Mercury-Vapor Lights On Order For Tahoka

(Fourth of a series of articles on current civic development projects in Tahoka.)

The City of Tahoka recently contracted with the Southwestern Public Service Company for installation of a new mercury vapor street-lighting system in Tahoka.

Much more powerful lights will be installed in the business and residential sections, and lights will be installed in sections of the town not now lighted.

Materials for the project are on order, and it will be several weeks before actual installation gets underway.

The system will include 36 powerful lights in the business section, 33 "white way" lights and 12 "traffic way" lights along the highway, nine "park" lights in the City park and on school campuses, and 74 residential lights.

The present system consists of 53 old ornamental standards and 62 old style bracket lights. They will be replaced with 155 lights.

The new lighting system will be installed and owned by Southwestern Public Service, with the City paying the light bill, as it does at present time. The service charge is expected to cost the City approximately $240.00 per month, as compared with the present cost of about $120 per month. However, 12 of the lights

Fat Stock Show March 10-11 Will Be Biggest Yet

The annual Lynn County Livestock Show, which will be held at the fair grounds in Tahoka March 10 and 11, promises to be the biggest and best ever held here, according to Bill Griffin, county agent.

He expects 4-H and FFA club boys to show about 35 fat calves, 20 fat lambs, and 160 pigs.

The entry list this year is being enlarged to include two classes of calves, milk fed and dry lot calves. Also, two breeds will be shown, about 10 head of Angus and 20 head of Herefords. Six breeds of hogs will be exhibited, and the show is assured of a creditable exhibit of lambs this year. This will make the Lynn county show possibly the largest on the Plains.

A new general rule for the show applies to the dry lot calf division. Previously this type calf has had to compete with milk fed calves, and therefore did not have much chance of winning top honors in the show.

In the dry lot class, the calf must have been taken off of the nurse cow by last September 1, placed in a dry lot, and fed and cared for by the contestant until the date of the show.

Judges for the show this year will be L. M. Hargrove and John Baumgardner of Texas Tech. Superintendents of the various divisions are: Baby beef, George

Boyce House Is Named Speaker For C-C. Banquet

Boyce House, noted humorist and folklorist, will be the principal speaker at the annual Tahoka Chamber of Commerce banquet which has been postponed until Thursday night, March 16.

The affair, which will be held in the American Legion Hall at 7:30 p. m., will be open to all members of the organization and their wives.

House is possibly the most noted humorist in the Southwest. At the present, he is public relations director of the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show. He engaged in politics for a while, once making the race, unsuccessfully, for Lieutenant Governor. He was a newspaper man at Ranger when the old Eastland county courthouse was torn down, and received nationwide publicity on a story that a horned toad, Old Rip, placed in the cornerstone when the court house was built, was still alive when the old courthouse was torn down.

He is author of a number of books, including "Were You in Ranger," "Boom Town," and a number of books of humor.

Drive Starts For Band Uniforms

Tahoka's new high school band will have new uniforms in a few weeks if plans of the newly organized Band Boosters Club materialize.

A drive for about $4,000 in funds for this purpose was started this week by a finance committee composed of H. W. Carter, chairman, A. M. Bray, Truett Smith, Terry Thompson, Mrs. E. A. Thomas, and Hubert Tankersley. Securing of uniforms is the first major project of the organization.

The Band Boosters Club was organized two weeks ago with Alton Cain as president; Wynne Collier, vice president; and Mrs. W. E. (Happy) Smith, secretary.

A uniform committee is composed of Wm. Tregoe, chairman, Mrs. Abbie Whorton, Terry Thompson, Mrs. Pat Hutchison, and Mrs. Dick Mitchell.

The By-Laws committee: Vernon Brewer, chairman, Bill Griffin, and Sam Garrard.

Public Relations committee: Dr. Emil Prohl, chairman, Frank Hill, and Mrs. Mahle McGinty.

Each uniform will cost approximately $56.00, and the committee is asking at least sixty individuals and business firms to contribute the price of one uniform.

Oregon has devoted more than 60,000 acres to state parks and recreational facilities.

O'Donnell Holds Livestock Show

The third annual O'Donnell FFA Livestock Show held in that city last Saturday was declared an excellent one by County Agent Bill Griffin. There were entries of 10 calves, 16 hogs, and 10 lambs, and a crowd of 250 or 300 people attended the judging.

Harold Hohn showed the grand champion calf, and Raymond Hancock the reserve champion. Wendell Edwards had the champion lamb, Bennie Clark the champion gilt, and Bill Staggs the Champion barrow.

The animals were judged by T. L. Leach of Texas Tech agriculture department. The show was directed by James Reed, O'Donnell vocational agriculture teacher.

Most or all of the animals will be shown here next week end in the annual county-wide Livestock Show.

Mrs. Jackson Is City Candidate

Mrs. John Jackson announces this week that she is a candidate for the office of City Secretary of the City of Tahoka. The election will be on Tuesday, April 4.

Mrs. Jackson has been a resident of Lynn county since 1899, living in Tahoka most of that time. Her late husband farmed, and since a few months after his death, she has been working for the Sam Sanders Construction Co., which firm is laying the new paving in Tahoka. She received her college education at West Texas State, Canyon. She is the mother of a daughter and a son.

She feels that her training and experience have been such that she can fill the position capably and to the satisfaction of the public. She asks that the qualified voters of the City of Tahoka give her candidacy careful consideration when going to the polls on April 4.

MR. HOLDER IMPROVING

West Texas State Band Plays Here

West Texas State College's concert band presented a program of music before a packed auditorium of students and town people at Tahoka High School Monday morning at 10:45 o'clock.

The band, directed by M. J. Newman, was on its annual tour of Plains cities, and this was their first concert of the series. About 40 or 50 students picked from the 80-piece organization, after leaving Tahoka, played concerts in Brownfield, Levelland, Whiteface, Littlefield, Muleshoe, Dumas, McLean, Canadiano, and Borger.

The program presented here was of a wide variety of selections, and each number received generous applause. Probably the biggest hit with the Tahoka audience was a snare drum solo of "Grandfather's Clock," with band accompaniment, by Bonnie Gathright, which brought a roar of applause.

The band was brought here through interest of Wm. Tregoe, local director, a band graduate of West Texas State.

Car Stolen Here Found Tuesday

A 1941 Chevrolet club coupe, belonging to Jack Crumpton, an employee of Union Compress, was stolen from the streets of Tahoka last Monday night.

Tuesday officers at Littlefield reported the car had been found abandoned near that city.

Mrs. Taylor White, who formerly lived here, came Tuesday night to visit for some time with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. D. V. Smith. She has been making her home recently in Red River county.

Mrs. J. W. Smith of Hale Center had her appendix removed at Tahoka Hospital February 21. She is the former Miss Roxy Spruiell of Lynn county.

Mrs. J. C. Dunlap Buried Saturday

Mrs. Estelle Dunlap, 33, wife of J. C. Dunlap of Southeast of Tahoka, was buried here Saturday, following her death at Tahoka Hospital on Friday.

Funeral services were conducted at the First Baptist Church at 3:00 o'clock p. m. Saturday by Rev. L. B. Edwards, Baptist pastor at Lasbuddy, and burial followed in Tahoka Cemetery under direction of Stanley Funeral Home.

Mrs. Dunlap had been ill for some time, and had undergone two operations in an effort to improve her condition.

She was born on December 25, 1916, and therefore was 33 years one month and 29 days of age. She was married October 28, 1936, at Asperment, to J. C. Dunlap, and they later moved to Garza county, and from there to Lynn county in 1943. She was the mother of three boys, an ideal mother, a member of the Redwine Baptist Church, and a highly respected citizen of the community.

Survivors include: The husband and three sons, J. Lowlan, 12, Jimmie, 10, and Tommie Gene, 9; the father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Baker, Tahoka; three sisters, Mrs. Eldene Nails of Jayton, Mrs. Essie Boykin of Lamesa, and Mrs. Dele Rogers of Jayton; and one brother, Aubrey Baker of Ropes.

