Mrs. Pearl Brown returned to Houston Thursday for a visit there with her two daughters.

Precinct 4 Citizens Raising Funds For Building of Community House

Northwestern Lynn county has plans completed and much of the money raised for a Precinct 4 Community Club House, which will be erected at New Home.

A tile building 32 by 60 feet in size, complete with kitchen and restrooms, and expected to cost about $4,500.00, will be built just north of New Home Baptist Church. Construction is expected to start in the next two weeks.

The project is being sponsored by New Home Civic Club, but E. R. Blakney, the president, emphasizes that it is being built to serve the entire precinct, including Lakeview, Petty, Joe Stokes, and Dixie.

The club house will furnish a

Goad Winner Cotton Contest

Dwayne Goad of New Home was announced Saturday as the winner of the annual District 4 H Club dry-land cotton contest. Pat Shepard of Hale Center was winner of the irrigated cotton contest.

Dwayne, 15, and a ninth grade student in New Home High School, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester W. Goad, route 4, Tahoka, living about two miles east and two south of New Home.

Winners were announced at the annual awards banquet at noon Saturday at the new Plains Cooperative Oil Mill in Lubbock, sponsors of the contest, by Wilmer Smith, president of the mill.

The two first place winners each received a $125.00 cash award.

Goad produced 2102 pounds of lint from five acres of dry land cotton. He said he cultivated the crop four times, hoed it twice and picked it on September 20.

As winner of the dryland contest in Lynn county, he received a cash prize of $75.00 and a Stetson hat from Rutherford's.

Dan Seely of O'Donnell, who produced 4,407 pounds of lint from five irrigated acres, did not place in the money at Lubbock, but he, too, won $75.00 cash and a Stetson in the county contest here.

Audit Approved Of County Finances

Lynn county commissioners' court on Monday approved the 1954 audit of the county's books as made by Mr. and Mrs. Harold P. Wine of Ballinger, auditors.

The auditors reported that every thing was in order and all funds accounted for. The audit covered the books of the tax collector, treasurer, and other officers handling money.

Jaycees Name New Officials

The re-activated Tahoka Jaycees elected a slate of officers and directors at a meeting Monday night in the county court room.

The new officers are: Bill Chaney, president; Roy Everett, vice president; Leslie McNeely, secretary; David Massey, treasurer; and J. D. Davis, Dan Curry, Regan Reed, and Charles McClellan, directors.

The Jaycees will meet every Monday night at 7:30 o'clock.

Baptists Plan Ladies' Night

Rev. Lee Ramsour, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Athens and former Tahoka pastor, will be the principal speaker at the annual ladies' night banquet of the Brotherhood of the First Baptist Church here next Tuesday night, March 22, in the school cafeteria.

Rev. Winfred (Windy) Walker, educational director of the Temple Church in Amarillo and former educational director here, will bring the special music.

Durwood Howard is president of the First Baptist Brotherhood, and Ray Adams is the program chairman.

A steak dinner will be served, all and Baptist men and their wives are urged to be present. At last year's banquet, there were 200 people present.

Farm Bureau Is Nearing Goal

Five hundred and fifteen Lynn county farmers have either reinstated their membership or become new members in the Lynn County Farm Bureau to date, the local office announces.

When old members renew their membership by April 1, there will be at least 750 or 800 members. At this time last year, the membership stood at 511, and this year's drive is therefore far ahead of last.

Local workers say the Bureau is glad to write-up new members throughout the year.

Lynn Boys Take Area Show

Lynn county FFA and 4-H boys made a clean sweep of top honors at the 22nd annual South Plains Junior Fat Stock Show held in Lubbock Monday through Wednesday. They won all three grand championships.

Local boys took away the grand championship and reserve championship in the beef cattle division, grand championship in the lamb division, grand championship and many other top honors in the swine classes.

In addition, a Lynn county girl, Joyce Verkamp of Wilson, was selected as one of the two princesses of the show. And New Home FFA received the award for the most attractive and neat exhibit.

It was the first time in 22 years history of the show that any county has made such a sweep of the top honors.

Walton Terry, 16, Tahoka FFA boy and son of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Terry of route 1, showed the grand champion calf, a 1,010 pound Hereford steer, the same animal that was champion of the Lynn county show two weeks ago. Walton's coaches were V. P. Carter and Lester Adams, Tahoka vocational agriculture teachers.

Win Reserve, Too Reserve champion calf was a Hereford heavyweight calf shown by Jack Wood, age 9, Tahoka 4-H club boy and student in the elementary school here. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Wood, route 5, and his adviser is Bill Griffin, county agent. His and (Cont'd. On Back Page)

In the sale, Terry's calf brought $1.05 per pound, Wood's 51 cents.

Study 4-Lane Road Proposal

Tahoka Chamber of Commerce officials are giving careful study to the proposal of the Texas Highway Department to make a four-lane divided freeway of U. S. Highway No. 87 running north and south through Lynn county.

Last week, a committee from the C. of C. conferred with S. C. McCarty, Lubbock district highway engineer.

