midway, for which she expressed her gratitude.

Miss Stephens is to be congratulated upon her faithfulness and efficiency as a 4-H club member and as the winner of a Gold Star Award.

DELEGATES TO H. D. CLUB CONVENTION ELECTED

At a meeting of the County Electing Committee held in the county courtroom here last Saturday afternoon, Mrs. Harold Edwards of Tahoka, Mrs. Doyle Terry of New Lynn, and Mrs. C. C. Coffee of T-Bar were selected as the county delegates from Lynn county to the State Home Demonstration Convention to be held in Lubbock on September 7-8-9.

Alternates are Mrs. A. A. Lawson of Grassland, Mrs. Hubert Tankersley of West Point, and Mrs. Graham Hensley of Draw.

Miss McNatt states that these are voting delegates and makes it clear that every club woman in the county is invited to attend the convention although none but the delegates will be allowed to vote.

These delegates were selected from the club membership of the county and not from the council membership.

The electing committee was composed of the home demonstration club presidents, the council delegate, and the council officers.

WAYSIDE ORGANIZES DEMONSTRATION CLUB

"The extension service had its beginning back in 1914 when the Smith-Lever act was passed," stated Miss Maurine McNatt, home demonstration agent, at a meeting of the Wayside women, Tuesday August 15, at the home of Mrs. R. L. Johnson.

The objective of the Extension Service as expressed in the Smith-Lever act is to carry useful and practical information on subjects relating to agriculture and home economics to the families on ranches and farmsteads in the counties of Texas by establishing demonstrations in better home making, farming and ranching."

This group organized a home demonstration club with the following officers; President, Mrs. R. L. Johnson, Vice-President; Mrs. V. E. Ranson, Secretary-Treasurer; Mrs. M. R. Grammel, Mrs. R. W. Jackson was elected reporter, Mrs. T. G. Dulin volunteered to be living room demonstrator, Mrs. Dayton Short was elected council delegate and Mrs. R. W. Jackson will be council alternate.

The regular meeting days will be the second and fourth Tuesdays.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. W. A. Darby Monday August 21, at 2:30 p. m.

MRS. HAYNES OPENS FASHION SHOP HERE

Mrs. Hope Haynes, late of Haskell, is opening a women's ready-to-wear shop, to be known as The Fashion Shop, in the building next door to the Tahoka Bakery across the street immediately east of the Tahoka Hotel.

This is to be a very neat and attractive shop, the color scheme being sand and brown.

Mrs. Haynes has had previous experience in this kind of business, in both Abilene and Haskell. In Abilene, she was department head for the Fashions in the Montgomery Ward store.

Mr. Haynes, her husband, is the principal of the New Home high school.

METHODIST CHURCH
Reception of members and infant baptism Sunday Morning. There are a number of new people coming into our community whom we should make welcome to our church. Brother Smith remarked upon the large number of new faces he saw in the congregation. We are glad to have the new people which is a sign of growth, but we do not want to lose the old, and your absence from the services is noticed.

Our Board of Education is looking forward to a working organization in the church school this fall. Will you be one to line up in active service?

Many have enquired of the success of the meeting. There were many names of new members obtained, but the success of the meeting will largely be seen in the new life manifested in the regular services. If the meeting warmed your own heart let your zeal work through the regular services and personal visitations. Geo. E. Turentine.

CLUB WOMAN IMPROVES HER BREAD MAKING

(By Miss Maurine McNatt)
According to Mrs. H. M. Snowden, cooperater in the Tahoka home demonstration club, hard wheat flour is best for making yeast breads.

In the Snowden home hot rolls have been unpopular with the family, especially the husband, until recently. "My husband would hardly eat hot rolls until I began using hard wheat flour. The quality of the rolls has improved so much that the entire family now enjoy them," stated Mrs. Snowden at a recent meeting of her club.

MISS ERNESTINE HERRING AND WOODROW WALKER TO WED

Miss Joan Ernestine Herring, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Herring of Lubbock and teacher in the public school here for the past two years, is to become the bride of Woodrow Walker, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Walker, for the past two or three years connected with the Craft Tailor Shop here, at eight o'clock next Tuesday morning, August 22, at the home of the bride's parents at 1916 Main Street, Lubbock, according to announcement made at a coffee given by the fiancée's mother at the Hilton Hotel last Saturday morning.

Miss Herring was reared in Lubbock and is a graduate of the Texas Technological College.

Mr. Walker was reared here, his parents being pioneer settlers of Lynn county and residing here until two years ago when they removed to Lubbock.

The couple will make their home in Tahoka.

CAN YOUR COOKER'S GAUGE STAND THE TEST?

(By Miss Maurine McNatt)
Last year home demonstration women in Lynn county as well as those of the entire state tested many pressure cooker gauges.

They learned that the age of a gauge has nothing to do with accuracy. Gauges which had been used twenty years or more were sometimes correct while those used only a few months or even some which were purchased to replace their old ones were not accurate.

In handling this delicate mechanism, it can easily get out of order; therefore, for absolute safety, it should be tested once a year. No gauge is safe to use if it is more than two pounds off. One should never begin a canning season without definitely knowing that their gauge can stand the test. Food spoilage and this deadly botulism poisoning which scientists have only recently learned much about are totally unnecessary. If instruments given in government bulletins are carefully followed and the gauge is accurate, there should be no canning worries nor danger of poisoning the family.

A maximum testing thermometer is needed to test a gauge. Each club should check this instrument out of the home demonstration's office immediately and do this work.

REVIVAL MEETING STARTS AT NAZARENE CHURCH SUNDAY

Revival services to continue two weeks will begin at the Church of the Nazarene here next Sunday morning, according to Rev. Miss Betty Ellis, the pastor.

Rev. C. M. Whitley of Ropesville will be the evangelist and Miss Ellis herself will lead the song services. Miss Lona Webb will be the pianist.

Services will be held at 10 a. m. and 8:30 p. m. each week day, and Rev. Whitley requests that the young folks meet at 8:15 each evening for a special message.

Miss Ellis and the entire church extends a cordial invitation to every one to attend. The music will be excellent and the evangelist will do some old-fashioned Holiness preaching.

Some of the subjects to be discussed have been announced as follows: The Meanest Man in Tahoka; The Three Ugliest Women in Tahoka; The Full Bottle; The Four Fatal Steps; The Fatal Current; The Two Worldians; and The Double-Minded Man.

TAHOKA EPWORTH LEAGUE

The Tahoka Epworth League met Sunday night at the Methodist church to re-organize.

The following officers were elected:

Travis Shelton, President, Lynette Tinsley, Vice President, Leta Francis Wyatt, Secretary-Treasurer, Wanda Lee Tinsley, Reporter.

Since the Methodist meeting has been in progress we have had quite a few young people attending. We have greatly appreciated the visitors we have had from the various churches over town and we hope they will continue coming, but we need more Methodists also.

Mrs. Daniels and Mrs. Davis are our adult sponsors so remember 7:30 Sunday night at the Methodist church. Let's all be there.

Scallop: When Fanny married Nathan she called him the light of her life.

Stingo: Did she

Scallop: Yes, and evidently she meant it, for he's never allowed to go out.

Customer: Somehow I don't like the looks of that trout.

Dealer: Well, lady, if it's looks you're after, why don't you buy gold fish? They're popular, you know.

MIDWAY 4-H CLUB

"Good posture is essential at all times", Miss Maurine McNatt, home demonstration agent, told members of the Midway 4-H Club Thursday, August 10, at the home of Marceline Stephens.

The girl who has good posture and carries herself correctly, moving with grace and charm, makes a good impression, has poise, and inspires confidence, wears her clothes to better advantage, is more distinguished looking, and feels better than the girl who does not have good posture.

The next meeting will be August 24 at the home of the sponsor, Mrs. R. L. Littlepage.

NEW LYNN EPWORTH LEAGUE MEETS

The New Lynn Epworth League met at 8:00 o'clock Sunday evening the subject being "Inheritance". This interesting subject was discussed by Mr. Ben Young, Miss Alvira Wilke, Mr. Eldon Young and Miss Pauline Perkins.

Next Sunday evening the subject will be the "Surrounding World" and Miss Elva Stone will have charge of the program.

We extend a cordial invitation to everyone to attend our League each Sunday evening.

Mrs. Hazel Bennett and two children, Ethel Margaret and Mackie, are here visiting Mrs. Bennett's mother, Mrs. Jack Alley. They now reside at Nocona, Texas.

McLAURIN FAMILY HAD ANNUAL REUNION

A family reunion of the McLaurin families was held recently at Lued's encampment ground.

The celebration which is held annually was attended by about one hundred persons.

Lynn county was well represented with members of this prominent family.

BEARD'S HAVE VISITORS FROM ARKANSAS

Mr. and Mrs. Emory Gaines, their son Park Gaines and his wife, and a second son, Sam Gaines, all of Lead Hill, Arkansas, arrived Monday to spend the week here visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Beard of Redwine and their children.