Redwine Seeks Commission Post

F. E. Redwine announces this week that he is a candidate for Commissioner of Precinct NA 3 of Lynn county.

F. E. was born and reared in Tahoka, and is a graduate of Tahoka High School, but for the past seven years he has been farming in the southwest part of the county. His home is three miles north of Wells store and gins.

He will try to see each voter in the precinct personally between now and election time, but if he misses any individual, unintentionally he asks that this person, as well as all others, give his candidacy due consideration and thorough investigation before casting a vote.

Though a young man, Mr. Redwine has been on his own for a long time and has much experience which he feels qualifies him to fill the office to the satisfaction of the voters.

If elected, he promises a fair deal to all sections of the precinct and to give his full effort to the affairs of the precinct and the county.

John Heck of Wilson, president of Lyntegar REA, has been a patient in Tahoka Hospital for several days with influenza.

SPEAK AT McMURRY COLLEGE—Fifth Annual Willson Lecturers at McMurry College, Bishop J. Waskom Pickett and Dr. Bernice Milburn Moore.

Tahoka Finally Gets In On 'Flying Saucer' Publicity--One Found Here

It had to happen in Lynn county, too, sooner or later. A "flying saucer" not only has been seen—one has been found.

Maybe its not a "flying saucer," but the object found on a Lynn county farm Tuesday afternoon is one of those "things" that people may have been seeing over the country.

R. A. Weatherby and wife, who live just inside Lynn county down five miles southwest of Newmoore brought the object to The News office Wednesday morning, and Eldon Carroll photographed it for the edification of those who did not see it.

Mr. Weatherby saw the object in his field, went to investigate, and found a half-inflated balloon about four feet in height and three in breadth, from which was suspended a peculiar kite contraption. The latter device, built of framework and paper similar to construction of a kite but with a horizontal plane and three vertical planes, was partially covered with tinsel which shined brightly in the sunlight. At a very great distance, the greyish-blue balloon, would probably be invisible but the tinsel naturally would shine brightly.

Only lettering on the object was "WDX" and "MH."

Some who saw the contraption, guessed that it was one of the Weather Bureau test balloons, or some kind of test balloon from some Army airfield. Others suggested that it might be used in radar or radio tests, or might have been used for experiments by some "ham" radio operator, since the tinsel, The News was told, conceivably could be used in radio.

At any rate, the curious object attracted quite a bit of interest from those who saw it.

It may be the "flying Saucer" many people have been seeing over the nation.

Henry Short has been a patient in Tahoka Hospital for the past several weeks undergoing treatment for the back injury he received in a fall while working at a local gin.

MIDLAND HALL—Architect's drawing of Midland Hall, a $50,000 addition to the seven building plant of the Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation for Crippled Children. Cowden, John Y. Francis and J. P. Gibbins. Midland Hall will be located adjacent to a new kitchen and dining hall also scheduled to be erected at the Gonzales institution. Midland Hall will be used as a reception, recreation and entertainment center.

Farm Program News

(Lynn County PMA Newsletter)

Grain Loan Program Greatest Ever

Our grain loan program for 1949 has been the largest grain loan program that this county has had thus far. The total amount of grain put in the loan under the 1949 price support program was 93,836,165 pounds and the total amount of the loans was $2,082,831.62. The number of loans written in the office totaled 2,162.

The office force wants to thank each of you who received a loan on your grain for your patience. Since it takes 15 or 20 minutes to write each loan it was necessary to ask you to come back later because of the large number coming at the same time.

$750.00 Limit Per Farmer Set In Lynn

Due to the much greater participation in the 1950 Agricultural Conservation Program it has become necessary to limit the amount each farmer can earn in the county for all practices to $750.00. This action became necessary due to the fact that our total county allocation of money is budgeted and we cannot over issue the amount allocated to Lynn County for 1950.

A National limit was set up whereby each farmer could earn as much as $2500.00 for carrying out the various approved practices. The Lynn county PMA committee thought that we might be able to operate under this limit but it soon became apparent that such a limit would soon exhaust the funds available and not leave money for practices that will be carried out later on in the year.

This limit of $750.00 applies to each tenant, landlord, or share-cropper in this county for 1950. Regardless of the number of farms, it is $750.00 per individual farmer.

Contour Listing Date—April 15

Applications for prior approval to carry out the practice of contour listing must be secured before the listing is started and not later than April 15, 1950. This closing date was set by the Lynn County Committee in the regular meeting last Friday.

Cotton Allotment Date—March 1

March 1, 1950 is the closing date in Lynn County to make application for a new grower cotton allotment. This date was set by the county committee as the committee feels that those desiring allotments on new farms will have had plenty of time to make their application.

The term "New Farm" means a farm that did not have any cotton on it in 1946, 1947, or 1948, nor had any war crop credits for 1946 or 1947. This does not mean patches of pasture that have been broken up in 1949 or 1950 on old farms. New sod farms broken out in 1949 or 1950 are eligible for a new grower allotment; provided of course an application for this allotment is made by March 1.

Wheat Measuring In County

Four reporters are now busily engaged in measuring 1950 wheat acreage in Lynn County. One reporter is working in each precinct and he has one chairman to help him.

It is necessary for the farmer to be there or have a representative there in his place to help the reporter measure your wheat, you are required to sign an inspector's report.

Applications For Payment Being Sent In

At this time we have sent in over 400 applications for payment under the 1949 ACP. This work has been delayed by the large work load we had in the fall with the cottonseed program, and our various loan programs.

The work is progressing rapidly now and we expect to have all the applications typed and sent in within the next few weeks. Cards are sent out to the farmer when we have his application ready to sign, so if you received a card to come in and sign your application, it means that the application hasn't been typed yet.

8-Inch Subsoiling Explained

Our practice of subsoiling at 8 inches deep must be carried out when the ground is dry and must be 8 inches from the normal ground line. This practice will be eligible for payment if the chiseling is done in lister furrows, but the listing will not be eligible for contour listing payment.

You must have a prior approval before you start the practice. As soon as the practice is completed turn the prior approval into the county office so we can come out and check the practice. It is necessary that each farm be checked by our office and this must be done before you list unless you chisel in the lister furrows.

Lynn county farmers built over 325 miles of terraces under our 1949 Agricultural Conservation Program, and in 1950 it looks like we will build more than ever before in the history of the county and program.

Equity Transfers On Loan Cotton Must Be Witnessed

If you have any loan cotton equities that you are selling, these equity transfers must be witnessed and dated before a witness approved by the Lynn County PMA Committee. These witnesses are approved only in the banks, the Production Credit Association, and employees of the Lynn County PMA office.

Excess Cotton Acreage Adjusted

If you overplant your cotton allotment, you will be allowed to adjust this acreage downward to bring it in compliance under the 1950 Cotton Allotment Program. This will be of particular interest to you who have contoured land, new terraces, etc. This adjustment will of course be made by plowing up the acreage you are over when measured.

No Feedland Acreage Allotments At this time the county office has had no word as to whether or not we will have allotments on grain sorghum in 1950, and it is not contemplated that we will have such allotments. —Clinton M. Walker, Administrative Officer, Lynn County P. M. A., Tahoka, Texas.

County Council Tours County

The home demonstration club women, as well as some who are not club members, spent two enjoyable and profitable days visiting some new, remodeled and decorated homes in Lynn County. On each day the women packed sack lunches and spent the day visiting.

The county was divided into areas, since all of the homes could not be visited in one day. On Thursday, February 23, the tour was made in the north part of the county. Thirty women made this tour. The homes visited on the first tour were those of G. L. Cobb; Chas. Lacey; W. C. Maeker; Pat Swann; Edmund Maeker and Ben O. Wilkie.

