W. W. Smith Rites Held March 1 in Christian Church

Funeral services for William Wallace Smith, 83, longtime Bailey county farmer, were conducted March 1 at 4 p. m. from First Christian Church, here under direction of Singleton Funeral Home.

Mr. Smith died February 26 at 10 p. m. at his home four miles northeast of Muleshoe, where he had resided for 24 years. He was a native of Red River county, and was married on July 1, 1905 to Miss Pearl McCurdy in Mangum, Okla., where he resided until moving to Bailey County in 1934.

A nephew, Rev. Marion B. Smith of Pampa, conducted the funeral, assisted by John Moore of Muleshoe. Interment was in Bailey County Memorial Park.

Survivors include his wife, one son, Dr. Otto O. Smith of Texas City; two daughters, Mrs. D. R. Aylesworth of Muleshoe and Mrs. J. E. Lovelady of Amarillo; two sisters, Mrs. Dora Hipp of Dallas and Mrs. G. Matlock of Lindale; five great grandchildren and 11 grandchildren.

Pallbearers were Myron Pool, Gene Caldwell, Spencer Beavers, Alvin Galloway, W. D. Moore and Roy White. Honorary pallbearers were S. C. Caldwell, W. O. Burford, and J. A. Johnson.

Hundreds of Muleshoe school patrons visited classrooms Monday and Tuesday evenings when open house was held in the junior and senior high buildings and the elementary schools.

Parents viewed the work of students as well as the emphasis on science this year. Both schools had well planned and displayed exhibits on science themes being studied as part of the regular curriculum.

Weather instruments, simple electrical layouts and similar displays were shown by the students who had constructed them.

Refreshments were served in the school cafeterias, and visitors were invited to inspect the kitchens where hundreds of meals are prepared daily.

Visitation continues through Thursday in observance of school week.

No classes will be held Friday, March 6, in order that teachers and administrators may attend the district meeting of Texas State Teachers Association in Lubbock.

Farmers Hear Details of A&B Plans From Executive of Cotton Growers

Farmers were reminded Wednesday they have only until March 16 to notify their county ASC if they choose the "B" cotton acreage plan, by George W. Pfeifferberger, executive vice-president of Plains Cotton Growers, speaking at a vegetable meeting in the county courthouse here.

In addition to the PGC vice-president, a number of specialists in the field of vegetable production, with the Texas Extension Service, spoke on different phases of vegetable production, with the Texas Extension Service, spoke on different phases of vegetable growing and marketing on the Plains.

Pfeifferberger told the group practically no reduction in price support.

Choice "B" permits allotments to be increased up to 40 percent with price support 15 parity points lower than the choice "A" level. If "A" is set at 80 percent then "B" will be 65 percent.

The same choice is offered again in 1960 except that the "A" farmers minimum price support would be 75 percent of parity and the minimum support for the "B" farmer would be 60 percent. In both years the support offered the "B" farmers will be 15 parity points lower than that to the "A" farmer.

Other details of the complicated program were explained briefly by Pfeifferberger. He also noted that copies of a price table of estimated cotton prices under both plans is now being mailed out by Plains Cotton Growers.

Hale-Aiken Committee of 24 to Meet

A meeting of the Bailey County Hale-Aiken Committee of 24 has been called for March 12, in the Muleshoe high school at 7:30 p. m. This will possibly be the final meeting of this committee. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss the recommendations made to the Legislature by the State Hale-Aiken Committee of 24.

These committees were created a year ago by the State Legislature for the purpose of making an extensive and thorough study of all the school systems in all counties in Texas relative to their present conditions and future needs. The Legislature requested the study in order that they might obtain a "grass roots" expression from the people as to what they really want their schools to be and how they want them operated and financed in the future.

March Comes In Like Windy Lion

March came in like a lion and has continued in the same manner all four of its days thus recorded.

High, gusty winds with blowing sand have marked each day of the spring month, and on Wednesday snow began falling during the noon hour.

Continued high winds gave little indication that the snow would amount to any reasonable moisture so badly needed at this time.

County Bond Goal Set At $13,000

Mrs. Inez Bobo, chairman of the Bailey County Savings Bonds Committee, announced that the 1959 Savings Bonds Goal for Bailey county will be $131,000.

"During the month of January, the people of this county purchased $134,624 in Series E and H Bonds which was 10.4% of our 1959 goal," Mrs. Bobo reported.

The 1959 goal for Texas is $182,500,000. Sales during January totaled $7,342,222, which represents 88% of the 1959 sales goal.

"A part of every American's savings should be invested in Savings Bonds, to provide for his future and to add strength to the national economy," stated Mrs. Bobo.

Hearing Set For March 13 On Grain Supports

Rep. George Mahon reports that the recently announced drop in support loans for feed grains has been a shock to the Members of Congress from grain sorghum producing areas.

