Negro Student Is Controversy Center

About 25 men met Tuesday night with the Tahoka School Board in protest against the admission of a Negro student to Tahoka High School.

The group asked the board if it would consider evidence they expected to present showing that a majority of the people of the school district were opposed to the Board's policy in admitting the Negro.

In fact, individuals in the group heatedly demanded that the Negro be removed immediately and that no other Negroes be admitted to the school.

The board agreed to give consideration to any evidence the group would present.

Members of the group pointed out that only 34 of about 900 schools in Texas have desegregated this year.

Spokesmen for the group included Reuben McElroy, Reid Parker, Alton Greer, Rayford Smith, "Buck" Cook, Bill Chancy, and Ragan Reid.

J. A. Bartlett Is Buried Here

J. A. Bartlett, nearly 80, died at about 8 p. m. Tuesday at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Martin Nichols, Post. His home was in Tulla.

Funeral services were held Thursday at 3 p. m. in the First Methodist Church of Tahoka with Elder W. H. Fox of Amarillo officiating. Burial was in Tahoka Cemetery under direction of Mason Funeral Home of Post and Stanley Funeral Home of Tahoka.

Mr. Bartlett had been ill a long time. Recently he had been a patient in Garza Memorial Hospital at Post but had been released to the daughter's home when death came, James Minor of Post told The News.

Born on Sept. 24, 1875, in White county, Tennessee, Mr. Bartlett was married to Miss Dovie Hicks Gaines county April 15, 1914. They lived in Dawson county until 1925, spent a year at Portales, N. M. and two years at Slaton. They moved to Tahoka in 1928 and lived near the old school building in South Tahoka until 1940, when they moved to Tulla, where they have lived ever since.

He is survived by his wife; one son, Bryce of Humble; three daughters, Mrs. Nichols of Post, Mrs. E. N. Kimble of Atlanta, Georgia, and Mrs. J. L. Crittenden of Midland; 14 grandchildren; and three brothers, Walter E., Wade H. and Edsal Bartlett, all of Lamesa.

A daughter is buried here.

Vandals Damage New Cars Here

About $800.00 damage was done three new Chevrolet cars parked inside the enclosure at the rear of Bray Chevrolet Co. some time during Tuesday night by unknown culprits.

Some one used a sharp object to maliciously scratch up the paint along the sides and rear of the machines, which will require completely new paint jobs on each car.

A. M. Bray, owner of the Chevrolet agency, is chairman of the school board which on that night heard a heated protest from a number of citizens. He has also, in the past two weeks, received several anonymous telephone threats because of the board's action in admitting a Negro student to the Tahoka schools.

"This malicious damage to my property may be a coincidence, and I hope it is," Mr. Bray told The News, "But, to say the least, it is a poor method to gain reprisal for a difference in opinion."

60 People Go On Field Tour

About sixty people, including three ladies, made the annual Soil Conservation Field Tour of Lynn county to visit some of the outstanding farms on Tuesday.

Following a barbecue dinner served in the deer pasture of the Thomas Brothers at Grassland, the group heard a talk by O. F. Armstrong of Abilene, planning engineer of the State Soil Conservation Board.

Mr. Armstrong told the history of the Soil Conservation organization, and issued a strong plea for the Plains farmers to do something about saving their soil for future generations. He graphically told how Central Texas, once a rich farming area, had seen the fertility of its soil terribly depleted in his own lifetime.

Leaving Tahoka at 9 a. m., the motorcade made its first stop at the Joe D. Unfred farm in the (Cont'd. on back page)

Two Are Killed In Car Wreck

A Tahoka lady and her son were killed in a fiery car wreck near Edna, in south Texas, at about 4 p. m. Saturday.

They were Mrs. S. B. (Zora) Roe, 50, and Clarence Roe, 12. Also injured in the wreck but now improving nicely were Mrs. Roe's daughter, Emily, age 13, and two nieces, Minnie Ruth Milton, about 14, of Edna; and Shirley Barnett, 12, of San Angelo; and her brother, Clarence W. Milton, 48, of Eagle Lake.

Funeral services for the mother and son were held at 2 p. m. Monday in the United Pentecostal Church at El Campo, and burial was in the East Bernard Methodist Cemetery.

Mrs. Roe and children had been visiting in El Campo with relatives for about five weeks.

While driving down the highway Saturday afternoon in a car owned and driven by Mrs. Roe's brother, Clarence Milton, they were struck from behind by a car driven by Fred Scholibo of Houston, allegedly drunk. He was also seriously injured.

On being struck, the Milton car exploded and burned, and all the occupants received burns as well as crash injuries.

Mrs. Roe, who lived in Tahoka, was born July 4, 1905, in Robertson county, and was married 26 years ago to S. B. Roe at Columbus. The family came to Lynn county in 1941. Clarence Roe was born here on Sept. 2, 1943.

Survivors include the husband and father, S. B. Roe; Cecil Billings of Houston and Mrs. Lena Mae Yearly of Elmore City, Okla., son and daughter of Mrs. Roe by previous marriage; four other daughters, Mrs. Florence Kebo of Cleveland, Okla., Mrs. Inez Gandy, Mrs. Patricia Mahan and Emily Roe, all of Tahoka; and one son, Welurd Roe of Wilson.

Wilson Youth Has Top Gilt

Coy Rinne, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Rinne, Wilson route 2, won first place in the Lynn County 4-H Sears Gilt Show held here Saturday morning.

He will enter his animal in the area contest at Texas Tech this Saturday, according to County Agent Bill Griffin.

Also entering the area show will be Lester Ford, son of C. E. Ford, Tahoka route 2, who will show the county project boar.

Coy's brother, Albert, took second place in the contest here Saturday. Rodney Maeker, also of Wilson, won third; Wayne Gieghorn, Tahoka route 3, fourth; and Lloyd Davis, O'Donnell, route 3, fifth.

