Cotton Contest Winners Named In Lynn County

Winners of the 1952 4-H Club cotton contest were announced this week by County Agent Bill Griffin. Awards will be made officially at 10 a. m. Saturday in the district court room here, when achievement awards will also be made in the many other 4-H Club contests, the winners of which were recently announced.

In the cotton contests, winners were picked in two divisions, irrigated and dry land. In each division, the winner gets a $75.00 cash prize, second place $50.00, and third $25.00. First place winners advance to the district 4-H contest.

In the irrigated cotton division, Don White, son of J. P. White of route 1, Wilson, took first with 4,755 pounds of lint, or over nine bales from his five acres; Erin Moore, son of Jay W. Moore of Lakeview, second with 3,895 pounds lint; and Lynn Maeker, son of W. C. Maeker of Wilson, 2,305 pounds lint.

In the dry land-cotton contest, Donald Williams, son of Carl Williams of Tahoka, took first place with 2,112 pounds of lint; Tommy Gardenhire, second, with 2,098 pounds; and Mary Bess Gardenhire, third, with 1,857 pounds. THE NEW PRESIDENT—General Dwight D. Eisenhower, Texas born and Kansas reared, was inaugurated as President of the United States in Washington, D. C., Tuesday. He is the first Republican president in 29 years. Eight of the nine members of his cabinet have already been sworn-in, and the new administration is in the saddle. One thing the Communistic and Dictator nations can not understand is the fact that all good American citizens, regardless of party affiliation, pray that the new leader will be a great one, that his administration will be a complete success, and that petty partisan politics will be minimized.

Bulldogs Win Over Littlefield, Lose to Brownfield; O'Donnell Here Tonight

Three Tahoka basketball teams meet three from O'Donnell in the Tahoka gymnasium here tonight. The B teams boys' game begins at 6:30 p. m., the A team girls' game at 7:30, and the A team boys at 8:30.

The boys lost an early season game to the strong O'Donnell Eagles there, but the Tahoka girls have won five games this season from the O'Donnell girls.

Tuesday night, boys and girls teams go to Littlefield for return games; and then, on Friday night of next week, Tahoka opens the District 6-AA conference season with Post here.

During the past week, Tahoka A team defeated Littlefield 48 to 35 here Friday, then lost to Brownfield 59 to 39 here on Tuesday. The boys B team lost to Littlefield 41 to 22, but won over Brownfield B 50 to 43. The girls dropped games to Littlefield 41 to 24, then to Stanton 25 to 21, the latter game being played here Tuesday night.

Littlefield Games
All around, the Bulldog A team game with Littlefield was one of the best Coach Jake Jacobs' boys have played. The Bulldogs led 14 to 5 at the first quarter, but went on one of their too common wild sprees in the second quarter and dropped behind 17 to 21 at the half. However, they came back strong in the third to take a 10-point 37-27 lead, then coasted in to a 48-35 victory in the fourth.

Keith Streety of Littlefield was the game's high scorer with 15 points. Tahoka's scoring honors was spread out, with Center Steve Slover getting 11 points, forwards Joe Brooks and Richard Haven 19 each, Guards Morgan Howle, 8, and Charles Hyles, 4. Huddleston, Dodson, and Foster also got in on the scoring.

Forresters Will Move Agency Soon

Forrester Insurance Agency has leased the Thomas building, located just north of the First National Bank on Main street and recently occupied by Tahoka Grocery. The firm will move to the new location in the near future.

The building interior is being completely remodeled and redecorated and divided up into offices for the new tenants.

The Forrester Agency is operated by Mrs. B. C. Forrester and her son-in-law, J. A. Biggestaff.

Mothers' March Set Thursday

The Mothers' March on Polio on Thursday, Jan. 29, will be sponsored by the Pythian Sisters of Lynn Temple No. 45.

The city of Tahoka has been mapped out, and everyone participating in the drive should meet at the WOW hall at 6:00 p. m. to receive complete instructions for the March. The March will begin at the sound of the fire alarm.

Citizens are urged to turn on their porch lights or give some signal so that Mothers can pick up your contributions.

Civic organizations cooperating with the Pythians in this drive are the Garden Club, Phebe K. Warner Club, VFW Auxiliary, Child Guidance, and American Legion Auxiliary.

Coffee and cake will be served at Mrs. Wiley Curry's home at 1613 North Third Street after the March.

Rain-Making Project Renewed

A group of Lynn county farmers in a meeting at the court house Saturday afternoon voted to again join in support of the "rain-making" experiments being conducted by Krick and Company of Denver through the West Texas Weather Improvement Association, which has headquarters in Lamesa.

