The Lynn County News

"I wholly disapprove of what you say but will defend to the death your right to say it."—Voltaire.

Tahoka, Lynn County, Texas, Friday, August 1, 1941

Number 51

Cotton Flea Duster Will Be Shown

In order that farmers may become familiar with flea hopper control methods, a dusting demonstration has been arranged by County Agent, Don Turner. The demonstration will begin at 9:30 a. m. Saturday, August 2 at the L. M. Nordyke farm 2 1-2 miles east and 1 mile south of Midway. A dusting machine will be in operation. Dusted and undusted fields will be examined and compared. Every farmer is urged to attend this demonstration.

Considerable damage is being done to the cotton crop by the flea hopper, says County Agent Turner, who has inspected a large number of cotton fields over the county this week.

A heavy infestation of this insect can be costly to cotton farmers; if not controlled, and as long as the soil moisture is sufficient to produce a tender or succulent growth the flea hoppers will continue to breed in the cotton, says Turner. If dry weather should cause the growth to slow up the infestation should decrease, and the shedding of early squares may be overcome by the development of a late summer or early fall crop, provided the flea hoppers leave the cotton and the bollworms and leafworms do not damage the crop. However, since other insects and weather hazards may threaten a late crop, it is recommended that control measures be taken to make the crop as early as possible.

Some farmers in the county have dusting machines and are dusting for the flea hopper. Machines for this work are very hard to get because of the defense program. Other farmers are improvising their own machines from feed mills etc.

Dusting with finely ground sulphur at the rate of about 10 pounds per acre is the most effective control measure, and dusting should be started when the cotton fails to set squares, and when 10 hoppers can be found on each 100 stalks examined. Two or three applications at weekly intervals are usually sufficient to permit a normal setting of squares.

Lakeview Citizen Taken By Death

Death came suddenly and unexpectedly to J. C. Freeman of the Lakeview community last Friday night at Graham, to which place he had gone on Thursday with his wife and with his brother, I. V. Freeman of Crosbyton, on a visit with relatives and friends. He had formerly resided there.

Members of the family state that it is not known whether he suffered an attack of acute indigestion, of heart trouble, or some other sudden illness.

The body was brought back to the home at Lakeview, where funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon by Rev. Mr. Collins, Presbyterian minister of Lubbock. The body was interred in the cemetery at Meadow. Mr. Freeman was a member of the Presbyterian Church.

Born in Brazos county fifty-six years ago, Mr. Freeman was married to Miss Salina Timmons at Graham. For fifteen years the family resided at Crosbyton. They also lived at other places but finally went back to Brazos county and came from that county to Lakeview in this county about two years ago.

Besides the widow, deceased left five children surviving him, as follows: Mrs. A. J. Coward, Joe Freeman, Willis Freeman, of Lakeview, and Misses Ruth and Nell Freeman of Las Cruces, New Mexico. All were present at the funeral services. Also surviving are three grand-children.

The widow and the children have the sincere sympathy of many friends, especially of those who have suffered a similar bereavement.

Japanese Fire On American Boat

Bombs were dropped by Japanese airplanes on the American Gunboat Tutulla on the Yangtze River at Chungking, the Chinese capital, Wednesday. The ship was damaged but no one on board was injured. The Tutulla was doing patrol duty on the river.

The United States has demanded an explanation from Japan.

Oil Test Seems To Be Dry Hole

Reports from the Ross Sport and Uscon Oil Company No. 1 J. E. Rice wildcat test about thirteen miles north of Tahoka are not very encouraging.

On Wednesday a depth of 4,767 feet had been reached with no indications of oil. Those versed in such affairs say that unless this is to be a dry hole, indications of oil should have been found at a much lesser depth.

While drilling in the well is proceeding, it is understood that oil people entertain little hope for pay oil in this test.

C. of C. Directors Drafting Plans

Homer St. Clair, president, and Raymond Lee Johns, manager, of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce, met with officials of the newly formed Tahoka Chamber of Commerce Wednesday night and offered suggestions on organization and policies of such bodies.

The local board took much interest in a discussion by Mr. Johns in particular, and immediately agreed to set up some plans for definite action by the Tahoka Chamber of Commerce. In fact, the directors are asking that all citizens of Tahoka get behind the body in a program of action. There are many little things and a few big projects that the body can do that would be of inestimable value to the town and its citizens.

At another meeting of the directors Thursday, Miss Hattie Server, district clerk, was elected part-time secretary until the organization feels financially able to employ a full-time experienced secretary-manager.

Officials are Wynne Collier, president; Frank George, Truett Smith, Conway Clingan, E. H. Boullion, Deen Nowlin, Tom Garrard, and R. P. Weathers directors.

A total of 107 members have joined the organization to date.

The meeting Wednesday night was held on the lawn at the E. H. Boullion home, and the host served the party watermelon and cold drinks.

Donaldson Starts Experiment Farm

Ever alert to the best interests of the farmers and to this country as a whole Claude Donaldson, manager of the Farmers Cooperative No. 1, is experimenting this year with numerous varieties of cotton in an effort to determine what varieties are best adapted to this soil and climate.

He is trying out nearly twenty varieties on a block of land near the gin plant. Of course the plot is too small for a conclusive test to be made of any of the varieties, but it is interesting to compare them just the same. And it may be that some of the varieties that show up best just now will be outstripped by other varieties when harvesting time comes.

Just now he is most enthusiastic over the Western Prolific cotton being produced on the Von Roeder farms in Borden county, but next

Fenton Prepares For Large Feed Crop

On account of the soaring prices for cotton, R. W. Fenton Jr. has decided that there will not be much demand for storage room for loan cotton this fall; and with a big feed crop in prospect he has decided to utilize some of the space in one of his cotton warehouses for granary purposes.

Accordingly, he is this week building in this warehouse a feed bin 20x66 feet in size, in which to store his own feed, and he indicated that he might build other bins to lease out to others who might wish to store feed.

With heavy feed crop in prospect, farmers and others are preparing to feed out many cattle this fall and winter for the spring market.

"My Sister and I"

A poignant story is told. A story that needs few words but tells why the Allies—Australia, Belgium, British Commonwealth, Czechoslovakia, Free France, Greece, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, Norway, Poland and Yugoslavia—are fighting an against aggression and for world freedom. These two children are French refugees who have lost their parents and await their assignment to new homes—homes that will be orphanages.

Rotarians Hear Talk On Tahoka

Gilbert Gollehon, a new citizen of the town and a new member of the Rotary Club here, was the principal speaker at the luncheon Thursday.

He had been asked to discuss "Tahoka from the standpoint of an outsider" without pulling any "punches", and he did a good job of it, though he possibly did not call attention to the shortcomings of the town and the Club as forcefully as he might have done. He certainly did make some good suggestions.

W. T. Bovell, who recently attended a Fireman's Training School at the A. & M. College, was called upon to make a report, and he did so in an interesting manner.

President Frank Hill read a letter from District Governor Cal Farley of Amarillo praising the Club and the town for the fine manner in which the district assembly was entertained here on Tuesday of last week.

He also laid before the Club a request from the Sub-Deb Club for cooperation in a clean-up campaign in Tahoka. Mayor Deen Nowlin stressed the necessity for a clean-up urged everybody to cooperate personally, and suggested that pressure be brought to bear on some interests that own many lots here and have allowed them to grow up in weeds.

Rev. George E. Turrentine invited everybody to attend the closing program of the Youth Caravan to be held at the Methodist Church Friday night at 8:30 o'clock. He gave assurance that the service would be most beautiful and impressive.

Cal Farley Will Visit O'Donnell

Prentice Walker, Charles Townes, and the editor attended the Rotary luncheon in O'Donnell Tuesday, where they found the local Rotarians making preparation for the visit of the district governor, Cal Farley of Amarillo, on next Tuesday evening at 7:30. The O'Donnell Club will also be honored with the presence of the Rotary-Anns on that occasion.

GAIGNAT MOTOR BUILDING BEING REDECORATED

The interior of the building occupied by the Gaignat Motor Company has been redecorated throughout this week, which greatly increases its attractiveness.

In spite of war defense activities, which has curtailed the manufacture of pleasure cars somewhat, the Gaignat Motor Company is getting ready for an increase in business this fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Saage left Sunday on a vacation trip. They planned to fish at Lake Sweetwater and visit Carlsbad Caverns. Mrs. Saage, the former Erlene Norman, is assistant county clerk.