Mrs. Gaines is a sister of Mr. Beard and this is the second time the two had met for forty-nine years. Last year Mr. and Mrs. Beard decided they would visit their relatives in Arkansas and that was the first time in forty-eight years the brother and the sister had seen each other. John Beard says that he saw his aunt for the first time Monday.

By the way, John was not only delighted to see his aunt but he was also greatly pleased with some tomatoes which she brought along. These tomatoes were grown up there somewhere in the hills of northern Arkansas and he says they were the best he ever sank his teeth into.

Mrs. F. H. Hancock who formerly lived on her farm north of town has moved a small residence to a lot adjoining the W. O. Henderson residence and has become a citizen of Tahoka. Many friends will be glad to have Mrs. Hancock here among us.

Mrs. Winter Knight and sons returned Tuesday night from spending their Summer vacation in Ruidoso, New Mexico.

Showers for Brides Are Among Ancient Customs

Bridal showers are said to have originated many centuries ago when a poor miller wished to marry but could not afford to because of his benefices to others in his village. So they gathered together and contributed to his home, enabling him to wed the lady of his choice, writes Rae Lewis in "The Washington Post".

Likewise dowries and trousseaux are habits of long standing, although the dowry has faded from common usage in many countries. Girls delight, though, in assembling finely made linens and clothing in their "hope chests." The old idea, however, was that every stitch in the trousseau must be made by the bride herself. Gifts to the bride from the groom are said to have their origin in the ancient purchase price for the maiden.

In the bride's apparel, the tradition of orange blossoms goes back centuries to the "golden apples" presented Hebe when she married Zeus, and they are liked because of their beauty and fragrance, as well as the fact that the plant bears fruit and blossom at the same time.

Veils date back to the days when a woman must be kept veiled and seen by no man until her marriage, when her husband had the privilege of raising it to see her beauty.

Of course, there is a language of flowers and some old books have some absorbing descriptions of eloquent bouquets used in wooing. A few people like to select appropriate flowers or combinations for the bride to carry, but most of the lingering customs concerning bouquets are in the bride's throwing it after the ceremony, the girl catching it to be the next bride.

Rings, of course, have been symbols of unity for centuries.

Flea Is a Good Jumper

—800 Times Own Length
A flea is no good at running, and not very much at walking, but it can jump. The record high jump for a flea is about seven and a quarter inches, and it makes a long jump of fourteen inches.

When you think of the size of a flea, observes a writer in London Answers Magazine, 'tis is pretty good work. It means that it can jump something like 800 times its own length. If a man could do that, his record long jump would be well over three-quarters of a mile.

In one respect, fleas are unique. All other insects are either more or less rounded, like caterpillars and beetles, or flattened, like butterflies and cockroaches, but fleas are squeezed sideways. That suits their purpose very well, as they mostly make their homes on fur-bearing animals, and their shape enables them to slip about and dodge between the hairs.

When the flea takes its dinner it drives its proboscis home, right up to the hilt. Down goes its head and up goes its tail, just like a swan feeding on the river bottom. It then uses a special little pump inside it to bring up the blood. When at last satisfied, it leans back, tugs, and out comes the proboscis with a jerk.

Gail Transfers To Lamesa School

County Commissioner Waldo McLaurin of O'Donnell, who takes a lively interest in school as well as roads, reports that recently all the high school pupils of the Gall school district, which includes practically all of such pupils in Borden county, were transferred to Lamesa, thirty-five miles away. They will be transported to Lamesa by bus.

Gall is the county seat of Borden county and is one of the oldest towns in this section of the state. Thirty and forty years ago it was the chief trading point for a large territory and was a "live-wire" town. It has not been so prosperous in recent years. However, a neat and attractive little court house was recently constructed there. It is situated on Highway No. 15 about midway between Lamesa and Snyder.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Smith and Bill King returned Tuesday night from a vacation trip out into New Mexico. They spent nearly a week out there fishing in the Red River. Two days they went fishing with Otho Thomas and Joe Heare near Eagle Nest. Boyd says he caught a few mountain trout but they were hard to get. The entire party had a great outing.

Rev. and Mrs. Ben Hardy and little granddaughter, Elma Nell Eubank left Sunday for Lake Kemp, near Seymour, where they will be the guests of the C. M. Randal's at their Summer home there. Mrs. Randal is Mrs. Hardy's sister, but the Hardys have many good friends in that section and have written that they are having a wonderful vacation.

For quick results, try a classified ad. in The News.

W. O. Henderson returned on Thursday of last week from the sanitarium where he spent a few days taking treatment and is able to be on the street. When taken to the hospital it was feared that an operation would be necessary, but his trouble yielded to treatment.

The little six-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Emory Murry of Draw suffered painful bruising and lacerations of the end of his right middle finger when it was caught in the machinery while riding on the tractor with his father a few days ago.

Tech Red Raiders Ready To Go

Lubbock, Aug. 15.—(spcl)—Tech's 1939 football campaign will amble from around the corner, rake away the moth balls and make its public appearance on Tuesday, September 5th. That's the red letter day when the Texas Tech gridiron warriors will shed their civies and don their flaming scarlet and black silks and cleated shoes for fall training.

After 16-days of training maneuvers the Red Raiders will invade El Paso and unload their deadly touchdown cannons against the Texas School of Mines in the first of their eleven major treks to the battle front.

Many of the Tech gladiators who moved into stardom last season when the Red Raiders rolled through an untied and undefeated season are straining at the hitching post and eager to start churning across the nation's gridirons.

Coaches Pete W. Cawthon and Russell "Dutchy" Smith have received many letters from the Red Raiders and here's a few lines from one by Rex Williams, the big 190-pound who played 495-minutes last season and is a 1939 All-American nominee:

"It is my ambition to play my senior year in another Bowl game. I know we are going to have some

J. C. Warrick, Lynn county boy, who is making quite a record in Oklahoma as an evangelist for the Church of the Nazarene. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Warrick and was reared at Grassland.

HEAVY LOSSES

A small boy came hurriedly down the street and halted a stranger who was walking in the same direction.

"Have you lost half a dollar?" he asked.

"Yes, yes, I believe I have!" said the stranger, feeling in his pocket.

"Have you found one?"

"Oh no," replied the boy. "I just wanted to find out how many had been lost today. You make fifty-five."

Two business men were riding in the subway, sitting side by side, saying nothing but looking very worried. After many minutes one of them heaved a long deep sigh. The other looked at him for a moment and said, "You're telling me!"

rough going this season but that's the way I like it. This will be my last year and I am eager to make it my best."

The big Tech center played in the 1938 Sun Bowl game at El Paso and the 1939 Cotton Bowl classic at Dallas.

The following is from Walter "Bull" Rankin, the powerful smashing Tech fullback:

"Believe me, coacher, I'm triple ready. Have stayed in great shape all summer and can hardly wait to grab that football and start going. Have plenty of endurance because have been eating butter beans, corn bread, salt bacon, onions and drinking clabber milk all summer."

"Coach, my football temperature is hovering around 125 in the shade."

Parody Written By A Cowboy

The following parody on the fine old poem entitled, "Make Me A Child Again Just For Tonight", was picked up among the cowboys somewhere by J. Evetts Haley while he was collecting material for his history of the XIT Ranch. Haley incorporated it in that volume as a kind of prelude to the interesting and graphic story which he wrote. The parody follows.

Backward, Turn Backward
Backward, turn backward, O Time, on your wheels,

Airplanes, wagons, and automobiles,

Dress me once more in a sombrero that flaps,

Spurs, flannel shirt, boots, slicker and chaps.

Give me a sixshooter or two in my hand

And show me a steer to rope and brand.

Out where the sagebrush is dusty and gray,

Make me a cowboy again for a day.

Give me a bronc that knows how to dance,

Buckskin of color and wicked of glance,

New to the feeling of bride and bits;

Give me a quirt that will sting where it hits,

Strap on poncho behind in roll,

And pass me the lariat so dear to my soul;

Then over the trail let me lope far away.

Make me a cowboy again for a day.

Thunder of hoofs over range as we ride,

Hissing of iron and smoking of hide,

Bellow of cattle and snort of cayuse,

Longhorns from Texas as wild as the deuce;

Midnight stampedes and milking of herds;

Yells from the cowmen, too angry for words;

Right in the midst of it all I would stay,

Make me a cowboy again for a day.

Under the star-studded canopy vast,

Campfire coffee and comfort at last;

Bacon that sizzles and crisps in the pan,

After the roundup smells good to a man.

Tales of the ranchmen and rustlers retold

Over the pipes as the embers grow cold;

These are the tunes that old memories play,

Make me a cowboy again for a day.

QUAIL PROJECTS IN SIXTEEN COUNTIES

Raising quail by providing natural cover and a sufficient food supply has reached the point where there are now projects under way in 16 counties of the state, it is announced by Phil Goodrum, Director of Research and Education for the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission. By providing sufficient food and cover for birds, it has been found they will increase appreciably without the State resorting to re-stocking.

The general plan of fencing areas ranging in sizes from one-quarter to five acres to prevent stock overgrazing the section is being followed in the majority of the counties in which the quail restoration projects are being carried on.

