Drew Enloe Case Transferred To Lamesa

The case against Drew Enloe, charged with the murder of Glen Browning, was called for trial Monday morning, and after both sides announced ready for trial, the slow process of selecting a jury was begun. Each venireman was subjected to a most rigid examination by defense counsel to determine whether or not he was competent under the law to sit as a juror on the case, and up till Tuesday afternoon only five jurors had been selected with the special venire practically exhausted.

Counsel for defense then made a motion for a change of venue and after a hearing thereon the motion was refused.

Additional veniremen had been summoned but on Wednesday morning counsel made a motion to quash the venire.

After due consideration Judge Louis B. Reed decided to change the venue and announced that he would transfer the case to another county, most probably Dawson county.

The jury which tried L. A. Enloe, charged jointly with Drew Enloe with the murder of Glen Browning, found the defendant guilty and assessed his punishment at eight years in the penitentiary. Defendant's attorneys gave notice of appeal.

District Attorney Truett Smith was assisted in the trial by County Attorney Rollin McCord, and defendants were represented by G. H. Nelson and Franklin Brown of Lubbock.

A number of pleas of guilty have been received by the Court since the term opened.

George Delcia, colored, entered a plea of guilty to the burglary of the Walter Vaughn house and was assessed two years in the penitentiary.

Jack Thomas, colored, confessed the burglary of the Evans Cafe and he likewise was assessed two years.

Claudius Bell, another gentleman of color, also entered a plea of guilty to a burglary charge and also drew two years at Huntsville.

These three were taken to Huntsville.

Lewis Cagle Dies From Injuries

Lewis Cagle, 35, night employe at The Limit Cafe, died at about six o'clock Thursday morning in the Lubbock Sanitarium from injuries sustained in some unknown manner in Lubbock Sunday night. He was found unconscious early Monday morning at the north underpass on highway No. 9, Federal Highway No. 87, near the northern limits of the city. He was taken to the Lubbock Sanitarium where he remained until death came Thursday morning, without his having regained consciousness. A fracture of the skull and other head injuries were so serious that physicians held out no hope for his recovery at any time.

The body was shipped Thursday afternoon to Lohn, McCulloch county, where his mother and other relatives live, for burial. A brother, J. A. Cagle of Ballinger, and a brother-in-law, G. R. Moore of Lohn, came to Lubbock and thence to Tahoka, early this week upon learning of his injury, and they were in Lubbock when death came.

The manner in which Mr. Cagle met death is shrouded in mystery. He had left here Sunday soon after noon, and the next that was heard of him was that he had been found unconscious Monday morning. His car was also found within about three quarters of a mile up the highway from the underpass where he was found. Some suspect foul play, but the opinion of Lubbock officers is, we are told, that he was injured in some accidental manner.

Mr. Cagle had been employed at The Limit Cafe here since October 17, having come here from Littlefield. He was quiet, well-behaved, and somewhat uncommunicative and had made many friends while here though little had been learned as to his past. His home originally was at Lohn, and he left surviving him a wife and a little son at Bradshaw near the south line of Taylor county.

Boys' Annual Fat Stock Show Here Saturday

The annual fat stock show to be staged here by the F. F. A. and 4-H club boys is expected to be the best and biggest of its kind yet shown here, according to all present indications.

The show will be held in one of the Buster Fenton Cotton Warehouses in the northeastern part of town. Fat calves and hogs will be entered and prizes amounting to more than $200 will be awarded.

County agent Donald Turner is general superintendent.

The growing importance of the live stock industry in this county behooves every citizen to lend encouragement to the boys who are learning how to raise the best grades of stock and thereby derive the greatest profit therefrom.

Many business men as well as farmers and stock-raisers will doubtless visit the show Saturday. Possibly many women also would enjoy it. Everybody invited.

Singing Convention Here This Month

The Lynn County Singing Convention is to meet in Tahoka for an all-day session on Sunday, March 24, according to M. C. Richey, the president.

The singers will assemble at the high school auditorium in the morning, presumably at about ten o'clock and except for the noon hour will remain in session until late in the afternoon.

Mr. Richey announces that the Stamps Quartette, the Vaughn Quartette, and other notable singers will be present, and this is expected to be the biggest and best convention in the history of Lynn county. Many hundreds of people doubtless will be in attendance.

All visitors as well as local people are requested to bring their lunches and enjoy a big spread on the school grounds at the noon hour.

Dropping in to set his figures another year ahead, T. W. Johnson, who has been here a long time, wised us up a bit to the terrific blizzard and snowstorm that visited this section in 1918. He says the snowdrifts in some of the canyons following that storm were 20 feet deep. And it was much colder than it was during our recent storm. But roads and fences and people were not so numerous as they are now and the few people could avoid the many drifts more easily.

BAPTIST WOMEN ENJOY SOCIAL

The Baptist Euellian Class held their monthly business and social meeting in the home of Mrs. F. W. Goad Tuesday evening. Mrs. R. C. Forrester presided over the business session in the absence of President, Alice Fortenberry.

We were glad that our Class had three members attending the State Sunday School Convention in Harlingen this week.

Table games were enjoyed and refreshments were served to Mrs. Lullain, Howell, Connolly, Holland, Roddy, Dye, Robertson, Lawrence, Shaffer, Forrester, Cooper, Hill and Goad.

