British Gain Strength in Mediterranean As German Attack On England Nears

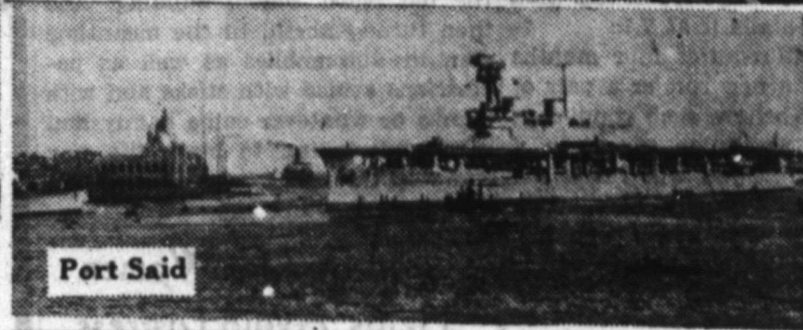

Gibraltar

Malta

Alexandria

Port Said

Events of stupendous importance have been occurring in rapid-fire succession in Europe the past few days. Following the capitulation of the French army to the Germans and the subsequent treaty of peace signed by the leaders of France, the French refused to surrender their fleet into the hands of their ally, Great Britain.

To prevent the fleet from falling into the hands of their enemies, the British navy opened fire on a portion of the fleet at Oran on the north coast of Africa, disabling a part of it and capturing the remainder. A few days ago, the French fleet stationed at Alexandria surrendered to the British. The Germans have therefore been unable to procure any substantial portion of the French fleet.

Early this week British warships in the Mediterranean opened fire on Italian ships, and the latter took flight under a smoke screen.

On Tuesday of this week, under German pressure, the French parliament voted itself out of existence, and the new constitution makes of France a virtual dictatorship along the lines of the Nazi and the Fascist governments of Germany and Italy.

In the meantime, the British and Germans have been waging an aerial warfare of ever-increasing intensity. Hitler declares that England must be utterly destroyed and his threatened invasion of the country—or attempt to invade it—is expected at any moment. Many German planes drop bombs on English coast towns and some (Continued on Last page)

Conway Clingan defeated Frank George in the second flight. Clint Walker beat out A. C. Weaver in the third flight to take first place, while Wade Holland won the consolation over Jack Welch.

Two O'Donnell men were in the fourth flight finals; Bedford Caldwell beating out L. E. Robinson.

Other consolation winners had not posted the results of their contests.

Forty golfers participated in the tournament.

Tinsley Receives Foot Injury

J. O. Tinsley suffered an injury to the lower ankle and back portion of his left foot at about 11 o'clock Monday morning that will probably keep him confined to his room several weeks and on crutches for an indefinite length of time even after he is able to get out. He is now in the Lubbock Sanitarium, where the injury is being treated.

Mr. Tinsley was operating a feed grinder at his home just north of the city when it became somewhat choked up. He undertook to kick the feed down into the mill and got his foot into the mouth of the thing too far. The hooks inside that rotate at a tremendous speed pulling the feed into the grinder caught his foot. Bones were broken and a great cavity on one side of the heel was dug out by the whirling machinery. It was a terribly ugly and painful wound. The shoe was jerked off the foot and taken on through the mill.

After the accident, Mr. Tinsley climbed over a fence, cut off the motor and then crawled to the back door, where he called his daughter. She notified Mrs. Tinsley, who was at the Cafe, and Bascom McCord hurried her to her home in his car. Dr. Sinclair was called, and after giving first aid, the patient was taken hurriedly to the Lubbock Sanitarium.

Daniel Loses In Lubbock Fight

Dan Daniel, Tahoka young hopeful, lost his first professional fight Wednesday night in the Lubbock arena in a preliminary bout at the Richie-Dillon championship fight.

Daniel, district Golden Gloves champion in his weight division, put up a game fight, but his opponent, Ellis Reed of Levelland, was more experienced, and won by a technical knockout in the second round. The decision was loudly booed by the spectators, but officials said it was necessary to stop the fight to prevent serious injury to Daniel.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Patterson recently visited relatives at Seymour.

Common Battery Phone System Nears Completion

Workmen this week began installation of the new common battery telephones in business houses and residences as the last step in construction of the new telephone system in Tahoka by Southwestern Associated Telephone Company. Switch-over to the new system is expected before the end of this month, possibly by July 20.

Joe Jackson, Lubbock, is foreman of the installation crew of seven men which arrived here Monday morning from Levelland, where they have just completed installation of a similar system.

The new common battery switchboard has been in process of installation since June 1, and this work will soon be completed. Two skilled workmen have been here doing that work. The switchboard is a two-position board of the very latest type, and takes care of 800 telephones. On this board the "flash" system is used instead of the old "drop" type. Because of the flash of a light each time a patron rings a phone instead

Mrs. Willingham Killed By Car

Funeral services for Mrs. Lee Willingham of the Acuff community, Lubbock County, who was killed in an automobile collision near Levelland while on the way to the Sunday school in Hoekey county about six o'clock Wednesday afternoon of last week, were conducted in the Church of Christ here Thursday afternoon, July 4. The body was buried in the Tahoka Cemetery.

In the car with Mrs. Willingham at the time of the fatal accident were her husband and two daughters and a sister, who was driving.

One report was that a blowout of a tire on a car which they were meeting caused it to swerve and strike their car. Another report was that the car which they were meeting was swinging from first one side of the road to the other, that they went into the bar ditch in an effort to avoid a collision, but that the other car struck theirs in spite of their attempts to escape. At any rate the fatal collision was not the result of any negligence or carelessness on the part of the driver of the Willingham car.

A number of the occupants of the two cars were seriously hurt.