In the past the majority of the areas in the experimental project have proved highly successful in quail raising and it is believed certain that most of the projects now under way will do a great deal towards restocking the birds in the various localities. The counties in which the projects are being carried on are Guadalupe, Clay, Brazoria, Jasper, Orange, Polk, Tyler, Wharton, Liberty, Bell, Falls, Colorado, Milam, Lubbock, Taylor, and Harris.

DOG STORY

Some men at the club were telling dog stories after a day's shooting. After some time, when the tales had got very "tall," one little man, who had been quite silent, said:

"I have a dog that makes all yours seem foolish. I generally feed him myself after dinner, but the other day a friend dropped in and the poor animal slipped my mind. After the meal we went into the garden. The dog scratched up a flower and laid it at my feet, with the most yearning look in his eyes. It was a forget-me-not."

Early Cowboy's Success Depended On Cooking as Well As On Riding

(Plainview Herald)
It used to be that a cowboy was not worthy of the title until he could cook sourdough biscuits, say men who rode the range before the turn of the century.

An hombre might be able to bust broncs all day long, rope and tie with the best of them and still be useless around a camp if he couldn't cook.

"A cowboy learned to cook, or else," declared Charles F. Vincent of Plainview, with the XIT from 1894 to 1898. "A man just wasn't a cowboy until he could cook in some fashion."

"Sometimes we would be by ourselves in camp for days at a time and it was cook or eat it raw and we cooked," said Vincent, adding that he was once alone in a cow camp for fifteen days without seeing a human face.

"No, I didn't see my own face," Vincent said, "for a mirror wasn't among my equipment. I once went eighteen months without shaving."

Many are the tales among early day cowmen regarding sourdough bread. Most of the fellows who pounded leather in the 90's and live in this section are still active. Probably it is because a better reason is lacking, but ask one of them the secret of his good health and most times he'll say it's due to his diet of sourdough—with plenty of "everything on the range" in it.

Appetites, But No Stomach
Cowboys didn't have stomachs, they just had appetites, old time cowmen declare. O. R. Martine recalls the time when the cook found his dishrag in the sourdough barrel. Martine also tells of an incident when the cook noticed that his sourdough "wiggled" when he poured it into the flour to make bread. The "wiggles" was a water-dog that had found its way into the sourdough barrel after the cook dipped up water from an open tank to add to the sourdough.

But it was fine bread, serving those who pioneered in prairie schooners as did hardtack those who pioneered before the mast.

Ace Hooper, with the XIT from 1892 to 1894, and now a resident eight miles northwest of Hale Center, probably holds the "meal a minute" title for the range—if there were such a title. Hooper who took his cooking in his range experience, said he once prepared breakfast for 44 men in 40 minutes. "I served them beefsteaks, sourdough biscuits and coffee," Hooper said.

Will Martine of Plainview was with the XIT from 1888 to 1890 and became a sourdough biscuit addict. The Plainview man eats sourdough biscuits once or twice a week, has been making the cowboy's staff of life for more than fifty years and is sure fire with every batch he turns out.

Sourdough Recipe
In giving his recipe for sourdough bread Martine cautions the novice not to be "too darn clean" if success is expected.

Following is Martine's sourdough recipe.
"Take flour and water with enough sugar to sweeten, so that it will ferment good within 12 or 24 hours, depending on the weather. Mix into a batter-like consistency and place in a crock or jar (crock preferred) and keep covered in a warm place—not too warm."

"When fermented, add flour and water so that you will have a reasonably stiff dough; knead sensibly; make into biscuits, smear with grease, set aside for a time, then bake in a hot oven."

Martine said never to use all of the batter. "Leave some in the vessel, stir in more flour, a little sugar and water, and you are ready for the next time."

"You don't want to be too darn clean about sourdough vessels, or object to the odor. Some of the best sourdough cooks never wash the inside of the vessel where the dough ferments, no matter how strong the aroma. Practice makes perfect."

The usual range menu consisted of sowbelly or beefsteaks, frijoles, lick (syrup), prunes, sourdough biscuits and coffee.

O. R. Martine, also a former cowboy cook, said his recipe for coffee was one package of Arbuckle's boiled until it would float a rock. "Drop a rock in the coffee pot and if it sinks, the coffee is too weak," Martine said.

The usual utensils used around a chuckwagon were a pot rack consisting of three rods, two driven upright in the ground and one across them, a three-gallon coffee pot, several dutch ovens, dishpan, tin plates, cups and knives and forks.

A "squirrel kettle," used for cooking stew, frequently was among the cooking utensils, cowboys say.

TAHOKA BAPTISTS ATTEND Y. W. A. ENCAMPMENT

Misses Beryl Robertson, Jodie Bob Nevill, O'Berla Porrester and her cousin, Miss Allene Hughes of Albuquerque, New Mexico, and Mrs. George A. Dale attended the Y. W. A. encampment at Cita Canyon this week. They left here Monday morning and returned Wednesday night.

They enjoyed both the outing and the program very much.

LYNN COUNTY CLUB GIRLS WIN AWARDS

Miss Marcelene Stephens of the Midway 4-H Club was presented the Gold Star medal by Miss Maurine L. Natt, county home demonstration agent, at the meeting of the county council here last Saturday.

This means that Miss Stephens won the distinction recently of being one of the 147 outstanding 4-H club girls in the entire state. This is quite an achievement and distinction, since it must be remembered that there are thousands of club girls in the state.

At the short course given at the Texas A. & M. College recently, a tea and party was given honoring these 147 girls. At least 1,500 girls were present, Miss McNatt says.

Miss Stephens had a place on the county council program here last Saturday, making a report of her trip to the A. & M. College and of the Short Course there which she attended. Her expenses on this trip were paid partly by the county council and partly by the members of her own club at Midway, for which she expressed her gratitude.

Miss Stephens is to be congratulated upon her faithfulness and efficiency as a 4-H club member and as the winner of a Gold Star Award.

DELEGATES TO H. D. CLUB CONVENTION ELECTED

At a meeting of the County Electing Committee held in the county courtroom here last Saturday afternoon, Mrs. Harold Edwards of Tahoka, Mrs. Doyle Terry of New Lynn, and Mrs. C. C. Coffee of T-Bar were selected as the county delegates from Lynn county to the State Home Demonstration Convention to be held in Lubbock on September 7-8-9.

Alternates are Mrs. A. A. Lawson of Grassland, Mrs. Hubert Tankersley of West Point, and Mrs. Graham Hensley of Draw.

Miss McNatt states that these are voting delegates and makes it clear that every club woman in the county is invited to attend the convention although none but the delegates will be allowed to vote.

These delegates were selected from the club membership of the county and not from the council membership.

The electing committee was composed of the home demonstration club presidents, the council delegate, and the council officers.

WAYSIDE ORGANIZES DEMONSTRATION CLUB

"The extension service had its beginning back in 1914 when the Smith-Lever act was passed," stated Miss Maurine McNatt, home demonstration agent, at a meeting of the Wayside women, Tuesday August 15, at the home of Mrs. R. L. Johnson.

The objective of the Extension Service as expressed in the Smith-Lever act is to carry useful and practical information on subjects relating to agriculture and home economics to the families on ranches and farmsteads in the counties of Texas by establishing demonstrations in better home making, farming and ranching."

This group organized a home demonstration club with the following officers: President, Mrs. R. L. Johnson, Vice-President; Mrs. V. E. Rauston, Secretary-Treasurer; Mrs. M. R. Grammel, Mrs. R. W. Jackson was elected reporter, Mrs. T. G. Dulin volunteered to be living room demonstrator, Mrs. Dayton Short was elected council delegate and Mrs. R. W. Jackson will be council alternate.

The regular meeting days will be the second and fourth Tuesdays.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. W. A. Darby Monday August 21, at 2:30 p. m.

MRS. HAYNES OPENS FASHION SHOP HERE

Mrs. Hope Haynes, late of Haskell, is opening a women's ready-to-wear shop, to be known as The Fashion Shop, in the building next door to the Tahoka Bakery across the street immediately east of the Tahoka Hotel.

This is to be a very neat and attractive shop, the color scheme being sand and brown.

Mrs. Haynes has had previous experience in this kind of business, in both Abilene and Haskell. In Abilene, she was department head for the Fashions in the Montgomery Ward store.

Mr. Haynes, her husband, is the principal of the New Home high school.

Lubbock, August 15—There will be plenty of shade for everyone attending the Twenty-sixth annual Panhandle South Plains Fair, September 25 to 30, as can be seen in the picture above. In the background is the $25,000.00 merchants building, and reconstructed women's building.

Everything has been planned for the convenience of fair patrons. New and reconstructed walkways spiderweb the entire area. Drinking fountains have been installed at convenient places over the grounds. New and modern rest rooms for both men and women have been built.

More than 140 huge trees furnish ample shade on the sunniest days, as well as add attractiveness and beauty to the Fair grounds. Truck load after truck load of call-che has been hauled, dumped, spread and rolled to eliminate any possible wet weather hazards.

