

Don Smith Weds Young Snyder Lady

In a double ring ceremony performed at 9:00 o'clock a. m. Sunday, September 4, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Smith of New Home, Miss Inez Gary, daughter of Mr. Marvin Gary of Snyder, became the bride of Don Smith of New Home.

The service was performed before an arch decorated with white satin ribbon, fern and garden flowers, flanked by tapers in candelabra.

Rev. C. E. Strickland of the New Home Baptist Church officiated, and traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Evelyn Lemon of Lubbock.

The bride wore a kelly kreen suit and her corsage was a shoulder arrangement of gardenias. She carried a white Bible and a white lace trimmed handkerchief.

Her maid of honor, Miss Joyce Olson of Abilene, wore a wine suit and her corsage was made of white asters.

Best man for the groom was John A. Godfrey of New Home.

A reception followed the ceremony with Miss Olson and Mrs. Durwood Unfred assisting at the bride's table.

The bride and groom are both former students of Hardin Simmons University. After a wedding trip to Cloudcroft, New Mexico, the couple will be at home in the New Home community.

Out of town guest present for the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Gary and sons, John and Tommy, of Snyder, Mr. Thomas E. Roberts, Mrs. Beulah Grant, and Misses Wanda Connel, Mary Harkins, and Betty Sue Stewart all of Abilene, Miss Betty Hall of Lubbock, and Lawrence and Gerald May of Wilson.

Local People Visit Atomic Center

Miss Bernice Edwards of Odessa, sister of E. R. Edwards of Tahoka and former resident of this town herself, was hostess a couple of weeks ago to two nieces, Jan and Deanne Edwards, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Edwards, and Miss Margaret Durham, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. K. R. Durham, on a most interesting trip out through New Mexico.

Among the interesting places visited was the modern land-scaped town of Los Alamos, noted atomic bomb center, high in the mountains 35 miles north of Santa Fe. The only entrance to the town is gained by passes, which Miss Edwards obtained through the offices of a good friend.

"Comparable to the new modern town," quoting a clipping which came into the News Office, "was Acocma, an Indian reservation; the little town snuggled on the tip-top of a solid rock mountain crest. The quaint age-old village may be reached only by ascent up 400 steps along the toe and finger trail.

"Here the Acocma Indians live lazily in the sun without vegetation, in a settlement dating back to 1500. All supplies are packed up the steep grade to the crude quarters carved from rock. Still preserved, however, is a beautiful old Catholic Church. Here they saw weird tomtoms beat out rhythm for a feast-day ceremonial where dancing continued throughout the day. All wore familiar Indian garb.

"Not a single living shrub, flower, or garden appeared in the place which the Indians had chosen for their home."

RETURNS FROM PORTLAND

Mrs. A. J. Kaddatz, who returned from a visit with her daughter and son-in-law at Portland, Oregon on September 8, reports a "wonderful trip." Although her main purpose in going out to Oregon was to get acquainted with her little grandson, Quentin Hess, Jr., who was born last May, Mrs. Kaddatz took time to see some of the sights in Oregon. In a statement to The News she says: "We drove about 100 miles down the Columbia River, and among other things saw the Bonneyville Dam, completed in 1935 at a cost of more than eighty-one million dollars. This dam, located 40 miles east of Portland, furnishes electricity for the city of Portland, and has the largest Navigation Lock in the World."

Among other beautiful scenes,

Mrs. Kaddatz named several beautiful waterfalls, among them being the Multanoma Falls, 620 feet high, being the highest falls in the United States that have a flow of water throughout the year. She saw the Bridal Veil Falls, 180 feet high, and the Wah Kee Na Falls, said to be the most beautiful falls on the Columbia River to be seen from the highway.

Mrs. Kaddatz made the trip both ways via Union Pacific from Amarillo, and says the Columbia River was a thrilling sight in the bright moonlight as they sped along its course on the homeward journey.

Mrs. Kaddatz's daughter, had many friends here when she lived here as Miss Beatrice (Claudine) Estes.

Boyd Tells More Of Extended Trip

To the Editor of The Lynn County News:

After we left the hotel we went from Pontiac to Detroit, where we crossed the bridge into Canada. At the entrance we were greeted with two questions—where were you born? where are you going?—then we were directed to another officer who asked three questions—where were you born? where are you going? are you going straight thru?—after this we were subjected to a slight inspection and ordered to go to the office.

