Complete Work On Scout Hall

Tahoka Boy Scouts are making plans for an "open house" in their new Scout building on Monday night, April 12, according to A. V. Barnes, Scoutmaster.

Everyone in the area interested in Scouting is invited to attend the Scout meeting on that night, view the new commodious quarters and displays of Scout work. Coffee and lemonade and doughnuts will be served.

Boy Scouts will move their equipment this Saturday from the WOW hall to their new quarters in the rebuilt and modernized building, formerly the Tahoka City Hall.

When the City erected its new Municipal Building, the old structure was donated to the Scouts. Tahoka Rotary Club, sponsor of the building job on the structure for use of the Scouts, and also is providing one room in the building for the Lynn County Library now located in the courthouse.

About $1,500 was raised by the Club for the rebuilding job, which is almost complete.

The building has been repaired and remodeled and a new roof put on. The exterior has been modernized to conform with the near-by new Municipal building.

Light cream stucco dash was applied, the front remodeled, and red brick trim added to the front.

The old fire station has been remodeled into a Scout meeting room, and the old fireman living quarters will also be remodeled some time in the future for Scout purposes.

The old City office room will be used by the Library.

Mr. Barnes says at next Monday night's Boy Scout meeting, steps will be taken for bringing the Order of the Arrow into the local Boy Scout movement.

This is an exclusive Scout club for advanced Scouts, and membership is by invitation only.

Dog Owners Must Get Tags

An advertisement on the classified page of this issue erroneously states that a veterinary will be at Tahoka Municipal building Saturday afternoon to vaccinate dogs so that license tags may be issued for such pets.

The veterinary has notified the City that he can not be here until Monday, April 5, at 2:30 p. m. to vaccinate dogs.

The News has been informed by City authorities that the deadline for vaccination and securing of license tags is being extended until Monday, but that after this date officers are ordered to impound all dogs not bearing license tags.

The dog license order is being enforced as a protection to little children and others of the town against possible infection from rabies and to cut down on the number of stray dogs.

Joe Spikes, Lamesa, one of the men who will be honored at the Scouter banquet in that city next Thursday night, has been in Boy Scout work 25 years.

City Election Is Next Tuesday

Three aldermen are to be elected in the Tahoka City election next Tuesday at the City Hall.

The names of Albert Curry, Winston C. Wharton, Everton Nevill, and George Nixon have been filed for the three places. Curry and Wharton are present members of the Council.

Polis will be open from 8 a. m. to 7 p. m. Maurice Small is the election judge, and Mrs. H. B. Howell and Mrs. John Fulford are his assistants.

Baptist Revival Now In Progress

Good interest is reported in the revival meeting which began at the First Baptist Church here on Sunday.

The preaching is being done by Rev. Clifford Harris, the new pastor of the church, and song services are being led by Sam Reddell of Colorado City.

Services are at 10 a. m. and 7 p. m. week days.

Benefit Party Is Set For Tonight

A large crowd is expected at the bridge and "42" party at the Legion Hall which is being sponsored by the Legion Auxiliary. Play begins at 8:00 tonight, and admission is $1.00 a person. Proceeds go to the Child Welfare Fund.

A door prize will be given, and prizes will also be awarded the winners of each division. Cokes and sandwiches will be available.

Methodist Revival Opening April 11

Plans are complete for the one-week revival at the First Methodist Church which will start Sunday, April 11, and end the following Sunday, April 18, according to Rev. Jim Sharp, pastor.

Rev. J. B. (Bill) Thompson Methodist pastor at Haskell and a former pastor of the Wilson Methodist Church, will do the preaching.

Song services will be directed by Rev. Raymond Dyess, pastor at Harrah Methodist Church, Pampa.

Three services will be held during week days. There will be a breakfast meeting each morning in Fellowship Hall of the church. Each afternoon at 3 o'clock and each evening at 7:30 o'clock evangelistic services will be held for everyone.

