A&M Poultry Husbandryman Sees Bright Prospects For Egg Producer

COLLEGE STATION — Texas egg producers should find the year ahead to their liking. This forecast come from Professor E. D. Parnell, poultry husbandry department of Texas A&M College. He backs up the forecast with a lot of reasons. First there are fewer layers on the farms to produce the eggs needed to supply the demand from the nation's increasing population. There also exists a shortage of frozen eggs as compared to past years and, too, the demand for stored shell eggs has recently been heavy.

Another very important factor, says Parnell, has been the recent decline—it's been slight—in the price of some food ingredients and a rise in egg prices resulting from heavy demands and a declining egg supply.

High egg prices in the spring, says the professor, no doubt will cause more orders to be placed for pullets and this will increase the number of layers for next fall and winter but that is six months away, he adds. In the meantime, producers who do a good job of managing their laying flocks, can be cashing in on a favorable market situation.

Parnell offers a last suggestion and that is give the laying flock the attention it deserves; check the feeding program; use proven sanitation and disease control practices; use artificial lights if needed; be sure the laying house is properly ventilated and that the flock gets plenty of clean drinking water—warm it during cold snaps. These and other management practices when followed will put extra eggs in the basket now when prices are good.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Harper Observed 50th Wedding Anniversary Here Recently

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Harper, ages 72 and 68 respectively, long-time residents of Lynn county, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary with an "open house" Sunday, Jan. 25, from 2 to 4 p.m. at their home at 1329 Sweet street in Tahoka. Actually, their anniversary was Jan. 21, but the event was held on Jan. 25 for the convenience of relatives who wished to be present.

Mr. and Mrs. Harper were married in Butler county, Kentucky, near Quality, January 21, 1903. They moved with their family to Oklahoma January 26, 1917, and resided there until October 21, 1923, when they moved to Lynn county.

Mr. Harper has farmed near Tahoka for the past 29 years, and still retains his farming interests south of Tahoka. The couple have ten children, eight of whom are living. One son, J. D., lost his life in the Service during World War II. They also have 13 grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

All the children were present for the occasion, namely: Mrs. Earl (Pauline) Stracener, O'Donnell; Mrs. T. W. (Hattie) Isbell, Wolforth; Mrs. M. L. (Paulina Mae) Kuykendall, Abilene; Travis Harper, Shallowater; Olan Ray Harper, Post; Elgin Harper, Tahoka; and Clara Harper, of the family home; and one daughter-in-law, Mrs. J. D. Harper, Anson.

Cake and punch were served to approximately eighty guests who called to help celebrate the occasion with the couple.

More Grain And Forage Crops, Less Cotton Needed in 1953, Expert Says

COLLEGE STATION — The 1953 production goals for spring-seeded crops in Texas reflect the need for more grain and forage crops and less cotton and wheat. If the goals are attained, says B. F. Vance, chairman of the State Agricultural Mobilization Committee, total agricultural production must continue at a high level and would equal or exceed last year's output.

The largest increase—92 per cent—is for grain sorghums for grain. The acreage goal is 5,150,000 acres, says Vance. The goal for all sorghums which includes those used for forage such as hay and silage and for grain has been raised 22 per cent above last year's figure to 7,385,000 acres. The corn goal has been increased to 2,500,000 acres or 9 per cent above the 1952 acreage. The goal for tame or planted hay crops has been increased by 5 per cent and stands at 1,400,000 acres.

These increases, points out Vance, are urgently needed to restore the depleted stocks of grain and roughage feeds because of the drought and reduced plantings in the state during the past two years. Unusually large quantities of hay have had to come from other states, says Vance, to help meet the demands for roughage feeds.

Texas producers of upland cotton are asked to reduce their acreage 14 per cent below the July 1 acreage of last year. The 1953 goal, according to Vance, has been set at 9,945,800 acres. It is hoped that much of this reduced acreage will be planted to grain sorghums. Producers in the state of extra long staple cotton are asked to plant no more than 14,200 acres or a reduction of 59 per cent from 1952 plantings. This type of cotton is produced in the Pecos-El Paso areas.