We left the office with the necessary papers and went straight to the Government Bureau of Information to get a few traveling instructions but just as we had entered the building Leon spied a pretty Canadian damsel at the desk and what do you think that crazy man did. Yes, you are right he said. "I would just like to hold hands with you for a little while because this is the first opportunity I ever had to get a pretty Canadian girl like you." I began to look for literature about the Country, and if Tom wants his wife to know more about this story and the other girls in the office he can make his own explanation.

As soon as Leon received our traveling instructions we started out at the same traffic speed we had been traveling all the way; it was evident that the young lady had been so interested that she forgot to give our driver any traffic instructions. Our road was called "The King's Highway" and I think it deserved the name because no king ever traveled over one any more. Lamentable than this one. Every marker had a picture of the Crown upon it, which reminded us that it was really under the dominion of the King of England. It would be impossible for me to tell you what we saw because the trees were so thick and Leon drove so fast that

It appeared as tho we were driving between two green walls. I was delighted, as well as surprised, at what I saw on the Canadian side of Lake Erie. So far as I can remember, there were no hills nor mountains as the land was almost level. This land is different, the people are different, and their method of farming is different also. Instead of using tractors as we do, they use horse-drawn implements and walk instead of riding, however, it is just the opposite to Old Mexico, because they use the largest and finest horses in the place of scrub mules and they dress them in the very best harness with all of the trimming and not the chain traces and rope lines of the Mexicans.

They raise about the same vegetables that we do here but they plant them earlier than we do, then cover them up at night with a canvas to protect them from the cold weather.

We followed the shore line of Lake Erie nearly all day and we soon began to notice some wells close to the lake that were being pumped, so, Tom and I got into an argument about whether they were oil wells or water wells but that ended at the first filling station where we were informed that they were gas wells and the pumps were used to pump the water off of the gas.

"The King's Highway" was a good road that lead us thru one of the most beautiful lands that we had seen. The road was well kept and the trees on both sides were wonderful, with great height and bush tops forming many "Lover Lanes," because the sunlight seldom touched the ground. The pine, spruce and fir trees made an unforgettable impression upon us that still lingers in our memory. In addition to all this, there were those fine dairy herds composed of Holsteins and Guernseys, that we saw on both sides of the road, grazing on those fine fields of clover that they have up there, because it rains quite a lot more than it does here.

In the summer, this land is a paradise for the vacationist. The climate is ideal and there is plenty of water for fishing and boating. With no fear of contradiction, I will say that there are thousands of lakes filled with crystalline clear water, waiting for the hum of the fisherman's motor and to feel the touch of his hook and line.

I will see you later.
Yours truly,
W. G. Boyd.

Speaker Tells Of South America

The people of South America are among the best-dressed, most cultured, and most courteous folks in the world, Rev. J. C. Holden, missionary, told Tahoka school children Wednesday morning.

Rev. Holden, a native of Lynn county, spoke before a general assembly of elementary and high school students in the high school auditorium. He has just returned from Colombia, South America with his wife and children, so that the children can enroll for school in Oklahoma City.

He plans to return to Colombia. While in the United States he will speak to school and college students, and in churches, in the interest of good will between our country and those south of the border.

Rev. Holden told the students that our South American neighbors are the best friends we have today. He warned, however, that Communism is spreading throughout South America. The only way we can fight this menace, he said, is by sincere friendliness toward the Latin Americans and by attempting to understand their problems.

Many of the people of South America are very poor. The average worker in that country today earns less than $100 per year, Rev. Holden said.

The speaker, entertaining the students with numerous jokes and stories, took his audience on an imaginary plane trip from the United States to Guatemala, Panama, and Colombia. He described South American banana fields rivers and mountains, and living conditions.

"Sleeping in Bogota is an unforgettable experience," Rev. Holden said. "The beds are clean and cool, but often they are too short and their mattresses too thin. The beds have no springs and they are often full of fleas." Fleas are everywhere in Bogota, Rev. Holden said.

Colombia's three industries are coffee raising, ranching, and mining, Rev. Holden told the students. He said that there are unlimited opportunities for young American who would go to South America and farm the land, some of which is offered free to homesteaders.