Judges of the gilts were B. L. Hatchell of Wilson and Ward Eakin of Tahoka.

Next Wednesday and Thursday are the dates set for the annual Lynn County Fair, and farm people over the county are selecting specimens for showing in the event, which will be held at the Fair grounds northeast of the business section of Tahoka.

County Agent Bill Griffin said Wednesday he expects 10 or 15 merchants' exhibits, proceeds from which will go toward paying the premiums.

"We have plenty of exhibit space, and would appreciate everyone, men, women, and boys and girls, bringing in anything they think is of top quality or interest to help make the fair a success," Mr. Griffin said.

The fair is open to any and all agricultural products and livestock grown and produced in Lynn county by Lynn county people. The Hereford division is open to Dawson and Garza counties.

V. L. Botkin is general manager of the Fair.

Community exhibits are under the direction of Albert Curry, and each community is asked to get together an exhibit meeting requirements listed in the catalogue for which space 8x8 feet is provided.

Hubert Edwards is general superintendent of the individual agricultural exhibits, with Ward Eakin and Leonard Crawford in charge of swine entries; George C. Wells, beef cattle.

In the Women's department, Mrs. K. K. Moore is general superintendent, with Mrs. T. A. Stone her assistant; Mrs. H. D. Dean, bread and cakes; Mrs. Buel Draper, textiles; Mrs. Ophelia Wilson, relics, antiques, and curios; Mrs. Weldon Martin, canned fruits and vegetables; Mrs. G. C. Wells, 4-H exhibits; and Mrs. Irving Stewart, plants and cut flowers.

Fair officers and directors are: Tom Garrard, president; V. L. Botkin, secretary; Wilmer Smith, J. W. Gardenhire, George C. Wells, W. C. Wharton, and Albert Curry.

Bulldogs Will Meet Denver City Mustangs Tonight

Tahoka Bulldogs meet the Denver City Mustangs here tonight at 8 o'clock in a game that promises to be a good one, for the Mustangs will be seeking to avenge a 32 to 6 loss to the Tahoka boys last year.

The Mustangs are very big and may become a top team of the area, according to Robert Harvick, who scouts for the Bulldog coaches, Bill Haralson and Dean Wright.

They lost their opener to Sudan 13 to 6, but they are much better than their 38 to 6 loss to powerful Seminole Indians last Friday would indicate. Coach Wilson Head is building back after losing his great team of 1953.

Led by little Quarterback Don Bigby, 130, starting halfbacks will probably be Elvis Weir, 142, and J. M. Nelson, 157. Olen Cardwell, 183, is the fullback.

In the line are: Bill Motley, 150, and Jerry Kirby, 144, ends; Bill Brown, 187, and Leon Wilson, 206, tackles; Darrell Scott, 152, and Billy McDowell, 157, ends; and David Hull, 186, center.

Charley Clinton, ill for several weeks, was able to go home again Wednesday from Tahoka Hospital.

Mrs. W. A. Armes, who underwent surgery at Tahoka Hospital Thursday of last week, expects to go home today.

Local Committee Named To Approve Farm Purchases

The amended veterans' Land Act of the 54th Legislature became effective on Sept. 6, and in the future all applications to buy land under the program in Texas must be approved by a local committee of three men.

On Monday, in compliance with the act, the Lynn County Commissioners Court appointed a local committee composed of W. B. (Bill) Griffin, F.B. Hegi, and A. M. Cade to pass on any applications from this county for the purchase of land through the Veterans' Land Act.

Youths Are New District Officers

Tahoka FFA boys attended the District meeting held in Brownfield Monday afternoon, and Walton Terry of the local chapter was elected district secretary.

Jerry Church of Wilson is president, and Homer Dan Vaughn of O'Donnell is vice-president.

The boys made plans for the District FFA banquet, which will be held in Tahoka this year. The date was set tentatively for Nov. 7 at 7:30 p. m.

They also set the dates for District Leadership contests. The Chapter Conducting and Quiz contest will be on Nov. 15, and the Radio Broadcast and Farm Skills contests will be Nov. 22.

Bond Election Is Next Week

Money has already been allocated by the State and Federal governments for building of a four-lane divided highway from the Dawson county line west of O'Donnell to a point just south of Tahoka, A. W. Partain, resident engineer of Lamesa told The News Tuesday.

Building of this unit of U. S. 87 depends only on the furnishing of the right-of-way by Lynn county, which, in turn, depends on the vote (a two-thirds majority required) in the $200,000 bond election Saturday of next week.

Considerably less than half this amount is earmarked for purchase of right-of-way in the south half of the county, while the remainder would be reserved for building some time in the near future a loop at Tahoka and the road north to the Lubbock county line.

He says the road north is already on the Highway Department schedule, and would possibly be built in the next year or two.

Mr. Partain says the Federal government definitely will not approve the road along its present course through Tahoka, but would approve a route west of town or two blocks east of the square.

The present right-of-way is 100 feet, two lanes will be required an additional 100 feet, and an option would be held on the use of another 40 feet for further construction of local feeder roads.

Rain Is Some Aid To Crops

Rain during last Saturday night was of some benefit to crops all across the north side of Lynn county, but it was too light over most of the county to do any material good.

Heaviest rainfall is reported to have been northeast of New Home, where 1.4 inches fell at the Leroy Nettles place. Over at Grassland, a heavy shower was reported. At Tahoka, the moisture measured .16 of an inch.

Some milo has been coming in to the elevators, but much of this is reported to be pretty green. Only scattered cotton has been picked.

Much of the dryland cotton has burned badly, and many guessers are estimating the crop will fall far short of last year's crop.