Mr. and Mrs. Willingham lived in this county for a number of years and had many friends here, who deeply deplore her tragic death.

Compares Russia With Our Country

(From the Semi-Weekly Farm News)

Not long ago Mr. Hudson wrote that Communism, or Socialism, would be the remedy for our national ills. I know it would not because in Russia they have Communism, and look at the poor people there. They have no political freedom in Russia. Political liberty as well is dead. All those rights which Americans hold dear, all those political privileges which were fought for and died for by our forefathers—the right to vote, to have free speech, free press, free assembly, trial by jury, the right to petition and other rights guaranteed us in the immortal Bill of Rights, are unheard of in Russia.

And look at the wages they get. About 120,000,000 to 125,000,000 receive little or no wages. They are paid in kind and subsist on black bread. Around ten million are in prison camps.

Autos you cannot buy in Russia. There are 400,000 autos there but they are mostly trucks and cars of government officials. Only 2,000 are privately owned.

Look at food costs in Russia: Steak $1.15 a pound, butter $1.82 a pound, eggs $1.56 per dozen, coffee $12 a pound. They even have no religious liberty. Communism thrives on hate. They hate God, they hate religion, they hate the dignity of the human personality, they hate love, they hate man's inalienable rights, they hate democracy.

Several years ago when Mr. Robert L. Ripley visited Russia he reported that the mass starvation in that country was not due to crop failure, but to man-made famine. The Soviet Government deliberately caused chaos by robbing the farmers of their grain in order to sell it to foreign countries and acquire foreign currency.

The Soviet Government holds money more valuable than the lives of its people. In the meantime, ac-ording to Mr. Ripley, the people struggled to subsist on dogs, cats, weeds and grass, even extracting the gold filling from their teeth in order to buy a loaf of bread.

Eugene Lyons spent a number of years in Russia. And look what happened when he was leaving. When Mr. Lyons was leaving Russia a Russian friend came to him, kissed him warmly on both cheeks and pleaded, "Dear Gene, only one thing I ask of you—when you are out in the free world tell the truth about Russia. Tell them what we would tell if we dared."

Mr. Lyons said, "I had the sense to leave behind me a nation trapped, trapped physically with bloodhounds and machine guns and death sentences guarding the frontiers to prevent people from escaping with a passport system.

The Soviet farmers are being paid an average of 3.4c a gallon for their milk by the government. The government reselling it to the public around 30c a gallon. Tea is bought from the peasants for about $1 a pound, sold for nearly $10 a pound. The government buys rye at less than 1c a pound, retails it at 7.7c.

In Russia it requires four months wages to buy a new suit or a pair of shoes. If you believe such conditions would mean revolution except in a ruthless tyranny you will reach the deduction shared widely here. You will also understand why Stalin has the only army in the world which is not permitted to have charge of its own armunitions.

Now if there is somebody who does not like our democracy he may go to Russia and try some of their bread. If he has no money for the trip I am sure that one would pay his way. I would myself if I was able to.

Good luck to all the readers and the Editor for putting out such a wonderful paper.—VINCE PIVONKA, Jourdanon, Atascosa Co., Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Lane and Mrs. R. L. Gray spent Saturday night in Roswell, New Mexico.

RUNAWAY HORSE CAUSES MUCH COMMOTION

A runaway horse attached to a wagon made a wild excursion over several streets in south Tahoka Sunday afternoon, creating quite a bit of commotion as well as motion.

The horse and wagon belonged to O. G. Threet living in the southeast part of town. He and his son were hitching a team from a wagon, and the traces of one of the horses had been dropped. Mr. Threet thought that the traces of the other had been dropped also, so he pulled off that horse's bridle and gave him a rap on the rump. The horse sprang forward and began to run, dragging the wagon after him. Almost immediately the tongue was broken out, and here went the frisky pony helter skelter up the street, apparently imagining that he was some sort of a Nancy Hanks and forgetting that the wagon was attached.

He crossed the highway down south of the square, scurried up near the old ward school building, and then turned north. In the meantime men in automobiles as well as pedestrians armed with sticks and with planks or whatever came handy had been undertaking to block the way and stop the wild career of the half-

"Build-Up" for Women Helps Avoid Distress

Do you suffer periodically from headaches, nervousness, irritability, cramp-like pain? If so, here's good news! These may be symptoms of functional dysmenorrhoea due to malnutrition, often helped by CARDUL.

CARDUL usually increases appetite and the flow of gastric juice; so aids digestion and helps build up strength, energy, physical resistance. Result for many is less periodic distress. crazed animal. Finally they succeeded in stopping him without serious damage having been done.

It reminded one of the old horse and buggy days—or rather, the horse and wagon days. Such a scene now is as rare as hoop skirts and side saddles.

Jack Cox, who is still a patient in the hospital at Fort Sill, Oklahoma, as the result of injuries sustained in a car wreck near Tahoka last year, spent the weekend here visiting with his mother, Mrs. R. L. Gray, and other relatives and friends. He returned to Fort Sill Monday and will probably be there until October. It is still necessary for him to wear a back brace part of the time.

Mrs. T. A. Stone, Mrs. D. B. Nash, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Stone, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stone, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stone spent the Fourth with Mrs. Lee Fay Gray and daughter, Georgia Cox.

Jim Wetsel and C. T. O'iver slipped off down to Waco when Governor O'Daniel spoke there to help cheer for him. They didn't make much noise about it before they left, but they came back very enthusiastic about the meeting. In fact Jim says he would have gone clear to Corpus Christi rather than to have missed the speech.

Herbert Womack, student in Texas Tech, spent last week end with home folks.

Elizabeth Howard of Lubbock is visiting her cousins Jean and Joan Henderson and Patricia Hill this week.