The House Committee on Agriculture is making a study of the situation in preparation for a Committee hearing which will be held March 13. The support loan level announced for milo for the 1959 crop is 31 cents per hundred below the level for last year. The national average support for milo last year was $1.83 per hundred. The announced national average support for this year is $1.52 per hundred.

On February 18, 1959, the Secretary of Agriculture announced support loan levels for corn, milo and other feed grains. In view of the language of the law, it was anticipated that the support price for milo in 1959 would be approximately the same feed value. This is not the case, and an explanation is being demanded and ways are being sought to remedy the situation.

Mahon stated, "Since the drastic drop in support levels for milo was announced, I have appealed to the Secretary of Agriculture and others in the Department to reconsider the action taken. I have received complaints in regard to the situation from Mr. Frank Moore, President of the Grain Sorghum Producers Association, and many others. If the drastic drop in supports remains in effect, grain sorghum producers will sustain losses totaling many millions of dollars. A more effective program for all feed grains is needed, but action is made most difficult by reason of the well known attitude of the Secretary of Agriculture."

Maple News

The Three Way P-TA sponsored a forty-two party for the March of Dimes in the Maple community center building Saturday night February 28. They collected $64.

This was the first time our community center has been used. We hope there will be many more gatherings there.

There were about 40 adults present besides several children.

Since there were so many present, it was decided that we should go ahead with the business meeting. Five new directors were elected. They were: C. L. Taylor, Morris Gant, John Shepherd, Mrs. Naomi Julian, and Mrs. Beadie Powell.

It was voted to put a new roof on the center and every one who wished to work came Monday morning, March 2, and the ladies brought lunch to the community center for all who worked.

There will be a gathering again in March and we hope everyone in the Three Way school district will feel free to come.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Farris and Glenda spent the weekend in Sunray with his brother and family.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Taylor and boys visited her sister and family in Odessa over the weekend.

HEADACHES

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

For several years I suffered with severe headaches which occurred regularly and quite often. These headaches were of the migraine type. I tried many different medications with little result.

On February 22, 1957, I became a patient at the MULESHOE CHIROPRACTIC CLINIC. At this time I also suffered from dizziness, low blood pressure, stomach trouble, gall bladder and chronic appendicitis.

I have not had a headache for several months and all of the other conditions have improved greatly. I was so pleased with the results that my wife and two of our children have become patients.

LONE STAR AGRICULTURE

ZONING TO PROTECT FARMS AND FARMERS
The familiar technique of zoning city land for special uses is moving into the country. Already, many states are protecting their productive agricultural lands by putting fertile areas in farm zoning districts and designation uses and road right-of-ways. Wisconsin, Michigan, and Minnesota were among the first states to create zoned districts for forestry and recreation. Other states have followed suit and some Texas farm organizations are studying the possibilities of such a move. In California, agricultural districts have been created where all uses other than agriculture and related activities, such as food processing, have been excluded. The result is to channel urban, suburban, or industrial activities into areas well suited for them but not for farming. One aim of agricultural zoning has been and should continue to be to find alternative areas of less fertile soils than can be used satisfactorily for non-farm purposes — preserving the best soils for agricultural production. The trend of giving over some of our richest soils for suburban developments and super highways should be avoided when possible, many experts believe. Eight Classifications Rural land is rated by agriculturalists in eight broad classifications. Lands in Classes One through Four are considered suitable for cultivating. Yet a recent survey shows that about 17 million acres in these four classes were diverted to non-farm uses during the past 15 years. About one-half million acres of these fertile lands are being taken over by non-farm projects each year. Much of the land taken has been the flattest, least erodible and most productive farmland in the area. Where possible, it is this type of permanent loss that zoning regulations are attempting to prevent.

Before undertaking a farm zoning program, county officials should check to see if they have the zoning powers needed. If not, it may be necessary to request the State Legislature to furnish them. Copies of Agricultural Information Bulletin No. 196, "The Why and How of Rural Zoning", are for sale by the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C., for 40c each. ANNOUNCE BIRTH OF NEW SON Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Coffman of Robin are announcing the arrival of an eight pound son, Monday, March 2. Farmers Union Report

If there is a man in this part of the country who can't sleep, it is probably on account of the price of maize. So it is time to get something off our chest.

In the first place it is a shame that in the form of Republican Government the people in majority cannot rule. When a large number of Congressmen and senators work hard on a farm bill and then the President turns his thumbs down on it (with the backing of that devoted man with whom he replaced the honorable Charles Brannon), it isn't the Democratic way.

If Benson had started off with a broader mind and a little constructive thinking, instead of the one track thought of doing away with the smaller farmer, until there no longer was any surplus, then something good might have been accomplished during his term of office. So far every thing that has been accomplished has been to the detriment of Agriculture.