In commenting on the 1953 goals, Vance emphasizes that the goals program, as worked out by the State Mobilization Committee and approved by the USDA, recognizes that the demand for farm products will probably remain high because consumer income and expenditures are expected to exceed those for 1952. At the same time, he adds, exports of some of our important crops are dropping due to increased supplies of agricultural products in other countries and a shortage of dollar exchange. Cotton and wheat are two mighty important Texas crops affected by this export situation, says Vance.

In commenting further, he says, the purpose of the goals program is to give farmers information on expected demand for their products and what acreage will be needed to meet this demand. If farmers make the necessary adjustments suggested by the goals program, he continues, they will reduce the possibility of building up burdensome surpluses and depressing prices which may, in turn, necessitate acreage allotments and marketing quotas.

O'DONNELL FRA IN MARCH OF DIMES ACTIVITIES

In support of the March of Dimes, members of the O'Donnell Future Homemakers of America Chapter, wearing official badges, went on the march in their town against infantile paralysis at 7:00 p. m., Thursday, January 29. They rang doorbells, offered information and accepted contributions to the March of Dimes.

Members who participated in the march were: Shirley Gass, Nanabeth Cox, Frances Vandiver, Ann Singleton and Carolyn Pearce. They were given the official send-off by the chapter father, Choyce W. Robertson, who is the O'Donnell High School principal, and the chapter adviser, Mrs. Lelias White, who gave final instructions and pinned on the March of Dimes badges.

In addition to the door-to-door canvas, the girls also accepted pledges by telephone.

The goals are carried to the farmers through the State and County Mobilization Committees. Other 1953 goals for Texas spring-seeded crops include rice, 550,000 acres, a decrease of 1 per cent from last year; sudan for seed, 27,700 acres, an increase of 32 per cent, and sweet potatoes, 38,000 acres.

Vance urges farmers to plan their spring planting schedules in accordance with the goals program and to utilize abandoned wheat acreage—should moisture deficiencies make this necessary—for growing grain sorghums and pasture or hay crops.

State Officers Attend Local Jaycee Luncheon

Two past state officers and one present state officer of the Junior Chamber of Commerce met with the Tahoka Jaycees at the regular noon luncheon Wednesday at the Club Cafe. Twenty-two members of the local club were present.

Ralph Krebs, past state vice-president of the Jaycees and the present state extension chairman, was the principal speaker at the meeting. He presented some ideas on Jayceism. Mr. Krebs lives in Lubbock.

L. D. Whitley, also of Lubbock, past state president, spoke briefly, giving some ideas on how to make a club function and citing some specific examples.

Richard Hicks, state director of Lubbock, also spoke briefly, giving data on the state and national organizations. He offered help of these in making the Tahoka Club a success.

Olan Burrous of Plainview accompanied the official visitors. H. L. McMillan, vice president and program chairman for the day, presided in the absence of A. V. Barnes, president.

The Club has adopted several projects for the benefit of the community and some money-raising projects to support the club activities.

The Jaycees are preparing to sponsor a project to put scotch-lite tape on back bumpers of cars of all people who want the same as a safety device to help prevent accidents at night.

Next week's program will be presented by Geno Jones and Granvel Ayer. The former will talk on and demonstrate the new iron lung and respirator bought by the First Department for use of any Lynn county citizens needing the same.

The local Jaycees have been rejuvenated, and is now meeting in a weekly luncheon at 12 noon on Wednesday. The purpose of the organization is principally for community betterment.

All young men interested in this organization are cordially invited and urged to attend these meetings.

49 Fines Paid Here In Justice Court During January

Justice of the Peace A. L. Dunagan reports he collected 49 fines in his court during January for a total of $606.20.