The State proposes, eventually to make a four-lane highway of No. 87 across the entire state.

Right now, the Highway Department is preparing plans and making surveys on the road from Lamesa to Tahoka. Lynn and Dawson counties will be expected to furnish the right-of-way.

Monday, the Dawson county commissioners' court reached a decision to issue time warrants not to exceed $90,000 at not more than three percent interest with which to buy the right-of-way from Lamesa to O'Donnell.

Lynn county Commissioners, although they have discussed the problems, have not reached a decision on a method of financing the right-of-way from O'Donnell to Tahoka, but it is entirely possible that the necessary land can not be secured without a bond issue.

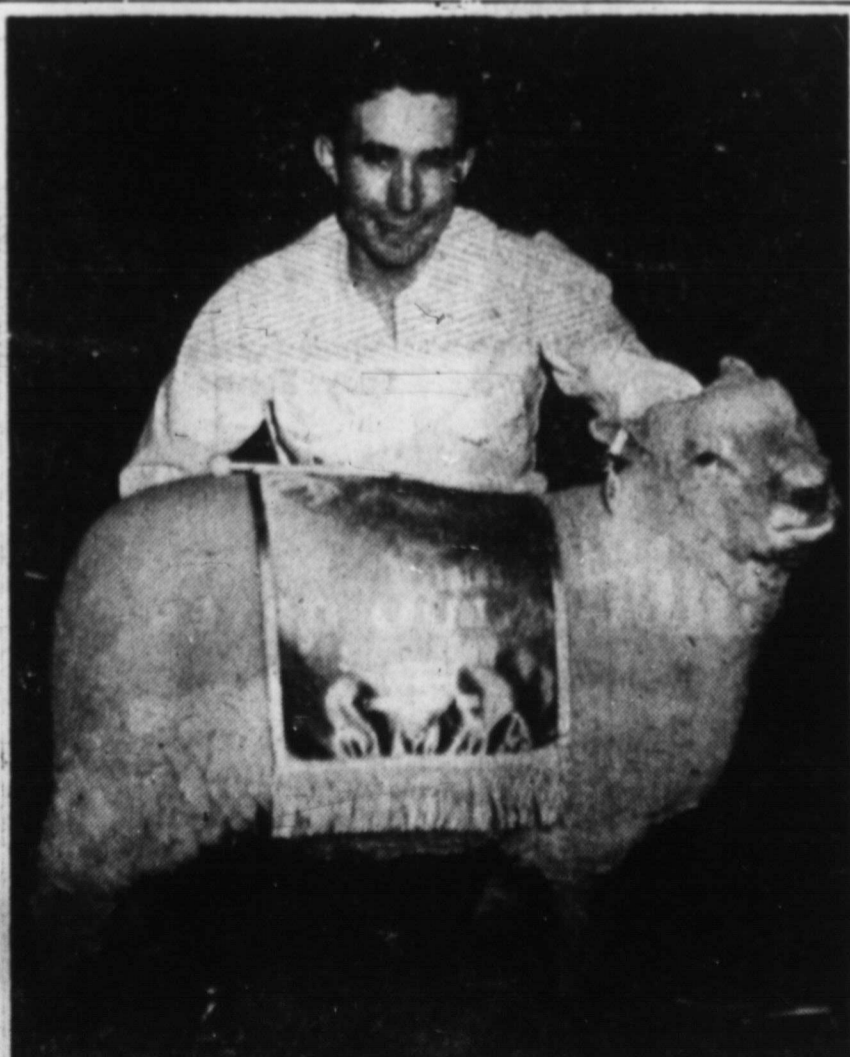

The Highway Department will ask for an additional 60-foot right-of-way, in addition to the present 100-foot right-of-way, and a reservation of 40 feet on each side of this in case it becomes necessary some day to make the road an express-way, the court has been informed.

Tahoka's special interest, Mitchell Williams, president of the Chamber of Commerce, said, in keeping the route through the business district of Tahoka. C. of C. officials believe the present route down Sweet street, across the corner of the courthouse square, and down Main street is sufficiently wide for four lanes. However, indications are that the Highway Department will seek to miss the town. In fact, preliminary surveys are now being run about two or three blocks west of Tahoka High School.

Most Tahoka people contacted are outspokenly opposed to such a route. District Engineer McCarty would not commit himself on Tahoka's proposal to keep the route as it now is.

WILSON PIG CHAMPION—Larry Mears, Wilson 4-H club boy, took away the grand championship with his Duroc barrow, which sold for a record price of $4.15 per pound.

O'DONNELL LAMB CHAMPION—Benny Edwards, 20, O'Donnell FFA, showed the grand champion lamb. The Southdown lamb brought $3.00 per pound in the sale.

Mr. and Mrs. "Doc" Dockery have recently bought the Tahoka Cafe business from Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Lackey. The cafe is on Main street north of Galignat's.

Mrs. C. A. Thomas, owner of the Tahoka postoffice building, is this week having new floor covering put down over the entire interior of the building.