The period for the casting of absentee votes in the primary election of July 27 opened last Sunday. Up to Thursday morning of this week only seven absentee votes had been cast.

County Clerk Walter Mathis stated that he had sent out about 50 ballots to applicants, however, those desiring to cast an absentee ballot should make application to him for a blank ballot at once or within the next few days.

Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Kanaday and two children of Nashville, Arkansas, are leaving for their home today after a visit here with G. M. Reid and other relatives. They arrived Wednesday night from Bakersfield, California, where they had been to visit. Mrs. Preston Strasner, who had been visiting her mother, Mrs. W. E. Sikes, at this place, accompanied the Kanadays to Bakersfield, where she lives, last week.

After a visit of ten days here with home folks, Miss Berta Hill left early Thursday morning for a brief visit with friends at Cameron and Galveston, after which she will return to her work at Groveton. She was accompanied by Mrs. E. I. Hill as far as Rogers, Bell county, where she will visit her father and other relatives.

Mrs. Roy Brewer and two children, Patsy and Peggy, of the lower Rio Grande Valley are here visiting the former's sister, Mrs. Minnie Pender and family. They went to Amarillo a few days ago and brought back home Thomas Pender, who had been visiting a sister there.

CHEER UP, CHARLEY!

The British and the French went into this war expecting the help of the United States. They received great and continuous encouragement in that expectation from our White House. But if they had received no encouragement and no matter how slight the justification for help might have been, they still expected it. They have been disappointed. Disappointment engenders bitterness.

If it now happens that Britain goes on to disaster and America is later forced to war with the totalitarian powers, we can't place any reliance upon sympathy in France or the British Islands. We must consider the possibility they might even be lined up against us for reasons of revenge and out of hope of sharing in a Western Hemisphere grab.

The possibility of having to fight practically the whole of Europe, and probably Japan at the same time, isn't one to excite merriment on this side of the Atlantic. But it is a possibility which we must face and for which we must be prepared before we can ever be safe.—Lubbock Avalanche-Journal.

Cheer up, Charley. Why be so pessimistic?

Who told you that we had not gone to the help of the French and the British?

Who told you that they are disappointed and disgruntled and that they are ready to throw in with their bitterest enemy and try to rend us in the event they are conquered by that enemy?

Who told you that they are burning with a desire for revenge upon us?

Who told you that they would welcome an opportunity to help grab up the western hemisphere?

Where did you get your grouch against the British and the French anyway?

Why do you think that there is a possibility that we will soon have to fight "practically the whole of Europe", including Great Britain and France?

Aren't you getting a little "Jittery"?

Do you really think that the British have a grudge against us?

Are you sure that they did not receive the help from us that we promised?

Our information is that we could have begun supplying planes and war materials to both Great Britain and France many months before we did if they had only called upon us to do. They did not place their orders for those materials and naturally we did not have them ready in great quantities when they did make the call. When Hitler began to edge over into France, then the French became frantic and began to send us S. O. S. calls for swarms of airplanes in a jiffy. Of course we couldn't get over there fast enough to save the French from the Nazis even if airplanes would have saved them. Why should they be sore at us? We don't think they are.

And what evidence do you have that the British are disappointed and sore at us? Ever since they began to call upon us, we have been rushing them war materials as fast as we could get it to them. Have they been expressing disappointment? Not that we have heard of. On the other hand they have been expressing appreciation and gratitude for the help we have been giving them.

By the way, Charley, it hasn't been long since you thought we were giving them a superabundance of help. You didn't want us to speak even a kind or encouraging word in their favor. Somebody might think we were not neutral, you know, and you thought that by all means we should remain neutral. If you had had your way, we would have sent them nothing up to this very moment, not if you still

"I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people; whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a Republic; a sovereign Nation of many sovereign States; a perfect Union, one and inseparable; established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes.

"I therefore believe it is my duty to my Country to love it; to obey its laws; to respect its flag; and to defend it against all enemies."—William Tyler Page.

think that we should be absolutely neutral in deed and in word.

A few weeks ago you thought folks were getting hysterical when they suggested that if Hitler should conquer the rest of Europe then he might turn his attention to America.

Now you are suggesting the possibility that the nations over there that we have been helping may join in with him and help him to clean up on us.

We don't think they will except as unwilling vassals of the mighty German totalitarian state.

Is it possible that you need something for your nerves?

Cheer up, Charley, cheer up!

REGRETTABLE, BUT NECESSARY

Few of us, if any, ever expected to see the day when we'd cheer the partial destruction of the naval forces of our oldest and friendliest ally, the Republic of France; but necessary circumstances, like politics, make strange bedfellows.

There is a good deal of selfishness in our cheers for the immobilization of the French navy, to be sure. We had been terribly afraid that it would be taken in hand by the Germans and turned against us. That fear was not baseless, by any means; it had a good, substantial foundation in fact. With the French navy, fourth greatest in the world, plus the remnants of the German navy and all the Italian navy, the totalitarian powers would be in position to make short work of crushing Great Britain and thus remove the last bulwark to Atlantic defenses against the aggressor nations.

But they didn't get the French navy, thanks to a bit of fast work by the seadogs of Britain. And if we cheer the outcome, we won't forget to drop a few tears of sympathy for the French, who not only have been bereft of their country but are now bereft of their navy.

Only a childlike mind could possibly imagine that Hitler would have kept his word and not use the French navy against Britain.

With that navy he would have sealed the fate of the British Empire in short order.

That done, Hitler would have been in position to take his pick of the western possessions of his victims. Only the United States navy would stand in the way. The moment we moved the main fleet from the Pacific to the Atlantic, Japan would become Hitler's stooge and begin to make hostile demonstrations against us in the Pacific. We would be in for some uncomfortable moments, perhaps for an attack against which we would be inadequately prepared.