The Fair grounds have a "front yard" carpeted with heavy Bermuda grass, as can be noted by the picture. With all these improvements, there is plenty of picnicking and resting places on the grounds. For the convenience of those who park their automobiles inside the Fair grounds, the parking lanes have been widened considerably.

Hundreds of gallons of paint have been used in giving all the frame buildings two coats of white paint. The grandstand has been painted a bright silver. This face-lifting job, in addition to the hundreds of dollars spent in landscaping and other conveniences, promotes a most restful atmosphere.

Seminole Host To Peace Officers

Sheriff B. L. Parker, Deputy Ed Sanders, District Attorney Truett Smith, and County Attorney Rollin McCord, all of this county, attended the second meeting of the West Texas Law Enforcement Association held at Seminole Tuesday afternoon.

More than a hundred peace officers and other law enforcement officials were present. The meeting was opened in the Gaines county court house, where there was a round-table discussion of the purposes and objectives of the association and the best means of attaining them. An address was made by Sheriff Bill Adams of Amarillo who is president of the Texas Sheriffs Association. Following the meeting in the court house, the members repaired to the ranch of John Sartin, sheriff of Gaines county, where they enjoyed a feast of barbecued beef and accessories.

The West Texas Law Enforcement Association was organized at a meeting held in the T-Bar pasture here on July 17, at which time B. L. Parker, sheriff of Lynn county was elected president and Truett Smith of Tahoka, district attorney of the 106th judicial district, was elected secretary.

The purpose of the organization is to bring about closer cooperation of the law-enforcement agencies in this section of the state with a view to reducing the frequency of cattle thefts and other forms of thievery. Thirty-eight counties were represented in the meeting Tuesday, with officers present from as far away as El Paso and Amarillo.

Former Residents of Eastland Will Meet

Former residents of Eastland county will hold their fourth annual reunion in MacKenzie State Park in Lubbock on the fourth Sunday in this month, August 26, according to announcement made by W. S. Anglin, the secretary. Dr. J. D. Moorehead of Meadow is the president of the organization.

A basket picnic will be enjoyed at the noon hour.

Every former resident of Eastland county now residing in this section of the state is invited.

Supt. L. A. Woods Will Speak Here

Hon. Tom Garrard had a communication from State Superintendent L. A. Wood a few days ago stating that he would be here some time during the day on Thursday, August 24.

He will spend the night here and on the next day he and Mr. Garrard will go to Barstow, where they will speak in the dedication of a school building.

Rev. Philip McGahey, pastor of the First Baptist Church at Breckenridge, was a pleasant caller at the News office Tuesday morning. He is engaged in conducting a successful revival meeting at Wilson, where he was pastor several years ago. He has been at Breckenridge now three years.

Hub Clark and daughter, Miss Eloise, returned Tuesday from a two weeks visit with relatives at Elk City, Oklahoma.

Ernest Harvey of Dallas is here this week visiting his uncle, W. M. Cain, and family.

Milt Good Will Be Announcer

Milt Good, pioneer West Texas rancher and a follower of rodeos for many years, will be announcer of the show at the Tahoka Round-Up rodeo arena this year.

Good is an experienced announcer, knows the cowboys and the rodeo game, and will add much to the interest of the performance.

The Texas Company will furnish a sound truck for all performances, Conway Clingan, local agent, having made arrangements for the truck.

Mrs. A. L. Smith was brought home from the Lubbock Sanitarium Tuesday and is reputed to be recovering most satisfactorily. She underwent a major operation a couple of weeks ago.

LYNN COUNTY NEWS STARTS
THIRTY-SIXTH YEAR

failed occasionally for one reason or another to get out the regular weekly edition. This accounts for the loss of still more time in the completion of a full volume of the paper.

All this serves to show the difficulties that were encountered by the early publishers in keeping the baby alive, but by careful attention and nursing they succeeded in doing so, and it is still kicking and crying lustily now and then, and this week, nominally, it begins its thirty-sixth year.

If the present editor can keep it going for another thirty-five years, with the help and encouragement of the rest of the force, then possibly he will be willing to turn it over entirely to the "force"—for, without telling our age, we must confess that 35 years more would put us away up yander.

So, with the hope that you people continue to kick in pretty regularly with your ads and your subscriptions during the next twelve months, we wish you a good time at the round-up next week and hope you have lots of cotton to pick and lots of maize heads to cut this fall, if you are a farmer, and lots of customers with plenty of money to spend, if you are a business man; yes, and lots of new dresses and hats and things, if you are one of our lady readers. And may all you young folks get married and live happy ever after.

These are the wishes the News extends to you as it begins a new year of service. So long—The Publishers, especially the Senior Editor.

Canyon News Puts

One of the finest special editions ever to come to the exchange desk of The News is the recent Canyon News Historical Edition celebrating that town's 50th anniversary.

The edition contained 84 pages well filled with historical and development articles, photographs, and advertising.

Clyde Warwick, the editor, who is also secretary of the Panhandle Press Association, has been at the head of the paper 29 years. Publication of this special is his greatest of many great achievements in the small town newspaper field.

Mrs. Knight Raises
Fine Muskmelons

Mrs. J. H. Knight, who lives a few miles north of town, brought to the News office Tuesday a specimen of the muskmelons she is raising on her garden this summer.

Mrs. Knight says this melon weighed 16 pounds, and she has many more of similar size and smaller. She started raising these melons 15 years ago, and from the seed of each year's crop she has made her next year's plantings, thus keeping the melons unmixed with any other strain.

We have not yet cut the melon she left with the News office, but it looks good.

Snyder's Rodeo
Boosters In City

A party of Rodeo boosters accompanied by a band put on a fifteen-minute program on the courthouse lawn just before twelve o'clock Monday advertising the rodeo which was to be staged in Snyder today and tomorrow, Friday and Saturday, August 18-19. The party took the noon-day lunch here.

The Snyder Rodeo promised to be a good one, with all the usual features. More than $800 in cash prizes were being offered.

dians, arrow-making, buffalo dance, and "Near'er My God to Thee" in Indian sign language.

Big Parade Is Planned
The Indians will also head the parade each day, which will also be participated in by the Tahoka band, cowboys and cowgirls, merchants and organizations' floats, decorated cars, etc.

The parade is scheduled to start from the grade school building each day at 12:45 o'clock.

Program of Speeches
Each morning at 10:30, on the court house lawn, there will be a program of speaking by prominent public officials, including State Supt. L. A. Woods, Senator G. H. Nelson, Representative Alvin R. Allison, and possibly several others. There is a possibility that at least two or three of the following group will be here: Senator Tom Connally, Congressman Geo. Mañon, Railroad Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson, Wm. McCraw, and others who could not give a definite answer to invitations.

There will be other entertaining features, but the speaking, the parade, and the rodeo will keep things humming for nearly 12 hours each day.

Visitors are invited to spread their lunches on the shady lawn of City Park at noon and night.

Wiley Curry, R. W. Fenton Jr., J. O. Tinsley, and Wynne Collier, of the Round-Up board of directors, and various committees have been at work of plans for the show for several weeks.

Tenderfoot Tells Of Attempt To Milk Wild Cow

Disaster Overtakes Pat Flynn In First Milking Attempt At Rodeo

CANADIAN (Special) — This is written while reposing in bed recuperating from the mere rural pastime of milking.

Why I can remember when a mere lad on my father's farm it was one of my daily chores to milk Flossie, Hetsy, and Miss Angelina twice daily and outside of an argument with Miss Angelina and her switching tail every once in awhile, milking was just a daily occurrence without any special training required.

Not so in this cow town and one buck will get you five that Tony Galento, Joe Louls and the combined membership of the Amalgamated Steel Workers association can not milk a wild cow without suffering fractures, lacerations or minor bruises. I know, I tried it and I even had the expert advice and moral support of some of the most experienced cattle men of the range country.

It happened like this: This city was preparing for the 17th annual Anvil Park Rodeo staged here July 2-3-4 and one of the events they advertised so highly was a wild cow milking contest.

After listening to cowboys talk a language as foreign as daily conversation in Brooklyn, after being addressed ten times a day as "Tenderfoot", and it doesn't refer to a limp, I heard of a milking contest. At least, I thought, here is something I know all about. My childhood days rushed through my brain of how one time I out-milked the (Cont' on back page section 2)

Did You Ever Try Riding A Brahma Steer?

Well, riding an animal like this is no picnic, but many cowboys will attempt the feat at the Round-up next week.

Highway 380 Work Finished In Yoakum

If it does not rain by Friday the new highway will be in use from Plains to the Terry county line. With the exception of the little strip in Terry which has never been topped, we now have a paved road to the east.

According to reports we need not expect the road to the west to be built for two years, but the highway department is putting the old road in good shape and there need be no excuse for tourists to go around Yoakum county.

Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Jones, mother of Mrs. W. H. Fulkerson, recently visited with a sister at Athens, Henderson county, whom she had not seen in 23 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Smith and Bill King, accompanied by J. T. Miller of Amarillo, are fishing and vacationing in the Red River country of northern New Mexico.

