The satisfying news that Rome had been bombed came over the radio early Monday morning. The bombardiers had been given careful instructions however to confine their bombings to industrial areas and railway yards and property and in no instance to damage any churches or religious institutions, which was met and proper. In fact, as we understand it, American and British bombers have made it a point to avoid the bombing of churches, schools, hospitals, and homes as far as practicable, wherever they have bombed cities in any part of the world, because we are civilized people. We hope that this policy is scrupulously followed even in Germany and Japan clear up to the end of this war. But we do hope further that our boys succeed in blasting the very lights out of the big military establishments, railway concentration points, submarine bases, docks, and war industries of every kind and character in Italy, Germany, and Japan, until those countries have been whipped to their knees, yes, until they are laid out flat. We would not have this done as a matter of revenge but in order to teach those guys that started this war that it does not pay to start out to plunder the world, and also to make it impossible for them to start another campaign of carnage and plunder any time soon, even if they should desire to do so. Hit old Rome again, boys, hit her again.

Old Caesar was a mighty warrior in his day. He and his armies made many a German barbarian bite the dust, and he brought some of them as prisoners of war to old Palatine Hill. Both Caesar and the ancient Germans fought their battles with swords and spears. We wonder what old Caesar would think today if he could wake and come from out the tomb and hear the bursting of the giant bombs dropped upon the city from the skies by a strange and mighty people from a strange and distant land, of which he had never heard nor dreamed. We suspect that he would look upon the havoc wrought in mute bewilderment and awe. Or, perhaps, he would lose all the courage and the dignity he ever had and flee like a frightened Molly-cottontail to Mussolini's cellar. Behold what Time and God hath wrought!

Miss Mary Seroyer left Wednesday for a visit with her friends, Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Baker in San Angelo.

ODDS and ENDS

by Eec Eye, the Elder

If concentration of power in Washington continues until state lines finally are practically wiped out, we the people will be responsible for the change.

This process of change has been going on steadily and rapidly for the past ten years, and we see little signs of a let-up.

The change is being made through Federal grants of money for this, that, and tother. Included in the list of beneficiaries of Government aid, are the great insurance companies, the banks, the farmers, the cattlemen and other live-stock raisers, the day laborers, and on and on and on. All these grants of money from the Federal treasury seemed very necessary at the time, and they were gratefully accepted by the beneficiaries. And now, so accustomed to Federal aid have the people become that, in many instances, we criticize and cuss the government and everybody at Washington if the aid is withdrawn or curtailed.

We the people are demanding that the hand-outs be continued.

And we are broadening and increasing our demands.

Federal aid is now being proposed for the public schools of the various states. We do not know just how much aid is desired or proposed, probably not a large sum to begin with as compared with appropriations being made constantly for other purposes, for in these days we have come to think in billions, not millions, when Government appropriations or expenditures are under discussion.

But capable and faithful teachers are poorly paid for their services as compared with the earnings of persons engaged in other employments, especially when the time and the money which have been required for them to equip themselves to teach are taken into consideration.

They want better salaries, and Federal appropriations for the public schools would enable them to get better salaries. Naturally, therefore, they are for Federal aid—as a rule. There are a few, it is true, who have sensed the far-reaching consequences that are likely to flow from the adoption of a policy of Federal aid, and they are hesitant. But the great body of the teachers of Texas and of the United States doubtless favor the appropriations, even if it means eventual Federal control of the public schools.

As a kind of entering wedge to the proposed Federal aid policy, a bill is now pending in Congress proposing the appropriation of $300,000,000 to aid public schools in districts overloaded as a result of war industries and military camps. Of this sum, $18,000,000 is to be allocated to Texas.

Teachers and college instructors in session in Austin Saturday adopted resolutions favoring the appropriation. There could be little opposition to an appropriation sufficient to meet such conditions as this—we don't know how much money is really necessary to do the job—but when the appropriation is made, others will follow and soon we will find that we have already adopted the general policy of Federal aid.

It may be the right thing to do. It may be a great boon to education. But very probably it will mean eventual Federal control of the public schools and the further concentration of power in Washington. In fact, we hardly know what surer method of magnifying the powers of the Federal government and minimizing the powers of the state governments could be adopted than that of turning the matter of public education over to the Federal government.