At the end of his lecture Rev. Holden answered questions of the students, and showed them a display of South American hand made goods which he brought back from that country, among the articles, some of which were offered for sale to the students, were stuffed turtles and alligators, handmade belts and hand bags, beautiful inlaid rosewood and mahogany serving trays, sandals, vases and painted wooden bowls.

Miss Virginia, after graduating from Tahoka High School and from Hepdricks Memorial Hospital in Abilene, had been nursing in a California hospital.

The couple visited here a week and then returned to Santa Ana, where the groom is engaged in business and where they will make their home.

 chairman. He will discuss in detail the purposes and proposed plans of the association and outline the county organization plan at the meeting.
 Discussing the purposes of these county meetings, district directors, Judge Otha F. Dent of Lamb county and W. C. Foote of Petersburg, stressed the point that this Association is offering to the people of Texas a chance to rally in support of a program that will mean more to the future permanent prosperity of this State as a whole, and to the farmers and agricultural centers in particular, than any other long range program ever offered by a distinguished group of business and farm leaders looking only to the welfare of Texas and all its people.
 Jim Cantrell, Princeton, Collin county banker, president of the Texas Rural Roads Association stated recently, "Natural resources, our State's greatest capital asset, should by a fair severance tax, finance a continuing program of permanent improvements, such as rural roads, soil and water conservation, state and institutional buildings and other permanent improvements deemed necessary by our Legislative bodies."

 "This sound business and economic principal," banker Cantrell said, "will prevent the State going bankrupt by the unsound practice of using capital investments for current operations. It will prevent the necessity of levying a sales tax on our daily necessities of life."
 Castro County Judge Robert Estes will act as chairman and will be assisted by the State directors from this area, W. C. Foote, rural letter carrier from Petersburg and Judge Otha F. Dent of Littlefield.
 The schedule of county rallies during the week include: Monday night at Dimmitt; Tuesday night at Littlefield; Wednesday night at Tahoka and Thursday night at Level-land.
 The general public is invited and urged to attend the meeting in your county and to participate in the program.

Two Killed

 was visiting in California at the time, but the services and subsequent burial was held Wednesday at 3:00 o'clock p. m.
 The facts attending the tragedy, as given to the News, were about as follows.
 Hunter, an employee of the Baldrige Bakery, was accompanying the driver of the truck on a trip to the south delivering bread to dealer customers. Putman, as stated, was coming east on the Wells-Draw road, and another car was coming from the east on the Draw end of this road, and had just stopped or was in the act of stopping before entering upon the highway. It is believed that Putman was somewhat blinded by its lights or at least was watching this car, for he himself slowed up, according to one report, just as he was approaching the highway and then picked up speed again to cross the highway. He evidently had not seen the Baldrige truck coming from the north, for the instant he ran onto the highway pavement the collision occurred. The driver of the truck is reported to have stated that he did not see the Puman car until just a brief moment before the crash. He himself was injured and was rushed to a Lamesa hospital where he was given treatment and was released the next day.
 Putman is survived by his wife, Mrs. Janie Griffin Putman of Draw; two daughters, Mrs. Doris Burdett of Draw and Mrs. Ouida Nichols of McKamie; one son, W. C. Putman; his mother, Mrs. W. H. Putman of O'Donnell; four brothers, C. A. Putman of Highlands near Houston, Otis of Stamford, J. D. of Grandview, Taft of Dallas; one sister, Mrs. Effie Bazar of O'Donnell; and five grandchildren.

 later Jenkins went over from the 8 yard line. Score 20 to 12.
 Tahoka made 7 first downs to Sundown's 5, and each team made 133 yards on running plays. However, passing told the story. Tahoka had two passes incomplete, while Sundown completed 7 for a total of 108 yards, 2 were incomplete, and had 2 intercepted. Stevens punted 7 times for Tahoka for an average of 32 yards, while Sundown punted only twice for a 31 yard average.
 Seeing action for Tahoka were: Clark Farr, Raymond Jenkins, Chas. Brookshire, and Bill Short, halfbacks; Tom Chandler, fullback; Lynn Halameick and Duwaine Townsen, quarterbacks; Bert Stevens and Wayne Tekell, center; Horace Strickland, Ronny Gurley, Don Brice, and Conrad Ratliff, ends; James White, Wiley Curry, Jackie Slover, and Beryl Tippit, tackles; and Dan Martin, Bob Tippit, guards.
 Short, Farr, and Jenkins looked best at ball carrying, while Stevens, White, and Martin were possibly the outstanding men in the line.