Mr. Benson would be surprised to know that there is a great number of people who would be just tickled to death to have something good to remember from a Republican Administration. If he could have seen fit to have put up with all the farmers, and had put the compensatory payment plan into effect, this would have let a farmer raise an average crop or lay his land out with a compensatory payment. This would cost far less money than any present setup, and would have gotten rid of the surplus with the farmer making a decent living at the same time. It works on the wool and sheep industry, of which Benson is a large part (Second largest sheep raiser in Utah).

The only victory of any kind that Benson and his sliding scale can claim, is when the corn boys voted against the corn allotment. Why shouldn't they have when corn in non-compliance paid within a few cents per bushel of what allotment corn paid. From the very first he has done every thing that he could possibly do to abolish price supports of any kind on any crop, mainly the basic six.

The "B" Cotton Plan which Benson has figured out is right down the line with his do away plan. 60% of parity is next to no support at all, and time permits, that's exactly what we will have, no support at all.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

Some of the farmers that the SCS technicians worked with during the past week are Tinley Knowlton, who is planning on doing some land leveling. The SCS technicians will stake it off for him and figure how much dirt he will have to move, provide him with a cut and fill sheet and estimate the cost of the job.

Ollie Jones was also contacted on a land leveling job. On the Helen Latham farm help was needed on sprinkler irrigation systems. The friction was too great for the size of mainline and laterals used considering the amount of water and the length of the pipeline. The sprinkler heads were not breaking the water up fine enough because of loss of pressure at the end of the line. As a result, the water was not distributed evenly and the crops suffered from it.

Mr. Roy Reed came in for assistance on a ditch line. He has some land that is high lime and doesn't grow very good cotton. He wanted to see if he could relocate his ditch to leave this small acreage of land out of cotton in order to build it up by planting plan or other soil improvement. The new ditch line was not feasible so a suggestion was made to build up the land while he still was planting cotton there.

He plans to seed vetch and rye in his cotton middle at the last cultivation in August. Mr. Reed will use a Cyclone seeder to seed the vetch and rye, and it will be covered by the cultivators. The vetch and rye will be covered up. This does not interfere with harvesting the cotton as it does not get too large before harvesting. It is often an aid in using a stripper because the dust problem is moderated and the cotton is cleaner and in some cases a better grade. A conservation plan was also developed at this time. Mr. Reed plans to improve his irrigation system in all ways possible and irrigate to meet the needs of the crop and soil.

Mr. Troy Atkinson requested assistance in locating a high point for a new well and a new ditch line to be run from this well. Mr. Atkinson already had a farm conservation plan that was written several years ago, and it was revised at this time. His cropping system will be cotton, soybeans, and grain sorghum with mungbeans interplanted this year, and even advertised the fact, in fact the fact is that the Farm Bureau wrote and backed the farm platform for the Republicans in Chicago this past election. When are these good people going to realize that this thing is going to have to be stopped soon. The bankers will be wanting to know what we are going to raise now, and we need to know about what we are going to get for a crop in order to figure how to pay him back, but maize at a $1.30 won't do it. You won't have to worry about a new $6,000 tractor at these maize prices. You better hope you don't have to overhaul an irrigation motor or maybe a well.

We must work together to awaken these people who cannot see that a sliding scale and lower prices are just making more surplus by forcing us to try for 8 and 10 thousand pounds per acre.

which he says has worked out very well in keeping his land in good condition and maintaining the fertility.

Mr. Kirchhoff and Mr. Calhoun of Plainview came in for assistance under the Great Plains Conservation Program for seeding grasses. This farm is west of town, just on the edge of the sandhills. Mr. Calhoun, who is the operator, plans to seed the entire acreage to grass such as Green Springletop, Indian grass, Switch grass, Sideoats Gramma, Weeping Lovegrass and Sand Lovegrass. The Great Plains Conservation Program will pay for 80% of the cost of the seeding operation, and 80% of the grass seed cost. The grass can be grazed or harvested for seed after it is established and a seed crop has matured. With the price of cattle as high as it now, it could prove very profitable to seed some of your land to grass. Areas that are hard to work or have critical erosion hazards such as steep land or very sandy land would fit into a farmers overall operation very well.

J. G. Arnn, whose farm is south of Stegall, has installed a sprinkler system and is utilizing water that is drawn from a large lake. The lake has gone down quite a bit due to the lack of rainfall in the past few months.

He plans to excavate parts of the lake in order to reduce the surface area and cut losses from evaporation. He has a centrifugal pump to pump the water into an aluminum line and thus makes use of water that would otherwise be wasted.

Terraces would be ideal to keep the water on the land where it falls. However, in Mr. Arnn's case, it is not feasible to terrace the land.

TOMBSTONE TERRITORY

Before World War I Fairy Soap was the largest seller on the American market. Mother used it as a beauty aid. Junior used it in the bath tub. Sister used it to shampoo her hair. And father used it to wash that portion of his face which wasn't covered with mustache and mutton chops. In magazines, on bill boards and in newspapers, you would see advertisements of Fairy Soap.

