CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Conservation activities the last several weeks have been mainly the planting of blue panic grass. Blue Panic is rapidly becoming a very popular grass for permanent pasture in just about all sections of West Texas. It is not entirely new as some plantings are now about 10 years old. In Lynn District there are at least two fields of blue panic that are two years old and both survived the drouth with very little damage. These fields are on G. C. Wells and Carl Griffing farms. They both reported that the grass began to green up immediately after the early rains and were ready for grazing at least by the last week in April.

VAN ZANDT COUNTY TO HOLD REUNION

The 1954 Van Zandt County Reunion will be held around the curve through the West entrance to MacKenzie State Park, Lubbock Texas, on Sunday, June 20, 1954.

The program is to be one of "Food, Fun and Fellowship," with Fellowship the feature. Tell others and come and bring your friends.

Mrs. Annie Childs, formerly of Draw, in sending in a subscription to The News, writes that she misses the paper very much, along with news of old friends. She has lived at Nacogdoches for many years.

G. C. Wells likes the grass so much he has planted 35 more acres on his farm and 15 acres on his mother's farm.

Altogether a total of 187 acres of blue panic have been planted with the help of Soil Conservation Service personnel this year.

Those farmers who have planted blue panic are G. C. Wells, Buster Fenton, B. A. Morrow, Price Thomas, Wynn Overstreet, Tom Garrard, C. Hickerson, Marshall Stewart, J. W. Owens, M. L. Thomas, M. C. Thomas, Leroy Davis, Clovis Honeycutt, H. B. Rinne, and A. A. Rinne.

The Lynn Soil Conservation District has purchased special planter boxes that can be used in place of up-right planter boxes that will handle the very small seed. These boxes are available to all farmers in Lynn district at no cost to farmers.

There are quite a few farmers still planning to plant some grass this year. Blue Panic can be planted as late as the middle of July, so there is time yet to get in a patch this year. Planting rate is from one to one and a half pounds per acre and the seed cost generally less than a dollar a pound.

It is still early yet to determine if all the above named farmers got a stand, but with some luck and a few general showers, Lynn District farmers should have some pretty patches of blue panic.

Soil Conservation Practices Will Not Reduce Water For Cities, Industry

Cities and industries have been asking whether soil conservation being carried out by thousands of farmers and ranchers through soil conservation districts will reduce the amount of water available for municipal and industrial uses.

H. N. Smith Conservationist for Texas says that for all practical purposes the answer seems to be "no."

The Soil Conservation Service has been studying this problem at the Blacklands Experimental Watersheds project near Riesel, Texas, since 1940. The studies include measurements of rainfall and runoff from two similar watersheds. They are still in progress.

Similar farming practices were being followed on both watersheds at the beginning of the study. Conservation practices were established on one of the watersheds in the spring of 1943. These practices included changing part of the cultivated area to grassland; the use of improving crops rotations; and the construction of terraces on land in cultivation. No change was made in the farming practices on the other watershed.

During the first five years rainfall was slightly above normal and the runoff-producing rain fall averaged 17.4 inches annually. The following five years, 1948 through 1952, were drouth years and the runoff-producing rainfall averaged only two-thirds the amount for the five years, but most of it fell in such small amounts or at such slow rate it produced no runoff.

For the normal rainfall period there was almost no difference in the runoff from the untreated and treated watersheds, Mr. Smith reported. The annual average was 10.3 and 10.4 inches, respectively. During the drouth period the average yearly runoff from the untreated and treated watersheds was approximately 1.4 and 0.9 inches.

The fact that there was a difference of one-half inch in the annual runoff from these two watersheds during the drouth years is not the significant point, said Mr. Smith. The minor difference in rate, even over a period of several years, would amount to so small volume of water that it could not be considered in the planning of a dependable municipal water supply. The important point is that the TOTAL runoff from the untreated watershed during the five drouth years only about two-thirds of the average runoff for ONE year during the normal rainfall period.

Mr. Smith emphasized that because runoff during drouth years may be very small, water supply reservoirs must have enough capacity to catch the water during years of normal to high runoff and store it for use during drouth periods. A city cannot depend on the runoff during a drouth to maintain its water supply. This is a fact which needs to be widely understood.

