Odds AND Ends

(BY E. I. THE ELDER)

So, picking up where we left off last week, I should like to remind you and others again, Mr. Walker, that it was not until about six years ago—1948—that the Parr vote in Duval and Jim Wells counties combined was large enough to change the result in any state-wide or major election in this state, except in that one particular contest waged by Coke Stevenson and Lyndon Johnson for a seat in the United States Senate, and the result in that election was changed only when George Parr, the reigning Duke of Duval, had additional returns sent in five days late and in the meantime lost the election box from which they were reported, and lost it so completely that neither state officials nor other state leaders in the Democratic party, nor newspaper correspondents, nor the FBI, nor the candidates themselves have ever been able to find the box or its contents. Yet George Parr got these 203 alleged additional votes counted, 201 of them for Lyndon Johnson and 2 of them for Coke Stevenson.

And now you are howling because I have been howling about this shameful election fraud. There is plenty more to howl about, Mr. Walker, some of which I will give you before this publication.

city is shut off, I hope, but now I want to return for a little while to another peek or two at the first member of the Parr clan, Archie Parr, the original Duke of Duval. This is the man with whom Judge Maddox served in the Legislature; Parr in the Senate and Maddox in the Lower House.

I do not know where Parr was born, but it was somewhere on this side of the Rio Grande, I suppose. I do not know whether he was a native of deep South Texas or elsewhere, but sometimes he is called a Latin-American whatever that may mean. He probably did have some Spanish blood in his veins, however. We are told that he came into the Duval county region as an uncouth lad soon after the dawn of the present century. He went to work on a ranch at a nominal salary. He made a good ranch hand and seems to have made a good deal of money. At least it was not long until he owned land of his own and had become a leader among the Mexican ranch hands of that area.

His friends and apologists say that he won the gratitude and friendship of the Mexicans by being kind to them, helping them when any of them became sick or needy. It doubtless was his policy to treat them kindly and generously, but he seems to have "got rich quick" while doing it. He must have been still a comparatively young man when he got himself elected to the state Senate. His name does not appear in the Texas Almanac as a member of the State Senate until after 1910. Judge Maddox entered the Lower House as a member in 1907. So, it would appear that Judge Maddox had been serving in the House some three years when Archie Parr entered the Senate, being first elected in 1910. Being a quaint and unusual character, Parr readily attracted attention and soon gained considerable notoriety.

He and Maddox soon became acquainted, and Maddox came to admire him for the good qualities that he possessed. It is a fact that during the entire reign of Archie Parr as the Duke of Duval, while he seemed to have no conscientious scruples as to how he got what he wanted, yet he never did use "shot-gun methods" to acquire it. He never did shoot anybody or shoot at anybody. He was never in a serious personal row. If any person in all the area which he ruled was ever killed over politics during his long period of domination, neither Judge Maddox nor I ever heard of it. Yet he was ever on the lookout for opportunities to spread his share of influence. Outside of Duval and Jim Wells counties Archie Parr was the undisputed boss only in Brooks and Jim Hogg counties.

Brooks county was created in 1911 from Live Oak, Starr, Hidalgo, and Zapata counties and was organized in 1912. Mr. Parr may have wielded some influence at the start in all of them except Hidalgo. In Hidalgo county, he was shown where to head in pretty early in his political career, according to a story which Judge Maddox relates. Back in 1911 Hidalgo county was still a cat-in-the-hat country, mostly. It had not become a great fruit and vegetable producing county at that time. The cow man was still in the saddle. Judge Maddox says that a cow-man named Baker was the chief cook and bottle washer in Hidalgo county at that time and apparently was something of a boss himself but he had no sympathy for the trickery and crookedness of the Big Boss, Archie Parr, who already had become known as the Duke of Duval. So, one day, I guess it was soon after Brooks county had been carved out of Hidalgo, Live Oak, Starr and Zapata—the young Duke, proud of his growing power, decided he would run down into Hidalgo and tell Mr. Baker how he wanted things run down there. He had scarcely got started when Baker interrupted him by suddenly jerking out his pistol and saying: "Mr. Parr, you and I don't see things alike. You get out here and make these Mexicans believe you are their friend and can persuade them to do anything you want. I am not much of a speaker but I have a gun here that can do my talking." And leveling the weapon on Parr, he said: "Now you get out of Hidalgo county and stay out."