During the first great war the demand for Fairy Soap was so great that the manufacturers dropped their huge advertising program with an eye to making a bigger profit. They figured Fairy Soap was so well known it would carry itself. They were wrong. Other far sighted soap manufacturers stepped in with appealing advertising campaigns and took over the market. Fairy Soap was never able to come back and today lies in the graveyard alongside the Gold Dust Twins, Saint Jacobs Oil, Melon's Baby Food, Dolly Varden-Chocolates, Omar cigarettes, Maxwell automobiles and many other products that died a natural economic death due to lack of advertising.

IN AIRBORNE EXERCISE

FORT BRAGG, N. C.—Army Specialist Four Wendell L. Pike of Muleshoe, participated February 19-21 in Exercise Banyan Tree, a joint Army-Air Force maneuver conducted in the Canal Zone, after being airlift from Fort Bragg, N. C. with other members of the 82nd Airborne Division's 501st Infantry.

More than 5,000 Army and Air Force personnel took part in the exercise which was designed to test the division's ability to reinforce units of the Caribbean Command in defense of the Panama Canal against a simulated enemy. Exercise Banyan Tree marked the first time, in either an exercise or actual operation, that an airborne battle group has been flown directly from the U. S. to an overseas area to execute a parachute assault against simulated or actual enemy forces on arrival.

The 82nd Airborne Division, a major Strategic Army Corps (STRAC) unit, constantly maintains an immediate readiness force for airborne deployment to any area in the world.

Specialist Pike, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Pike, Route 2, Muleshoe, is regularly assigned as a team leader in the 501st's Company E at Fort Bragg. He entered the Army in February 1957 and received basic training at Fort Carson, Colo.

MERLIN, THE HYPNOTIST, who is appearing nightly March 10 and 11 in Muleshoe high school auditorium, under the auspices of the Muleshoe Lions Club, is reputed to be an outstanding practitioner of the art of hypnotism as well as prestidigitation. Tickets are on sale by all members of the Lions Club.

Chevy stops quickest... goes farthest on a gallon!

Chevy showed the best brakes of the leading low-priced three in a test of repeated stops at highway speeds conducted and certified by NASCAR*. Chevy also won over the other two in a NASCAR economy run—with the highest gas mileage for 6's and V8's at cruising speeds of just over 55 miles an hour.

Here's a car that knows how to get the most out of a gallon. And it's the only car in its field to bring you hydraulic valve lifters in all popular engines—6 and V8. This means smoother, quieter performance for you.

There are many other advances just as fundamental as the efficiency of Chevrolet's engines and the dependability of its new brakes (with more lining area than any other low-priced car). But why not stop by your dealer's and let Chevy do its own sweet talking!

They used to call the nameless, door-to-door peddler "the man without a face." Slipping into town without notice—and out again the same way—he depended on a glib tongue to sell his cheap books and kitchen gimmicks. He didn't want to be remembered or recognized—after he had made his sale.

When you're buying a gadget worth a few pennies, it may not be important whether you buy it from a reputable, established dealer or a peddler "without a face." But when you buy something important, like an insurance policy, you want to know the man who sells it—and be able to find him when you want him.

So be sure when you insure. Buy your protection from an established, local independent agent to whom you're a neighbor, not a number. Look for the agent who displays the Farm Bureau seal—the "standard of protection". That's your guide to real "peace of mind" insurance anywhere.

ONE OUT OF FIVE MOTORISTS LACKS VISUAL SKILLS FOR SAFE DRIVING

Figures on 3000 drivers in 25 states were obtained in a pilot survey which American Optometric Association will extend to 100,000 drivers in cooperation with state and local organizations. The national survey, being launched during SAVE YOUR VISION WEEK, March 17, aims at accident prevention by cautioning the motorist to respect his individual limits in eyesight, remembering that "DRIVING TAKES SEEING!"

Sandhills Philosopher Finds Out At Last How Some Phonograph Records Got Played Over The Air

Editor's note: The Sand Hills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm this week discusses, of all things, music.

Dear editor:
I don't listen to the radio much, mainly because with a radio you have to listen right then or you'll miss what's said, while with a newspaper you can wait around till you're in the mood and have a chance to prepare yourself to face what happened in the world yesterday, but once in a while I do listen and something about radio that has puzzled me a long time has now been cleared up, although I'll have to admit it took a newspaper to do it.

Here was my problem: when I'd tune in to hear some news, lots of times a music program would be on, and since I figured the news would be on in a few minutes and there wasn't any use in going to the trouble of changing the dial, I listened.

What puzzled me was how some of the music I heard got there. There's a record that's "zooming upward", the announcer would say, I think they call him a disc jockey, although I ain't up on that phase of culture, and what came over the air was unbelievable. And when the singer started singing, well, if I had a calf that couldn't bawl better than that, I'd have it condered for soap.