Elder C. J. Lowrance of Lubbock, former Tahoka Primitive Baptist Church minister, conducted the rites, and burial was in Tahoka Cemetery.

Born January 21, 1900, Mr. Taylor came to Lynn county in 1924, and farmed in the Joe Bailey community southeast of Tahoka until about 1943. The last few months he had been operating a cafe in Snyder.

Survivors include three daughters, Mrs. J. L. Proctor of Brownfield, Mrs. Jack Zigler of Dimmitt, and Mrs. W. H. Moorehead of Spenard, Alaska; three sons, W. J. of Vancouver, B. C. Canada, Leon of Lubbock, and three sisters, and seven grand-children, two brothers, children.

Ben Moore Has Ringside Seat At Strange Performance Near Here

BY BEN MOORE

A few days ago, I was driving up to Tahoka, and took along three of my five grandsons. Always, there is a possibility that something may turn up, offering a lesson of Nature to the young boys. One of them has strict orders concerning dietary habits, especially concerning cold drinks. Before reaching Tahoka, I was quite thirsty, and asked him when he was allowed to drink. His reply was that he was often given a Coke for the relief of headache. After a moment's silence, he remarked soberly that "It aches some, now."

Returning, we veered some two miles from the highway for a bit of exploring about a seldom frequented strong alkali lake—a stinking affair. Licking our tongue into three different weak little springs about the shore, we found the water to be something like lye-water. Nothing can drink this water, and survive. But this does not prevent the occurrence of a certain specie of watersnake among the grasses.

Looking for protruding buffalo bones along the banks, a five foot long prairie racer was seen a few feet ahead, stretched up a bank. Although we have resolved never to kill a racer, or bullsnake, before thinking, we fired an arrow at the big fellow, the arrow lodged just above the snake's body. The still arrow did not excite the snake. Then we were double proud of the miss. A two and one half to three foot watersnake was held in the racer's mouth. Only the head was grasped, but the rest of the body was limp as a rag. Had we been five minutes earlier, we should have seen the death struggle, as the racer went round and around the victim's body, constricting it.

We backed away, and took a seat before the stage which the racer had so providentially set for us, a show worth at least twenty five dollars to any young grandson. They may not again happen to see such a show. Pretty soon, the victim was going down. Fifteen minutes was required for the performance. When about halfway swallowed, the old racer reared about 12 inches into the air, for a careful look for us then went ahead. With about three inches of the victim's tail protruding, the racer looked about, impudently, as though he had a mind to snip it off, maybe using it as a toothpick.

After the performance, one could not accuse the old racer of being puffed up over the feat. Right away, he began moving to a hole in the bank, into which he crawled, and no doubt remained until digestion made it safe for further activities, such as dodging the attack of some hungry hawk.

Thus we see Nature at work. The spider eats very small insects. Along comes a frog and down goes the spider. The watersnake makes a meal of the frog, after catching it between the hindlegs, which are deftly turned toward its own head, and swallowed without any "kick" from the frog. Then comes the racer, or bullsnake and winds up the smaller snake's career, before maybeso being discovered by a hawk, or hootowl. Man, enemy of all wildlife, as a general rule, should think on these things.

Elliott Is Using Lake Water For Crop Irrigation

O. C. Elliott is putting surplus lake water to use in irrigating cotton on the farm owned by his wife, Peggy, seven miles east and three south on the Draw road.

The July flood put a lot of water in the big lake in the center of the farm drowning out some of the crop. During the hot, dry weather, which has followed, Elliott saw that his crop was going to burn up if it didn't have more water.

He hustled up a five-inch centrifugal pump, leased a sprinkler system, and prepared to irrigate from the lake.

He started watering on August 20, and has been able to save about 115 acres of cotton that gives promise of making upward of a bale to the acre. He has been running 52 sprinklers from the water pumped from the lake bed.

To keep from having to move his pump as the water went down in the lake, he has excavated a canal from the lake to the pump intake, deepening the canal as necessary to keep the pump in contact with the water.

He says this is not an original idea with him, as this has been done in many instances before and has heard that there are other farmers in the Draw area doing the same thing.

Bulldogs Lose Close One To Crane 19-18

Tahoka lost a close one 19 to 18 Friday night to the Crane Golden Cranes in a game played there after taking an early lead, with Crane's scoring coming as result of long runs and long passes, although the Bulldogs outplayed their opponents most of the way.

Nearly 200 fans followed the Bulldogs to Crane in addition to the band and pep squad, 41 of them riding a chartered bus.

In spite of losing the game, the Bulldogs showed great improvement, especially in the line, over the week before against Seagraves. The two quarterbacks, Gordon Smith and Karl Prohl, had been ill in bed a day and a half before the game with stomach ailments, and two other boys were also said to have the same complaint.

Bulldogs Score Early
Tahoka kicked to Crane, Smith sending the kickoff out of the end zone. Starting on the 20, Quarterback Butler, Half Kelley, and Fullback Sheppard moved out to the Tahoka 48, one run by Sheppard being for 20 yards, a pass was incomplete, and Crane kicked to Tahoka.

Smith took the ball on the 7 lateraled to Prohl as he was hit about the 15, and Prohl went to the 20. Pridmore, Blair and Williams alternated in carrying the mail, while Smith twisted for 19 yards on one run, and Tahoka rolled up four, first downs to place the ball on Crane's 8. Here Williams slid through left tackle to score. Smith's placement, the ball held by Prohl, was blocked.

Sheppard brought the kickoff from the 9 upfield, and fumbled out of bounds on the 37. The ball was covered by Ronnie Brooks, but he did not have complete possession before going out of bounds. On the next play, QB Butler, pitched-out to Crane's fleet-footed Kelley, who cut to the left and went 63 yards to the goal line. HB Adams placekick failed. Score 6-6.