PERSONALS

Mrs. A. L. Lockwood has been confined to her home by illness.

Miss Joyce Halsey and Miss Ann Thompson of Lubbock were here Saturday visiting the former's aunt, Mrs. E. I. Hill.

Hon. Tom Garrard was in Midland Thursday on professional business.

Mrs. J. B. Nance has been in East Texas the past three weeks.

Mrs. Tom Mott of Amarillo was here last week visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. McCord, Sr., and other relatives. While here she was honored with a party in the home of Mrs. Roy Appling of the Grassland community. We will publish details next week.

School Closed For Teachers' Meet

Many, if not all, of Lynn county's schools are closed today in order that the teachers may attend the annual meeting of the West Texas Teachers Association in Plainview today and Saturday. There are about 100 teachers in the county and most of them are members of the association.

The association meeting takes the place, in a measure, of the old time "summer normals" which the teachers were required to attend. Twenty-five counties comprise this district.

Supt. W. T. Hanes of Tahoka is secretary of the Association, which is headed by Supt. W. B. Irvin, Lubbock, president.

Miss Joy Pace of New Home faculty will appear on the program of the Homemakers luncheon today at noon.

Miss Joy Pace of New Home faculty will appear on the program of the Homemakers luncheon today at noon.

Frank Hill, also of Tahoka, is chairman of the school trustees division which meets in Plainview Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock in connection with the teachers association.

Wildcat Well Abandoned

Striking sulphur water at a depth of 5,182 feet Monday night, the H. F. Wilcox Oil and Gas Company has abandoned its test well E. L. Powell No. 1 drilled on a block of leases assembled by Deen Nowlin five miles west and three fourths of a mile south of New Home.

Contract called for the drilling of this well to a depth of 5,500 feet provided sulphur water were not struck at such depth as to render the absence of oil a practical certainty.

Machinery is to be removed from this location.

NOWLIN BUILDING

All the brick work and exterior of the new Deen Nowlin building facing Sweet Street was finished several days ago, and workmen are now working overtime on the interior.

The work has advanced to such a stage that it is obvious that the interior in going to be beautiful. The floor has been covered with rubber and the ceiling and walls finished with celotex. A cooling system for the summer time and a heating system for the winter have been installed.

Mr. Nowlin and his office force will occupy the entire north half of the building, while the south half will have three occupants. Mrs. R. C. Forrester will occupy the front office on the south side, Mrs. Gladys M. Stokes the second one back, and Truett Smith the third and fourth ones.

It is hoped to have the building ready for occupancy within the next two weeks.

TOM GARRARD HAS INTERESTING ARTICLE FOR NEXT WEEK

Hon. Tom Garrard has written a most interesting article relating to the Texas farmer's chief farm product, cotton, which we intended to publish this week but which we find must be carried over until next week. It will be just as good next week, however, as it is this week and should be read and pondered by every farmer and business man into whose hands a copy of next week's paper may come.

ROTARY LUNCHEON

Superintendent W. T. Hanes was called upon at the Rotary luncheon Thursday to give an account of his recent trip to the great teachers convention in St. Louis.

He made only a brief report of the proceedings of that body but took occasion to make some very pertinent remarks respecting the function of the public schools and the duties of the citizens respecting them.

Extension Workers, Visit Tahoka

A party of thirty-seven College Station Extension workers visited Tahoka Tuesday on a tour of this section visiting and inspecting the various cooperatives to be found throughout this area in order to gather first-hand information regarding them for the benefit of other sections of the state.

Cooperatives visited in Lynn county were the cooperative cold storage plant at New Home, the Tahoka Cooperative Storage plant, and the Farmers' Cooperative gin. Tahoka was the last stop on their tour.

Other places which they had visited were Plainview, where they inspected a co-operative hatchery, a cooperative creamery, and a cooperative cold-storage plant; Floydada and Ralls, where they inspected cooperative cold storage plants; and Lubbock, where they inspected the cooperative oil well.

The party was led by Director H. H. Williamson, State Demonstration Agent and vice-director, Miss Mildred Horton. Also in the party were K. J. G. Edwards, district agent for this district and Miss Lida Cooper, district home demonstration agent.

Some members of the party knew very little about the cooperatives, it is said, before embarking on this trip, for there are few of them down in the older sections of the state. Strange as it may seem, most of these cooperatives are to be found in this new but rapidly developing section of Texas.

These state workers came out to get first-hand information so as to be prepared to preach the gospel of cooperative activities in the blackland and piney-woods section.

They were particularly struck with the fact that they found one up-to-date and successful cooperative out here in the country, at New Home, where there is neither a railroad nor a highway. It is a most progressive community, however, with marvelous school system, and excellent roads leading to the highways.

While here the party were the guests of Donald Turner, county agent, and Miss Maurine McNatt, home demonstration agent. Mrs. Hill, who was formerly a county home demonstration agent herself, found many old-time friends in the group.

Triple-A Officials Meet Monday

Triple-A county committeemen, secretaries, and chief clerks from Kent, Garza, Lynn, Terry, and Yoakum counties met here in an all-day meeting Monday.

A number of state and district officers were also present, including Glenn D. Scott of College Station, District Field Manager, and Vicor Cade of Slaton, state committeeman.

Mr. Scott's duties are to make acreage allotments for the counties and at the meeting here this and other matters pertaining to the Triple-A were discussed in detail.

