Local Business Men Plan To Visit Draw

Good Will Banquet Set For Tuesday

Men of the Draw community will be guests of Tahoka business and professional men at a banquet Tuesday night at 8 o'clock at Draw. The event is being sponsored by the Tahoka Chamber of Commerce.

This is the second of a series of such meetings planned by the body, the first having been held a little over a month ago at Grassland, when 105 men were present.

"The meeting is strictly a friendship affair," Wynne Collier, president of the Chamber of Commerce, announces, "and there will be no advertising, propaganda, or long-winded speech-making. We want to meet in a social hour the men of Tahoka's trade territory, know them better, and enjoy the fellowship."

H. W. Callaway has charge of Draw's part of the program, while Truett Smith is in charge of Tahoka's part. All of which guarantees that there will be much fun, H. W. declares that Truett has more dignity and less ability than any man in Lynn county. Truett says he will answer this charge Tuesday night.

The dinner will be served by the Draw Home Demonstration Club and the program will be presented largely by people of that community. Tahoka will possibly furnish a number or two.

Tahokans Will Go To C-C Convention

Wynne Collier, president of the Tahoka Chamber of Commerce, will head a delegation to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention to be held in Midland on November 3-4. Others who have indicated their purpose to attend are T. M. Garza, O. H. Thomas, Jack Applewhite, and Bill Burleson.

Tahoka will also be represented with a speaker in the District Home Town Contest, but the speaker has not yet been selected. The pupils in the high school were required to write essays on My Home Town, and from the total number written the six best have been determined. One of these six productions will be delivered by a speaker yet to be selected. If this speaker should win in this district, then he or she will be in the contest at Midland.

The curtain raiser of the convention, according to a communication from Midland, will be a business meeting of Westex leaders comprising the convention work committee. Jas. D. Hamlin of Farwell, committee chairman, is calling his group together at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon, Nov. 3, at the Scharbauer hotel.

The work committee's initial session probably will last several hours, running up to the directors' dinner meeting Monday evening at 7:30. Hamlin said, "Our section faces a multitude and wide diversity of problems many of them arising with swiftly changing conditions, to whose reasonable solution our convention will devote its best efforts."

Sitting on the committee with Hamlin will be the WTCC's executive board composed of its officers and district directors, with ten assistant district directors and six committeemen-at-large, totalling a company of 31.

Raymond Grider, who has been in the U. S. Service for the past eight months, is here from Fort Bliss on furlough after visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Grider at Comanche.

Negro Is Sought For Hog Theft

One negro is under arrest and another is being sought in connection with the theft of 20 hogs and a cow from the farm of Wilson Edwards, at least two of the hogs having been taken Saturday night.

Willie Gaffney is the negro under arrest and confined in the county jail. He is charged with receiving and concealing stolen property. The other negro, who has been employed on the Edwards farm for several years, is alleged to have stolen the stock, and, when he learned that officers were on his trail, "skipped the country."

Clint Walker New AAA Secretary

Clinton M. Walker has been appointed as the temporary successor of C. A. Lawrence as Secretary-treasurer for the Lynn county AAA committee.

This appointment is made by the state AAA chairman at College Station upon the recommendation of the district field man, C. T. Wasson, and the county committee composed of Vernon C. Willhoit of Tahoka, John C. Key of Wilson, and Robert R. Adams of Wells.

This appointment will doubtless meet with the general approbation of the farmers of the county as a whole. Walker has been employed in the office for several years and is thoroughly conversant with all the details of the work. He is a keen observer and thinker and shines in every position in which he serves. He was reared in Tahoka, is a graduate of the Tahoka High School and attended the Texas Technological College three years.

Mr. Lawrence will remain in Tahoka until the end of the year, when he expects to move to his farm near Littlefield. He has been with the work here for seven years and has made good in every particular. He retires of his own accord.

Garza Attorney Given Acquittal

A jury in the district court at Post Tuesday afternoon brought in a verdict of "not guilty" at the conclusion of the trial of County Attorney N. C. Outlaw of Garza county on an indictment charging assault with intent to murder.

Outlaw was indicted by a grand jury as the result of a difficulty between Outlaw and County Commissioner J. W. Stotts wherein Outlaw is alleged to have fired a shot at Stotts. Stotts is charged in the county court with the offense of unlawfully carrying a pistol, but it is understood that since the Outlaw trial it is probable that the charge against Stotts will be dismissed.

District Attorney Rollin McCord of this city conducted the prosecution against Outlaw while Joe Moss of Post represented the defendant.

Store Rebuilt In T-Bar Community

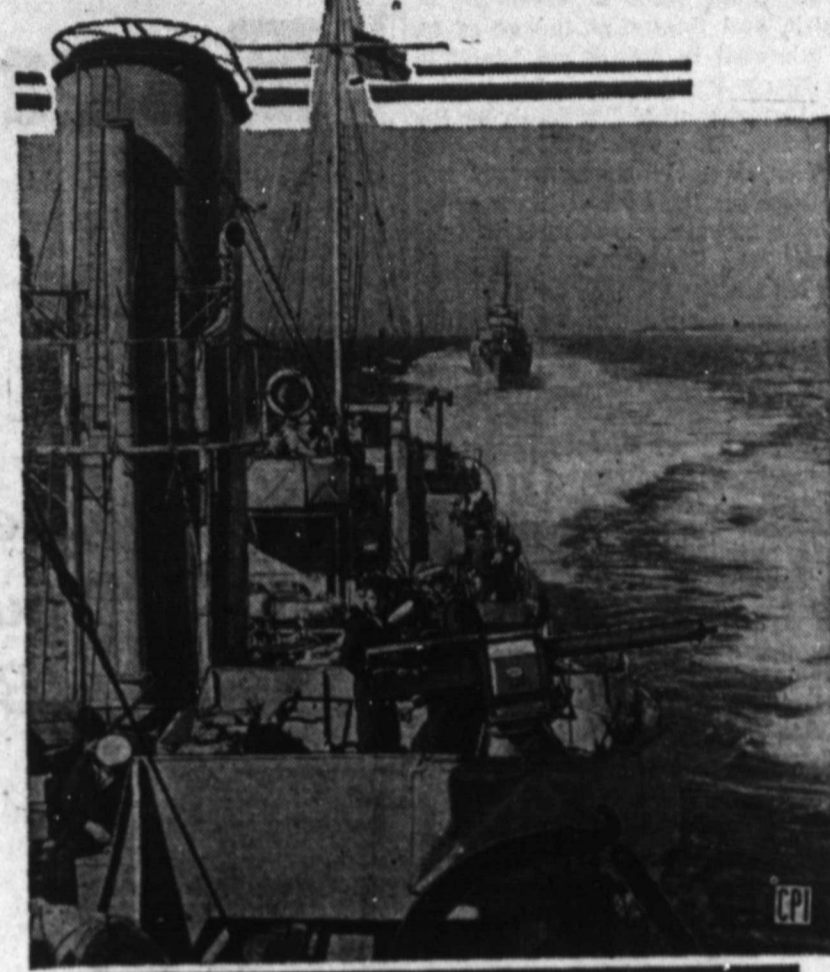

BY WENDELL COFFEE
Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Andrews and family have moved to T-Bar to rebuild the T-Bar store. The store opened Wednesday, October 15.