Contrary to the belief of many people, he says, all this money goes into the county's officer salary fund, and none of it goes directly to either the arresting officers or to himself. All county officers are now on a straight salary basis.

Mr. Dunagan reports he has issued 11 birth certificates, nine death certificates, and held four inquests in January.

LIFE IN AN IRON LUNG

14% need mechanical aids 3 years or longer

Care of average patient costs MARCH OF DIMES $18 A DAY

Average patient spends 16 HOURS A DAY in an iron lung

UNDER 20 years of age majority male

OVER 20 years of age most are female

Of 260 long-term patients in respirator centers 81 freed from iron lungs 52 freed of all aids in 2 years or less.

Based on a survey by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis of patients using respiratory aids 1 month or longer.

By steadily prolonging the life expectancy of polio patients in iron lungs, March of Dimes research has intensified the problem of long-term patient care. Now the March of Dimes seeks to win release for patients condemned to these iron homes. The past two years have seen progress in this direction with many more patients being freed from "lungs."

John Inmans Move To Muleshoe Farm

John Inman and family moved last week to his irrigated farm in the corner of Lamb county, ten miles east and a mile and a half north of Muleshoe.

He bought the place two years ago. It consists of 160 acres and has a 10-inch well.

John has lived in Lynn county 30 years, and says he expects to be back in June to attend his first Lynn County Pioneer reunion.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

British Prime Minister, Winston Churchill, for the second time in a few months is a U. S. visitor. The purpose of the visit, it is said, is to talk over mutual problems with President-elect, Eisenhower.

The time has come, many feel, to clearly analyze just what this mutual problem with Britain entails. Of the half billion allocated to European aid during this fiscal year by the Mutual Security Administration, over half has been allocated to the United Kingdom.

However, information received now indicates that even Churchill and other European leaders think that the continued American dollar give away plans are getting to be ridiculous.

The new plan, now finding favor among the monopoly industries of Europe is for a much bigger giveaway... the giveaway of the American market.

In short, here is the proposed.

The Congress of the United States should reduce substantially, and in some cases, remove entirely, import tariffs.

There will be a great debate on import duties, far greater than these of many years ago.

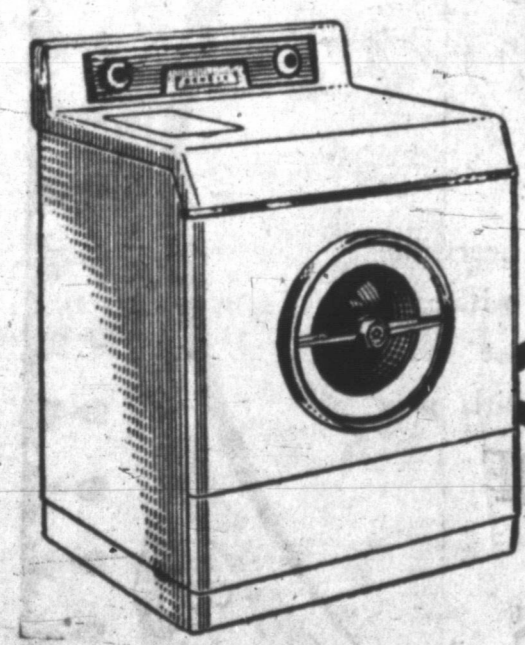

The picture is not pretty.

With the U. S. Marshall Plan, and other aids, billions in production machinery and raw material have been shipped to Europe. Most, if not all of this, went to the big European monopolies who have increased their production 40 per cent or more above prewar standards. Now, U. S. taxpayers have given Europe billions. Now they seek the carcass, hide and tallow.

Only Gas Dries Clothes Faster

...at less cost

Gas for automatic clothes drying is much faster than any other method... as much as 15 times faster than the old clothes line routine. Lightweight fabrics are ready to iron in 15 minutes, completely dry in 20 minutes. As for blankets... you can count on 4 minutes in a Gas dryer for every hour on the line. And don't forget, it costs less than one cent to dry a load of clothes with Gas. See the modern automatic Gas clothes dryers at your dealer's.