Business Changes Made

J. B. McPherson and family removed to Lubbock to open a new grocery business soon, at 14th street and Avenue Q. Ira Krebbs and family also left for Lubbock Tuesday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Francis Gill and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Gausson will follow in a few days. The three men have been employees in Mack's Food store here and will have positions in the new Lubbock store.

Leon McPherson, brother of J. B. who has been manager of Mack's Food Store in Seagraves, has acquired an interest in the store here and is manager. Lawrence Price, who has been employed at the Piggy-Wiggly for several years, will assist Leon in the operation of the store. Some changes in the rear end of the store are being made and some redecorating done.

Jack Minor has been made manager of the McPherson store at Seagraves.

SURGERY FOR MRS. WARD EAKIN FOUND NECESSARY

Mrs. Ward Eakin was reported doing very well following an operation on her leg performed last Friday in a Lubbock hospital.

Mrs. Eakin had broken her leg when she fell on a Lubbock street corner Tuesday of last week, and at first it was thought it would heal without an operation, but it became necessary Friday to operate, and connect the bone with a silver plate. The break was several inches above the knee, the large bone being broken completely in two.

Chambers of Commerce and citizens of Graham, Jacksboro, Throckmorton, Haskell, Rule, and intervening towns are seeking a change in U. S. Highway no 380 from Aspermont eastward so as to include these towns on its route rather than its present deflection southward by Stamford to join highway 15 west of Albany.

The News has recently received a copy of a communication from the Graham Chamber of Commerce addressed to the state highway commission asking for the change and setting out the following facts that should be of interest to our people: That a fine new highway from Rule to Graham has been completed, and that construction is under way on the remaining gap from Rule to Aspermont; that from Graham to Jacksboro a rather narrow and crooked highway is being made into one that meets all modern specifications, making the route from Fort Worth to Aspermont by way of Jacksboro, Graham, and Haskell one of the most usable in Texas.

Highway 380 is now hard-surfaced all the way from Plains, through Brownfield, Tahoka, and Post, to Clairemont. From Clairemont there is no direct route to Aspermont. The present highway deflects to the north by way of Jayton where it joins highway No. 18, which follows a very crooked course from there to Aspermont. A practically straight paved highway from Clairemont to Aspermont and thence straight to Rule is very much needed.

School Trustees Attend Meeting

School trustees from 25 West Texas counties, including Lynn, which comprise the West Texas Teachers' association, are urged to attend the second annual meeting of the trustees' section at Plainview Friday afternoon, March 8, to 4 p. m. in the Junior High School building.

Frank P. Hill, Tahoka newspaper man and school board member, is chairman of the meeting about 125 trustees attended last year's meeting, and even more are expected this year, Hill states.

Among those who will appear on the program are: Fred Sanders, Lamesa school board member; Walter L. Young, president Whitharral board; E. Esten Day, deputy state superintendent; Dr. Harris M. Cook, professor in West Texas State College and member of Canyon school board. Following these four talks, the meeting will be open for discussion of school problems by the trustees.

O'Donnell Citizen Buried Thursday

Funeral services were held in O'Donnell at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon for E. Clem Hancock, 81, who died at the home of his brother, J. B. Hancock, at O'Donnell Wednesday afternoon.

Born at Clinton, Missouri, on March 16, 1859, Mr. Hancock came to O'Donnell from North Kansas, in October 1938, making his home thereafter with his brother. He left surviving another brother, who lives at Garfield, Washington, and a number of nephews and nieces.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. J. H. Crawford, pastor of the Methodist Church in O'Donnell, and burial was under the direction of W. O. Robertson of the Harris Funeral Home of this city.

Mr. Cass Edwards, principal owner of the T-Bar ranch in this county, is reported to be seriously ill as his home in Fort Worth. He has been in failing health, it is said, for the past year or two.

Piggly Wiggly

25 Years Ago

Taken from the files of the Lynn Co. News Mar. 12, 1915

The date on our column last week should have been March 5, 1915.

Last week's paper summarized the amount of moisture since January first for the year 1915 with a total of 2.46 inches, concluding with: "We have a splendid season in the ground for Spring planting, and if you want to farm this year, Lynn County is the place to come for an assured bumper crop."

March 12: Twelve inches of Snow fell steadily from Monday morning to Tuesday morning, more than half of it melting on Wednesday, official measure being five and three quarter inches. Thursday morning snow started falling again and fell until evening, measuring exactly six inches.

On a visit to the McAdams Lumber Co., yard the Editor had noted that the stalls on one side of the yard contained practically no lumber that had been full one month and was told that owing to the way they sold lumber and the lack of railroad facilities that it was hard to keep enough lumber on hand to supply the demand.

J. N. Jones left Thursday in a livery rig for Lubbock where he will take the Friday morning train to Plainview. We understand that he left in answer to a sick message.

The farmers of New Home community had clubbed together and sent one of their number to the south side of the county for a wagonload of wheat for planting purposes and it was said that the acreage of small

W. P. A. Sewing Room

The article below was written for last week's paper, but in the last minute rush a part of it was omitted, so we are using it in full this week.

The Local W. P. A. Sewing Room has resembled a bee-hive for constructive activity during the past month according to their latest report. For during this short month the 22 women who are employed at the local Sewing Room maintained here by the W. P. A. have fashioned 551 garments.