Stock Show Prizes, Bonuses For Boys

Bonuses and prize money paid 4-H and FFA club boys in the annual Lynn County Junior Livestock Show amounted to a considerable amount in spite of the record number of entries.

Actually, there were 214 hogs, 44 sheep, and 48 fat calves entered, and an estimated 35 to 50 hogs were sifted out.

Approximately $450.00 in prize money was furnished by Tahoka Chamber of Commerce and Tahoka Rotary Club, $350.00 by the C-C and $100.00 by Rotary.

In addition, every animal entered brought its owner an added "incentive" or bonus cash award. In all, $1,316.50 in donations were supplied this fund. Actually, $1,255.00 was distributed, leaving a carryover of $61.50 for another year.

A $3.00 bonus was given for each hog and lamb, and a $10.00 bonus for each calf.

The bonus fund was solicited from business men and farmers from all over the county, and a fine distribution of contributors was represented this year.

The following people helped or were responsible in collecting this money: Kevill Coffman, West Post; Sam Edwards, Grassland; Joe D. Unfred, and Mr. Sharp, New Home; A. L. Holder, Wilson; Ralph Beach and others, O'Donnell; A. M. Bray, Cotton Carter, Ronald Sherrill, Granvel Ayer, Guy Wheatley and Herman Hack, Tahoka; Clint Walker and Dale Thuren took the responsibility of distributing the money.

When it became evident that the show was going to be bigger than ever before, it was decided to purchase a new weighing scales and to build 15 new permanent hog pens.

The scales were especially beneficial, since previously all animals had to be weighed at a local gin. A fund of $520.00 for the scales and pens was furnished by the following through-out the county: New Home Co-op, O'Donnell Co-op, Draw Paymaster, New Home Gin Co., Fenion Bros., T. V. Woolen Gin, Wells Co-op, Thomas Bros., Grassland Co-op, Tahoka Co-op, Leonard Crawford, and Ward Eakin.

In addition, approximately $50.00 worth of lumber and materials to build panels for temporary pens and chutes were furnished by Higginbotham-Bartlett Co. of Tahoka.

To handle so many entrants as efficiently as they did, credit must be given to the superintendents, namely, B. L. Hatchell, Ward Eakin, and Leonard Crawford; hogs; Ralph Beach, Sheep; and George Claude Wells, calves; Bill Griffin, county agent and superintendent; and last, but not least, to the overall help and supervision of the Vocational Agriculture instructors, V. P. Carter and Lester Adams of Tahoka; Derrell Sog of Wilson, Bennie Pryor of New Home, and James Reed of O'Donnell.

Following is a list of the contributors to the bonus fund:

Only three people correctly identified last week's Mystery farm, the first being Mrs. Pete Dorman, who lives on the place, the second being Donald Renfro of Tahoka, and the third, Jesse Dorman.

The farm is located five miles south and five west of Tahoka in the T-Bar community, and is owned by Mrs. I. N. Gaither of La-mesa, daughter of the late "Uucle Buck" Hancock, a pioneer of the county.

The one-section farm has been operated by Pete Dorman since 1942, and is a fine sandy-loam place. Pete raises cotton and feed, an usually has a bunch of beef cattle but the dry years of 1953 put him out of the cattle business.

The Dorman's have been here a long time, Pete and his wife, the then Miss Sue Ellen Johnson, daughter of Mrs. J. M. Johnson, now of Lubbock but formerly of Tahoka, were married at Post April 8, 1927.

The couple have three sons, Billy Dee, recently released from four years' service in the Navy and now farming the home place; J. H. Jr., who is employed by Lyntegar in Tahoka; and Pfc. Friday evening, March 11, in the school cafeteria, the Tahoka Garden Club presented the annual Style Show.

With the help of Robison's Ready-To-Wear, Abbie's Fashion Shop, and Marshall-Brown's, the Garden Club presented a dramatic fashion show with "Back to Nature" as the theme. The new long line and new bright colors were prominent in the styles. Clothes for every hour of the day were shown before a scene portraying nature in the tropics of Haiti.

Mrs. John Witt, president, and all members of the Garden Club sincerely appreciate Mrs. Pete Hegli's giving of her time to narrate the fashion story, Mrs. Harold Green and her girls for the songs, and Mrs. Dee Parker and girls for the dance numbers.

The show committee chairmen included Mmes. Lewis Allsup and Dale Thuren, script writers; Irving Stewart, music; Lum Haney, publicity; Ivan Cathcart, decorations.

The Garden Club will finish the project on school grounds, this year. A few trees and shrubs are to be replaced. The work was started three years ago. Drive by the school and see how a few trees and shrubs help.

Mrs. Haney, treasurer of the club, expects the show to net the club $175.00. About $15.00 will take care of the expense.

Insurance Talk At Rotary Club

Ralph Caldwell of Lubbock, representing the Southwestern insurance information service was the speaker at Tahoka Rotary Club Thursday noon of last week.

He said automobile liability and property damage insurance would cost five times the present rates if every claim were settled on the basis of the amounts demanded.

In an effort to hold down insurance rates, casualty insurance companies are waging a drive to cut down the number of accidents and hold down the amount of claims resulting from accidents.