Archie Parr got out of there in a hurry and he stayed out. Jim Hogg county was not created ed and organized until 1913, and it was carved out of Duval and Brooks, no new territory being added to the Archie Parr domain.

Jim Wells county was not created until 1911 either, a slice of Nueces county on the west being cut off, made into a new county, and then virtually handed over to Parr as his baby. And so it has been ruled largely by Parr ever since the baby was born. But there has always been a dissatisfied and at times a rebellious element in Jim Wells county who have fought against the Parr gang and have given the Parrs much trouble. It was in that county where the Freedom Party thrived best, but they have never been able to out-vote the ballot-box stuffers commanded by the Dukes of Duval and aided by a force of sure-shot pistoleros—sure shot except when they get in a hurry or get excited and miss the target.

Do all the readers of this Column know how the current investigation of the Parrs got started? and how it came to figure somewhat in the recent gubernatorial campaign? Well, in a sense, its background dates back through all the years of the Parr regime which began in the early years of the present century and includes all the activities of the Parrs which we have been discussing in this Column during the past few weeks, but its more recent background dates back only to 1948.

That all the intervening period of nearly forty years, reeking with rottenness and political corruption in the Duval area, failed to attract much national or even state-wide attention during that long era, is due to the fact that all the votes that the Parrs could muster in the counties which they number to change the result in the case of any state-wide candidate, and hence Parr's power was not feared except locally.

I gave the figures in this column last week in the first race that Jim Ferguson made for governor showing that his majority over his opponent, Congressman Tom Ball of Houston, was so overwhelming that it could not possibly have been changed by the Parr vote even if Parr had been against him—which he wasn't.

Two years later, in 1916, before the end of his first term, Ferguson was re-nominated for governor in the state-wide Democratic Primary election, in which he defeated his opponent, Charles H. Morris, by the following vote: Ferguson 240,561; Morris, 174,611. There wasn't as much change for Archie Parr to have caused that result, if he had wanted to do so, as the traditional snowbird would have in the fires of the underworld.

In 1917, Governor Ferguson called a special session of the Legislature in Austin. Soon thereafter 21 charges of impeachment were filed against him in the Lower House. Impeachment charges must be tried before the Senate. So, Ferguson was tried on them before the Senate in September, 1917, and the Senate found him guilty of ten of the charges, and proceeded to kick him out of office. Archie Parr was a member of that Senate. I do not have the record and do not know how he voted on any charge, but I think I would be safe in betting my old Ford car against a soda pop that Archie Parr voted against the charges and against kicking the Governor out of office. But, however Parr voted, he didn't have but one chance in 31 to keep the big band wagon from running square over the frustrated Governor.

Lt. Governor W. P. Hobby there upon became Governor, but in July of 1918, Ferguson ran against Hobby, in the regular Democratic primaries, for vindication and nomination for the next regular term as Governor. The result of that election was: Hobby 461,479; Ferguson, 217,012—a Hobby majority of just 244,267 votes.

I imagine that Mr. Parr, the Duke, didn't have any more power to overturn that election result than a doodle bug would have to dig up the Rocky Mountains and cast them into the bottom of the sea.

In about 1918 or 1919 the run-off primary law was passed, and in 1920 the first primaries ever held under the provisions of that law were held in the months of July and August respectively.

In the July primaries of that year there were four candidates for Governor: Joseph Weldon, Pat M. Neff, Robert Ewing Thomason of El Paso, and Ben F. Looney of Austin at that time, I believe.