While thus engaged in a useful and remunerative work which benefits their own and many other needy families these women have learned some useful lessons that are of value in operating their own homes and caring for their loved ones.

Cutting a garment accurately from suitable material, fitting it neatly and finishing it attractively is a daily experience for these women who soon realize that dressing well is not a matter of dollars and cents. The total cost for materials in these 551 completed garments was placed at $110.00 for cloth and $19.26 for findings (buttons, fastenings, thread, etc.).

Total expenditures for the month included the salaries of the 22 workers which was $702.10, paid by the W. P. A. which also paid $110.00 for the cloth used in the garments made by the women, Lynn county, which sponsors this W. P. A. project, allowed $65.00 in rent of building, $10 for utilities, $2.50 for rest room supplies, $22.00 for rent on 11 sewing machines and $19.26 for findings used on garments as mentioned above.

Thus it will be seen that of the $920.86 spent during February, on the project, the Sponsor spent $118.76 and the W. P. A. spent $802.10.

"Build-Up" Relief Explained to Women

A simple method has saved many women a lot of suffering! It is based on the fact that headaches, nervousness, cramp-like pain are often symptoms of functional dysmenorrhea due to malnutrition. Help for this condition so often follows the use of CARDUI, because it usually increases the appetite and the flow of gastric juice; thus aids digestion and helps build physical resistance. Usual result is less periodic distress. Many who take CARDUI a few days before and during "the time" have found this helps ease periodic discomfort. Women have used CARDUI for more than 50 years!

grain was being increased, especially that of wheat.

W. J. Crouch had bought a quantity of the best ribbon cane seed to be procured. He expected to plant this, make syrup, have printed labels with his farm name, etc., on the buckets when syrup was offered for sale. This move on the part of Mr. Crouch is not only a step forward in the growth of the county, but will be one of the best advertisements the County could possibly have.

A District meeting of Methodist Preachers was scheduled for March 16 and 17, with such men as A. L. Moore, H. L. Hughes, A. C. Aston, C. H. Ledger (local pastor), A. E. Arnfield, S. B. Cox, Thomas Hanks, J. E. Yeats, J. J. Smith, J. B. McReynolds, S. B. Adams, W. R. Kirkpatrick, W. C. Hart and W. H. Terry.

Holt Stokes was very ill, as was Mrs. G. W. Snider.

J. W. Hughes, erstwhile agent here for the P. & S. F., and wife, left on Monday morning for Higgins, Texas, where Mr. Hughes will peddle tickets and foot up columns on the ledger. J. M. promised to send us a picture of one of the big trains that pull through that place as soon as he gets familiar enough with them to venture within kodak range.

BELTON HOWELL BUILDING FINISHED

The new Belton Howell tile and stucco business building on his lots just west of the Anchor Milling Station, which has been under construction the past two months, has been completed and one of the compartments is already occupied by the Eden Laundry.

The other compartment is 27 by 34 feet in size and is well adapted for most any kind of small business.

The stucco finish outside has been treated to a perfectly white dash, which gives the structure a neat and attractive appearance.

Local Baptist Young People Present Program at West Point

Some thirty-six young people of the local Baptist Training Union drove out to West Point on last Sunday evening where they presented a program to the Baptist congregation of that community. Those appearing on the program were Misses Bernice Edwards, Lorene Reese, Valerie Wells, Joyce Russell, Billie Margaret Riddle, Jennie Reba Nevill, Pauline Owens, and Messrs. Elwayne Nevill, Paul Cox, J. H. Dyer, L. D. Prater.

Following the evening's services the local group were the guests of the West Point Young People at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cox where a Fellowship Hour was enjoyed.

This was the first of a series of programs which the local Baptist Young People plan to present this year at various neighboring churches.

Edith

In addition to presenting a radio program over station KPYO last Friday a group of students from this school also presented a program at the Guadalupe school in Lubbock. After having listened to the radio program over the school's radio system, Mrs. Duval, principal of the Guadalupe school, invited the students to her school where they gave a thirty minute program.

Students taking part in both the radio program and the program presented at the Guadalupe school were: Dortha Jean Brown, Mayrene Boales, Jane Bosworth, Dora Ruth Fenton, Bernice Sanders, Dwayne Vaughan, W. J. Hudgens, Edwin Banks, Melvin Wayne Hudgens, Walter Lee Richey and Dale Rea Smith.

Both programs were under the direction of B. T. Smith, Prin. of the Edith School.

There is to be a singing at Edith Sunday night, March 10th. Everyone is invited.

Both programs were under the proved and beautified by quite a number of trees being put out.

METHODIST CHURCH

Two more Sundays and then we celebrate Easter. In order that this Easter be a real awakening to new life it is necessary that every worker be awake and vitally interested in the spiritual welfare of each member under his care. Every member of the Sunday school should be challenged to make a personal surrender and commitment of his life to the Lord. Of course a full attendance upon the class meetings will make it possible to challenge a greater number. Themes that cluster around the Cross, Gethsemane, the Triumphant Entrance and the Resurrection of Jesus will be the background of the Sunday morning services for three Sundays just ahead of us.

The Methodist Advance is concerned with advances in spiritual life, evangelism, Christian education, stewardship and missions. Our church will make its contribution to this movement as you and each member makes some effort in one of these directions.