The farmers present voted unanimously not only to support the experiments for this next year but to join in a five-year plan in the attempt to produce rain by scientific "cloud seeding" with silver iodide.

Also at the meeting Saturday, Guy Smith was re-elected chairman of the Lynn county unit. Ward Eakin was named vice chairman, and N. T. Conner was named secretary. New district directors elected are T. B. Mason and Elmer Blankenship.

Several interesting talks were made at the meeting. Sam Allen of Lamesa talked on "What Cloud Seeding Isn't"; Lee Cox of Denver, Colo., on "What Cloud Seeding Is"; and Meteorologist Smith of Lamesa also spoke briefly.

The group is convinced the project has possibilities and deserves a trial over an extended period. Cost of the project to the individual farmer is so small, local backers say, that the experiments deserve financial backing of all farmers of the area.

Auction Is Set For Polio Fund

A merchandise auction sale for benefit of the March of Dimes fund to aid polio victims will be held at the Rose Theatre on next Thursday night, Jan. 29, between the first and second shows, states Jack Waldrip of the Wallace Theatres.

Boy Scouts will contact local merchants for donation of articles to be auctioned from the theatre stage, with all funds raised going to the March of Dimes.

G. C. Grider will handle the auctioneer duties.

School District Taxes Coming In

Tahoka School District tax payments are coming in at a normal rate as the January 31 deadline approaches, states J. M. Small, tax collector and secretary.

"A little more than 70 per cent was paid up early this week, a total of $66,000.00. A number of the larger taxpayers have not yet paid their taxes, Small states. Penalty and interest will apply to 1952 taxes paid after January 31.

John Curry, High School senior, broke a bone in his right foot while working-out at basketball Thursday afternoon of last week.

Tahoka More Conscious of Traffic Safety Than Any Other Area Town

"Tahoka seems to be more traffic-safety conscious than any town in this area," Clay Bednar, district safety officer of the State Highway Department, told The News and Police Chief L. N. Bartley, Monday.

"It seems to me," he continued, "that your program in Tahoka is really paying off in a reduction of the number of automobile accidents and the resultant threat to the lives of your citizens."

A year or two ago, the Tahoka City Council increased the police force and ordered a crack down on fast and reckless drivers. More recently, a patrolman has been put on duty at the schools to help protect the children.

A Citizens Traffic Commission was formed, with A. M. Bray at its head, and this body has quietly been working to improve traffic and safe driving practices in Tahoka.

"Citizens of the town have been most cooperative," Bartley says. "In fact, we seldom have a local citizen who resents being called down on traffic violations. We believe nearly everyone will agree that safer practices on the streets of Tahoka is paying off. At least, we are having fewer and fewer minor crashes and almost no major wrecks in town. Your continued cooperation may help save a life."

Elect Directors Of Water District

Lubbock, Jan. 22 — After a canvass of the vote in the election held in Lynn county Tuesday, Jan. 13, the Board of Directors of the High Plains Water District has announced the following results:

Precinct Director—W. O. Forrester.

County Committeemen—J. D. Unfred, Wayman Smith, and D. W. Hancock.

New Law Affects Car Registration

County vehicle owners, when applying for new license tags this year, must bring with them their title and registration receipt for each vehicle in order to obtain license tags for the year 1953, according to J. E. Red Brown, Lynn county tax assessor and collector.

This is not Mr. Brown's rule, but is a requirement of the new Driver's Responsibility law.

The new license tags will go on sale February 1.

Mr. Brown also calls attention to the fact that Saturday, January 31, is the last day to obtain a poll tax receipt in order to vote during this year. This is also the last day to pay State and County property taxes for 1952. After that date, 1952 taxes go on the delinquent list and penalty and interest will also apply.

Marshall-Brown Is Moving Soon

Marshall-Brown Department Store expects to move in the near future to the clinic building next door north of Tahoka Drug, which building was recently bought by Hubert Tankersley.

The building is being completely remodeled and redecorated for the store, and will be modern in every respect.

The store is owned and operated by Mr. and Mrs. Joe Marshall and Mr. and Mrs. Urban Brown. They opened their store here last spring.

Local Boys Show At Fat Stock Event

Fort Worth, Jan. 22—At least two Lynn county FFA members will exhibit animals in the junior show of the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show in Fort Worth January 30 through February 3.

Richard Carter, Tahoka FFA member, will exhibit a Hereford steer in the show.

Bennie Wendell Edwards of O'Donnell expects to show two lambs.

O. J. Jackson, 72, Buried Saturday

O. J. Jackson, 72, of Clyde, critically ill for several months, died at 12:30 a. m. Friday at the home here of his daughter, Mrs. Ed Hamilton, with whom he and his wife had been living for several weeks.