Man Is Killed In Auto Accident

A Newmoore farmer was killed and a Lubbock woman and her daughter injured in a car wreck two and one-half miles west of O'Donnell on FM 213 Monday afternoon at about 2 o'clock.

Lee Roy (Bud) Waddell, 59, a bachelor who farmed at Newmoore, died instantly. His body was thrown about 100 feet from the wrecked car.

Mrs. Ruth Ellis, a widow living in the Acuff community of Lubbock county, driver of the car, and a little daughter, Sherry, 7, received several lacerations and head injuries and suffered shock. Another daughter, Sally, age 5, was uninjured. The three were taken to a Lamesa hospital for attention.

Speculation was that the car either got out of control by a blowout or by running off the pavement, overturned, and slammed into a utility pole.

Mr. Waddell had been to Lubbock. Mrs. Ellis, a friend of the family, The News is informed, was bringing Mr. Waddell home to Newmoore when the accident occurred.

Waddell had been a resident of the county since 1928, except for about two years, 1937 to 1939, when he lived in Fort Worth, coming here from Ellis county.

His body was brought to Tahoka by Stanley Jones ambulance, and on Tuesday was taken to Fort Worth for funeral services.

Survivors include four sisters, Mrs. W. N. Swearingen and Miss Josephine Waddell of Pampa, Mrs. Irene Whitaker and Mrs. Harvey Witherspoon of Midlothian; and three brothers, Ralph, J. R. and R. W. Waddell, all of Fort Worth.

Board of Review For Karl Prohl

A board of review was conducted here last week by C. W. Tarter, superintendent of Lamesa schools, for Karl Prohl, Tahoka Boy Scout candidate for the Eagle award. Those attending said the meeting was one of the finest of its kind ever held here.

The Eagle rating is about the highest a youth can attain in Boy Scout work.

Special guests at the meeting were Dr. and Mrs. E. Prohl and Martha Prohl, parents and sister, respectively, of Karl.

Others present were: A. M. Bray, H. W. Carter, Harold Greeh, Wynne Collier, E. B. Gaither, Tom Gill, Caloway Huffaker, and Truett Smith.

Mitchell Williams was announced as the new president of the Tahoka Chamber of Commerce at the body's annual banquet last Friday night in the school cafeteria. He succeeds Fred McGinty.

New directors elected at the meeting are: Guy Wheatley, Johnny Reasonover, Herman Heck and Joe Marshall. They succeed Ross Smith, H. B. McCord, Jr., Herman Renfro, and Clint Walker.

Holdover directors are: McGinty, Williams, Otis Spears, Alton Cain, Geno Jones, and Frank Hill.

The banquet was attended by 125 people, who heard an enjoyable program and partook of a steak dinner.

J. Lee Johnson III of Fort Worth, prominent civic leader and head of the Ciero Smith Lumber company, gave the principal address.

His talk was a masterful one in which he called for all good Americans to take another close look at the Declaration of Independence. Christianity and the principles set forth in the Declaration and our Constitution are one and the same, he said, but some times we get all mixed up in the interpretation of these documents.

The speaker, who was accompanied by his wife, the daughter of Amon G. Carter of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, was introduced by Clint Walker.

Fred McGinty, out-going president, presided at the meeting. The invocation was by V. F. Jones.

Marvin Crawford, Lamesa high school student, almost stole the show with several record-player numbers. His performance to "I think They Call It Football," brought the biggest round of applause.

Russell McGee, secretary, presented a brief financial report. Among the guests present from out of town were: Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Goad, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Owens, all of Lubbock; James Harley Dallas and Grady Elder, Brownfield; Bob Saunders, Frank Robinson, and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Vaughn, Lamesa. Guests were introduced by Otis Spears.

Rural Telephone Service Started In Lamesa Area; O'Donnell Is Next

Rural telephone service for nearly 300 Dawson county members of Poka-Lambro Rural Telephone Cooperative was switched on late last week, according to W. D. Harmon, manager of the general office here.