The former store owned by E. A. Gillian, burned March 2 of this year.

Mr. Andrews is from Santa Barbara, California where he was in the trucking business. Before they moved to California they had lived on the South Plains.

There are three children: W. A. Wanda Joyce, and Evelyn Ruth.

CANADIAN ATLANTIC CONVOY

Passed by Censor.

SINCE the outbreak of war, the Royal Canadian Navy which is owned and maintained by the Dominion wherever it is serving, has established an enviable record. It has convoyed ships carrying more than 27,000,000 deadweight tons; it has fought in the North Sea and it has captured several enemy vessels. At the declaration of war the strength of the Canadian Navy was about 2,400 men and 18 ships. Today, it musters more than 20,000 men and 200 vessels, including 13 destroyers, several of which were secured from the United States in the destroyer deal. By March, 1942, the Royal Canadian Navy, two of whose destroyers are pictured above, will be manned by some 27,000 men and the fleet will consist of more than 400 ships of various types. Many of Canada's seamen come from the prairie provinces.

Provision Made For Transient Workers

The city of Tahoka this week is making provisions for transient Mexican and Negro cottonpickers who are expected to be here during the fall and winter. No dwelling houses are being constructed but a camp ground is being cleaned up and prepared for their use on two blocks of land situated south and southeast of the courthouse square.

With its machinery the City has cleaned all the weeds and trash off of these blocks, leveled the surface, provided water, and installed sanitary closets. The campers will be given the free use of the grounds, where they may park their trucks, do their cooking, eating and sleeping, and spend their time when not employed in the cotton fields.

Water pipes have been laid and hydrants installed, so that the workers may have all the free water they need. A sanitary closet, 4 ft. wide by 44 feet long, is being constructed. (Continued on Back Page)

Spur Lady Will Give Lecture In Tahoka

At the American Legion Hall next Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the women and girls of Tahoka and surrounding communities will have opportunity to hear Mrs. Marie Kelley of Spur tell "The Wonderful Story of Life." There are no admission fees.

The Parent-Teacher Association and the Child Guidance Club are sponsoring this lecture for the benefit and enjoyment of the women of the community.

EDWIN JOLLY ILL

Edwin Jolly, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Jolly, is reported to be seriously ill, suffering from some character of heart ailment. He is the youth who recently was awarded the rank of Eagle Scout, possibly the only Tahoka boy who has ever attained that rank. He is an industrious, studious, and thoroughly dependable youth, only 16 or 17 years of age, and many friends here among the adults as well as among the children, hope for his eventual complete recovery.

Bulldogs Play At Seagraves Tonight

Tahoka Bulldogs journey to Seagraves tonight for their second conference game of the year, the game to be played in Seagraves new football stadium.

Unless the weather is too bad, a large crowd of fans and the school band are expected to be on hand from Tahoka.

Coach Olan Tipps Eagles have won three games and lost two this season, the two losses being conference affairs. They defeated Plains 42 to 0; Cooper, 44 to 6; and Post 31 to 18; while they lost to Brownfield 26 to 6; and to Denvey City 25 to 13.

Rain, Rain, Rain Falls Over Plains

Exasperating rains continue to fall and to delay the gathering of the cotton crop in this section of the state. In spite of almost daily rainfall, however, the five gins in Tahoka had turned out 1,057 bales of this year's crop up to Thursday morning, according to reports given to The News.

We have no report of ginnings at other places in the county, but judging by the records of other years and making due allowance for even greater delay in some parts of the county than at Tahoka in the gathering of the crop, it seems probable that from 3,000 to 3,500 bales have been ginned in the county, possibly more than that.

Many pickers are here but they are finding little opportunity to get into the fields.

Rain has fallen during ten of the twenty-three days of this month up to date, and it is raining as this is written. There have been heavy dews and fogs in the morning of several other days during the month, and there have been very few if any days when pickers could be in the field all day long.

The total rainfall in Tahoka this week up to 11:00 o'clock Thursday morning was 1.90 inches. By days, the precipitation was, Tuesday .43 of an inch, Wednesday .91, Thursday morning .56.

The total for the month thus far is 4.13 inches, much heavier than that in some localities in the county. This brings the total for the year in Tahoka up to 35.91 inches. In some parts of the county the total has probably reached 40 inches—unprecedented figures, these.

Seminole Upsets Tahoka Bulldogs

The Seminole Indians came to Tahoka last Friday night, and after a two hour skirmish on the football field left for home with scalps of the Tahoka Bulldogs. Unless our readers have already heard, we might state it was a rough, tough football game, and Seminole won by a score of 21 to 13.

Tahoka might alibi that Friday was the Bulldogs' off-day. They just didn't get started in time, or that they were still feeling the effects of the hard game the week (Continued on Back Page)

Durhams Attending Dental Convention

Dr. and Mrs. K. R. Durham left early Wednesday morning for Houston to attend the convention of the Texas Dental Association, and preliminary meetings. The convention proper will not open until next Monday but there will be meetings of specialists prior to that time, some of which the Doctor desires to attend. As usual, the Doctor is on the program for a demonstration at a clinic to be conducted during the convention.

The convention will close on Friday of next week, and the Doctor and Mrs. Durham are not expected to be back home until about the following Sunday.

Soil Conservation District Depends On Farmers Desire

County Agent Don Turner states that all things are now ready for the election to be held throughout Lynn county Saturday to determine whether or not a soil conservation district shall be created in this county under state law.

Land owners in the county will be allowed to participate in this election, and in case the election results in favor of the proposal and a soil conservation district is created, control will rest in the hands of the land owners of the county. Its efficiency will be determined by the extent to which the land owners cooperate.

Most of the counties of the state have been incorporated into soil conservation districts already. A proposition to create such a district of Lynn and Dawson counties was submitted to the landowners of the two counties in March, 1940. More than two-thirds of the voters of Lynn county approved the proposal but it failed in Dawson county.

Agricultural experts and probably most farmers feel that this is an important step forward, and it is believed that the proposition will carry in the election to be held Saturday.

Variety Program At Rotary Club

Rotarians began their attendance contest Thursday, with the membership divided into two groups, Ray Weathers being the Captain of one group and W. T. Bovell of the other. Ray's boys laid it across the Bevelians in the first bout by a decisive majority. Ray reported only one absentee, while W. T. was compelled to acknowledge the absence of several Tahoka club's attendance for September was $4.70 percent.

The club was entertained by a musical genius, Miss Bonnie Jean Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Clark who recently removed to our city, and a high school student. She was introduced by Melvin Rathel and gave three piano numbers at the beginning of the program and was called back for a fourth number at its conclusion. The last number was one of her own composition.

Speakers on the program were A. L. Smith and Harley Henderson. Dr. J. W. Sinclair was program chairman for the day.

Smith had been called upon to explain the continued rise in the price of groceries, and he took the bull by the horns, so to speak, and gave a number of the chief table necessities, one by one, showing how the cost to the local grocers had been increased in the past year from 25 to 50 percent. He also mentioned the fact that paper has executed a sensational upward swing in price and unconsciously made out a dandy case why the newspaper publisher should raise his prices on grocery advertising.

Harley Henderson had been booked for a discussion of the cotton business. His was a much more pleasant subject from the price standpoint, but since he failed to do anything about the weather it did not bring much consolation for the present for farmers and business men. His talk was much enjoyed however.