EX-STUDENTS MEETING IN APRIL

The old Huey Long machine has been completely wrecked. It had been functioning perfectly for the past twelve years. When Huey Long was killed his co-conspirators took charge and kept it going strong. In the course of time they elected Earl K. Long governor. With their help he completely dominated the legislature and the entire state government. Possibly New York City nor the state of Pennsylvania never had a more corrupt machine than was the Long machine in Louisiana. During the past twelve or fifteen months, the Federal Government has been digging into its affairs and made some of the most startling and sensational revelations in the entire history of this country. Numerous indictments have been returned. A number of the crooks have been sent to the penitentiary. In view of these revelations, it does seem that Long should have been defeated in the recent election by a vote of at least ten to one. The fact that he was defeated by only 20-odd thousand does not speak any too well for the voters of Louisiana, though the newspapers do call this a crushing defeat. As a matter of self-protection, no doubt, Long then undertook to procure the position of secretary of state in the incoming administration and to assemble the legislature to enact measures that would hamper the new administration in prosecuting the crooks that have been holding high carnival the past few years. But a majority of that body broke the shackles and tore off the yoke. They refused to obey the master's voice longer. They refused to assemble. Seeing his machine completely wrecked, Long has been shouting or muttering his imprecations upon the rebels ever since. It is hoped that every one of the big crooks may be sent to the penitentiary. It is a disgrace to this country that such a machine could function so corruptly and for so long with perfect impunity in any State of this Union.

That man Hitler is a great four-fusher. When Sumner Welles, the special representative of President Roosevelt, called on Hitler last Saturday while on a visit to Germany to feel out the situation with a view to a possible peace proposal from the President later, Hitler sat on his boldest, most pompous front. He obviously sought to impress Mr. Welles with his, Hitler's, imperious personality and his determination to make Germany the dominant power in Europe. On the pretense that Germany was seeking only living room, he claimed the right of Germany to exercise political domination of Bohemia-Moravia, Slovakia, Hungary, and that part of Poland which has been subjugated and is now occupied by the German forces; to force France and Great Britain to bow the knee to Baal and promise to be good; and to repossess herself of all the colonies she lost in the World War. In other words he is now demanding that the fruits of victory in the World War be taken away from the victors and turned over to the vanquished and is pompously putting Uncle Sam on notice that he will not stop fighting until he accomplishes that end. He thinks he made a great impression on the American visitor. In fact, he appears to think that his boastful speech could have no other effect than to cow Mr. Welles, President Roosevelt, and the whole American people. Vainglorious Fool! If he were in this country, he would be sent to the madhouse before the next new moon.

As one mounts the caprock just west of Post and his vision sweeps the great expanse of plains that lie out before him, he almost instinctively shouts, "What wonderful country!" If he will take only a casual glance at the soil he will exclaim, "What marvelous soil!" And then if he will think but the fraction of a second, he will realize that so rich a soil over so vast a territory must not be used merely to enrich the present generation but must be conserved for the use of future generations. It is passing strange that some men apparently will not try to preserve it unless they are paid to do so. It would seem that only a lunatic would negligently or indifferently permit it to be dissipated or blown away without making a desperate effort to prevent it, whether any government ever pays him a cent to conserve it or not. Few men would be so negligent or indifferent. The trouble has been that, like all the rest of us, they only needed somebody to teach them how to do the job. We think that this Government, through its terracing and contouring program, through the rotation of crops, and through insistence that soil-building crops be planted regularly and systematically on each farm, has done and is doing a wonderful work, not only for the farmer of the present day but for the farmers of future generations as well. And just think! The Government is not only teaching these lessons to the farmer but it is paying him at the same time to be taught. It certainly is a generous government.

NOTHING OFFENSIVE ABOUT THIS STORY

This little story may not suggest the fragrance of the flowers in May but at least there is nothing offensive about it.

Pole cats! But don't turn up your noses until you read further. D. C. Davis read in some paper recently a discussion as to whether or not a skunk can become offensive while suspended in the air by the tail. He said that recalled to him an experience he had once upon a time long, long ago.

Mr. Davis, than whom there is not a truthfuer man in the county, said he went out to his crib one morning, opened the door, and climbed in. To his astonishment, there he stood facing a polecat. Bewildered for a moment, the cunning little animal made a dash for a hole in the floor. While it was in the act of gliding through, Mr. Davis had an irresistible impulse to grab it by the tail. It struggled desperately to get loose but he held it fast. Then he told Travis to run and get the shotgun. The boy scuttled to the house and got it, and sped back to the crib, and there was Dad still maintaining his death-like grip on that striped skunk's bushy tail.

"Shoot it," Dad commanded. Travis put the muzzle of the gun close to the side of the struggling animal and pulled the trigger. The little beastie quivered for a moment and then became limp. D. C. dragged it out of the hole and took a hurried inventory of what had just happened. It then dawned upon him that the little animal had emitted no more odor than if he had been a pet spaniel. He didn't even get a hint of a single whiff. He says he guesses the little fellow was too scared or too busy trying to get loose to do any other devilment.

We told him that we bet he was the only man in all the history of the United States who had had an experience like that. He agreed that that was probably so. And that's what makes it news. Can any of you fellows match it, with an honest-to-goodness true story like this one?