Although soil conservation practices on a watershed will not have a significant effect on water yield they can help greatly in protecting water supplies from loss of Conservation practices reduce storage space by sedimentation erosion and the rate of reservoir sedimentation. By slowing down the rate at which reservoirs are filling with sediment, Mr. Smith said, more storage capacity will be maintained in which to store water for use during drouth years.

Mr. and Mrs. Colvin Ware of South Gate, Calif., were here last week visiting Mr. and Mrs. Joe Marshall. Mrs. Ware is Mr. Marshall's sister.

Ensign Kenneth Weaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Weaver of Tahoka, was scheduled to arrive in Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, Tuesday. He expects to have duty there for the next six months, and will be with his wife and baby, who live in Honolulu.

High temperature and low humidity are two of the greatest enemies of good quality eggs. Eggs should be stored in a cool, humid, but well ventilated place and marketed often.

A rigid sanitation program is a must in the fight against flies. The use of insecticides alone will not do the job, but is used in combination with sanitation, flies can be whipped.

Hog lice are thieves. They irritate the hog, slow down its rate of gain and, in turn, up the feed bill. They can be easily controlled.

Home For Alcoholics Is Rendering Valuable Service To Many People

(Editor's Note: This article is printed as a public service for local members of Alcoholics Anonymous, who work closely with Shady Retreat for permanent recovery of patients "re-conditioned" at the alcoholic rest home in Wichita Falls, Texas.)

Wichita Falls, Texas.—If you need to go to Shady Retreat and really want to, you can—but you have to want to.

Ben McLaren and his wife, Billie, proprietors of the rest home for persons suffering from alcoholism, never grab a customer. Like the psychology of the 12 steps of Alcoholics Anonymous, treatment at Shady Retreat is given only to those who seek it.

Knowing Alcoholism to be a disease affecting only a small percentage of the over-all population, McLaren, a recovered alcoholic himself, established Shady Retreat on Sunset Lane just off the Iowa Park Highway April 22, 1935.

And it was on that date that AA chapters of Northwest Texas and Southwest Oklahoma were offered a new source of members—men and women who want to join the ranks of healthy, sound and happy people, and enjoy life as well. From his established rest home for alcoholics, new members are showing up in AA clubs in every section of the country.

"We encourage a minimum of three days, but prefer a week of care and treatment to get a person back on his feet. Then, if he is ready, I can show him how to stay well," McLaren declares. And he is speaking of staying dry—vis the AA route.

To understand the purpose of Shady Retreat, you have to understand alcoholism and the alcoholic, and to some that is difficult.

"Imagine a person drinking alcoholic beverage endless hours, days, weeks and even months with a ninner drive that even he does not understand. Difficult?"

FOUR PATHS
"Now, there comes a time in the existence of that individual when he must take one of four paths—the Jail, the nut house, the cemetery or the program—but the decision is always his. I know," explains McLaren.

During the drinking experience of an alcoholic he arrives at the point where he no longer can eat and does not want to, and if is at this stage that he is preparing him self for one of the four paths.

When a patient calls for Ben McLaren he is usually in pretty sorry physical condition and the job is one of sobering up, resting up, and returning the individual to a diet of food.

The first thing the patient receives is a physical checkup by a doctor. The patient's own doctor may be called or, if he desires, Ben will call in his doctor, a recognized specialist in the treatment of alcoholism. With this, Ben's job begins, aided by a licensed nurse.

TO STAY DRY
With the first call for food, Mrs. McLaren, an expert cook, is ready with whatever pleases the patient's palate. From the ice box and deep freeze comes chicken, steaks, and roasts cooked to a turn. Yes, anything from soup to donuts, but no whisky. "A good build-up doesn't hurt," Mrs. McLaren explains. But, the only actual therapy for an alcoholic is "The Program," says McLaren, and again he means the 12-point program of AA. He is a charter member of the Faith Club in Wichita Falls and a one-time dispatcher making the life-saving calls. While AA has no business interest in Shady Retreat, every member in this area endorses its work.

Black Cats Will Play Two Games

Tahoka Black Cats will go to Seagraves Saturday for a "June-teenth" baseball game with the Brown Bombers of that city at 2:30 p. m. Chester Hood will pitch for Tahoka.

Wilson Class of '52 Plans Reunion

The Wilson High School Class of 1952 will have a reunion Saturday, June 19, at 7:30 p. m. in Mackenzie State Park at Lubbock, Shirley Rhoads, Wilson Route 2, announces.

Members of the class are asked to meet at the swimming pool in the park and to bring a guest and a picnic lunch.