As a matter of fact, the Federal Government for years has been aiding the public schools in one respect. Under the Smith-Hughes Act it has been furnishing money for the part payment of salaries of Home Economics teachers. It also provides part of the funds for the payment of vocational agriculture teachers.

But the work of these teachers has always stood apart from the regular work of the public schools and until very recently scarcely no suggestions have been made or entertained that the Federal Government should assist in paying the salaries of the regular teachers in the public schools. Now, this proposal is looming up large, and the indications are that soon it will be adopted.

Another innovation which is being proposed and which might have far-reaching consequences if adopted, is the appropriation of Federal funds for the payment of advertising in the newspapers.

As a matter of justice, the newspapers of the country can not be expected and should not be asked to publish free of charge any considerable portion of the vast mass of pure propaganda that is sent to them each week by Government departments, bureaus, commissions, and other agencies.

But, when the Government is permitted to enter upon the policy of paying for the publication of vast quantities of this stuff in the newspapers of the country each week or even at irregular intervals, we are wondering if it would not result in two great evils: first, the opening up of another avenue for governmental extravagance and squandering of public funds; and, second, a powerful weapon by which the party in power might perpetuate itself in office.

A third and still more serious evil might eventually develop, governmental control of the press, or at least an undue influence over the policies of powerful newspapers and magazines, thus seriously crippling if not destroying the freedom of the press in this country.

Of one thing we are sure; and that is, if the Government does enter upon a program of paying for advertising in the newspapers, then the policy must be strictly hedged about by adequate laws to prevent any of the above-mentioned possible consequences.

We are aware that most newspaper men are in favor of Government-paid advertising, and we guess it is unpopular with the fraternity for any of their number to oppose it, but we think we see grave dangers in it and we at least must advise caution.

Now come alive, Jack Stricklin, if you have read down this far, and show us wherein we are wrong.

Yes, we Democrats have junked "States Rights" entirely; our own President and his bureaucratic followers and helpers in Washington have done it; and we are drifting just as rapidly as the current can take us into the centralization of practically all governmental power in Washington.

And this is not all. We are continually playing up the power and authority of the President and his army of bureaucratic agents in Washington appointed by him, and we are playing down the power and integrity of Congress, whose members are elected by the people. Yes, the Bureaucrats in Washington would like to destroy the prestige and the popularity of Congress, and they are succeeding far too well in doing so.

We are for Congress ourselves, any day and every day, as against the Bureaucrats, whether that Congress be Democratic or Republican, for Congress is made up of the elected representatives of the people, and the Bureaucrats are in office and power by appointment only.

Let the people rule.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Thornhill left Thursday of last week for a two-weeks visit with relatives in Dallas, Fort Worth, Belton, and Holland. They expect to attend a family reunion of the Thornhill connection while in central Texas.

Believe it or not, your little sister is in the Motor Corps. Don't laugh, I really am! I've found out a lot of things about engines, too. Even if you're not diving out of those monster tanks, I'll bet you don't know that less use of cars and slower driving here on the home front make for trouble, especially acid forming in the cylinders - You know me for reading ads... that's how I found an answer for that trouble. It's Conoco No. 1 oil that oil-plates engines. Our Commander told the girls the other day that my car was the sweetest-running of the lot. He said you (one.)

Mrs. Jake King Dies Suddenly

Mrs. Alma Pearl King, wife of Jake A. King, a citizen of Lynn county for 26 years, died suddenly at her home in west Tahoka Thursday morning at 7:20 o'clock following a stroke.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon (Friday) at 4:30 o'clock at the Methodist Church, Rev. H. A. Nichols, the pastor, officiating.

Alma Pearl Echols, her maiden name, was born March 21, 1885, in Denton county. She married Jake A. King August 27, 1905 at Sanger, and moved to Tahoka in November, 1916. Six children were born to Mr. and Mrs. King, four of whom are living.

Mrs. King had been a member of the Methodist Church for 42 years and was recognized as a good woman and a kind mother. She had been in poor health, but Wednesday night she went to bed feeling as well as usual and death was entirely unexpected.