ODDS AND ENDS
By Bee Eye
(the Elder)

If anybody scanned this Odds and Ends column last week, he must have noticed that something happened to it. The tail end of it got chopped off right in the middle of a sentence, which made it look odd indeed. Whether this was purely an accident or was done on purpose by the printer we have never learned. Possibly the printer got sorry for the reader and curtailed the "colyum."

But, as we were discussing one of the most remarkable characters this country has ever produced, though his skin is black, George Washington Carver, the world-renowned scientist at Tuskegee Institute, we will here put down what we were trying to get into print last week.

We had just asked the question, Does George Washington Carver have white blood in his veins? Then we stated that we did not know, and were proceeding to say that whether his skin is black or yellow he was reared as a negro and has always had the status of a negro, but the sentence got chopped off and thrown into the "hell-box" before the end was reached. "As a negro," we stated, "he has made his way in the world to the very peak of service and fame."

And we added: George Washington Carver is as humble as that oldtime "darker" you used to know in the years gone by who would take his old flap-brimmed hat off his head and place it under his arm every time he met you, bow one of his politest bows and say, "Howdy, Massa Jim," or "Howdy, Massa John," as the case might be. Fame has not made a fool of him. He is just as humble and polite today as he was fifty years ago. Yet kings of finance and kings of science bow in reverence to him because of his genius and his achievements.

Yes, George Washington Carver is a native American product. But not all native Americans are George Washington Carvers. South America is still producing monkeys that hang from the trees by their tails and North America is the habitat of numerous loud-braying animals of both the quadruped and biped species, but please don't ask us to call names.

So, that's that! Speaking of monkeys, we guess the main reason they are so interesting is that they are so much like human beings. Don't you like to see them at the circus or the animal show or the zoo?

There are two main divisions of the man-like animals, monkeys proper and apes. Most species of monkeys are little fellows with long tails, while the apes are much larger, some of them larger than giant men, and most species have no tails.

Apes are possibly the more intelligent and are more like human beings than are the little long-tailed monkeys, but the latter are probably the more interesting. Apes are native to the Western continent; monkeys are. Apes of various species are found in Africa, India, and many of the East India islands, particularly Borneo. Monkeys are found in most tropical countries, including Brazil, Venezuela, Central America and Southern Mexico.

The monkeys in captivity can cut many capers that remind us of human beings. They are so much like us human beings that we often speak of the comical stunts of boys and girls as "monkey shines". They are not only like us in their playful and mischievous moods, but they are also like us in many other respects.

It may be interesting to know that the monkey does not believe in "free love". He is no communist, no polygamist. He has only one wife—only one at a time, at least—and he is devoted to her and the children. So far as is known, there are no "triangle" affairs, no divorces, and no swapping of wives in Monkeydom.

Not having schools to attend, nor farms to cultivate, nor businesses to engage their time, young Mr. Monkey selects his wife in early manhood—or she selects him, we don't know which one is the aggressor—but at any rate, pretty early in life the two form a conjugal partnership which they seem to hold just as sacred as if they had taken marital vows before an altar, administered to them by some church dignitary. They get right down to the business of raising a family, and the love that the parents manifest for the children and the children manifest for the parents seems to be stronger than that exhibited by many human families, it is said on good authority.

We doubt if there ever was a case of a monkey wife running off with a handsomer man or a monkey husband running off with a movie star. There is no need for "ku klux klans" in the monkey world.

Like human beings, monkeys often express their love with kisses and caresses, at least these in captivity do. They may catch the habit from human beings or it may be a native instinct with them. We think it is the latter.

Monkeys are peace-loving animals also. We never hear of one monkey tribe making war on another monkey tribe. They don't quarrel over territorial boundaries. They don't prate about "lebenstraum"—living space. If the monkey population begins to get too congested, a group of them get together and move over into another part of the jungle, just as old Abraham and his nephew, Lot, gathered together their families and all their earthly possessions and moved from Haran over into the land of Canaan, just as many a wagon train of emigrants have left kindred and friends in the thickly populated sections of our own country and gone west to conquer the wilderness.

Yes, the monkey is a peace-loving individual. He never fights, it is said, except in self-defense. We never heard of a monkey throwing a tea-cup at his wife nor of the wife shooting the lights out of her husband. We never heard of a monkey desperado. In fact we think that the monkey, even if he were disposed to be mean, would have too much sense to launch out upon a life of crime.

Monkeys can chatter to beat the band. When they become excited or frightened or angry, we are told that they scream out "something fearful". At other times, they moan out their sorrow or whine out their affection plaintively. Sometimes we imagine they croon their little monkey pick-aninies to sleep.

We don't know whether they have a real language or not but they can chatter so as to be easily understood by other monkeys.

So far as has been discovered they have no written literature. But it is believed that some of them write for the newspapers occasionally. It may be that one of them here and there conducts a "colyum."

The monkey is a wonderful animal. May he live long and prosper; and if there is such a thing as evolution, may he do a better job of evolving than man has done.

EUGENE LONG JOINS NEWS FORCE

Eugene Long, who calls Weatherford his old home town but who has been residing at Tatum, New Mexico, the past year, has joined the News force as foreman of the mechanical department.

His family, consisting of a wife and two little sons, are expecting to come over next Sunday to join Mr. Long here.

Mr. Long has had much experience as a printer-operator, having worked with some of the best papers in West Texas. His last work was with the Portales Tribune in New Mexico.