The second day, Monday, February 27, was spent in the west and south part of the county. Forty women made this tour. The homes visited in this tour were those of H. R. Tankersley, Oscar Roberts; Tom Hale, C. A. Lawrence, A. E. Leverett, I. C. Dorman, Levi Gray, C. C. Schooler,

3,000 Texas Schoolmen To Invade Capitol Friday

AUSTIN, Texas, Feb. 1.—Three hundred Texas school administrators will invade Washington March 3, to tell Congress and President Truman the history of Texas tidelands and why they should remain the property of the Texas public school fund.

Charles H. Tennyson, Executive Secretary of the Texas State Teachers Association, who announced the Washington trip, said that it would be made at the conclusion of the annual meeting of the American Association of School Administrators and Julian Pirtle.

Even though there was a sand storm for company each day, the ones who made the tour felt that the days were well spent. Those who did not go missed some very interesting work.

in Atlantic City which the Texas delegation will attend. Most of the Texas group will leave for Atlantic City this week and are scheduled to gather in Washington March 3 for a full day on tidelands work, Tennyson said.

The school officials are printing a pamphlet giving Texas' side of the tidelands controversy, and a copy of this will be delivered in person to every member of Congress and every newspaper man in Washington, Tennyson said.

"The purpose of the trip is to let Washington hear and see Texas' side of this controversy. We want Congress and the President to know how much the tideland revenues of this State mean to our public schools and to show them that the lands were retained by our annexation agreement when Texas entered the Union," Tennyson said. "Texas has had possession of these lands within our 3 league (9 marine miles) belt for over 100 years and both the President and Congress should be willing to confirm the title. Our group will support the pending bills which confirm full and complete ownership to the states."

Tennyson said that the State Teachers Association had requested Senators Tom Connally and Lyndon Johnson to make an appointment with President Truman for a committee selected from 300 school men to talk with him on behalf of the group.

This committee is composed of J. B. Golden, Superintendent of Vernon Schools; H. L. Foster, Superintendent of Longview Schools; Joe R. Humphrey, Superintendent of Temple Schools; Superintendent W. T. White of Dallas, President Elect American Association of School Administrators; Waurine Walker, President Texas State Teachers Association; Charles Tennyson, Executive Secretary Texas State Teachers Association; Ed Robbins, Vice President, Texas Association of School Administrators; Henry W. Stillwell, Superintendent of Texarkana Schools; Irvy Carruth, Superintendent of Waco Schools; and Joe B. McNiel, Superintendent of Wichita Falls Schools.

For most people the buck shortage is acute at this time of year.

Common Housefly Causes Thousands Of Casualties Every Year In U. S.

YOUNGEST — Marine Private First Class Jacklyn H. Lucas, of Belhaven, N. C., is the youngest man of the Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard ever to receive the nation's highest military decoration. He wears the Medal of Honor awarded when he was 17 years of age.

Lucas enlisted in the Marine Corps Reserve with his mother's consent when he was 14, but gave his age as 17 and at once was assigned to recruit training. While at the Sixth Base Depot at Pearl Harbor in January, 1944, he was advanced to private first class. With statements to his buddies that he was going to join a combat organization, Marine Lucas walked out of camp in January, 1945. He was declared "absent without leave" when he failed to return that night and a month later was declared a "deserter" and a reward offered for his apprehension.

In the meantime Lucas was a stowaway on board a vessel transporting Marine units into combat. He reached his 17th birthday while at sea. He surrendered to the senior troop officer and was allowed to remain, being assigned to the Headquarters Company, Fifth Marine Division. Two days after landing at Iwo Jima a grenade landed in his foxhole and he threw his body to cover it, saving the lives of his companions. He was left for dead, although miraculously was still alive. He was discharged from the Reserve because of disability. He is now a freshman at Duke University.

AUSTIN, Texas, March 1.—Millions of flies help to cause the illness and death of thousands of children and adults each year in the United States. Hundreds of these casualties may be in the State of Texas this year if residents fail in their responsibility for developing the best possible sanitation measures in the area where they reside. Typhoid fever, summer complaint, and other intestinal diseases can be traced to the common housefly as the carrier of infection.

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, speaking in this connection recently said, "Be sure that your windows and doors are tightly screened so that stray flies from a careless neighbor will not endanger your family. Be sure that flies are kept away from food, drink, and utensils used in the preparation of food. Make sure, if you live in rural districts, that outside privy vaults are tightly covered so as not to permit the entrance of flies. Infections from this source can be picked up and spread to human beings through contact with food, drink, and utensils. Keep all garbage covered until collected or buried. Eliminate all breeding places for flies and you will be WELCOME BACK TO MARINES—Robert J. Swanson, of Hampton, Va., (left) celebrates his 17th birthday by re-enlisting in the U. S. Marine Corps. He spent five months with the Marines when he was under age. When his true age was discovered he was given an honorable discharge and a letter from his commandant giving him permission to re-enlist on his 17th birthday. He came back promptly and is greeted by M/Sgt. Claude Rhodes at the Marine Corps recruiting office in Norfolk. His mother, Mrs. Ethel Dixon Swanson, gave her permission for his continuing a career in the Marines.

New Motion Camera Lens Developed by Scientists

University of Rochester scientists have developed a new motion picture camera made from artificial sapphire which is believed to have several advantages over optical glass lenses.

This was revealed by Dr. Robert E. Hopkins, associate professor of optics, and Dr. Brian O'Brien, professor of physiological optics and director of the institute of optics at the University of Rochester.

In perfecting the sapphire lens, the Rochester researchers have overcome difficulties which delayed its development for many years. The Zeiss company of Germany gave up on the problem 20 years ago, it was said.

One advantage of the sapphire lens is its extreme hardness. It is second only to the diamond in the hardness of natural gems. Used for the outside element of an optical system, it is almost impossible to scratch it. In fact, it can be cleaned by scouring with sand without injury, Dr. O'Brien said. The sapphire lens' high refractive index and low dispersion gives the lens designer far greater freedom in eliminating aberrations and improving the quality and sharpness of images produced, the Rochester men reported.

"Light, in entering sapphire from the air, is slowed down to only a little more than half its speed," Dr. O'Brien explained. "The bending of light rays by a lens is thus accomplished with flatter lens curves and many advantages are derived from this. In addition to having the very high refractive index, sapphire has what is known as a very low dispersion. That is, the refractive index changes very little with the color of the light, and no glass as yet discovered can compare with sapphire in the combination of these two properties."

Scientist Finds Sea Cow Skeleton in California

Skeletal remains of an ancient sea cow which inhabited the earth some 30 million years ago have been unearthed from fossil deposits near Coalinga by a University of California scientist.

Fossilized teeth and jaws of the ancient beast had been found earlier, but his place among the animals of the prehistoric world long has been a question mark among men of science. The find will make possible a new understanding of the sea cow and its relationship to other mammals.

The sea cow which belongs to an order of mammals known technically as the Sirenia, apparently has always been rare on the earth.

Previous to the Coalinga discovery, only two skulls, two partial jaws and some of the teeth of the beast had been unearthed by fossil hunters. Because of the complete lack of a skeleton its relationship with other animals has never been definitely settled. The Sirenia are best known as forming the basis for legends of the mermaids, creatures which are considered to be half human and half fish.

The remains of the sea cow were unearthed by Roy H. Reinhart, teaching assistant in paleontology.

National Park Travel

The number of visitors to the national parks and other areas administered by the national park service again broke all records in 1949. Total travel for the year (which runs from October 1 to September 30) amounted to 31,864,186, eight per cent more than 1948's high of 29,608,318, and this despite transfer on July 1 to the corps of engineers of administration of the Lake Texoma recreational area, in Oklahoma and Texas. Even without the approximately 2,000,000 visitors to Lake Texoma up to June 28, the total travel reported exceeded that of 1948 by more than a quarter of a million.