Bulldogs March Again
Starting on its 22, Tahoka appeared superior to the Crane Eleven as they marched up the field at 1 to 7 yards per try, including a 9-yard pass to Bell, for five first downs to the Crane 13. Prohl called the plays as quarterback a part of the way. But Tahoka drew a 5-yard penalty for too much time, a pass was incomplete, and the Bulldogs unsuccessfully tried a field goal.

Taking over on the 20, Butler, Lightfoot, and Kelley began to move the ball up field. On Tahoka's 38, Butler tried a pass, which End Joe Allen caught at the shoe-strings on the 18. Two plays later, Butler passed 10 yards to Allen on the 6. Then, Crane drew 15 yards penalty for holding, Butler hit Allen again for 6 to the 15, and on the next play Butler hit Allen again in the end zone. The place kick was no good again, but Crane led 12 to 6.

Score Tied Again
Opening the second half, Tahoka received the kickoff, and marched up field, although set back by a 5 and a 15-yard penalty, to the Crane 14. Then, Don Blair broke over guard and bulled his way 14 yards to score standing up. Smith's place-kick missed again. Score 12-12.

Butler brought the kickoff from his 15 to Tahoka's 49, and on the next play End L. W. Castleberry covered a fumble on the Crane 47. Tahoka marched to the Crane 26, where the ball went over on downs.

Crane completed another, 9-yard pass, but two more were incomplete and they kicked from their own 37 to Tahoka's 25. Prohl brought the ball to the 28. A few plays later, Williams kicked 42 yards, but Crane couldn't move and kicked 21 yards to Tahoka's 38.

Now in the fourth quarter, Tahoka scored again. Harter made three gains of 6, 4, and 7 yards, Smith one of 15, and Blair, Williams and Pridmore gaining consistently. Smith went the last seven to give Tahoka an 18 to 12 lead.

Sheppard brought the Tahoka kickoff from the 11 to the 41, a pass to Allen was good for 2, another was incomplete, but a third hit Allen on the Tahoka 35, and he eluded Tahoka tacklers to tie the score 18-18. Faking a place kick, Crane fooled Tahoka and shot a pass to Allen for the game-winning point.

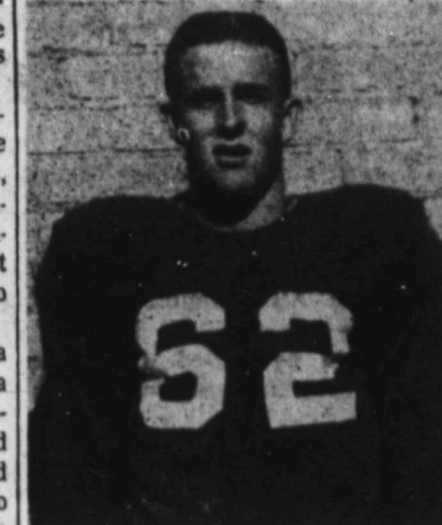

Four minutes were left, but the encouraged Cranes held the Bulldogs in check, and it was then that Jerry Williams got off a 64-yard punt—but it died a foot or two over the goal line, giving him a net of 44 yards. Crane ran out the clock on two running plays.

Boys Look Better
Tahoka's line showed much improvement in this game. Bobby Paris played a good game, as did Larry Simmons and Leon Davis, at tackles; Ware High and Ronnie Brooks did a good job at guard, and Stanley Stone, with some capable relief from N. E. Wood and on defense, from Freshman Cecil Hammonds. Ends Castleberry and Carlton Bell also looked sharper.

ist, turned in fine efforts, refreshing to the Tahoka fans to know these boys are available. Ted Pridmore, halfback, and Don Blair, the workhorse fullback, showed more drive. Jerry Williams turned in consistent gains, and this game brought his punting average to 41 yards on four kicks, good in any league. Although ill, Smith was running even better than against Seagraves.

Wilson Upsets New Deal 38-14

Wilson Mustangs ran wild Friday night to upset New Deal of District 3-A 38 to 14 and serve notice on the rest of District 4-B in which they will compete later in the season, that they will again be contenders for the conference title.

Eugene Bruedigam, versatell quarterback, scored on runs of 75, 79, and 53, yards, and tossed a 54-yard pass to set up another score. Halfback Daniel Verkamp scored twice once on a long pass, and Eugene Gryder made the other Wilson TD.

New Deal did not score until the fourth quarter. The Wilson Horses journey to Amherst for a game this Friday night. Last Friday, Amherst lost to the strong Sudan team 27 to 0.

O'Donnell Will Play Cooper

O'Donnell Eagles entertain the Cooper Pirates tonight in the Lynn County city. The Pirates won over Friendship last Friday night 13 to 6.

Opening the season under an entirely new coaching staff, Clyde Blair and Wane Brock, the Eagles dropped their opening game last Friday night to Petersburg 19 to 6, but showed the spark of a potential better team at times.

The first quarter was scoreless, and then Petersburg came to life to score 19 points in the second and third, but the Eagles fought back to post over a touchdown in the final quarter.

Text of U. S. Supreme Court Opinion On Desegregation Is Given

In view of the fact that many people do not seem to know the content of the U. S. Supreme Court's decision on the segregation of Negroes and Whites in the public schools of the nation, the Tahoka School Board has asked The News to publish the statement.

The full text of the opinion of the Supreme Court follows:

These cases were decided on May 17, 1954. The opinions of that date declaring the fundamental principle that racial discrimination in public education is unconstitutional, are incorporated herein by reference. (All provisions of federal, state or local law requiring or permitting such discrimination must yield to this principle.) There remains for consideration the manner in which relief is to be accorded.