Several visitors were present, there being three from Post and one from Lubbock.

ODDS & ENDS

by Eee Eye,
the Elder

We listened a few nights ago to a radio discussion of some of the questions involved in the war situation and our foreign policy. It was a very calm unemotional discussion but the facts and arguments presented were most convincing.

At the close of the address it was announced that the speaker was Adlai E. Stevenson, who holds some position in the army or the navy.

The name almost startled us, for it was exactly the same name as that of a man who was once Vice-President of the United States and played a very prominent part in the politics of this country in his day and time but who has been dead for more than a quarter of a century.

We had never heard of the second Adlai E. Stevenson, but we presume that he is a son, a nephew, or some other relative of the former Vice-President.

Adlai E. Stevenson the elder was Vice-President of the United States during the second administration of Grover Cleveland, 1892-1896. He disagreed with his chief however, on the financial policy of the government—more specifically, on such matters as the gold standard, bimetallism, and free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, which were the red-hot issues in Congress at that time and in the Presidential campaign of 1896, when William Jennings Bryan held the "free-silver" standard aloft and conducted one of the most marvelous campaigns in the history of this country. It was his "cross of gold" speech at the Chicago convention that nominated him.

Bryan was defeated however, by William McKinley, but four years later he was a candidate again; and at that time Adlai E. Stevenson was his running mate. The paramount issue of that campaign, however, was not free silver but "Imperialism", or our foreign policy, arising as the result of our War with Spain.

Bryan had not opposed the war. On the other hand had entered eagerly into it. When war was declared and President McKinley called for volunteers, Bryan offered his services. He organized a Company and went into training. He and his Company were never sent over to Cuba, however, nor to any other scene of action, and many of his friends felt that he was being held down from political considerations. About all the glory he got out of that war was the title of "Colonel", which was hung on to him by reason of his being the organizer and trainer of that company.

But Bryan again went down in defeat and Adlai E. Stevenson went down with him.

Adlai E. Stevenson was born and educated in Kentucky. His birth, 1835, dates back to the time when great men were in charge of the ship of state. Andrew Jackson was President, and that great triumvirate, Daniel Webster of Massachusetts, John C. Calhoun of South Carolina, and Henry Clay of Kentucky, Stevenson's own state, were the powerful leaders in the United States Senate. Abraham Lincoln, also a native of Kentucky, was just beginning his service as Representative in the Illinois legislature, his home being at New Salem. Jefferson Davis, another native of Kentucky, was then an officer in the United States army and as such had just been engaged in fighting Indians in the Northwest, having helped to capture the noted Indian Chief Blackhawk. John C. Breckenridge of Kentucky, who afterwards became Vice-President of the United States himself and was one of the most eloquent and brilliant of all the political leaders of the South, was then a boy 14 years old. He and Stevenson were educated in the same institution, Center College.

So, Stevenson grew up in that period of our history when Slavery was the burning issue, and when talk of secession was rife. He was only 25 years of age when the Civil War broke out. He had been admitted to the bar for the practice of law three years earlier and located in Illinois. He was first elected to Congress in 1874. When Grover Cleveland became President the first time, 1884, he appointed Stevenson as First Assistant Postmaster General. In 1908, long after he had served as Vice-President under Cleveland's second administration and after he had been defeated for the Vice-Presidency as the runningmate of William Jennings Bryan, he became a candidate for governor of Illinois but was defeated by a Republican, Governor Deneen. He died in 1914.

So, during the years when this writer was growing up, the name of Adlai E. Stevenson was frequently on the front pages of the newspapers and on the lips of the people; but we had not heard the name even mentioned in many years—so fleeting is fame—and when we heard it called over the radio the other night, it seemed as if one who had played an important part in the history of this country had just been called from the grave.

But the Adlai E. Stevenson of today is not the Adlai E. Stevenson of the eighties and the nineties and of 1900.

Probably the school children of this day and generation had never heard of the man, Adlai E. Stevenson. We doubt if many College students have.

But there is another Stevenson whose name is familiar to most of them, Robert Louis Stevenson.

And yet, he was not an eminent American statesman but an obscure citizen of Scotland, of delicate health, who first studied for the law but after following that profession for two or three years turned to literature. He spent all his funds and all he could make in a search for health, and finally, at the age of 38, he migrated to Samoa, an island in the South Pacific. There he continued to reside until his death at the age of 44. That was in 1894. He had married in this country in 1879, but he lived in this country only a few months. His name was not often found in the newspapers but it is to be found in all the works of literature. His poems are a delight to the children as well as to adults.

It must have been a lonely prospect that greeted Stevenson and family when they arrived in Samoa. It was a British possession but there were few if any native Britains there. The people were of the Malay race. It is believed that the Hawaiians came originally from Samoa.

Samoa consists of fourteen small islands. It was on Upolu, second largest of the group, that Stevenson built his home. Though of a different race, he was so friendly and helpful to the natives that he soon gained their confidence and affection, and when he died after a residence among them of only six years, sixty of the natives, it is said, carried his body to the top of beautiful Mount Vaea and there buried it.

The United States established a coaling station and naval base on one of the Samoan islands in 1872, and in 1900, by treaty with Great Britain and Germany, the United States acquired possession of a group of these picturesque islands. On one of them we still have an important naval station, much more important now than ever before, due to the threatening attitude of Japan.

This island, Tutuila, has an area of only 44 square miles, but its population is more than 6,000.

The total area of the entire Samoan group of islands, British and American, is about 1100 square miles, just a little larger than Lynn county, but they may play an important part in history if a conflict between this country and Japan ever comes.

We guess our own cowboy governor, Coke R. Stevenson, was not a kin to either Robert Louis or Adlai, but he may become just as famous some day—who knows?

CARD OF THANKS . . .

I want my friends to know that I deeply appreciate the many acts of kindness which they have done for me and the family during my illness. The flowers they have sent me have been a source of constant joy and consolation. Friends could not have been more thoughtful and kind than mine have been. Gratefully.—Mrs. A. G. Freeman.

Dr. E. E. Callaway was here a day or two the first of the week looking after his farms. He expressed himself as being well pleased with the fine crops which he finds. His only grief is the continued damp weather, which greatly retards the harvesting of the crops. The Doctor reported that Mrs. Callaway is enjoying good health.

EARER, NEARER comes ski weather.

Overnight even now your car gets steely cold. These mornings, as your starter prods the engine, the precious parts that you want to keep fit are rarin' to claw each other. But not after they're Winter OIL-PLATED by the quick simple change to your seasonally correct Conoco Nth motor oil. Its magnet-like effect holds OIL-PLATING clear up to the topmost piston rings, though your car may stand cold for days. Instead of all quickly draining down, Conoco Nth makes OIL-PLATING stay up on guard in advance—ready ahead of mere fast-flowing oil—to ease up the coldest starts.

Then when your engine's insides—even in Autumn and Winter—naturally warm up more than a brand new sunburn, your Conoco Nth oil shows you the type of economy that won the sensational Death Valley Death-Test—certified. 6 identical cars—6 widely advertised oils of quality, including Conoco Nth—were kept speeding over the desert, each on a different 5-quart fill—locked in—no oil ever added.

5 quarts of one big brand burned up—engine burned out—when the car with Conoco Nth still had the protection of 3.65 quarts! Even the runner-up's 5-quart fill was consumed, and the engine was junk, when the car with Conoco Nth still had 2.7 quarts in the crankcase. All impartially certified.