Mrs. Charles H. Schroeder of McNary, better known here as Miss Mary Preston, was here a day or two this week visiting her sister, Mrs. Grady Gore and other relatives and friends, and called for a while at the News office. Having lived here thirty years, she has many friends in Tahoka.

Another Request
For Seed From
Tahoka Daisy

Requests for seed and information on the Tahoka Daisy continue to come in.

Deaconess Pansy Adams, Rt. 6, Jackson, Mich., this week writes The News as follows: "From a magazine article I see there is a man in your town who distributes seed good-will packets of seed of Tahoka Daisies as a way of advertising your town and country. I like some of the seeds. Will you please hand this card to him?"

Tahoka Daisy seed have gone around the world. A few years ago Alton Cain took a batch of seed packets to the Rotary International Convention in San Francisco, and last year Dr. Prohl took them to New York City for free distribution.

Don't Practice What They Preach

One of the glaring inconsistencies of those who rant most about racial discrimination is that they do not themselves practice what they preach. Do those vain butterflies of society, many of whom are continually denouncing Southern people for their "jim crow" laws, ever invite Japanese, or Chinese, or Negroes into their parlors or drawing-rooms? No, never—at least not unless said Jap or Chinaman or Negro has distinguished himself or herself in some way. Does the President himself practice racial equality? Most of this hue and cry against segregation of the Negroes in our residential sections, in public parks and seaside resorts, on trains and buses, in schools and colleges and elsewhere is just "politics" pure and simple. A lot of folks are playing the hypocrite just to get the Negro vote. While we know that this is true, we do insist that ample educational facilities should be furnished the Negroes in our own state and our own town and that we should never deal unjustly or harshly with any person simply because he is a member of some other race than our own. Always we should deal with our colored folks sympathetically and helpfully.

Against All Other Groups

Speaking of inconsistencies, one of the most glaring is the intolerance of these modern groups of religionists against all other groups who will not tag along after them in their preachments in favor of the uniting of all the churches and denominations in a single ecclesiastical body regardless of the difference in the beliefs of the various groups. These so-called Unitarian advocates are far more intolerant of those who can not conscientiously join up with them than the independent groups are intolerant of one another or of those would-be ecclesiastical bosses.

It seems that Old Man Churchill finds it rather difficult to lick those English Socialists. If he will move to Texas and announce for President of the United States on a platform to drive all those Communist rats out of Washington, we'll bet he would start a wild scramble for tickets to Europe come November 1951.

They are going to be taking the Census soon. If we could have gotten them to work at that about October 1, Lynn county would come up with a teeming population, and the census rolls for this area would look like Duval county election polling lists. But March is here and most of the swarthy citizenry of the border are gone.

Just about everybody in Lynn county has recently had the flu, but now most of the flu has flown.

Elmer Tarbox was the principal speaker at a banquet in Lubbock the other night. Most Texas politicians came originally from Tennessee, but we guess that Tarbox must have come from North Carolina.

They say that Allan Shivers has the shivers. Olin Culberson announced for governor the other day

Jack Stricklin of the Terry County Herald seems to be getting reckless. He had a bold headline in his paper last week that said: "AN OLD GAL FRIEND WRITES THE EDITOR." Doesn't he know that his wife reads that paper?

Odds & Ends

(By E. I. The Elder)

The W. S. C. S. of the Methodist Church here really has something unique and thrilling for you Bible student in the poem-pageant presented by them twice recently in the Church auditorium, the second time for the benefit especially of the members of the Colored Methodist Church and also for Whites who missed the first performance and might still wish to see it—and hear it, for a reader introduces each character who appears on the platform and tells something about her, in verse.

The title of the pageant is, "Women of the Scriptures." More definitely, it is a pageant of the women of Christ's day, especially of those who appear prominently in the four gospel narratives.

Some fifteen or twenty members of the Colored Methodist Church and quite a number of Whites attended the last performance, which was staged on Thursday night of last week. We are sure that if church members of other denominations had known fully the merits of this performance they would have attended in much larger numbers. The first performance had been given on the preceding Sunday night, and a large congregation was present on that occasion.

Any group of Bible students will not only enjoy witnessing this pageant if they have the opportunity but will also get a clearer conception of the women mentioned in the gospel story. How they stand out! Mary, the mother of Jesus; Elizabeth, the mother of John the Baptist; Anna, the aged prophetess in the Temple; Salome, wife of Zebedee and mother of those "Scans of Thunder," James and John; Mary, the mother of James "the lesser" according to some, and of Jesus, also called "The Other Mary," the Samaritan Woman; the Syro-Phoenician Woman; Mary Magdalene, out of whom seven devils were driven and who became one of the most devoted and beloved worshippers of Christ; Mary and Martha, known and loved by everybody; and wife of Pilate, who, when Jesus was set before him for trial, sent word to Pilate to "have nothing to do with this just man, for I have suffered many things this day in a dream because of him." These and several others are impressively impersonated in this beautiful pageant.

THE AMERICAN WAY

A Bear, Not A Bull, By The Tail

We have no authority to speak for the W. S. C. S., but some of the women indicated to the writer that they would be glad to repeat the performance for other churches if invited to do so. We would urge our readers to see and hear this performance if they have an opportunity to do so. Read carefully again, however, the first four books of the New Testament, with special reference to the women who figure in the Gospel story, before the performance.

No admission fee was charged at the presentation here last Thursday night, but the members of the congregation were given an opportunity to make contributions for the benefit of the Colored Methodist Church.

The mystery of flying saucers has bobbed up again. Army officers are said to have discovered one racing across the heavens at an incredible height and also at an incredible speed, four miles per second. If those boys are not kidding, we claim that that saucer was making pretty good speed. Four miles per second would be 240 miles per minutes, or 14,400 about 200 degrees above zero; cold enough to freeze an Eskimo to death in 15 minutes and then in a few days hot enough in the sunshine to boil eggs. And there is not a tree nor a shrub nor a gourdvine anywhere on the entire frozen ball, except little spots of shade made by its rough surface. If a guy ever landed any kind of flying machine on the moon, even though it might travel from the earth to the moon in a single day, the thing would either catch fire and burn up before he could get away from there or it would freeze up so tight that he couldn't start it till the weather moderated, and when it did moderate it would be a dead duck. Why would anybody want to go to the moon?

It is true that if these encyclopedia scientists are mistaken, and if the moon has plenty of air and the climate is as fine as that of southern California, a fellow could have lots of fun on the moon.

For instance, the force of gravity on the moon is only one-sixth that at the surface of the earth. Hence, an athlete who can jump over an obstruction four feet high here on earth could just as easily leap over a house on the moon. If he caught his toe on the top of the roof and fell, it would not hurt him, for he would come floating down to the earth like a silky thistle blossom on a still day.

Yes, that's the truth, if the scientists know their onions, for they say that while a falling body here on the earth comes down 16 feet the first second, a falling body on the moon would descend less than 3 feet the first second.

And then just think what fun football or baseball would be on the moon. A Babe Ruth could knock a ball so high that it would take the force of gravity five or ten minutes to bring it back down to the lunar diamond. The boys out in field could all take a nice nap while the horsehide was floating back down to luna firma. No lady on the moon could commit suicide by jumping from a 24th story window.

But they all say that the moon is not habitable. Then why all this excitement about the possibility of flying to the moon? We don't expect to undertake the trip during our life-time, Brother. Our little old red Chevy is still good enough for us.

Still, come to think of it, there is one man in the moon. We have been seeing him ever since we were a kid. But I think he is frozen stiff, for he hasn't moved a peg in all these seventy-odd years, to my certain knowledge. Excuse us, folks, if all this sounds luna, or looney either. For fear of getting locked up in jail before Allan Shivers can get room for us in one of these big state hospitals, we're going to hush up right here. Bye.

A good politician figures out which direction the crowd is going, then steps up in front and waves a banner.

Parents should teach their children that intolerance and bigotry have no place in American life.