We are sure that Mr. Long and family will find a warm welcome in Tahoka. Not only does he come well recommended as a citizen but he is also a member of the Church of Christ, and we are sure that he and his family will be a distinct asset to the religious life of our town.

George Smith, who has been employed in the News office since Currie Curry left in December, had an opportunity to return to Lamesa, his old home town, for a job with the Dawson County Courier, and said he could not turn down the offer. George is a faithful worker and deserves to succeed. He and family moved this week.

JUNIORS HEAR LIFE INSURANCE DISCUSSION

Mr. J. Carlton Smith, a representative of Southwestern Life Insurance Company, talked Tuesday afternoon to approximately 125 high school students enrolled in Junior Business Training and Economics classes. Since these students had been studying life insurance they were intensely interested in this talk. Many questions were answered that had arisen during previous discussions.

Mr. Smith was a member of the Hardin-Simmons University faculty, teaching courses in business administration, until he resigned to become Assistant Manager of the Abilene branch of the Southwestern Life.

The student body is looking forward to hearing Mr. Smith in an assembly program later in the school year.

YOAKUM COUNTY TO BUILD NORTH-SOUTH HIGHWAY

By a vote of 295 to 104, the voters of Yoakum county voted bonds in the sum of $260,000 Saturday to build a hard-surfaced road north and south through the county, extending from the Cochran county line southward through Plains to Denver City, which is on the south line of the county.

Highway No. 380 has been paved as far west as Plains. The new asphalt paving from Brownfield to Plains is about the best of its kind apparently, in all this section of the state. It is expected that this highway will be paved from Plains to the New Mexico line at Bronco during the current year.

L. M. Nordyke accepted an invitation to attend a big birthday party at the Wooten Hotel in Abilene on Thursday of last week given by the Abilene Reporter-News in honor of all those throughout this section who were born on February 29. Mr. Nordyke declares that he has had only eleven birthdays, and his youngest daughter has had the same number. Levi said 47 attended and all had a great time.

If there were any youngsters born in Lynn county on February 29 this year, the all-important event has not been reported to the News yet.

Lynn county will have a voice at the West Texas Young Democratic Convention to be held in Amarillo March 16, according to Mrs. J. W. Elliott, member of the Texas Democratic Executive Committee.

Hattie Server was named President of the Lynn County Club last Monday. Other officers selected are Walter Mathis and Fred McGinty, vice-presidents; and Lois Daniels, secretary-treasurer.

Members, besides the officers, are: Mrs. J. W. Elliott, Winter Knight, W. E. Smith, P. W. Goad, Carl Griffing, Rosemary Nelms, Mrs. Harley Henderson, A. M. Cade, Tom N. Hale, Sam Holland, B. L. The West Texas convention is expected to rival previous State Conventions, predicts Calvin Hazlewood of Lubbock, Chairman State Young Democratic Executive Committee and President of the West Texas Clubs.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom White were here from their farm west of Lubbock Sunday visiting Mr. and Mrs. Bart Cowan. Mr. White is a brother of Mrs. Cowan. The Whites were in the cafe business for three years next door to the News office here but moved to Lubbock a number of years ago, where they engaged in the same business until a year ago, when they moved out on the farm.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Fenton Sr. returned to Tahoka Monday, after having spent two months with Mrs. Fenton's father and sister at Kent, Custer county. They left Kent about the first of last week and visited at San Angelo before returning home. Mr. Fenton is apparently enjoying excellent health again, following a long siege of illness last fall.

Mrs. E. S. Davis and daughter, Mrs. Mildred Bumpas, left recently for Los Angeles, California, to visit the former's daughter, Mrs. Ruby Fields.

E. H. Cunningham and family of Redwine spent Sunday at Loop visiting S. J. Cowart family, who recently moved there from this county. The Cowarts are residing on a farm which they recently purchased.

NEWS PRINTS BIG CARD JOB

Chicago concern or even to an out-of-the-county printing establishment.

The News has made little effort so far to procure printing of candidate cards this year for the reason that we have been somewhat hampered in our job department recently, but we feel that we are now prepared to do job work promptly and with the most painstaking care.

We assure the candidates that the work we do will be free from the errors that frequently appear when the job is done by a distant concern. While we do not turn out jobs at cut-throat prices, our prices at all times will be very reasonable.

Furthermore, we feel that candidates who get their living and expect to get their votes in Lynn county should

Confucius say:
"Wise is that man, and bound to grow.
Who knows he knows a thing or so
But who is not afraid to show
The many things he doesn't know."

"In like a lion" was certainly a fitting phrase for the first of this March. We hope the rest of the prophecy is fulfilled—out like a lamb.

To wax poetic again, Simms puts it thusly: "Whirling the sands about in his furious car, March cometh from afar."

Maybe we take our children lots of places they shouldn't go. But one place we don't take them—and that's to court.

Let us paint a little scene: A sensational murder trial. A packed courtroom, with people standing at all the windows and crowding in the doors and all down the hall. No outlet for the foul, germ-laden air and tobacco smoke.

Somewhere a crying baby, whooping at intervals with what is obviously the whooping cough. Another mother walking the hall trying to soothe hers, which is crying also, and from the sound of its voice, it must have the croup. Another mother who has stood in the doorway for hours holding in her arms a two year old. All of these exposed to air, and every contagious disease in the courtroom, weakened at the same time by fatigue and foul air.