Get the printed evidence at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. There's where to change to this popular-priced Conoco Nth oil that OIL-PLATES your engine for protected prompt starting. That's more than a promise. It's backed by something real...OIL-PLATING. Continental Oil Company

GAVE TWICE THE ENGINE LIFE!

This oil that OIL-PLATES gave its engine more than twice the life averaged by the engines using the other oils in the Death-Test.

EUGENE LONG GOING TO FORSAN CHURCH

Eugene Long, minister of the Church of Christ, who has been employed in the News office since the first of March, 1940, and who has been serving various churches in this county in the meantime, has resigned his position with the News to take effect at the close of next week. He is preparing to remove to Forsan, near Big Spring, to serve as minister for the Church of Christ there. He has been preaching for this church for the past month.

Soon after removing to Tahoka the last of February last year, Mr. Long began supplying for the local congregation of the Church of Christ which he did for about three months. He also preached occasionally for the church at Gordon and served as minister for the church at Grassland for several months. For the past five or six months he has been serving the New Home congregation.

Before coming to Tahoka he spent several years in New Mexico, serving churches at Portales, Arch, Rogers, and Tatum, being at the latter place ten months immediately prior to his removal to Tahoka. He has made many friends in this county during his residence here who will regret his removal.

As an employee of the News office he has proved to be industrious and efficient.

"Cream Ain't Hay"

By BILL GORDON
(In Successful Farming)

Hollywood has made many contributions to American slang, along with its motion pictures. Frequently that slang has a pithy way of putting a lot of meaning into a few words. For example: "That ain't hay!", meaning a sum of money too sizable to be sneered at, and perhaps that the recipient of good fortune fails to appreciate his blessings.

Rather apt when applied to the dairy farmer who doesn't appreciate that "cream ain't hay"—and shouldn't be handled like hay.

A mighty valuable product, cream. Valuable to the health of the nation and valuable in the amount of money it will bring per pound. Surprising that so many farmers have such little regard for it that they will permit it to become moldy and rancid and, in some instances, unfit for human food!

Some farmers are that way about everything. They haven't any pride about producing a good product. And, unfortunately, there are always some creameries and cream stations that will buy anything. So the careless or lay farmer never lacks a market.

Then there are those who, even in this enlightened age, still believe that the more cream sours, the higher the test. That's true, but only because evaporation has lowered the volume. The producer doesn't get any more for his can of cream. He simply sells less cream with a higher test. And he loses on the lowered quality.

One of the greatest enemies of the farmer is the buyer who poo-poo's "all this fancy stuff" about producing good cream. He's such a good fellow that anything goes. Get this straight: No creamery can make good butter out of poor cream, and anyone who tells you anything else is putting the truth to an awful strain.

The farmer's good common sense will tell him that, if he will stop and think it over. You can't produce good corn from poor seed. Cream is the "seed", the raw material, of butter. The kind of butter it will make is just about in proportion to your willingness to drink it. If it's sweet and clean, you will drink it with relish; if it's so deteriorated that you would not let your children drink it, the chances are that it will make the kind of butter that other people's children shouldn't eat.

Bad cream is costing American farmer a lot of money each year—$40,000,000 according to one estimate—for naturally there is a price differential between good butter and poor butter, and the more the consumer becomes accustomed to eating good butter, the less demand there is for poor butter. Each year, the creamery industry is paying higher and higher premiums for good cream, and exacting heavier and heavier penalties for poor cream.

You will be hearing a lot about the National Cream Quality Improvement Campaign. It is a program which represents the co-operative effort of farm leaders, the agricultural colleges, and the creamery industry, and it has only one purpose: to provide the kind of cream that will make the kind of butter the consuming public is entitled to have.

But the big job will have to be done by the producer, himself. The national and state committees can provide pamphlets giving the "reason why," but pamphlets won't produce good cream. That job rests with the dairy farmer.

It is steadily becoming harder to sell poor butter, so that, if left to itself, the creamery industry would be forced to penalize the producer of poor cream more each year. But the industry isn't being left to work out this problem for itself. The Federal Government has stepped into the picture and has made known that the days of low-grade cream are numbered.

The Government has developed a test that will spot poor cream unfailingly, no matter what the creamery does to cover it up. It is called the mold-mycelia test.—In poor cream there are invariably found little threadlike growths which betray the presence of mold spores. These tiny filaments are called mycelia and they are so fine that they can't be detected readily nor can the creamery get them out of the cream. They aren't harmful, of themselves, but they betoken the possible presence of more undesirable organisms, and unfailingly mark the existence of carelessness somewhere down the line. If the microscope shows more than 60 of them in a tiny microscope "field," the crea is condemned and destroyed.

The farmer has no come-back. He's lost that shipment of cream. If the creamery churns the cream into butter, the butter is siezed, condemned, and destroyed.

The sad part of it all is that there is no necessity for producing the kind of cream that the Government may sieze—the kind that loses the farmers a goodly piece of money each year. Needed is just a little more effort, and a recognition that "cream ain't hay."

If the separator and the milk utensils are thoroughly cleaned with scalding water and a proper washing powder—not soap—after each use and then left in the sun or placed in a mild chlorine solution, the first source of contamination would be eliminated. Throw the washrag away. It's a breeder of bacteria. Use single-service cotton filters and don't use one twice. Wash the cow's udders before milking, and don't milk when the barn is dirty and dust is flying. Cool the cream immediately after separating—just as cool as you can with cold water. Stir it occasionally while cooling. Don't keep it in the cellar or in the attic. Don't mix warm and cold cream.

Having gone to this extra trouble, don't let the cream stand around the house for days on end. Take it to the creamery or cream station as soon as possible.

Be suspicious of the cream-station operator who soothes your ruffled feelings when you bring him the can of cream that the more conscientious buyer rejected. He's the type of buyer who has Uncle Sam on your neck today. He is as much an enemy of cream quality as the careless or indifferent farmer. He may not be with you much longer, if he doesn't mend his ways. The Government's eyes are on him, for Uncle Sam doesn't like cream buyers who don't appear to understand that "cream ain't hay."

Peyton Tucker, son of J. C. Tucker, local dairyman, who is senior in the Texas Technological College and is majoring in Vocational Agriculture, is one member of a team representing the Tech in an international meeting of dairy students being held in Toronto, Canada. It is considered quite an honor to be selected as a member of such a team. Chicago and other cities also are to be visited.

Mrs. Billy McKnight of Corpus Christi visited friends here briefly Monday and spent Tuesday with Mrs. Wade Holland and other relatives. Mrs. McKnight, the former Miss Beverly Wells of O'Donnell, is visiting her parents there this week. She was accompanied by Miss Claire Ruth Nichols of O'Donnell Monday.

FREE SPEECH

There is a lot of loose thinking in this country about the right of freedom of speech.

In the STATE OBSERVER of last week, published in Austin, appeared a report of Public Opinion by Joe Belden, under the following headline: "Texans Do Not Believe in Free Speech." The first paragraph of the report was as follows: Whether a majority of the people of Texas believe in free speech becomes questionable in view of a state-wide survey just completed. Only 38 per cent, or less than two out of every five Texas adults, would at this time allow Senator Burton K. Wheeler or Charles A. Lindbergh the use of municipal parks and auditoriums."