Then when the road is bladed off so that travel can get through from the north side to the south side Yoakum will be right at the crossroads.—Yoakum County Review.

Tech Man Compiles Post Colony History

Lubbock, Tex., August 4—C. D. Eaves, history professor at Texas Technological College, is writing a book entitled "History of Post Colony."

He will be granted a leave of absence during the fall semester of 1939 when he will continue to assemble material concerning the establishment of Post, Texas.

Professor Eaves will be replaced during that time by Ernest Wallace, who has been at Texas University during the summer working toward his Ph. D.

Rodeo Was Started At Pecos In 1883

Pecos City, Texas, July 14, 1883 —Something new was started in this little cow-town today, something previously unheard-of — a planned "cow-boy contest", with cash prizes, barbecue, and everything.

Morgan Livingston, tophand of the NA ranch, made the best time in the south part of town near the courthouse. Trav Windham, boss of the Lazy Y's, drew second place. Cash prizes were $25 for first and $15 for second place.

This settles the argument that has been going around for the past several months as to which ranch had the best ropers. Jim Mannin, Fate Beard, George Brookshire, Jim Slack, Henry Slack, Howard Collier, represented the Hashknife ranch; Jeff Chism and Henry Miller rode for the W ranch; Trav Windham for the Lazy Y; Morgan and Jim Livingston were in town rooting for the NA ranch.

It all started when a bunch of the cowhands were swapping yarns down in front of Red Newell's saloon. Trav Windham of the Lazy Y's was leaning against a hitching post. Fate Beard of the Hashknife outfit was slouched against the corner of the building. Several others were crowded around.

The conversation soon turned to roping and an argument arose about which outfit had the best ropers. Each ranch had its own champions and the argument grew warm. It wasn't a new argument. It had been going on for years among some of the cowhands.

Others assisting in the events were: Brawley Oates from the Ita

Havins ranch; John Chalk, Cooksey and Clayton ranch; E. P. Stuckler from the Stockton country, John Coalson of the 101 ranch was slated to be here but he had some cows in the bog up the river and couldn't make it.

Little Nick Newell had a very profitable day as so many of his rancher friends were here and after several trips to Tom Babb's saloon, they took care of Nick in a grand manner. A free barbecue was enjoyed by everyone visiting the city, the beef being donated by the various cowmen. It was estimated that at least a thousand folks were on hand to enjoy the barbecue at the noon hour, and plenty of food was left for supper.

This little cow-town, with its handful of saloons and stores, huddled around the railroad station, was crowded with people.

Business was booming, especially around saloons. Four ranch outfits were in town. And with four ranch outfits in one town at the same time, something is bound to happen. Something did here today.

Finally it was decided to stage a "cowboy contest" to settle the issue. And stage one they did. The news spread rapidly and soon the town was overcrowded with people. Cash prizes were posted and the leading ropers from each ranch selected. The contestants squared off in the south part of town for the contest.

Cowhands competed against each other at roping on ranches on different occasions, but this is the first time, as far as it is known here that a planned contest was ever staged.—Pecos Enterprise.

TAHOKA H. D. CLUB STUDIES BREADMAKING

"To develop the gluten in the flour the dough should be kneaded thoroughly but gently", said Miss Maurine McNatt, home agent, at the regular meeting of the Tahoka H. D. Club Wednesday, August 9 in the home of Mr. H. M. Snowden. If the bread is kneaded by hand, it should be turned out on a clean floured board and worked quickly with the palms of the hands until it is soft, smooth, and elastic. Since the dough is sticky at first, there may be a tendency to knead in the flour on the board. There is only a thin film of flour should be used on the board, for as the gluten develops in the dough the stickiness disappears.

The Club's nominee for representative to the State Home Demonstration convention at Lubbock is Mrs. Harold Edwards Jr.

Eighteen members and the following visitors were present: Mrs. B. Forsythe, Beaumont, Miss Oleta Wallace, Leonard, and Mrs. Potete, Tahoka.

Next meeting will be August 23. The lesson will be on Utilization of Sweet Yeast Breads.

PETTY 4-H CLUB MEETS WITH EILEEN BAKER

"A daily eye bath is necessary if one has attractive eyes", said Miss Maurine McNatt, home agent, at the meeting of the Petty 4-H Club on August 9, which met with Eileen Baker.

To remove dirt from the eyes one should wash them with a good boric acid solution. This can be made by dissolving one tablespoon of boric acid in one quart of boiling water.

Mr. and Mrs. Skip Taylor and daughter, Miss Olga Faye, spent last week in San Antonio, visiting Mrs. Taylor's mother, Mrs. W. A. Meador, and other members of the family. Skip says good rains had fallen all the way from here to San Antonio.

REV. O. E. MCGAW WILL PREACH TO BAPTISTS

In the absence of the pastor, Rev. Geo. A. Dale, who is conducting a revival meeting in the First Baptist Church at Mincola, Rev. O. E. McGaw, a reputedly able young minister, will fill the pulpit at the Baptist Church here next Sunday morning and night.

Senator G. H. Nelson spoke to an attentive and appreciative congregation at the eleven o'clock service last Sunday. His subject was Contentment, and his treatment of it was unique and thought-provoking. The church dispensed with its regular services Sunday night and the members were urged to attend the revival services at the Methodist Church.

CARTHAGE TEACHER VISITS HERE

Miss Bess James, whose home is in the Gordon community but who is a member of the faculty of the Carthage high school, visited friends here last Friday. Miss James formerly taught in Lynn county and her former pupils and friends are always glad to see her.

Besides visiting with her brother, Andrew Jackson, and his family at Gordon, Miss James also visited a sister in New Mexico and relatives at other points in this section during her vacation.

REVIVAL AT NEW LYNN BEGINS TONIGHT

A ten-days revival meeting will begin at the Nazarene Church at New Lynn tonight, Friday, August 18, according to G. L. Perkins of that community.

Rev. Pearl Keeton will be the evangelist, and Fay Rogers and wife, former residents of that community but now residing in California, will conduct the song services. Everybody is cordially invited to attend.

Miss Hattie Server and mother, Mrs. P. D. Server, returned Saturday from a visit with relatives at Wilson, Oklahoma. They also visited Ardmore. Mr. Server accompanied them as far as Haskell, Texas, where he visited relatives during their trip to Oklahoma. They were also accompanied home by Miss Hattie's cousin, Ruth Server, a teacher in the public school at Rochester, Texas, for a visit here this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Avery Coffman and baby of Hico, and Mr. and Mrs. Riley and their daughter and two sons and also their married daughter, all of Hamilton, visited Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Mourfield here last week. Mr. Coffman is a nephew of Mrs. Mourfield and Mrs. Riley is a sister of Mr. Mourfield. A son of Mr. and Mrs. Riley, who lives at Ropesville, also visited in the Mourfield home during the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Staggs spent Sunday in Lamesa visiting their son and his family.

TRIPLETS?—No, these three young ladies are not triplets, but their resemblance comes by virtue of the fact that they are the three granddaughters of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Edwards of Tahoka, pioneer citizens of Lynn county. They are, left to right: Virginia Ann, born January 26, 1939, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Boles, Lubbock; Sylvia Ruth, born December 1, 1938, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Boswell Edwards, New Home; and Zenda Yvonne, born January 29, 1939, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Buck of Tahoka. Each is the first child of its respective parents.

MRS. C. E. SHORT IS HOSTESS TO GRASSLAND H. D. CLUB

"Only a small amount of flour should be added to the yeast dough while kneading", said Miss Maurine McNatt, home agent, at the regular meeting of the Grassland Home Demonstration Club Tuesday, August 3, at the home of C. E. Short. Practically all the flour should be added during the mixing. While kneading, use only enough flour to keep it from sticking. If flour is added late in the kneading period, the product will be streaked because there will be flour in different stages of fermentation.

Mrs. A. A. Lawson was nominated as a candidate to represent the county as a delegate to the Texas Home Demonstration convention in Lubbock. Guests present were Miss Oleta Wallace, Leonard, Texas, and Mrs. A. B. Short.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. G. C. Watson on August 27.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Edwards are back in Tahoka. They have resided at Shallowater the past several months until a few weeks ago, Edgar being connected with a service station there. After a vacation of two weeks spent in New Mexico, they came back to Tahoka to reside. Edgar will be employed at the Wiley Curry gin during the fall and winter. We are always glad to have good people who wander away to come back.

THREE CASES OF SLEEPING SICKNESS REPORTED IN THIS IMMEDIATE AREA

Three cases of sleeping sickness, among horses were announced Wednesday by Dr. L. B. Hodges, local veterinarian. The first case was reported last year on August 4, almost a week earlier than this year.

The current disease was first reported on a farm ten miles northeast of town. When asked if a large percentage of the stock in Dawson County had been inoculated, the veterinarian replied about 25 per cent.

A third case was found Wednesday afternoon seven miles east of Lamesa.—Lamesa Reporter.