He explained how some people pad their claims, or make claims for damages for which they are not due payment, how court cases and exaggerated claims and overly sympathetic juries all contribute toward increasing insurance rates on an all.

Mrs. Reuben McElroy is again working as secretary in the office of O. D. Howard of the Production Credit Association, succeeding Mrs. J. A. Pebsworth, Jr., who resigned.

Odds AND Ends

(BY E. L. THE ELDER)

This week, we are going with Miss Emma Jewel Ross down into the desert, into a strange land and among a strange people. Rather, she is going to tell us about this land and this people so graphically that I am sure that all of you who read this Column will feel like that you have actually taken the trip with her. Now, we are going to quote copiously from that wonderful little book she has written entitled "Living Where Jesus Lived," although Jesus in fact never did live in the desert and probably never did even visit it except along its outer edges. But numerous ancestors of his came across it. And now we quote.

"At dawn on a bright morning in early May another woman and I left Damascus for the famous city on the Tigris—Bagdad, 'the God given,' as its Arabic name implies. What a magic word to conjure with, how it hints of adventure and romance. Until a few years ago this trip from Damascus to Bagdad required about three weeks by camel caravan, and now we expected to make it in two days and a night by motor car. We had to be prepared for any emergency, however, and so each passenger took a three day's supply of food and water; for while an unusual amount of food is not required on this trip, water is a most important item. Without it one soon perishes.

"We were traveling with a native caravan, for it is not safe to travel through this robber-infested country without a guard, and so police cars of the Desert patrol escorted us. One went ahead of our convoy, another bringing up the rear. For centuries thieving and brigandage were a most honored and popular profession on the desert, according to their standards the only crime was in being caught; but since the first World War, things have changed, and the strong arm of the Desert Patrol is attempting to at least control, if not stamp out, the age-old custom.

"The horizon blazed orange and red, and the desert sands were pink as we drove out into the desert. Stunted bushes of gray-green camel-thorn were growing in the barren soil, and millions of tiny bright flowers were blooming all about us. It was springtime, and it had rained on this part of the desert. There were no roads; the chauffeur just drove where the ground looked hard and smooth. He seemed to know by instinct the general direction in which to go.

"This desert is not like the desert in Egypt. Here we have immense stretches of hard baked clay, others of gravel and flint. There are hills and valleys, and then again it is more like a sea of sand. I can easily understand why the camel is called a 'ship of the desert.' Still, it is the same endless peaceful desert under the blue sky, always silent—and will be silent for evermore—a dead silence, with no significance save that of absence of life. It has also been called the 'land of the great thirst.'

"The mirage was beyond description. All day long we saw the most wonderful and fantastic scenes, all more beautiful than a picture any artist could paint, but there was nothing about it to make one think it was a picture. It was real. There were hills reflected in a river of heavenly blue, which glistened with bright unearthliness; there was a lake of silvery-blue waters with trees and lofty palms flanking its shores where stood white houses with bright roofs, a most peaceful, beautiful Arabian paradise, peopled with fairy-like creatures. But there were actually no hills and rivers—just desert; we were truly in the land of the Arabian Knights.

tual family of the Lord of the Universe, comes to them, not as a fantasy, but as reasonable and attractive; as is also the idea of our Heir from motives of love rather than fear—as a chief's son, his father.

"As we passed an occasional Bedouin on his camel, and could see for such a great distance the cloud of dust he made, I kept thinking of Abraham and his life on the desert. For he too must have lived in black goat-hair tents; very similar to the ones we were seeing. The faith and courage it must have taken for him to leave the fertile fields of his home-land, his relatives and friends, and start out across a barren desert because the Lord had said unto him, 'Get thee out of thy country, and from thy kindred, and from thy father's house, unto a land that I will show thee.' (Gen. 12:1)

"By sunset we had reached Rutba Wells and the rest house of the Desert Patrol, for we were now in the heart of the desert and had to be protected from the robbing bands of Bedouins. There was no Desert Patrol to protect Abraham and his party. But he had quite a caravan of his own, for he had Sarai, his wife; Lot, his brother's son, all their substance, and the souls that they had gotten in Haran. (From Gen. 12:5)

"After supper and a little rest we drove out into the bright moonlight through the land of 'A Thousand and one Nights' toward the Cradle of Civilization. It was more pleasant traveling by moonlight than in the intense glare of the sun. We drove on and on until 3 a. m., when we stopped for a little rest and lay down on the fine, clean sand by the side of our car to sleep. But I could not sleep, for all about me was the limitless desert, so still, so fantastic in its desolation, so still so lovely and peaceful in the pale golden moonlight. The stars seemed near enough to touch them. Here one seemed so close to the Divinity that he could imagine, in the silence of the desert, the whisper of God. I can understand why God brought the Israelites into the desert. They were close to Him there, for there was no place for them to hide from His all-seeing eye. It was nearly two thousand years ago that the wise men from out of the East followed a star across this same desert in their search for Him 'that is born King of the Jews.' 'After an hour's rest we were on our way again across the sand, miles and miles of it, until at last we reached the Euphrates River. Not far from here on the banks of this small, sluggish, muddy river is located the traditional site of the Garden of Eden. It is barren and desolate now, but all it requires is irrigation to make it blossom like the rose.' The word 'Eden' is the word for 'plain' in the Sumerian language, the oldest language known in this part of the world, and so the Garden of Eden simply means the Garden of the Plain.