I couldn't figure out how such a record ever got played, not to mention how anybody could claim it was zooming.

Well, this has been cleared up. According to a newspaper I read last night, the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee has turned up some evidence that racketeers have been forcing juke box owners to buy phonograph records. I knew somebody must have been holding a gun on somebody else to get such music. But I'll never succeed, I mean, while maybe the racketeers can force record distributors to buy their records, it's going to take a lot of mobsters to hold enough guns on enough people to make them listen.

"On the other hand, I've heard some records that weren't forced on anybody, they're played night and day, on radio, TV, juke boxes and kids portable record-players, and I'll tell you it's going to take an expert to tell which record was forced on the public by racketeers and which one by teenagers. I'm glad I'm not on the Senate Investigating

Washington News Letter

From Lyndon B. Johnson U. S. Senator

Visions of a far greater future for Texas and the South today overshadow hallowed memories of a glorious past. A future of unlimited opportunities is unfolding for the entire region.

Tally the natural wealth. It is there to be utilized.

The South today has one-third of the good farm land of the Nation. It has two-thirds of all the land with 40 inches of rainfall or more a year. And it has a long growing season. This gives the South a natural advantage in the production of food and fiber, of livestock and feed.

Because of these things, the South is the richest region in the Nation in renewable resources.

There is the potential wealth of the sea. The South faces a sea frontier on two sides. It has nearly 600 miles more seacoast than the North and West combined.

There is industry. We have it in the paper mill at Lufkin, the steel production at Daingerfield, rubber and chemicals along the Gulf Coast.

Most important, Texas and the South are experiencing a silent revolution in technology. This is based on a trilogy of natural resources. I'm speaking of the petrochemical industry.

Major industries, we're told, develop by bringing together a combination of resources. And the combination that has made this possible for Texas is oil, sulphur, and water.

The South, including Texas, produces 45 per cent of the Nation's oil, 100 per cent of the Nation's sulphur, and it has the fresh water.

Ahead for the petrochemical industry are its greatest years of growth.

Totaled, these assets add up to one thing:

Opportunity to make tomorrow for Texas and the South and the Nation a better, a happier day.

That is our job, God willing, that is what I intend to do.

Yours faithfully,
Lyndon B. Johnson

We thank W. B. McAdams for a copy of the following verses:

SLIPPING

When I was young my slippers were Red,
I could kick my heels clear over my head.
When I grew older my slippers were Blue,
But I could dance the whole night through.

Now I am old my slippers are Black,
I walk to the corner and puff my way back.
The reason I know my youth has been spent,
My get up and go has got up and went,
But really I don't mind
When I think with a grin,
Of all the grand places my Get Up has been.

Tax Man Sam Sez:

The newspaper publishers in Texas are always interested in the general welfare. You will usually find your local editor active on civic projects and doing his best to make the community a better place for his readers to live. The Internal Revenue Service relies heavily on the newspaper business to keep taxpayers informed.

Your editor realizes that paying income taxes is a shoe we must wear in spite of the pinch. He joins thousands of other newspapers throughout the country every year in attempting to pass along information on tax law requirements and tax benefits to his readers.

We want to take our hats off to our nation's editors. The fact that the voluntary income tax system works is due in a large part to the helpful advice that you read in your newspaper. April 16 would be a day of great embarrassment to thousands of taxpayers who had forgotten to file their income tax return on April 15 if your editor was not kind enough to remind you.

Today's Meditation

Read Matthew 8:28-34.
Go home to thy friends, and tell them how great things the Lord hath done for thee, and hath had compassion on thee. (Mark 5:19.)

Often during the course of everyday conversation, we find someone who has a problem to which we hold the answer. It may be a physical, domestic, social, medical, or some other problem troubling the one speaking to us.

Since we have had similar experience, we may feel able to offer help or advice. To keep quiet at such a time would be thoughtless and selfish. Usually we let the individual know how we ourselves have been helped.

When the problem of the person speaking to us is spiritual, however, we are prone to remain quiet, even though we have experienced the joy and peace of the Lord. The salvation Christ offers is for all. If we fail to tell others this good news, we sin by such silence, if we do not encourage them to put their faith in Christ as their Redeemer, our silence is sin.

The same blessing that I have come to us through faith in our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ can become the possession of others too, but we Christians must tell them.

Father in heaven, keep us from the sin of silence. Grant that we may not withhold from others the knowledge of the gospel of Thy grace. Through faith in our Lord Jesus Christ and in His name we ask it, Amen.

I will speak to others of the great things the Lord has done for me.

BABSON DISCUSSES... ANTI-MISSILE MISSILES

Babson Park, Mass., March 3.—In my column last week in Berlin and the stock market concluded that the entire Russian-German situation depends upon whether either nation is prepared to defend itself against hydrogen or atom bombs. If Russia backs down on her Berlin ultimatum, it means that her Siberian experiments with anti-missile missiles have not been a success. Surely no nation, including the United States, has a defense against them.