The stations and areas being served in Dawson county include the Pumpkin Center, Patricia, and Hatch exchange areas.

Connections are made through the Lamesa exchange of General Telephone Company on a toll basis pending agreement on terms for extended area service with that company.

Mr. Harmon says this gives the Poka-Lambro a total of 662 members now receiving rural telephone service.

Rural telephone exchange areas yet to receive service are the East and West O'Donnell areas. The cooperative has hopes of extending rural telephone service to the western part of its proposed area, consisting principally of Terry county some time in the future.

Quota Reached In Red Cross Drive

Lynn county has reached its quota of $2,700.00 in the annual Red Cross drive, Ross Smith, treasurer of the Lynn county chapter, announced Thursday morning.

For a time it was feared Lynn county might not reach its quota this year, but late contributors have brought the total up to par.

Growers Can Get Measurement

Lynn County cotton growers can arrange for official measurements of their 1954 farm cotton acreage allotments prior to planting time, the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee announced this week.

To get the premeasurement service, which is being provided on a cost basis, a cotton farmer must file written request with the county ASC office prior to April 21, 1954, says Mr. S. L. Walters, committee chairman. The rate to be charged for the service in Lynn County has been established at $5.00 per farm plus $2.00 for each plot in excess of one, and payment based on this rate must be made at the time the request for measurement is filed.

"The premeasurement is purely optional," says Mr. Walters, "and is offered as a service to growers who prefer to have an official measurement to use as a planting guide."

The chairman explains that all cotton acreage in the county will be measured as soon as possible after the cotton "comes up" to determine compliance with the acreage allotment-marketing quota program. When compliance is checked, the farm will be considered to be within the farm acreage allotment if the crop is planted within the premeasured areas.

FHA Girls Give Rotary Program

Tahoka High Homemaking department presented an annual program at the Rotary Club Thursday of last week.

Six girls and three Rotarians, with Jane Shepherd as moderator, held an unrehearsed panel discussion on "What Constitutes a Successful Family."

Girls participating included Miss Shepherd, Lydia Perez, Jo Ann Fenton Othelda Freeman, Janet Dube, and Carolyn Duckett. The Rotarians were Geno Jones, A. M. Bray and Wynne Collier.

Many interesting topics and problems were discussed which indicated the local school girls are gaining some valuable knowledge and standards for better family living in the future.

In introducing the girls, Mrs. Madeline Hegi, their teacher, said the group represented, among other things, a varied background of religious affiliation—Catholic, Lutheran, Methodist, Baptist, and Church of Christ.

Herman Heck and Otis Spears arranged the program. President Winston Wharton announced the club had three 100 percent attendance meetings this year, and in February its 98.60 percent record was good enough to get in the "high ten" of the Rotary district.

Farmers Propose Natural Resource Tax Increase

Opposition to Governor Shiver's plan for raising revenue for a teacher's pay raise was voiced in a letter sent by the Lynn County Farm Bureau to Senator Kilmen Corbin and Representative Carrol Cobb, according to Guy Smith, president of the county farm organization.

The farm organization recognizes the serious shortage of teachers in Texas, and at its last annual state convention recommended that legislation be enacted to provide necessary funds to attract and hold more qualified teachers.

The Farm Bureau opposes the Governor's special committee's compromise plan which would allow the Legislature to increase ad-valorem taxes on land and property with the people in the local school district having no voice in the matter.

The Farm Bureau favors a tax on natural resources if additional state funds are needed for any purpose.

Natural gas, for example pays less than 2 percent of its retail value in taxes Gasoline, on the other hand, is taxed at approximately 30 percent of its retail value. Farm Bureau feels that the people of Texas should derive some benefits from the state's resources. A little more than half of the natural gas produced in Texas leaves the state with a very small tax on it. Some other states derive more tax revenue from Texas natural gas than does Texas.