Mr. and Mrs. Garland Pennington returned late Friday night from San Francisco, California, where they attended a four-day meeting of the National REA organization.

Mr. Pennington, who is manager of the Lyntegar REA Cooperative, whose lines extend into some eight or ten South Plains counties, says that every state in the Union and also the Territory of Alaska were represented in the convention and that more than 4,600 delegates were registered. He reports that many great addresses were made containing much valuable information.

Mr. Pennington also reports that Rev. and Mrs. Sheldon Russell of Berkeley, Calif., came down to see them one day, and asked about many of their Tahoka friends. Mr. Russell was formerly educational director and assistant pastor of the First Baptist Church here. He is now attending the Golden Gate Baptist Seminary in Berkeley, a fine little city situated near San Francisco.

METHODIST WSCS HELD LUNCHEON ON MONDAY

The Woman's Society of Christian Service met Monday, Feb. 2, for the regular monthly luncheon with 21 members and two guests present.

The president presided over a short business meeting. Mrs. W. C. Huffaker, was elected as a delegate to go to the annual WSCS Conference in Amarillo beginning Feb. 17. Mrs. J. H. Sharp was elected as an alternate delegate.

The Sub-District WSCS meeting will be held Feb. 13 at Draw.

We voted to pay for two uniforms for the Negro Boy Scouts. After the business meeting, Mrs. Robert H. McCarty of Lubbock gave us a very interesting talk on the contrast between Methodist and Catholic churches. As she was a Catholic for 32 years and has been a Methodist for 14 years, she spoke through experience.

President Cheers Polio Patients

President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower stops by at St. Mary's Hospital in Rochester, Minn., to visit with David Madden, who has been in an iron lung for five years. Young Jerry Snow, 12, looking on, experienced a light case of polio during 1952's record epidemic and is now fully recovered. Madden, who is being aided by March of Dimes, was much cheered by the President's visit. This 1953 March of Dimes campaign continues for the entire month of January. Contribute generously today.

"Tom Sawyer" Will Be Presented Here At An Early Date

The plot of "Tom Sawyer," the opera to be presented by the Elementary Choir, becomes more complicated every week.

Tom Sawyer, played by Pat Polk, has his close friend, a homeless boy, Huck Finn, played by David Bray.

Huck Finn suggest that they go to the cemetery at midnight to get rid of warts. There they run into excitement in discovering Injun Joe, played by Cecil Wayne Hammonds, who is there to commit a dark deed. The position of hidden treasure is revealed and through eavesdropping the boys are enabled later to save the lives of Muff Potter (Gary McGrew) and Widow Douglas (Janice Blair).

There is so much excitement in the grave yard, even skeletons dancing, that Tom and Huck forget their dead cat and the warts. The skeletons are Carol Ann Sanders, Jo Ann Curry, Joyce Voyles and Sue Ellen Mowery. All fifty-two members of the Choir will participate in the play to be presented in the High School auditorium on Friday, February 20.

Jaycess Put Trash Cans On Streets

Two trash cans have been placed on the streets of Tahoka by the Jaycess as a public service to help keep the downtown streets clean. Painted white, they are neat in appearance and covered for protection from winds.

They were placed on opposite corners of Sweet and South First streets, where it is believed they will do the most good, as most people pass this way from the postoffice and frequently throw away mail, envelopes or circulars they do not want.