Shelden Russell Is Ordained Minister

A service that occurs at only rare intervals in any given church was held in the First Baptist Church here Sunday afternoon beginning at 8:30 o'clock and continuing for nearly two hours, in which Associate pastor Shelden Russell was officially ordained into the full gospel ministry.

It was a church procedure that many people, particularly young people, had never before witnessed and it drew a congregation that almost filled the big auditorium to its capacity.

The ordaining council consisted of ten ordained Ministers and eleven or twelve local deacons.

F. H. Russell, father of the candidate, conducted the song services. Rev. C. T. Aly was elected president or moderator of the council, and Dr. Wolbar, head of the Tech Bible school, was elected secretary.

H. P. Caviness, chairman of the board of deacons, presented the candidate for ordination, whereupon the church authorized the council to proceed.

Rev. C. T. Aly proceeded to examine the candidate respecting his personal experience and his beliefs concerning the Scriptures, whereupon the council recommended him to the church as fit and worthy to be ordained, a recommendation which the church approved.

Rev. J. P. Durham offered the ordination prayer, which was followed by the laying on of hands by the members of the council.

Rev. A. A. Brian, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Brownfield, delivered the charge to the church. Rev. John Jones, pastor of the O'Donnell Church, delivered the charge to the candidate; and Rev. Levi Price, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Coleman and former pastor of the Tahoka Church, preached the ordination sermon.

The members of the council signed the certificate of ordination and Rev. C. T. Aly delivered it and a beautiful Bible to the newly-ordained minister.

It was a most impressive service from beginning to end.

Other Ministers sitting on the council were Rev. C. E. Strickland, pastor of the New Home Baptist Church, Rev. H. T. Ray, pastor at Redwine, Rev. R. S. Sparkman, pastor at Wells, and Rev. G. H. Isbell, former pastor at Petty.

J. H. Wyatt, who left two weeks ago to visit his nieces and nephews at Savannah, Missouri, writes his wife that he is having a wonderful time.

Odds & Ends

(By E. I. The Elder)

We have always heard that the English have very little sense of humor. We don't blame 'em. We understand that it is foggy there most of the time, often drizzling rain. That would give us the "jimmies." We surely do like to see it rain out in this country more often than it does, but we never did like to have even three or four days of it at a single sitting. We get jittery. We like for it to rain and then quit. We like both the open spaces and the open skies of the West.

Those big rains that fell all over this country Thursday and Friday of last week certainly were fine. For the cotton, at least for the cotton plant—fine for the bolls too unless the boll worms get too wicked. Yes, super-fine. Pardon us, we should have said "shuper-fine." That's the way all these sophisticated radio announcers and commentators would pronounce it. We hear them doing so constantly. We heard one just a moment ago as we were typing these lines. They go on the assumption that long "u" should always be pronounced as if an "h" or a "y" preceded it. They may be right, according to the dictionary, but still we never hear them saying "Shuper-annuated" or "shupreme court."

While we are on this subject of English and its pronunciation, let us say that a few days ago we picked an English Book 10 and also an English Book 11 now being used in our public schools and glanced through them hurriedly, and it was our impression that if Grade 10 and Grade 11 students would master these text books thoroughly, we would no longer see so much slovenly-written English as we do see these days, coming not only from high school graduates but even from college graduates.

But, if the truth must be told, there is nothing that will help one's English more than the study of Latin. A knowledge of Latin grammar helps one immeasurably in the study and the use of the English language; for, in the first place, about 40 percent of all English words are derived directly or indirectly from the Latin. In the second place, the rules of Latin grammar (Cont'd. On Editorial Page)

SALARIES OF LEGISLATORS

One of the proposed amendments to the state constitution to be approved or rejected by the voters at the November election is that providing for the holding of two regular sessions of the legislature each term of two years, or one each year, and fixing the salary of state Senators and Representatives at $3,600 per year, payable monthly on the first day of each month.

Under the present constitution, there is only one regular session of the legislature each two years, but usually there are at least one or two special sessions. Special sessions might be held also under the proposed amendment.