Funeral services were held at 12:30 p. m. Saturday at the First Baptist Church, with Rev. Lee Ramsour, pastor, officiating. Interment followed in Tahoka Cemetery under direction of Stanley Jones Funeral Home.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson had formerly lived here, and there are many old friends in Lynn county who remember them well.

Oscar Joel Jackson was born in Purdy, Tennessee, April 15, 1874. He came to Texas with his parents when he was five, and resided in Leon county, where he married Miss Clyde Read on February 10, 1896. The next year he was converted and joined the Baptist Church. The couple moved out to Stamford, Jones county, in 1899.

They came to Tahoka in December, 1923, and Mr. and Mrs. Jackson operated a grocery and market here until 1931, when they moved to Gladewater. However, most of the time since they have lived at Stamford and Clyde.

Mr. Jackson suffered a stroke at his Clyde home last October 6, and for the past few weeks they have been at Tahoka with their daughters, Mrs. Hamilton and Mrs. C. B. Evans. He had suffered further light strokes since coming to Tahoka, and his last one Thursday night proved fatal.

Survivors include the wife; three sons, Robert of Liberal, Kansas; A. A. of LaPorte, and Raymond L. of Fort Worth; four daughters, Mrs. Ed Hamilton and Mrs. C. B. Evans of Tahoka, Mrs. G. J. Canon of Abilene, and Mrs. C. C. Compton of LaPorte; 14 grandchildren, and 9 great grandchildren. All the children were present for the funeral.

Mrs. Jackson states she will likely sell her home at Clyde and return to Tahoka to make her home.

Local Boys Show At Fat Stock Event

Fort Worth, Jan. 22—At least two Lynn county FFA members will exhibit animals in the junior show of the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show in Fort Worth January 30 through February 3.

Richard Carter, Tahoka FFA member, will exhibit a Hereford steer in the show.

Operators were in the process Thursday of completing Lynn County's first major Canyon Reef oil producer, the Dan Auld of Kerrville No. 1 J. A. Timmons, in the northwestern part of the county between Petty and Lakeview.

Indications were, it is reported, the well could prove to be one of the most important discoveries on the South Plains in recent months. Unconfirmed rumors were the operators expect the well to produce 1,000 barrels.

The News is informed 5 1/2-inch casing was set on the bottom early this week. The casing will be perforated, a test taken, and the well completed.

After the drillstem test taken last week from 9,795 to 9,874 feet, the tool was pulled. Recovery was all oil, testing .47-gravity, and there was no water. Open bottom hole flowing pressure ranged from 675 to 2,275 pounds. Shut-in pressure after 15 minutes was 3,975 pounds.

Operators then drilled ahead to 9,908 feet, total depth, and took electric logs. The logs showed the top of the solid reef to be 9,800 feet instead of the 9,825 feet, as had been picked from samples.

The Canyon Reef lime discovery is 660 feet from the east and 1,980 feet from the south lines of section 142, block 12, EL&RR survey, about 16 airline miles northwest of Tahoka. It is a little over three miles west of Petty, or one mile east and a little over two miles south of Lakeview. Nearest production is in the Mound Lake pool, Terry county, about five or six miles to the southwest.

Lynn county's only other oil producers are three small wells in the so-called O'Donnell pool east of Draw, southeast of Tahoka.

Scout Sponsors Elect Officers

Reforming of the Boy Scout organization on a town level was perfected in Tahoka at a meeting of 29 adults interested in Scouting at the Methodist Church Monday night.

A. M. Bray, vice chairman of the Tejas District, composing Lamesa, O'Donnell, New Home, Grassland, and Tahoka, presided at the meeting. Happy Smith is the district chairman, and Kirk Wilcox of Lamesa is the Scout Executive.

The new organization set-up is expected to improve Scouting in Tahoka. With more responsibility thrown on the local leaders, more than moral and financial support will be needed to put over the program. Bray says. The biggest need of the program is adult workers.

At the meeting Monday, the following officers were elected: John Reasonover, town chairman.

Mitchell Williams and Tom Gill, organization and extension chairmen.

E. B. Gaither, service and training chairman.

Truett Smith, public relations chairman.

J. E. Sanders and Harvey Freeman, camping and activities chairmen.

A. C. Weaver and Rev. Jim Sharp, advancement chairmen. John Witt, finance chairman. Tahoka Rotary Club is the sponsoring agent of the Boy Scout troop here.

Local Scout leaders were heartened by the enthusiasm and renewed interest in improving and expanding the Scout program in Tahoka.