panions. We stopped, and such talking, laughing, and rejoicing as they had. I was quite bewildered and did not know what it was all about. Fancy being met outside the city gates and having such a welcome! Was this, too, a part of this enchanted country, or were they in the habit of sending out cars to greet travelers? It seemed like a storying-looking people too, both men and women, and proved to be relatives who had come out to meet our Armentan traveling companions.

"We were to live at the British Y. M. C. A. The house was built, as all of the houses of the East are built today, the same as in Bible days, with the stairway going up on the outside of the house. The bedrooms were all upstairs because it was cooler there. After sunset we sat on the flat rooftop and talked—a custom that is still practiced as it was centuries ago.

"There is something stirring in the evening air of Bagdad. The moon came out in all its eastern splendor, and I began to quote Omar Khayyam:

A book of verses underneath the bough,
A jug of wine, a loaf of bread—
Beside me singing in the wilderness,
Oh, wilderness were a Paradise
enow!

History tells us that Omar was a great scientist and inventor, the Edison of his day, but now he is best known through his little book of verse.

"But beg for me, for tomorrow a visit to Ctesiphon was promised! Ah! this was the place where they had the wonderful carpet, magic or not, it was set with jewels. I remembered that much, but fortunately my English friends knew their ancient history better than I. This was once when history seemed stranger than fiction, it all sounded like a fairy tale as we sat on a mound of dirt which the excavators had left near the ruins, and heard it told again.

"A great palace at Ctesiphon on the Tigris River, twenty-five miles below the present city of Bagdad, is known to have been built by the Persian king, Chosroes I, in A. D. 550. The only portion of the palace that still exists is that which was built of burnt brick. The huge arch, which is the largest masonry arch still standing in Asia, was built over the enormous hall where the Persian kings, seated on their golden thrones, held splendid court. It is known as the Hall of Audience and is 115 feet long and 85 feet high. The magnificent vaulted roof was bedecked with golden stars, arranged to represent the motions of the planets among the twelve signs of the Zodiac.

"On the wall of this hall hung the royal banqueting carpet, 70 cubits long and 60 broad, representing a garden, the grounds wrought in gold, the walks in silver, meadows of emeralds and riverlets of pearls; trees, flowers, and fruits of sparkling diamonds, rubies, and other precious stones.

"Where is all this now? Certainly time and warring armies have done their worst here. Where once stood all this splendor, now we see only a desolate waste and the shell of the magnificent hall. When the Caliph Omar, who with his army of twenty thousand men came out of the East, Isdegerd III, King of Persia, fled hastily to the Zagros Mountains without carrying off more than a small portion of the treasures which his ancestors had accumulated for four centuries. Ctesiphon was undoubtedly a rich prize. The prize agents had a heavy task, for each soldier's share was four to five hundred pounds, and a pound is five dollars. It was not such poor pay to be a soldier in Omar's army, was it?

"When the rest of the spoils had been disposed of, Omar asked about the carpet. The decision was made to cut it into pieces and give each soldier a piece. That is the story of the jeweled carpet. The Grand Hall was consecrated as a place of prayer by Omar and his followers, and here the Friday or Cathedral service of Islam was first celebrated in the land of Persia."

And thus, Miss Ross has pictured for us two of the most marvelous structures of all history, the Temple, or group of Temples constructed by some of the ancient Baal-worshippers in the Lebanon Mountains in Syria; and the grand Palace at Ctesiphon by the Persians on the banks of the Tigris River 25 miles below Bagdad, most eminently celebrated for its rich ornamentation and the marvelous carpet that hung on the wall of the great throne room of the kings.

The grandeur of Solomon's Temple in Jerusalem fades into insignificance as compared with the grandeur of these pagan Temples and Palaces of the Sun. Miss Ross' next contribution will be almost as wonderful.

No wonder you see so many 1955 Buicks on the highways—they're rolling up bigger sales than ever before in history—topping the popularity that has already made Buick one of the "Big Three" in total national sales.

A "Small Car" price makes it yours

—delivered and ready to roll

WE keep coming across a good many people who still are surprised when they see the low delivered price of the Buick shown here.

They're surprised because they know that this price is just about what a lot of the smaller cars are asking—if not more.

But that's just the point.

What's making the 1955 Buick the hottest one in all Buick sales history is the simple fact that its low delivered price buys so much more automobile.

Much more automobile when it comes to the lift and life of great V8 power—Buick power in record might.

Much more automobile when it comes to style and size and room and ride steadiness—and the integrity of construction that comes of Buick building.

Much more, too, when it comes to matching your motoring needs to the simple practicality of your budget—because Buick offers you a stunning choice in just about every price class...