Under the present constitution the salary of a legislator is $10.00 a day for the first 120 days of a regular session—or $1,200.00—and $5.00 per day for the remainder of the session. The regular session this year lasted 60 days after the first 120 day, and the legislators were paid $5.00 a day for the extra time, or $300.00 for the two months, making a total of $1,500 for the six months. They will receive nothing for the remainder of this year and throughout next year unless the governor should call a special session.

It will be noted that the proposed amendment would fix the salary at $3,600 per year, or $7,200 for the two years regardless of the number of days in which the legislature might be in session, but there would be a regular session each year, and appropriations would be made for one year at a time instead of the entire two years included in a legislative term.

Proponents of the change point out that a legislator's salary under the present constitution will scarcely pay his expenses in Austin while attending sessions of the legislature, that a poor man can not afford to run for the office or to hold it after he is elected unless he is a lawyer and takes retainers from special interests seeking favors at the hands of legislators, and that a decent salary would attract abler men to run for the office.

They also point out that under the present constitution a legislator receives nothing for any service he may render while the legislature is not in session and yet a good legislator is compelled to spend much time in investigating and studying the problems that will confront him in the legislature. This is a strong point in favor of a continuous salary for continuous service, which is often overlooked by opponents of the amendment. Proponents cite the fact that the United States Congress is kept in almost continuous session and that Senators and Representatives in Congress are paid generous salaries, which attract therefore much abler men as a rule to seek positions in that great legislative body.

On the other hand opponents of the proposed amendment maintain that there is no need for the Texas legislature to be in session practically all of the time and that long sessions are detrimental rather than beneficial to the people of Texas. When the legislature is in session, they point out, this special interest, or this worthy cause and that worthy cause, are tugging at members of the legislature to support this proposed appropriation and that proposed appropriation, which appeals are hard to turn down, with the final result that appropriations are stacked sky-high, which John J. Public must pay.

Furthermore, they point out that while salaries are raised in the proposed amendment there is nothing contained therein prohibiting legislators from taking employment at the same time from corporations and other private interests—nothing to prevent a recurrence of the "retainer" scandals that have cropped out at nearly every session of the legislature in recent years.

While the proposed amendment is not just what we should like, we feel that it would be a decided improvement over the present legislative set-up and will probably vote for it.

A man who is on the wrong side of any issue for personal reasons, and knows it, can hatch up more "reasons" for his position than a cur can scratch off fleas in a lifetime. Had you ever noticed that?

We prefer statesmen whose services are paid for by the State rather than by private interests with axes to grind.

Odds & Ends

(Cont'd. From Page 1, Sec. 2) are more numerous, more logical, and more meaningful than the rules ordinarily set forth in an English grammar, and a knowledge of them helps one to be more accurate in the use of English than he otherwise would be.

We are very sorry that most colleges have just about quit teaching Latin. Life is too short, many college students will tell you, to waste it in the study of a dead language. We suspect, however, that the main trouble with most of them is that they are far more interested in athletics than they are in linguistics.

The American Medical Society, or whatever its correct official name may be, has exhibited a growing concern during the past year or two over the possibility of this country adopting a system of "Socialized Medicine." Recently it became so concerned that it sent out numerous enclosures to the weekly newspapers with the request that these papers give them free publicity for the benefit of the afflicted public. Not many papers responded very generously. There may have been a reason for all this. Most country newspaper men must work hard for all they make. Advertising space in their newspapers is their chief source of income. They must have advertising to exist. Most doctors are prosperous. Possibly no body of professional men in the United States is more able to pay for advertising space in the newspapers than is the American Medical Association. When therefore this great Association came to the newspapers appealing for free advertising space,

The Lubbock Chamber of Commerce is sending out publicity matter promising that the Panhandle-South Plains Fair this year will be by far the largest and most outstanding in the history of the city. The dates are September 28 to October 1. No doubt the attendance from Lynn county will be large.

We have noticed that the most blatant hypocrits are not those in the church but those outside the church.

so many editors grew very enthusiastic over the prospect. Moreover, they saw all around them poor people who were not financially able to get the medical and surgical service that they really needed because doctors just had to have the money before they would touch these sick but penniless people.