Inauguration Of Governor Aug. 8

AUSTIN, July 30—The inauguration of Coke R. Stevenson as governor of Texas was set today tentatively for Aug. 8.

This time was selected at a meeting of the joint inauguration committee of the Texas legislature. Senator Houghton Brownlee of Austin, chairman of the committee said:

"Provided that nothing occurs which will prevent Governor O'Daniel from carrying out his schedule, the joint inauguration committee has tentatively set the date for the installation and inauguration of Gov. Coke Stevenson for Friday, August 8. Arrangements and details will be announced later."

O'Daniel's schedule calls for his departure from Texas next Saturday night. Stevenson then will become acting governor, automatically. Stevenson will become governor when O'Daniel takes the oath of office as U. S. Senator. That is planned for August 4 at noon in Washington.

Little Fellow Has Operation On Eye

Jimmy Ray McMillan, the three-year-old grandson of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. McMillan underwent an operation for an affection of the eye in the West Texas Hospital in Lubbock on Friday of last week. He was brought home on Saturday but is still under the care of a physician. It can not yet be determined whether the operation will result in the complete restoration of the sight or not.

MRS. KENLEY UNDERWENT MAJOR SURGERY

Mrs. L. H. Kenley of Draw, who underwent major surgery in a Brownfield hospital on July 19, has been carried back to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Cook of Grassland.

The operation Saturday as the second major surgery she had had in the past year. She had also had an operation last July.

She is getting along very nicely, her mother reports.

DR. PROHL HAS NEW ASSISTANT

Miss Irma Davis, until recently of Austin, began work this week in the Tahoka Clinic as assistant receptionist and technician.

Miss Davis is the sister of Mrs. Emil Prohl, and returned with Dr. and Mrs. Prohl when they came home from a vacation in Austin and Fort Worth recently.

W. M. Waldrip and family of T-Bar returned the first of the week from a visit with relatives in Johnson, Hood, Parker, and Tarrant counties. On Sunday, July 29, they attended a big family reunion at Joshua.

Rural Electric Line Gets Large Grant

Judge Lockhart Critically Ill

Information received by Mrs. Leona Knight early Thursday morning was to the effect that the condition of her father, Judge G. E. Lockhart, who has been critically ill at Stephenville for a week, was not so hopeful. He had grown worse during the night.

Much fear as to the outcome is felt by the family and his many friends.

Man Is Victim Of Two Accidents

J. E. Stephens of the Wayside community evidently feels that the traffic cards have been stacked against him.

At about 6:30 o'clock last Saturday morning he figured in a car collision on the highway a few miles north of Tahoka in which both cars were badly damaged but the occupants were not seriously hurt.

At an early hour Monday morning, less than 48 hours after the first accident, Stephens was struck by a passing car while walking across the highway at Wayside and was again only slightly injured.

In the accident which occurred Saturday morning, Stephens was the sole occupant of one of the cars, and he met another car being driven by Lewis Earl Williams of Midland, other occupants being his mother, Mrs. John Williams, a brother, and two sisters.

Just as the two cars were approaching each other Stephens' car careened or veered over immediately in front of the Williams car and the collision followed instantly. All of the occupants of the Williams car were injured to some extent. Stephens sustained only shock. He explained that his brakes stuck and caused his car to veer over in front of the other. A complaint was filed against him in the justice court here charging him with driving on the wrong side of the road.

Stephens is a WPA employee and he had evidently come down to the highway at the Wayside service station early Monday morning to catch the truck into Lubbock. He started to walk across the highway seemingly oblivious to traffic, and is said to have walked up against a car that was attempting to avoid striking him while he was looking in another direction, according to information given officers.

Connally Heads Powerful Group

Press reports from Washington state that Senator Tom Connally of Texas has been made chairman of the foreign relations committee of the Senate, succeeding Senator George of Georgia who relinquished that position to become chairman of the finance committee, held by the late Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi until his death recently.

At this particular juncture, the foreign relations committee is probably the most important committee of the Senate. Connally is in thorough accord with President Roosevelt's foreign policy.

New Roof For Old Building

The old corrugated iron roof is being torn off the old wooden building occupied by the Gattis Produce Company preparatory to the placing of a new roof thereon.

This is one of the oldest business houses in the town and has been occupied by various business concerns. It is now owned by A. I. Thomas.

NEW BOOKS IN LIBRARY

Mrs. G. M. Stewart reports that there are two very fine new books in the Lynn County Library suitable for reading to children between the ages of four and six. They are: "Greek Tales for Tiny Tots" by John and Pauline Crawford, and "Things We Use" by Peterham.

Lyntegar Electric To Extend Lines

Garland Pennington, general manager for the Lyntegar Electric Cooperative, received an announcement from Washington on Thursday of last week that an additional appropriation of $130,000 had been made for the construction of at least 230 miles of extensions.

A map of the proposed extensions, however, shows the new mileage to be approximately 240 miles.

Plans call for the construction of about 70 additional miles in Dawson county, 60 in Terry, 35 in Lynn, and smaller amounts in Hockley, Garza, Borden, and Martin. Furthermore, the Terry county extension will run over into Yoakum county for a distance of about two and a half miles, and an extension in Lynn county will protrude over into Lubbock county for a short distance.

When all of these extensions are completed, the network of electric lines will extend through or into nine counties with a total mileage of about 900 and with at least 2,300 subscribers.

Easements for the extensions are now being procured, and the setting of stakes is expected to begin soon after August 1.

Mr. Pennington was not willing to hazard a guess as to just when contracts would be let and actual work on the extensions begun; but Mr. Pennington will get all the preliminary work done just as rapidly as possible.

Retail Merchants Name Officers

A. H. McGonagill was elected president and Winston C. Wharton vice president of the Tahoka Retail Merchants Association, an affiliate of the national and state organizations, at a meeting of merchants in the district court room Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Viola Ellis was re-elected secretary-treasurer of the organization.

McGonagill, Wharton, W. T. Kidwell, John R. Hudman, and Dr. K. R. Durham are new directors, while hold-over directors are Kirk Pitts, A. L. Smith, Frank Hill, and Claude Donaldson, the latter having been the out-going president.

Mr. Donaldson and Miss Ellis outlined some of the accomplishments of the past year, during which the organization has been in the formation stage most of the time. The set-up is now complete and credit ratings have been established for about 2,000 people in Lynn county.

Merchants who are members, and this includes almost the entire town, are urged to make more use of the Association files. Members present Tuesday discussed an active program of work for the coming year, which begins August 1.

Jess Harrison of Winchester, Calif., has been visiting his mother Mrs. Laura C. Harrison, and staying in the home of a nephew, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. McGonagill.

News Will Publish Soldiers' Letters

The News requests that Lynn county boys now serving in the various branches of the army and the navy as well as those now receiving training in the various camps shall write letters to the News for publication.

A few such letters have been sent to the News heretofore, which we have published, and most of these are avidly read by their friends and many others.

Parents whose sons do not receive the paper should pass this suggestion on to their sons.

We shall be glad to publish anything of interest respecting life in the army, the navy, the aviation service, or the training camps.—The Publishers.

Young Man Gets Fingers Cut Off

T. L. Cullefer of Leon county who has been visiting his uncle, H. A. Cullefer, in the Petty community, and working on various farms, had the misfortune of losing the ends of two fingers in a combine Wednesday of last week. Cullefer was working for Les Crews and was combining kafir corn, when he became overbalanced, and in trying to keep from falling he stuck his fingers in some of the equipment and got the ends of two cut off.

DRENNON VISITS TAHOKA

Elder R. P. Drennon and wife of Fort Sumner, New Mexico, visited friends here Monday, and while here Bro. Drennon had some dental work done. Friends noted that while Brother Drennon was losing a few of his teeth he was losing none of his pep—and none of his admiration for "Brother O'Daniel."

PARKERS RETURN

Sheriff and Mrs. B. L. Parker and children returned a few days ago from a vacation trip to the West. They visited Denver, Salt Lake City, Boulder Dam, and the California coast. B. L. did a bit of fishing, and brought home the evidence that he had some good luck.

W. T. Jones Jr. of Coleman, who left here seven years ago after having engaged in the produce business here for several years, was here greeting friends Tuesday morning. W. T. noted the fact that the town had improved considerably since he left.

Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Rutherford left Sunday for a vacation trip up into Colorado.