With all her faults, the back-seat driver at least has enough interest in life to look ahead.

Odds AND Ends

(BY E. I. THE ELDER)

In a few days now, it will have been 12 months since I left with a friend for a few weeks in Old Mexico. Never before had I been south of the border—never before had I seen the land of manana (manana) except from view points on this side of the Rio Grande in the Big Bend, my nearest approach to it being at the mouth of Santa Helena Canyon.

It has been nearly nine months since my friend and I returned from that land of striking contrasts and enchantment. It has been more than seven months since I published in this column my last story respecting the magnificent scenery, strange people, fine people, intelligent superstitious people, Christian people and pagan people, cultured people and savage people, who inhabit that land.

But nearly every day somebody asks me when I am going to make another trip down into Mexico—if I am going again this spring—telling me that they greatly enjoyed the stories I wrote for this column about Mexico last year, or otherwise reminding me of Mexico. I am compelled to tell them that I do not know if it will be possible for me ever to go back to that country, however much I might like to do so. But, of course, I would like to go. I would like to meet again some of the fine friends I made while down there last year. I would like to view again the countless scenic wonders that constantly meet the eyes of every lover of nature and of beauty. I would like to get more information about some of the marvelous works of man that I saw, but only comprehended as through a glass darkly, while I was down there last year.

Well, an incident occurred the other day that whetted my appetite for Mexico. It was to me really a strange incident. Here it is:

I told you a few weeks ago about accidentally finding some old papers and written instruments being tossed about by the winds in my back yard. I picked them up to cast into the incinerator to be burned, when my eyes fell upon the lines of a poem that attracted my attention. It proved to be a prize-winning poem written by a Colorado City friend of mine many years ago. I had clipped it from a newspaper and stowed it away in a letter file in my office. The old letter file, together with other discarded office junk, had been stored away in boxes and placed in a junk room, out of which little children had made a playhouse. I published that fine little poem and one piece of doggerel which I myself had authored, in this column.

Well, the other day I discovered under the trees in an obscure corner of my back premises another old letter file half buried in mud and dust and old leaves and chicken feathers, and when I dug it out I noticed a roll of typewritten material that, to a newspaper man looked like "copy," and when I opened it up the first thing that greeted my eyes was a communication from Cuernavaca, Mexico, addressed to newspapers in the United States. It bore a March date, 1942, and proved to be publicity matter being put out by the Tourist Pan-American Committee and by promoters of the Pan-American highway. This particular one and several others bearing a Cuernavaca date were authored and released to the newspapers by one Kenneth Beiden, who identifies himself in one or more of the communications as the "Vagabond Columnist South of the Border," and they contained so much breezy and interesting information that I decided to clip from them heavily for this column this week.

First, I want to tell you something about Cuernavaca. It is situated about 50 miles south of Mexico City on the Acapulco road and is one of the most historic and interesting little cities in Mexico. When my Wilson friend and I went down to Acapulco to see the ocean and the beauties on the beach, we started early and took breakfast at Cuernavaca. In the premises adjacent to the hotel where we ate were some wonderfully beautiful flowering trees in full bloom. The flowers were as red as blood. We asked the lady the name of the trees, and, while I never could understand what she said, I found out that she was saying something like "bougonbilla." She broke off and gave to each of us a twig from this tree. These trees and a vine by the same name were found in many of the parks in Mexico City and on private premises in Mexico City and in many other cities and towns in Mexico. They add greatly to the charm of the country. Cuernavaca for centuries has figured prominently in the religious and political affairs of Mexico and has been the storm center in more than one revolutionary movement. It is situated on the Pan-American highway.

In his communication of March 12, 1942, the "Vagabond Columnist South of the Border" gets a little facetious. He names his contribution that week "Another Armchair Tour for War-Hurried Americans." Intimating that many Americans are hurrying out of Uncle Sam's domain to escape the local draft boards, he says that many people are finding out that "beside being useful for killing people, airplanes can be pressed into service for travel." He intimates that many potential draftees from the States are hurrying into Guadalajara both by airplane and by automobile over the new Highway from Laredo by way of San Luis Potosi to the great capital city of the state of Jalisco—which is Guadalajara.

Speaking of airplanes, this same writer observes: "At times these proud Douglasses, useful as they may be, are no substitute for an old Jalopy, which is a burro on foot-wide mountain trails. Remember our trek a few weeks ago back to San Christobal?"

For your information, dear reader, San Christobal is a small town situated in the Mexican state of Chiapas in the extreme southeast extension of Mexico near the state and also the city of Guatemala, through which the Pan-American highway was to pass and does, pass on its way down through Central America. San Christobal is also situated on this highway. Now let us take up again Beldin's story.