THS Junior Class Will Present Play "Boarding House Reach" March 18

"The Boarding House Reach" is the title of the Junior Class play, a comedy in three acts, which is being presented tonight, Friday, at 8 o'clock in Tahoka High Auditorium.

In addition to the play, some special entertainment numbers will be presented between acts. Here is the story and the cast of the play: For many years now, 13-year-old Wilbur Maxwell (Ware High) has wanted a bicycle. He's dreamed of peddling through town, getting fond gazes from the girls, and boastfully shouting, "Look, no hands!" But he still can't persuade Mama (Othelda Freeman) and Papa (Robert Draper) to jar down—to get him one. So, when Pop is called away for a week-long business trip, Mom is persuaded to go with him for sort of a second honeymoon, and the house is left in charge of sister Connie (Ann Reasonover) and sister Betty Lou (Joyce Earley). Wilbur gets his idea. He'll make his own money and buy his own bicycle. He'll open up a boarding house right here. Wilbur knows there's a frightful housing shortage, he knows people need places to sleep, and he knows for a whole week he can really clean up and just be rolling in bicycles.

Community . . .

Approximately $2,700.00 cash is already in hand and a considerable sum has been pledged for construction of the building. Much labor and materials will be donated, Blakney said.

The recent community sale brought in $2,150.00, the Home Demonstration Club raised $80.00 from concessions at the sale, and other cash turned in amounted to $450.00. Recently, New Home school bought four and a half acres of land, located just north of the Baptist Church and north of the school from S. L. Smith. This will be used for a standard size football field, since New Home is entering Class B 11-man football. Lights from the present field will be moved to the new site, which will be improved and sodded.

The Community building will be erected on the southeast corner of this tract. The building committee is composed of Roy L. Williams, chairman, C. E. Roper, L. H. Moore Jr., L. C. Unfred, Delbert Mouser, Frank Liseby Jr., Dub Thompson, in charge of electrical installation; and David Peterson, in charge of plumbing installation. wards, and H. Q. Sharp. All people interested in such project are invited to make contributions to the fund.

Low Prices Paid
Sale prices paid for most animals in the Lubbock show were very disappointing. Walton Terry's 1,010-pound grand champion Hereford was auctioned to Western Cottonoil Co. for $1.05 per pound, but Jack Wood's reserve champion Hereford brought only 51 cents per pound. Other calves placing in the show brought only 31 cents per pound, or four cents above market price while those not placing and those sifted brought only the market price of 25.90 for heavies and 25.95 for lights. Larry Mears' 222 pound grand champion pig brought a record bid of $4.15 per pound from Sears, but those below top placings brought only 21 cents per pound and the others market price of 15.70. Benny Edwards' grand champion lamb, weighing 101 pounds, brought a bid of $3.00 per pound from Farmers Coop Compress, while ordinary placers brought 29 cents, or about 10 cents above market, and those not placing and sifted lambs brought 18.50 to 19.40. Lynn county boys placing 11th to 17th in the Odessa show last week got 50 to 55 cents per pound there for their calves. Show Is Largest The Lubbock show was the largest in its history, with a total of 1,119 animals entered. Sifted out were 167 of the 650 hogs brought in, as were 38 of the 149 calves, and 86 of the 320 sheep. Two weeks ago, at the show in Tahoka, Dean W. L. Stangel, the judge of fat calves, told The News that the Lynn County Junior Show was one of the best over-all county shows in the country. Dean Stangel, however, commented on the fact that it is a shame that Lynn county does not

Wilson Girl Is Show Princess

Miss Joyce Verkamp, 18 daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Verkamp of Wilson, route 1, was on Saturday named one of the two princesses of the South Plains Junior Fat Stock Show being held in Lubbock the first of this week.

The other princess is Miss Doris Ann Fields, 15, of Muleshoe, a 4-H club nominee.

Miss Verkamp, a blonde, was nominated by Wilson FFA, and is a senior in Wilson High School. There were 21 FFA princess candidates and 12 4-H club candidates.

The two girls have been honored at several special occasions during the stock show this week.

GARDEN CLUB MEETS WITH MRS. J. B. OLIVER

Tahoka Garden Club met Tuesday, March 15, in Mrs. J. B. Oliver's home.

Mr. Dale Thuren brought us a program on insects and their control. A representative of the California Spray-Chemical Co., Mr. McCarthy, presented a color and sound film and a display of the Ortho Products.

The arrangements stressed containers and the accessories. Mrs. Calloway Huffaker's was lavender and pussywillow; Mrs. Irving Stewart's of acacia and daffodils; Mrs. Louie Weathers' peach blossoms, and Mrs. John Witt's was pear blossoms.

The April meeting will be on table settings in Mrs. J. K. Applewhite's home.

CARD OF THANKS

We want to thank Dr. Emil Prohl and the nurses at the hospital; the Fire boys who sat up with Frank during his illness; the friends for the many kind deeds, words of comfort, floral offerings, and the food. May God bless each of you.—The family of Mrs. Pearl Brown.