TAXES ON NATURAL RESOURCES

More funds are needed than what is in sight under existing

Texas laws for meeting the many demands that are crying for larger appropriations. Teachers, for instance, are clamoring for higher salaries to meet the increased cost of living. Thousands of miles of state highways need to be repaired or widened to accommodate the ever increasing traffic over them. Many farm-to-market roads need to be built and others repaired. Most of the colleges need more buildings and more funds for various purposes. It's a cry for more money in almost all the state government departments and agencies, and more funds are doubtless sorely needed in most cases even if all the waste and extravagance should be cut out. Tax-raising bills of many kinds have already been introduced in the legislature. We believe that most of the increase in funds should be produced by increased taxes of some kind on the natural resources of the state. These resources from an equitable standpoint really belong to the people any way, minus the cost of locating and producing them and a reasonable profit to those who do spend their time and money and use their professional knowledge and skill in their production. If the state government could produce and process these natural resources with the same degree of proficiency and economy that private enterprise can do it, then there might be some reason for the government to take over that function. But common sense teaches us that this can not be done. Therefore the government is justified in permitting private enterprise to take all the risks and to do the job. However after allowing private enterprise to take a fair or at least a liberal profit on its investment, and expenditures, then the rest of the profit should be used for the benefit of the people of Texas, within whose boundaries these resources are found and produced. An additional tax on natural resources, it seems to us, would be the fairest and most practical way of raising the needed additional funds.

A bill has been introduced in the Legislature to prevent cross filing of candidates. This means that if the name of an individual is filed as a candidate for a given office on one party ticket, then it can not be filed as a candidate for the same office on any other party ticket. We think such a law would be unjust, unwise, and even undemocratic. It is possible that a man might be so capable and so qualified by training, experience, and native ability that a majority of the people of all the leading parties would favor him for a given office. We do not think that the people of any party should be deprived of the privilege of voting for him without having to bolt their party ticket to do so. We believe that it would be an unjustified curtailment of the rights of the voters. The bill was probably prompted by the fact that the names of our governor and our attorney-general were placed on both the Democratic and the Republican party tickets last November. Shivers for reelection to the office of governor and Price Daniel as a candidate for the United States Senate. The author of the bill probably just has a little peeve that he is attempting to satisfy. The bill should be squelched.

Somebody has introduced a bill in the legislature to prohibit the State Parks Board from building hotels, motels, or lodges in state parks. The bill seems to have been prompted by the fact that the Parks Board is said to be contemplating the building of a million-dollar hotel on Inks Lake on the Colorado River near Burnet. The legislature, we suppose, would be asked to furnish the funds. If so the bill should be promptly passed; for if this project should be authorized, then there would probably follow demands for expensive buildings in many other parks. The State should not go into the hotel business in any case, and surely not on a big scale in competition with private enterprise.

That initial address made by President Eisenhower before a joint session of the two houses of Congress Monday sounded to us like the deliverance of a real statesman. We are sure that the new President had consulted many of the leaders in Congress, including some Democrats, and some of his advisers doubtless had part in shaping the content of the message, yet we think that most people will admit that it was a well-prepared and well-delivered message. It seemed to meet with the hearty approval of the hearers, and we are sure that the policies he proposed will inspire new hope and unfeigned enthusiasm in the hearts of the American people.

Odds and Ends

(BY E. I. THE ELDER)

This column last week, in which I undertook to tell something about old Tascosa and the Boys' Ranch, which stands on its site, was so poorly done that I feel like apologizing to my readers and also to Cal Farley, who founded the Ranch, for the bum job.

My inspection of the Ranch was made hurriedly, my opportunity to talk with people who resided at Tascosa or even in Amarillo during pioneer days was exactly nought, and furthermore my mind was so distraught on account of the serious illness of some of my loved ones and on account of other matters of great concern to me, that I wrote without being perfectly sure of the facts in some instances. What I finally turned in to the printer was what I would call a "mess."

I may not do a whit better this week, but any way I feel more at ease.