Children surviving are: Mrs. Frances Ward of Slide, Lubbock county; Mrs. Katie Mae Bigham and Joseph Lee King, of the family home; and Pvt. Jacob A. King Jr., of the U. S. Marines, who is somewhere in Australia. Jacob's wife lives in Lamesa.

Deceased is also survived by seven grandchildren, three sisters, and one brother. Many friends here deeply sympathize with Mr. King, the children, and other relatives in the loss of their loved one.

Hero In Air Battle Has Relatives Here

Lieut. Shelton of Plainview, who received the long "write-up" in the daily press for having brought in a Flying Fortress to England from a bombing mission over Axis territory a few days ago, is a nephew of S. L. Shelton of Tahoka and the grandson of Harry Shelton of New Lynn, The News is informed.

The Fortress was badly shot up, given up for lost by other members of the formation, as it hurtled downward thru space, but Shelton was instrumental in righting the huge plane and bringing it home for a safe landing.

HOT WEATHER

Extremely hot weather has prevailed over the South Plains area the past few days, but crops are reported as growing nicely.

Some feed, especially that planted very thick or in the drier sections, is beginning to suffer for moisture. Some cotton fleas and lice are reported and a number of farmers are already dusting.

One of the big worries of the farmers the past week has been the shortage of cotton choppers and the high wages demanded.

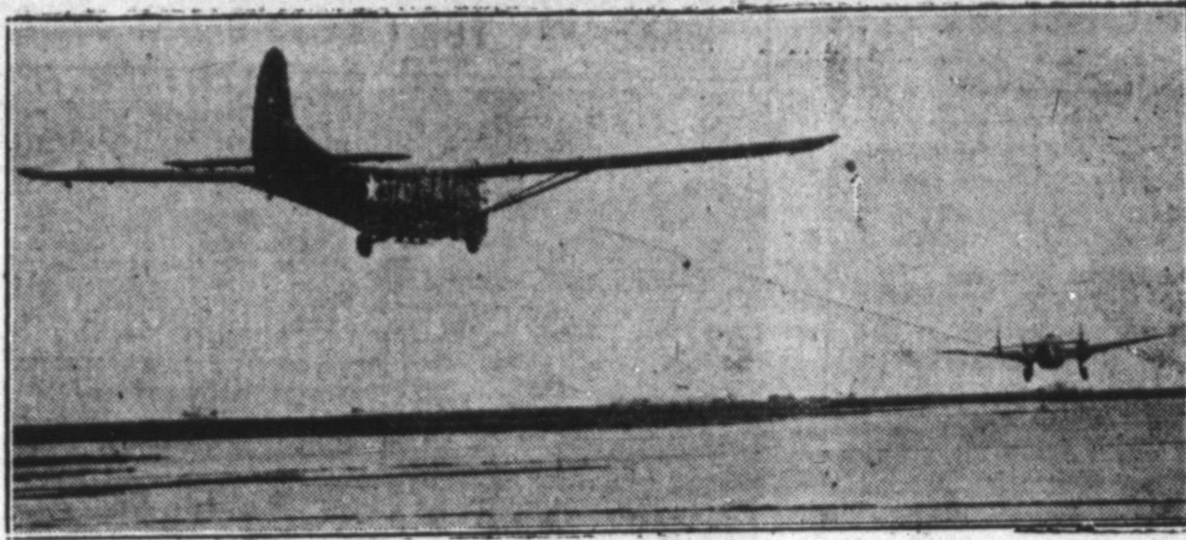

WAC IS IN ENGLAND

A dispatch from England Wednesday stated that the biggest news there was not the bombing of Rome but the landing of 557 WAC's from the United States.

In the group was Miss Claire Ruth Nichols of O'Donnell, who formerly worked in the bank in that city.

SKY SKIMMERS — Flying "freight cars," that drop out of the clouds and can land practically anywhere, are now being built in large numbers for U. S. Army Air Forces. Gliders are towed by bombers as shown on the right. They carry a jeep, field artillery or 15 air borne troops, moving men and materiel to otherwise inaccessible areas, under fighter protection, and go into action almost instantly. Gliders are far cheaper to build and easier to maintain than the cheapest plane.

W. M. Waldrip ...

Mr. Waldrip had been married twice. The four daughters first named above were children of the first marriage, while the remaining four daughters and the three sons were children of the second marriage.