TAHOKA ROUND-UP

Thursday and Friday, August 24-25

But the New West has accessible conveniences that the Indian, the cowboy, and the settler, never dreamed of. These early pioneers used mesquite grubs or "prairie coal" for fuel. What a difference from life today—with gas-operated cook stoves, water heaters, space heaters, gas-operated refrigerators.

They Needed a Hand—

(Snyder Times)

Will Rogers, whose philosophy kept America and the world laughing through a quarter century, caught the might of simple words in a multitude of writings. He wrote one article as a foreword to a book, "Trails Plowed Under," by the late Charles Russell, Montana cowboy and artist. Mr. Russell died shortly after asking Mr. Rogers to write the article, thus it was written after Mr. Russell's death and just before the book went to press.

Written in the form of a letter from Mr. Rogers to his old cowboy friend, Mr. Russell, the message has particular timeliness just now. It reads:

"There ain't much news here to tell you. You know the Big Boss sent a hand over here and got you so quick, Charlie. But I guess He needed a good man pretty bad. I hear they have been workin' short-handed over there pretty much all the time. I guess it's hard for Him to get hold of good men. They're jest scarce everywhere.

"I bet you hadn't been up there three days until you had cut your old pencil and was drawing something funny about some of the old punchers.

"I bet Mark Twain and Bill Nye and Whitcomb Riley and a whole bunch of these old joshers was jest waitin' for you to pop in with all the latest ones.

"What kind of a bird is Washington and Jefferson? I bet they are regular fellers when you meet 'em, ain't they? Most big men are. I would like to see the bunch that is gathered around you the first time you tell the one about putting the limburger cheese in the old nester's whiskers.

"Don't tell that one, Charlie, until you get Lincoln around you. He would love that one. I bet you and him kinda throw in together when you get well acquainted.

"When I get to thinkin' about all them top hands up there, if I could jest hold a horse-wranglin' job with them, I wouldn't mind following that wagon myself.

"You'll run onto my old dad up there, Charlie, for he was a real cowhand. And I bet he is running a wagon. And you will pop into some well-kept ranch house over under some cool shady trees and you'll be asked to have dinner and it will be the best one you ever had in your life.

"Well, when you are thanking the women folks you jest tell the sweet looking old lady you knew her boy back on an outfit you used to rep for and tell the daughters that you knew their brother, and if you see a cute little rascal running around there, kiss him for me.

"Well, I can't write you any more Charlie, the darn paper is all wet. It must be raining in this old bunk-house. Of course, we are all jest a-hangin' on here as long as we can. I don't know why we hate to go—it's better there, maybe it's because we haven't done anything that will live after we're gone.

"Your old friend. WILL."

STORY WITH A MORAL

In a Philadelphia court six joyful refugees who had just been granted U. S. citizenship offered to buy an American flag to hang in the court room. There were three Italians, two Czechoslovakians and a Russian. One was a refugee from a Communist country, and the others from Fascist countries.

Said the six after being granted their citizenship papers: "We are so happy to become American citizens that we thought Your Honor wouldn't object if we put our money together and bought a flag for your courtroom." The judge thanked the new citizens but refused their offer and ordered that a flag for the room be purchased immediately with the proper funds.

The plea of the refugees was a fine gesture, and they should prove to be valuable Americans, for they may help to convince some in this country that life in the "ism" countries is not what the dictators would have us believe that it is. Further, it should stir other Americans to vigilance to fight down the spread of these "ism" doctrines in the United States.—Clarendon News

In his address before the Rotary Club here last week, Senator Nelson showed clearly that some of the most important and valuable work of a legislator is that which is least spectacular and which gets the least publicity. He showed how that a few West Texas representatives and senators fought for and obtained a more equitable distribution of rural aid school funds than has been made heretofore, whereby West Texas gained, or saved, millions of dollars for West Texas children which would have been spent in other parts of the state had former practices prevailed. He also showed how the Tarwater bill providing for the distribution of gasoline road funds will bring many millions of dollars to West Texas that would also have been spent elsewhere had the so-called "county judges bill" been passed unmodified, as was strenuously sought by many legislators and many interests in this state. Senators Nelson, Clint Small, and other West Texas senators are doing effective and valuable work in Austin for this section of the state. They are not procuring nor seeking that to which we are not justly entitled but only that which, by every rule of justice and equity, should come our way. Whether you like these gentlemen personally or not, you need to keep them in Austin as long as they want to go, in order to be assured of able and valuable service in our legislative body.

We do not know how comprehensive or complicated is the Hatch bill recently passed by Congress and signed by the President, but we are in thorough accord with its purpose, as we understand it, which is to prohibit and prevent members of governmental agencies of any kind from using threats or promises or bringing pressure to bear in any way upon the workers and employes under them to influence their vote in any election. Men and women in any governmental position should feel perfectly free to vote their honest desires and sentiments in any election without fear of being "fired". The Hatch bill is all right in its aims and we hope that it works out successfully and effectively.

Attorney General Gerard Mann has been called upon to render opinions on more matters of importance to the people of Texas than has any other attorney general of the state during a comparable length of time, and almost invariably his opinions have been characterized by such clarity and logic as to win the praise of the lawyer and the layman alike throughout the state. Obviously it has required real courage and strict integrity for him to issue some of these opinions, but these very qualities are what are much needed just now in every branch of the government, legislative, judicial and executive. Gerard Mann seems destined to "go places" in Texas politics.

One of the finest things the present Administration at Washington has done for the people of this country, as we see it, is the water and soil conservation program that it is putting over. It has taught the people the necessity and importance of conserving our resources and is teaching them how to do it. This will be of untold value to the present and many future generations.

Hundreds of wrecks in this state each year are the result of soft shoulders at the margin of the pavement on our highways. Since the

ODDS AND ENDS

By Eee Eye (the Elder)

This is rodeo time in Texas! A number of towns on the plains are having colorful rodeo performances this summer. O'Donnell had one last week and Tahoka is to have hers next week.

The rodeo has come to be one of the principal means of entertainment all over the country, from the ordinary county seat town to the largest cities in the land. There is something glamorous about a rodeo—glamorous because of the element of danger that apparently attends the performances; the mind and the skill of man undertaking to cope successfully with the strength, the agility, and the wild savagery of the untamed brute. Glamorous because of the picturesque garb of the performers, the hula-hula, and the picture of real life on the ranch that it presents to the imagination of the on-lookers.

Just as the brutal and bloody bull fights in Mexico and the scarcely less brutal and bloody prize fights in this country draw thousands of excited spectators, so the rodeo, on a smaller scale, likewise draws enormous crowds at every performance.

And the crowds will doubtless be in Tahoka next week to enjoy the big "round-up" that is to be staged here. This rodeo and round-up according to those in the "know", promises to be as good as the best. The cowboys and the broncs and the wildest of the 'untamed bulls will be here.

By the way, there is almost as much difference in the character of cows as in the character of men. Some are gentle and docile, some are wild and vicious.

At the rodeo and round-up next week, you will probably see a number of cowboys undertaking to ride some big, strong, wild Brahma bull. And they will probably fail, for the untamed and untamable Brahma is said to be about the most unmanageable and unridable of all the bovine species. But, strange to say, the Brahma cattle in India, as a rule, are the gentlest and most docile and harmless of all the species that make up the cow family.

There is another interesting thing about this Brahma bull, or at least about some varieties of Brahma bulls. In India, they are regarded as sacred. There are 200 millions of people in India who would no more dare to do the slightest harm to a white Brahma bull than we Americans would dare to spit in the face of our God if he should appear to us in visible, majestic form.

Consequently the white Brahma bull roams through the streets of the villages, towns, and cities of India unrestrained in any way. If he chooses to eat up the cabbage or the spinach in the grocery stores pavement on most highways is none too wide, a gravel or crushed-rock surface should be laid on each side of the pavement. This has been done on many highways; it should be done throughout the length of every one of them.

In a fireside chat a few weeks ago, the President challenged anybody to show where any reduction in the Government spending program could be made. Since that time Congress seems to have been undertaking to show him where.

We need able, honest, courageous, and courteous men in office always, but we do not particularly need mere flatterers, back-slappers, and baby-kissers.

Personally, we think that one of the things this country needs most is intelligence and common sense in religion as well as in government, economics, and industry.

Southern Women Eager to Tell

"One is bound to be gratified by the enthusiasm of Southern women for CARDUI," says one of the Touring Reporters now conducting a Query in Southern cities.

"Of the 1297 CARDUI users we have seen so far," she said, "1206—or 93 out of every 100—said it definitely benefited them!"

CARDUI'S remarkable success in helping weak, rundown women who suffer from headache, depression, nervousness, and other symptoms of functional dysmenorrhea due to malnutrition, is explained by the way it promotes appetite and digestion, and so builds physical resistance. Try CARDUI!

or bazars of Bombay or Calcutta, for instance, he is permitted to do so without restraint or protest. A Brahma bull in a china closet in India might trample to pieces all the china ware in it but not a finger would be lifted to drive him out. A man may and often does murder another man in this country and "get away with it", but it would be certain death for a man to kill a Brahma bull in India. Here we ride 'em and kick 'em and goad 'em and make instruments of fun an entertainment out of 'em at fairs and rodeos. How profane and blasphemous we must seem to the millions and millions of Brahmins in India!