Parents should be thankful that their children keep out of more trouble than they get into.

miles per hour. At that rate it could go around the earth at the equator 14 times in one day. We intend to try to stay out of the way of flying saucers.

Also, we saw—not long ago that a scientist was predicting that men would soon be flying to the moon. We are wondering what they would ever do after they got there. In fact, we don't see how they could ever get there alive, for scientists tell us that the air on and around the moon, if there is any at all, is too thin to sustain any kind of animal life. Before a man could get to the moon he would be panting for breath like a lizard in an Arizona desert.

But, even if he found plenty of air there to live on he would either freeze to death or burn up the first day there, according to the scientists who have been writing for our encyclopedias.

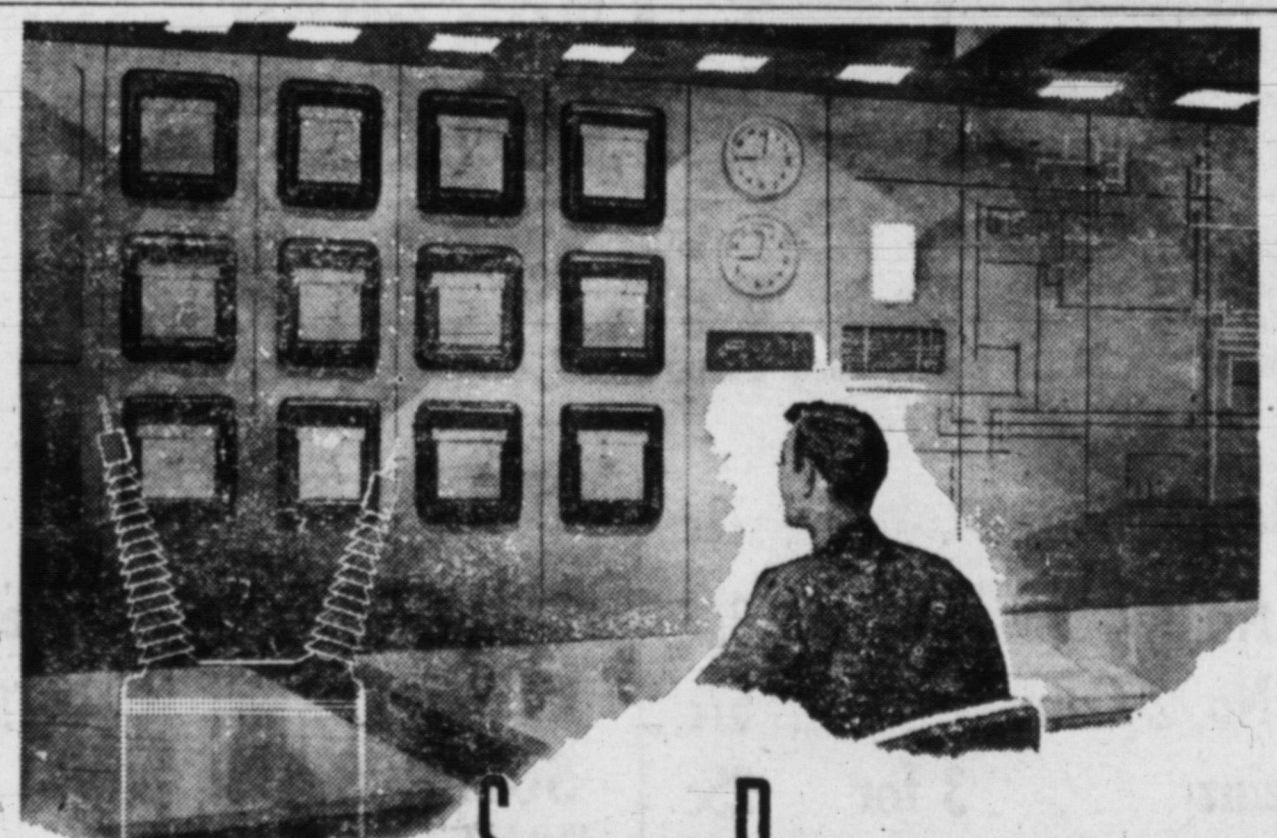

The temperature on the moon, they estimate, varies about 300 degrees every month, running from 100 degrees below zero up to

Preacher Tells Of His Career

Rev. J. Matt Hale, one of the ablest and most widely known Ministers in this and some other sections of Texas, who now thinks that he is retiring from Pastoral work, has furnished The News a sketch of his life and comments on his work for publication, his career having been unique in some respects. He served several years as pastor of the First Baptist Church at Brownfield, more recently at O'Donnell, and for eight years as pastor of a prosperous church in Beaumont. He has thousands of friends over the South Plains.

How It Seems To Be 65

For several years I have thought that at the proper time I'd write an article on the subject, "How It Seems to be Sixty-Five." Well, on December 29th last, I passed the sixty-five milestone in my journey toward the great Beyond. Now that the proper time has come, proper words to express just how it seems, seem to be lacking. Passing the sixty-fifth year mark is something like crossing an imaginary state line—there is no difference that one can tell, you just do it and that is that.

Forty-five years of the sixty-five I've been a preacher. Oh the joy of being one of the Lord's preachers all these years! I feel as Paul did; Ephesians 3:8, "I am less than the least of the saints." I am less than any of his preachers, but—put me down as one of them. Both the dear Lord and his people have been good to me. I can say with David, Psalm 16:8, "The lines have fallen to me in pleasant places, mine has been a goodly heritage."

There have been many surprises along the way. When I felt the call to preach and decided to do so, I never dreamed that any church would pay me to preach to them. I felt that it would be pay enough if they would just let me preach to them. It was our plans (wife and I) that we would farm to make a living and I'd preach just for the fun of it. I realized then as I do now that the call was of the Lord, but when I considered the pit from which He dug me, raised a half orphan, kicked about like a football, it just took a God to make anything out of me.

Getting started in the Ministry was really of God. I was following a thresher in West Texas, making $1.25 a day—I don't mean $1.25 an hour nor for eight hours, but from sun-up until sundown, about 16 hours. I had preached a few times in the school house in the community. The time came for their revival. The preacher that the Church had invited could not come for some reason, so they asked me if I would hold their meeting. I didn't know how to hold a revival but I told them I would try. We took a survey and found 15 lost in the community. The meeting started. Every time I'd preach, I'd go flat bankrupt. I was staying with my uncle. He had a cane patch that was plenty tall. I'd take to that cane patch and say "Lord, what next?" I would go back, take a text, and brag on the Lord some more, call incurers, and they would come. In one week's time we had 45 professions and additions.

At the close of that revival I got two surprises. One was: They took a collection for me. I actually felt that I should have paid them, but any way, they got me $20.00. Boy, Oh Boy! had I struck it rich, $20.00 for just one week's bragging on the Lord. I had been making $7.50 per week, I mean for working.

The second surprise was: They called me to be their pastor. Well, the news spread, what a great revival Mat Hale had held. Calls came from Kirkland and Goodlett. In 30 days time I had full time work. Was ordained August 8, 1908. I had rented a farm and had been appointed postmaster of the community post office. But Kirkland asked that I move on the field. Along about that time I read an old adage which run, "Remember that he that sitteth between two stools sitteth on the floor." I said, That is what I was about to do, so we gave up the farming idea and moved to town, and I became a town preacher, and have been at it ever since. (The second installment will be published next week.)

New Lights

will be on county property, the courthouse square, and the county's bill is expected to run about $36.00 of this amount as against a present of about $15.00 per month.

Illumination will be much greater than the now antiquated lighting system. Lights in the business section will, in fact, furnish six times the present illumination. Also, new areas, such as the Roberts addition, will be lighted.

The entire system of street lighting will be operated by photo-electric control. If one of the black dusters rolls over town in the daytime, the lights will come on automatically when darkness reaches a certain intensity.

In the business section, there will be 36 mercury vapor lights, each of 16,000 lumen power as compared with the present 53 lights with 2,500 lumen power each.

