Mrs. Forrester, 84, County Pioneer, Is Buried Here

Funeral services were conducted at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning at the Harris Funeral Home here for Mrs. L. L. Forrester, 84, of Phoenix, Ariz., step-mother of "Aunt Becky" Roberts and the late R. C. Forrester of this place, who died in Phoenix last Friday, Jan. 21, following an illness of three months.

Following funeral services conducted at the Church of Christ in Phoenix last Saturday by R. E. Elmore, minister, the body was shipped to Slaton, arriving late Monday afternoon, and was conveyed by a Harris ambulance from Slaton to the funeral home here.

Services here were conducted by Garnie Atkinson, minister of the Church of Christ, and Rev. Floyd Dawson, pastor of the Four-Square Gospel Church of Lubbock, a long-time friend of deceased. Burial was in the Tahoka cemetery.

Mrs. Forrester had been married twice, and both of her husbands were buried here.

Born in Missouri in 1859, Mrs. Forrester's maiden name was Miss Angeline Goldston. She was brought by her parents to Grayson county, Texas, when she was only six weeks of age. There she grew to womanhood, and at the age of 19 she was married to E. R. Scott. She and her husband and their children came from some point in Oklahoma to Brownfield, Terry county, in 1905, when that was indeed a frontier county. They bought land there with the intention of making her permanent home at that place. But in 1906, when the husband had gone into the "breaks" somewhere near Post to procure wood or possibly fence posts, he was stricken with pneumonia. Too sick to be moved, he died there a few days later. The body was brought to Tahoka and buried.

Mrs. Scott continued to reside at Brownfield, and about three years later she was married to L. L. Forrester, who was also a resident of Brownfield at that time.

About two years later still, in 1910, Mrs. Scott's daughter, Miss Vera, was married to a young school teacher there named Tom Hunter. The Hunters later moved to Wichita Falls, where Mr. Hunter engaged in the practice of law and still later in the oil business. In recent years, as will be well remembered by most of our readers, he made two very creditable and almost successful races for governor of this state. He and Mrs. Hunter (Con'd. on page three)

Melvin Driver, 18, Dies at Winters

Melvin Driver, 18, brother of Curtis and Boyd Driver, Tahoka, died of pneumonia in Winters Friday night. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Driver, who formerly lived a few miles south of Tahoka but removed to Winters a few years ago.

Young Driver had undergone major surgery only three or four weeks before becoming a victim of double pneumonia, and his condition was critical for some time.

Melvin was born near Tahoka, attended school at Wolfforth and Winters. At the latter place he had made many friends, as was evidenced by the large attendance at his funeral and the wealth of floral offerings. He was a member of the Church of Christ.

Survivors include the parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Driver, a sister, Miss Viola of the family home, four married sisters, Mrs. Preston Gilliam and Mrs. Vertie Mae Rogers of Winters, Mrs. Garland Miller of Lamesa, and Mrs. Wilburn Isbell of Lubbock, a brother in Dallas, and the two brothers here.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Driver and Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Driver and sons, Jack and Dwayne, attended the funeral services, held Saturday. The parents accompanied the two Tahoka sons to their homes here for a few days visit, but they have returned to Winters.

Enos L. Seeds, Wealthy Philadelphian, Founder of Grassland, Dies at Age 87

Enos Larkin Seeds, one of the first citizens of what was later to become Lynn county, died Saturday at his home in Philadelphia, according to press dispatches. He was 87 years of age.

Mr. Seeds was the retired founder of the contracting company of Seeds & Derham, according to Sunday's New York Times. This firm constructed many dams and bridges, some of them the largest in the East, principally in Pennsylvania and New Jersey. He also built many of the stations of the Reading Railroad.

He amassed considerable wealth, and owned a large yacht which, before reaching infirm years, he sailed up and down the East Coast. This yacht bore the name "Tahoka" in honor of historic Tahoka Lake and the town of Tahoka.

Mr. Seeds was born in Philadelphia, but came to Texas in 1878 and became associated with Col. Hayes, who was surveying the Texas plains for land grants from the State of Texas in exchange for the building of railroads. The party of surveys of which Mr. Seeds was a member ran their line from a point in Borden county to Moor's Draw, southeast of Grassland and thence to Double Lakes, near the present T-Bar ranch headquarters.

Mr. Seeds liked the looks of the country, then grazed by buffalo and antelope, and vowed that he would return. In the 1880s he did return, and built his home in the eastern part of this county, named it Grassland, operated a small ranch, secured the first Lynn county post-office at Grassland, and, in his spare time erected windmills for the ranchers and first settlers. He planted the first experimental cotton in this section of Texas, the seed being furnished by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Among his old friends here are Jim Weatherford, who worked for him in the early days, A. L. Lockwood, and the late Mr. and Mrs. Jack Alley. A few years ago he and his wife visited Tahoka and his old friends.

He leaves a widow, Mrs. Anna Seeds, and a daughter, Lt. Frances S. Grosscup of the WAC.

Thad Smith Seeks Commissioner Job

Thad Smith of New Home has thrown his hat into the ring as a candidate for the office of commissioner of precinct No. 4.

He resides on the farm three miles east of New Home.

Thad has been a resident of the precinct most of the time for the past twenty years, about six years of which time he has worked for the precinct in maintaining roads. He was out of the county one year, but was employed during that time by a road machinery firm as a mechanic. He knows the precinct well, knows road machinery, knows how to build roads, and has had a great deal of experience in dealing with the public, all of which are valuable assets to a county commissioner.

Last year he received a mashed foot while working in a gin, blood-poisoning set in, and he is just now recovering from the injury. His only promises are to try to talk personally with as many voters as possible before election time, and if elected, to do his best to run the affairs of the office the way the people want them run.

H. A. Winkler Jr. Infant Is Buried

Living only five hours, Bettie Sue, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Winkler Jr., passed away at Mercy Hospital, Slaton, at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning and the tiny body was brought to Tahoka where it was interred Wednesday afternoon, Rev. A. C. Hardin officiating, and Harris Funeral Home in charge.

The father is in the Navy, and could not be here.

J. C. Smith Resigns As County Agent

Judge C. Smith, county agent of Lynn county for a little more than a year, announced this week that he had resigned his job here, effective some time next month, to join his father and brother in farming a large tract of land near Slaton, his former home.

K. J. Edwards, district agent, and the Lynn county commissioners court are seeking a successor.

Smith became county agent a year ago Jan. 1 after having served about two months as AAA administrator. He has had particular success with 4-4 club projects, having organized a number of new boys clubs in the county.