Odds AND Ends

(BY E. L. THE ELDER)

During my puerile and irregular studies of the Bible and of history and of the world about us in these latter years, I have run across so many things that were astounding—tragic, thrilling, heroic, informative, Heavenly beautiful and joy-provoking—that I have been amazed at my own neglect and the neglect of really educated people to store them up in the vaults of the mind and memory so as to be able to bring them forth and use them at any opportune time for the edification of others.

In other words, I am wondering why I and many others have remained so ignorant in the face of so many opportunities to learn something.

I feel that most of us have been playing just around the edges of the great ocean of knowledge that God has made available to us. He provides for us daily huge mountains of spiritual food and we just nibble at the chaff which adverse winds blow away.

Thousands of books are published every year and hundreds of magazines every month which are filled chiefly with trash, some of them immoral and vicious, and yet our people are crowding our book stores and news stands to read them—men, women, boys and girls. No wonder that our nation is becoming a godless nation.

Now do not mistake me, I know that many good books are being printed and many excellent magazines are being published every month; and these constitute a part of the spiritual and mental food that the God of this Universe is making available to us, and we commend the reading and study of them to the public.

Now right here, I have one crow to pick. I believe in education. I believe in the reading of good books and magazines. I believe in the building and maintenance of colleges and universities. I believe that as many of our young people as possible should attend college. Of course I would not want them to attend any college or university that teaches atheism of communism or that fosters immorality. But I do believe that the more education that our young people can get in the right kind of environment and atmosphere the better it will be for them and for our country. Therefore, it makes me sick to hear a preacher in the pulpit or elsewhere decry education. Not many of them do it any more, thank the Lord; but occasionally you will hear one decrying education, just plain education, without any reservations, explanations, or strings of any kind tied to it. I think that is both foolish and sinful. There are two kinds of preachers I love to hear. One is the kind that is both learned and eloquent. The other is the kind that is learned, whether he is eloquent or not. And I will add a third: the preacher who, though not learned, is studious and thoughtful and is seriously seeking to increase his fund of knowledge. You will find no Bible burners in either of these classes. Of course there are other vital qualifications that must be a prerequisite to all others. The man must be possessed of love, faith, and hope, before he is fit to stand before any congregation as a minister of the gospel.

Now I hear some preacher talking back. I think I hear him say, "Physician, heal thyself." Mr. Editor, take the medicine you are prescribing for others. Well, doubtless, this retort is very fitting. I have already confessed to my lack of knowledge and my amazement at my own ignorance considering the opportunities I have had to learn something. But I am reading and studying and observing things about me each week in an effort to make this Column both readable and instructive. Nobody has ever heard me offer jibes at education or make light of the need for it.

Now, I know that many people are so busy trying to keep the big bad wolf from the back door that they do not find much time to sit down and study either the Bible or history. Many boys and girls have not had the time or the means to enter college. Many others just neglected the opportunity to enter college when they were younger. Most of all these people do not now have the opportunity to gain an education. So, aside from what they read in the newspapers and magazines, or hear over the radio, or see and hear by means of the television, or learn at the picture show, much of which is non-educational and misleading and downright demoralizing, they must depend on leaders or experts in the various professions and occupations for the right information needed. Religiously, every person in this country has the privilege and the duty of reading and studying the Bible for himself but must depend on Ministers and Sunday School teachers mostly for their religious education. So, that fact imposes an additional responsibility on the preacher, whether he be a pastor, missionary, or evangelist. The preacher needs to have a great fund of Bible knowledge, together with much general knowledge. To have accurate Bible knowledge, he must have much knowledge of Biblical background as well as religious conditions that existed at the time of the writing of the various Books of the Bible, which extended over a period of about 1,600 years and involved the long and varied story of the Jewish race and also of many pagan peoples. A Bible student may study the Bible and related subjects in Colleges and Seminaries, for many years, and then find that there is much more to be learned. We have the most highly educated Ministry today that we have ever had, for most of them have realized the importance of education. All honor to them, and may their tribe increase.