BARNES TELL OF CLOVIS BLACKOUT

C. C. Barnes was a recent visitor out at Clovis, New Mexico, where his son, "Buck" Barnes, and family reside.

He says while he was there the city of Clovis staged a "blackout" of all lights one night that was very impressive. At a designated hour, sirens were turned on, and in an instant all lights in the city were extinguished. Huge searchlights played their beams across the sky, and the drone of airplane engines could be heard somewhere up in the skies from which plane giant firecrackers were dropped. The effect produced resembled, he imagined, a real air raid in war territory, and gave a fellow an uneasy feeling.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

The State of Texas,
To the Sheriff or any Constable of Lynn County, Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon D. E. Marshall by making publication of this Citation once in each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your County, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in the nearest County where a newspaper is published, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Lynn County, to be held at the Court House thereof, in Tahoka, Texas, on the first Monday in September, A. D. 1941, the same being the 1st day of September A. D. 1941, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 10th day of June A. D. 1941, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court as No. 1388, wherein J. R. Hicks, H. E. Hicks, Florence Alford and husband E. P. Alford, C. M. Hicks, Avon Parrish and husband Luther Parrish, are Plaintiffs, and Walter Williamson and D. E. Marshall are Defendants, and said petition alleging

Now comes J. R. Hicks, H. E. Hicks, Florence Alford and husband E. P. Alford, whose residence is in Scurry County, Texas, C. M. Hicks who resides in Roswell, New Mexico, Avon Parrish and husband Luther Parrish who reside in Algiers, La., hereinafter called plaintiffs, complaining of Walter Williamson who resides in Dallas County, Texas, and D. E. Marshall whose residence is unknown, hereinafter called defendants, and for a cause of action plaintiffs respectfully represent to the Court the following:

On the 1st day of January 1941 plaintiffs were, and still are, the owners in fee simple of the following described premises situated in the county of Lynn and State of Texas, and known and described as being:

All of the W 1/2 of Section 23 in Block "O", H. & O. B. Railroad Company Survey, containing 320 acres of land more or less.

On such day also, they were in possession of such premises, and afterwards on the 1st day of January 1941, the defendants unlawfully entered upon and dispossessed them from such premises and withheld from them the possession thereof.

Defendants have occupied and used such premises under such lawful possession for a period of six months and the rental value thereof during such occupancy is $1000.00, in which amount by virtue of such wrongs the defendants are justly indebted to plaintiffs; but, though repeated demand for the payment thereof has been made of defendants by plaintiffs, defendants have failed and refused, and still fail and refuse to pay the same, to plaintiffs damages in the sum of $1000.00.

Wherefore plaintiffs pray that the defendants be cited to answer this petition, and that plaintiffs have judgment for the title and possession of the above described premises, for their damages, for costs of suit and for such other and further relief as they may be entitled to receive either at law or in equity.

Herein fail not, and have you before said Court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and the Seal of said Court, at office in Tahoka, Texas, this 8th day of July, A. D. 1941.

HATTIE SERVER, Clerk, District Court, Lynn County. (SEAL)

I, B. L. Parker, sheriff of Lynn County, Texas, do certify that the above and foregoing is a true copy of the original citation and petition on file in my office.

B. L. PARKER, Sheriff, Lynn County, Texas. 48-4tc.

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Edwards and Charles Townes returned last week end from a two weeks' trip to California, where they visited Mrs. Edwards' parents. En route, they visited the scenic sections of Colorado, the Yellowstone, Salt Lake City, and other points of interest.

SOUTHERN SAM SAYS

De only feller ah knows dat makes a success of startin' at de top an' workin' to de bottom an a well disgruk!

THE VICTORY SIGN IS SWEEPING EUROPE

In thousands of communities throughout Nazi-conquered Europe, the letter "V" has appeared, chalked on walls, on streets, pavements, sidewalks, on store windows and on billboards. It is today the symbol for "Victory", used by millions of oppressed people who some day will rise and destroy Hitlerism. In one week in July, more than 6,000 French men and women were thrown in their community bastilles, charged with scrawling this vengeful symbol wherever they could. Increasingly it is used, for example, in Morse-code form—three light taps and one heavy—when knocking on a neighbor's door; or again in concerted applause at movies and plays. The so-called "illegal" radio in various European countries use it now as a call signal or station identification.

Responsibility for its spread is difficult for the Gestapo police to trace. All they can do, in futile exasperation, is to execute mass arrests. That takes time, and only serves to encourage the spread of the "Victory" symbol and to encourage hope and determination, throughout Europe, that men may one day be free.

In a recent short-wave broadcast, J. B. Priestly, the British novelist, explained the uncontrollable spread of "V" as follows: "Europe needed a simple sign of allied defense, faith and hope, and found it in the letter 'V.' That 'V' is for Victory, a symbol of our cause, our belief that modern man cannot be enslaved, that the Nazis are doomed. Don't make the mistake of thinking that this is a childish thing."

COOKE COUNTY REUNION AT LUBBOCK NEXT SUNDAY

The annual Cooke county reunion will be held on Sunday, August 3, at Mackenzie State Park, Lubbock, northwest of the swimming pool and across the bridge to the left.

There will be plenty of shade, parking space, ice water, and tables. Basket lunch will be spread at noon.

All former Cooke county residents are urged to be present to see your friends and renew acquaintances.—Mrs. G. W. Blair.

LOCAL GROUP VISITS IN RUIDOSO AND VICINITY

Pleasure trippers out to Ruidoso and environs over the weekend included Leroy Knight, Sonny and Betty Sue Roberts and Billy Swoford of Tahoka and Bobby and Eldon Carroll of O'Donnell. All of these together with Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Roberts, Miss Eloise Roberts, Mrs. Leroy Knight, and Misses Echo and Robbie Milliken, who had gone out to the mountains earlier in the week, returned to Tahoka Sunday.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish our friends and neighbors to know that we are truly grateful for their thoughtfulness and kindness shown us during the recent bereavement which we suffered in the passing of our beloved companion and father. You have sought to make our burden lighter, and for this we are thankful.—Mrs. J. C. Freeman and family.

Huge Sum For Defense Roads

AUSTIN, July 30—The State Highway Department announced today that word has just been received from Washington that the National Congress has just passed Senate Bill 1580, which provides a total of $320,000,000.00 for the immediate construction and improvement of roads made necessary in the preparation for the National Defense. The Bill is now before the President for his action within the next 10 days.

The largest item in the Bill was $150,000,000.00 for the construction of access roads to military establishments. These are roads that are not on the State Highway System and that might normally be termed County Lateral Roads serving to connect the military establishment with the State Highway System. The expenditure of these funds will be locations specified by the War Department and the Navy Department, and will probably be expended by the U. S. Public Roads Administration through the State Highway Department on such locations and at such places as may be determined by the proper Defense Agencies.

Ten Million Dollars ($10,000,000.00) of the funds allotted will be utilized for the construction of Flight Strips at strategic points along State Highways. These flight strips will be separate and apart from the Highway, and will be approximately 300 or 400 ft. in width and between 3,000 and 4,000 ft. in length. These flight strips will be utilized for emergency landings by planes enroute from one point to another or on maneuvers. It is not thought that an appreciable amount of these funds will be expended in Texas, due to the many flying fields now in the State and due to the advantageous terrain found in Texas that may be used for forced landings.

Approximately $25,000,000.00 of these funds is to be utilized under the direction of the War Department for tactical roads over which the Army may maneuver in its training periods.

One Hundred and Twenty-five Million Dollars (125,000,000.00) is included in the Bill for use on the national strategic military network of highways approximating 75,000 miles. The respective states in taking advantage of strategic network funds will be required to provide State funds to match these Federal funds in providing additional work on the strategic highway network.

In Texas, 7,500 miles of the State Highway System have been designated by the proper defense agencies as a part of this strategic military network. A large portion of this mileage has been constructed to a standard sufficient to serve normal peacetime traffic but will not be able to withstand the large scale movement of heavy guns, troop and supply transports. A survey of the military highway system in Texas also has disclosed glaring weaknesses in bridge structures. The military network funds allocated to Texas, therefore, will be used exclusively in heavy construction to bring the roads up to the higher standards demanded by the defense movement and to replace or strengthen bridges at key points.

The bulk of the money apportioned for the Texas strategic network will be expended on a relatively small portion of the network mileage and will be concentrated in the immediate area of large military establishments and defense industries. The State Highway Department announced that even though the military improvements contemplated on the military network required state-matching dollars, it was intended to take full advantage of this offered opportunity to offset to a reasonable degree the damage now noticed and expected to be evidenced in the future from the movement around and between the various military establishments in Texas.