Boy, now that was an election to bring wool hats, straw hats, Panamas, and hats of all kinds off men's heads and toss them high into the air. The followers of the "Great Joe Bailey" worshiped him. Other thousands who had voted for him repeatedly in earlier years, had lost confidence in him and were bitterly opposing him. Bailey was the leader in the first primary. Here is the way the vote stood: Bailey, 152,340; Neff, 149,818; Thomason, 99,002; Looney, 48,640. So Bailey led Neff by the slender vote of only 2,522. So, under the new election law, there must be a run-off between Bailey and Neff. Feeling was tense on both sides. The two candidates held a debate at Brownwood. And that is where the hats went highest into the air. Joe Bailey had long been recognized as one of the greatest orators that ever sat in the U. S. Senate.

Pat Neff was one of the most polished orators that ever sat in the Governor's seat in Austin. And the Neff men came away from Brownwood jubilant. When the votes were counted after the runoff primary was held, the result looked like this: Bailey, 194,702; Neff, 264,075—a clear-cut majority of 79,375 votes for the former Governor. Is that the time, (Cont'd. On Next Page)

Odds & Ends

Mr. Walker, when you think I should have gotten busy romping on Archie Parr through the columns of this newspaper for the alarming part he played in that hectic campaign? He would not have had to furnish but 50,000 or 60,000 votes to have gotten R. E. Thomasson into the run-off against either Neff or Bailey. It's a shame that while other men were denouncing one or the other leading candidates I wasn't crying out against George Parr.

In 1922, Neff had as his opponent in the July primary, one Fred S. Rogers, some kind of a Union Labor man, and he defeated Rogers by a vote of 318,000 in round number to a vote of 195,941, a majority over his opponent of a measly little old 122,059 votes. No howling against Archie Parr needed there.

In 1924, there were nine candidates in the first Democratic primary. I have the names of all the candidates and the number of votes received by each of them in that election, but it would take too much room to list them all, though some of them were very able and popular men and received, each a very creditable vote, but the two leading candidates were "Ma" Ferguson, and Felix D. Robertson. In the first primary, Felix Robertson led with a vote of 193,508 to a vote of 146,424, for Mrs. Ferguson, the total vote for the nine candidates being 703,123.

So, Mrs. Ferguson and Felix D. Robertson were the opposing candidates in the run-off. "Ma" just ran off and left Felix D. away behind, the vote being: Mrs. Ferguson 413,751; Robertson, 316,019—Mrs. Ferguson being the winner by more than 97,000 majority.

But the Republicans put up George C. Butte as their candidate to oppose Ma Ferguson in the general election in November of that year. So in the general election, Ma proceeded to give the scholarly and gentlemanly Mr. Butte a general good trouncing, though Mr. Butte did receive one of the largest votes ever given a Republican candidate for Governor in this State. The vote in that general election was: Mrs. Ferguson, 422,556; George C. Butte, 294,970.

We are now down to the election year of 1926.

For the last twelve years the Fergusons have figured prominently in practically every primary and general election that has been held in this state. In some election years Mrs. Ferguson has been a candidate for governor in both the first and the second primaries and also in the November general election. Jim Ferguson has been a candidate in at least three primary elections, one or two general elections, and most important of all, he has been tried on impeachment charges in the state senate, convicted, expelled from the governorship, and deprived of his right to hold office. So the Fergusons have figured much in the politics of this state and also in this column during recent weeks, and will figure in another issue or two of this paper, for we have not yet got quite to the end of the Ferguson road.

But we are now down to the year 1926, and a new light, a strong light, a highly welcome light, has broken in upon the political arena as a candidate for governor, in the person of Dan

School Principal Owner of "Mystery Farm No. 12"

J. B. Howell, principal of Tahoka's South Elementary School, is the owner of "Mystery Farm No. 12."

Readers of The News really flunked out on identifying this place, which is located two miles north and a half mile west of Tahoka. It took Mr. Howell, the present owner, and Mrs. H. G. Nelson, who formerly lived on the place, to correctly identify this place which had a lot of readers scratching their heads or guessing wrong.

The Howells bought the place a year ago last January from Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Nelson, and was formerly owned by R. W. Fenton, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Howell and their daughter, Donna, age 13, live on the farm of 165 acres and also operate a section farm in the Wells community.