Because these cases arose under different local conditions and their disposition will involve a variety of local problems, we request further argument on the question of relief. In view of the nationwide importance of the decision, we invited Attorney General of the United States and the attorneys general of all states requiring or permitting racial discrimination in public education to present their views on the question. The parties, the United States, and the states of Florida, North Carolina, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Maryland, and Texas, filed briefs and participated in the oral argument.

These presentations were informative and helpful to the court in its consideration of the complexities arising from the transition to a system of public education freed of racial discrimination. The presentations also demonstrated that substantial steps to eliminate racial discrimination in public schools already have been taken, not only in some of the communities in which these cases arose, but in some of the states appearing as amici curiae (friends of the court), and in other states as well. Substantial progress has been made in the District of Columbia and in the communities in Kansas and Delaware involved in this litigation. The defendants in the cases coming to us from South Carolina and Virginia are awaiting the decision of this court concerning relief.

Full implementation of these constitutional principles may require solution of varied local school problems. School authorities have the primary responsibility for elucidating, assessing and solving these problems; courts will have to consider whether the action of school authorities constitutes good faith implementation of the governing constitutional principles. Because of their proximity to local conditions and the possible need for further hearings, the courts which originally heard these cases can best perform this judicial appraisal. Accordingly, we believe it appropriate to remand the cases to those courts.

In fashioning and effectuating the decrees, the courts will be guided by equitable principles. Traditionally, equity has been characterized by a practical flexibility in shaping its remedies and by a facility for adjusting and reconciling public and private needs. These cases will call for the exercise of these traditional attributes of equity power.

At stake is the personal interest of the plaintiffs in admission to public schools as soon as practicable on a nondiscriminatory basis. To effectuate this interest may call for elimination of a variety of obstacles in making the transition to school systems operated in accordance with the constitutional principles set forth in our May 17, 1954, decision. Courts of equity may properly take into account the public interest in the elimination of such obstacles in a systematic and effective manner. But it should go without saying that the vitality of these constitutional principles cannot be allowed to wither.

While giving weight to these public and private considerations, the courts will require that the defendants make a prompt and reasonable start toward full compliance with our May 17, 1954, ruling. Once such a start has been made, the courts may find that additional time is necessary to carry out the ruling in an effective manner. The burden rests upon the defendants to establish that such time is necessary in the public interest and is consistent with good faith compliance at the earliest practicable date. To that end, the courts may consider problems related to administration, arising from the physical condition of the school plant, the school transportation system, personnel, revision of school districts and attendance areas into compact units to achieve a system of determining admission to the public schools on a nonracial basis, and revision of local laws and regulations which may be necessary in solving problems. They will also consider the adequacy of any plans that defendants may propose to meet the problems and to effectuate a transition to a racial nondiscriminatory school system. During this period of transition, the courts will retain jurisdiction of these cases.

The judgments below, except that in the Delaware case, are accordingly reversed and remanded to the district courts to take such proceedings and enter such orders and decrees consistent with this opinion as are necessary and proper to admit to public schools on a racially deliberate speed the parties to these cases. The judgment in the Delaware case—ordering the immediate admission of the plaintiffs to school previously attended only by white children—is affirmed on the basis of the principles stated in our May 17, 1954, opinion, but the case is remanded to the Supreme Court of Delaware for such future proceedings as that court may deem necessary in light of this opinion. It is so ordered.

Letters From News Readers—

(The News welcomes letters from its readers on any current subject, not libelous, of course. All communications must be of reasonable length and must be signed. On request, the signature will not be printed. The Editor.)

Dear Mr. Hill:
Just a line to let you know how much I appreciate your paper, but the best part is your column, "Odds and Ends." I just finished reading the latest edition, and as usual I enjoyed it a great deal. Those bits of history are very good; please keep them coming.
At the present you are sending me two papers; one to Texarkana, and one to Fort Bliss, since I am now stationed at Fort Bliss, (El Paso.) The Texarkana paper is unnecessary.
I thank you very much. Sincerely, John A. Godfrey, (Pfc.) Fort Bliss, September 12, 1955.

Mrs. R. B. Jones Is Speaker Here

Mrs. R. B. "Sit" Jones of Plains, daughter of Mrs. W. T. Clinton of this city, reviewed the book, "Quanah Parker," the life history of the last great chief of the Comanches, at a meeting of the Bessie Brashear Sunday School Class of the Methodist Church Tuesday of last week.

Mrs. Irving Stewart also played Indian music. Refreshments were served to about fifty ladies following the program.

GARDEN CLUB WILL OPEN YEAR'S WORK

The Tahoka Garden Club will begin the 1955-1956 year with a tea honoring Mrs. Nat Williams of Lubbock, District One Governor of the Texas Garden Clubs, at the Home Ec. Cottage Tuesday, Sept. 20, at 3:30 p. m.

Mrs. Williams lived in Tahoka about 25 years ago, when her husband, now superintendent of the Lubbock Schools, was High School principal here.

This is the club's first table setting program, and all members present will receive a gift of a daylily bulb. Members are asked to invite guests.

Pfc. Bobby J. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Smith, route 1, Wilson, has arrived back in the States after serving several months in and around Kotzebue, Alaska. At the present, he is stationed at Fort W. N. Scott, San Francisco, Calif.

ion, but the case is remanded to the Supreme Court of Delaware for such future proceedings as that court may deem necessary in light of this opinion. It is so ordered.

C. R. Cargile Has Many Old Coins

C. R. Cargile of Draw has several old coins he acquired while operating his store in that community, one of them a dime 114 years old this year and bearing the date 1841.
 He also has a dime minted in 1845, a quarter made in 1854, and a nickel bearing the date 1868.
 A possession he prizes very highly is a black walnut trunk handed down to him by his great grandfather Wilson which is more than a hundred years old. This ancestor was a tailor, back in the days when all men's suits were made by hand, and he used this cabinet in which to keep his needles, scissors, etc.