All animals were wild in their original state. We do not know when nor in what country the cow was first domesticated. In ancient Egypt as well as in India the cow seems to have been a domestic animal,—also in ancient Babylonia.

We read in the Scriptures about a young married Chaldean who resided at a town called Ur somewhere in the valley of the Euphrates. The Lord appeared to him and said: Get up from here, young man, and go west, thus beating Horace Greely to it some four thousand years. Young Abram conferred with his daddy, and the whole family decided to move. They got as far as Haran and for some reason stopped and settled down. There Terah, Abram's father, died. Abram was 75 years old when he decided to move on. His nephew, a fellow named Lot, went on with him. They finally entered the land of Canaan, moving gradually from the north to the south, evidently seeking constantly for better range for their flocks and herds. Finally a drought struck and they moved down into Egypt, lock, stock, and barrel. After a somewhat checkered career there, Abram seems to have gotten in rather bad with the Pharaoh, who advised him to return to his own country. Abram took his advice and he and Lot and their families lost no time in getting back up into the land of Canaan.

But they had prospered, for the Scripture account says that Abram was very rich in cattle, in silver, and in gold. Argentine cattle had not then come on the market and Abram had been getting a good price for his stuff. Lot also, we are told, had his flocks, and herds, and tents. In fact, these two cowmen had prospered so greatly and had accumulated so many cattle that the land, we are told, "was not able to bear them, that they might dwell together." They were grazing their cows on the open range and the (Cont'd. on next page) cowboys in charge of Abram's cattle and the cowboys in charge of Lot's cattle were beginning to have trouble. So, big old generous-hearted Abram called his nephew Lot into conference and said to him: Look here, Lot, we don't want to have any trouble over grass, and we don't want our cow hands to have any trouble. If this keeps on they will be shooting it out pretty soon and then these Canaanites and Perizzites around here will clean up on the whole bunch. The whole land is before us. You take the left; and I will take the right, or you take the right and I will take the left; I give you your choice. Lot cast his eyes out over the rich plains of the Jordan and said I'll go east, and he pitched his tent toward Sodom.

And Abram again turned his face to the West. How fortunate he was! He grew richer and richer and became the father of a mighty nation. Lot had all kinds of trouble. He lost his wealth, his city got burned up, his daughters got tangled up in high society and went to the bad, and his wife finally was turned to a pillar of salt. But a lot of fellows besides Lot have gotten into bad trouble by being selfish and greedy.

We started out on this story, however, to show that the cattle business is an ancient one and that real cowboys existed thousands of years ago. Don't think they had any of the drug store variety in those days, however, and we have been absolutely unable to find any mention of a rodeo anywhere in the Bible.

When Columbus discovered America there was not a cow, not even a wicked, lanky old Longhorn, on the entire Western continent. Cattle were first introduced into America from Spain in the year 1525. Some Spaniards brought some old Longhorns over to Mexico, and the Montezumas, or Mexican Indians, seem to have permitted them to run wild. They increased rapidly and some of them were brought later by the Spaniards from Mexico to Texas.

In his history of the XIT Ranch, Evetts Haley tells the story of the Longhorn's advent into Texas and his arrival 200 years later on the XIT. "The XIT brand", Haley says, "was conceived by an old Texas trail driver named Ab Blocker, who placed it upon the first steer. That steer was not an animal of high pedigree, but a Longhorn from South Texas. His color, his gauntness, and his perversity were historic. Nearly two centuries before, with the initial Spanish expedition into the province for the purpose of founding a settlement in 1690, there came a similar Mexican steer. He walked streaming from the waters of the Rio Grande, cropped the first grass on the northern shore, switched his tail at a persistent fly and felt at home. Long of horn and leg, variegated in color, and belligerent of disposition, he came, prophetic of the millions and millions of others to fatten upon the grasses of the border state.

And that's how the Longhorn came to be out here on these plains in the eighties and nineties. He is gone now. The Whiteface has crowded him off the range, just as the white man drove the Indian from one hunting ground to another until he is now confined to a few scattered reservations. The Longhorn has outlived his day of usefulness, except as a rodeo performer. The longer the horns and the longer the legs of the steers that appear here next week, the better will be the show.

Stuart Stoop, 13, is here from Amarillo visiting his aunts, Mrs. Elmer Richey and Mrs. Julia Houston. He came down with Mrs. Houston last Saturday, who was returning from a visit there.

If sluggish bowels have your child headachy, bilious, upset, give him a little Syrup of Black-Draught tonight. Like the original famed BLACK-DRAUGHT, its principal ingredient is an intestinal tonic-laxative. Helps impart tone to the bowel muscles.
Children like the taste of Syrup of Black-Draught. It is an oil vegetable product. When simple directions are followed, its action is gentle, but prompt and complete. Comes in two sizes: 50c and 25c.

Billy The Kid Outsmarted The Law With Brands, Old Cowboy Says

(Memphis Democrat)
Billy the Kid, the famous badman who is reputed to have killed one man for each of the 21 years he lived (not counting the Indians, Mexicans, and Negroes), once freed himself in a court trial because he outsmarted the attorneys who were trying to convict him, recalls Joe Merrick, Memphis pioneer.

The youthful badman had been arrested for stealing cattle from the XIT Ranch. Attorneys for the ranch were almost certain that Billy was guilty, but they could not figure out how he made the XIT brand into the Star-cross brand which he used.

Finally, the attorneys gave up trying to figure it out, and with the permission of the owner of the ranch, agreed to let Billy go free if he would show them how he manipulated the brands. Billy showed them, and went free.

Here's how he did it: He extended the X upward from the upper right-hand corner of the letter until the end of the line was directly over the vertical part of the letter T. A line was then dropped down through and beyond the vertical line of the T, and drawn slantingly upward through the X again, this time coming into the X at its lower right-hand side.

Another line was then drawn from the upper left-hand corner of the X, across and through the horizontal part of the T. The final line was then drawn from the end of this line to the lower left-hand corner of the X, thus forming a star. A cross-line was then drawn through the I, thus completing his Star-Cross brand.

Baldwin Parker, Comanche Indian, Is Son Of Quanah

Chief Baldwin Parker, Comanche Indian, and a small band of fellow-tribesmen, will attend the Tahoka Round-Up this year, head the parade each day, and put on a show in the rodeo arena.

Baldwin is the son of the great Comanche chieftain, Quanah, and the grand son of Cynthia Ann Parker, white girl, and the vicious old Chief Peta Nocona. His half brother, White Parker, Methodist preacher, was here about a year ago for the Old Settlers Reunion.

The visit of the Comanches to Tahoka has a special interest here, the word Tahoka being an Indian name.

Just what is the origin or meaning of the word Tahoka, no one seems to know exactly. Two hundred and fifty years ago, when La Salle's French expedition was in Texas, the word Tahoka, or Taho-ba-ka, is first found in history.

Following La Salle's death, a party of his men were making their way back to the French posts in the North. While going through what is now North Texas, Juntel, the La Salle expedition historian, reported that Indian guides told him Tahoka Indians lived to the west of their route and that Tahoka meant "enemy".

Once there lived in Indian Territory an old Choctaw chief named Tahoka, the combination of two Choctaw words "taha" and "oka", meaning "the water is all gone".

All Comanches, Apaches and other Indians this writer has contacted deny any knowledge of the origin of the word.

Local old timers say Tahoka means "clear water", "alkali water", "good water", "bad water", etc. The town, of course, received its name from Tahoka Lake, seven miles northeast of town, which long was a watering place for buffalo and other wild game, Indians, Mexican shepherders, buffalo hunters, cattlemen, and settlers. Clear, fresh water flows from springs that never go dry on the west side of the lake.

Here old Quanah Parker is said to have camped many times both as a boy and as a chief.

A little over a hundred years ago, May 19, 1836, 150 Comanche and Kiowa Indians swept down on Parker's Fort, near Goesbeck, Texas, killing settlers who had invaded what the Indians thought was a land belonging to them. The Redmen carried away two little children, Cynthia Ann, 9, and John, 6, of Silas and Lucy Parker.

John was adopted by the Kiowas and never heard of again. Cynthia Ann grew to womanhood and came to love the life of the Indian so much that she soon forgot her life as a white girl. She became the wife of Chief Peta Nocona, and subsequently the mother of Quanah, another boy, and a little girl, Prairie Flower.

In 1860, Capt. Sul Ross and his Texas Rangers, while scouting the upper Pease river, rode into a band of Indians, killed several, scattered others. A woman holding a baby, Prairie Flower, was noted to have blue eyes, was spared, carried back to the settlements, and found to be the long-lost Cynthia Ann Parker. Lonely and desparaged, she ultimately died and was buried by little Prairie Flower, who likewise had a white man's burial.