SHADY RETREAT—Nestled amid blackjacks and pecan trees on five and one-half acres, Shady Retreat lives up to its name in appearance. From this three story lava rock structure, Mr. and Mrs. Ben McLaren of Wichita Falls "re-condition" persons suffering from alcoholism and then encourage them to enter the program of Alcoholics Anonymous. They are meeting with astonishing success—practically no repeat customers—and AA chapters in Northwest Texas and Southwest Oklahoma are endorsing the work.

Jerry Stevens Is Still At Ft. Bliss

Fort Bliss, Texas—Pvt. Jerry M. Stevens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis W. Stevens, of Tahoka, will remain in the Antiaircraft Replacement Training Center at Ft. Bliss, Texas for his second eight-week cycle of basic training.

Mr. and Mrs. James Huey, Joyce, Jim, and Kay and Martha Riddle left Saturday for a visit with Mrs. Huey's relatives in Charlotte, N. C. They expect to be gone two weeks.

H. W. Carter's Dad Buried Sunday

W. W. Carter, 88, father of H. W. Carter of Tahoka, died in a Wellington hospital at about 5 p. m. Friday. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon and burial was at Dodson, his home town. His wife died in 1915.

Mr. Carter had been seriously ill for about seven months. Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Carter were en route to Wellington to visit him when he died.

Irwin Lehman, who has just completed his junior year in Southwestern Medical School at Dallas, arrived home Sunday to spend the summer with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Al Lehman.

Sue Findt At National Meet

Sue Findt, senior student at Texas Tech, left Lubbock by plane Wednesday morning to attend the national convention of Theta Sigma Phi, national fraternity for women in professional journalism, in Detroit through Sunday. Miss Findt is president of Alpha Upsilon chapter on the Tech campus and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Findt.

The convention will be headquartered in the Hotel Fort Shelby. The program has been planned mainly along professional lines, with workshops, panels and noted speakers from the writing and allied fields. Detroit's industries, newspapers and radio and television stations, in addition to aiding with professional programs, will provide entertainment and tours.

The traditional Matrix dinner will be Saturday night. Inez Robo, one of the best known woman feature writers in the United States, will be the speaker. After a distinguished career with the International News Service, during which she wrote spot news and features from many places throughout the world, she now is with the United Feature Syndicate, writing a series called "Assignment America."

Headliner awards, Theta Sigma Phi's top honor for noteworthy accomplishments of members, and a $500 scholarship research grant for further study or work along journalistic lines will be presented at the Matrix dinner.

As a special "extra," the Detroit alumnae chapter will entertain with a "Ladies of the Press" breakfast Sunday morning, after the closing of the convention proper. Miss Findt will return to Lubbock Sunday night.

Local Lady Tells of Early Days On South Plains

Mrs. Ethel (Hall) Robinson, who has lived in Lynn county more years than any other present-day citizen, recently dug up a lot of interesting historical material while rummaging through some old papers and "keep-sakes."

She found an early copy of Lubbock's first newspaper, The Lubbock Leader, edited by Robert J. Rogers, volume 1 number 24, and dated Jan. 15, 1892, which contained pictures of the old Nicolett Hotel and the first courthouse, and news items and brief sketches about many of the pioneers of this country.

Lubbock county had been organized the previous year, March 10, 1891, and the paper boasted that the county's population had jumped from about 100 to 600. Lynn, Hookley and Cochran counties were attached to Lubbock for judicial purposes. Lynn county was not organized until April, 1903.

Among other items, the paper recounted that the boys from the Dixie ranch in Lynn county were in town Saturday night.

There was an ad. and also a sketch about J. D. Caldwell, the first permanent Lubbock merchant, who was an uncle by marriage of Mrs. Robinson. Mr. Caldwell, was Lubbock county's first commissioner of Precinct 1, and the first justice of the peace.

The Lubbock paper, a copy of The Lynn County News of 1909, and a number of old Lynn county photographs are on display in the show window of Mrs. Robinson's store.

At this time, 1892, Enos L. Seeds, who later became a wealthy Philadelphia bridge builder and steel contractor, was running Lynn county's first store and post-office at Grassland.

Uncle Cass Edwards was operating Tahoka Land and Cattle Co.'s big T-Bar ranch.