The remaining 19,000 miles of highways on the State Highway System that are not included in the military network must be improved from State Highway funds derived from gasoline tax and license fees, and although it may appear evident that work on this remaining 19,000 miles will be reduced to provide the matching dollars for the new Federal funds on the military network, the State Highway Department announced that it intends to practice every economy possible to prevent any slowing up of work on the remaining 19,000 miles of its system.

CONNALLY BILL WOULD INCREASE OLD AGE PAY

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 30—Tom Connally, Senior Senator from Texas has introduced a bill to increase the Federal Government's share in old age assistance payments. The bill has been referred to the Senate Committee on Finance, of which Senator Connally is a top ranking member.

Dr. A. J. Altmeyer, chairman of the Social Security Board, testifying before a Senate Committee on Monday, approved and endorsed the Bill and stated that it represented the views of the Board.

In 1939, the Connally amendment to the Social Security Act, providing for the payment of two dollars by the Federal Government to each dollar by the State governments, passed the Senate, but was eliminated in the Conference Committee due to objections from the Social Security Board.

The present bill has been worked out by the joint efforts of Senator Connally and the Social Security Board members. The bill does not carry a flat rate to be paid by the Federal Government, but provides a mathematical formula for payments to be made in reverse ratio to the State's per capita income per person. Thus, the State, with higher average individual incomes is more able to pay its share of the pension, and the less the Federal Government will contribute, while the poorer the State, the more the Federal Government will contribute.

Under the present law, there is considerable discrepancy in the amount paid to the aged in the various States; this bill would tend to bring about a more equal pay to the old age pensioner throughout the nation.

Heretofore in Texas, monthly old age pension payments have been a little less than $14. On that basis, under the Connally Bill, the combined payments would be $22.50. Under recent enactments of the Legislature of Texas, if funds are available, the monthly payments would amount to $18.50. Under the terms of the Connally Bill, with the same State contribution, the monthly payments would amount to $27.75 to each old age pensioner.

DEMOCRACY MUST BE WON

Democracy is not self-operating. It must be won by each generation. Its existence cannot be taken for granted. It needs constant attention and care since it has bitter competitors in the world market of ideas.—William O. Douglas, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, in the current Rotarian magazine.

Life insurance statistics show that there are five causes of death each of which today take an annual toll greater than the U. S. war deaths of the last war: heart disease, cancer, cerebral hemorrhage, accidents, and Bright's Disease. Care and preventive effort can reduce this death toll, it is pointed out by life insurance men.

WHEN EDITORS FOUGHT

Country journalism of yesterday was journalism in its most personal form. Never did it become more personal than in battles between two papers. The old boys used to thrive on competition.—Ruel McDaniel, Texas newspaperman, in the current Rotarian magazine.

A. L. Dunagan called by Friday to tell us of the arrival of a new granddaughter, born to Mr. and Mrs. W. H. (Dub) Dunagan, that day at Carlsbad, N. M. Mr. and Mrs. Dub Dunagan lived here before removing to Lubbock and later to the New Mexico town.

Fire Chief Bovell Instructing Firemen

On returning from the annual Texas Fireman's Training School held recently at Texas A. & M. College, Fire Chief W. T. Bovell is inaugurating some new ideas in fire fighting in the local department.

These ideas are being passed on to local firemen at weekly drills started last week, and will include theory of fire fighting, fire prevention, use of ladders, and inspection of buildings, as well as the routine use of pumper truck and hose.

Bovell states that the Tahoka Fire Department is now fairly well equipped except for a shortage of hose and a few small pieces of equipment, which the Department hopes the City will be able to buy for them soon.

Bovell states that the course he took at A. & M. dealt largely with volunteer fire fighting departments, though most of the instructors were from the larger cities, and that he received much good from the instruction. The meetings were held all day and evening the week of July 20 to 25, and were attended by 521 students from 281 towns. For representation and passage of the course by the students, the town gets a 3 percent rate credit.

Tahoka Fire Department, in cooperation with the City Marshal, also plans to enforce the fire laws and ordinances more stringently and to make closer inspections of electric wiring and other fire hazards. In fact, they have been making these inspection already, and others will be made in the future.

ARMY'S NEED OF FLYERS INCREASES DAILY

According to Lieut. Col. Royden Williamson, publicity officer of the Eighth Corps Area, who is stationed in San Antonio, the army's need of flyers increases daily.

"We want the young men already training in aviation to say 'come on in, the water's fine,' rather than pitch the appeal on the basis that the army needs flying cadets," the officer states, "but the army can use 30,000 flying cadets annually."

GAIGNATS RETURN FROM TRIP THROUGH EAST

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Gaignat and daughter, Myrna Dean, returned on Wednesday night from a six weeks vacation trip. They visited their son, Charles, who is in training in West Point, visited New York City, Washington D. C., and returned by way of Florida.

Mr. Gaignat reports that Charles is well pleased with his training.

Mrs. Laura C. Harrison, who fell and broke her thigh on Saturday almost two weeks ago and who is now in the home of a grandson at O'Donnell following treatment of the injury in the West Texas Hospital, is reported to be in a critical condition. Mrs. Harrison is 90 years of age, and could not be expected to recover rapidly.

Mrs. J. C. Godwin has been ill this week, suffering from heart trouble.

APPLEWHITES TAKE LONG TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Applewhite, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Ben Peak of Lampasas, returned Wednesday night from a vacation trip to California, Oregon, Washington, and Vancouver, Canada, returning through several other western states. They visited relatives in California before going on northward.

This trip made the extent of travels by Mr. and Mrs. Applewhite this summer reach from Tampico in southwestern Mexico to Canada. Mrs. Applewhite said she couldn't tell which place was her favorite on this trip but didn't see any place she'd like to stay.

Rev. and Mrs. George A. Dale left early Monday morning to spend the week at the Paisano Baptist encampment in the Davis Mountains. They expect to return home Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Tate and daughter, Mrs. Gaynell Pitts, recently attended a reunion of the Tate families and connection at Comanche.

If any mistake was made in the provisions and the administration of the Selective Service Act it was in leading the selectees to believe that they were being inducted into training and service for a period of only one year. We believe that they should have been told individually and collectively, as they were being inducted, that a period of one year might not terminate their service. Most of them, doubtless, had the sagacity to feel that this was true even in the absence of any statement to that effect, but if this information had been definitely given them no one could have felt, justly, that he had been deceived. As a matter of fact, every intelligent person knows that he is subject to military duty at any time and for any length of time that the Government may consider his services necessary. Therefore, there is, in fact, no bad faith on the part of the Government in extending the time of their enforced service; and it certainly would seem foolish for the Government, at this critical juncture, to permit its half-trained military forces to disintegrate.

If Lieutenant Governor Coke Stevenson has not been advanced to the governorship of this state before this paper reaches the reader, it is practically certain that he will be so promoted soon thereafter. Whatever may be the views, the policies, and the attitude of the new governor, it is certain that his methods will be quite different from those of the retiring governor. Coke Stevenson rarely ever makes a speech at any kind of gathering, and it is not likely that he will pay out hard cash to make speeches periodically over the radio. His tactics will be those of the quiet, untheatrical, but effective type. He goes into the governor's office a popular man. It remains to be seen how popular he may be when he retires from the office.

Don't tell us that Governor W. Lee O'Daniel isn't an astute politician. He was getting some unwelcome publicity a few weeks ago over the secret wedding about to be consummated by his fine daughter Mollie and her fiance, but now he is turning that unhappy event to his advantage. He induced the couple to have the wedding take place in the Governor's mansion yesterday, to which he had sent invitations to all the people of Texas. He is making this wedding in the mansion the crowning publicity stunt of his administration. And so Mr. "Smith" goes to Washington.

A Trip to Colorado

(By Frank P. Hill)

(Last of a series of three articles)

Leaving Denver on Friday, after five days spent at the annual convention of Rotary International, the Tahoka vacationers headed west for a two weeks' stay in the mountains.

Passing through Golden, we pulled the steep incline and made the many hairpin curves to the top of Lookout Mountain, from which point one views the foothills, Denver, and the plains for many miles beyond. Here is located the grave of that famous and colorful old frontiersman, Buffalo Bill (Wm. F. Cody), whom we saw in our youth when he was a trooper with the 101 Ranch Show and Sells-Floto Circus. Many relics of Buffalo Bill's days are on display here in a museum.