That any well-informed man, as Joe Belden is supposed to be, can draw the conclusion that a refusal by city authorities to permit the use of a municipal auditorium to a person desiring to make a speech is an invasion of the right of free speech is most surprising.

It is no more an invasion of the right of free speech than the refusal by the editor of THE OBSERVER to publish an article submitted for publication would be an invasion of such a right.

Municipal auditoriums are constructed with tax money collected from the owners of property in the city, and the city authorities are given custody and control of such buildings and other city property. That such city authorities are under any legal obligation to permit the use of such a building by a Senator from Montana or a private citizen from New Jersey, or somewhere, is an absurd idea.

It might or might not show a degree of narrow-mindedness on the part of city authorities to refuse the use of such a building to these or other citizens for speech-making purposes, but certainly such refusal would constitute no invasion whatever of the right of freedom of speech.

Sixty-two per cent of the people of Texas may be inexcusably narrow-minded also in "agreeing" with these city authorities, but neither is that evidence that they do not believe in freedom of speech.

While we believe that it is ordinarily unwise to refuse the use of any public building to any man because of his political views, we recognize the fact that in some cases it is wise to do so. When there is reason to fear that the remarks of such speaker might incite disorder, rioting, or the infliction of damage to city property, then the denial of such building for such use is wise and commendable.

Furthermore, public speakers are themselves under obligation to use discretion and common sense in the promotion of a political campaign. If they feel that the people are so prejudiced against their views or that the public mind is so inflamed against them personally, that disorder and possibly bloodshed and damage to property are likely to attend their meetings, then they should not even ask for the use of public buildings in which to air their own personal views.

Still, city and county and state authorities everywhere should be liberal and generous in permitting the use of public buildings for public discussion and should do nothing that may logically be construed as a curtailment of the right of freedom of speech.

STATED MEETINGS of Tahoka Lodge No. 1041 the first Tuesday night in each month at 7:30 Members urged to attend. Visitors welcome.

"A WORLD GONE MAD"

In opposing the arming of American merchant ships so that they can shoot back when they are shot at, Representative Vorys, an Ohio Republican, made a venomous speech last Friday in which he displayed a not more animosity than common sense.

He is quoted as saying: "This little unimportant, impotent, pusillanimous, tricky, contemptible way of determining our foreign policy is not the whole picture. When the big real debate comes later on our foreign policy, I hope we may be united on being the arsenal of those resisting aggression; that instead of entering the war, we may stand as the powerhouse of peace in a world gone mad."

Too many politicians these days are fond of using some such phrase as this, "A world gone mad."

Who has gone mad? These Isolationists should differentiate.

Did Czechoslovakia go mad in defending herself when she was attacked by the howling Hitler hordes? Did the Poles go mad when they fought back when attacked?

Did the Norwegians? The Dutch? The Belgians? The French? The British? The Greeks? The Yugo-slavians?

Did any of these European nations start this war? Did any of them provoke this Saturnalia of carnage and slaughter? Did any of them want to be attacked? Was it Chamberlain?

Who is it that is mad? Hitler is the demon. His Nazi hordes are the mad men of the world. They wanted war. They prepared for war. They made war.

Don't talk about the world being mad; talk about Hitler and his Hell hounds. They started this conflagration, and they intend to continue it until the greatest democracy on the face of the earth is engulfed and conquered.

No, Vorys doesn't want us to enter the war. We presume that he wants us to wait and let it engulf us. If our merchant vessels are sunk at sea, we should quit sending them out on the seas. If our battleships are torpedoed, we should bring them home. We should lock them all up in some safe harbor somewhere.

By all means, let us not enter the war. Let Hitler bring it to us. Let him over-run Russia; what is that to us? Let him destroy Great Britain; why should we care? Let him and the Japs and the Dagoes control all the seas. If they can succeed in bringing all Europe and all Asia and all Africa under their iron sway, let them do it. Let them take the countries of South America too, if they wish.

But let us not go mad. If and when they dare to tackle us, then it will be plenty time for us to fight. That is the attitude of the crowd that Vorys is running with.

Blind simpletons. We don't have at our command adjectives sufficient to describe such a course. We can only apply to it the adjectives that Vorys applied to our present foreign policy—impotent, pusillanimous, tricky, contemptible—and one more, it would be fatal.

The attack upon the U. S. S. Kearney by a German submarine was a deliberate act of war. Secretary Hull has stated that no diplomatic protest will be made, for the United States "does not often send diplomatic notes to highwaymen". The United States will answer with action, the only kind of answer that Hitler will pay any attention to. The United States can not afford to temporize with any dictator. We can not afford to surrender to Hitler control of the seas. Hitler must be stopped and Hitlerism crushed. The United States should take immediate steps to destroy every German submarine in the Atlantic. We must do it in our own self defense and in the interest of humanity everywhere.

We are blaming nearly everything on the rain this fall. But there is one nice thing we can say about it: It has caused some of the trees to bloom out again. There is a red bud tree in our back yard that is beaming with new life. The green leaves are turning brown and sere and some of them are dropping off, some still sticking tight. But under the heavy garb of leaves is a wealth of beautiful pink blossoms. If the leaves were out of the way we believe this tree would be almost as beautiful as it was when it bloomed out in the Spring. We blame it on the rain.

The Texas University geological field crew recently dug up a petrified tree down here in Jones coun-

The work of the Parent-Teacher Association—ah, what a challenge! What a contribution to child welfare! Parents and teachers working together at that great endless task of child development.

Let us pause here and seek to understand the deep significance and the underlying philosophy of the Parent-Teacher creed which is as follows:

"We believe in the home as the most significant institution developed by mankind for the maintenance and development of social welfare.

"We believe in the school as the best agency yet created to serve the home, supplementing it and cooperating with it in the noblest work of the world, the building of human character.

"We believe in the teacher whose faith in the future never dies; who places services to youth above all things material; whose love of the child transcends all save that of his mother.

"We believe in the child, the inspiration of today; the hope of tomorrow; the binding tie of parents; the soul of teaching.

"And so, we believe in the Parent-Teacher Association; not as an organization of parents created to supplement the school in the task beyond it; not as an organization of teachers created to lessen their load; but as an organization of parents and teachers created by these in the interests of their most priceless possession, the child."

Thus we realize that a serious ty and placed it in the Texas Memorial Museum. The specimen is composed of copper instead of stone. When erect it stands 25 feet high. Geologists estimate that it has been 200 million years since that tree grew down in Jones county. That was before the present court house in Anson was built.

Robinson-Milliken Rites Read Saturday

Miss Joe Belle Milliken, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Milliken, became the bride of Jack Alley Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hall Robinson, in a single ring ceremony at 6 o'clock last Saturday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Kennedy in Lubbock. Rev. George A. Dale read the ceremony.

The bride was attended by Miss Billy Swafford. She wore a black velvet afternoon frock with white collars and cuffs, and black accessories. Miss Swafford also wore black. Bobby Carroll of O'Donnell was best man. Wedding guests included Mrs. Wilson Edwards, sister of the bride, Mrs. Reid Parker and Miss Billie Lee Burleson.

The couple left immediately after the ceremony for a short wedding trip to Dallas, and returned Tuesday afternoon to make their home in north Tahoka.