Cal Farley has done a monumental work in building that wonderful boy-saving institution right on the smoking ruins of the fires of hell itself. The Cal Farley's Boys' Ranch is the first of its kind ever established in America. And Old Tascosa in its wildest days, the 1870's and the 1880's, was doubtless the hottest hot-bed of crime for a spot its size to be found anywhere in all the Wild West. And Billy the Kid was perhaps the most daring, most flashy, and most sensational "bad man" that ever pulled a trigger in Texas and New Mexico.

was born, he might have grown up to be a city thug, a leader of crime like the more modern Al Capone of Chicago, or he might have grown up under circumstances and influences that would have made an honorable citizen of him. Any way it was while he was yet a small lad that his folks came out to Kansas.

Kansas was then a hot-bed of political turmoil and strife. Radicals from both the "free" states and the "slave" states flocked into the Territory during the 1850's and the 1860's, and Kansas was admitted into the Union as a state in January, 1861. It was during that decade of political strife that the Brooklyn lad was brought out to Kansas. The great influx of population during this period made Kansas not only a "free" state but also a "cow-boy" state. Cattle from Texas and New Mexico ranches were driven to Dodge City and other Kansas points, but many were also driven on through Kansas to Kansas City, Missouri. Countless thousands of cattle went from eastern New Mexico and western Texas to Kansas every year. So, while Billy was still a "kid" the Bonney family drifted on down from Kansas to Lincoln county, New Mexico, a land of desperadoes and cow thieves. Mobeetie, northeast of Amarillo-to-be, and Tascosa northwest of it were the outstanding cow-towns of all North-west Texas. Oldham county had nine other counties, including Potter county, attached to it for judicial purposes. Tascosa came to be called the Cowboy capital of the northwest, and it naturally became the leading town in all this territory of ten counties.

"Billy the Kid" had already killed one man before he gravitated over to Tascosa, and there he soon became the leader of all the gang. His natural brilliance, daring, and resourcefulness made him the leader also in all of Lincoln county, comprising one-fifth of the state of New Mexico, as well as the gang leader in the Pie Tascosa area. But he was not killed in Tascosa and his body was not buried there but he was killed by Sheriff Pat Garrett at Fort Sumner, New Mexico, and his body was buried there. I have passed through the present town of Fort Sumner twice and saw the markers there directing the way down to the old Fort where Billy the Kid was killed. The next time I pass that way I think I shall take time out to go down and see the old Fort and the burial place of this noted killer, even though I have never had any use for his kind in all my life.

A few years ago, John McCarty of Amarillo, a newspaper man and a leading citizen of the Panhandle, wrote the Story of Old Tascosa. The volume received and deserved much praise from scholars, literary lights, and just common folks from the North and the East as well as from the West and the South, for in writing, the Story of Old Tascosa, Mr. McCarty necessarily wrote the story of a large section of the entire Southwest. And it was truth, not fiction, that he wrote. He neither glorified the criminal characters who abounded in that section of the country during its "Wild West" days nor did he even condone their criminal acts. Those books are still being sold in the office of the Boys' Ranch, but let nobody think for a moment that the boys of the Ranch are contaminated by reading John McCarty's book. Unlike the stories of most criminal characters, it is not degrading but is elevating. I bought a copy of it but up to now have had time to read just enough of it to find out its general character. I am going to read it studiously as soon as I find time to do so, I want to learn more about the history of my own state but especially of some of our neighboring states. I have already been impressed indelibly with the fact that there is a much closer historical connection and relationship between New Mexico and Northwest Texas on the one hand, and Kansas, Missouri, and other central western states on the other.

Evetts Haley, now a member of the Texas Technological College faculty, who has written a number of valuable and sometimes thrilling books respecting Texas and some of her outstanding citizens of the past, has also told us much about old Tascosa; and Miss Laura V. Hamner of Amarillo has written numerous newspaper stories of Panhandle pioneers, and she too has sometimes touched on Old Tascosa; and we are proud that the literary productions of all these three writers have been above par in moral tone and in their educational and inspirational values.