Gold Mines Operating
The road leads westward through the pines and spruce through the beautiful Bergen Park area, where there is a herd of buffalo peacefully grazing in these high altitude evergreen pastures. Down in-

The Germans are just on the point of winning a smashing victory over the Russians, to hear the Germans tell it, and the Russians have decisively defeated the Germans on almost every front, to hear the Russians tell it. There may be a big break soon that will reveal to all the world just what is really happening in the German-Russian conflict, but unless there is such a break it would seem that it will take Hitler a long time yet to reach Moscow, or to crush the Russians even if Moscow is reached—and besides, it will not be long until another long, severe Russian winter will be coming on. Hitler must win soon or not at all.

No one can tell what a day will bring forth in international affairs, but Japan's move to take over Indo-China a few days ago seems to have proved a boomerang to her so far. The United States and then Great Britain moved promptly to freeze all Japanese assets in these countries, which precipitated a near-panic in Japanese financial circles. This was followed by an embargo on oil shipments from the Dutch East Indies to Japan by the Dutch East Indians, and it looks as if Japan has been cut off from the main source of her oil supply. It looks as if she has gotten herself into the middle of a fix unless she can fight her way out quick.

The price of cotton is soaring, as compared with prices for the past several years. Good middling cotton, spot, is quoted as around 17 cents on the Dallas market. If the price remains above twelve or thirteen cents during the fall and winter, the prospects are that real prosperity will be here again. Prices for cattle and wool are also good. And there promises to be a bumper feed crop, and it is certain that many cattle will be fed out here this fall and winter. So, it would seem that it is time for a lot of optimism to be showing up around here.

There can be no doubt but that Japan is casting an avaricious eye in the direction of the Dutch East Indies and the Philippines. It is also certain that they regard this as the most opportune time they have ever had to attempt the seizure of these islands. Only time will tell whether they have the nerve to do it or not, for they must know that any such attempt, would mean war with the United States.

decades ago. The vicinity of Central City, "The Little Kingdom of Gilpin", in its hey-day was the richest square mile on earth, for more than a half-billion dollars of yellow gold came out of its mines.

Astounding Alpine View
Up the canyons and over the mountains, the highway leads to Rollinsville, near the east portal of Moffat Tunnel, through Nederland, where there is a beautiful mountain lake, and high up to Ward. A little further north we stop in Peaceful Valley on the St. Vrain river for two and a half days of fishing and enjoyment of the forests which close in about our little camp. Ever towering above us to the west are the lofty snow-capped peaks that make the Rockies so famous, among them Longs Peak to the Northwest and Lindberg Peak to the southwest.

One day while camped on the St. Vrain, we took a trip high up to glacier-fed Brainard Lake, near the 10,000-foot timberline of some of the highest peaks. The beauty of Brainard Lake retreat is impossible of description, but maybe our readers who have not been there can imagine a crystal-clear lake, hemmed in by tall pine and spruce and aspen and fir, banks of snow around its edges and in the shade of the dense forests, here and there a few columbines and other high-altitude wild flowers, chipmunks playing on the ground, blue-birds in the trees, craggy peaks reflected on the lake's surface, their frosty noses pointed into the sky and clouds. Even from here we can see wisps of snow whiffed around the peaks by the wind, and maybe a herd of elk away up a glacier-filled valley.

Trail Ridge Is High Drive
The Peak-to-Peak highway skirts the foot of Longs Peak, passes over and between many more smaller hills, and soon drops down into the valley that is Estes Park, one of the world's foremost mountain resorts. (Elevation 7542) We spend a day here enjoying more scenery and in taking a trip down Big Thompson canyon, through which tumbles a great mountain stream in its mad rush to get to the plains. Everywhere, the scenery is wonderful. At night we attend a picture show and lecture of much interest at the National Park Museum.

Next morning, our party again turned west, this time higher and higher up well-paved roads, practically all of which we took in high gear, to the Trail Ridge Road, attaining an altitude of 12,183 feet, four miles of which road is above 12,000, and about 12 miles of which is above 11,000 feet, the highest continuous road in the world. The road is far above the timberline and travels along a mountain hog-back. Thousands of feet below are rivers, lakes, falls, and valleys spread out in magnificent array. Summer is only a word here where perpetual ice floats on tiny Iceberg Lake.

Snow Is Deep Even In June
All along the road there are still large snow fields although they were melting rapidly at the end of June. We stopped and took many snow pictures. In some places the snow being 20 feet or more deep. We got one picture where the snow plows on the highway had cut through a bank a quarter of mile long and five to ten feet deep. Some new snow was falling then every day or two, and in fact only a week before such heavy snow had fallen that the highway was blocked two days on Trail Ridge before the snowplows could clear it.

Down on the other side of the Continental Divide the highway falls in long sweeps and curves through the tall timber to the Colorado River, with the Never Summer Range looming up across the picturesque valley.

Grand Lake Is A Gem
Soon we drove up to Grand Lake, a blue-water gem in a setting of of vari-colored forests and towering peaks. This is Colorado's largest body of water and the highest yacht anchorage in the world, 8,369 feet. It is also a resort center.

About forty miles further south the highway passes the western portal of Moffat Tunnel, through which travel trains out of Denver bound for Salt Lake City. Then the climb begins to Berthoud Pass, altitude 11,306 feet, where there is another of the big winter sports areas we have been seeing. Here there are ski and toboggan slides and shelter houses. Winter sports are growing in popularity in the United States and evidence of this popularity is seen at many points.

Again on the Atlantic watershed side of the continental divide, we came down another beautiful timbered valley almost to Idaho Springs, where we had been four days before, and turned off to the southwest, passing through Georgetown, another old mining town, once famous for the scenic Georgetown Loop. This was a narrow-gauge switch-back railroad which climbed the valley to the Silver Plume mining area.

Ghost Town Actually Ghostly
Night caught us at Silver Plume, and we were forced to spend the night in this old ghost town which at one time had a population of 12,000 but now has only 139 people.

Travis and the writer, after dark, wandered down town through the Trip To Colorado . . .

ghostly streets of the abandoned town, which, though unoccupied, is in remarkable state of preservation. There was the old bandstand, a dance hall, saloons, a bank, the livery stable, the postoffice, and the newspaper office. Most of the buildings had old weather-worn signs still showing, and even in a few we could see store fixtures just as they were left when the town was vacated many years ago.

It Takes Money To Mine

At a store down on the highway, we met up with a couple of the old miners, one of whom said his 85-year-old mother had come there as a young bride 65 years ago. Her husband had owned and operated a gold and silver mine until 40 years ago. The mine was still in the family, but since the retrenchment in the mining business many of these mines have not been profitable. The man said this mine still contained a heavy load of ore, that mining was coming back now due to the defense program, but that a small operator didn't have a chance. One reason for this is the fact that all the old miners, or potential miners, who formerly worked for $2.00 to $5.00 a day, had gone on WPA at $5.00 a day for 13 days a month. Previously they had walked and climbed three to five miles to a mine entrance, worked 12 hours with pick and shovel, and walked back home. With the coming of WPA, what was the use of mining? Therefore, most of the mines are closed. While the examiners may not have quite so much money, now they only have to work half a month, eight hours a day, and are hauled to and from their projects. This owner of the mine said that though his mine was estimated to contain at least $500,000 or a million dollars in gold, silver, and lead, modern equipment to operate it would cost $140,000, and no banker would loan that much money on a mine to a little man. Therefore, he was at this time trying to sell it for $200,000, payable as the ore was mined and refined.

Play In The Snow

Next morning we hit the highway again to the west, over Loveland Pass, altitude 11,992, where we took Billy Hanes' picture sliding down a bank of snow which ran three or four hundred yards down the mountain side. He had quite a slide.

Down we went into another mountain valley, the Blue River, and then up again onto another mountain range to Climax, where the world's largest molybdenum mine is located. Molybdenum is a mineral used in the process of hardening steel, is a vital defense metal, and therefore the mine and refinery were operating on a 24-hour basis.

This mine produces 85 percent of the world's molybdenum. It is located at Fremont Pass, height 11,320 feet. Though all these passes are exceedingly high (usually above the timber line and covered with snow at this time of year), the highways over them are excellent and are easily traversed in modern cars.