 Petty-New Home area, where they saw dryland sorghum planted in 20-inch rows with Soil Conservation District stubble mulching equipment, irrigated sorghum in 20-inch rows in level borders, and planting of vetch on early feed land with district equipment.

At the Kay K. Moore farm, the trippers saw New Era peas planted with sorghum, application of cotton burrs, wide bench leveling, and early season insect control.

At the George Williamson farm, northwest of Wilson, they saw Vetch planted in sorghum.

West of Grassland, on the Alton Greer farm, the party was shown guar, a soil-building crop, planted in skip rows in cotton. Just east of Grassland, the LeRoy Davis irrigated Blue Panic Grass pasture was visited, which produced this year 1,350 pounds of seed from five acres.

On the farms of the Thomas brothers, the party saw irrigated cotton expected to make two bales per acre, early season insect control, level borders, dryland and irrigated Blue Panic Grass.

At each place, the farmer, County Agent Bill Griffin, and Bill Thompson of the SCS office talked briefly on the practices being carried out.

After the dinner meeting, sub-District 2 of the Lynn County Soil Conservation District 119 elected O. E. Terry the new member of the Board of Supervisors to succeed L. D. Howell, who did not choose to run for re-election.

Other members of the board are: K. K. Moore, chairman; E. L. Blankenship, vice chairman; Ellis Barnes, and W. E. Dubree.

Mr. Armstrong and four leaders declared success of the Soil Conservation work is due to co-operation of the Board members, co-operators, the County Agent, Farmers Home Administration, ASC office, and Vocational Agricultural teachers.

Early Day House Reveals Names Of Local Builders

While making some repairs on a rent house last week, D. S. (Jack) Waldrip dug up a bit of Tahoka history as the result of finding some names written on a board used for a window jamb.

Plainly written in pencil on the board were these words: "Checked by E. E. Fuller and billed to A. G. McAdams, Tahoka, Texas. Mr. Lewis Milliken, formerly of Ballinger, last heard from at Tahoka. Mfgd. by Srinier-Whiteman Lbr. Co., Caro, Texas."

Further information develops that the house, now located just west of West Side Grocery, was built in 1907 by York Skinner by Lewis and G. R. (Bud) Milliken, Sumner Clayton and a man named Josey.

Skinner sold the house in the fall of 1909 to Howard Henderson for $1,050. "Bud" Milliken later owned the house for a time.

When Waldrip built the West Side store building, he moved the house to the position it now occupies and remodeled it.

Congratulations:

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Booker (Colored) on the birth of a daughter, Debra Eeantyn, weighing 7 pounds 6 ounces, Saturday at 5:38 a. m. at Tahoka Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Seymour are maternal grandparents.

Ira Vaughn Owns Mystery Farm East of Town

Ira Vaughn is the owner of the above farm, located six miles east of Tahoka, just north of the Post Highway.

First to identify the picture correctly was Mrs. Edgar Hammonds, followed, in order, by John T. Tippit, Carlton Davies, Tommy Billings, Hubert Edwards, Mrs. Ira Vaughn, Othell Meeks, and Roy Hinkle.

Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn have been on the place since the fall of 1934, when Ira bought the place from his dad, T. J. Vaughn of Winewood, Okla., who had inherited it from the late Frank and Alce Vaughn, pioneer Lynn county settlers. Ira is a nephew of them.

The farm is a part of the four sections on which Frank and Alce Vaughn filed in 1901. These two bachelor farmers will be remembered by most of the settlers who came here thirty or more years ago.

Ira Vaughn owns 201 acres of the land. The house shown in the picture was built about 1927, and was later built on to and improved.

Mr. Vaughn also farms the W. M. (Bill) Thompson half section near by.

Last week, Ira drilled an irrigation well on his own place and believes he has at least a strong four-inch well. The Thompson place has a five or six-inch well on it, from which Ira waters about 70 acres of land. This year, he planted his cotton two in and one out, and believes this is the thing. In fact, he says he never intends to plant his cotton any other way in the future.

There is a lake on his place, and also one on the Thompson land, and around each is a levy to keep the water out of the lake bed when needed. He has openings in the levies whereby he can allow some water to run down in the lake when necessary.

Ira Vaughn was married to Miss Ruby Newton in Oklahoma in 1926. They have three children. Their son Dwayne lives in Los Angeles Calif., and their oldest daughter, Joyce, now Mrs. Jerry Noble and husband live in St. Louis, Mo. Their other daughter, Betty Lou, 15, is at home and attends Tahoka High School.

Dr. Chess Lovern Is Speaker At Annual Rotary Ann-Teacher Banquet

Dr. Chess Lovern, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Lubbock, spoke on the subject, "Observances along the Way" at the annual Rotary Ann-Teachers banquet held last Thursday night in the school cafeteria here.

Following are some excerpts from his talk:

"In every day-life, in meeting problems that face us, there are those who become a part of the problem instead of becoming a part of the solution. How long could a church hold its standards if the pastor was a part of its problems instead of helping in their solutions?"

"I have found after dealing with all sorts of people for many years that there is something fine and decent in everyone if we will only look hard enough for it. When I was in San Antonio, I was called to a home in the slums of the city to see a woman whose husband had just died. The streets were dirty and the homes were meager. When I left Mrs. Conner she gave me a dollar. After explaining that I didn't need it and that perhaps she needed it more than the church, she said, 'That is between me and the Lord.' Later I returned to see her and a mashed-up bunch of zinnias were on her porch in a little vase on a table. When I asked about them, she said,

'There is so little beauty in our section that I thought someone passing might enjoy them.' Again, at another time, I returned and an old worn World War I overcoat was hanging on a coat hanger on the porch. She was watching out the window. She explained that it had belonged to her husband and since it was cold she was watching for a man who might walk by without a coat that she might give it to him.