All this could have happened in three months—if Hitler had got the French fleet. But he didn't get it, and so we still have time in which to make our defenses adequate.

A nation that is fighting for its life, as Britain is, can hardly take time out to observe all the amenities of life. It is fighting a war to the death, a war in which the other side disregards all the recognized laws of warfare. Who are we to say that Britain should not have opened fire on its former allies to compel surrender of a weapon which inevitably would have been used against her?

Regardless of the circumstances, every man, woman and child in the Western Hemisphere can breathe easier now that it is certain Hitler is not to find a first-class fleet ready to his hand.

We regret that circumstances made immobilization of the French fleet by force necessary, but we can be grateful that it doesn't fall into hands hostile to our interests.—Ablene Reporter-News.

IT LOOKS LIKE TREASON

The French are a great people. The soldiers of France fought the powerful, on-coming hosts of Germans with heroic courage.

But they were greatly outnumbered by the foe and were pitifully poorly armed as compared with their assailants. As they sought to stop Hitler's hordes of giant army tanks supported by swarms of bomb-dropping war planes with a mere handful of inferior tanks and a handful of fighting planes of their own, it became evident that somebody had blundered.

French statesmen, like English statesmen, apparently had been asleep at the switch. Possibly they were ignorant of the vast superiority of the powerful war machine the Germans were building up. If so, it would seem to be criminal ignorance.

It may be that the French felt too secure behind their Maginot line.

And it may be that there was a "fifth column" at work in France all the time.

At any rate, the recent conduct of Premier Petain and his little coterie in the present French "cabinet" smacks of perfidy if not outright treason.

We can understand how the French, whipped to a frazzle and bleeding at every pore, might be willing to surrender to the Germans although that surrender might mean disaster for their British allies.

the British have been sold down the river by Petain and his coadjutors for a mere mess of pottage.

The German government sent to Secretary Hull a note a few days ago in which it stated that it had no intention of acquiring any territory in the western hemisphere, yet at the same time it would pay no attention to the Monroe Doctrine.

Then it warned the United States that if it expected Germany not to meddle with affairs in the western hemisphere it should quit meddling with affairs in Europe. On the face of it that sounds like a fair proposal, but it is entirely beside the point.

The United States has never sought to acquire territory in Europe. It is not doing so now. But Germany can not deny that she has long sought opportunity to gain a foothold on the Western continent. Her present war of conquest in which she has subjugated unoffending neighboring nations that do have possessions in the Western hemisphere would naturally lead to the belief that she would undertake to assert her sovereignty over these western possessions as soon as she might deem the time to be opportune.

She does have designs in the Western hemisphere and everybody knows it. Any statement made to the contrary is merely another one of Hitler's lies. She has spies and Nazi fifth columnists in almost every nation in the western hemisphere today. She has them in the United States. And if she succeeds in crushing Great Britain she will then proceed to make trouble for us. She puts us on notice to that effect when she notifies us that she will pay no attention to our Monroe Doctrine.

ELEER DRENNON'S NOTES

I am back in good old Texas, the best state with the best Governor in the Union.

The meeting at Eunice resulted in reviving the church and eight responding to the gospel call.

I guess I will have to apologize to Editor Hill and some friends at O'Donnell for some things I said last week. I was misunderstood. I did not mean that all the good people in Texas were for Brother O'Daniel. I meant that I did not find any thugs, drunkards, saloon keepers, etc. for him in New Mexico, neither have I found that class for him in Texas. I hope this will not be misunderstood.

As to Editor Hill's comments, I am glad he is on the mourners bench; it will do him good, and I will join him, I feel just like him, very humble.

But there is another Scripture I would like for him to give attention. It is Matthew 7:12. If he will practice that on Brother O'Daniel I will feel satisfied.

But laying all jokes aside, the straw voting looks good to us who are for O'Daniel. If they are to be trusted there will be no need for a run off. Of course we discount them a great deal, still it looks from where we sit like another landslide for O'Daniel.

Jerry Sadler, Editor Hill, and Thompson condemn O'Daniel's sale tax yet they don't seem to agree on a definite plan that is better; or at least that is the way it seems to me.

I will fill the pulpit here next Lord's day both morning and evening; then the following Friday I will leave for Grayson county for my fourth meeting at Willow Springs near the big dam on Red River.

Yours for more husbands who will treat their wives as courteously as they do other women.—R. P. Drennon.

(Ed. Note: It might be well for all of us to try to live by the Golden Rule. But we are not sure that you are observing it much more strictly than we are. And by the way, how did you happen to skip verses 3 & 4 in that seventh chapter of Matthew. It speaks about picking motes out of your brother's eye, you know you should read that occasionally. As for the thugs, Brother Drennon, if they are not rooting for O'Daniel they ought to be, for he is not going to let any of them be sent to the hot chair if he can help it.

REPLY TO ELDER DRENNON

Editor Lynn Co. News:

Having been a subscriber to the News for several years, I beg the privilege to reply to what Elder Drennon had to say in his notes in last week's paper.

I notice he said the better class of people in New Mexico as well as here were for his Brother O'Daniel.

I am surprised that a preacher would make such a statement for publication. It seems to me that in troublesome times like we now have, a preacher should be the last one to make or write a statement that would have a tendency to stir up strife and hatred between citizens of our country and state. There is no ground anywhere in this town, county, or state, for such a statement.

The Elder is either very unfamiliar with the political situation in Lynn county and the state or else he must be "sore" at some one who opposes his views religiously and politically, and he wants to lash them. To do so he talks too much and insults every one that opposes his view politically.

There are hundreds, yes thousands of men and women in Lynn county and in Texas who are doubtless just as good and just as high class citizens as the Elder who will not vote for O'Daniel—but they are more thoughtful and considerate of their friends and neighbors who are supporting O'Daniel than to make any statement reflecting on them.