Down the four highway streets, East and West Lockwood, Main, and South Sweet, and also on North Third Street will be 33 "white way" lights of 4,000 lumen power; and on the outskirts of town on the highway streets will be 12 more "traffic way" lights of 2,500 lumens each.

In the City Park, at the rear of the High School, and at the rear of the Grade School will be four, three and two, respectively, "park lights" of 4,000 lumens each.

Remainder of the residence section will be covered with 74 residential lights of 1,000 lumen each. All will be on new poles with new reflectors, and will give considerably greater illumination than those now in use.

Bill Clarke, local manager for the company, informs The News that the present lighting system has lost much of its effectiveness because of age, rust, dirt, etc.

The lighting system will be entirely of overhead construction. There will be no buried cables to endanger life or to short out the lights. Furthermore, new lines will have another safety feature. If at any time a line breaks, the circuit will automatically break, preventing another hazard to life.

For the past four weeks, The News has recounted the many improvements being made in the town by the City of Tahoka, including paving, water and sewer systems. Below are listed a number of other improvements that have been made in the past few months, or years:

A new two-ton Ford general purpose fire truck, equipped with Howe fire fighting equipment, 500-gallon storage tank, and hose at a cost of $8,000, bought about a year ago. The City also has a 1939 Ford fire truck with 250-gallon tank. Another truck in service is the old International, of about 1923 vintage, which the Union Compress has recently remodeled and put into usable condition. The truck still belongs to the City and is subject to the City's use, but the Council deemed it good business to let the compress fix it up and use it for possible action yard fires which might cause increase of Tahoka's fire insurance rate.

The fire station and city hall have been repainted inside and quarters made livable for a fireman who now is on duty there, or on call, at all times. This work was done by city employees in their spare time.

Two new water wells drilled four miles north of town last year. These are now in process of being connected to the City water system. Last week, the City bought two new pumps for these wells from D. W. Gagnat, who submitted the lowest bid of about $2,300.00.

New Ford pick-up, bought last week, from Bill Strange Motors, lowest bidder, for use of the water and sewer department.

New maintainer, bought more than a year ago, at a cost of $9,900.00.

New Street markers, bought last year at a cost of $1,100. Many of these, however, have already been torn down by thoughtless kids.

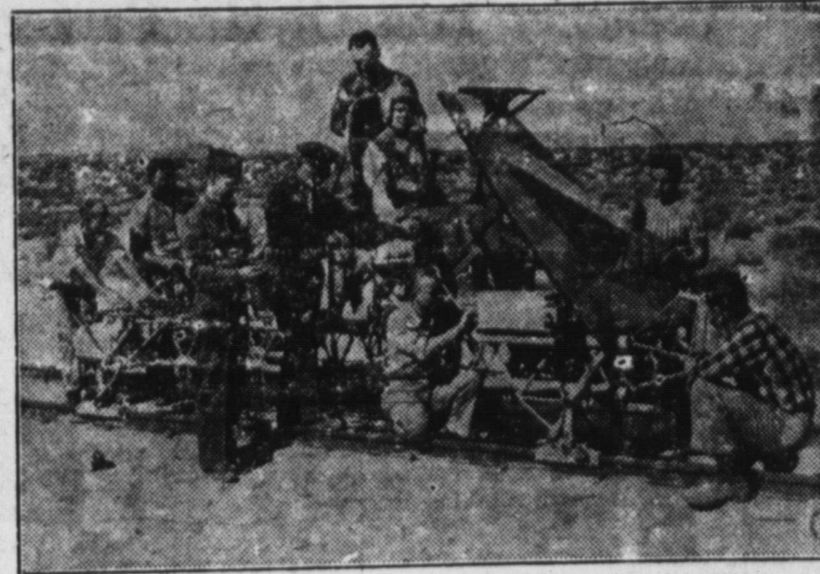

Also, under the administration of T. J. Bovell as mayor pro-tem, the City built a $4,800 warehouse 40 by 100 feet in size in order that better care might be taken of City equipment.

All in all, there have been many improvements — improvements that will, when completed, give Tahoka a much-needed face lifting, the citizens better service and more community pride. Possibly no other small city on the Plains is undergoing such extensive improvements.

Described earlier in News stories, have been the 40-block $200,000 paving program, which will give Tahoka 112 blocks of paving; widening and curbing of the highway streets, the new $225,000 water and sewer system, which includes extensions to existing lines and replacing of many others with larger lines, the new wells, new fire hydrants, new $33,000 overhead standpipe of 250,000 gallon capacity, which will be five times the size of the existing standpipe; and the 500,000-gallon ground reservoir built in 1947 at a cost of about $35,000.

Propose Bus Line To Wilson

A committee of business men from Tahoka and Wilson conferred with officials of the Texas-New Mexico-Oklahoma Coaches in Lubbock Tuesday on a request for bus service between Tahoka, Wilson, and Slaton.

No definite decision on the proposed route has been given, but the bus company is favorable to the proposition.

At the present time, Tahoka is served by three north and three south-bound buses daily. The proposal has been made that the south bound bus which leaves Lubbock at 12:35 p. m. and which arrives in Tahoka at 1:15 be routed by way of Slaton and Wilson to Tahoka, and that the north bound bus which leaves Tahoka at 6:05 be routed to Wilson, Slaton, and then Lubbock.

Such a re-routing would add nine miles to each trip and about 15 minutes to the schedule. This would give the important trading center of Wilson a better tie-in both with the county seat and with Lubbock.

Wilson now has one bus each day east to Slaton and Post and west and north to Lubbock. Those conferring with the Lubbock bus company officials were: Howard Cook, Wilson banker; Pat Campbell, Wilson postmaster; Hubert Tankersley, Tahoka Chamber of Commerce president; A. M. Bray, H. W. Carter, and Frank Hill.

Wilson has long been trying to get such service, and now that the road will soon be paved over the entire route prospects for the new bus schedule are more feasible.

Preservation Of Peace Should Be No. 1 Object Says Mahon

"The preservation of peace should be the number one objective of Congress and the American people," Congressman George Mahon, Representative of the 19th District, said this week in Washington.

The statement followed a series of meetings of top military leaders with the Committee on Military Appropriations of which Mahon is chairman.

"Despite the fact that within months Russia has developed an atomic bomb and overrun China, the over-all Military program for this country has not been greatly changed," Mahon continues. "Our whole problem of national defense should be re-examined in the light of these events. It is true that the Military Forces of this country on land, sea and in the air are in a better state of readiness for immediate combat now than at any time since the demobilization following World War II, but our forces are smaller than last year."

On account of the inadequacy of funds and on account of the impact which a large military establishment would have upon the economy of the United States, this country is not undertaking to maintain a large military force in being that could wage sustained warfare, according to the Congressman. Yet the findings of Mahon's committee show that unless the rate of airplane procurement requested in the budget this year is increased in succeeding years, the United States Air Force and naval air arms will become less modern at a rapid rate.

At the request of Congressman Mahon, General Dwight D. Eisenhower, military expert and President of Columbia University, came down from New York to counsel with the committee. General Eisenhower feels that the budgetary requests of the President for the Army, Navy and Air Force are not fully adequate to place the United States in a state of readiness for war. But he does not advocate an increase, as he feels that the United States cannot afford larger military spending and that certain "calculated risks" must be taken.

At this time one third of our tax dollars are being spent directly on the Army, Navy and Air Force. In commenting on defense spending Mahon said:

"The Military people have never won any medals for economy but there is less waste and more economy in our military programs now than in any time within a decade. Further progress in efficiency must be made."

The Congressman indicated that the top military leaders do not think that an outbreak of war with Russia is likely within the next couple of years. Their fears, based on the fact that Russia is feverishly building up her submarine fleet, navy, air force, and army, seem to be that we will inevitably have trouble with Russia at a later date unless some way can be found to establish good will between the United States and Russia.