Germany Hands Out No News Releases

Russia is encouraging our newspapers, radio broadcasts, and magazines to tell of her "wonderful" scientists and laboratories. You do not hear anything of what Germany is doing. Yet the so-called Russian scientists were stolen from Germany; in fact, I believe it was a German and not a Russian who built the famous "Sputnik."

Although they are saying nothing, the Germans are far ahead of either Russia or the U. S. in scientific achievement. Russia talks as if the U. S. were her great enemy; while she knows it is Germany and China she must fear. It is the present talk of protection from enemy missiles by all nations which causes the "cold war" to continue.

Eisenhower, deGaulle, and MacMillan Working Closely With Dr. Adenauer

The Democrats blame Eisenhower for everything, and talk about "the elephant sleeping in the White House." Our President may be a child at politics, but he knows Europe better than anyone in public office. He knows what Germany is doing, but he keeps it to himself, as Dr. Adenauer wants him to do. The same also applies to the scientific developments of France under Charles deGaulle and of Great Britain under Harold Macmillan. President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Macmillan and President deGaulle know that Germany is the protector of Western Europe. They are prepared to work closely with Dr. Adenauer. Great events are in the making—Germany has the world's best scientists, best laboratories, and best fighting spirit. The Germans are not dishonest like the Russians; nor are they soft like us. They realize that in case of World War III Russia would first try to destroy West Germany. Hence, the West Germans are making plans to prevent this.

Germany Has Tremendous Sins for Which She Must Ultimately Repent or Repay.

Germany has tremendous sins for which she must ultimately repent or repay. These primarily were the unforgivable persecutions of the Jews under orders from Hitler and his cohorts. Perhaps one way Germany could atone for these crimes would be by inventing a way to make the free world safe from Russian attacks or even threats.

Germany Will Be The Bulwark

News releases from Russia and the U. S. are mostly about ground-to-air missiles and space stunts. The real invention the United States, Great Britain, France, and especially Germany, are seeking is a ground-to-air defense missile, and Germany will secure it. When this is found, it could secure the peace for some years to come.

The primary work of defense against all missiles is being done by Germany. The world's best physicists, metallurgists, and engineers are working on this problem in Germany with the help of Great Britain, France, and the U. S. A. Russia is more interested in these experiments than in conquering space. Remember that no country releases its most important inventions to the public. Such work is highly "classified." I believe a safe defense against missiles will be found. This will make Germany all-powerful in her strategic position as the bulwark of the free nations. Russia is truly afraid—not of the U. S. A. or Great Britain or France—but of Germany. Russia is handicapped and greatly embarrassed by having West Berlin and Western Germany advance so in everything while East Berlin and East Germany are stagnant.

The only way Khrushchev now sees to stop this is by absorbing Berlin. Of course, the Germans will not agree to this, nor will Great Britain, France, or the U. S. A. Such a withdrawal would be suicidal for the West. If, however, Russia could find a sure defense against German missiles, she might be willing to withdraw from Berlin and let East and West Berlin combine, with free passage guaranteed to all parts of the world. The isolation of Berlin without a Western outlet is crazy and must be rectified. I believe this will take place as soon as all nations have anti-missile missiles.

Water Use Tests At Halfway Research Station

How valuable is the irrigation water applied to the various crops? A study of the efficiency of water usage as affected by fertilizer was conducted at the High Plains Station at Halfway in connection with fertilizer research on both grain sorghum and cotton during 1958. Dr. T. C. Longacker, head of the station, stated today.

In the series of tests the dryland grain sorghum produced 2,289 pounds per acre. The same variety with nine inches of water applied and a fertilizer produced 3,623 pounds per acre. In this test the water was worth $2.37 per acre inch. When 120 pounds of nitrogen was applied to this variety with nine inches of water the yield totaled 6,056 pounds per acre making the value per acre inch of water $5.71 after the cost of the fertilizer was deducted. The same variety of grain sorghum was used in each of the above studies.

Dryland cotton with no fertilizer applied produced 356 pounds of lint per acre. Three inches of irrigation with no fertilizer produced 526 pounds of lint per acre. In this case the water applied was worth $15.87 per acre inch applied.

Fertilizer applied to the dryland test at the rate of 26 pounds of nitrogen and 78 pounds of phosphorus per acre produced 301 pounds of lint cotton. With three inches of irrigation and the same fertilizer application the yield rose to 621 pounds. Profit on the water applied after paying for the fertilizer, was $26.92 per acre inch.

In the third test, dryland cotton had a fertilizer application of 66 pounds of nitrogen and 78 pounds of phosphorus which had a yield of 311 pounds of lint cotton per acre. To this same fertilizer application three inches of irrigation water was applied with a resulting yield of 697 pounds of lint cotton per acre. Here the value of an acre inch of water applied was $35.15 after paying the fertilizer cost.