Born in Georgia on April 25, 1878, Willie Martin Waldrip came with his parents from that state to Johnson county, Texas, when he was a lad twelve years old. He married in Johnson county in 1900, and five children were born of that marriage, one of whom is dead. His wife dying, he was married a second time later, and soon thereafter the family moved from Johnson to Lynn county, arriving here on Christmas day in 1915. Settling in the T-Bar community, he reared his family there, most of whom have left the parental roof in the past few years.

It will be noted that five of the children are now in the service of their country, two in the Army, one on the sea, and the two younger daughters in the WACS.

One of the sons, A/C Col. Willie M. Waldrip, has already served with considerable distinction. Entering the Army before Pearl Harbor, he has seen much action as a gunner aboard an American bomber based in Australia. When he was returned to the States, he applied for cadet rating and flying instruction. At the present, he is Cadet Colonel, the highest honor attainable among the ranks of the cadets. On the death of his father, he was given a 30-days furlough.

The other sons also are making creditable records as are also the two daughters who several months ago went into the service as members of the Womens Army Corps.

Mr. Waldrip himself has long been a prominent and valuable citizen of this county, enjoying a reputation for the strictest integrity and fair dealing. He had the confidence of his neighbors and a large circle of friends. Many are they who are grieved at his passing and deep is their sympathy for the bereaved wife and children.

Sgt. Waldrip is the daughter of Mrs. W. M. Waldrip and the late W. M. Waldrip, of Route 3, Tahoka. She is a graduate of T-Bar High School.

SUFFERS FROM POISONING
Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Alexander of Brownfield came over Sunday to visit Mr. and Mrs. Russell Vernon and stopped in town for lunch. Mr. Alexander soon afterwards became violently ill and a physician was summoned, who pronounced his case ptomaine poisoning.

The visitors remained at the Vernon home a day or two while the patient was recovering.

Pfc. Louis Johnson and wife of Camp Carson, Colorado, came Tuesday night for a visit here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. S. Williams living three miles north of Tahoka, and for a visit with her parents at Spur. He will return to Camp Carson about the end of this week but she will remain here to begin her work soon as Principal of the Bovina school in Garza county.

Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Parramore and daughter Traphene of Dallas recently spent several days here visiting Mrs. Parramore's sister, Mrs. Samie Norwood and Mr. Norwood and family. Their aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Williams of Brownfield, and cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Adams and family of Meadow, visited them at the Norwood home while they were here.

Mrs. Rollin McCord and infant daughter Mary Jane came home from the Lubbock General Hospital Wednesday, where the daughter was born on Monday of last week.

Mrs. J. H. Burns, former resident of Lynn county but now of Plainview, is visiting her brother, George W. Small, and Mrs. Small.

LOYD PRESTON RELEASED AS ESSENTIAL FARM WORKER

Loyd Preston, who has been in training in the Army for the past several months, arrived here Monday, announcing that he had been released from the Army on the plea of being an essential farm worker.

A day or two later he left here for Portales, New Mexico, where he expected to be employed on the farm by his brother-in-law, A. O. King. Preston had lived in and near Tahoka for many years. In the Army he was a private first class, recently he had been stationed at Blythe, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Balch returned to Tahoka Wednesday morning from Long Beach, California, where Mrs. Balch has been employed in a defense plant for the past six months and Mr. Balch has been serving as a guard at a defense plant for the past two and a half months.

They were accompanied to Tahoka by Martin Smith, who came to visit for a few days with relatives. He has been working in the California Ship Yard the past two years. He reports that he saw Billy Hill of the U. S. Navy at Long Beach recently, who was then expecting to take out to sea again at any time.

Pvt. Grady Howard is being transferred from Sheppard Field Hospital to Chickasha, Okla., General Hospital. Mrs. Howard, who is a primary teacher in the school here, is with him.

A. F. Edwards of the U. S. Marines, stationed near San Diego, Calif., arrived in Tahoka a few days ago to be with his father, A. J. Edwards, who is in a Lubbock hospital suffering a crushed pelvic bone. He received the injuries when run over by a tractor on his Borden county farm. A. F. expects to be here about two weeks.