Among those appearing before the Committee in recent meetings are General Omar N. Bradley, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff; Louis Johnson, Secretary of Defense; the Secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force; and the members of the Chiefs of Staff.

The Committee has been holding hearings for the past seven weeks in an effort to get ready to present the Military Appropriation measure to the House for consideration about April 1.

Warren's Pride And Joy Is His Modern Post Dispatch Plant

Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Warren of the Post Dispatch were visitors in the home of The News' associate editor Sunday, and the group had an interesting "shop-talk" feast.

Eddie publishes one of the best edited and printed country weekly newspapers in the state of Texas. In fact, his paper has won several awards for excellence in contests of the Texas Press Association.

BUT, his shop is what takes the eye of most newspaper men who visit it. He has built up one of the best-equipped and neatest small-town shops to be found anywhere.

The Post Dispatch shop and paper are Mr. and Mrs. Warren's pride and joy, and they spend almost all their time and energy in making them even better.

About three years ago, a competitive paper was started in Post, but it died a natural death a few weeks ago. Like most towns, there was just no demand or reason for two papers. Many business houses felt that they must advertise in both papers to cover territory, and that almost doubled the cost of their advertising. The truth is in this case, as in most cases, the competitive paper did not have enough paid subscribers (261) to justify advertising at all, although its operators were fine folks and capable newspaper people.

In a way, The Dispatch is a competitor of The News—for circulation in eastern Lynn and western Garza counties—but that has never stood in the way of the publishers of the two papers being good friends. In fact, Eddie Warren has gone out of the way on several occasions to help The News come out on time because of break-downs and other emergencies, and The News force always stands ready to help him out when needed.

The South Plains has a bunch of fine newspaper people, The News is glad to have them for neighbors.

Rotarians Hear School Band

Tahoka High School Band, under the direction of Wm. Tregoe, presented the program at the Rotary Club Thursday noon of last week, playing eight or ten numbers.

Rotarians were pleasantly surprised at the progress the band had made in the five months since its organization. In fact, several who know bands and band music, stated that Tahoka's is the best first year band they had ever heard.

Mr. Tregoe stated that only 40 of the musicians, out of a total of 75, were present. Others were either in the grade school or members of the new band class which started at the first of the current semester.

Alton Cain, president of the newly organized Band Booster Club, made a short talk outlining the aims of the organization, the first of which is to get new uniforms for the musicians. Mr. Cain, who is also a member of the school board, stated that he felt it was the school's duty to furnish instruction and part of the equipment for the band, but that he felt it was the town's duty to furnish the uniforms. About $4,000 will be required to properly equip the band with presentable uniforms, he said, and plans are under way to ask citizens of the community to contribute to such a fund.

Charles Townes was program chairman for the day.

Now is the time to get the tractor in shape for the busy days ahead.

Bells Still Have Place In Numerous Communities

Few are the classrooms from kindergarten to graduate school without a bell of some sort. Although electric gongs and buzzers increase in this age of the volt and the ampere, the handwound bell with its graceful curves, trumpet mouth, dingdong clapper still holds sway in thousands of school communities.

Shape and metal composition may not be all-important in the bell swung by the schoolmarm. When it comes to the large cast bells for school and church bellfries, however, mathematical laws take a hand. The familiar Liberty bell silhouette is the ultimate in search for rich, clear tone. So is "bell metal," alloyed of approximately four parts copper and one part tin.

Bells, mentioned in historic records of 4,500 years or more ago, have heralded virtually every event of historic importance, touched almost every human emotion. Bells of antiquity had varying shapes in various lands. Even down to modern times, Chinese bells are frequently square or cylindrical, Japanese bells are barrel-shaped, Italian bells are long-waisted.

At Campagna, Italy, A.D. 400, the Bishop of Nola is said to have placed the first bell in the top of a meeting house. In centuries to follow, clocks were not common possessions, and bells regulated everyday life.

The Liberty bell was the first of large size to be cast in America. Imported from England for the State House in Philadelphia, it cracked at its testing and had to be recast.

Military Insecticides Wanted

The armed forces have called on the American chemist to supply them with a light, deadly, yet lingering insecticide that would win the soldier's perpetual war against insect pest, wherever he may meet him. Speaking before the division of agricultural and food chemistry at the American Chemical Society's national meeting, Major Frederick W. Whittemore, declared that "military requirements are not being met by the insecticides in commercial production at this time and a vast amount of research is necessary before the armed forces can be furnished with an insecticide which is entirely satisfactory for military use."

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Moyer of Post were business visitors in Tahoka Tuesday. Both have been in bad health for some time and have been confined to their home most of the time.

Experts Find New Method To Analyze Hay Fever Cause

A series of skin tests to determine the potential value of new anti-histamine drugs before they are used on hay fever or allergy patients has been devised by three Northwestern University (Chicago) allergy experts.

The investigators applied anti-histamine (allergy combatting) solutions to scratches made on the backs of patients. After removing the solutions, the men added histamine (the chemical liberated in allergy) to the same places.

The degree to which the skin irritation—from histamine is prevented may indicate the effectiveness of various drugs in inhibiting different types of allergy, the Northwestern medical men believe.

Dr. Samuel M. Feinberg, associate professor of medicine at the Northwestern University medical school, and Dr. Ellis A. Canterbury and Dr. Harold B. Lovejoy, both graduate students in medicine, report that the tests are a "simple yet reliable method of appraising the therapeutic action of anti-histamine preparations."

Research undertaken by Northwestern's medical school some time ago disclosed that one of the major reactions in persons with hay fever or other allergy is sensitivity and irritation of certain areas of the skin. From this, the three University investigators went on to discover that the prior application of the anti-histamine drug at the place of the histamine application reduces the area and degree of skin sensitivity.

Different anti-histamine preparations showed varying degrees of success in inhibiting the histamine. It is known, too, that the same anti-histamine drug has varying success depending upon whether it is administered on the skin, as in tests, or taken internally for therapeutic reasons. In the latter, action is influenced by metabolic changes and absorption from the gastrointestinal tract.

Cotton Gains Prominence For All Wintertime Use

No longer is wool the only popular winter-time fabric; cotton and rayon both are coming into new prominence. Nylon, too, is in any department of dress.

The new flair for corduroy and velveteen is manifest not only in school and day time dresses, but in coats and in hat collections.

Wide and medium-wale corduroy is made up into any number of dressy princess design coats, belted models with huge pockets, as well as straight, all-weather coats.

Since certain individuals have an allergy for wool, it is a convenience to have other fabrics appearing with such smartness and suitability. Recently, chemicals have been developed that will give cottons the same lovely color tones as wool and silk.

The rayon afternoon suit or suit dress is fast becoming a classic. Accessories can turn such basic costumes into party clothes, or they can be worn quietly as a suit for work or street.

Nylon continues as a fashionable fabric with new uses for this practical material appearing almost daily. Dark, semi-tailored nylon fabric is actually gaining a foothold for the basic dress. Why shouldn't it when it can be washed, dry in four or five hours, and then not need ironing?

Traveling lists for women now include nylon lingerie items, blouses, sweaters, and negligees. Then there are the permanently pleated skirts and printed sheer dresses for day and evening.

Postal Workers Attend Meeting

JOHN DEERE TWO-CYLINDER ENGINE DESIGN

Cornerstone of Greater Tractor Value for 25 YEARS

John Deere two-cylinder engine design was born with the introduction of the first tractor to bear the John Deere name—the Model "D"—back in 1924.

Right from the start, the simple, rugged construction of that tractor proved itself. Here was unequalled simplicity and strength through fewer, heavier parts... easier maintenance through greater accessibility. Here was husky farm power that won immediate popularity with farmers everywhere... that set new standards for tractor dependability, economy, and long life.

These same basic advantages are just as important in a tractor today as they were a quarter-century ago. They're yours to enjoy, yours to profit by, along with every modern operating feature, when you choose a John Deere. See us soon.