Leadville Still Tough

Over in the next valley, we came to Leadville, now a city of 12,000, but once a hell-rough city of 60,000 roughshod miners. It is still rough and tough, as evidenced by the saloons, gambling dives, and all that goes with them. In fact, it has always been rough and tough. The nation's oldest saloon boasts that it has never closed, not even in Prohibition days.

At an altitude of 10,200, Leadville is the highest incorporated city in the world, though down in a valley. Mountains rise all around; fifteen of them are in sight that are slightly higher than Pike's Peak.

Leadville is principally a silver mining town, and the streets are paved with silver ore, laid down in the early days as one of fabulous H. A. W. Tabor's publicity stunts.

H. A. W. Tabor was the man whose life was portrayed in the picture "Silver Dollar" a few years ago. It was Tabor, a plunger by nature, who opened up the famous Matchless Mine, from which he took millions upon millions of dollars worth of silver. He ran for and was elected to Congress, became a national political figure. He threw silver dollars to the crowds in the saloons, the opera houses, and in the streets. He built an ornate opera house in Leadville, a hotel, a saloon with a $250,000 bar, and then he went to Denver and built another of his elaborate hotels and the Tabor Theatre, in which his private box was made of silver. All of these still stand and may be seen by the tourist. For "Baby Doe", his second wife, he built the famous, the well-known Gingerbread House in Leadville. After his death, "Baby Doe" moved to a shanty at the Matchless Mine, where she died a pauper in 1935 waiting for her "honey" to come back to her.

More Mountain Passes

To the south is Salida, a modern little city, also in a mountain valley, through which roars the Arkansas River. Here we visited the world's largest trout hatchery and the warm-springs swimming pool.

Next morning we were again climbing to another mountain pass to the west, Monarch, 11,258 feet high, on our way to Gunnison on the Gunnison River, which is reputed to be one of the finest trout streams in the United States.

However, we found that the water was too high and muddy at Gunnison for much fishing. This had been the same story for a week all over the mountain country. The Colorado mountains had had the heaviest snowfall in forty years, during the winter just past, making the season unusually late.

We Get The Trout

Though we had been enjoying the scenery immensely for the past week, we were getting a little anxious about the fish. However, the writer, in a last desperate spurge, went to see the Gunnison newspaperman, Henry F. Lake.

We stuck out our paw to Henry with the remark, "I'm a Texas newspaperman looking for trout."

He laughed and said, "Well, I think I've got just what you are looking for. I've got 160 acres of land and a little log cabin up on the Taylor River, a tributary to the Gunnison, about 25 miles above here. The water is clear, though a little high and swift, and the trout might be rising. If they are not, drive on up ten miles further to Taylor Reservoir and I know you will get some fish."

That's what we had been looking for a week, and it didn't take us long to get started up to Mr. Lake's place. It was in a wonderful scenic country, beautiful as any in Colorado, unspoiled by tourists, and five miles from any other camp. We saw several deer, and though there were said to be many elk and bear and mountain sheep, we did not get to see any of these.

First day fishing, we had no luck, but on the second the writer brought to net in an hour four of the prettiest trout he ever saw—and can they fight, especially if you are using a fly rod—the largest a 16-inch rainbow, one 15 inches, one 14 inches and one 10. The next day in two hours we had seven trout measuring 13 and 14 inches. We were happy and thoroughly convinced that trout fishing is the greatest sport there is.

Slungullion Is Some Pass

Three days on the Gunnison River, and we started back home, coming by way of Lake City and Creede, two other noted fishing localities. The road was terrible, and we were all day driving over 150 miles of mountain road, part of it over Slungullion Pass, height 11,361, between the two latter cities. Much of the road had no room for two cars to pass, the shoulders were soft, and a lurch of the car might send you hurtling into the valley thousands of feet below. We shudder yet to think about that road, which had been made bad by heavy snow and rains. If you are a friend of ours, until the road is in better shape, stay off of Slungullion.

Rio Grande A Big River

We spent the night at historic and picturesque Wagon Wheel Gap, where the Rio Grande River cuts its own pass through solid rock mountains, which rise straight up for hundreds of feet. We knew that the Rio Grande had its beginning somewhere out in Colorado west of Creede, but we never knew the old river was so much until now. Up there it's a huge mountain stream such as we know nothing about in Texas. We'll venture to say that at any point on the Rio Grande from within a few miles of its source to within 30 miles of Santa Fe, New Mexico, the Rio Grande flows more water in an hour than it does all day or maybe all week at either El Paso or Laredo.

We followed the Rio Grande through the modern towns of Del

Norte and Alamosa and on down into New Mexico at Taos. Thirty miles south of Taos, near Tres Ritos (Three Little Rivers), in the Sangre de Christo Mountains (Blood of Christ), where we spent our vacation last year, we again pitched camp on June 30.

Plainview Officer Tells Of Crime

Sheriff O. R. Martine of Hale county, who came to the Plains back in the days of the open range and who has since made an enviable record as a peace officer, was a business visitor in Tahoka Monday. He is making arrangements to entertain the West Texas Law Enforcement Association at Plainview on August 12, Sheriff B. L. Parker being president of the organization, and Truett Smith secretary.

While here, Mr. Martine showed local officers and a representative of The News some interesting pictures relating to the murder of a Hale county farmer and the capture of the alleged murderer which created quite a sensation in the nation's press two weeks ago.

Jess Long, the alleged murderer, was located in Oklahoma through a picture published in True Detective magazine.

Sheriff Martine says that Long murdered his employer on a farm south of Plainview, shooting him following an argument at the milk house. He loaded the body in a car and next day dumped the murdered man into an abandoned irrigation well on the Light Knight farm sixteen miles north of Plainview. He left the country soon afterward, and no one had known for sure what became of Jess Long or his missing employer.

As in the case of most crimes, though, Long made two little mistakes. He asked a close personal friend to help him bury a body, and later it turned out that Long had forged the name of the missing man on a small Government check.

Several weeks after the men were found to be missing friends began to get uneasy, the sheriff was notified. But there was no clue until one day the man Long had contacted in regard to burying a body came in and told the sheriff of the incident. In the meantime, the Government check was run down and found to have been forged. Immediately, Sheriff Martine mailed out pictures of Long, one of which was used in the magazine, stating that he was wanted for forgery.

An Oklahoman recognized the man and arrested him. When confronted by Plainview officers and evidence they had, Mr. Martine says the man broke down, confessed the murder, and told where the body could be found, about fifty feet down in the abandoned irrigation well.

Justice of the Peace Jim Dye and wife returned Friday from a week's visit with Mrs. Dye's relatives at Denton and Bowie. Jim spent a part of his time at Lake Dallas and Lake Bridgeport, where he caught a few fish.

Not only do the Alton Cains have one of the loveliest new homes in Tahoka, but they have Tahoka's only radio performer.

In Jerry's bedroom they have set up a microphone, which is connected with the loudspeaker on the radio in the living room, and Jerry entertains his parents and their guests in true radio form.

Last week we talked with a merchant who was very blue because he could no longer buy certain merchandise because of the war embargo, and was having trouble convincing his customers of the reason for not having that particular merchandise.

Now this merchant realizes that these things are absolutely unobtainable, and does not mind that, but he and others like him, do feel disconcerted that, although everyone reads about shortages every time they read a daily paper, they won't accept the facts.

It is foolish for us to think that we can make an all-out effort for defense without making a few sacrifices.

We might as well face one fact right now. If we have to do without castor oil and hair dye and nail polish, if we have to get along with last year's automobile and refrigerator and tractor, if we have to give generously and often to various war charities and clear our shelves of our aluminum in order to insure our protection and that of many over-run countries in Europe, still we will have more luxuries per person than any other nation on the globe ever had before the war began. And the sacrifices—if they can rightfully be called sacrifices—are so slight in comparison with those made by any European country, that anyone who seriously complains is nothing more nor less than a slacker. He should be stared into oblivion by his friends.

Below is a quotation from the popular book, "A Summons to the Free", written by Stephen Vincent Benet, and which we found on the flyleaf of a program book scheduled for use this year by a national federation of women's clubs. We think it very timely and believe our readers will appreciate its thought.

"One need not pretend to be all-wise to acknowledge that we are in the midst of a crisis and a crisis that must be met—by mind and thought and intelligence as well as by deed and act—not next week, not tomorrow, but now. We hear that on every hand, but more than that, we hear men acknowledging a faith—a faith implicit in their very warnings—that with open eyes to the truth, by knowledge and faith and strength, free men working together can maintain the great shape of democracy, the great, daring and limitless dream of man's free mind. In that faith I share, and wholly. But THE HANDS OF THE CLOCK ARE HURRYING AS I WRITE."