"Here was a woman who was sharing what she had with God, sharing beauty with those who seldom saw beauty, and trying to help someone else. All through these years every time I think of Mrs. Conner my soul is lifted.

"Does the fact that she is a Negro make any difference in the story to you? If it doesn't, then you are an emancipated soul, but if it does, then may God help you to grow.

"Another observance is that basically everyone can be trusted. We are prone to judge the whole by the actions of a few. It is just as bad as saying a whole race is bad as it is to say that all men are brutes.

"As the Rotary slogan says, 'He profits most who serves best.' It is obvious that our universe is governed by moral laws. The unfaithful husband and the dishonest man in time suffer for breaking these laws. You will return to do business with the man in whose integrity you trust and who stands behind his product. And so our moral laws become practical. And you will always profit in joy, peace of mind and a clear conscience.

"As Paul said, 'I am a debtor to both Greeks and Gentiles; both to the wise and to the unwise.' The Greeks had never done anything for Paul, but because he was blessed with something wonderful he was indebted to give them the thing he had. So it is with us. We have abundant living and a high intellectual plane and we are indebted to those less fortunate to open doors for them to what we have. There may be brilliant thoughts lying in the recesses of some of these Negro peoples' minds and we are indebted to them to help bring those thoughts out. And believe me, God is going to hold us responsible. I am going to tell my one month old son when he grows older that because he has much he must help those who have little. Because of our strong Christian democratic principles we must use our strength to help those who are weak. We must preserve and share our great heritage."

President Harold Green presided over the meeting. A M. Bray introduced the speaker, who was a fellow-student and athlete at SMU.

Dr. Emil Prohl led the group in singing several songs, while the club sweetheart, Ann Reasonover, and a former sweetheart, Marianna McGinty, accompanied

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. King of Wilson recently had as visitors Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Bailey and two sons of Ddessa who were returning home from their vacation. Mrs. Baile is the Kink's youngest daughter, and her husband is manager of a Furr Food Store in Odessa.

Supt. Otis Spears introduced the members of the school board, and Principal Jake Jacobs, J. B. Howell, and Milton Gardner introduced members of the faculty. Preceding the program a delicious dinner featuring fried chicken was served.

Odds AND Ends

(BY E. I. THE ELDER)

For some weeks now the professional show people have been making a fad of the career of the rather noted scout, East Tennessee mountaineer, Indian fighter, Congressman, phrase-coiner, eventual immigrant to Texas, and heroic defender of the Alamo, Davy Crockett.

Most of the publicity is being given him now as a money-making project.

Davy Crockett has now been dead 119 years.

There were other heroes of the Alamo, of Goliad, and of San Jacinto, who were just as patriotic and heroic, no doubt, as was Davy Crockett.

There were old Ben Milam, Col. William B. Travis, J. B. Bonham, James Bowie, and about eighty others who fought valiantly until everyone of them was slain, in order that all Texas might be free. They are to be honored and praised for their patriotism and their willingness to sacrifice their very lives for the freedom and independence of Texas, and we would not pluck a feather from the crown of any one of them.

Nevertheless, common honesty and truth compel us to say that the terrible slaughter that took the lives of the 187 men who were immured within the walls of that old combination church and fortress could have been and should have been obviated and Texas independence been won eventually just the same.

If Sam Houston instead of Col. William B. Travis, had been in command of the forces in the Alamo while Santa Anna was approaching with a picked army of some 3,000 soldiers, we dare say that he would have used strategy instead of fool-hardy defiance and would have gotten the Texans out of that slaughter-pen before Santa Anna arrived. That statement is substantiated by the course which Sam Houston did pursue after the 187 patriots were slaughtered. He had the untrained soldiers that he had gotten together simply side-stepped Santa Anna and his victorious army as they marched on triumphantly, with drums blaring and flags fluttering in the breeze, to capture President Burnet and his staff, who were fleeing pell-mell, helter-skelter from Harrisburg to Galveston, to avoid being backed up against a stone wall and shot.

Of course there was pandemonium among Texas soldiers and civilians alike. Of course there was a panic, known as the "run-away scrape". Of course there was violent criticism of Houston. "But wisdom is justified of her children." Houston's course was justified by his victory at San Jacinto. And there we hear, the voice of a typical San Jacinto hero, old Deaf Smith, galloping into camp swinging his axe around his head and shouting, "Vince's bridge is down. Vince's bridge is down." and thereby every Texan knew Davy Crockett was involved in any of these independent forays.

Perhaps Davy Crockett was the most colorful and picturesque character who perished in the Texas War for Independence. There were others whose heroism doubtless was just as deep and intense as his, but his whole background and character was such as to render his deeds of heroism more dramatic and more suitable for the purposes of the professional showmen.