It is more than I can understand, why a Christian preacher would place the voters in classes of Good, Better, and Bad, according to the candidate they vote for, and I believe the voters of this county who are supporting other candidates for governor other than Mr. O'Daniel would join me in resenting the distinction in classes the Elder made in last week's Notes.—Respectfully, A. L. Dunagan, Tahoka, Ri. 4.

(Ed. Note: We do not think Brother Drennon's remarks were intended to be insulting, merely thoughtless.

but having made them he must concede others the right to reply. We hope that nobody takes offense and that this may end the matter.)

Mrs. Mollie Doss returned July 4 from a short visit to Oklahoma City, having gone over on Sunday June 30. She made the trip with her nephew and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Coleman Browning of Post, and Mrs. Browning's mother, Mrs. Everett Hill, and the latter's father, Mr. Parris of Graham Chapel.

Miss Ethel Goad has as guests this week two of her cousins, Misses Nada Pearl and Mary Dee Goad of Fort Worth. After a week's visit here the young ladies expect to visit their maternal grandmother in Littlefield.

Miss Betty Ellis, pastor of the local Nazarene Church, who recently spent two weeks at the bedside of her mother in Goldthwaite, reports that her mother now is recovering satisfactorily.

Dear Scrapbook:

I think I made my biggest blunder when I promised to write this column, for gossip is as scarce as oysters in stew.

In fact, it was almost as bad a mistake as the one the little boy made the first time he went to Sunday School. He had been accustomed to buying groceries at the neighborhood grocery where his parents had an account, and bringing the bill to his mother. When he made his first visit to Sunday School, he was given a card to take home. He rushed in and presented it to his mother with the comment, "Here's the bill!"

But if he had seen as many bill collectors as we have the past few weeks, we can't blame him for making an error.

Mrs. Hope Haynes

Thanks, Opal, that will be some help—now we won't have much to write.

We've forgotten who started this, but one editor was quoted by Otto Boerdenkircher in the Star-Telegram as saying he was willing to go half way with the Fifth Columnists—he'd like to take them half way across the Atlantic and let them swim the other half.

We were discussing family trees with Dr. J. R. Singleton. We bragged that we were supposed to have descended from Pocahontas and John Rolfe—provided there ever was a Pocahontas—and he claims a General in the Revolution—but he warned us, "Don't examine your family tree too closely, you might find a few you wouldn't want to claim" . . . we intend to take that advice, and let sleeping horse thieves lie.

SINCLAIRS TO LEAVE
Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Sinclair left Thursday morning for Michigan and Ontario, Canada. Mrs. Sinclair will visit her parents in Michigan and the Doctor will visit his parents in Ontario. They plan to return August 15th.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Waldrep of Wells and Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Turner of this city recently made a visit with relatives at Albuquerque, N. M.

CORYELL COUNTY REUNION SUNDAY

Among those attending the reunion of former residents of Coryell county in MacKenzie State Park in Lubbock last Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. T. I. Tippit, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Tippit, Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Botkin, Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Botkin, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Farmer, and their families.

There were probably a number of others from this county in attendance.

Misses Beryl and Edith Robertson and Messrs. James Butler and Elwayne Nevill attended the Cowboy Reunion at Stamford on the Fourth.

Odds and Ends See Eye, the Elder

Dead schools! colleges and academies! Tumbled-down walls! Deep-toned bells now silent!

How sweet and sad are the memories of the fine old schools, long since perished, that we attended in youth—we who now have creases in our faces and silver in our hair.

There were many such schools scattered over Texas a half century ago or a little further back. Fine old institutions they were. A few of them still survive, with names or locations, or both, changed. Very, very few indeed exist today under the same name and in the same location where they originally existed. Where some of them stood are only masses of ruins, piles of rock or brick or other debris in the midst of rank and unattractive weeds or brush. Where others stood, the ruins have been cleared away to make room for other buildings. On the site of still others are open fields or pasture lands. Not a trace of them is left.

As many of the old towns were killed by new towns that sprang up along the railroads built near by, so many of the fine old schools of the early days—established by some church, or some stock company, or some group of forward-looking individuals—were gradually starved out by state schools built and maintained with public funds derived from taxation, with larger and more adequate buildings better furnished and equipped.

But these old schools served well their day and generation. They filled a gap that could not be filled very well in any other way at the time. Many of them were short-lived, but they did not live in vain. They laid the foundations of the civilization that we have in Texas today. In them were educated many of the men and women who later filled college chairs, or taught in the public schools, or stood in the pulpits of our churches, or served in the legislature, or in congress, or in other high positions of the state and nation, or in humbler stations as leaders in their respective communities. Some of these men and women are living and serving yet. Others of them have passed on.

These colleges and academies did not cover as broad a field as do the colleges and high schools of today. The curriculum was more restricted and less diversified, but it does seem to us that the work done was more thorough. In this, however, we may be in error. Certainly more attention was given to the classics and to the cultivation of character. Little attention was given to athletics in those days. Nobody went wild over football. There was no rivalry between schools in athletic activities. But we believe that the graduates of these respective schools loved their "alma mater" with a deeper devotion than does the present-day college graduate.

A few years ago there was constructed on the campus of the State Teachers College in Canyon a lodge and recreation building for the use of the college athletic boys. It was built of many kinds of stone, including numerous specimens of petrified wood, gathered from many sections of our country. Into the structure just over the fireplace was placed a stone that came from the tumbled-down walls of the old Salado College, operated in its later years as The Thomas Arnold High School. The stone had been taken from the ruins of the Salado school by the President of the Canyon institution as a prized relic of the building that housed his Alma Mater. His devotion to the old Thomas Arnold, where he received his high school diploma, was so deep and so well known to the Canyon students that, in his absence, they instructed the workmen to place the stone in the wall of the rising structure. And there it may be seen today. A great pile of stone and a few broken walls still stand, or at least did still stand a few years ago, on the site of the old Salado school.