Jack Alley, who later became Mrs. Robinson's step-father, was manager of Col. C. C. Slaughter's Ranch. Mr. Alley helped organize Lynn county and Tahoka, operated a business here for many years, and served as Tahoka postmaster.

He had originally come to Crosby county in 1878, and was well known in ranching circles all over the west.

Mrs. Robinson was born in Kaufman county. Her mother had been born at Dallas near the present site of Buckner Orphan Home and was reared with the Buckner boys. Her grandfather, Mrs. Robinson's great grandfather, A. C. Haight, was the first sheriff of Dallas county.

Mrs. Robinson's father, John Cook, died when she was a baby, and Mrs. Cook and Ethel came to Lubbock in a stagecoach during the year 1892 to live.

In 1898, Mrs. Cook married Jack Alley, and she and Ethel came to Col. Slaughter's Long-S headquarters then located at the present site of Marshall Stewart's farm, to make their home.

At that time, the headquarters was a fine home for its day. Later, headquarters were moved to the north springs at Tahoka Lake, and this division became known as Tahoka Lake Ranch.

She recalls with pleasure life on the ranch, the big dinners and socials and the cowboy balls, but she and her mother also, at times, had to ride the range herding hungry and thirsty cows, bringing in the strays, trail-driving to the railroad at Big Spring and Stanton, and even fighting prairie fires.

Ethel attended school in the winters at Stanton, and later attended old Birdwell College in Big Spring. As a young lady, she served once as a governess on the Dixie Ranch.

The Slaughter ranch of that day was known all over the world as one of the great ranches, and Mr. Alley was Colonel C. C. Slaughter's most trusted manager. Two of the highest prices, up to that time, ever paid for a bull were those brought to Tahoka Lake. Mrs. Alley, in person, without asking anyone, bought one of these bulls.

Another very interesting memo Mrs. Robinson found was a copy of The Payson Round-up, a little four page, handset newspaper printed at Payson, Ariz., which told of the death and funeral in July 1903, of a great uncle, Henry (Pappy) Haight, 86, real Westerner and colorful Arizona pioneer. An old fiddle-player himself, it was fitting that a string band played at his funeral and a trio sang

W. E. Suddarth Is Visitor In Tahoka

W. E. Suddarth, retired mail carrier and former Tahoka and O'Donnell citizen who now lives in San Angelo, was a visitor here last Saturday and Sunday.

He was pleasantly surprised at the many improvements the town has made in the past few years, including the many beautiful new homes, the paving, the City Park, City Hall and Boy Scout building, and the new schools.

His daughter, Ruth Windsor, and husband are English teachers in the San Angelo School. His other daughter, Betty Fine, lives in Honolulu, Hawaii, where her husband is an engineer.

Mr. Suddarth was formerly a rural carrier out of Tahoka, served as editor of the Texas Carrier, monthly newspaper of the carriers' organization, and before coming to Tahoka he was for many years a Postal Inspector.

Some old cowboy songs.

Hall Robinson came to Tahoka in the year 1908, and he and Ethel Cook were married about two years later. They have one son, Jack Alley Robinson, and two grandchildren, Brit, age six, and Julie, nearly two.

Mrs. Robinson knows the history of this section from being on the scene since she was a mere child. If this were a historical publication, and if we could keep her talking about the early days, The News could fill up pages of true historical stories of the South Plains.

Odds and Ends

(BY E. L. THE ELDER)

There was a mix-up in lines and words in one paragraph of this column last week that rendered most of the paragraph absolutely incapable of being understood by our readers. Before starting my column for this week, I want to correct those errors of last week so that you may know what my Mexican correspondent and I were trying to get over to the public. In that paragraph on the last page of this column in which she had just mentioned beautiful Lake Chapala and had given the meaning of the name the mix-up began. Here is what we really said. "By the side of this lake we have a town of the same name, with beautiful houses and fine buildings generally. There are numbers of islands in that lake and it abounds with whitefish and other different species and kinds. We have also the Lake of Magdalene. (Presumably the name of that lake came from the Bible character of Mary Magdalene, whose home was hard by the Sea of Genessaret.)" The printers made us say that her home "was shared by the Sea of Genessaret." Other minor errors crept in, such as the mis-spelling of the name Guadajajara, but these are naturally to be expected and do not destroy the meaning intended.