Any fairly intelligent and studious layman, however, can make a pretty good job of interpreting the Bible if he will use good common sense. Some folks take so much pride in asserting that they believe the Bible word for word and letter for letter from kiver to kiver just as it was written, usually referring to the King James version, and those who say that do not know what they are talking about. The Bible was written in Hebrew and Greek and the King James version was translated into English nearly 1,600 years after the last book in the Bible was written. Christ never spoke a word of English in his life. Neither did the author of any of the 66 books in the Bible. There was no English language until more than 500 years after Christ was crucified. Furthermore, there were no English people. Several Germanic tribes, such as the Angles, the Saxons, the Jutes, and possibly a few others, who had been pagans or idol-worshippers in the forests of northern Europe, eventually took to the sea and became fierce warriors and sea-robbers, began to invade the land of the Britons, now called England, and the race of people formed by the merging of these tribes began to be called Englishmen for the dominant tribe, or Anglo-Saxons later for the two principal tribes. The language that they developed came to be known as the English language, but even after several centuries had passed it was so crude and unlike the present-day English that you could hardly read a line of it today if you were called upon to do so—the English language that was being formulated a thousand years after Christ. The King James translation of the Bible into English was made by scholarly members of the Church of England or Episcopalian Church in 1611 A. D. They were highly educated men, Brother, but there was not a Baptist or a Methodist, or a Presbyterian, and shall I say not a "Disciple" and not a "Christian" among them. They did a good job for their day, but the English language has been undergoing changes ever since that translation was made. When the Revised Standard Version was completed a couple of years ago a lot of Baptist, a few Methodist, and some members of other denominations went up in the air and talked long and loud against this translation made by leading scholars of some thirty denominations, talked about burning it, and actually did make bonfires out of it in a few places. Shame on them. We need to use just plain common sense.

Now there is just one other thing that I want to say to the layman who does read and undertake to interpret the Bible for himself. It is not the letter but the spirit that God is most concerned about when any of his children or others read and undertake to understand the Book which He has given them. Exactly the same idea oftentimes may be expressed in different words. The layman should always seek to find the divine truth which the Scripture under study sets forth. Sometimes he can best do this by studying more than one of the Versions. But, if only one Version is available to him, he should seek to find the real lesson or the main lesson intended to be taught. I have noticed that some people will read a Scripture and find perhaps a dozen little relevantly unimportant lessons to be gotten from it and overlooked entirely a far more important truth standing out before him like some great Pike's Peak of Rock of Gibraltar. Again I say that a student of the Bible should use just plain common sense in interpreting what he reads.

Now, As Aurora Gutierrez is approaching the end of her series of articles on Veracruz, she gives a lot of statistics respecting that portion or state of Mexico this week, which you should clip and store away if you have any prospects of visiting that country either soon or in the distant future.

Senorita-Aurora starts her article thus:

—Coyutla—Papantla—El Tajin Those who love the fragrance of vanilla and like long trips on horseback should drive or take buses to Villa Juarez in Puebla state and drop into the hot country along the silver rim of the Necaxa River. This is a strenuous trip. If possible, try to arrive in Coyutla or Papantla on Thursday of Corpus (Corpus Christi Day) for on this day the spectacular pagan dance (dance) de los voladores is performed. The ancient Totonacan "City of the Dead" at El Tajin near Papantla is fascinating. Here is a famous pyramid with many niches, in each of which an idol was placed. The Totonacs' knowledge of astronomy is said to be demonstrated by the presence of exactly 365 of these niches, and certainly this remarkable pyramid is evidence of great architectural genius. It is possible also to visit Papantla by way of Tampico, Tuxpan and Poza Rica.

Fishing—The principal fishing region of Veracruz may be reached from Alvarado, from where one may go out to sea for salt water fishing, or up the rivers for fresh water varieties of fish, especially bass. Fishing license required.