On Friday preceding her marriage, Mrs. Robinson was honored with a shower in the home of Mrs. D. W. Gagnat, with Mrs. W. V. McElroy and Miss Myrna Dean Gagnat as hostesses. About fifty guests attended and many others sent gifts.

Mrs. Robinson is a 1937 graduate of Tahoka High School. Mr. Robinson graduated from the local school in 1930. Both are members of pioneer Lynn county families, and were born and reared in Tahoka. The groom's mother, Mrs. Hall Robinson, was the first child in the county, and both of the bride's parents were pioneer residents. Mr. Robinson is employed at the chemical plant west of Tahoka, and Mrs. Robinson is a beauty operator.

They have the best wishes of a host of friends.

Mrs. Frank Akin is spending a few days at Glenrose.

BAPTIST CHURCH

The activities of the Church have been going full steam ahead this week, even though our pastor is still away. The Training Union had 124 Sunday night which is a record for our people. We are very proud of this record but are looking forward to the time when the number will be doubled.

Then Monday night the Young People's department had a banquet carried out on the theme of Football, and everyone enjoyed this treat. We had 41 present on this occasion and every young person who missed this treat missed one of the best occasions of this kind that they have ever missed or been able to find.

Tuesday night was a gala night for the men. Even though it was raining there were about 33 men present to enjoy the fellowship and the Oyster supper. Layman Wren the loved layman of West Texas was the speaker for this occasion.

Next week there will be a special Hallow'en party for the Juniors. All children between the ages of 9 and 12 are urged to attend this party which will last about one hour and will give them real entertainment, and will let them go home with plenty to talk about.

We are hoping and working for 275 in our Sunday School, won't you make your part of it and bring some with you?

The axe is about to fall, friends. Uncle Sam says creameries must cease making butter that is unfit for food.

Therefore, we cannot buy cream that will not pass the "mold-mycelia test."

Craft Is Active In Cleaners' Fight

At the request of leading Dry Cleaners who met in Odessa recently, Leonard Craft of this city expects to go down to Dallas this week end to arrange for a meeting of dry cleaners there, the purpose being to organize for a fight for the passage of a bill to be introduced by Representative Taylor White at the next session of the legislature proposing to create a Texas Dry Cleaning Board.

At a meeting of Dry Cleaners held in Lubbock a few weeks ago, Mr. Craft was elected chairman of the Dry Cleaners for the Plains-Panhandle area, embracing 54 counties. At this meeting, the Taylor White bill was unanimously endorsed in toto, and Mr. Craft was given the credit for the large attendance and for the outstanding success of the meeting. It is due largely to this fact that he is being sent to Dallas to promote and arrange for a meeting of the dry cleaners in that area. The State, by the way, has been divided into nine areas for the purpose of this fight.

Taylor White of Odessa, who is sponsoring the measure, has been active in promoting the organization of the Dry Cleaners for this contest.

The proposed measure is entitled, An Act creating the Texas Dry Cleaners Board, to Control, Regu-

Induction Methods Are Being Altered

A modified plan for induction of trainees under the jurisdiction of the Texas Selective Service System will be placed in immediate effect with the Army's most recent call for 1375 men. It was announced last Friday by General J. Watt Page, State Selective Service Director.

The new system has approval of the War Department, General Page said, and will reduce almost entirely the uncertainty with which registrants have heretofore been faced during the period between the local board examination and the date set for induction. A major advantage also in the new plan is that registrants will be given ample opportunity to make final arrangements in their financial and other personal affairs.

"In the beginning," General Page pointed out, "men called for induction did not know until they reported for induction whether or not they would pass their Army physical examination. This naturally worked a hardship on many registrants—some of them had given up their jobs only to be rejected at the induction stations. Now, registrants will know well in advance whether they will be inducted and are in a position to make their plans accordingly."

General Page explained that the modified plan calls for the usual preliminary local board examination within thirty to sixty days prior to date of call for induction. Within thirty days prior to call selectees will be sent at government expense to the Army Examining Board in their district, where a complete examination, including physical, citizenship, morals, and literacy will be given (Army examining stations in Texas are located at Houston, Dallas, Fort Sam Houston near San Antonio, Ft. Bliss near El Paso, and Lubbock.)

After examination the local board concerned will be notified of the result of the examination and the selectee will be returned to his home at government expense. Wherever possible, registrants will be permitted to return to their homes the same day they are examined by Army physicians.

General Page pointed out that under the new system when the Army requisitions the State Selective Service Headquarters for a certain number of men to be delivered on given dates, the 351 local boards throughout the State will be called upon to furnish their quota of selectees who have already been accepted by the Army Examining Boards, and these selectees will be sent direct to the designated reception centers in the Eighth Corps Area for immediate induction.

Induction will normally follow within twenty to thirty days after the Army physical examination, and selectees will receive at least ten days notice prior to call for induction.

"For example," General Page said, "the Army has just requisitioned the Texas Selective Service System for 1183 white selectees and 192 colored selectees. State Headquarters has today issued a call on Texas' local boards for the actual number each will send to Army Examining stations during the period October 27 through October 30. However, those men who are accepted will not be inducted before December—the white selectees on December 1 and the colored selectees on December 6."

Mrs. Fulkerson's Mother Dies

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Fulkerson and children were called to Colorado City on Thursday of last week by the news which came like a thunder-clap that Mrs. Fulkerson's mother, Mrs. Martha Rebecca Jones, had just passed away. She died suddenly of an attack of heart trouble at 11:45 in the forenoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. L. K. Shaw, with whom she was visiting. She had been residing with Mr. and Mrs. Fulkerson for the past nine years and had recently gone to Colorado City to visit.

Funeral services were conducted at 4:00 p. m. Friday at the Kiker Funeral Chapel in Colorado City, with the Rev. C. M. Epps, pastor of the Methodist Church there, officiating, and interment followed in the Colorado City Cemetery.

Mrs. Jones left surviving three daughters and two sons. The daughters are Mrs. Fulkerson, Mrs. Shaw, and Mrs. O. D. Vowell. The sons are E. L. and H. F. Jones. Also surviving are sixteen grandchildren. All of the children and all of the grandchildren except one were present at the funeral. It was impossible for W. H. Fulkerson Jr. to be present, since he is now in San Francisco, California, attending college. She left one sister and many other relatives.

Mrs. Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Johnson, was born in Ellis county on February 6, 1874, and was therefore a little more than 67 years and eight months old. Her husband, O. F. Jones, died nine years ago.

Mrs. Jones was a devoted member of the Methodist Church, her membership being in the Tahoka Church. She had many friends in Tahoka and in O'Donnell, where she formerly resided, as well as in Colorado City, who were grieved to learn of her unexpected death.

Ben Moore, weather bureau observer at O'Donnell, has recently been furnished equipment for accurately measuring the snowfall as well as the rain, he writes the News. This station was chosen for this purpose, he says, because of its geographical location, being approximately 50 miles from both Lubbock and Big Spring.

Miss Edith Robertson of this city, outstanding student in the Texas Tech, has been named president of the Tech Collegium, a new organization being launched to provide social life for girls not now affiliated with campus societies.

DIXIE CLUB DEMONSTRATES VEGETABLE COOKERY

"Wash vegetables thoroughly," advised Miss McNatt, home agent while preparing a vegetable dish at the regular meeting of the Dixie H. D. Club in the home of Mrs. T. D. Lishman October 16 at 2:30.