"Up the hill behind San Christobal," he says, "a steep narrow trail challenges the adventurous Romeros of a race of primitives called Huichols, to whom monogamy (the having but one wife) is said to be unknown and whose inspired weaving has left us marveling, also challenges us.

"Suppose for a moment we have no urgent duties back in civilization . . . Four care-free days (carefree if you've brought some tortillas to eat) bring us to Totatiche. Here we get our bearings; procure fresh tortillas. Two more days bring us to the edge of the Bolanos River Canyon. What a canyon! An erosion expert would die of heart-break to look at it—this barranca so wide and so deep that a range of mountains runs right down the middle of it. And that higher range of mountains on the other side is where we hope we're going—unless it changes its mind and comes to us.

"After exploring the rim of this tremendous gorge we finally find a trail leading down to the river, a tiny silver thread far below. Before we are half way down night enshrouds us, and we search for fire wood with which to keep warm. Following a night of feeding the camp fire and a dawn so aflame that not even a color film can quite capture it, we begin our winding descent to the town of Bolanos.

"Bolanos is the town the dictionary-makers must have had in mind when they invented the word "somnolent." Asleep it certainly is. . . Behind it red cliffs rise a thousand feet. Its hundred or so houses are scattered along one side of the river. On the other, a narrow sandy beach invites the tourist. "Yes, I said tourist, singular, not tourists, since such visitors arrive at the rate of one every fifteen years. Hundreds of millions of people have missed making this fascinating trip; in fact (Continued)

1952 Bulldog Football Squad Named At Banquet By Mothers Monday Eve

Tahoka Bulldogs, 1952 district 6-AA football champions, were honored at a banquet given by the Bulldog Mothers Monday night in the school cafeteria. Coach Pat Pattison of Lubbock High was the principal speaker.

Fittingly, the feature of the entire program was the tribute paid the boys of the football squad by Coach Bill Haralson.

At the beginning of this last season, he said, few fans believed they had much chance for a successful season. Fans got enthusiastic when they won their first game, an upset, but lost that enthusiasm when the Bulldogs next met two humiliating defeats.

However, Haralson declared these boys did not quit but went back to work harder than ever to correct their mistakes, the result being that they developed into a district championship team. He praised their will to learn and to win, and also paid tribute to their parents for the fine cooperation from them.

He introduced the squad by classes, paying special tribute to each group, the Freshmen, Sophomores, and Juniors. The Seniors were introduced individually. These are: Co-Captains Joe Brooks, John Curry, and John Foster; Charles Hyles, Richard Havens, Steve Slover, Charley Schulz, George Self, Kenneth Early, and Richard Carter. He also praised his team managers, Earl Bartley, who was a great help with the coaching, Bill Moore and Charley Jones.

Haralson gave recognition to the Bulldog Mothers for their wonderful support in preparing dinners after each home game, the fathers for moral support, Robert Harvick for his scouting assistance, and Granvel Ayer for filming pictures of ball games for study.

Assistant Coach Bill Sharpley seconded Haralson's remarks in a few fitting words.

Clint Walker, president of Tahoka Chamber of Commerce, acted as master of ceremonies at the banquet. Truett Smith gave the invocation.

The meal consisted of fried chicken and "trimmin's," served on tables forming a "T" and decorated in blue and white of Tahoka High. Decorations included blue and white centerpieces with blue candles, souvenir blue and white programs and miniature footballs for favors.

Opening the program, Walker introduced Miss JoAnn Fenton, football queen for 1952.

Earl Scudday of the Lubbock Avalanche Journal introduced Coach Pattison.

Coach Pattison made a short but impressive talk in which he emphasized the importance of getting an education and the forming of proper habits. Football and other competitive athletics, he said, can play a big role in this respect. He outlined how the sport contributes to mental and physical development, the forming of wholesome living habits, and creating more competitive spirit. He said the sport not only helps build in boys habits for clean living, but also in certain individuals improves the inferiority complex and in others the superiority complex.

Misses Marianna McGinty and Betty Ramsour, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. E. W. Patterson, sang "Mister Touchdown, U. S. A." and "Stronghearted Men."

Following the talks by the coaches, Co-Captain Joe Brooks expressed the boys' thanks to the coaches, the mothers and dads for their work and support in making the football season a success.

Mrs. Elnora Curry outlined briefly the history and objectives of the Bulldogs Mothers in the support and encouragement of their boys in the athletic program, and expressed a hope that the organization would be continued down through the years. On behalf of the mothers, she presented a gift to the president of the club, Mrs. Frank Hyles.