YOUTH CARAVAN IN TAHOKA

The value of the Caravan to our town and community has surpassed the most optimistic predictions. Our local youth have responded well, and have enthusiastically entered into the whole program. The morale of the group has been heightened and their understanding of the work of youth for the church and for Christian fellowship has been greatly added to.

A number of lasting projects have been entered, such as the building of the lighted cross and improvement of the church grounds. Many youth from Draw, T-Bar, New Lynn, Grassland, Lubbock and West Point and other places have been in the evening programs, which take up the whole evening, and the afternoon project periods.

Miss Lena Catherine Morrison came Monday to be with the caravan, to take the place of the girls who dropped out from the strenuous activity they had been engaged in for June and July.

Adults are specially invited to the consecration service at 8:30 o'clock Friday evening.

METHODIST CHURCH
The pastor will preach Sunday morning at 11 and Rev. Ben Hardy in the evening at 8:15.

Brother Turrentine will preach Sunday evening at Brownfield, when the church of that place will have an all day series of services as they open their new church building. He was pastor at Brownfield from 1929 to 1931.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
Services at the Presbyterian Church next Sunday. Preaching by the pastor Rev. W. Bristow Gray. Subject of the morning sermon at 11 o'clock, "What Does Jesus Christ Mean to You?"

The theme of the evening service at 8 P. M. will be a companion thought to the above, "What Do You Mean to Jesus Christ."
Sunday School at 9:45 A. M. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

STEVENS LEAVE FOR PROLONGED VISIT

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Stevens left Sunday morning for a prolonged visit with relatives in the states to the west. They were accompanied as far as Pietown, New Mexico, by Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Stevens and little son, Jerry Mack, who returned to their home here Wednesday.

After a visit of several days with Mr. and Mrs. Wade H. Ray at Pietown, and from there they will go on to California to visit another daughter. They expect to be gone several weeks.

EMANUELS RETURN FROM COLORADO

Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Emanuel returned a few days ago from a vacation trip with their son and family, Dr. Roy Emanuel of Chickasha, Okla., in the mountain resorts of Colorado. They greatly enjoyed the scenery, but he says he still likes good old Lynn better than any place he saw up there.

Supt. and Mrs. W. T. Hanes and son Billy, returned Wednesday from East Texas, where they visited relatives a few days. Mr. Hanes says the heat down state was almost unbearable. He says that when they drove up on the caprock the breeze felt like the refrigerator door had just been opened.

L. F. Frazier and family attended a big family reunion at Hillsboro last Sunday, having gone down on the preceding Thursday to visit relatives. Mr. Frazier says that a big crowd of the connection was there and all had a great time. Incidentally, he met up with an old Bell county friend of the editor.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. McKaughan and son Johnny and their granddaughter, Bettie Chandler, who left here about three weeks ago, are spending the summer at Rockport. J. S. must be trying his skill as a deep-sea fisherman.

Mrs. Aubrey Thomas and daughters, Dona and Corinne, who have been here the past three weeks visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Donaldson, left Wednesday morning for their home at McAllen.

Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Norman of Monahans visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Aycox near here last weekend.

Miss Lauretta Patton of Amarillo came Wednesday to spend a week with Miss Joyce Evans of this city.

COACH JACKSON RETURNS FROM THE COAST

Coach Leo Jackson, wife and baby returned Wednesday from Floydada, where he has been working in the wheat harvest the past few weeks. Leo says the wheat crop was a terrible disappointment to the people over there. For a while the crop looked as though it would turn out the biggest in history, but the continued rains and the rust got the biggest end of the crop.

TEXAS BIRD IN EAST

Chachalacas, native to the United States only in Texas, strangely enough are thriving on the Blackbeard Island, national wildlife refuge off the coast of Georgia, according to a report received by the Texas Game Department from the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service. They were introduced on that island and upon Sapelo, nearby, about fifteen years ago. At least twenty-five are known to be on Blackbeard Island.

A gallinaceous bird, the chachalaca is related to pheasants, quail and turkey. An adult bird is about half the size of a Leghorn hen and is dusky olive in coloration. The birds are extremely noisy and their common name is an imitation of their unusual cry. They are found in the southwest portion of Texas.

STRANGE FRIENDSHIP

The mountains of west Texas about six miles from Van Horn are the scene of a rather strange friendship. A seven-point deer and a young ewe bighorn mountain sheep have been seen together several times. Not long ago a biologist of the Game Department came upon the strange pair bedded down together under a bluff on the side of the Beach Mountains. They sprang up together and the buck bounded off up the mountain, closely followed by the sheep.

PEOPLE ARE SOFTENING

Millions of men and women have decided they would rather beg for what they want than strive for it. We have become hitchhikers thumbing our way through life. Many of us would rather suppress our opinions and enjoy a free ride than fight for our bread or beliefs.—Clayton Rand, Mississippi editor, in the current Rotarian magazine.

McKAUGHANS RETURN FROM THE COAST

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. McKaughan and son Johnny and grand-daughter, Bettie Chandler, returned Tuesday night from Rockport, where they had spent about two weeks vacationing.

Mr. McKaughan says he fished a little, went bathing in the gulf, slept a little, and just rested a lot.

About the most interesting thing he saw was a submarine chaser, and he can explain all about how they get the job done. Of course, these chasers are built for speed, and when a submarine is spotted, the chaser makes a dash out to the proper spot and drops a bunch of depth charges into the water. The concussion of the explosion crushes in the walls of the submarine.

They are building ships now at Rockport, and Mr. McKaughan says that the town is on a boom.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Payne and Mrs. Payne's sister, Miss Lillie Rae York, of Dora, New Mexico, spent the weekend here with Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Payne and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Parsons of Sanderson are here visiting Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Tankersley and Joe Tankersley, Mrs. Parsons is a sister of the Tankersleys.

Dr. J. D. Donaldson of Wichita Falls visited the Donaldson families here over the week end. In September he will come to Lubbock to be on the staff of physicians at the Lubbock Sanitarium.

Norene West, of the Draw community, who underwent appendectomy in a Lamesa hospital last Saturday will be brought back to the home of her parents this Saturday, her physician said.

Jody was right put out about that telephone conversation. It wasn't that all the neighbor women listened in, nor that the response from his ever-loving Miranda was not up to expectations. It was his timing that threw Jody off.
Jody had laid out his dollar ninety-eight watch beside the telephone, to make sure he didn't talk over the minimum. When central told him to go ahead, he glanced at his watch.
It was exactly three minutes of eight. He went ahead. He talked and he talked. He glanced at his watch between words of endearment. It still wasn't eight o'clock. He thought up some more sweet things and said them. He still had time to spare.
Jody's telephone bill was exactly watch had stopped.

Mrs. Maker has been pestering her middle boy Jake for taking no interest in girls. Jake keeps a bunch of hound dogs and runs them a lot with the pack Charley Wiley keeps. Charley is the neighborhood bachelor and Mrs. Maker doesn't think much of Charley and his state of bachelorhood.
"Charley ought to be taking care of some good woman and raising a family," she told me the other day.
Mrs. Maker feels that it's a man's duty to have a family, and she doesn't want Jake to turn out to be a no-account hound-dog man like Charley. She got after Jake just this week, trying to make him get rid of his hounds and marry a woman instead. Be a heap cheaper, she told him.
But Jake can't see it that way.
"It's like this, Mama," he said.
"Hounds are easier to get along with than women. You take a hound now; you can kick and fuss and beat up an old hound and he don't never resent it. You can starve him and leave him out in the cold and wet and he'll still lick your hands and love you.
You show me a woman that patient,
Mama, and be-dogged if I don't marry her!"
Personally, I think Jake's due to lead the life of a bachelor, like Charley.
Talk of romance always reminds Jim Coty of dynamite. Jim can tell you just how dangerous dynamite is, too. He learned last week while watching Abe Fleming dig a well.
Abe had dug down about thirty feet with a pick and shovel when he struck rock. He had to go on through that rock to water, so he loaded a few holes with small charges of dynamite, lit the fuses, and crawled out in time to see Jim Coty fall behind the dubious protection of a bush better than a hundred yards away. Jim was sure scared of that dynamite.
Two of the shots went off. Abe sat around, waiting on the third. Jim thought they were all discharged and came sneaking warily back to see the result. Just as he reached the edge of the hole and was looking over, the third charge cut loose, flinging rock high. Away went Jim again, stacking distance behind him with a speed that was amazing.
He was sure fogging it when he hung his toe under a plow sweep in the weeds, swapped ends in the air and came down with his head in a badger hole and one heel hung in the fork of a tree. He couldn't move until Abe lifted his heel out of the tree and pulled his head out of the hole.
Jim claims a man's just taking his life in his hands when he starts messing with dynamite.