Now, I am going to talk politics quite a bit this week. I am going to give my readers, if any, my reason for favoring the housing program which has been proposed by President Eisenhower, for adoption by Congress. There may be more important proposals in his legislative program than his proposed housing project, but I have been led to believe by certain tragic events and by unexpected and undreamed-of revelations of housing conditions in the larger cities of our country that the slums in these cities are breeding and harboring communists, and murderers and fanatics of the most vicious type, and surely something effective should be done about such a situation.

When, on March 1, of this year, four criminal cranks from the foreign population quarters of New York City who originally had come to this country from Porto Rico, entered the House of Representatives, unsuspected and virtually unobserved, ascended into the galleries, and without provocation or warning, opened fire upon the members of that body in session down on the floor, wounding five of them, unoffending and unsuspecting members of the legislative branch of the freest and greatest nation on earth, the whole body was thrown into consternation and utter confusion. Furthermore, the whole world was astounded, except possibly Russia and her satellites, who probably merely grinned and rubbed their hands in ghoulish glee as they heard the tragic news. A no more astounding assault has ever been made upon the legislative body of a great nation, in session, in all the annals of time.

Our first and most natural impulse was to suspect that these fanatics were communists or were prompted to commit this crime by leaders of the Communist party. Evidence since gathered or revealed has ripened our suspicions into deep-seated conviction.

Soon after the crimes were committed, the evidence was laid before a Federal Grand Jury which returned into court five indictments against each of the four persons participating in the shooting, each indictment containing two counts, one for assault with a dangerous weapon and one for assault with intent to kill. About two weeks ago, newspapers reported that the four accused persons were on trial and brief statements of the evidence of several witnesses were given. I never did see any report of the result of those trials, but it is to be presumed that all the defendants were found guilty. Any other verdict would have been unthinkable and would have been broadcast in glaring headlines in every daily newspaper. I presume also that each of them was convicted on the more serious charge of assault with intent to murder, and that each has been or will be sentenced to serve a term in the Federal penitentiary.

So that presumably is the end of these cases and will probably be the end also of each of the criminals. Each of them doubtless had a perfectly fair trial and the penalty in each case reasonable, I am sure; and that is much more than could have been expected by any of these defendants if they had committed a similar crime against the Government in any Communist country on the face of the globe. All communists know this to be a fact too. As President Truman observed the other night in his speech to the nation, I do not see how any intelligent communist anywhere can be a communist.

Now, while that trial disposed of those four communistic foreigners in a fair and just manner, we believe, Attorney General Brownell on May 26, announced the arrest of eleven other persons of the same stripe as these four, all of whom, like the four, were members of the Nationalist Party of Porto Rico (Puerto Rico, ac-ording to the Spanish language) on charges of seditious conspiracy to overthrow the U. S. Government. Six of the arrests were made in Chicago, four in New York City, and one in San Juan, the capital of Puerto Rico. Some of these are blood relatives or related by marriage to the four who already have been tried and convicted for the murderous episode in the House of Representatives on March 1.

One of the eleven recently arrested is Mrs. Oscar Collazo, whose husband is one of the men who attempted the assassination of President Harry Truman on November 1, 1950, and who is also a brother of Mrs. Dolores Lebron, the woman who led the attack on the House of Representatives on March 1 of this year.

The round-up of these eleven is one of the results of investigations made by J. Edgar Hoover and the FBI reaching as far back as 1936. Hoover reports that members of the Nationalist Party of Puerto Rico were responsible for an unsuccessful revolution attempt in Puerto Rico in October and November, 1950, and was also responsible for the attempted assassination of President Truman in 1950 and the recent attack upon the House of Representatives.

Now what does all this have to do with President Eisenhower's proposed housing project? Well, I didn't know that there was any connection whatsoever between anybody's housing proposal and the tragic shooting spree that occurred in Congress until I discovered the connection—or apparent connection, at least—when, a few weeks ago, I picked up a Reader's Digest dated February, 1953, more than a year before that violent onslaught made by those Puerto Ricans on the members of Congress, and my eyes fell upon an article entitled, "New York's Puerto Rican Problem;" and remembering something about the attempted assassination of President Truman by Puerto Ricans in 1950, and also the clever part played by representatives of Puerto Rico in the last Republican National Convention, which nominated "Ike" for the Presidency, I decided very pronto to read the article. I did, and truly it was an eye-opener. I had heard about the "slums" of New York but I had never had the real conditions brought home to me until I read this article written early in 1953 by one Blake Clark, a humdinger of a writer if I know anything about the art, I want to tell you. I wish I had the authority and the space to reproduce the whole article. But that would require at least three full columns of this paper; and yet scarcely a single sentence can be left out without leaving the dark picture that Mr. Clark paints very incomplete. I give you his two opening paragraphs as an introduction:

"New York is a city of prodigious problems. One of its greatest is what New York slums are doing to American citizens from Puerto Rico.