Climate—Average temperatures in the state of Veracruz do not vary more than ten points, Centigrade, in the year. (or about 31 degrees Fahr.) The coldest month is March, the warmest month is May. One may expect the pleasant, soft, drizzling rain of the mountainous tropics almost any time now. Yearly average temperatures run from 68 degrees Fahr. at some places and up to 77 degrees Fahr. at other places in the tropics.

Veracruz is a rich coastal empire. Although the census of 1940 sets the Veracruz state population at only 1,614,579, the production figures for the state are staggering: 17,617,285 barrels of petroleum were produced in 1940 in this state, mostly in oil fields recently acquired and now operated by the Central Government of Mexico.

Sugar cane products are calculated at more than 12,000,000 pesos per year—about $1,392,065.00 in U. S. money; and the yearly corn crop is valued at 11,000,000 pesos or $1,276,102.08 in U. S. money. The yearly coffee crop is valued at over 9,000,000 pesos, or $1,044,083.52 in U. S. money. Annual Vanilla exports bring in over 4,000,000 pesos, the equivalent of $464,037.12 in U. S. money and the annual bean crop is set at 3,000,000 pesos; the tobacco yield at nearly 2,000,000 pesos; chilis at around 1,000,000. Other products are valued in about the following order: tomatoes, rice,

Precautions Should Be Taken During Season When Tornadoes Possible

The weather has been tossing around some warning signals lately—signals which mean that the annual tornado season is upon us. That warning comes from W. M. Mathis local civil defense and disaster relief chairman.

Mr. Mathis points out that Texas has more natural disaster, both major and minor, than any other part of the nation. What's more, he added, there is no reason to believe that 1954 will be any different from 1953 or any other year.

A number of Texans were able to save their lives last year—particularly in Waco and San Angelo, the Texas cities hardest hit by tornadoes—because they knew what to do when confronted by nature gone berserk.

Mr. Mathis also pointed out that if the following rules are followed under various conditions, one's chance for survival under tornado conditions increase enormously:

1. The best universal protection is a cave or underground excavation. When time permits, go to a tornado cellar, cave or underground excavation with an air outlet. Any of these should be kept fit for use, meaning free from water, gas or debris, and preferably equipped with pick and shovel.

2. If in open country, move at right angles to the tornado's path. Tornadoes usually move ahead at about 25 to 40 miles per hour.

3. If in a city or town, seek inside shelter. Stay away from windows. In homes, the south west corner of the lowest floor or the basement offers the greatest safety. People living in brick or stone houses should seek other shelter, preferably in a storm cellar or the basement of a frame house. Electricity and

Uncle Billie And Texas Newspaper Women

REMEMBER WHEN?—80-year-old W. W. (Uncle Billie) Aiken, publisher of the Crockett Courier for the past 56 years, can remember Texas Press Association conventions as far back as 1891. But he didn't attend the one at Corsicana and has his picture made—like the old-timers in the gold-framed photo above. Calling to other TPAers to "come look"—during a recent TPA meeting in Austin, were (left to right) Uncle Billie; Mrs.

L. B. Smith, wife of the publisher of the Brady Standard; Mrs. Arthur H. Kowert, wife of the president of TPA, who publishes the Fredericksburg Standard; and Mrs. Roy M. Craig, whose husband is publisher of the Stamford American. Historical photos of members of the press will be featured in the Diamond Anniversary issue of The Texas Press Messenger in June.

Surveys made last fall indicate that grasshoppers may be numerous enough in the Texas Panhandle to cause heavy damage to crops and pasture land this year. However, weather and other conditions may change the situation. Farmers and ranch operators should be on the alert for these pests.

fuel lines should be shut off. Windows on the north and east sides of the house may also be opened to help reduce building damage. Standing against the inside wall on a lower floor of an office building offers some protection.

4. If in school in city areas, stay inside, away from windows, and near an inside wall on the lower floor. Auditoriums and gymnasiums should be avoided under all circumstances. If in rural area schools, children and teachers should be removed to a ravine or ditch if a storm shelter is not available.