"Remove insects by placing such vegetables as cauliflower head down in salted or vinegar water. Vegetables should be crisp and firm before cooking. To crisp wilted vegetables, let stand in cold-water for an hour. Vegetables cooked in the skins lose less of the food value than those peeled."

Mrs. J. H. Knight gave a report on the council.

One visitor, Mrs. Cleo Nash, and nine members were present.

The club will meet with Mrs. B. C. Aycox on November 6 at 2:30.

Fred Bucy went down to Rockport last week for his wife, who had gone to that place about the first of August in the hope that the sea-coast climate would be beneficial to her health. She did come back feeling better but physicians have advised that it will be necessary for her to remain in bed for some time yet. With proper rest, they believe that in time she will fully recover. Many friends here are gratified at her improvement.

Rains Make New Tires Necessary On Tahoka School Buses

By RUBY NELL SMITH

In a meeting of the bus committee of the Tahoka School Board Wednesday morning, it was decided to put mud tires or mud chains on the Tahoka school buses.

The bus committee is composed of Truett Smith, Oscar Roberts, Lonnie Howell and Supt. W. T. Hanes. Truett Smith serves the group as chairman.

Due to the many rains and bad roads one or two of the buses have had difficulty in making their daily scheduled runs. School patrons have been very considerate and patient when the buses have been unable to make their usual routes. The Dixie scheduled run which covers the most mileage of any Tahoka bus is 45 miles long and takes two hours to make the run when the weather is clear and the roads are in good condition. If it is raining or the roads are muddy the Dixie bus would arrive at Tahoka, about 11:30 or 12 o'clock if it made the scheduled run. The school children would have missed the greatest part of their school day and the bus would soon have been completely torn up under such driving conditions.

If it is practical and possible at all the members of the Tahoka School Board will see that the school buses make their scheduled runs. The bus committee expressed their appreciation to the school patrons for their cooperation.

Brotherhood Sponsors Church Improvement

At a meeting of the Baptist Brotherhood here Tuesday night, the members present voted to sponsor the building of permanent walls in the basement of the Church dividing it into Sunday School assembly rooms. This is a task which the entire Church has voted to accomplish, but the Brotherhood is making it its chief objective for the present. Visitors were present from Snyder and Forsan, an oil town south of Big Spring, and H. L. Wren, a business man of Snyder, was guest speaker. His address was both interesting and inspirational.

Other visitors from Snyder were Rev. Vernon Shaw, pastor of the First Baptist Church there, M. E. Stanfield, principal of the high school, and Jack Inman, former resident of Tahoka and brother of Mrs. T. Cowan.

Glen Smith, R. M. Brown, Walter Russell, and S. J. Huestis, oil men at Forsan, represented their Brotherhood at the meeting.

Song services were led by Melvin Rathaal.

Prior to the program an oyster supper was served.

EUZELIAN CLASS

New officers gave reports of their work, and the class elected Mmes. S. H. Holland and T. B. Burroughs as group captains, in their regular monthly meeting of the Baptist Euzeilian Class, in the home of Mrs. R. C. Forrester Tuesday night.

Games and group singing were directed by Mmes. V. L. Botkin and Alice Fortenberry. Refreshments furnished by Mrs. S. H. Woods, who could not attend, were served by Mmes. Forrester and Jim Dye to Mmes. Chester Connolly, E. I. Hill, Holland, W. M. Harris, Lida Kelsco, H. L. Roddy, Burroughs, Fortenberry, Botkin, Dye, and Forrester.

Rev. Geo. E. Turrentine, Methodist pastor, and W. E. Suddarth attended the West Texas-New Mexico Conference of the Methodist Church at Odessa Monday of this week. They report a big barbecue was served the visiting Methodists that night by the Odessa Chamber of Commerce.

Congratulations...

To Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Stevens, on the birth of a son, weighing nine pounds and a few ounces, early Tuesday morning. He will bear the name of Leroy Jack.

When a Child Needs a Laxative!

Your child should like this tasty liquid laxative and you should like the gentle way it usually wakes up a youngster's lazy intestines when given by the simple directions.

SYRUP OF BLACK-DRAUGHT contains the same principal ingredient which has enabled its older brother BLACK-DRAUGHT to give so many users such satisfying relief for so many years!

Perhaps that's why it usually gives a child such refreshing relief when the familiar symptoms indicate a laxative is needed.

SYRUP OF BLACK-DRAUGHT comes in 2 sizes. The introductory size is 25c; the economy size is 50c.

J. W. Fortenberry Writes Of Life In U. S. Marine Corps

J. W. Fortenberry, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Fortenberry and a graduate of the Tahoka High School and of a business college, who has been employed in Post the past few years, recently volunteered for service in the Marine Corps and is now stationed at San Diego. Last week he wrote an interesting letter to his mother, who has consented that we may use it. We quote most of it. Here goes.

"I am in a new outfit now, Base Air Detachment No. 2. We are in nice stucco barracks, Spanish style with the floors . . . E. J. Robinson (of Post) and I finally got together over here and hope to stay together. We took liberty last Saturday and Sunday and went up to Santa Ana, where his sister lives. We had barrels of fun, and it seemed like a short dream to be out and do what we wanted and wear our civilian clothes.

"We got out of the Base about 10:00 a. m. and caught a train and got there about 3:00 p. m. Saw lots of orange and lemon trees on the way up and got lots of good views of the Pacific. We went out to Long Beach Saturday night and saw the sights on the pike, as they called it. It is a place about like Coney Island N. Y. I rode a roller coaster out over the ocean and got several thrills. I went in swimming in the ocean Sunday eve. The water was rough and the under current strong from rip tide. We went out to Orange County Park and cooked supper out in the open. . . . We caught the 9:40 p. m. train back and got in about 1:00 a. m.

"Well, I signed up today to study airology—that is the weather and the stars, etc. E. J. and I are the only ones to get it, I think, out of 74. The rest just didn't ask for it, I guess. Well, we may be getting a break. They told us all along they would not take any one for airology unless he had four years of college work. Well, they scratched their heads and finally said 'If that is what you want you'll get it'. That may mean it is plenty tough and not help us much, but I can't help but believe we are getting a real break.

"This training would cost plenty of money outside. It would take four years or more of college to get it. We eat cafeteria style here, and the food is not like the Marines fed us. The Navy feeds us here, and this is a naval air station. Sailors eat and sleep close by us. The buildings are set square facing a patio in the center. The patio is planted with grass and trees and lowers, and at one end is a beautiful blue tiled bathing pool, where we go swimming. It is nicer than any college I ever visited or was around.

"We still have free picture shows too. We don't march any more—except the walk to and from the buildings or classes, in order, but that is about all the marching we do.

"It is getting easy fast now. They all say that the men who came here really are lucky and have plenty in the future. The Marine Air Corps has just started, and we are on the ground floor. I can't take any pictures of this but maybe I can tell you more next time."

Congratulations . . .

To Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Munn on the birth of a son in the Lubbock Sanitarium Friday, October 17.

Mrs. W. E. (Happy) Smith is reported to be recovering nicely from an operation which she underwent last Saturday morning.