From 1908 to 1945, only about 2200 Puerto Ricans a year came to the States and stayed. But in 1946, with unrestricted postwar air transportation, 40,000 dug up passage to the promised land.

Since then, some 230,000 more have joined them and they are now pouring in at the rate of 60,000 a year in the greatest air migration in history. Already, every tenth Manhattan Island resident is Puerto Rican."

Then, Mr. Clark says that merchants charge them exorbitant prices for groceries and other necessities which they must have and for which they must pay cash. Landlords are perhaps the

conquers corrosive wear... because this exclusive new discovery gives Conoco Super up to twice the cleansing power of other premium oils!

Automotive engineers have long known that friction and corrosion are the two major causes of engine wear. Now, from the laboratories of Continental Oil, comes America's first Double-Duty motor oil. It combines two exclusive discoveries (Oil-Plating and Acid-Proofing)* to conquer both major causes of engine wear.

The unique Oil-Plating additive conquers friction wear by actually fastening a thin film of protective oil to engine parts. Unlike ordinary motor oil, this film won't drain down even when your engine has been stopped overnight. Thus you get full-time protection against damaging wear due to friction.

Exclusive Acid-Proofing additive conquers corrosive wear three ways—it neutralizes acids, prevents rust, and gobbles up tiny particles of dust, dirt, and water and seals them safely in spheres of oil until the oil is drained. ACID-PROOFING actually gives new Conoco Super twice the cleansing power of other premium oils!

New Conoco Super Motor Oil is on sale at Conoco dealers everywhere. Drive in and ask for it today!

Your Conoco dealer will recommend the right grade of new Conoco Super Motor Oil for your car, your climate, your driving conditions.

worst grafters of all. "The ceiling rental on a typical four bedroom unfurnished apartment is $38.00 a month," Mr. Clark says. Well, that doesn't seem so bad, but read on. "Putting in a few pieces of second-hand paraphernalia, the owner converts it into four furnished rooms with one bath and kitchen for all, each room bringing $80.00 a month. At this rate, frequently, an entire family must live in one room."

Mr. Clark describes one such room which he visited just off

Madison Avenue and occupied by the Juan Cruz family. Omitting some of the graphic but less important details, this is the way Mr. Clark described the place:

"At first glance, the place looked like a jumbled storeroom for second-hand beds. Squeezed into a 15 by 18 foot area were a three-quarter bed for the father and mother, with a bath curtain to close it from view; a crib for the seven year-old, a wooden double-decker where two small girls share the lower section, leaving a teen-age sister the upper; a roll-away for a boy 18; a bathtub and a toilet set up in a small clothes closet. At mealtime, three of the family draw up to a small table—they have only three chairs—while the other four sit on the beds, plates on laps, or eat standing up. Dishes dry on a board laid across the end of the bathtub. They pay $16 a week, or about $70 a month, for this accommodation. And this is typical. The testimony of social workers I talked with is that thousands of Puerto Ricans live in equally squalid quarters."

In fact, Mr. Clark gave other examples of landlord oppression fully as abhorrent as this.

Respecting these housing conditions as conducive to crime, I quote you this:

"Grownups home from work fill up rooms and force youngsters onto the streets, where they form clubs and gangs. They break into schools and make off with equipment; they steal from parked cars, set fire to empty buildings, mug school children, use and peddle narcotics. They war with rival gangs. How far they may go is illustrated by a shooting described to me by a plain clothes man assigned to the case. The 'Dukes' Gang held a dance, charging ten cents admission to be distributed among members saving up to buy $18 tailor made gang jackets. An older man slipped past the ticket-takers and when caught refused to pay. The boys took the entrance money and bought a pistol. They drew lots, and the one with the long straw shot and killed the gate-crasher, thus successfully upholding the reputation of the dukes. Such young desperados grow into adult hoodlums, who gave Spanish Harlem its bad name."