It was in 1859 that the citizens of the old town of Salado met in mass meeting and resolved to build a college. Col. Sterling C. Robertson, one of the early colonists of Texas, offered a hundred acres of land. In February, 1860, the Legislature passed an Act incorporating Salado College, giving it the authority to grant diplomas and confer degrees. It was to be a co-educational, non-denominational institution. In the meantime, a temporary structure had been built, a president and a college faculty chosen, and school opened on February 20, 1860 with 75 students. A substantial stone building was soon constructed and the new institution grew and flourished. Rev. Levi Tenney, a Presbyterian minister, was the first President, but the school saw its best days under the guidance of Prof. S. L. Smith, who was president of the institution for a number of years. It was then one of the very few colleges in the state and drew students from all that portion of the state then inhabited by English-speaking people. In the hey-day of its existence it had as high as 300 and 400 students, which was a large number for a Texas school in that early day. Among its students were men who later became distinguished as educators, ministers, writers, politicians, lawyers, doctors, and business men.

The old Salado College had been chartered for a period of twenty years, and for some reason, at the end of that period or soon thereafter it ceased to exist. The public school, for a time, was conducted within its walls, and then, in about 1890 a kind of stock company or association was formed and an academy was opened. It was named The Thomas Arnold High School, "in grateful memory of the man who made the men who made England", Thomas Arnold, master of Rugby. It was called a high school, but it gave a four years course in Latin and a three years course in Greek. The classics and English were stressed in the colleges and academies of that day.

The co-principals of the Thomas Arnold were Dr. S. J. Jones and Prof. T. J. Witt. The latter was the practical member of the co-partnership. He held B. A. and M. A. degrees from Baylor University, was an expert mathematician and learned in the sciences, and stood high in the educational circles of the state.

But Dr. Jones was the real scholar, the impractical genius, the marvelous teacher, the peculiar but lovable and outstanding character, who at once gained and held the undying affection and devotion of his students and continually astonished and amused them with his vagaries and especially his lack of familiarity with the every-day affairs of life, particularly of farm life—and most of his students came from the farm.

Fortunately, he seemed to glory in his unfamiliarity with these things and was probably more familiar with them than he pretended to be, greatly enjoying the good-natured quips and fun poked at him by his students. He ridiculed the practical and exalted the ideal, the cultural and intellectual and spiritual values to be derived from a college course. Strange as it may seem, however, he was almost as proficient in mathematics and science as he was in Latin and Greek and English, in which fields he was a master.

Dr. Jones held an M. A. degree from Vanderbilt University and a Ph. D. degree from the University of Virginia. He could roll off his Latin and Greek as a Holy Roller can clatter off the Unknown tongue, the difference being that he understood perfectly what he was saying whereas the Holy Roller understands nothing.

He was one of the great men of Texas, and though long since dead, he lives today in the affections and the lives of hundreds of students who came under his benign influence.

The old Thomas Arnold flourished for a dozen years, though it never had a large number of students, and then came upon evil days and perished.

Once, in the early years of the present century, all that was inflammable in the structure of the old building was burned, and the sight of the blackened, broken walls brought tears to the eyes of many an alumnus and alumna. Then citizens of Salado and friends of the school raised the money and rebuilt the structure; but it had little of the quiet dignity and attractiveness of the original building. Then, a few years, fire came again and gutted the building. It was never rebuilt. The ravages of time and the hand of the vandal gradually completed the work of destruction; and the old schools, Salado College and the Thomas Arnold, now live only in the memories and the lives of men and women. And they will thus live for generations!

Mrs. G. W. Short went down to Stamford Wednesday to attend the Cowboy Reunion, returning home on Sunday.

Vegetable Laxative Has Important Points

Most people want a laxative to do three things: (1) act punctually, (2) act thoroughly, (3) act gently.

Here's one that usually fills all three requirements when the easy directions are followed. It's an all-vegetable product whose principal ingredient has medical recognition as an "intestinal tonic-laxative."

That's the ingredient which enables BLACK-DRAUGHT to help ease lazy bowel muscles. It is the main reason for the satisfying relief from constipation that generally follows next morning when BLACK-DRAUGHT is taken at bedtime. The millions of packages used are proof of its merit.

1. d. twenty miles an hour. The most common fault in hill climbing is failure to shift to a lower gear soon enough. This is dangerous because it may mean a stalled motor on a dangerous grade. The correct answer of 20 miles an hour given here is approximate, and recommended by good drivers as well as automobile engineers. It may vary slightly with different makes of cars. The main thing is for you to set a fairly definite point for yourself which will keep you out of trouble.

2. d. the same gear you would use to get up the hill. If the hill is steep enough so you would have to go up in second or even first gear, it is wise to get into that same gear when going down. The engine works as a brake and saves wear and tear on your real brakes. Never descend a hill in neutral.

3. False. The "one-drink" driver may be as dangerous on the road as the inebriate because even a slight exhilaration may cause him to take chances. Studies indicate that one or two drinks definitely impair one's driving ability.

Remains In Race

To the voters of the 106th Judicial District of Texas:
The report has been circulated that I have withdrawn from the race for District Attorney due to my recent illness. It is true that I have made a supreme fight for my life to overcome the serious illness which I have had to endure since March of this year, and now it seems that the good Lord has spared me for a purpose; and that in the next few weeks my health will be back to normal. I am glad to say I am improving daily, but my physicians advise no vigorous campaign for another three weeks. Therefore, I call on all my friends to stay with me in the coming Primary and thus give me a last chance to serve you as District Attorney in that same fighting spirit which I have had to put up in my illness. I assure you your loyalty to me will ever be remembered and I feel sure I can see many of you before the Second Primary if you will put me in the run-off.