With no fertilizer and six inches of water the cotton yield was 611 pounds of lint making the water worth $14.34 per acre inch applied. The addition of 26 pounds of nitrogen and 78 pounds of phosphorus increased the yield to 775 pounds and the value of an acre inch of water to $20.68. With 66 pounds of nitrogen and 78 pounds of phosphorus the yield jumped to 899 pounds of lint per acre and the value of an acre inch of water to $25.00.

Recharge Tests Being Carried On At Tech

New efforts are underway at Texas Tech to unclog one of the world's large "storage tanks" and pour in untold gallons of surface water.

The tank is the famed Caprock, a high plains geologic formation which holds underground water near the earth's surface where it may be tapped easily for irrigation.

Each year hundreds of identifications in the generally flat top of the Caprock trap rain water. In most instances it evaporates because attempts to store it underground are stymied by silt.

The loose topsoil of the Caprock mixes with the water and clogs recharge wells to the point that their operation is uneconomical.

If this problem is solved, several hundred thousands of acre-feet of water can be saved and stored in a year of normal rainfall—much more in above-average years, water experts estimate.

The experts also say successful recharging would free close to one million acres for farming—acres now covered with water after rains.

Texas Tech agricultural engineers, supervised by Bill Schwesow, say they may have an answer to the problem—lines of subsurface filters stretching underneath a high plains pond and connecting to a mainline leading to a recharge well.

A frame of 16 different types of filter lines has been constructed underneath a pond on the Tech Farms at Lubbock. Four of the lines are built with plastic pipe, another four with clay tile.

Bituminous pipe is used in four of the lines, while the final quarter of the system is built with transite (cement-asbestos) pipe.

Four types of fillings are used above the filter pipes: natural soil of the pond bed, or cotton burrs, corn cobs or gravel plus soil.

Water is expected to filter through the variously-created pond-beds, into the filter pipes, and from there to the mainline which is expected to feed relatively clear water into the recharge well.

Tech engineers will attempt to measure the rate of flow for each experimental line and the amount of silt carried through each. The results should indicate which type of filtration is most feasible, the length of lines needed for a certain flow of water, and—

Executive Board Of Farmers Union Meets In Lubbock

DENTON — Alex Dickie, Jr., president, Texas Farmers Union, announced the meeting of the Executive Committee of Texas Farmers Union meeting in Lubbock on Thursday, February 26.

The Farmers Union Board blasted Ezra Taft Benson and company for the recent cuts on price supports for cotton, grain sorghum, oats, barley, and rye.

The Farmers Union Executive Board urged all Texas farmers and ranchers who are not in accord with ever cheaper and cheaper prices for what we produce to join with other Farmers Union members in their consistent fight for a parity income price on all farm commodities. The Farmers Union has supported the production payment approach for all family farm production for more than ten years.

Another approach now being advanced by Farmers Union is a realistic bargaining power—through production control. Such control would be in bushels, pounds, and bales on historic production records. We would in turn price our products in line with present cost of production to return farmers a fair margin of profit.

The Board said they could not understand the surprise and alarm being expressed by Texas farmers about the price support cut on grain sorghum and other feed grains. Most Texas farmers are members of the Farm Bureau which has been fighting for such a program for the past 20 years.

The Farmers Union Board said that they could not expect anything better in the way of a farm program so long as so many farmers pay dues into the big business controlled, Republican Farm Bureau that supports such programs.

The Farmers Union said they would be glad to meet with any group of farmers and explain their program of parity farm income. The state office is in Denton, Texas, and can be contacted at any time.

after a time—proper treatment of a lake area for recharging, they reported.

Schwesow said preliminary data should be available in a year after the system is completed this spring. Other usable statistics should be collected in five year intervals unless definite indications of failure appear earlier.

New Bulletin On Soybeans

Soybeans have been grown in Texas for more than 40 years, but have not yet become an important crop although their potential value is recognized.

Soybeans can be grown in most irrigated sections of Texas. In areas of higher rainfall, such as East Texas, yields are inconsistent under dryland conditions and the crop is not recommended unless irrigation facilities are available.

Average yields under irrigation are approximately 25 bushels per acre, but some relatively large plantings have produced 30 to 40 bushels per acre. At this level of production, soybeans do not give as much cash return as grain sorghums. Soybeans, however, are valuable in a soil-improving rotation, and weed control following soybeans is not as serious a problem as following grain sorghum.

Soybeans are adapted to about the same soil and climate conditions as corn or cotton. They do best on well-drained, mellow, fertile and sandy loams, but good results can be obtained on most properly-drained soils if water is available for supplemental irrigation.

They are usually planted in 36 to 42-inch rows at a rate to give 10 to 12 plants per foot row. Date of seeding is important because of the sensitivity of the plants to day length and temperature. Optimum planting dates occur when the minimum soil temperature is above 65 degrees and the day length reaches 14½ hours—May 15 to June 15 in about all areas of the state.