Having pulled the son Mike out of the fish pond three times in one day; dragged him twice, screaming and on fire, from a red-ant bed that lures him like molasses draws flies; dug a sackful of smoking tobacco out of his mouth; picked up and carried out the litter from three new and unread magazines he'd happily reduced to confetti; watered him at midnight; changed him before daylight; and endured his ear-splitting shrieks of protest to the insufferable hardships of this life—I gradually come to understand what Papa was talking about when he used to say: "Son, you'll never pay for your raising until you've raised a youngun of your own!"

Doc McCollum claims he's learned by experience that when a man's girth reaches such proportions that it cuts off his breath to bend over and lace a shoe, it's time to quit beer and go light on your breakfast.

Just this week, I learn that the long-standing feud between Charlie Wiley and Jess Maker was settled way last November.

Bone of contention between these two hunters was the merits of their respective instruments for calling wild turkeys within gun range.

Charlie is a turkey-bone man. He takes a hollow bone out of a turkey's wing, shapes it like a pipe-stem and sucks it to reproduce the gathering call of wild turkeys. Jess, on the other hand, uses a briar leaf, cut in a rectangle and placed on the tip of his tongue in such a manner that when he blows it vibrates with the most convincing of turkey yelps.

Each claimed his caller was best. Each was loud in deriding the caller of the other.

Last November the argument had taken on such proportions and the men such heat that they got up a $10 bet. The two were to go into the same strip of turkey-haunted woods the same day, and the man who came back with a turkey first was to take the pot.

They went. They hid in the brush. They called with their respective callers. They got answers to their calls. They sneaked and called and called and sneaked.

And when Charlie eased around a clump of brush, his shotgun raised to blow down the gobbler, what should he see but Jess sneaking around the other side of the brush, his shotgun ready to blast a gobbler. They'd called each other up.

The two just squatted there in the brush and stared at each other for a long time, their jaws hanging open, then they came back out of the woods together and turkey-less, agreeing that they best keep silent about the whole thing.

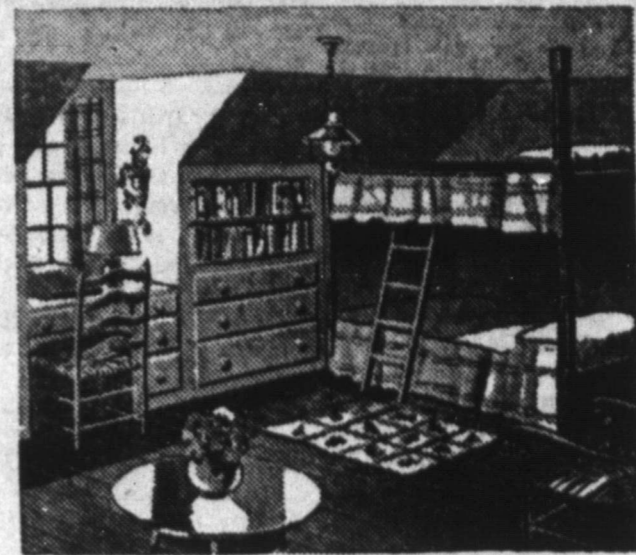

"But it's just too good to keep any longer," Charlie explained slapping his thigh and roaring with laughter.

And I agreed with him.

Grandma Black ran right square over me yesterday morning as she rushed out of the postoffice waving a package and shouting: "I've got 'em. Praise the Lord, I've got 'em!" "Sorry," she apologized, after before with Berger. However, on the other hand, the Bulldogs, admit that Seminole had a speedy, hard tackling. Hard blocking ball club that was out to win a ball game.

Seminole struck in the initial period, Fullback Robert Hargrove plunging four yards to climax a long drive. Tahoka retaliated in the second stanza when James Roberts, quarterback, scampered 15 paces to paydirt. A few minutes later Walker Derring, quarterback and Seminole ace, swept around end for 15 yards and a second Seminole touchdown, leaving the count favoring his mates, 14 to 6, at the midway intermission.

The Tahoka eleven came back strong in the third with Cecil Curry fullback, smashing two yards after a long drive to score. Dwayne McClintock, left halfback, added the extra point from placement. Then on the kickoff, Derring received and raced 90 yards to score Seminole's third touchdown of the night. There was no scoring in the fourth quarter.

TAHOKA H. D. CLUB

Mrs. James E. Dye was hostess to the Tahoka Home Demonstration Club Wednesday afternoon when officers for the new year were elected. Mrs. J. B. Oliver will guide the Club as President with her corps of officers including Mrs. S. H. Holland as Vice-President, Mrs. C. R. Vefnon as Secretary and Mrs. Marvin Wood as reporter.

Two demonstrations will be carried this year, Mrs. Marvin Wood being Food Demonstrator but the Clothing Demonstrator has not been named.

Next Tuesday afternoon Miss McNatt will meet with the Club in the home of Mrs. Francis Gill north of town to view her pantry and hear the results of her work as Food Demonstrator for 1941.

J. A. Rea reports that his wife, who fell on the pavement and broke a hip on June 21, is now able to walk about in the house without her crutches. Her recovery has been slow but it is hoped that she will soon be able to dispense with her crutches altogether.

Sergeant Jack McKinnon of Marfa, Fort D. A. Russell, is here visiting his brother, George McKinnon. He is on his way to visit his mother in Lindsey, Okla.

Father Of Mrs. Geo. Mahon Dies

Judge O. E. Stevenson of Loraine, 81, father of Mrs. Geo. H. Mahon, died at midnight Tuesday night in a Colorado City hospital. Congressman and Mrs. Mahon arrived from Washington by plane just a few hours before he died.

Funeral services were conducted in the Methodist Church in Loraine Wednesday afternoon, after which the body was shipped to Floresville, his former home, for burial.

He was a native Texan, having been born at Sutherland Springs. A cotton buyer by occupation he had resided in several different counties and had served at one time as county judge of Irlon county. His residence had been in Loraine for the past twenty-six years.

Mrs. Mahon, his youngest daughter, was a teacher in the Tahoka public schools at the time of her marriage.

Pickers Camp . . .

It will be divided into four compartments; two for the Mexicans and two for the Negroes. It is being built in accordance with state sanitary requirements.

The City has erected an electric light pole, and the Texas Utilities has generously consented to furnish the electricity for a large light, sufficient to fairly well light up the grounds.

All of these improvements are being placed on the block lying on the east side of the street that runs south from the southeast corner of the public square, but the lightpole is so situated as to serve the block on the west side of the street also.

Private citizens, it is stated, are planning to erect a little store and to open a fruit stand on the nearby lots on the east end of the south side of the square.

Police supervision will be provided, and the intention is to keep the grounds sanitary and to hold to a minimum any immoral or criminal practices that may develop. In other words, these transients are to be furnished a decent place in which to camp and live.

The grounds are sufficiently large to accommodate several hundred families.

For the benefit of farmers who may need hands, E. W. Flumey of the Farm Placement Division of the Texas State Employment Service may be found at any hour of the day either on these grounds or at his office with County Agent Don

Turner in the Agriculture building. He will be glad to assist farmers in procuring hands and to assist cotton pickers in finding employment. That is his job here. Farmers are urged to contact Mr. Flumey in advance so as to enable him to have necessary workers available when wanted. This service is furnished without charge to either the farmer or the worker. Farmers may avoid much confusion by contacting Mr. Flumey direct rather than by contacting groups of workers or their leaders.