Now, we recognize the fact that many doctors could hardly afford to do more charity work than they are doing. If the doctors and the hospitals, however, are not able to do all the charity work there is to be done, many people feel that they should not object to State doing it in such manner as it may see fit. If the great American Medical Association, representing the Medical profession, feels that it is desirable for it to use some newspaper space in the interest of the profession, then let them pay for the space just as the merchants of Tahoka and other towns pay for the space which they use. We can not see that we are under any special obligations to pull chestnuts out of the fire for them. And we like the doctors too, most of them. They are doing a great work for the people of this country—and most of them are being paid for it.

HOW TO MAKE FARM EQUIPMENT last longer

Every All-Crop harvester is built to give years of service . . . to harvest thousands of acres. But winter damage from rust and neglect can take more out of the life of your machine than actual use. Avoiding this loss is simple:

1. Keep your harvester in a good shed when its not in use — clean out all dirt and trash after each job.
2. At the close of each season, let us make a Free 24 Point Inspection. We'll come out to your farm, or you can bring your All-Crop in.

Our inspection and winter tune-up program includes tightening all loose bolts or other parts, listing all needed repairs, complete lubrication, protection of all bright surfaces against rust, and removal of belts and canvas for safe storage.

Your fall tune-up doesn't cost, it pays — in longer machine life and delay-free harvests.

County Clerk Explains New Marriage Law

Mrs. Beulah Pridmore, county clerk, has furnished The News the following important item regarding the law recently enacted by the legislature pertaining to marriage. She gives below the gist of the new law.

Procedure for enforcement of premarital health examination is:

Effective October 5, 1949, every man and woman marrying in Texas must obtain a medical examination which includes a standard blood test from a physician before a marriage license can be issued. The marriage ceremony must be solemnized within fifteen days following the medical examination.

Usual Case
1. The applicant for marriage license consults a duly qualified physician licensed to practice medicine and surgery for a medical examination and a blood test. The physician sends the specimen of blood to a laboratory approved by the Texas State Department of Health.

2. The laboratory makes a confidential report of the result of the test to the physician and to the Texas State Board of Health and transmits the certificate form to the physician.

3. The physician completes the certificate form and gives it to the applicant.

4. The applicant gives the completed certificate form to the county clerk who then issues a marriage license. Previous to the issuance of the license the county clerk shall certify upon the reverse side, of the said license that all certificates or the court order required by this act have been received and filed. This statement of the county clerk shall show the dates of the examination of both parties unless same has been suspended by court order.

The above is the substance of House Bill No. 588 of the Fifty First Legislature.

Rev. Levi Price of Coleman, who came up Sunday afternoon to preach the ordination sermon for Sheldon Russell when he was officially ordained into the full gospel Ministry, remained over and preached Sunday night also. He was accompanied to Tahoka by his family.

Editor At Anton Is A Busy Man

The senior editor of The News met with six other South Plains newspaper men in Ralls last Saturday to plan for the annual luncheon of the South Plains Press Association, which is to be held at the Hilton Hotel in Lubbock on October 1, the closing day of the Panhandle-South Plains Fair.

H. G. Richards, editor of the Anton News, is president of the association, and the six other men present are members of the Board of directors, as follows: Ernest Joiner of the Ralls Banner, who was host to the group, Charles Guy of the Avalanche-Journal publications, Allen Hodges of the Littlefield County-Wide News, Homer Steen of the Floydada Hesperian, Lois Vestal of the Hockley County Herald and Sun, secretary of the board, and the senior editor of the News.

A bunch of fine citizens, present company excepted, and splendid and successful newspaper men, but the editor of the smallest paper represented must be about the busiest man of the group.

H. G. Richards, editor of the Anton News, not only prints and publishes his newspaper almost single-handed and alone and serves as president of the South Plains Press Association, but for eight years he has been serving as justice of the peace at Anton, presiding over his court in a dignified manner and dealing out justice to those who get caught in the toils of the law; and he is also an active minister of the gospel, serving faithfully and ably as pastor of one or more Primitive Baptist churches. As such, he marries many people, buries others, and generally tends and feeds the flock—but as justice of the peace he divorces nobody.

Religiously, it will be seen from the above data, he is a rugged individualist, a hopeless stand-patter, but politically he is a rank new-dealer, devoutly worshipping God but holding F. D. R. to have been a close runner-up.

We hope to have him visit us in Tahoka some time.

STATED MEETINGS of Tahoka Lodge No. 1061 the first Tuesday night in each month at 8:30. Members urged to attend. Visitors welcome.