The banquet was prepared and served by the Mothers Club with financial assistance from the school athletic fund.

Miss Savage Weds Levelland Man

Miss Chattie Mae Savage, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Savage of Smyer, formerly of New Home, and Walker Newton Stevenson, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Stevenson, Sr., of Wilmington, Calif., were united in marriage Saturday at 3:00 p. m. at the Austin Street Church of Christ in Levelland. J. V. Davis, minister of the church, read the double ring ceremony.

The bride is a graduate of Alene Christian College and is a teacher in the Levelland schools. The bridegroom attended Tarleton State College at Stephenville, and is a clerk in the Levelland postoffice.

The couple will be at home in Levelland on their return January 24 from a wedding trip to Colorado.

BUILD EXTRA BEEF BY CREEP FEEDING

RED CHAIN MO-FAT CREEP FEED

Livestock producers have learned that under varying range conditions they can add from 50 to 150 pounds to the weight of calves at weaning time by feeding RED CHAIN MO-FAT Creep Feed Nuggets . . .

They also have learned that they can get more money per pound for creep-fed calves than for lighter calves of the range . . .

Creep fed calves are less of a burden to the mother cow. This gives the cow an opportunity to rebuild for the next calving ordeal.

Free plans of RED CHAIN Calf Creep self-feeder to hold a week's supply or more are available. This feeder will save labor and keep MO-FAT nuggets dry and fresh. Ask for your set today.

Dan Lewis is chairman of the Crippled Children's committee of newed interest in improving and expanding the Scout program in the camp.

Werner Schaffner, wife and son, are now living in Hardin, Illinois. He writes The News. "We had a 2-inch snow here last night. Is the sand blowing there? Ha!" Editor's not to Werner: You lived here long enough to make a pretty good guess, but we'll be looking for you back home when you get sick of that country.

Group the sewing machine with the smaller equipment for an organized sewing center that is comfortable and efficient. Good equipment properly maintained will make the home sewing job easier.

Traffic safety is the problem of every member of the community—safety not just for one's self, but for others.

A program for putting "scotch-lite" tape on all bicycles will be put on in Tahoka at an early date, with the Boy Scouts assisting in this move. Police Chief L. N. Bartley states.

Two films, "Your Permit To Drive" and "Practice Makes Perfect," furnished by General Motors, were shown by Clint Walker for the Citizens Traffic Commission.

CARD OF THANKS

Words simply do not express our feeling of thanks and gratitude for the kind words, food and flowers we received in time of our grief, in passing of our dear Mother, Mrs. Mary Robertson. Especially do we thank Mr. Jones and Mr. McGee for every kindness shown her going to the hospital and also the ladies, Mrs. Wimberly and Mrs. Oldfield. Every kindness extended has made it easier for us to bear.

Again we say thank you and God bless you every one.—Her children, Mr. and Mrs. James Wooten, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Russell, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Smith, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Robertson.

"Where do General Electric's engineers come from?" a visitor asked us. "I suppose they all got trained at MIT, or Cornell, or Michigan."

His question set us pondering, so we started plowing through the file cabinet for an answer. And, of course, it turned out as you'd imagine—NO. General Electric engineers don't always come from eastern technical schools. They won their slide rules from colleges in every state.

Maybe you'd like to hear how many of our bright engineers got their engineering education in your home state. Here's part of the list...

- 328 came from colleges in Kansas . . . 207 from Oklahoma . . . 125 Nebraska . . . 103 Montana . . . 97 South Dakota . . . 87 North Dakota . . . 47 Arkansas . . . 41 Wyoming . . . 411 came from Texas colleges . . . well, the list includes every state.

One out of every twenty employees at General Electric is an engineer or scientist. You know that a big part of our work is improving products and working out new ideas.

Right now young men from your home state are working on big and important engineering jobs at General Electric. You should be mighty proud of them because—take our word—they're doing a swell job.

Odds & Ends

you and I are among a very select few.

"And now after having walked or ridden our donkey eight days, we learn that two more days of jogging or being jogged still lie between us and those elusive master weavers. Looks like the Huichols are master hiders-out too. Meantime, let us lie on the river's sandy shore, undisturbed by man or beast, absorbing the sun's rays and the utter tranquility of this unprogressive retreat."

Beldin scoffs at those who, coming by plane or train or automobile, boast that they can "do Mexico"—whatever that means—in ten days. "To one who has been at it ten years and has only just begun to scratch the top coating, these capable creatures are indeed to be marveled at," he concludes.