Half Indian and half white, Quanah (which means "The Eagle"), was primeval, intelligent, vicious, resourceful, loved and hated. He became a leader of his tribe, chief of a division, and finally chief of the allied Comanche tribes, and highly respected by all other tribes of Indians. He fought desperately for his own and his tribe's right to live their traditional life. But the Whites steadily encroached upon the Indian's last stronghold, the Texas Plains, and in June, 1874 he led his Redmen against the whites at Adobe Walls, Hutchinson county, the last great battle of the Plains Indians. The Indians were repulsed.

That year, the buffalo hunters were dealing them misery, the settlers were ever on their trail, and then came Gen. Ranald S. Mackenzie with his U. S. soldiers. The Indians finally capitulated and reluctantly moved to the Government reservation in Indian Territory.

"If you can't whip 'em, join 'em", might have been the shrewd Quanah's motto. He became a friend of the Whites, a trusted advisor of the Government, and personal advisor of two Presidents on Indian matters.

He settled near Cache, Oklahoma, raised a family, of which White and Baldwin are well-known members. Quanah, Texas, was named for A BUILDER OR A WRECKER?

"I saw them tearing a building down
A gang of men in a busy town.
With a ho-heave-ho and a lusty yell,
They swung a beam and a side wall fell.

"I asked the foreman, "Are those men skilled
As the men you'd hire if you had to build?
He laughed and said, "No indeed,
Just common labor is all I need.
I can easily wreck in a day or two
What builders have taken a year to do."

"I asked myself as I went my way,
Which of these roles have I tried to play,
Am I a builder who works with care
Measuring life by the rule and square
Or am I a wrecker who walks the town
Content with the labor of tearing down?"

him: After many years of usefulness to the new civilization and the old, Quanah Parker, the greatest Indian chief of all time, died February 23, 1911, and was buried near his home, in Post Oak cemetery, beside his mother Cynthia Ann.

Incidentally, Quanah Parker, is reputed to have been born at Cedar Lake, Gaines county, and is known to have hunted and camped at Double Lakes and Tahoka Lake many times. Moar's Draw canyon was a favorite winter campsite.

Clock Stops When Pastor Tenders His Resignation

Toronto, Ont.—When Rev. W. J. Smith, pastor of Bathurst United church, tendered his resignation, a 66-year-old clock stopped ticking and did not start again until nine years later, when he paid a brief visit to his former pulpit.

When the pastor left, all efforts to start the clock proved futile, and the ancient timepiece was relegated to the minister's vestry as a historic relic. That was in 1925.

When Smith entered the vestry in 1934 the familiar ticktock of the clock was heard, to the amazement of the sexton, and continued after he left. It still keeps time.

The clock was presented to the church by Benjamin (Old King) Cole, a negro church member and a former slave.

Room Bureaus Set Up For New York Fair

NEW YORK (Special)—Two agencies have been set up in New York City to insure World's Fair visitors getting living accommodations at a most reasonable price.

One is the Mayor's Official World's Fair Housing Bureau, Inc., with headquarters in the Chanin Building, 122 East 42d Street, set up by Mayor LaGuardia to locate rooms for visitors in private homes and dwellings.

The other is the Hotel Room Information Bureau of the Hotel Association of New York City, representing 180 hotels with a total capacity of 80,000 rooms. The bureau is at association headquarters, 221 West 57th Street.

Both agencies function without any charge to the visitor in finding him clean and comfortable accommodations at a price within his means. Rooms in private dwellings range in price from $1 per night per person upward, with the average per person $1.50.

Every Western Union and Postal Telegraph office is equipped to handle requests for rooms in conjunction with the Housing Bureau's operation. Every policeman in New York City is familiar with the plan and is equipped to give visitors first hand information on methods of obtaining registered and sponsored rooms.

On making the application for a room the visitor pays a deposit of 50 cents per night per person for which he receives a receipt. The receipt may be presented to the landlord in lieu of cash as part payment for the room.

Must Increase Farm Income, Says Ford

WITH Edsel Ford in the driver's seat to turn the first furrow, the new and vastly-discussed Ford-Ferguson tractor made its world's first public appearance at the New York World's Fair in late July. Shown above are Henry Ford and Harry Ferguson, Irish inventor who developed the principles embodied in the new tractor and its unit implements, with a small model of the tractor between them.

Said Henry Ford: "I look for this tractor to accomplish two things—turn the farm deficit into a profit and reduce the expense of going on the land!" Enthusiastically seconding his father, Edsel Ford added: "The farm is one of the most vital problems now before the country. No political solution yet offered has been able to solve it. To increase farm income by increasing the cost of food in the cities is a policy no one, not even the farmer, approves. And yet every one agrees the farmer's income must be increased.

"My father and I believe that if the farmer can do what industry has done—make his profit out of economy of production and distribution—he will increase his real income without curtailing his market. We built this tractor primarily to cut the farmer's first cost and his operating cost.

"This tractor is the only one ever made that completely takes the place of horses and mules, thus eliminating draught animals which constitute one of the farmer's heaviest costs. Four cows or six young cattle, which mean income, can be raised on the same land required to feed two farm horses that only mean expense."

Harry Ferguson said that among outstanding new features of the Ford tractor are light weight, simplicity of operation, maneuverability, fuel and oil economy, absolute safety on hillsides or difficult ground, and ability to strike any sort of obstruction without damage to implements. The new machine will do the work of eight horses and four men, he said.

"The Ford-Ferguson tractor is now in production, and will be available to the public through Ford and other dealers about September 1. It is being demonstrated daily at the Ford Exposition, New York World's Fair.

TENDERFOOT TELLS OF MILKING WILD COW

(Cont'd. from page 1, section 2) neighborhood in a contest at harvest time, and remembering my one-two stroke that caused me to win my junior milking contest title, I decided I would show the cow gentry of this settlement a thing or two in milking, I did.

It seems you are given a rope, a milk bucket, and about two hundred yards in which to catch Bossie, milk her and return to the judges stand with your milk bucket intact. Your opponent is supposedly only time, but they didn't reckon with Bossie.

Now, I have never professed to be an expert with a rope, but after the so-called friend of mine selected a "nice gentle cow" they gave me a rope that could easily snub the Queen Mary to a dock in high seas and fired a gun. They shouldn't have done that for Bossie headed in the general direction of Chicago and my horse, not to be outdone by any cow, lit out in hot pursuit.

With a bucket in one hand, a rope in the other, I had no time for reins or saddle but being the expert horseman I am, remained astride for exactly 157½ yards when the cow and horse stopped dead still as if on mutual agreement. I continued due north for another 37½ feet, making a neat three point landing in the arena, on nose, elbow and knee.

In making a quick landing I became entangled in the rope and spectators later told me it was the cleverest piece of self-hog tying they had ever witnessed on those grounds.

After disentangling myself from the bucket I spotted Bossie standing nonchalantly watching my efforts with a degree of sarcasm. If a cow can look sarcastic, and this one did.

I threw the rope toward Bossie and due to a cross wind, missed her head but snubbed the left front foot and the battle of ages started. Determined to hold that critter until death do us part, I almost lost my life in my determination.

That cow, leaped, bucked, sun-fished, charged the horse and then headed for me. Being a fairly good sprinter I once made the 100 yard dash at school in 1.52, I managed to keep just ahead of Bossie for the next 10 minutes without any material damage until maneuvering her near a snubbing post, succeeded in wrapping that tow-rope around the post several times and I had her conquered for the time being, or at least I thought.

Approaching the cow with the finesse of a milk maid, I remember placing the bucket between my knees in the best approved fashion and started to milk. The rest is slightly vague.

My cowboy friends visited me in the hospital to tell me the end of the contest. It seems the cow waited until I was stooped to milk before ending the contest with a well aimed kick to the chin that caused the judges to award the contest to Bossie on points. There are two points on my chin, marking her victory.

The Good Old Days

An interesting document was brought to light during the celebration of the eightieth anniversary of the founding of a department store in Chicago. Someone in that organization had preserved the rules for employees of their first store which read as follows:

"Store must be opened from 6 a. m. to 9 p. m. the year around.

"Store must be swept; counters, base shelves and show cases dusted. Lamps trimmed, filled and chimneys cleaned; pens made; doors and windows opened; a pail of water, also a bucket of coal brought in before breakfast (if there is time to do so) and attend to customers who call.

"Store must not be opened on the Sabbath unless necessary, and then only for a few minutes.

"The employee who is in the habit of smoking Spanish cigars, being shaved at the barber's, going to dances and other places of amusement; will surely give his employer reason to be suspicious of his integrity and honesty.

"Each employee must pay not less than $5 per year to the church and must attend Sunday School regularly.

"Man employees are given one evening a week for courting and two if they go to prayer meeting.

"After 14 hours work in the store, the leisure hours should be spent most in reading.

concussion, admired my technique, he says, as while I was approaching consciousness he and the nurses claim they learned more about cattle from me than they ever could attending rodeos.

Naturally I was anxious to know how my milking time compared with other waddies of the west and am slightly disappointed. It seems I was in actual contest with Bossie 35 9-10 minutes and while I was victim of an accident that prevented my securing any milk that isn't what hurts my pride. The cowboys claim that the record is slightly less than two minutes.

I still don't believe it.