Throughout the audience and in the balcony are also scattered a group of youngsters ranging all ages. Many of them staying out of school to hear the scandal unfolded. Many of these children's parents would not let their daughters knowingly attend a show or read a book which repeated, or some of the immoral things hinted at, but they either let them or do no realize they are hearing all these things from real life—and how much more influential it might be.

Not to mention that the youngsters, not realizing the seriousness of the thing, are sure to titter at certain situations, and that and the babies' crying often prevents the jury from hearing the testimony. We think there should be a law against children under twelve, or even sixteen, sitting as spectators in a courtroom while a criminal case is being tried.

Maybe we're wrong.

Baptist Young People Entertain Methodist Young People with a Leap Year Social

On Thursday evening of last week the local Baptist Young People entertained with a Leap Year Social in the basement of the Church, in honor of the Young People of the local Methodist Church.

"Something new under the sun!" "Wonder what will be next?" What do you suppose that is like?" were characteristics of the exclamations heard throughout the evening as Miss Bernice Edwards so efficiently directed the activities, contests, and games. It was a "mad rush" that occurred as the off-spring of Eve lost no time in getting their programs filled for the evening's features which were as follows:

1. Tied for life
2. Public Nooks and Pleasant Looks
3. What is Cupid's Game?
4. Woman Proposes
5. Getting Most out of Matrimony
6. Floral Love Story
7. Hearty food (Lovers only)
8. Living Models

Some sixty-five young people and guests enjoyed this hilarious occasion.

FRIENDS HONOR MRS. FAIRES ON BIRTHDAY MONDAY

Please Mr. Editor, will you let a grouchy old shut-in come in this morning?

I awoke this morning with such pleasant memories of the 4th, the prettiest day I've had for a birthday since living on the plains.

Monday morning I began wondering if any of my old friends out in the country would think of my birthday. About ten o'clock an old friend arrived. A little later more friends came and soon there were twenty all told, and my! what a feast of good things to eat, and so many pretty useful gifts, and what a jolly time we all had.

This is the sixth birthday party my old friends of long standing have given me. Guess I am a little bit spoiled. However, I appreciate them to the fullest and hope to be always worthy of their friendship. Respectfully.—Mrs. W. J. Faires.

Stevenson of Junction would be the principal speaker at the West Texas County Judges and Commissioners Ass'n banquet on Friday night, March 22 at San Angelo. Judge Formby, who is president of the association which comprises 124 West Texas counties, said the Lt. Governor had personally accepted the invitation to appear on the program.

Other speakers who have accepted invitations to speak at the convention which will be held March 21, 22, and 23 include Hon. H. P. Drought, Works Projects Administrator for Texas; Senator Penrose Metcalfe of San Angelo; Hon. Robert Lee Bobbitt, member of the Highway commission; Victor Bouldin, former assistant attorney general; Joe Sharp of the Liquor control board; Col. Ernest O. Thompson, member of the Railroad Commission; Dr. Clifford B. Jones, Texas Tech President.

Judge Formby said that he was expecting Hon. Adam R. Johnson of the Texas Welfare Board to appear on the program, also.

Approximately 500 persons are expected to register for the three-day event, Formby said. Registration begins at 3 p. m. on Thursday, March 21. Business sessions will be held on Friday morning, Friday afternoon and Saturday morning. The banquet on Friday night, will be the highlight of the affair.

Jerry Sadler In Governor's Race

Austin, Texas, March 6—Jerry Sadler, young, dynamic and colorful member of the Texas Railroad Commission, this week threw his broad-brimmed hat into the ring for Governor. In his opening announcement, Sadler said that he would have plenty to say later on about the issues in the coming summer primaries.

"The day of pussy-footing and wild promises is over", Sadler declared. "The folks now want something definite. I propose to pay pensions, aid for the blind and needy children, with 2-1-4 cent additional tax on oil and 1 cent per thousand tax on natural gas at the well. I promise to pay the school teachers their money for teacher retirement by tightening the corporation franchise taxes and taxes on pipe lines. As is well known, I am unalterably opposed to sales tax. This will be a campaign of issues and not of personalities."

"This tax program is in keeping with the well-known Democratic theory of taxation based on the ability to pay. Eighty per cent of the oil and gas produced in Texas is sold outside of this state. It is high time that Texas began to profit from her natural resources rather than to permit them to be dissipated for the benefit of other sections", Sadler said.

Sadler, a political unknown two years ago, has amazed the veteran political observers by his quick rise in public affairs in Texas and his grasp of public issues.

W.T.S.C. TEACHER WRITES BOOK

Canyon, March 6—Dr. Ima C. Barlow of the history department of West Texas State College is the author of a new book which will be published April 20.

It is to contain 410 pages and is to come from the University of North Carolina Press.

The title is "The agadir Crisis, 1911." The book concerns the conflict of German and French imperialism in Morocco and incidents leading up to the World War.

The basis of the work is the doctoral dissertation written by Miss Barlow at the University of Texas in 1938. She had written a masters thesis on British imperialism and wished to continue her study of empires.

Her book will be used by students of post-war European history and others interested in modern history. Questioned on her opinion of imperialism, accomplished and plotted, Miss Barlow remarked.

"One inevitably comes to the conclusion that any imperialism is a smutty business."