I did not go as far southeast San Cristobal or as the small town of Bolanos, but my Wilson friend and I did cross the Bolanos River down between Taxco and Chilpancingo when we went down to Acapulco. I remember practically nothing about the river itself but I do distinctly remember miles and miles of mountains with almost perpendicular walls rising for hundreds of feet down in that section of Mexico. I mentioned them in this column together with the strange fact that out of the crevices in these mountain walls species of cacti grew and shot upward against the mountain walls for many feet, and it was a mystery to us as to how they had a sufficient foothold in those little crevices to hold up the luxuriant plants or sufficient soil to produce such luxuriant growths.

Also on the more sloping sides of those mountains were other species of cacti that shot upward for 50 or 75 feet as straight as telephone poles, hundreds and hundreds of them, constituting one of the most curious aspects of vegetable growth to be found anywhere, I think. In other places there were the barren walls, some of them red and some of them variegated colors. So I can understand what Beldin is talking a bout when he undertakes to describe the Bolanos River and town.

The Vagabond Columnist whom we last heard from down at the village of Bolanos—the last syllable in that name is spelled with a slurred "n" and is pronounced as if a "y" had intruded itself into the space between the "n" and the "o"—the last time we heard from Columnist Kenneth Beldin, we were saying, he was down in the village of Bolanos on the banks of the Bolanos River, but he finally made it away back over to Guadalajara, several hundred miles northwest of Mexico City, for on March 26 we find him writing his column from that city. We quote: "Just as your footsore exploring reporter arrived back in the Jalisco capital from the least accessible corner of this astounding state, wearing coats of tierra an inch thick, a party of sleek, well-groomed Americans were driving up to a swanky Guadalajara hotel. They had arrived via Laredo, Texas, and San Luis Potosi, Mexico . . . Included were some youngish fellows keeping in touch with draft boards back home . . . They had spent several leisurely days exploring those grand mountains and canyons around Monterrey and had fallen in love with Saltillo's painted desert majesty. Some had gone over to Tampico on the Gulf while others had lazed around an old hacienda where the hotel man at El Mante takes in a few guests when he feels like it."

We could tell Mr. Beldin now if we should happen to meet him that the hotel at El Mante a year ago was a booming institution and doubtless it is the same or more so now. My partner and I found it difficult to find a place there in which to stay after having driven 80 miles in the night to reach the place by bed-time.

And it was between Victoria and El Mante, where he and I, driving in the night, encountered little knots of Mexicanos—Indians they were—at every turn in the road, armed with machetes. A machete is a long-handle knife, with a long keen blade, with which a man could cut your head off as easily as he could cut off a maize head. As that was a big Mexican celebration day, we began to wonder if those Aztecs were planning a revolution but we never stopped to interview any of the brawny brown-skin boogers that looked as if they were up to something. But we'll long remember El Mante.

"A few miles south of El Mante," our Vagabond Columnist wrote back in March of 1942, "they had discovered a new unannounced highway shooting up from the tropics to San Luis Potosi and off to Guadalajara . . . Guadalajara is now a lot closer to America, at least to Texas, by car (than formerly)." Then he proceeds to give a lot of distances, which can be easily obtained now by anybody, but his comments on the topography of the country from Mexico City to Laredo are more interesting. After leaving Mexico City, he points out, the turista (tourist) climbs to an altitude of 8,500 feet at Kilometer 90—which is about mile 60, north of the city, then he drops down to Ixmiquilpan (some wonderful mountain scenery near-by) climbs up past Zimopan, where my friend and I spent a night, drops down to Jacala—in a wonderfully beautiful valley, as I remember it, then "after one more sharp ascent through the rugged Sierra Madre, it's down, down, down, past primitive picture-book Chapulhuacan to tropical Tamazunchale, which tourists pronounce like Thomas an Chale."

Sharp and rugged are the right adjectives to use with respect to the Sierra Madre Mountains. My traveling companion and I were away up in the clouds much of the time while crossing the Sierras. There were not only sharp ascents and descents but also sharp turns around rugged mountain promontories that jutted right out across your path, with a thousand or so feet of vacant space below you on first this side and then the other side of the car. It was in a dense cloud on one of these sharp turns that my companion's car skidded and butted up against the mountain wall and made our nerves tingle clear down to our toes. Yes, sharp and rugged are needed terms in describing the highway across the Sierra Madres.

And Tamazunchale is an interesting little town. We took lunch there one day, I believe. The hotel is right on the south bank of a sizable stream, the largest we crossed, I believe, in Mexico. We stopped there both on our way down and on our way back. As everywhere we went in Mexico, the kids swarmed around our car—friendly kids and likeable, but all of them wanted a hand-out of some kind. In spite of this universal characteristic, you can't help but like a Mexican kid.