Lapel Buttons For Discharged Men

Men or women who have served in the Armed Forces since declaration of a National Emergency on Sept. 9, 1939, and who have been honorably discharged from the service are now authorized to wear the official servicemen's lapel button, the War Department announced.

The button is designed to show that the wearer has served during this war and to save the wearer any possible embarrassment.

These lapel buttons are now being issued men on their discharge from service.

Those who did not get such buttons should communicate with the Quartermaster Corps, Army War College, P Street between 3rd and 4th Streets, S. W., Washington, D. C., or may apply in person at the point of their induction. When applying for such button, the service man or woman should bring or send his certificate of honorable discharge or certificate of service.

STEPHENSON IN ITALY

S/Sgt. Vernon Cline Stephenson, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Stephenson of the Lakeview store, is believed to be in Italy, according to his father.

Sgt. Stephenson was with the initial landing force in North Africa, and in the Sicily invasion. He is a radioman with the signal corps.

Pvt. Joseph C. Moore, who is stationed at New Orleans, is here visiting his mother, Mrs. Dona Moore, following surgery and a several weeks stay in a hospital there. He has been in the service about three months.

James Gayden is now in the Army Air Corps, stationed at Sheppard Field, Wichita Falls, training in aerial gunnery. He entered the service Dec. 23. Mr. Gayden lived for 11 years at Draw and last year moved to Lubbock to take up flying. He holds a commercial pilot's license with about 300 hours flying time. Mrs. Gayden and the children will remain in Lubbock.

Rain In Tahoka Totals Half Inch

A mere sprinkle Tuesday night and a heavy shower Wednesday afternoon totaled 47 inch in Tahoka, according to the government rain gage kept by The News.

Farmers over much of the county have begun listing land for the 1944 crop. However, listing has been delayed somewhat by the snow, rains, and freezes.

Some cotton is still being ginned, as farmers get an opportunity to harvest the scraps.

$298,313.25 In War Bonds Sold Here, Short of Quota

Though most committees in the Fourth War Loan Drive in Lynn county have worked unusually well, this county has not yet reached its half-way mark on the quota set for us, according to Truett Smith, the county chairman.

Through last Saturday night, after a week's hard campaign, the total amount of bonds sold in Lynn county was $298,313.25. And, Smith says, most of the big buyers had already made their purchases.

He calls on all workers to redouble their efforts in putting over this drive in the respective communities.

Many people have bought no bonds at all, and many others have not done their part, if Lynn county is to bear its share in financing the war.

Every person is urged to invest all he can now. If we don't win the war, our money will not be worth anything, anyway. If we do win it, bonds are as good as our government, Smith points out. The bonds bear interest, and are therefore a good investment as well as insurance against lean years that we may have in the future.

Navy Men Tell of Aleutian, Sea Wars

Two Navy men, Chief Petty Officer A. H. (Buddy) McGonagill, home from the Aleutians, and Billy Hill, gunner's mate 3/c, who has seen service almost all over the world, were principal speakers on Thursday's Rotary Club program.

McGonagill's talk, in which he injected quite a bit of humor, described Kodiak, where he spent his first five months in the Aleutians, as being a beautiful island, the home of the famous giant Kodiak bear, beautiful scenery and sporty hunting and fishing clubs. Next, he spent 20 days at our Dutch Harbor Naval base. Then three months on Adak Island. The invasion of Attu started May 12th, and on June 18, he moved in with the Seabees to construct bases.

He says Attu, in contrast to Kodiak, is very rugged, snow covered about ten months of every twelve, and the weather is terrific. However, in summer, many beautiful flowers grow on the tundra, and he brought along a collection of pressed flowers to show the Rotarians. He also revealed the fact that this and possibly other islands of the Aleutian chain is rich in minerals, and will possibly be found of some commercial value at the war's end.

He said the Seabees uncovered many prehistoric remains, revealing that Attu had been occupied some time in the distant past. He said thousands of skeletons of some prehistoric race were uncovered, along with beautifully carved ivory and bone implements, skeleton remains of prehistoric animals, some of them larger than any modern whale.

McGonagill paid special tribute to the Army boys who occupied the island, and said we could not give them too much credit, for the going was certainly tough in the face of Jap resistance, the weather and the rough seas and rocky terrain.

Billy Hill was next called on and he related many experiences and observations as the result of service on merchant ships as acting gun crew captain of the Navy complement.

He told something of the workings of the guns and mechanical devices and their accuracy, the ships he has been on, enemy plane and submarine attacks, countries he has visited, etc.

Having recently been in Indian ports, he thought the famine terrible, the people anti-British, and possibly liked Americans a little better than the British only because they don't know us any better. He said India was a beautiful country, however.

In Buenos Aires, Argentina, he thought the civilians were pro-Allies, but said the government. (Con'td. on last page)

Work of AAA Is Reviewed; Many Benefits Cited

N. E. Dodd, chief of the Agricultural Adjustment Agency, transmitting the agency's report to Marvin Jones, War Food Administrator, today praised the farmer-elected committee organization of AAA as "the spearhead of agriculture's remarkable wartime accomplishments."

Dodd said that the committee organization provides "the framework that enables six million individual farmers in thousands of farm communities to work together as a team" to solve many of agriculture's problems both in peace and war.

"Without question, the post-war period will bring problems and a need for world-shaking adjustments of a different kind," the chief said. "Whatever comes, farmers know that when individual action is not enough, the farmer committees have proved themselves an effective framework for joint action."

The report reviews the accomplishments of State, county and community committees during the 11 years of the AAA programs.

In peacetime, the committee organization helped farmers solve the problem of unmarketable surpluses through production adjustments and marketing quotas, the report states. When war came, the AAA devoted itself to mobilizing American farmers into "one huge, efficient production machine." The expanded and different needs of wartime were determined, and then national production goals were translated into terms which informed each individual farmer how he could make his maximum contribution to victory.

Running through both the pre-war and war periods, AAA's soil conservation program has helped to maintain and increase soil productivity by encouraging farmers to adopt soil-building practices, the report stated. Since the AAA conservation program became fully effective in 1937, average crop yields for the 1937-42 period increased nearly 21 percent above the 1923-32 average. More than 84 percent of all the cropland in the U. S. was covered by the 1942 Agricultural Conservation program.

Pointing out that the 100,000 farmer committees carry full responsibility for field administration of the program, the report lists several other pre-war committee functions which have continued into the war years. These purchases, cover-crop seed production and crop insurance.

State and county AAA chairmen also serve as chairmen of the USDA War Boards which have administered such programs as farm machinery and supplies, rationing, the issuance of construction permits and farmer application, for gasoline and tires. Responsibility for the functions detailed in the forgoing has recently been delegated directly to the AAA committees.

