A TRIBUTE

To Our School Teachers!

Today, as no time before in history, the school teacher is recognized as the builder of tomorrow's America! With juvenile delinquency increasing apace, and foreign ideologies creeping into our school books, it is high time that glowing tribute was paid to these patient men and women who instruct our young Let's remember that teachers are human beings, not machines. Let's give them the support and confidence they so richly deserve. Let's attend PTA meetings and contribute something more than children. This community is fortunate in having such fine schools and outstanding educators. We applaud their work and their good American achievements!

Just like people, a tire can get old before its time.

For example, the life of a tire may be shortened as much as 25% merely as a result of chronic underinflation. Over-inflation is bad, too.

Best way to avoid premature aging of your tires is to let your Phillips 66 Dealer take care of them for you. He'll check them frequently, make sure they're properly inflated, and repair them if necessary. And, if a tire becomes unsafe, he can provide a new and dependable Phillips 66 Action-Tread Tubeless Tire.

Light Leads Our People

Each day a new door opens. What it reveals on the other side, for the people who must pass over its threshold, depends upon the conditions under which they lived their yesterdays.

Those in some countries look through the door upon a new day shadowed with oppressions, where there are few freedoms, tyrannies abound and living is hard and cold.

Those of us in America are more fortunate. Opening the door each day, we are met by the light of freedom which has led our destiny for many years. Protecting that freedom has been - and always will be - a Press that will not succumb to dictation or overpowering despotism.

For the light that leads to all freedoms is Freedom of the Press: Education . . . information of all kinds . . . news of all that transpires . . . and the open discussion of opinions and ideas that sharpens understanding.

Complete freedom of speech and of the press is the light that builds understanding," helping all mankind to advance onward and upward through the opening door of each

FOUR BIG MEN

In Washington this week there is time, and quiet, to reflect on some of the events and personalities which were the distinguishing marks of the 85th Congress.

We who write from Washington tend too often to place great emphasis on the events without adequately reporting on the men, and frequently the women, who influence and guide the actions and decisions of the government.

There are two types of officials in Washington. First, the men whose names are mentioned in the headlines, and, second, the men who make those headlines possible. The latter are at least as important as

The men in the headlines were President Eisenhower, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, Defense Secretary Neil McElroy, and Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams. All of them did important jobs well.

Cool Heads In A Crisis

For each man in the headlines there were dozens whose hard work and devotion to duty in times of crisis made those headlines possible Some of those were members of the

The four named above are in the Administrative branch of government. Few of their decisions and actions which made headlines were without having consulted with the important leaders of President and a Democratic majority in Congress, and it is almost inevitable in an election year.

> Congressional unity on important national and international problems was a remarkable accomplishment of the 85th Congress. The credit for that unity belongs in a large measure to four leaders, two from each party.

Johnson, Rayburn, Knowland

Those are names familiar to most Americans, but they seldom were in the headlines. Few, even in Washington, know the extent to which they put aside their political differences to close party ranks on issues of great national importance.

Sen. Lyndon Johnson, the Majority Leader, worked closely with Minority Leader Sen. William Knowland on legislation vitally affecting the national interest. The same was true of Speaker Sam Rayburn and Minority Leader Joseph Martin in the House.

All four brushed aside both party and personal interests where the national interest was involved. And, they did it without claiming or expecting personal gain or credit. Without that unity the 85th Congress would have been far less successful in maintaining national unity at a critical time.

The American people, and the other people of the Free World, are fortunate in having men of by JOHN CROW This was one of the greatest comebacks ever witnessed in sports. The experts said he would never play golf again after the crippling accident just outside Fort Worth, when his legs were badly damaged. But he was a fighter . . . and he fought back to prove them wrong. Bantam Ben Hogan's stiffest test of his career came at the U. Open Championship held at Merion, just outside Philodelphia his first Open after the accident. The course was a tough one .. and the field was even tougher. But Hogan played brilliant golf. In the final round he was near collapse on the 14th hole, and he barely finished. Then his score was tied by Lloyd Mangrum and George Faxio . . forcing a playoff. That night his wife Valerie and his doctor worked on Hogan's legs until four in the morning. When day came, Hogan hobbled out to the course , and went on to win.