And thus Mr. Clark goes on from page to page, describing how inadequate housing conditions cause the streets of Harlem at night to swarm with Puerto Rican and other racial groups of boys to grow up into criminals and gangsters. I do not have room to tell more, but just remember that those four Puerto Ricans who undertook to shoot up Congress on last March the first and did a pretty good job of it came from the slums of New York. President Eisenhower and other political leaders, Republican and Democratic, think that they have a remedy for the problem and they are urging a housing project to be consummated not only for New York but to be spread out into many of the other cities and industrial centers of this country. I am for it, and I may have more to say about it in the next issue of this paper.

In previous articles Senorita Aurora has been telling us much about the mountains and rivers and climate and products of Jalisco. This week she starts off by telling us something about the mining industry, which was formerly a very thriving business. The article follows:

Jalisco has silver mines, iron ore, and white marble, and the Rio Pituamo has tiny gold pebbles (glittering in its bed). The explanation for this is that they have accumulated from the gold-bearing sand there about. There are many gold and silver mines in the region that have been abandoned because of lack of money and of machinery with which to work.

In Jalisco there are many factories—paper mills, furniture factories, some of them manufacturing very fine furniture, soap factories, etc. In the city of Guadalajara, they have liquor distilleries, breweries, and plants manufacturing other beverages. Also they have cream, cheese, cigarette, candy and gum factories. In San Pedro (St. Peter) Tlasquepalque, a town near Guadalajara, they produce chinaware, statues, and other things made of pottery. It's wet clay but a very special kind that the natives put inside the homes in their ovens, then paint is used to paint pretty designs on them, and these objects look like ceramic.

In December, when I went to Guadalajara with my aunt, we saw inside all the shopping stores in Tlasquepalque, and with a whole lot of pretty chinaware we saw statues like the ones of our Savior Jesus Christ and the Samaritan Woman at the well; statues of virgins, postmen, Indians, dancers, etc. Also statues of the traditional birth of Jesus;—small statues representing shepherds, angels, small animals; all these with real nice hay, put on a table and displayed in homes as Catholics are accustomed to do, to reenact the "Birth of Christ." At Nativity, the Christmas trees are a "must" fixed up real prettily and they are seen as much in Guadalajara as here in Mexico City and in other places of the Republic too.

The visitors go to San Pedro and to Tlasquepalque too to eat "birria," in other words to eat lamb's meat. There we find many restaurants with their pretty dishes, and while the visitors are eating they are hearing at the same time the musicians all dressed up as charros—gaudy, clownish fellows—singing the ranch-style songs which they play and sing.

The instruments they play are the guitar, violin, trumpet, and others. These groups of singing men are called "Mariachis."

San Andres, meaning St Andrew, is another town that I knew. There are many peach orchards, pomegranate trees, vegetables and flowers there. My aunt and I visited Hentitan. It's a town at the side of the Bank and at the bottom, we could see both the Rio Santiago and the Rio Verde that run through there.

The next article will be about the city of Guadalajara.

Lubbock Banker Tells Story of "Lost Nigger Expedition" To Plains in 1877

"The Lost Nigger Expedition of 1877" was the subject of an interesting talk on South Plains history by Lee Yory, vice president of the First National Bank of Lubbock, at Tahoka Rotary Club Thursday noon of last week.

Mr. Yory, reared in Borden county and formerly with the Production Credit Association, pointed out the fact that this area has an interesting history and that our citizens should know more of its background.

His talk was based on information taken from a book by J. Everts Haley, prominent historian and biographer.

The Comanches had been put on the reservation in 1874 and 1875, but later made raids down across the Plains.

The summer of 1877 was a hot, dry one, and there was no water in Plains lakes. A band of Indians was loose on the Plains, threatening settlements to the East. There were no inhabitants on the plains at the time except buffalo hunters.

From Fort Concho, now San Angelo, a company of Negro cavalrymen, under command of Capt. Nick Nolan and Lieut. Cooper, was sent to the Plains to round up the Indians and put them back on the reservation.

The Cavalry picked up Indian signs at Cedar Lake, followed them to Double Lakes, Lynn county, thence west to Mound and Rich Lakes. Northwest of Rich Lake, the company became lost and wandered aimlessly and helplessly over the dry Plains for 84 hours without water.

The suffering of men and horses was terrible. Most of the horses died, although the mules did pretty well. Four soldiers and one or two buffalo hunters with the expedition died of thirst.

Some indication of the terrible ordeal is indicated by the fact that the men cut the throats of dying horses and attempted to quench their thirst by drinking the thick coagulating blood of the animals.