Commenting on plans for 1944, the report said that the farmer committees soon will begin the 1944 production goals drive, telling their neighbors of national needs and helping them plan their individual operations in line with requirements for food, fiber and crop oils.

Expenditures of AAA for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1943, totaled $638,709,513, including $373,212,215 for agricultural conservation payments and $197,481,980 for parity payments.

Old-Timer Writes Of Early Days

Following is a letter sent to Mrs. Ollie Holt by an old-time Lynx county citizen, Dink Fenn, which will be of interest to most readers of The News:

My old friend and schoolmate, Mrs. Ollie Holt (nee Miss Ollie Nevill) of Tahoka, sent me a few clippings from your paper which gave me the notion of writing you a few lines.

My parents settled in 1901 about nine miles north of where Tahoka now stands when there were only three ranches and less than half a dozen settlers in the county. In fact, the population of the county in 1900 was the grand total of 18.

When the county was organized, having been attached to Lubbock county for judicial purposes, and the records were taken to Tahoka, these records were kept over night in my father's ouse, and, if I remember correctly, they were guarded by John Dillard of Lubbock and Tom Bartley of Tahoka.

The Baptist Church in Tahoka was moved there from our home, where it was organized by Dr. Pharr, a preacher that lived between our place and Lubbock. My mother and one of my sisters, Mrs. Ella Fletcher, were members at that time.

All the settlers that I can recall at present were: Jesse Standifer, O. G. Kershner, Walter May, Ed Ketter, and Preacher Miller and families. Ance Lockwood and Ella Payne were cowhands on the Tahoka Lake Long-S, rather Lazy-S, ranch. R. D. Morris, Sweet, Bird & King, and J. S. Wells were among the first business houses in Tahoka. M. E. Gilmore and Ed Henderson had location in the race for the county site.

My oldest brother, Frank, worked at the old Grassland ranch for George Seage back in the late 1890s, before the ranch improvements were moved to their present location at Tahoka Lake.

My first wage working was for John Donaldson, breaking sod with a walking machine. I remember catching a rabbit, and while Mrs. Donaldson fried the critter, I was employed by rocking Lola to sleep. Excuse me, Lola, I didn't aim to make you blush.

I am on guard with the Wm. J. Burns Agency, and am located at the El Paso Natural Gas company booster station No. 5, Douglas, Ariz. I have two sons in the service, Albert, stationed at San Antonio, and Alvin, stationed on Treasure Island.

The old timers may remember me by the mischief I've been in, but I didn't help shear that old mare's tail that belonged to Mr. Hampton. But you can count me in on a few other "engagements."

If I get arrested for writing this, I hope it will be the Tahoka jail they put me in.

To the People of this Community

KILL OR BE KILLED
United States Marines paid the stiffest price in human life per square yard for the capture of Tarawa, vital Pacific outpost.

It was kill or be killed. Your boys did not flinch when they ran into the deadliest firepower along the beaches of this important Gilbert Island stronghold.

This assault, bloody and costly, is one of the many which must be made before Tokyo and Berlin are pounded into dust and ashes.

What are you doing to back up the boys? Remember these are boys from this very community, perhaps from your very home. Any home in your neighborhood which today does not display the treasury's red, white and blue 4th War Loan Shield proclaiming "We bought Extra War Bonds" is not backing the attack. Every Extra War Bond you buy becomes a direct fighter against Japan and Germany. If you could but see one man die on the battlefield, you would not count the cost of your slight sacrifices to buy Extra War Bonds to make each succeeding assault less costly in the lives of our boys.

You can't afford NOT to buy Extra Bonds in the 4th War Loan if you would help these boys.

The Baptist pastor, Rev. O. E. McGaw, resigned Sunday morning, having accepted a full-time church at Welch, near Brownfield. The McGaws have made their home here for more than two years and will be greatly missed. Rev. I. J. Duff has been added to the deacons' board for a pupil committee.

Rev. E. C. Armstrong returned home last week, but his wife has had a relapse from the flu.

Wednesday afternoon the G. A.'s and Sunbeams met for the first time since their Christmas tree. Moniglee Cooper assisted Mrs. Jack Oakley with the girls' program. Two new members, Edith Cooper and Martin Cisneros, and two old members were present. Alene Cooper helped with the Sunbeam program, with six members present.

Sunday Mrs. Nettie Kellum had another severe attack of gall bladder trouble.

Last week Mr. and Mrs. C. A. McArthur moved to Lubbock.

Mrs. O. J. Harmonson is back in bed with rheumatism again.

Mr. and Mrs. Mallard Phillips and daughter, Donna, and son, Kenneth, are moving this week to the Clarence Basinger house east of town. This sister of Elmer Watson, who lives on the next farm, moved here from Sundown. They formerly lived in this school district.

Sunday afternoon several girls gathered at the home of Mrs. Marvin Truelock to sing, work jig-saw puzzles, and play games. They were Montzlee, Alene, and Edith Cooper, Virginia Ramsay, Dorothy Casell, and Mary Frances King.

Mrs. B. Spence was hostess at a party for the children in Mrs. Rankin's room as a farewell to her son Jimmy John. The Spence family is moving to a place two miles from the New Mexico line. We hate to see these friends, who have lived in Southland so long, move away.

Mrs. T. W. Taunton, the daughter of the I. J. Duffs, received a letter from Sgt. Taunton that he is being moved into Illinois.

Harvey Smallwood, who is still stationed in Hawaii, sees the Denton boy quite often.

Fred Fletcher writes from India that he now has a job running the movie projector for their camp six nights a week, which leaves him only one free night.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Dunn and son and the Dillard Dunns visited friends in Merkel Sunday.

Mrs. Joe Childress arrived Thursday to spend several days with her parents, the W. W. Gillilands while her husband is being transferred from Laredo to school in Illinois, where Pauline will join him.

Everyone appreciates the recent dragging and grading of Main St.

Roy King and Miss Esther Rexwinkel of Bellflower, Calif., were married Jan. 16 in the home of the bride's parents, only relatives attending. The young couple expect to make their home here.

Manuel Truelock of the Navy left Sunday for Seattle, Wash., via San Francisco, where he will visit with friends. He spent 20 days visiting here, in Post and Lubbock. He has spent the same number of days on the water without touching land; so, he thinks the boys stationed at Lubbock have a snap.

Mrs. J. B. Jones received a let-were here Tuesday attending the funeral of her mother.

The other surviving children of deceased include L. G. Scott of Phoenix, with whom Mrs. Forrester had made her home for about seventeen years, at the time of her death, Will Scott of Solano, New Mexico, and C. A. Scott of Mosquero, that state, and Homer Scott of Lubbock, all of whom, accompanied by their wives, were present for the funeral.