Mr. Howell enjoys farming and farm life, but he also likes the teaching profession. Two years ago he joined the local faculty, and this year was made principal of South Elementary School.

He and Mrs. Howell, the former Miss Frances Brandon, were married in 1936 while teaching at Close City. He was at that time superintendent at Close City and she was one of the teachers.

All of Mr. Howell's farming is dry land. The place he owns is a bit sandy and 60 acres of it has been deep broken. He practices contour farming and leaves stubble to prevent blowing.

Garden Club In First Meeting Of New Club Year

Tahoka Garden Club had its first meeting Tuesday, September 21, in the Methodist Fellowship Hall. A luncheon was served to 34 members. The tables were decorated to represent the four seasons of the year, Winter, Spring, Summer and Fall. The arrangements were of material in season.

Mrs. Charles Verner was hostess at the winter table. The cloth was dark green with a white dry arrangement of driftwood, dry flowers and foliage covered with sparkling snowflakes.

Mrs. J. A. Robinson was hostess at the Spring table with its white cloth and arrangement of candlelight and roses. A mass of red roses around the base of four white candles was beautiful.

Mrs. Guy Wheatley, hostess, at the Summer table used a white cutwork cloth. The floral arrangement was of coral canna and florabunda roses of the same tint in a white and blue epergne.

There were two fall tables. Mrs. Irving Stewart was hostess for one. The colors of late autumn were chosen. A green cloth and gold appointments complemented the arrangement of dry and green foliage with fruit in season. Mrs. Skiles Thomas was hostess for the other fall table with a setting for Duck Hunters luncheon. On a green cloth the central figure was a lifelike china duck on a mirror surrounded with driftwood, dry and green foliage and yellow marigolds.

Mrs. Garland Pennington showed colored slides made in Florida.

Mrs. John Witt, president of the club, presented the general theme for the year's work. The club plans to start a fund toward a club house for Tahoka.

This column is usually devoted to information for farmers and cooperators of the Lynn County Soil Conservation District, but this time the interest will be directed to the merchants, businessmen, salesmen, doctors, lawyers, bankers, housewives, city and county officials, civic organization, utilities companies, schools and churches, and just about everyone in this district.

To bring the full realization of the importance of agriculture to every man, woman and child, let us go to the Bible for the beginning. In Genesis 1:1, we find these words, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth." Still further in Genesis 1:11-12 are these words, "And God said, let the earth bring forth grass, the herb yielding seed, and the fruit tree yielding fruit after his kind . . . and the earth (soil) brought forth grass, and herb yielding seed after his kind, and tree yielding fruit . . ."

We see by the above that the soil (the earth) came first, plants next, then the animals. All these in the order mentioned were created before creating man to have dominion over them. From the soil comes plants that provide food, clothing, and shelter for civilization. God did not create the land for man, rather he made man in order that he might have dominion over all earthly things, under the divine guidance of his Creator. We are merely custodians and stewards of the things created. So, then, the land is our common heritage, to have and to hold, to prepare for receiving seed, to plant, cultivate and nurture, to harvest and deliver its produce to our neighbor, and to pass our heritage on in a better condition than it was when we were appointed to take care of it. We must use our land according to its capabilities for sustained production, and to treat each acre according to its need for protection and improvement.

How does it affect you, if you are not a farmer? We are all familiar with the game of football and know that only one man can carry the ball, and yet he must have the cooperation of the entire team in order to cross the goal line. So we, as non-farmer members of the team, will let the farmer carry the ball, and we will help him with our encouragement, our help in opening a path for him to follow through any channel that we are able. When he crosses the goal line we will all benefit. We are dependent on the farmer to do his best in order that he may cross the goal, or to put it literally, to cross the scales. When the farmer is prosperous, the community is prosperous and happy. If the farmer has nothing to sell he has no money with which to buy or pay for services. We depend upon the farmer for our bear necessities first of all, but we depend on him also for those extra things that make our lives more enjoyable. So then our duty is to become interested in agriculture and learn its principles in order that we can recognize sound practices, and also encourage and stand by the farmers who incorporate these sound practices into their farm plan. A better agriculture means a better community. Yes, even in adverse conditions. So, the next time you are talking with your farmer friend encourage him to take into account the agricultural assets on his farm, and to use all the conservation measures known that are adapted to his farming operations.