In 1888, near the little village of Limestone, high up in the almost inaccessible mountain region of eastern Tennessee, David Crockett was born. Little is known of his parents except that they were poor and unlettered and obscure mountaineers. Little Davy started out in life as a born acquaintance of the squirrel, the chipmunk, the birds, and the bees and in season he listened dilay to the song of the mockingbird and rightly to the plaintive notes of the whippoorwill. There was a school in that mountain community, and at some period in his boyhood, his parents started him to school, but he had no love for the school-room and no desire for "book-learning," and on the fourth day he quit school and ran away from home. The historians do not tell us where he spent the remainder of his boyhood days, but I am sure he spent much of the time out in the woods hunting. They tell me that raccoons were very numerous and very various up in "them that mountains" in those days, and it is our guess that by the time Davy first learned to read at the age of 18 he had collected an acre or two of coon skins. He might have slept on them out in the woods many a night. Deer were also plentiful, and an occasional bear might have been encountered. He might have made friends of some of the Indian tribes that inhabited those regions and he possibly lived with some of them in his youth and early manhood days. If so, he surely must have been compelled to fight shy of the Indians after 1812, for war with England broke out in that year and most of the Indians fought on the side of the English. In 1813, war between the Americans and the Creek Indians broke out, and Gen. Andrew Jackson commanded the American forces. David Crockett, then 27 years old, enlisted in Jackson's Army The Creek Indians at that time were very numerous and were the principal tribe that inhabited Georgia, Alabama, and parts of East Tennessee. Though they were farmers and raised little patches of corn and beans, and potatoes, and other garden truck, they were a war-like tribe and preferred to raid the white settlements now and then in preference to working in the so-called fields. In fact, I guess they let their women do most of the heavy work while the men fought the battles for the tribe. At any rate Davy Crockett as a hunter, deer-slayer, and Indian-fighter doubtless became an expert marksman with a rifle in early manhood, and so by 1826, when he was forty years old, he was well qualified to go to Congress; and the East Tennessee mountaineers proceeded to send him as a Jackson Democrat up to Washington, or rather down to it. He was re-elected in 1828, but for some reason failed to make the grade in 1830. He staged a come-back in 1832, however and served another term. By 1834 he had gotten all-fired up over Texas and the Mexicans, and pretty soon migrated to this modern "promised land," to start life all over again and particularly to help the Texans out.

When the war really broke out, Davy found himself right there in the Alamo to fight for Texas Independence and incidentally to reap undying fame for his heroism. He was one of the noble 187 who died in that sacred shrine.

Texas has not failed to honor him gloriously as one of its most highly prized heroes. It has named a county for him in southwest Texas and a little city for him in southeast Texas, and has established markers and built monuments in commemoration of his services to Texas in various parts of the state.

In rugged southwest Texas, stretching along the east bank of the scenic Pecos River for a hundred miles or more, lies beautiful Crockett county, named in honor of this Tennessee-Texas hero. Its area is 2,794 square miles, a little less than thirty miles, but its area is 2,794 square miles, a little more than that of Garza, Lynn, and Terry, counties combined. It raises practically no cotton, maize, or other farm products, but it is one of the great sheep and wool, goat and mohair producing counties, and also has a considerable oil output.

The total population is only 3, 881 (1950 census) and Ozona, the county seat, claims 2,150 of these.

The old overland stage route of many years ago passed directly through the county from east to west, with a station at Fort Lancaster, thence on west to Fort Davis, thence to El Paso, and thence onward to California. All travelers from Texas to California in the early days were well acquainted with scenic Crockett county Texas, named for David Crockett, hero of the Alamo.

Over in East Texas, lying half way between the Trinity River on the west and the Neches River on the east, is the thrifty and historic old town of Crockett, county seat of Houston county, with numerous highways extending out in many directions from that little city as the hub.

I think that it was peculiarly appropriate that the city of Crockett should be situated in Houston county, for next to Sam Houston, David Crockett was undoubtedly the most colorful and dramatic character that figured in the struggle for Texas independence. Houston county is situated in the very heart of the area most vitally engaged in that struggle, and the little city of Crockett is situated in the very heart of Houston county. Houston county has an area of 1232 square miles, about 30 percent larger than Lynn county. In the eastern portion, covering possibly a fourth of the county, is the "Davy Crockett National-Forest," a short-leaf pine forest, from whose trees may be extracted large quantities of pulp from which news-print and other kinds of paper, may be manufactured.

Immediately north of this forest is the old and historic town of Weches, near which the very first Mission in Texas is said to have been established, "San Francisco de los Tejas," in 1690. "Tejas" was the name of a tribe of Indians, some historians claim, and hence the Mission established at Weches was given the name of "San Francisco de los Tejas," for the reason that the purpose of its founders was to convert the Tejas (Texas) Indians. From the name of that Indian tribe, it is claimed that Texas got its name. There are some, however, who claim that the numerous Caddo tribes of north Texas, including the Wichitas and others were called Tejas by other Indian tribes a hundred years before the Weches Mission was founded. The Indian word Tejas, it seems, means "friends," and so I guess it matters little when or where the appellation was first used; but there can be little doubt that its use as the name of an Indian tribe and later as the name of our state grew out of the name of that mission, "San Francisco de los Tejas," established in 1690 at Weches in Houston county and at the north end of the "Davy Crockett National Forest."

Near this Mission and in the same year, 1690, another Mission was established and given the name of "Sanctissimo Nombre de Maria."

These two missions were maintained and operated only three years, both being abandoned in 1693. A replica of the San Francisco erected at Weches, in 1936, I believe.

At Crockett is the David Crockett Memorial Building, an elegant community center, also erected in 1936.

Near Crockett is "Stage Coach inn" built originally as a home by Joseph D. Rice Sr. who came to Texas in 1828. There are numbers of handsome old style Southern Colonial homes in or near Crockett built before or during the Texas Revolution era. The present population of Crockett is 6,000.

Ten miles southwest of the town of Crockett, on the banks of the Trinity River, is the old town of Alabama, an important river port and shipping point in ante-bellum days. Nothing but the site is now left.

There are doubtless other interesting facts about David Crockett and his glamorous career, but if I do not have them at my finger tips now.

I am indebted to a recent copy of the Texas Almanac published by the Dallas News Publishing Company for many of the facts set forth in this Column. I have some other sources of information also, which I may dig into later.

In all the history of the United States, there has been just one David Crockett. That can be said, of course, of any man, but not with the significance with which it may be said of David Crockett.

Just one more brief paragraph: In 1837, the next year after David Crockett perished in the Alamo, his widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Crockett, et al, moved to a country home at Acton near Garbury in Hood county and lived there until 1860, when she died just 24 years after Texas had won its independence from Mexico, and twelve years after it had become a state in the American Union. She was a worthy companion and helpmeet of her famous husband.