Also surviving are two sisters, Mrs. E. M. Groves of Spearman, Texas, and Mrs. Sallie Greene of Whitesboro, both of whom were here; and one brother, Marion Goldston of Stockton, Calif., who could not be here.

After Mrs. Scott's marriage to L. L. Forrester at Brownfield in 1906, they continued to reside there for a number of years and then moved to Wilson in this county. Mr. Forrester, who was well known to all the "old-timers" in this section of the state, died about twenty-five years ago, and his remains likewise were buried in the Tahoka cemetery. His son, the late R. C. Forrester and his family later removed from Wilson to Tahoka, and he died here several years ago. The latter's widow and daughter, Mrs. Annie Forrester and Mrs. Omera Biggstaff, are prominent business people here.

The deceased, Mrs. L. L. Forrester, had long been a member of the Church of Christ and at the time of her death was a member of the congregation in Phoenix.

All honor to these courageous pioneers who helped open up this great country and who, with their families withstood droughts, blizzards, sickness, death and all kinds of inconveniences so that those who came after may enjoy the country that we have today.

BOY CAPTURES PORCUPINE

Young Jesse Hixon, who resides on the old Street farm southeast of O'Donnell was prowling in the "brakes" with his dog early this week when they encountered a porcupine. Rover quickly accumulated a lot of the porcupine quills and quit the fray, but Jesse wanted a porcupine for home study. Quickly shucking his overalls, he proceeded to literally "wrap up" the porcupine. Jesse says the weather was pretty cool but he enjoyed the trip home—where he is taming Porcy and studying its habits. But he was obliged to burn the overalls on account of the quills left in them.—Ben Moore.

Mrs. A. A. Lawson returned home Tuesday morning from San Antonio, where she has been "looking after" her new grandbaby, Mary Alice Katherine Ward, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis (Naomi) Ward, born on Dec. 3. Mrs. Lawson had been there since in November.

The News is sorry that it can not publish all the interesting copy that may be furnished it for publication.

Just this week we were furnished a copy of an excellent story sent by Miss Clara Scruggs from Philadelphia several months ago with urgent requests from friends that it be published.

Miss Scruggs is now in the WACS and is stationed in Massachusetts. Hampered by the paper shortage and by a scarcity of labor, The News can not publish mere fiction or propaganda stories, however excellent they may be. Tahoka Captain and His Company Have Tough Going On Italian Battle Front

The following story deals with the exploits of Co. A or a Battalion of the 36th Division, of which Capt. James L. Minor, who was reared in Tahoka, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Minor. It is the feature war story of the Jan. 6 issue of Stars and Stripes, Italian edition, published by soldiers, this particular copy having been sent Wynne Collier by Lt. Chas. Townes. The story is one of the better ones coming from the war front. It is by Sgt. Ralph G. Martin.

On the 5th Army Front—The hills are quiet now. The soft snow has covered the shell-scorched earth, the half-dug fox-holes, the graves.

The war has moved somewhere else.

But only several weeks ago several hundred men were breaking their own trail through heavy underbrush, slipping and falling on slick rocks, crawling on hands and knees in thick sticky mud, climbing cliffs that jutted straight up and ravines that cut straight down—all this when their feet were frost-bitten and swollen and their clothes were ringing wet from the pouring rain and their bellies were empty and their throats were dry and heavy artillery and mortar shells were bursting all around them.

In the stark-simple communique, it said that our troops were slowly mopping up the Camino hill mass.

To the sick-and-tired doughfoots of Company A of a battalion in the 36th Division, it wasn't so simple. It was 11 stretched-out days and nights over 15 twisting-curling-winding miles. It was the same kind of thing endured by every outfit fighting on every hill all along the front. It was the explanation for the seemingly slow advance of the 5th Army. It was something you could never adequately express in a communique.

First job for Company A was to mop up a sector from a ridge called "Prisoners Knob" (because so many Germans were captured there) to a place called "Graveyard Hill" (because so many Germans were buried there.) The area was only two miles square.

But in those two miles there were snipers and machine gun nests hidden in the brush, waiting; there were German OPs sitting on top of the nearby hills, looking down on them, ready to give the signal to their 170 and 210 mm. guns, their multi-barreled "screaming meemies," their 88s and small mortars.

Well Spread Out
The 150 men scrambled up the hill slowly, two platoons abreast, well spread out. Gradually, the rainy downpour switched into pea-soup fog until nobody could see five yards ahead of him.

It was the fog that saved them. Without observation, the German gunners were forced to guess at range and position and their snipers and machine gunners had to shoot at what they thought they heard. Still, some gunners guessed right and the American grave-diggers and litter bearers were kept busy with work. The rest scooted for cover, where cover was hard to find.

"And you can't dig foxholes into solid rock," said the young Capt. James L. Minor, who used to be a law student at the University of Texas.

Some soldiers were lucky. One shell lifted two soldiers from behind a pile of rocks and dropped them six feet away with no damage done except a few powder burns on their faces and a ripped raincoat. The two were Pvt. William Quatman, Teutopolis, Ill., and Pfc. Coy Rankling, Rising Star, Tex. Another shell fragment tore the pack off the back of S/Sgt. Robert E. Swart, Blanket, Tex. It also heavily pock-marked the mortar piece he was carrying. He had just picked up that mortar piece from another soldier who had been hit.

Some Unlucky
But there are many more soldiers who weren't so lucky.

It took one litter squad of eight men to bring back one patient to the first aid station and it took 12 hours.

Pvt. Anton Jeckich of Cleveland, keeping his squad far away from the path that night, saw one shell land smack on top of a litter squad several hundred yards in front of him, killing everybody.

Back in the hills, the company had cleared their two-mile area and were now enduring four full days of steady shelling, waiting for further orders. The further orders simply gave them a few more hills, in different directions.

Again, they climbed straight up and straight down, breaking their own trails, slipping and sliding. . . .
"We spent more time on our back than on our feet," said the captain grimly, unconsciously clenching and unclenching his hands, staring at his still-muddy boots.

A Big Find

Once they came across a whole battery of German mortars which had been hit solid by a barrage from our counter-batteries. The German crews were splattered among the twisted pieces of steel.

"We couldn't see them, but we could smell them," said the captain.

After more days and nights of this steady stumbling forward, the company began to have foot trouble—broken ankles and frostbitten feet that swelled so much they broke the shoelaces. Some soldiers had to cut their shoes apart to get them off, others couldn't even fit their feet into overshoes.