The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station has released a bulletin entitled "Soybean Production in Texas". It discusses all phases of production including adaptation, production methods, fertilization, harvesting and storing. The bulletin is available free of charge from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas. Ask for Bulletin 919.

Cage Clinic For Poultrymen Set At A&M College

The annual Cage Clinic, sponsored by the Poultry Science Department of Texas A&M College, will be held on March 25. Ben Wormeli, extension poultry husbandman, says that attendance at previous clinics has averaged over 500 and indications point to another good turnout for the 1959 clinic.

The use of cages by commercial egg producers in Texas continues to expand. In 1953 an estimated 272,000 cages were in use while more than 3,500,000 were in use last year. Wormeli points out that much of the recent increase has been in colony cages and this subject will be discussed during the clinic. Dr. John Quisenberry, head, Poultry Science Department, will give the results of research done at A&M on the performance of hens in colony cages.

Dr. Clyde Driggers, head, Poultry Division of the University of Georgia, will speak on contract egg production and the changing nutritional needs of laying hens as it relates to age and season of the year.

Dr. A. W. Brant, Agricultural Research Service, USDA, will present the potential opportunities afforded by the proposed federal state egg quality program. Other speakers from the Texas poultry industry and the Texas A&M College System will handle subjects of prime importance to egg producers and insure a profitable day for those in attendance.

Wormeli says that local county agents have a copy of the day's program and suggests that they be contacted for details. All egg producers have a special invitation to attend. Starting time is 8:50 a.m.; the meeting place the Memorial Student Center and the last program feature is set for 4:15 p.m.

Brownfield, Tex., Man Reports— 2¾-Bale Cotton

L. H. (Howard) Wheeler, prominent Texas farmer, says: "I farm 1,840 acres. With that much land I have to maintain high yields, year after year. Phillips 66 Ammonia helped me to do that. This past year we watched our cotton carefully, then when conditions looked right, we went in and side dressed it with Phillips 66 Ammonia. The cotton came right on along, setting a high count of squares—and of course that meant a good yield, averaging 2¾ bales per acre. I use Phillips 66 Ammonia with excellent results on my maize, too."

Other successful Southwestern farmers have discovered that they make more profit per acre, using Phillips 66 Ammonia. They get more cotton that classes higher at the gin... yields of sorghum grain and ensilage are increased... profits on wheat and small grains are increased through higher grain yields and improved forage... more marketable vegetables are harvested.

SUMMER LAWN

Now is the time to give some serious thought to your lawn, if you are planning to have one this summer.

Pre-season preparation is practically impossible at this late date and should have been done last fall or before Christmas. This would include plowing, leveling, sodding or even seeding, for most grass seed grows better if it is sown the previous fall.

However, if you did not prepare your lawn area last fall, it may still be done, but expect a little slower start than if you had done it earlier.

Seeding

Grass seed may be sown right in with dry fertilizers, and should be planted at the rate recommended by the seller on the package. Sowing too thickly may result in crowded conditions that will be susceptible to disease in the heat of the summer.

Several new varieties of lawn grass seed have been introduced lately, and some of them do very well. However, if you are more interested in a quick permanent lawn, better stick to common bermuda or at best the African bermuda.

Merion Bluegrass

If you care to experiment a little, and are willing to take the time and effort, Merion bluegrass gives a lovely lawn, although it is susceptible to rust and other diseases. Merion comes up earlier, is darker green, and presents a beautiful sight in early spring. It yellows easily and will rust if given water late in the afternoon. Always water Merion blue grass early enough in the day so that the leaves are dry by nightfall to prevent rust, caused by fungus attack. Zoysia grass is highly advised, but must be planted by "plugging" individual plugs; grows and spread slowly, and requires at least three seasons to become well established.

Watering

Whether you have an elaborate sprinkler system, or whether you just let the garden hose run on the ground, make sure your lawn receives at least one inch of water weekly during the growing season.

Frequent light sprinklings stimulates top growth, but do little for the roots, giving you weaker, less healthy grass. Whenever you water, water enough at one time to soak deep down into the soil, if you want to do anything more just wash the dust off the grass blades.

There are a number of good insecticides and fungicides on the market under different trade names that will keep pest damage to a minimum, providing their onslaught is noted in time. Inspect your lawn frequently, choosing small isolated spots, and look for grub damage, rusting blades, dry or weak plants. Prevention is usually easier than cure.

Weeds

The only advice that seems practical to give in controlling dandelion, careless weed and goatheads is to keep after the pests while they are young and tender and before they set seed.

Mowing should be done regularly, but care should be taken not to "scalp" your lawn, just groom it. Set your mower blades at least 2 inches high, to give some shading of the roots from the grass blades. This also helps give you a springier, more resilient lawn to walk on.

Keeping a lovely lawn requires work, but it's worth it