ATTEND HOME-COMING AT HAMILTON
Mr. and Mrs. W. H. May and grand-daughter, Wanda Louise Baker, and Mrs. May's sister, Mrs. S. A. Cummins, had a pleasant week-end trip to Hamilton and near-by points, going down Friday and returning home Monday.

Having been born and reared at Hamilton, Mesdames May and Cummins were eager to attend the sixtieth anniversary and home-coming of the First Baptist Church in Hamilton, which was celebrated Sunday with religious services and a big dinner.

While there they visited relatives and friends at Gustine, Blue Ridge, and Carlton. They expected to be with Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Lowe at Carlton but found that they were visiting in Mississippi at the time.

A GOOD MAN FOR CHIEF JUSTICE

The News has received an endorsement by the McLennan County Bar of the candidacy of Judge James P. Alexander for the position of Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Texas.

We give a few facts gleaned from this statement concerning the life and record of this distinguished citizen. Judge Alexander was born and reared at Moody in McLennan county; and is 57 years old. He received his law degree at the University of Texas in 1908. He served as county judge of McLennan county from 1916 to 1920, and as judge of the 19th district court in that county from 1920 to 1924, and then voluntarily retired.

He engaged in the private practice of law from 1924 to 1930, having his office in Waco. In the latter year he was elected Associate Justice of the Court of Civil Appeals for the Tenth Supreme Judicial District at Waco and has served in that position ever since.

In addition to his other duties, since 1920 he has taught a regular course in Civil Procedure in the Baylor University Law School.

While he has been a member of the Court of Civil Appeals, the entire court has written 1200 opinions; of this number 808 were written by Judge Alexander. His appellate record is exceptional. Less than three per cent of his decisions have been reversed by the Supreme Court. For two entire years during his tenure, the Supreme court did not grant a single writ of error in any case in which he had written the opinion, and during another year only one writ of error was granted by the Supreme Court, and the judgment of the Court of Civil Appeals was affirmed in that instance.

Judge Alexander is undoubtedly one of the best qualified men in Texas for the position he seeks.

Editor and Wife Take Vacation

Mrs. Hill and the editor took their summer vacation Sunday. They climbed into the "chevy", turned its nose east, and stepped on the gas. The first stop was at Buffalo Gap, first county seat of Taylor county, situated about fourteen miles south, slightly southwest, of Abilene.

We found several hundred people already on the grounds. How come? Well, it was Bell County Day, Long, tall, keen Frank Grimes of the Abilene Reporter-News; bushy-headed big-hearted, cannon-voiced Jim Stinson, who has been threatening to practice law in and around Abilene for the past thirty or forty years, and his co-conspirators, the smooth and smiling Ernest Brooks and the keen-witted, hard hitting Will Hair; together with the judicious Judge Chapman, who manages to keep these other boys straight,—these were the men who initiated and engineered the affair.

All and sundry now living anywhere in West Texas who had ever lived in Bell county were invited to be present. Everybody except Jim and Ma were there—and they doubtless would have been there if they had lived a little further west. But they are domiciled pretty close up under the dome of the capitol—and we understand that they would not be averse to moving in a little closer.

No, we'll take it back; not all ex-Bell countians living in West Texas were there. But close to six hundred of them were there and registered. We had known about 597 of them.

It was a great occasion for the editor and his wife, folks. Now if you will pardon us for this personal reference this one time, folks, maybe we will not offend again for at least two or three weeks.

We may tell you something of that old "ghost town" of Buffalo Gap and the fine school that was once there in an early issue of this paper though.

BAPTIST W. M. S.

"Two Ideas of Prayer" was the subject for the monthly missionary program from "Royal Service", when the Baptist W. M. S. met at the Church Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Belton Howell was program leader and Misses Jim Burleson, W. H. Kenley, H. D. Henderson, Garland Pennington, and P. W. Goad gave parts on the program.

These talks brought to mind, with force, the fact that Christian people of our land must work harder to strengthen the spiritual ties with our neighbors, the Cubans, the Mexicans, and the South Americans.

Mrs. Becca Eubanks of Mena, Arkansas, is leaving for her home the latter part of this week after a visit with her sister, Mrs. J. J. Waldrep of the Wells community.

The News received a communication from G. E. Hogan a few days ago stating that he and Mrs. Hogan are spending the summer with George Hogan and family at Big Spring.

"Build-Up" Relief Explained to Women

A simple method has saved many women a lot of suffering! It is based on the fact that headaches, nervousness, cramp-like pain are often symptoms of functional dysmenorrhea due to malnutrition.

Help for this condition so often follows the use of CARDUI, because it usually increases the appetite and the flow of gastric juice; thus aids digestion and helps build physical resistance. Usual result is less periodic distress.

Many who take CARDUI a few days before and during "the time" have found this helps ease periodic discomfort. Women have used CARDUI for more than 50 years!

Infant in Pre-School
 There were eighty admissions to this service. One hundred ninety home visits were made to these children. Stress has been placed on feeding, medical supervision and immunization.

Interpretation of physician's orders have been given these mothers regarding the problems in relation to feeding. The mothers have been taught the signs and symptoms of communicable diseases and the spread of disease has been prevented through instruction and isolation.

School Hygiene
 Inspection by physician and nurse 95. Inspection by dentists, 2,150. Corrections since inspections, approximately 75. Individuals admitted to nursing service, 3. Home visits, 8. The Dental Health Puppet Show was shown to six schools with an attendance of one thousand eight hundred sixty five.