There was water-food shortage, too. For water, the patient soldiers held their canteens under slanting rocks, letting the rain drip in. The impatient soldiers just scooped water out of the mudholes. As for food, the soldiers tightened their belts and tried to think of something else.

The long-past-due supply detail never did arrive. But a three-man, self-selected detail did. They hiked all night, their packboards heavily loaded with shoes, gloves, socks, newspapers and some precious mail. The three included a supply sergeant S/Sgt. Darrel R. Bolen, Strawn, Tex.; the ordnance man, T-5 Grover T. Gravin, Sullivan, Ill.; and the mail orderly, T-5 Charles D. Martin, Carrollton, Ill.

Not long after that, the company mopped up their last hill on the fringe of the mountain mass and the captain got up and said, "OK boys, we're being relieved. . . let's get back."

Just Before Dawn

Just before dawn, after plodding through pitch blackness for six hours, they reached their bivouac. Breakfast chow, their first meal in 11 days, was scrounged from somewhere by their mess sergeant, Wilfred "Old Polks" Newton, Carlsbad, New Mexico.

First Sergeant Jefferson Adams, Brownwood, still remembered it. "We had hot coffee and hot cereal and butter and jam and cream gravy and bacon. . . ."

"And we had three fat slices of fresh white bread."

The field telephone rang and the captain answered. His face tightened up a little as he spoke. He said "Yes, sir," a few times and hung up.

"You better forget about that white bread, sergeant," he said. "We've got some more hills to visit tomorrow morning."

Geo. Nolte Thinks Farming Should Be More Intensive

Geo. A. Nolte, from up on the north line of the county, near Wilson, was in The News office Monday on business, and passed on a lot of interesting information while here.

He keeps accurate account of the rainfall, and says that last year his area received just 7 and 15-16 of an inch, the lowest he has recorded in the sixteen years he has been there. The next lowest was in 1934, when he recorded 8 and 3-4 inches. Due to the fact that the rainfall came at opportune times last year, we raised an excellent crop.

Mr. Nolte believes that most of our farmers try to cultivate too much land. He has only 160 acres, and thinks that is too much. "We just give our land a lick and a promise," he says. "We have the most fertile land but we are not getting the most out of it because we do not practice intensive farming methods."

Another thing, Mr. Nolte has a successful formula for getting rid of Johnson grass. When he first rented a place at Wilson, he told his landlord that at the end of the year there would either be "no Johnson grass or no Nolte," and he made good his promise.

LYNN COUNTY HOME DEMONSTRATION COUNCIL

The Lynn County Home Demonstration Council met at 2:30 p. m., Saturday, Jan. 22, in the office of the Home Demonstration Agent.

This being the first meeting of the new year, Mrs. B. Cromer, president, had charge. Mrs. J. B. Edwards, secretary, called the roll. There were five clubs represented. The group enjoyed the film, "Food for Freedom."

"The principal objectives of countyhome demonstration councils are to develop leadership, to forward and extend home demonstration work among both women and girls through county-wide cooperation with all rural home makers, and to serve as a medium through which the agent may receive information from community clubs and give additional help to rural home makers." This farm boy stopped bullets intended for you . . .

JOE MARTINEZ, Colorado farm boy, his battalion bogged down under withering fire from Jap positions on Attu, broke alone and advanced into a hail of bullets to clean out trench after trench so his battalion could advance. He died with his rifle at his shoulder, pumping lead into the enemy, while his mates were able to move up behind him and successfully take the pass. For this, Joe Martinez has been posthumously awarded the Nation's highest military honor. Let every man who was once a farm boy himself buy an extra War Bond in Joe's honor . . . for Joe took the bullets aimed at the heart of America!

The 4th WAR LOAN is your opportunity to do something about it!

It's Time to Take the Offensive. Your government has the men it needs to do the job in the front lines—great men all! But it doesn't have the money it needs, by a long way. That's your job! And the immediate task is the Fourth War Loan—Your chance to take the offensive not only in support of the men who are fighting and dying for you and your loved ones, but also in support of your own future!

What are you going to do about a wornout tractor, about repairing fences and buildings, about replacing depreciated machinery and equipment? Will you be ready with money in the bank when these things are needed?

You will if you take the offensive now! Put every extra dollar into U. S. War Bonds—the best form of financial reserve ever offered you. Think! You are asked to make a sound and prudent investment—not a sacrifice!

When Your Boy Comes Home

Will your boy come back to a farm or ranch with no financial reserves, no future? Or will you greet him at the gate with a bundle of War Savings Bonds—for working capital, new machinery, better buildings? And if your children are going to college, why not be sure they get there by buying today the Bonds that will pay the cost.

No need, really, to tell an up-to-date farmer or rancher what he needs financial reserves for. You know more reasons than anyone else can enumerate for setting aside extra dollars to meet the future. Now is your chance to do it . . . and help fight the war, too!

Go on the offensive! Buy all the Bonds you can—today!

You Never Get Less Than You Lend! And you get 1/2 more than you invest. When held 10 years, War Bonds yield 2.9% interest compounded semi-annually. You get back $4 for every $3.

Cash When You Need It. If an emergency comes along, your War Bonds are like money in the bank. Uncle Sam will redeem them in cash—at full purchase price—any time after you've held them 60 days. Don't cash them unless you have to. And don't hold back a single dollar unnecessarily from the purchase of War Bonds. YOUR HELP IS NEEDED.

Facts About War Bonds (Series E)

You can buy War Bonds from your bank, postmaster, mail carrier or Production Credit Association. Don't wait. Do it by mail if you can't get to town!

NEWS CAN NOT PUBLISH FICTION

The News is sorry that it can not publish all the interesting copy that may be furnished it for publication.

Just this week we were furnished a copy of an excellent story sent by Miss Clara Scruggs from Philadelphia several months ago with urgent requests from friends that it be published.

Miss Scruggs is now in the WACS and is stationed in Massachusetts.

Hampered by the paper shortage and by a scarcity of labor, The News can not publish mere fiction or propaganda stories, however excellent they may be. The manuscript will be returned to the good lady who furnished it to us, upon application.—The Publishers.

Tahoka Captain and His Company Have Tough Going On Italian Battle Front

The following story deals with the exploits of Co. A or a Battalion of the 36th Division, of which Capt. James L. Minor, who was reared in Tahoka the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Minor. It is the feature war story of the Jan. 6 issue of Stars and Stripes, Italian edition, published by soldiers, this particular copy having been sent Wynne Collier by Lt. Chas. Townes. The story is one of the better ones coming from the war front. It is by Sgt. Ralph G. Martin.

On the 6th Army Front—The hills are quiet now. The soft snow has covered the shell-scorched earth, the half-dug fox-holes, the graves.