Test of a Clown

From the mirror on his iron lung in the Baltimore, Md., Children's Hospital School, this five-year-old gazes at one of the clowns who performed in the hospital wards under Red Cross sponsorship. At right is a volunteer Motor Service driver from the Baltimore Red Cross chapter. She represents one of the many services offered by community residents all over the nation through their Red Cross.

Learning To Save Lives

A Red Cross Aquatic School student learns newest method of artificial respiration at one of 30 Red Cross Aquatic Schools conducted throughout the nation last year. Through schools like this, about 8,000 young people each year spend ten rugged days learning to teach swimming, boating and first aid techniques that help them save lives.

MRS. TURNER HOST TO NEW HOME H. D. CLUB

The New Home Home Demonstration Club met in the home of Mrs. Dick Turner Thursday, March 10, for a study on club organization.

Mrs. Loyd McCormick gave the history of Home Demonstration club work, and she included in this the history of the Lynn county organization. The late Mrs. E. I. Hill (Millie Halsey) was the first agent in Lynn county, and began work in 1924. Mrs. McCormick also displayed a photograph taken in 1928 of a group of 15 Lynn County women who attended the Short Course at A. & M. College that year. New Home women in the picture were Mrs. J. R. Strain and Mrs. McCormick. The similarity of some of the dresses pictures to our present days styles caused much comment.

An interesting skit on Women's responsibilities in helping create safety on the highways was given by Mrs. Dick Turner and Mrs. L. C. Unfred.

Mrs. Carlice Edwards, president of the Club, discussed the duties of her office. The vice-president's duties were given by Mrs. Virgil Haley, and Mrs. K. K. Moore gave the duties of the secretary and treasurer.

The club's by-laws were discussed by Mrs. N. B. Hancock, and parliamentary procedure as practiced in club work was explained by Mrs. Boswell Edwards. Mrs. Wilmer Smith discussed the opportunities provided for leadership training in Home Demonstration Club work, pointing out the need for leaders in all phases of community life, and gave the advantages of "learning to do by doing"

Twenty members were present, including one new member, Mrs. Luke Halford. Refreshments of French pastries and coffee were served by the hostesses, Mrs. L. C. Unfred and Mrs. Dick Turner.

CARD OF THANKS

We deeply appreciate the words and cards of sympathy, the beautiful floral offerings that have meant so much to us in our grief over the loss of our loved one, Walter Caswell. We also want to thank the many people who called and who helped in any way during his illness. We also want to thank those who brought in food, and especially Judge and Mrs. Walter Mathis for opening their home to our family. May God bless each of you is our prayer.—The family of W. W. Caswell.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Birdrow of Los Angeles, Calif., are here visiting her grandmother, Mrs. J. C. Carpenter, and aunt, Mrs. Lawrence Harvick. Mrs. Birdrow is the former Miss Betty Lou Ivey, who lived here as a child, and her husband is a member of the Los Angeles Police Department.

Tabokan Dies In Car Wreck

Douglas Lyle (Buddy) Reid, 28 formerly of Tahoka but more recently of Levelland, was one of four killed in a car-butane truck head-on collision just south of Wellman at about 1:15 a. m. Sunday. Three other people were injured in the accident.

Funeral services were held here Wednesday at 2 p. m. in the Sweet Street Baptist Church, and burial was in Draw Cemetery.

Also killed in the accident were: Charles Wayne Hensley, 19, Mrs. Wilma Raye Carrigan, 20, and Mrs. Bonnie Lenore Thompson, 22, all of Levelland. Injured were Otis Ellison, 24, of Levelland; Mrs. Wilma Jean Ellison, 24, of Morton; and James Madison Gober, of Lubbock.

Officers said the accident occurred as the car was headed north and the empty butane truck was headed south. The car, driven by the owner, Hensley, apparently was on the wrong side of the road when it collided with the truck driven by Gober, who was alone in this vehicle. There were no eye witnesses. Bodies were taken to Brownfield. Gober was taken to Seagraves hospital and later released, having only minor injuries. Mrs. Ellison was taken to Brownfield and later to a Morton hospital, where she is suffering a broken arm, broken ankle, facial lacerations, and multiple bruises. Mr. Ellison was taken to a Brownfield hospital suffering internal injuries and multiple bruises, where he was reported "doing well."

The body of Reid was brought to Stanley Funeral Home here. He is a son of Mrs. Mimmie Reid of Hillsboro, formerly of Draw and Tahoka, and the late Andrew L. Reid. He was born in Crosby county June 29, 1928. He lived here a number of years, and recently had been an Oil field worker at Levelland.

In addition to his mother, he is survived by two sons, Kenneth Reid and Jerry Don Reid, and one daughter, Donna Kay Reid, all of Louisiana; two brothers, Garland and Wayne, both of Natl; Oregon; nine sisters, Mrs. Mildred Fisher of Dalles, Ore. Mrs. LaVerne Windham of Farmington, N. M., Mrs. Jeannae Minard of Tahoka, and Mrs. Verna Jenkins, Mrs. T. D. White, Geraldine, Shirley Anne, Nancy Jo, and Carolyn Reid, all of Hillsboro; four half brothers, J. A. of West, Preston of Slaton, and Grady and Douglas of Eugene, Ore.; a half sister, Mrs. Ruth Dougherty of Vernon.