Wyatts Tell Of Old South Visit

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wyatt, after having spent two weeks in the Old South, Mississippi, Louisiana, and Southeast Texas, returned to their home here last week-end, and Mrs. Wyatt has furnished to The News a report of their trip and their visit with friends and relatives.

They visited on their trip, she says, quite a few places of "grandeur and renown," one of which was Natchez, Mississippi, "where the Old South still lives." "The thirty beautiful colonial homes," she proceeds, "erected in ante-bellum days by the slaves, in the years from 1794 to 1840, were so vast in size and grandeur and in things of interest and beauty, that one day's visit permitted us to go through only three. The first, 'Rosalie,' erected in 1820, was General Grant's headquarters during his occupation of Natchez in 1863. This mansion is now owned by the Mississippi Daughters of the American Revolution.

"There are thirty colonial mansions open to visitors, and to go through all these, take in their beautiful furnishings etc., would require more than a week. A guide is always at hand. To get an idea of their marvelous structure, in entering one is made to observe the doors made of pure mahogany, ten feet high and four and a half feet wide. The door knobs are silver and ivory, the hinges are of silver; the mantles are marble, with beautiful carvings. The chandeliers are bronze; the mirrors are indescribable in beauty and size. Their rugs and curtains were woven and made to special order.

"The entire South was in full bloom. The famous azaleas and camellias, blooming six weeks earlier, were never more beautiful. Strawberries, six weeks early, were in full fruitage and ripe.

"During our visit with a son, J. W. Wyatt, at Port Arthur, we visited Shangala Park at Orange, open for visitors on Sunday, and it was thronged by thousands. This park contains a natural lake, on which great flocks of wild ducks thrive and raise their young without fear of being disturbed or harmed. Blooming azaleas and camellias were outstanding. We found rainfall and moisture plentiful soon after leaving the

The Lynn County VFW Memorial Drive, which has been in progress for the past few weeks will end on Saturday of this week. C. W. Conway, Quartermaster, reports that no more solicitations will be made by members after March 4, but states that anyone desiring to do so may make contributions to this fund, a monument dedicated to the service men who died during World Wars I and II, that entered the service from Lynn county.

Conway reports that the landscaping of the land on which this monument will be erected, triangle of the square, will soon be underway. The project will cost a considerable amount of money, and anyone wishing to donate to this cause, the donations will be gladly accepted by the VFW Club.

Mr. Conway also stated that anyone who has made contributions thus far and their names did not appear in this paper that it happened unintentionally and that correction will be made if called to their attention.

The total amount of contributions made to this drive has now reached a total of $3,372.50, with the following making contributions this week:

C. A. Stewart, Gordon Gin, W. A. Cook, Lynn County, Kay Moore, Aubrey Smith, G. W. Turner, H. D. Dean, Joe D. Unfred, Wilmer Smith, Hubert Edwards, Wayman Smith, W. Davis, L. H. Moore, and Frank Lisebby.

Miss Jean Barnett Married Sunday

Miss Jean Garnett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed T. Garnett of Brownfield formerly of Lynn county, was married to Wayne D. Tibbs Jr., Lubbock, at the First Presbyterian Church in Brownfield Sunday at 3:30 p. m., the Rev. Joe Preston Murphy reading a double ring ceremony.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the banquet room of the Esquire, after which the couple left on a trip to South Texas. They will make their home at 1701 Ave. L, Lubbock.

The bride is a graduate of Brownfield High School, and attended Texas Tech for two years. The groom, known professionally as Wayne Alleg, is program director for radio station KSEL, Lubbock. He is a graduate of Santa Ana, Calif., High School, City College of Los Angeles, and had radio training with NBC in New York.

Mrs. W. A. Reddell is in Plainview visiting her daughter, Mrs. Bob Hefley, and her new daughter, Abby, who is two weeks old. Mrs. Hefley is remembered here as LaVerne Reddell.

Plains, and wheat fields were beautiful.

The trip was lovely; however we were happy to return to our home in Tahoka. The purpose of our trip was to attend a reunion at the home of a brother of Mrs. Wyatt, F. A. Maddox at McComb, Mississippi. Of a family of nine children, four remain, this brother and three sisters, Mrs. W. A. Webster of Atlanta, Georgia, Mrs. W. E. Booker of Westpoint, Ga., and Mrs. J. H. Wyatt of Tahoka.

Mr. and Mrs. Lois Warren and son of Levelland were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Smith Sunday.

John Adams, who died at 90, lived longer than any other U. S. President.

To the Editor of The Lynn County News:

This is a continuation of our trip through the Blue Ridge mountains. We began our journey from the mile-high drive which lasted for several minutes that were packed with thrills and exciting moments. The road was built in a zigzag fashion and we were never going in the same direct except for a few seconds at a time. The curves and hairpin turns kept us excited every inch of the way. Every other time that we made a turn we could look up and see where we had been most of the afternoon and as we were nearing the bottom we could see the clouds rolling beside the mountain near the top. It was a beautiful view since some of the clouds had the appearance of an approaching storm while others were just lazy white ones that floated high in the air like those that we see in West Texas during a dry summer. It is impossible for me to describe the valley, so wide and beautiful, that lay out in front of us; it is even better than looking out of window in a twenty-story building or even seeing Washington, D. C. from the Washington Monument which is about five-hundred feet high.

By BILL STRANGE, JR.

The Uni. of Chicago is going to teach a course on how to live 100 years or happily. When that "happily" is concerned a lot of folks would settle for a fair percentage of the century mark. We presume the teachers would all be over 100 or how could they give the students the word on how to come through the rocking chair years with flying colors and a non-stoppable chuckle? The faculty ought to be the finest collection of beards since the Smith Brothers. However, we hope there'll be no beating around the bush. Old age is no joke especially in a joke.

After leaving the mountain, we went straight to Chattanooga and on the way we saw two or three things of unusual interest, one of which was a boy hauling stove-wood on a sled pulled by a burro, the other was a point called Rock City. It is built on a high mountain on which there is also a very high look out from which one is able to see seven or eight states. If you ever go there do not fail to see this point of interest!

We left Chattanooga quickly and hurried to Roanoke, Virginia, where Leon had another glass of water, George and Wayman had their ice cream and Mrs. Tamplin and I cleaned out the scenic post card rack. Before entering the drug store we told the two little turtle doves that were following us to drive straight ahead and wait at the first parking place that they found, but the highway turned at the next corner and they followed it, which was the only sensible thing to do. So, when we came out to get into the car we could not find them and that was when the fun started. They just kept traveling because we knew that Richmond, Virginia was where we would stop for the night. Nevertheless, we drove about two or three miles out of the way looking for them until we decided that they were ahead of us. We were only a few miles behind them but to make things worse we had to stop at Lynchburg on account of a flat but about fifteen miles farther on the way we drove into a filling station and the operator saw our car license and asked if we were looking for a yellow Ford and we told us that they had been gone from there about two minutes, so, in nothing flat Leon overtook them.

It was about sundown and I regret very much that we failed to reach this point sooner because it was there that we found one of the most important historical spots in the United States. It was the site of the old Appomattox

Court House where Lee surrendered to Grant. The Court House is gone but there is a monument that marks the spot of the surrender. I had already seen many statues representing the true picture of the Yankee and Rebel soldiers and when I came to this place I didn't feel too good about it. About fifty years ago my mother's daddy and my daddy's mother use to tell me about the conditions in the South and the Civil War and now I can better understand what they told me.

We stopped at a tourist home for the night and the water was so red with mud that we had to use bath-room tissue for drying purposes because the towels were already so colored that we couldn't tell when we had all of the dirt wiped off of our hoofs.

Next morning Leon kicked me out of his car and I rode with Clyde but that didn't help much because all doves can fly. Riding with either Clyde or Leon is equal to having a heart attack or a case of blind staggers.

Next week it will be Mt. Vernon or George Washington's old