Juniors Split With O'Donnell

Tahoka and O'Donnell junior football teams split a doubleheader here Tuesday night, Tahoka's Seventh grade winning 26 to 0 and O'Donnell Eighth grade winning 13 to 7.

Ben Richburg was the big gun for O'Donnell in the Eighth grade contest in which Virgil Hicks, quarterback, went 60 yards for Tahoka's lone touch down.

Tahoka's Seventh Grade badly outclassed the visitors, who could never stop driving and speedy Tim Chapa, Tahoka fullback, who scored three touchdowns. Kenneth Stice went 60 yards for the other Tahoka score.

Coaches Haralson and Wright have 24 boys on each of the two squads.

Tahoka Wins Over O'Donnell 34 to 0

Tahoka Bulldogs defeated O'Donnell Eagles 34 to 0 here last Friday night in a game marred by fumbles and miscues.

Even at that, the Bulldogs were able to score in every quarter, with Jerry Williams, L. W. Castleberry, Gordon Smith, Tommy Franklin, and Ted Pridmore each scoring once, and I. V. J. Melton adding four of five tries for extra points by place-kick.

O'Donnell's offensive threat, Fullback Harold Sanders lived up to his name by rolling 113 of O'Donnell's 124 net yards from scrimmage. Otherwise, the Eagles never seriously threatened to score, except for one big burst by Sanders.

The Bulldogs fumbled eight times, losing the ball on four of them, but recovered five of O'Donnell's six fumbles.

They rolled up 15 first downs to O'Donnell's two, and carried the ball 37 times for 346 yards, or nearly 10 yards a try.

Tahoka's passing game looked much better, however, with Bell snagging three and Castleberry one, this for a TD, while the defense kept the Eagles from completing any.

Statistics		Tahoka		O'Donnell
15	First Downs	2		2
346	Net yds. rushing	124
4 for 39	Passing	0
2	Passes incomplete	4
6 for 45	Penalties	2 for 20
4 of 8	Fumbles lost	5 of 6

Tahoka will have to do much better this week, though, if it is to win over powerful Crane.

First Quarter
Tahoka's Melton kicked off, and then covered an Eagle fumble at the 50 on the third play. Tahoka moved to the O'D. 41, but was set back by a penalty and punted to the visitor's 13. Eagles made two, lost five on a penalty, and it was then that Sanders broke through his right tackle and went 68 yards with Franklin overtaking him to down the big boy on the Tahoka 22. On the next play, Tahoka covered an Eagle fumble on the 14. Runs of 17 yards by Melton, 13 and a fumble by Williams, 6, 1, and 20 by Melton, 7 and 7 by Franklin took the ball to O'Donnell's 15, from which point Jerry Williams went over his left tackle to the goal line, and Melton converted his first of four out of five tries.

Following the kickoff, O'Donnell made its other first down of the ball game in moving from its 34 to Tahoka's 48, and Quarterback Barton kicked out of bounds on Tahoka's 17.

Williams went 38 yards on the next play.

Second Quarter
Franklin went 25 yards to the Eagle 20, fumbled, Jimmy Williams made a dive for the ball, missed, and Center Carl Jones of the Eagles, who played a good game covered on the 13. On fourth down, O'Donnell tried to run the ball for the yard needed, but failed and the ball went over on downs. Franklin carried 17 to the 5, and on the next play the Eagle's Sprayberry covered a Bulldog fumble on the 4. Two plays later, Tahoka's Stone covered an Eagle fumble on the 6. Pridmore made two, then Smith passed to Castleberry for the first of Tahoka's end's career.