Tom Reid, county treasurer, who has been ill for several weeks, is now improving gradually and is able to be up most of each day.

W. M. U. NEWS

The W. M. U. of the First Baptist Church met at the church last Monday for the Royal Service program with 18 members present. A very interesting study the "Cooperative Program" was led by Mrs. Everton Nevill. The devotional thought, "That the World May Know," was given by Mrs. Truett Smith.

Then the question, "What is Missions?" was asked by our leader. The answer was given by a panel of six ladies, namely, Mrs. James Huey, Mrs. Clifford Harris, Mrs. Bryan Wright, Mrs. Carl Williams, Mrs. H. B. Howell, and Mrs. J. M. Judge.

A special feature on the program was given by Mrs. Dub Kenly, who represented the Cooperative Program. We were dismissed in prayer by Mrs. John Roberts.

Next Monday, the W. M. U. will meet in circles to finish the study of the Alaska book. They will meet in the following homes: Walker Circle, Mrs. Borden Davis; Sallee Circle, Mrs. J. F. Toler; Sharpley Circle, Mrs. Paul Cox; and Wingo Circle, Mrs. James Gage.

The nursery will be open at the home of Mrs. O. W. Green for the children of mothers who wish to go to W. M. U.

Sam Floyd, Lamesa police chief and former Lynn county sheriff, who recently suffered a very severe heart attack, is reported to be at home, improving gradually, and sitting up a part of the time.

Three-month-old Bobby Hill of Blanchester, Ohio was America's youngest iron lung patient in 1954. This emergency March of Dimes respirator saved his life. Now freed from the respirator, Bobby will continue to receive all the March of Dimes help he needs in his journey back to health. The March of Dimes will end on January 31.

THE HOPE:

This past summer 440,000 school children throughout America were inoculated with a trial polio vaccine, which offers great hope for the future. Now the results of this enormous trial operation are being evaluated by Dr. Thomas Francis Jr. and his staff at the University of Michigan. The Francis Report will be issued some time this spring. Until then, no one will know whether the trial vaccine is the beginning of the end for polio.

THE GAMBLE:

While the Francis Report is being awaited, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis is taking a $9,000,000 calculated risk on the success of the trial vaccine. Here's how: the National Foundation is purchasing enough of the vaccine right now to give three inoculations each to about 9,000,000 people. This is so it can be used immediately where most needed, if the Francis Report is favorable. The stakes are high but worth it.

THE OUTLOOK:

If the vaccine is licensed for use, it will mean that thousands of children, and adults too, will be spared the ordeal of Bobby Hill, youngest iron lung patient stricken in 1954. But for Bobby Hill himself, a proven vaccine can be of no help. His will be a long and difficult fight, just as it will be for thousands of other polio patients. And even with a successful vaccine it will not be possible to prevent many thousands of new cases during the next few years.

To pay for all this... vaccine, treatment of patients like Bobby Hill, new scientific research, training of treatment personnel and for special equipment such as iron lungs... your generous contribution to the March of Dimes is needed.

Couple Married In Rites At Lakeview

Before a fireplace decorated with white stock and greenery and flanked by baskets of flowers, Miss Charlotte Gayle Valentine and James Smith exchanged wedding vows Friday, March 11, at 8:00 p. m. in the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. John Timmons at Lakeview.

Gary Valentine, brother of the bride and a student at Wayland College, read the single ring ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Odell Valentine, and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Smith, all of Ropesville.

Wedding music was played by Jerry Sue Milliken. Carolyn Nowlin, cousin of the bride, sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly." Mrs. Sallie Godfrey, great aunt of the bride, sang "Always." Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a waltz length white moire faille dress trimmed in rhinestones. Her headdress was white carnations and tulle. She carried a white Bible mounted with a bouquet of white carnations and satin streamers.

Bridesmaid Betty Jane Hansard wore a street length blue faille dress and a tiara of white carnations.

Best man was John. Smith, brother of the bridegroom. Following the wedding, a reception was given in the dining room. The bride's table was laid with linen cutwork cloth and centered with blue and white tiered wedding cake. Misses Patsy Sosebee, Carolyn Nowlin, and Jerry Sue Milliken served the cake and punch.

After a wedding trip to Ruidoso, New Mexico, the couple will be at home at Ropesville, where the bride will graduate in May.

 Our Youth Revival was one of the very best, and our young people did credit to any Church. Rev. Claude Tedder, the young evangelist, brought some very fine, and Scriptural messages. Rev. Holcomb directed the song services, and did extra well in the services. Several of our local young people brought special messages in song. We will begin our Spring Revival April 1, with Rev. J. E. Moore of Muleshoe, doing the preaching. Make your plans to be with us. You will always find a warm welcome awaiting you at this friendly church.—F. E. Woolery, Pastor.