Home Canning Part Of Defense Program

Home canning is part of the defense program, according to Miss Myrlene Cannon, HM Supervisor of the Farm Security Administration. The FSA families are going to try to do their part in this program.

Miss Cannon is giving canning demonstrations in all areas in this county, chiefly for FSA families and other interested parties who wish to attend. Demonstrations have already been given at Mrs. Walter E. Dubrees and Mrs. Charle R. Dabbs. Other demonstrations will be given this week in the New Home, Draw and Wilson communities.

These demonstrations are on methods of canning and preparing fruits and vegetables for the cold storage locker. Miss Cannon advised using government bulletins for canning, which may be obtained at the home demonstration office or the Farm Security Administration office in the court house.

New Mexico Forests Hard To Beat
The writer, wife and daughter remained here for a week resting and enjoying the peaceful quiet of this forested mountain country. We have been to New Mexico several times, and this particular spot (up La Junta canyon east of Rancho de Tres Ritos) is to us the most beautiful we have seen. The mountains are not so high as those in Colorado, but the spruce and aspen forests are almost impenetrable in places, the nights are cold at this altitude, 8,500 feet, and the fishing is good. At a spring near our camp we found fresh deer tracks each morning, and we had a lot of fun feeding a "pet" trout each day in the stream a few feet from our tent, and in watching a bluejay hen on her nest nearby. We're going back there every time we can.

While at Tres Ritos, we enjoyed visiting with a number of Lubbock people who also go there every summer, including Principal R. W. Matthews and teacher J. W. Reid of Lubbock High and their families. Then, one day Mr. and Mrs. Harley Henderson and children of Tahoka, and Mr. and Mrs. Amos Howard and children, of Lubbock, came by and spent two nights and a day.

Back at home July 7, we were glad to see Tahoka, but convinced that everyone should take off enough time to see the wonderful scenery of Colorado and New Mexico, to rest in the mountains, and to attend a convention such as the Rotary International meeting in Denver.

Experiment . . .

month the favorite may be some other variety.

Mr. Donaldson procured the seeds from various sources; some from the U. S. Department of Agriculture some from the Lubbock experiment station, some through County Agent Don Turner, some from the U. S. Cottonfield station at Stoneville, Miss., some from individual farmers, etc.

Among the varieties growing on his plot of ground are the following: Western Prolific from Von Roeder farms; Macha Storm Proof, from the H. A. Macha farm; SXP, a long-staple variety, 1 1-2 to 1 9-16; Pima, a South American long staple; St. Vincent, a 2-inch long staple; Sea Island, a 2-inch staple; the Tree cotton, the Red Leaf cotton, the Yellow Leaf cotton, Hi-Bred cotton, California cotton; a brown lint cotton, and a green lint cotton; The Chinese cotton, 1-2-inch staple.

And then he has two varieties that yield no lint at all; the Slick Seed, and the Sparse Lint, developed for the oil content in the seed.

There may be some other varieties but these are all we got listed.

Claude says he may repeat the experiment on a little larger scale next year.

Noel Fender, who had been visiting in the home of his sister, Mrs. Claude Kennett, in Amarillo the past four weeks, returned home Monday accompanied by Mrs. Kennett and her son Bobby, who are visiting her mother, Mrs. Minnie Fender, and her sister, Mrs. Everton Nevill.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Epping and baby of Athens, Georgia, and two nieces of Houston were guests of their uncle, C. A. Thomas, and other relatives this week. They had already been to El Paso and on their way back they visited Carlsbad Cavern. This was Mr. Epping's first visit to West Texas.

POST, July 30—Post's annual two-day non-professional Rodeo and Stampede will open Friday noon with a colorful mile-long western street parade through downtown streets. The first rodeo performance will begin promptly at 2 o'clock when eight chute gates are opened and as many riders, four on big Brahma steers and four on bareback broncs, ride out in event No. 1, the "Mad Scramble." This special attraction has been arranged for those who come to the show expecting to see something rough and tough.

Each of the four performances will be made up of five major events, cowgirl sponsor's contest, calf roping, wild cow milking, and bronc and steer riding. Besides these events many special attractions have been arranged. Louis Blair, popular rodeo clown, has been booked to appear in each performance with his trick mule and will tantalize the big Brahma steers. A hurdling horse act, patriotic presentation of "Texas Under Six Flags," and several other special features have been planned.

Twenty or more pretty out-of-county sponsor girls, some winners of saddles in this season's rodeos, will be here to enter the calf penning contest. First prize for this contest will be a $115 saddle. A number of other prizes are being offered in this event.

The Post Stampede, Inc., sponsor of the annual entertainment, has posted in excess of $1,300 in cash prizes, two $115 saddles and other merchandise prizes for contestants in the various events. Bill Lyons' stock, same as used at the Texas Cowboy Reunion at Stamford, has been contracted for the Post show.

Two dances will be staged each night, one to honor sponsors and the other for those who enjoy dancing the square, new-shoe, schottish, and other old time steps. Afternoon rodeo performances will begin at 2:00 o'clock and evening performances at 8:00 o'clock.

Miss Clara May of Wilson, Miss Nellie McLeroy of Brownfield, and Miss Lorene Reese of Tahoka returned home Monday after having spent a week at the Baptist encampment at Ridgecrest, North Carolina. They report a wonderful trip and a most delightful time at Ridgecrest.

BIRTHDAYS (CELEBRATED)

To celebrate the birthdays of four people and enjoy a visit together 43 friends and relatives met in the Park here last Sunday at the noon hour. Honorees named were Mrs. Ella Davis, 67, of Tahoka, Mr. E. B. Gaither, Tahoka, Mr. George Henry of Midway and Mr. Henry's son.

Out of town guests included: Mr. Obie Holman Mr. and Mrs. Tom Christman and family, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Duncan and family, Misses Hudson and Newcomer, all of Brownfield, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Smith, of Dixie, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Henry of Midway and Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Davis and daughter of Floydada.

BIG XIT REUNION MONDAY

The big annual XIT Reunion is to be staged at Dalhart Monday and Tuesday.

This is always one of the most colorful and thrilling events of its kind in Texas. The show to be staged Monday and Tuesday promises to be as good as the best. People will be there from all over the Panhandle and Plains section of Texas, from Oklahoma, New Mexico, and many distant points, in Texas.

The XIT for many years was the largest and most famous ranch in Texas. The celebration in every way is in keeping with its size and its colorful history.

Miss Claudine Estes, of Lubbock spent her vacation here last week with her mother, Mrs. A. J. Kaddatz and Mr. Kaddatz, returning to Lubbock Sunday. Miss Estes, who is a graduate of Tahoka High School, has for the past two or three years held a responsible position with Lubbock Retail Merchants' Association.

CARD OF THANKS . . .

We wish to take this means to thank all our neighbors and friends who assisted in word or deed during the illness and death of our father and grand father Mr. F. A. Corley.—His Children and Grandchildren.

Mr. Art Campbell of Maysville, Oklahoma, and his niece, Miss Mary Jo Montgomery of Oklahoma City, spent Monday night with Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Payne and family, Mr. Campbell is Mrs. Payne's brother.

WYATTS HAVE VISITORS

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Wyatt, who moved from Lynn county to Terry County last January were recently visited by a number of their Lynn county friends according to a news item sent to us too late for last week's paper.

Those spending the day in the Wyatt home included: Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Reagan and children, Tahoka; Mr. and Mrs. Claude Reagan and children, New Rome; Mrs. M. M. Davis and children, Midway; Mr. and Mrs. Orville Davis and baby, West Point; Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Davis, and Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Kaddatz, Tahoka.

Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Draper left Monday to attend the Kerrville Encampment of the Church of Christ.

Fred McGinty spent the first three days of the week attending a Production Credit School in Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Rutherford are vacationing at Colorado Springs, Colo., and nearby points.