Those who survived, finally made their way back to Double and Tahoka Lakes, where they were met by relief corps from Fort Concho.

Details of the expedition were told in a vivid account now on file with the War Department in the Library of Congress written by Lt. Cooper.

"Pete" Hegi arranged the interesting program.

The club voted to enter a float in the Pioneer Reunion parade next Thursday.

Horace Shrickland Weds At Levelland

In a twilight, double ring ceremony Friday evening, June 4, at 8 o'clock, Miss Nellie Jackson became the bride of Horace Shrickland.

Stanley Lockhart, minister of the Austin Street Church of Christ, Levelland, read the service before a background of honeysuckles and roses at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Jackson, of Levelland.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Strickland, Tahoka.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a ballerina length white embroidered nylon over blue taffeta with white accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Mrs. Fred Zedlitz attended the bride as maid of honor. She wore a navy blue sheer dress with white accessories. Mr. Zedlitz was best man.

The traditional wedding music was played and "I Love You Truly" sung.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held on the lawn at the Jackson home.

The bride's table was laid in an arrangement of pink roses. The two tiered white wedding cake decorated with pink rose buds, lettered "Nellie and Horace," was cut and served, after the bride had cut the first piece, by Mrs. Roger Greenlee.

Mrs. Otto Jones poured the punch and coffee.

During the reception numbers played on the recorder were, "One Alone," "At Dawning," "The Lord's Prayer," and "Because."

Miss Sue Dollins Weds Billy Tong In Home Ceremony Here Last Saturday

Miss Sue Dollins and Billy Tong were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony Saturday morning at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Dollins, at 1820 North Second street. Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Casper of Kernsville, N. C., formerly of Tahoka, are parents of the bridegroom.

The Rev. J. B. Stewart, pastor of the First Methodist Church, read the vows before an altar of yellow gladiolas and white carnations.

The bride, who was given in nations and greenery, wore a gown of white dotted nylon over taffeta designed with a high neckline, short puff sleeves and a full gathered skirt.

Her white satin halo hat was trimmed with a rose and small ried a white Bible topped with a rhinestone-trimmed veil. She carried a bouquet of white carnations surrounded by stephanotis.

Mrs. Wayne Tekell, the matron of honor, wore a blue dress over pink antique taffeta and carried pink carnations. Willie Lee served as best man.

A reception followed the ceremony. The bride's table was laid with a white lace cloth over pale yellow satin and centered with a wedding cake.

Guests included relatives and only a few close friends.

Out-of-town guests included Charles Dollins, brother of the bride, and wife; Mrs. J. O. Tinsley and daughter-in-law, Mrs. Jimmie Tinsley, all of Lubbock; and Mrs. Mill Lumsden of Wilson.

Following a wedding trip to Fort Worth and Dallas, the couple will make their home in Brownfield, where Billy will be associated with Mead's Bakery after June 21. For travel the bride wore a navy linen suit with navy and white accessories.

The bride and groom both are 1954 graduates of Tahoka High School. The bride was reared here. The bridegroom moved here two or three years ago from Abilene.

Many farm animals, especially cattle, will die this year from what is commonly called "hardware disease." These losses can be prevented by making sure that nails, pieces of wire, scrap and junk don't get into the feed of animals are kept out of lots where the metal may be picked up.

Success Story

--- AND A GOOD TIP FOR YOU ---

WHEN it comes to sales, every car maker aspires to be up at the top of his price class. Which is only natural. Popularity like that means success.

We know, because for years Buick has held such an envied position—the unquestioned sales leader in its class. And with good reasons in styling, room, power, value.

But today, folks like you have pushed Buick success even beyond such bounds.

Today, the top sales standings of a full generation have been changed. Today, latest sales figures for the first four months of 1954 reveal this phenomenal fact:

In total national volume, regardless of price class, Buick is outselling all cars in America except two of the so-called "low-price three."

That's a tip too good to pass up. That's the tip-off that Buick must have the hottest styling of the times and the sweetest performance of the year.

More important, that's the tip-off that Buick prices are well within the reach of more and more people—and that such prices buy a lot more automobile per dollar.

So why not look into the tomorrow-styled Buick that puts you so far ahead today?

Come in, or phone us this week for a demonstration. Then you can judge for yourself that Buick really is the beautiful buy—by far.