A classroom health talk was made to a group of thirty five.

The primary aim is to secure maximum health of every school child through his own intelligent cooperation and that of all others who control his environment. All activities of the school health program are educational in character and the responsibility rests on the teacher to carry out an effective program. Literature has been distributed among the teachers in order that they might learn and recognize the early symptoms of the communicable disease and thereby prevent the spread in the school. Physician inspections were made of pupils to discover physical defects and acquaint the parent of this defect.

Cripple Children Service
 A number of cripple children have been discovered and we have tried to stress on the parent the importance of having the correction made as early as possible and how they might have benefit of state aid if needed.

General Sanitation
 Two public lectures and talks were made on sanitation with two hundred twenty five in attendance. Educational work in sanitation has consisted of the following: 1.

 of the drop of a "flap" on the board, the new system, among other improvements, will eliminate the overlooking of calls by operators.

Several months ago, lines of the company were rebuilt over most of the city, and when the present work is complete Tahoka will have a telephone system as good as any. The News is told.

Improvement of the system was made possible by R. B. Fairley, Lubbock, president of the company, and E. C. Thyrop, Brownfield, district manager, through the efforts and cooperation of Mayer Deen Nowlin and the Tahoka City Council.

When Dr. and Mrs. K. R. Durham and children returned a few days ago from their trip to Seattle and many intermediate points, in which they were joined at Amarillo by relatives from Arkansas, the Doctor's nephew, Maclin McKeehan of Fayetteville, returned to Tahoka with them for a few weeks visit here. Maclin, as well as the Doctor, declares that they saw some marvelous scenery, and the Doctor has just about half-way promised to write up some of his observations for publication.

Sanitary inspection of all school buildings have been made by the sanitarian. Also complete sanitary inspection of all tourist camps and eating establishment has been made by him. There has been an inspection of all dairies in the county in an effort to improve the quality of raw milk sold to the consumers.

The sanitary engineer has consulted with city officials in Tahoka and O'Donnell relative to improvements in water and sewer facilities in the county.

 posed unpreparedness should have taken heart after hearing Lieutenant Carradine's address.

Lieutenant Coleman told of our need for more men in the army, however, and extended an invitation to young men to enlist.

Truett Smith made an inspiring patriotic address that brought enthusiastic cheers; and following this, the band played the "Star-Spangled Banner".

Fighting equipment demonstrated by soldiers consisted of two armored scout cars, each having three mounted guns, and equipped with radio sending and receiving sets; motorcycle with mounted machine guns; etc.

Among the guns exhibited and demonstrated was the new Garrard rifle, machine guns, and anti-aircraft guns, blank cartridges being used in making the demonstrations. The semi-automatic Garrard rifle was declared to be the best and most effective gun in the world for use by the infantry and cavalry. It is manufactured in the United States and is available to no other army in the world except our own.

The machine guns likewise were the most modern and effective that have ever been devised, while the anti-aircraft guns have no superiors.

Rifles and Machine guns were passed out among the crowds for inspection.

The detachment is visiting many of the towns throughout this section. A demonstration had been made at Lamesa earlier in the day, and it went from here to Lubbock. Demonstrations were given in Brownfield and Segreaves on Wednesday.

Lynn Receive More School Aid In 1940

AUSTIN, July 10 — Lynn county will receive $1,528 more from the state this year to operate its schools than it did last year, State Supt. L. A. Woods estimated today. This is based on the assumption that the county will have the same number of students next year as it had last year.

Supt. Woods said the action of the state board of education in raising the per capita from $22 to $22.50 was another step toward bettering the educational facilities of Texas.

Supt. Woods pointed out that increased state assistance to schools, plus more efficient management and improved teaching methods have been largely responsible for Texas being raised to 18th educational rank in the union from the low mark of 36th which it held in 1932.

It is not expected that the educational per capita appropriation will increase state expenditures as a whole, Woods pointed out, since the scholastic population has decreased in some localities.

Mrs. J. R. McIntyre and Mrs. W. Fortenberry, J. W. and Genell Fortenberry, accompanied by Miss Pauline Owens, returned Tuesday night from a two-weeks trip which took them through New Mexico, Arizona, Utah, and Colorado.

TYPHOID FEVER CONTROL IS OUTSTANDING ACHIEVEMENT

AUSTIN, July 11—The control of typhoid fever in the United States represents an outstanding achievement in preventive medicine. In 1900 the national death rate from this disease was 31.3 per hundred thousand; today, the rate is 1.9. This marked decrease in typhoid deaths is based on knowledge of its cause, how it is spread, and application of control measures. Perhaps at this time, no other disease is more vulnerable to scientific attack than typhoid fever. "Indeed, it is no exaggeration to say that from a public health point of view, there should be no typhoid fever," declares Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

However, Dr. Cox pointed out that typhoid, while an unnecessary evil, was a persistent attacker of Texans. Each year about four hundred Texans die of typhoid, and approximately four thousand are ill. The average duration of illness is about six weeks, which makes typhoid responsible for the loss of 168,000 man days in Texas each year.

Typhoid prevention is a simple procedure. Typhoid vaccine is injected under the skin in the upper part of the arm, in three doses, usually at weekly intervals. It ordinarily protects against the disease from two to three years or longer, although one who is definitely exposed to infection should be revaccinated at more frequent intervals.

Typhoid fever can be controlled by the use of pure water, pasteurized milk or clean milk, clean foods, proper disposal of sewage, screening against flies and destroying their breeding places, by search for and care of human typhoid carriers, and by the general practice of vaccination.

Certain people, apparently healthy, carry the germs of typhoid in their intestines or urinary tract and cause many cases of typhoid each year by insanitary personal habits. They are called typhoid carriers, and many cases of typhoid result from personal contact with these carriers.