5. If in factories and industrial plants, a lookout should be posted immediately upon receiving a tornado warning, and he should keep safety officials advised of the tornado's approaching. Advance preparation should be made for shutting of electrical circuits and fuel lines if the tornado approaches the plant. Workers should be moved to sections of the plant offering the greatest protection.

6. It doesn't help to get excited. Even though a warning is issued, chances of a tornado striking one's home or location are very slight.

7. Keep tuned to your radio station for latest tornado advisory information. Do not call the Weather Bureau, except to report a tornado.

ANNOUNCING PHILLIPS 66

Flite-Fuel

FOR YOUR CAR

A PHILLIPS EXCLUSIVE! Now, for the first time, you can enjoy the benefits of the super aviation gasoline component—Di-isopropyl (pronounced di-iso-pro-pull). No other gasoline has this super power ingredient. It is available only in Phillips 66 Flite-Fuel.

Until recently, the use of super aviation gasoline components was restricted by the United States Government to high octane, high performance aviation gasoline. They were needed to give our planes a tremendous power surge in aerial combat. Now military authorities have released restrictions on the use of these power-packed aviation gasoline components. So Phillips is able to use not only Di-isopropyl but also HF Alkylate, both originated and first manufactured by Phillips. That's why Phillips can bring you this great new gasoline—Phillips 66 Flite-Fuel.

YOU GET ALL THESE BENEFITS:

- Increased power
- Smoother acceleration
- Greater fuel economy
- Higher anti-knock quality
- Freedom from stalling

PLUS

- Famous Controlled Volatility, and the extra clean burning features of Phillips 66 Gasoline.

Let your car's performance tell the story. Get Phillips 66 Flite-Fuel at any station displaying the orange and black Phillips 66 Shield.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Whenever the subject of money or credit arises, many profess these subjects are clothed in great mystery.

Yet both money and credit are a basic commodity even more basic than corn, wheat, hogs, iron, or any other commodity, because few individuals, no business, no farm, can long operate without access to money and credit.

This is a basic concept which has long plagued this nation. In early U. S. history President Andrew Jackson recognized the problem when he scuttled the chartered but privately owned Bank of the United States by placing Federal funds in various state banks to bolster failing local economies.

Problem is again approached by pending bills in Congress, known as Caperhart bill in Senate, Multer bill in House.

Under present laws a bank cannot operate branches in more than one state; or operate non-banking business enterprises.

But under a loophole in present law, holding companies own controlling interest in banking institutions and evade that law.

The proposed legislation would stop this.

The proposed law would also make bank holding corporations subject to the same regulation as independent banks which requires permission from appropriate Federal or State authority to acquire another bank either as a branch or as a merger.

Independent banks are also prohibited from acquiring branches across state lines. The proposed new law would place the same regulation in force on bank holding companies. There are several points to bear in mind during coming debates.

One is the subject of fairness. Limitations imposed on independent banks should undoubtedly prevail for all.

There is also need for strong independent local banks to insure local economic health by serving with an understanding of community needs at the grass roots level. This point will be discussed later as most important phase of this issue is this.

Concentration of money and credit in a few hands now under way via bank holding corporation system, can, unless stopped, dominate entire American scene, economically and politically.

With corporations owning vast banking resources, as well as non-banking business operations, there is great temptation to use power of amassed cash and credit to knock out independent competition to holding corporation owned firms.

In addition all banks hold as a substantial part of their assets government securities. Therefore, two or three bank holding corporations could own majority interest in U. S. government.

In addition these few corporations holding bulk of U. S. cash and credit, could, through cartel agreements set up international controls over the world.

Many historians claim that without the House of Rothschild, no nation in Europe would have been able to carry on the long bloody years of the Napoleonic Wars. And today in America, a few vast holding corporations have already acquired more power than the Rothschilds ever held. That is the crux of issue now before Congress.