Now, all this leads me to say this other word: I believe John McCarty's Story of Old Tascosa, and books of comparable character by other Texas authors, such as several of the books written by Evetts Haley, notably the lives of Col. Charles Goodnight and of Major Geo. W. Littlefield, his story of the Comanche Indians, his most recent book, "Concho"; Roy Bedichehek's Karankaway Country; and numerous other books by Texas authors, should be placed in the libraries of every Texas college and every Texas high school. Of course every book written in shoddy English should be barred. All Texas books of real literary merit or of outstanding educational value should be made available to high school and college boys and girls of Texas through the libraries of these institutions. County and local public libraries could help by using such books as these instead of some of the fiction, popular for a day or possibly a year, that find places on their shelves. Now these suggestions may not be worth a continental and may not be appreciated by the readers of this column, but I think that it is time for Texas schools and colleges to be making Texas boys and girls acquainted with the literature and the history of their own state.

I don't know the remedy for this hurtful practice but I see little boys and girls hunkered down (somebody give me a good English word for this, please) over a cheap, sorry book—a silly book, a detective book, a sexy book possibly—mentally devouring its contents like a hungry wolf would devour physically a molly cottontail. I don't think it is wholesome literature. Bad literature, bad pictures, bad examples, and bad associates make criminals out of many boys. I don't know what factors went into the making of that soldier fiend who admitted last week that he had strangled to death and buried that fine young Lubbock high school girl recently—the conduct of some persons is entirely beyond our comprehension—but it is a safe bet that there was a malign influence that warped and twisted his morals, his sense of right and wrong, at some period in his youthful career. Nobody can defend that youth, unless they think him insane; nobody can condone his diabolical act. Yet he was just a shade worse than other arch criminals. Billy the Kid could shoot down an innocent man as coolly as he could shoot down a New Mexico shoot.

I have known people who glorified Jesse James and his gang.

I have known men who made heroes out of the Dalton brothers.

I have known men who had no special aversion for John Wesley Hardin or Sam Bass.

I never did sing the praises of any of them; although it did fall to my lot once down at Roscoe to introduce to a public audience an ex-criminal, Cole Younger, who had been a member of the Jesse James gang of killers and train robbers. Cole Younger had served a term in prison, was aging, and was making lectures when he came to Roscoe telling of his life and warning the youth against a career of crime. Frank James and Bob Ford were two other members of the gang. It was Bob Ford, I believe, who finally killed his confederate in crime, Jesse James. Frank James, a brother of Jesse, eventually tired of his criminal career and for years he was employed as a clerk in a Dallas business house. Who else was in that James gang? Somebody tell me, I have forgotten.

But I never did have much admiration for any of them, not even after they reformed. They all lived ruined lives. I don't believe any crook is ever really happy. I know that no professional crook is useful. I have never been able to understand why any sensible man will deliberately choose a crime career. (Cont'd. On Back Page, Sec. 2).

Local Student Tells Of Rapid Growth At U. of Houston

Richard Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Moore, was home this week from Houston University, where he is a Sophomore Journalism student. He was called home to take his physical examination at Lubbock Tuesday for military service.

Moore, a graduate of Tahoka High, is working his way through the University as assistant manager of the dormitories of the University. He says the school has 800 students in the five dorms.

Many people in this section do not realize the tremendous growth that the University of Houston has undergone. Richard says the University was established 17 years ago, and is now an independent institution supported by tuition and contributions. A few years ago, its enrollment began to jump, and today it has 14,000 students, about the same number or a little more than the University of Texas.

One man, H. R. Cullen, the wealthy Houston oil man and philanthropist, has donated a total of 150 million dollars to the institution. Most of this has gone into endowment funds, but in 1950 he built a five million dollar administration building.

Athletically, the school has also advanced rapidly. It is a member of the Missouri Valley Conference, and won the football title last fall.

Richard Moore is publicity director for the Frontier Fiesta which will be held at the University April 20-25. He says the school has built Fiesta City on 10 acres of the campus. This unit is a recreation of a frontier Texas town, complete in every detail, and the Fiesta deals with early Texas life.