The war has moved somewhere else.

But only several weeks ago several hundred men were breaking their own trail through heavy underbrush, slipping and falling on slick rocks, crawling on hands and knees in thick sticky mud, climbing cliffs that jutted straight up and ravines that cut straight down—all this when their feet were frost-bitten and swollen and their clothes were ringing wet from the pouring rain and their bellies were empty and their throats were dry and heavy artillery and mortar shells were bursting all around them.

In the stark-simple communique, it said that our troops were slowly mopping up the Camino hill mass.

To the sick-and-tired doughfoots of Company A of a battalion in the 36th Division, it wasn't so simple. It was 11 stretched-out days and nights over 15 twisting-curving-winding miles. It was the same kind of thing endured by every outfit fighting on every hill all along the front. It was the explanation for the seemingly slow advance of the 5th Army. It was something you could never adequately express in a communique.

First job for Company A was to mop up a sector from a ridge called "Prisoners Knob" (because so many Germans were captured there) to a place called "Graveyard Hill" (because so many Germans were buried there.) The area was only two miles square.

But in those two miles there were snipers and machine gun nests hidden in the brush, waiting; there were German OPs sitting on top of the nearby hills, looking down on them, ready to give the signal to their 170 and 210 mm. guns, their multi-barreled "screaming meemies," their 88s and small mortars.

Well Spread Out
The 150 men scrambled up the hill slowly, two platoons abreast, well spread out. Gradually, the rainy downpour switched into pea-soup fog until nobody could see five yards ahead of him.

It was the fog that saved them. Without observation, the German gunners were forced to guess at range and position and their snipers and machine gunners had to shoot at what they thought they heard. Still, some gunners guessed right and the American grave-diggers and litter bearers were kept busy with work. The rest scooted for cover, where cover was hard to find.

"And you can't dig foxholes into solid rock," said the young Capt. James L. Minor, who used to be a law student at the University of Texas.

Some soldiers were lucky. One shell lifted two soldiers from behind a pile of rocks and dropped them six feet away with no damage done except a few powder burns on their faces and a ripped raincoat. The two were Pvt. William Quatman, Teutopolis, Ill., and Pfc. Coy Rankin, Rising Star, Tex. Another shell fragment tore the pack off the back of S/Sgt. Robert E. Swart, Blanket, Tex. It also heavily pock-marked the mortar piece he was carrying. He had just picked up that mortar piece from another soldier who had been hit. Some Unlucky

But there are many more soldiers who weren't so lucky.

It took one litter squad of eight men to bring back one patient to the first aid station and it took 12 hours.

Pvt. Anton Jeckich of Cleveland, keeping his squad far away from the path that night, saw one shell land smack on top of a litter squad several hundred yards in front of him, killing everybody.

Back in the hills, the company had cleared their two-mile area and were now enduring four full days of steady shelling, waiting for further orders. The further orders simply gave them a few more hills, in different directions.

Again, they climbed straight up and straight down, breaking their own trails, slipping and sliding . . . "We spent more time on our back than on our feet," said the captain grimly, unconsciously clenching and unclenching his hands, staring at his still-muddy boots.

A Big Find

Once they came across a whole battery of German mortars which had been hit solid by a barrage from our counter-batteries. The German crews were splattered among the twisted pieces of steel.

"We couldn't see them, but we could smell them," said the captain.

After more days and nights of this steady stumbling forward, the company began to have foot trouble—broken ankles and frostbitten feet that swelled so much they broke the shoelaces. Some soldiers had to cut their shoes apart to get them off, others couldn't even fit their feet into overshoes.

There was water-food shortage, too. For water, the patient soldiers held their canteens under slanting rocks, letting the rain drip in. The impatient soldiers just scooped water out of the mudholes. As for food, the soldiers tightened their belts and tried to think of something else.

The long-past-due supply detail never did arrive. But a three-man, self-selected detail did. They hiked all night, their packboards heavily loaded with shoes, gloves, socks, newspapers and some precious mail. The three included a supply sergeant S/Sgt. Darrel R. Bolen, Strawn, Tex.; the ordnance man, T-5 Graver T. Gravin, Sullivan, Ill.; and the mail orderly, T-5 Charles D. Martin, Carrollton, Ill.

Not long after that, the company mopped up their last hill on the fringe of the mountain mass and the captain got up and said, "OK boys, we're being relieved . . . let's get back."

Just Before Dawn

Just before dawn, after plodding through pitch blackness for six hours, they reached their bivouac. Breakfast chow, their first meal in 11 days, was scrounged from somewhere by their mess sergeant, Wilfred "Old Folks" Newton, Carlsbad, New Mexico.

First Sergeant Jefferson Adams, Brownwood, still remembered it.

"We had hot coffee and hot cereal and butter and jam and cream gravy and bacon . . .

"And we had three fat slices of fresh white bread."

The field telephone rang and the captain answered. His face tightened up a little as he spoke. He said "Yes, sir," a few times and hung up.

"You better forget about that white bread, sergeant," he said. "We've got some more hills to visit tomorrow morning."

Geo. Nolte Thinks Farming Should Be More Intensive

Geo. A. Nolte, from up on the north line of the county, near Wilson, was in The News office Monday on business, and passed on a lot of interesting information while here.

He keeps accurate account of the rainfall, and says that last year his area received just 7 and 15-16 of an inch, the lowest he has recorded in the sixteen years he has been there. The next lowest was in 1934, when he recorded 8 and 3-4 inches. Due to the fact that the rainfall came at opportune times last year, we raised an excellent crop.

Mr. Nolte believes that most of our farmers try to cultivate too much land. He has only 160 acres, and thinks that is too much. "We just give our land a lick and a promise," he says. "We have the most fertile land but we are not getting the most out of it because we do not practice intensive farming methods."

Another thing, Mr. Nolte has a successful formula for getting rid of Johnson grass. When he first rented a place at Wilson, he told his landlord that at the end of the year there would either be "no Johnson grass or no Nolte," and he made good his promise.

LYNN COUNTY HOME DEMONSTRATION COUNCIL

The Lynn County Home Demonstration Council met at 2:30 p. m., Saturday, Jan. 22, in the office of the Home Demonstration Agent.

This being the first meeting of the new year, Mrs. B. Cromer, president, had charge. Mrs. J. B. Edwards, secretary, called the roll. There were five clubs represented. The group enjoyed the film, "Food for Freedom."

"The principal objectives of county-wide home demonstration councils are to develop leadership, to forward and extend home demonstration work among both women and girls through county-wide cooperation with all rural home makers, and to serve as a medium through which the agent may receive information from community clubs and give additional help to rural home makers." This farm boy stopped bullets intended for you . . .