O'Donnell couldn't move, set back by a penalty, and Tahoka took over on the 50. Melton made 2. Bell caught a pretty 14 yard pass from Smith, Franklin went 18, and then Smith, on a keeper play, went around left end 20 yards to score standing up.

The half came four plays later. Score 20-0.

Third Quarter
Williams brought the kick-off from the 30 to the 47, Franklin carried to the Eagle 48 but fumbled and an Eagle recovered. Three plays later, Barton fumbled and Jimmy Williams covered for Tahoka. On the next play, Melton went 50 yards to the goal line, but Tahoka was guilty of clipping on the 30, and the ball was brought back to the 45. Bell caught another pass to the 32. Williams and Melton moved to the 14, and Smith passed to Bell on the one, and Franklin went over right guard for the TD.

In possession again four plays later, Pearce covered a Bulldog fumble, but couldn't move. After two exchanges of the ball, Tahoka was in possession on the Eagle 44, and Williams, Melton and Smith moved to the 1 foot line, from which point Pridmore went over right guard for the final score.

More reserves went into the game the rest of the way, several Freshmen even seeing action. Coach Haralson had used reserves generously, especially in the line, and on defense throughout the contest.

Wilson Is Winner Over Post "B"

Wilson plays at Frenship tonight and at Anton next week. Wilson was host to Post "B" team Friday night for the first home game of the Wilson Mustangs. The first half of the game turned out to be free scoring for Wilson. The Mustangs won 41 to 6.

In the first quarter, the Mustangs scored two TDs, the first coming when Mutt Bredigam passed to Javan Schneider and then added the extra point by passing to Charles Coleman. The next score came when Mutt completed a 48 yard pass to Jimmy Schneider and once again added the extra point with a pass. At the end of the first quarter the score stood at 14 to 0 in the Wilson Mustang's favor.

The second quarter Jimmy Schneider started the scoring off by carrying the ball 40 yards for six points. The extra point was run over by Mutt Bredigam. A little later Dan Lamb ran 50 yards for the next six points with Mutt carrying the ball over for the extra point.

Nearing the end of the game Jack Docken ran the ball over from 35 yards out and over the goal for the next TD of the game.

Post came back at the Mustangs with a score which was made by Ethridge of the Antelope team.

Delvin "Butch" Behrend caught a pass from Daniel Verkamp and made the final TD in favor of the Wilson Mustangs.

Your Child Needs Something You Cannot Give Him

Your child needs something you cannot give him.

Parents today have realized the value of education. They know that the modern child will have difficulty making a living in our world today if he is not provided with the proper skills. He needs proficiency in mechanics, geometry, and biology as aids in later life. As all good parents you have sacrificed many dreams and ambitions to enable your boy or girl to have the advantages of the best possible education. You will be quick to agree, though, that these abilities, no matter how properly they may be used, can never bring an inner peace, love for one's fellow man, or joy and happiness. Just as there is a difference between the way you train your body and the way you educate your mind, so there has to be another way to acquire spiritual learning.

Tahoka schools today are doing a fine job of imparting physical and intellectual techniques to their students, but there is no course offered that tells how to have peace and happiness so desirable in life. This is the job of the Sunday School. Here is where the spiritual life of your youngster is formed; where he learns the teachings of Jesus and how to apply them to his own life.

Next Sunday would be an ideal time to introduce your child to Sunday School. He will enjoy not only the lessons he learns from the Bible, but also the handicrafts, visual aids, and the experiences he shares with others. Our Sunday School provides the answer to his spiritual need! We are located on Brownfield Highway. The Pastor of our church is A. L. Beggs. We'll meet you in Sunday School Sunday.

Mr. Simmons, who left here in 1944, operates a trailer park in Hawthorne, Calif., a suburb of Los Angeles. He was accompanied here by another daughter, Mrs. Vernell Carlon, also of Hawthorne, and they also visited in Dallas and Leonard.

INSEPARABLE

Explains Set-up On FHA Loans

Texas farmers can obtain three types of operating loans from the Farmers Home Administration, Walter T. McKay, Texas State Director, said today. The credit is available immediately and can be living expenses as well as the used to finance current farm and production of next year's crops.