Another Tahoka youth is also a student in the University of Houston. He is Lewis Cowan, son of Mrs. Eual (Lois) Smelser. Lewis is also working his way through college, his job being with the Pan-American Production company, and Richard says Lewis is doing well.

on the state highway commission. As a youth over at McAdoo, Formby was first elected to public office in Dickens county, serving as county judge. Later he was elected to the state senate from the old 30th state senatorial district, which comprised Lynn and nearly 30 other counties. Then he entered the newspaper field in Plainview, which profession he followed for the next few years and then finally got into the radio business, with his station located at Hereford. He holds a Master of Arts degree in Journalism from the University of Texas and a law degree from Baylor University. He is a most genial gentleman on top of all that and we are glad to see him elevated to a place on the state highway commission. May he serve long and well.

We are closing this week with a quotation from Matthew: "No man can serve two masters; for either he will hate the one and love the other; or else he will hold to the one and despise the other. Ye can not serve God and mammon."

Increased Enrollments, Teacher Shortage Present Problems To Schools of Texas

Austin—A tidal wave of school-age boys and girls resulting from the booming birthrate of World War II and since is sweeping through Texas' public schools. Administrators of Texas, state-supported colleges and universities are studying with growing concern the problems they will have to face when the full force of this wave strikes their institutions.

Having just recovered from the effects of the veteran enrollment boom which followed the war, the colleges are aware of the problem's sudden boosts in enrollment will cause:

A study recently completed by the Council of College Presidents of State-Supported Colleges and Universities indicates that the enrollment "bulge" now sweeping through Texas public schools has entered the junior high schools and will strike the colleges full force about 1960. By 1962, the number of white boys and girls graduating from Texas high schools should reach 56,229 as compared with the 39,091 who graduated in 1952. These estimates are based on a projection of the Texas scholastic population by the Research Division of the Texas State Teachers Association, using the Texas birthrate records and present scholastic population as a base.

If the same percentage of our times into college in 1962 it has Texas high school graduates, compared in recent years, there will be 35,000 boys and girls knocking on the doors of the state's colleges in September, 1962. Compared with the 27,132 who enrolled this year as freshmen, this is an increase of approximately 30 percent. Since the increase in beginning students will build up gradually to this peak, the total enrollments by 1962 will have increased by an even greater percentage.

This estimate of increasing enrollments takes no consideration of two other important factors that may make the enrollment boom even more spectacular.

On the basis of the low number of high school graduates in 1952, the number of entering freshmen in Texas colleges should have dropped. Instead, it increased, indicating that a much higher percentage of the total high school graduating group continued to college. This is a national trend which has been marked in recent years and is expected to continue.

In addition, the 1952 increase in enrollments came at a time when the veteran load from World War II had been practically exhausted and the influx of Korean veterans had barely started.

ed. Indications are the Korean veterans alone will swell the college enrollments in Texas by some 18,000 within the next two years.

Coming up this year . . . 50th Birthday

Southwestern Life's

TWO fiftieth birthdays, as a matter of fact. The first historic day will arrive in March. It was on March 10, 1903, that the State of Texas issued a business charter to the Company.

The second milestone will be reached on July 4, 1953. On Independence Day in 1903, this Company issued its first life insurance policy. That policy was purchased by a Texan, naturally.

Southwestern Life has been doing business with Texans, growing with Texas, ever since. Today, more than a quarter million Texans are providing a measure of future financial security for themselves and their families through their investment in Southwestern Life Insurance.

In a half century Southwestern Life has become what the people of Texas have chosen to make it. Their faith and support have caused it to become the largest life insurance company in the Nation which does business only in its home state. And, in the year ended December 31, 1952, Texans purchased more Southwestern Life insurance than in any previous year.

For records such as these we give grateful thanks to the policyowners who made them possible.

In the years ahead Southwestern Life, believing in the modern private enterprise concept of profit through service, fully expects its business progress closely to parallel the development of growing, expanding Texas.