Well, folks, there were a lot of other things that the Vagabond's Column made me think of, but space has run out on me, and I guess your patience has run out on you.

I want to close by saying what I intended to say at the start, that I am sure that I had never read a line of these propaganda articles that had been stuck away in that old letter file for 12 years.

In March, 1942, none of us had gotten over the shock of the Pearl Harbor disaster that had befallen us only three months previously. When these articles came to The News from Curenava, Mexico, either I or some one else in the office stuck them down in that old letter file, probably at different times as they arrived, without giving them even a passing thought. I am sure that I had never read a single one of them until a couple of weeks ago. In the first place, I had possibly never heard of Cuernavaca, or Acapulco, or Taxco, or Chilpancingo, or Zimopan, or El Mante, or Valles, or Lenares, or scarcely any other small city in Mexico. On my list I had Mexico City, of course, Vera Cruz, Tampico, Monterrey, possibly Guadalajara, and a few others like Juarez, Nueva Laredo, Matamoros, and Victoria, Chihuahua, Torreón, and San Luis Potosi; but that just about completed the list.

And now, after twelve years, with communications from or about all these places and many others in my possession technically at least but without my knowledge, I innocently dig them up out of the muck and the mud in a corner of my premises, and publish them for the information and delectation of any who cares

THE LYNN COUNTY NEWS,

They've made the 1953 BUICKS 87 ways better

World's newest V8

OUR hat's-off to the men who made the 1953 Buicks what they are—the greatest Buicks in fifty great years.

They came up with a new kind of V8 for the SUPER and the ROADMASTER — a brilliant V8 Engine with a long list of engineering "firsts."

They redesigned the F-263 Fireball 8 for record horsepower and compression in the spirited Buick SPECIAL.

They kept every inch of room in the roomiest six-passenger Sedan in America — and still shortened its turning radius considerably.

They did new wonders with the wonderful Million Dollar Ride. They stepped up visibility, comfort, handling ease, control.

And man! — what they did with getaway!

They dreamed up, designed and developed a new Twin-Turbine Dynaflow Drive* that whisks you away quick as a wink—and just as smooth, almost as silent.

In fact, no other car in the world gets away with all the combined quickness, quiet and smoothness of a Twin-Turbine Dynaflow Buick.

Plains Irrigation Meeting Jan. 29

Prospective irrigation well owners in 13 counties of the High Plains Water Conservation District have their first opportunity Thursday, Jan. 29, to get forms and expert information on the new well drilling permit requirements which become effective Feb. 1.

An important all-day meeting has been called for that date by Board President Tom McFarland of Lubbock. This meeting will convene at 9:30 a. m. in Hotel Lubbock for morning and afternoon sessions, and noon luncheon.

The man most concerned—the prospective well owner—will find himself in a gathering of county committeemen, county agents, well drillers, pump company representatives, and municipal engineers.

During the day, all the facts are promised on distribution and approval of the application forms. A three-man slate of water resources experts will be on hand to picture current water conservation problems and practices in Texas and other states.

First on the program is to be G. D. Clyde, soil conservationist of Logan, Utah. He will be followed by A. P. Rollins, member of the Texas Board of Water Engineers, and Dr. Irving P. Krick, expert meteorologist of Denver.

A fact-finding roundtable discussion is scheduled for the afternoon session. Ample time is planned to answer questions on filling out and handling applications for water well permits in the district. These permits require approval by three of the five county committeemen in each county in the High Plains District.

In announcing the meeting, McFarland underscored the importance of attendance by all interested parties. Reservations can be mailed to High Plains Water District, Room 1212, Lubbock National Bank building.

Rev. Sharp Tells Of California Trip

Rev. J. M. Sharp returned home Thursday of last week from California, where he had gone to take a car for shipment to Guam. The car belongs to his son-in-law, Lieut. Jack C. Goodman, who is stationed at Guam with the Naval Air Force Weather Squadron. Mrs. Goodman and children are living here at present, but expect to move to Guam, in the Pacific in March.

Rev. Sharp says Lieut. Goodman writes that his Weather Squadron recently escorted the then President-Elect Dwight D. Eisenhower between Japan and Guam on his Korean inspection journey.

He also writes that he flew in the recent typhoon which hit the Philippines, and for six hours the plane was flown entirely by instruments.

Rev. Sharp drove the car out over the southern route to California, west from Casa Grande, across the Arizona and California deserts. He was amazed at the transformation taking place in the desert. Waters from the Colorado are being ditched to the deserts, and when water is poured on these dry, sandy soils they become very productive. He thinks that country has a great future, if sufficient water may be derived from the Colorado.

He returned home, by train.