JOE MARTINEZ, Colorado farm boy, his battalion bogged down under withering fire from Jap positions on Attu, arose alone and advanced into a hail of bullets to clean out trench after trench so his battalion could advance. He died with his rifle at his shoulder, pumping lead into the enemy, while his mates were able to move up behind him and successfully take the pass. For this, Joe Martinez has been posthumously awarded the Nation's highest military honor. Let every man who was once a farm boy himself buy an extra War Bond in Joe's honor . . . for Joe took the bullets aimed at the heart of America!

The 4th WAR LOAN is your opportunity to do something about it!

It's Time to Take the Offensive. Your government has the men it needs to do the job in the front lines—great men all! But it doesn't have the money it needs, by a long way. That's your job! And the immediate task is the Fourth War Loan—Your chance to take the offensive not only in support of the men who are fighting and dying for you and your loved ones, but also in support of your own future!

What are you going to do about a worn-out tractor, about repairing fences and buildings, about replacing depreciated machinery and equipment? Will you be ready with money in the bank when these things are needed?

You will if you take the offensive now! Put every extra dollar into U. S. War Bonds—the best form of financial reserve ever offered you. Think! You are asked to make a sound and prudent investment—not a sacrifice!

When Your Boy Comes Home

Will your boy come back to a farm or ranch with no financial reserves, no future? Or will you greet him at the gate with a bundle of War Savings Bonds—for working capital, new machinery, better buildings? And if your children are going to college, why not be sure they get there by buying today the Bonds that will pay the cost.

No need, really, to tell an up-to-date farmer or rancher what he needs financial reserves for. You know more reasons than anyone else can enumerate for setting aside extra dollars to meet the future. Now is your chance to do it . . . and help fight the war, too!

Go on the offensive! Buy all the Bonds you can—today!

You Never Get Less Than You Lend! And you get 1/4 more than you invest. When held 10 years, War Bonds yield 2.9% interest compounded semi-annually. You get back $4 for every $3.

Cash When You Need It. If an emergency comes along, your War Bonds are like money in the bank. Uncle Sam will redeem them in cash—at full purchase price—any time after you've held them 60 days. Don't cash them unless you have to. And don't hold back a single dollar unnecessarily from the purchase of War Bonds. YOUR HELP IS NEEDED.

Facts About War Bonds (Series E)

You can buy War Bonds from your bank, postmaster, mail carrier or Production Credit Association. Don't wait. Do it by mail if you can't get to town!

Student Council Plans Improvement

Plans for school improvements were discussed Thursday, Jan. 20, when all members of the Tahoka High School Student Council met under the sponsorship of Supt. W. T. Hanes and Prin. Leo Jackson.

The council had been considering for some time the idea of sending form letters concerning school activities to all ex-students of Tahoka High School who are now in service. Definite plans were decided on Thursday. Mimeographed copies of the first letter, written by Mr. Hanes, were sent Wednesday, Jan. 25, to all ex-students whose present addresses are turned in to the council. A box has been placed in the hall on the first floor of the high school building for this purpose.

Students, please cooperate by bringing present addresses of ex-students. Plans for improvements are also sought by corresponding with Student Councils of other schools, Lubbock, Plainview, and Big Spring have been contacted. As a group, all members of the Council are to visit three schools before the end of this term, so that ideas may be exchanged.

It was decided that new flags should be purchased for the Honor Roll as funds can be obtained by the various high school grades. To honor those in service from Tahoka; flags are flown over the Honor Roll at all times, and they soon become badly worn. New ones are needed at present.

Students, the Student Council requests that you don't forget the addresses. The first letters were mailed Jan. 25, but there will be others every two weeks, so keep bringing in the names that you have, and try to increase the number each time.

Are you one of those persons who has that awful habit of borrowing constantly? Do you have to borrow a pencil, a pen, a sheet of paper or something else everytime the teacher gives you a written assignment? The person you ask ought not to lend you whatever you want because borrowing and lending breaks friendships very quickly and easily.

For instance you borrow John's pen and lose it. Of course you can pay for it if you have the money, because it was an expensive pen. He couldn't buy another one because there just aren't such things. Furthermore it was a present from his parents two years ago. John isn't going to like you very much after that, is he?

Surely you don't want to lose friends, so, students, think twice before you borrow that pencil, pen or whatever it is you don't have.

Sing-Song Favorite At Assembly

The assembly held Tuesday under the direction of Rev. A. E. Brown was another sing-song—a favorite type of program with the T. H. S. students.

The entire student body sang "Anchors Aweigh," and "God Bless America." The sophomore, junior, and senior boys came to the front of the auditorium and sang "Paper Doll." Then the junior, sophomore and senior girls sang the same song. Everybody sang the "Marine Hymn" and "My Bonnie Lies Over the Ocean" was sung in parts by the different classes with the teachers singing the last line. Frances Marion Haney, Nan Beth Pennington and student council president W. T. Hines lead the assembly in singing "Mairzy Doats." All the students sang "The Eyes of Texas," and "Beautiful Texas," and concluded with the National anthem.

T. H. S. is lucky to have so versatile a performer as Brother Brown who can always be depended on to furnish entertainment or plan a spur of the moment sing-song.

PERSONALITY OF THE WEEK

As we go looking through the halls of THS we find a popular little Sophomore girl. She's tall, slender, has dark brown hair and eyes, and gives one the impression of being quiet, friendly and business-like. Perhaps, she is best known for her flair for attractive clothes; has a four-letter nickname, Cody. Now, you've surely guessed—Coleme Carmack!

World Travels Explorer Tells Of

Alonso W. Pond, recently heard in a lecture on Algeria, by the students of Tahoka, although possessing a very broad education, boasts more practical experience on the subject of pre-historic archeology. Mr. Pond received his B.A. degree in Pilot, Wis., his masters degree from the University of Chicago, and studied extensively in Paris, France.

A very wealthy man financed an expedition which took Mr. Pond and a few companions into North Africa—Algeria and Tunisia. Mr. Pond found positive proof, while in Algeria, that the inhabitants of Algeria are direct descendants of the immigrants who came into Algeria, not north from the Mediterranean Sea, as one might suppose, but from the south through the valleys out of Africa. Mr. Pond expresses one of his ambitions is to find more proof on the subject and also find from whence they study.

A second expedition was made, not with scientific companions as before, but with five young students, which, Mr. Pond stated, proved more enjoyable than any other companions he had ever had. This second expedition was very much the same as the first, but still not enough to complete their study.

Not long after the second expedition, the millionaire responsible for the exploration, died, thus putting an end to them.