The three kinds of operating loans are emergency loans, special livestock loans, and regular production and subsistence loans. The production and subsistence loans, are made only to operators of family-type farms. The emergency and livestock loans are made to operators of family-type farms and other farmers and ranchers as well. All of the loans are made only to farmers who are unable to obtain credit from other sources.

The regular production and subsistence loans help small farmers to improve their farming operations. These loans may be made to buy farm and home equipment, feed, seed, lime and fertilizer, and to pay other farm operating and family living expenses. There is a statutory limit of $7,000 on each production and subsistence loan and the total outstanding debt for these loans cannot exceed $10,000. Repayments are based on the income to be received each year after reasonable expenses are met. In no cases may the loan be run for more than 7 years.

When the main purpose of the production and subsistence loan is to improve the farmer's operations, a limited amount of funds may be included to refinance debts secured by liens on livestock and farm equipment.

Special livestock loans are made to producers and feeders of cattle, sheep, and goats, except commercial feed lot operators. These loans are made to meet usual expenses necessary to successful livestock operations, such as the purchase or production of feed, and replacing, hiring, or repairing farm machinery and equipment. Livestock loans are not made to expand operations or to pay existing debts, except incidental current bills.

Livestock loans are made for periods up to 3 years. Any balances remaining on these loans after the three years are serviced for collection based on the repayment ability of the borrower. Other creditors are not asked to subordinate their liens, but are expected to stand by and to agree that a reasonable part of the applicant's income from livestock can be used in repaying the loan.

Emergency loans are made to farmers and ranchers who because of losses suffered from the drought or local economic conditions need credit to continue their operations.

These loans may be used for purchases of feed, seed, fertilizer, machinery repair, replacement of equipment, and for other essential farm and home operating expenses. Emergency loans may not be made to pay existing debts. Ordinarily emergency loans to meet current operating and living expenses are expected to be repaid out of the year's income. Repayments on advances for other purposes are scheduled in accordance with the borrower's ability to repay.

It is not the policy of the Farmers Home Administration to foreclose on borrowers because of their inability to make payments when the payments are due, except where there appears to be absolutely no chance of the borrower's future success or where a borrower has violated the terms of his loan agreement.

There is no limit set by law on the amount that a farmer or rancher can borrow under the special livestock and emergency loan programs. The amount that can be borrowed under these programs is determined by the farmer's needs and his ability to repay. No loan is made unless it appears that an applicant has reasonable prospects for success.

For each loan made, the Government obtains the best security available including first lien on all crops to be produced with the loan and on all livestock and farm machinery purchased with the loan.

While special livestock and emergency loans cannot be used to re-finance existing debts the loan can include funds to pay interest on existing chattel and real estate debts and to pay creditors for the annual depreciation on chattels serving as security for their loans. In addition, local businessmen who are creditors benefit from loan funds used to purchase local supplies and services.

The county committees of the Farmers Home Administration pass on the eligibility of all applicants.

All applications for Farmers Home Administration loans are made at the agency's local county office.

Baptists Plan Study Of Life Of Christ

The Training Union of the First Baptist Church is offering to the people of Tahoka an unusually fine opportunity in the study of the life of Christ.

Beginning Sunday night Oct. 3, at 8:45, the full story of Christ will be presented in series from 26 films in all. They will be presented on each 1st and 3rd Sunday nights and last for a year.

The films for October, November and December are as follows: "Birth of John the Baptist," "Birth of the Savior," "Childhood of Jesus," "Ministry of John the Baptist," "First Disciples" and "The Woman at the Well".

This will give the children of Tahoka as well as parents an opportunity to make a planner study of the Gospels in a unique and most interesting manner.

These films are from 15 to 20 minutes long. Following the film, each 1st and 3rd Sunday nights, small children will be taught the use of the Rhythm Band, songs, Bible stories etc. in regular Training Union programs on all Sunday nights.

If you want your child to have some real Bible training, plan to start them this Sunday night. —J. Clifford Harris.