Australia has about 123 million head of sheep which is more than any other country in the world. Staggered plantings of Sudan grass will stretch the summer grazing program. Such plantings enable the livestock producer to rest drought-stunted permanent pastures, yet have plenty of grazing as moisture is available.

PHILLIPS ANNOUNCES NEW MOTOR FUEL

A new "high performance" automotive fuel, made possible by the use of aviation gasoline components recently released from government priority, has been developed by Phillips petroleum Company.

The new gasoline contains Di-isopropyl, a high test ingredient originated by Phillips, which made made possible more powerful, higher anti-knock fuels for combat aircraft. Until recently, the use of super aviation gasoline components has been restricted by military authorities for use in high performance aviation gasoline. These have now been released for use in automotive gasoline, and Phillips is able to use not only Di-isopropyl but also HF Alkylate, both originated and first manufactured by Phillips.

According to Phillips research authorities the new gasoline, designated "Flite-Fuel for your car," offers important performance advantages. It provides increased power, higher anti-knock quality, greater fuel economy, and freedom from stalling.

Equally important, says Phillips authorities, are the clean burning qualities of the new gasoline. Use of natural gas components, which leave scarcely any carbon residue, eliminates the necessity for special gasoline additives to combat engine deposits.

Distribution of the new gasoline has already begun, and it will be available in the near future, at all Phillips 66 service stations.

Letters To The Editor—

(The News welcomes letters from its readers on any current subject, not libelous, of course. All communications must be of reasonable length and must be signed. On request, the signature will not be printed. The Editor.)

Dear Mr. Hill,
 For some time I have intended to drop you a letter expressing my appreciation of The Lynn County News.

Yours may seem a thankless profession in the South Plains area. If so, I am inclined to believe it is because readers in your area are not aware of the policies and practices of metropolitan dailies. The contrast between The News and a large daily points out the regrettable fact that many ethical practices have been thrown to the wind by the "big-time" papers.

Small-town papers do not reap profits as do the urban giants with enormous circulations but they do preserve the standards upon which the journalistic profession was founded. Wes Izzard, Amarillo News editor, talked a long these lines before the Houston Press club a year or so ago, combination circulation of more than 500,000. You can see the scope of their influence. Disregarding bias in the news and news interpretation, it's no wonder people don't know what to believe. They have three accounts of the same event. Incidentally, the population in the Houston area is to top one million around July 3.

The Lynn County News renders an invaluable public service, in my opinion, and stands with other such weeklies and small-town dailies as a bulwark of the profession. You will find enclosed a check for renewal of my subscription.

Yours truly, Lewis C. Cowan,
 4364 Rosewood, Houston 4, Texas.

When Their World Crashed...
RED CROSS HEARD THEIR CALLS

Port Huron, Mich., Times-Herald photographs by Ralph Polowich

Upper Right: After the devastating Greek earthquake last August, 3-year-old Stamatia Frangou sat on a hospital bed with her name pinned to her dress, as doctors dressed her fractured leg and injured head. Greek Red Cross workers finally located her mother alive, after a month's search, and re-united the pair. The American Red Cross conducted a nation-wide appeal for funds to aid victims.

Lower Right: Fire, which completely ravaged a Chicago, Ill., apartment building, killed seven, injured six, and affected 100 persons, left Michael Cruz, 2½, bewildered and frightened. Here the terrified youngster is being comforted by Mrs. Rodne Nye, Red Cross disaster representative, who established disaster headquarters at the scene of the fire.

Last year the Red Cross aided an average of one person every five minutes among those suffering disaster injury or loss, as sudden death and destruction struck communities across the United States on an average of six times every week. The 1954 Red Cross Campaign for $85,000,000 and 30,000,000 members, now underway, enables everyone to serve his neighbors in distress or need.

Prevention is the best control for wood boring insects—borers—which attack trees and other ornamentals. Healthy trees are seldom attacked. Proper pruning, water and fertilizer will help keep trees healthy.