He lectured extensively, soon becoming connected with the Southern School Assemblies that brought him to Tahoka.

Mr. Pond, when asked what part he believed the schools of America should play in the war effort, stated that of course first came all the bonds and stamps we could possibly buy. "But one most important factor is that if the younger generation today would realize that they should be educated, fully and wholly, a problem could be erased from the minds of the whole world, that of another war."

Classes Report Many Activities

Senior News

Ruby Gartman and Carl Griffing had charge of the citizenship program Thursday, Jan. 20. Ruby's talk was very interesting as it was mistakes in daily life and how to correct them. Carl talked on personality. The talk included many don'ts for a person who wishes to have a pleasing personality.

The Seniors have their "Kid Day" Friday. We hope that each Senior and also Miss Garms, the sponsor, will come dressed as a kid. We are sure that this day will be enjoyed by all, even the underclassmen.

We, as Seniors, will take the lead in carrying out better citizenship in the school; and also do our share during the Fourth War Loan drive.

Freshman News

The Freshman class plans to have a "tacky party" Tuesday night in the gym. There will be prizes given to the two tackiest people. In home room period Monday we had a very good discussion on being better citizens in the future.

Sophomore News

The Sophs. are still planning on a party but most of all are working on citizenship programs which they give every Thursday. The Sophomore class is going to be one hundred per cent in giving money for the Lynn County Honor Roll. They also are going to resolve to work harder and be better citizens this semester.

Eighth Grade News

The eighth grade class is planning on having a Valentine party February 14.

Y. W. A. NEWS

The Y. W. A. of the First Baptist Church of Taboka met Monday night with Christine Wenzel. This was the night of the regular monthly business meeting. The group voted to do a personal service this week and have some girls to foster the Sunbeams, which will make the Y. W. A. a standard organization for the month of January. After the meeting adjourned refreshments were served to Billie Margaret Riddle, Gerry Milliken, Estelle Hardin, Rae Fern Pennington, Opal Smith, and the hostess, Christine Wenzel.

The group will meet with Billie Riddle next Monday night and a Mission program will be had. A cordial invitation is extended to all girls between the ages of 17 and 25.—Reporter.

METHODIST CHURCH

Last Sunday we were made happy because of the fine attendance at the Church school and at both of the preaching services. Several regular members are still sick.

The Board of Stewards met in their monthly meeting Tuesday night. Many plans were made for the different divisions and departments of the church and church school. A tentative date was set for our annual revival meeting—the first part of June. The pastor is to correspond with certain ministers and secure the best help possible. And, too, a Wesley Brotherhood is to be organized and will have its first meeting the third Tuesday night in February. It will include the men members and friends of this church. A splendid program is being planned for the first meeting. We anticipate a large group of men for this brotherhood. After some two hours of meeting, the board was served refreshments by Meses. Froh, Walter Mathis and H. A. Nichols. All in all, it was an inspiring and helpful meeting.

The pastor will discuss the theme, "The New World Order," Sunday morning, using for his text, Rev. 21:1. We shall be happy to have you worship with us at all of the services of the day—member, friend, and visitor.

SPECIAL PROGRAM AT WILSON CHURCH

Calvary Baptist Church Adult Union of Lubbock will come to Wilson and put on an interesting program for the Wilson Baptist church next Sunday evening at 7:45 p. m. There will be some 12 or 15 in the party.

Every one is cordially invited to hear and enjoy this good program.—W. H. Jackson, pastor.

RADIO PROGRAM

Beginning Dec. 4, Dr. E. F. Webber will bring a six week teaching on the Second Coming of Christ over KWFT, Wichita Falls, 30 minutes at 2:30 each day through Saturday. Listen in, won't you? 23-22b Encouraging reports are coming from the mission work at Socorro, New Mexico. Brother Smith reports the attendance has greatly increased since the first meetings.

Have you been to Gordon on Thursday night? You should go. Last Thursday night the crowd was the largest that had ever been. Come and we will do you good. Get your Bible, please, and let us study together.

Question: "Why don't the Church of Christ use instruments of music in the worship? In brief, we will say that the use of instruments in the worship of God were used ONLY in the Old Testament. Even then God spoke against them. Amos 6: 1-6: "Woe unto them that invent unto themselves instruments of music like David."

Note carefully these passages where singing is mentioned: Matt. 26:30; Mk. 14:26; Acts 16:25; Rom. 15:9; I Cor. 14:15; Eph. 5:19; Col. 3:16; Heb. 2:12-13:15; Jas. 5:13. In all these passages no hint is made of the use of musical instruments in the worship.

Jesus Christ nowhere mentioned it. No apostle ever sanctioned it; no New Testament writer ever commanded it; no apostolic church ever practiced it.

Therefore to use instruments of music in the worship of the Church of Christ is wrong. To do so would be going beyond what has been written. Read II Jnb. 9. Much more could be said about this subject, but we trust that this will be sufficient for all seekers of the truth.

Visit the Church of Christ near you; it will be sufficient.

Navy Men Tell

armed forces, and police were definitely pro-Axis, and that there were reputed to be thousands of German agents there.

On being asked about the morale of the Navy men, he declared that the men out at sea were pretty downcast sometimes on reading of the strikes and other lack of interest in winning the war on the part of the people back home.

Chief McGonnagill added that the greatest morale builder was letters from home.

Conservatively estimated, Billy has traveled 100,000 miles at sea, and has been in action many times. He said it was a little uncomfortable at times, citing two examples, Once, while at Guadalcanal our task force was attacked by 100 Jap planes while he was on a tanker "olling" the fleet, and bombs were dropping all around. On an earlier occasion he was on a ship carrying ammunition and other explosives, and was attacked at various times by German submarines in the Atlantic and by Jap planes in the Pacific; one near miss possibly would blow the ship sky high. In both occasions, he saw our ships go down nearby.

Among widely separated points he has visited are the east and west coasts, Panama Canal, Chili, Fiji, Tonga Tabu, New Hebrides, Guadalcanal and Tulagi, New Zealand, Australia, India, Africa, Argentina, Trinidad, and scores of others.

He came into New York harbor recently but will leave soon for San Francisco.

Truett Smith and President W. T. Hanes urged support of the Fourth War Loan Drive, and Harley Henderson reported on the progress of the Service Men's Honor Roll. A committee of Fred McGinty, Rev. H. A. Nichols, and Carl Griffing, was appointed to solicit funds for the board.

Among the visitors at Thursday's Rotary meeting were Mrs. McGonnagill, Mrs. R. P. Weathers, Mrs. G. M. Stewart, Mrs. Lenore M. Tunnell, and J. S. Hutchinson.
