STANDING ON THE CORNER

With F. J.

The smoke ascends to heaven as lightly from a cottage hearth as from the haughty palace. He whose soul ponders this true equality may walk the fields of earth with gratitude and hope.— Wordsworth

Everyone is entitled to a little bragging. Tahokans are justly proud of their first basketball star that ever received acclaim from the sports world. We were indeed proud of Junior Pitts when he was chosen among 24 Texas ball thumpers to play in the North-South game. However, now he has even been more highly honored. He now has been chosen among 10 boys to play with the Texas All-Stars when they meet the Oklahoma All-Stars in Lawton, Okla. on Aug. 22.

I've been busy all week sewing buttons on my husband's shirt!

Our coverage of the hail damage last week was not quite complete. We since have learned that C. E. Ford lost from 60 to 75 acres of cotton, Ted McDonald lost 20 or 30 acres, and L. J. Wood and C. W. Birdwell received lighter damage. All live southeast of town.

Paul McDonald lost a milk cow in an electrical storm last week. He said he saw her standing in the lot a few minutes before he went out to milk. When he got to the barn he found her "as dead as a hammer."

I had a letter the other day that made me feel very nostalgic. Mrs. Arnie Henderson Maxwell of Austin who formerly taught the second grade here wrote that I was such a good "little girl" in school. In fact, I was so good, that she resigned her position shortly after.

Has your husband been putting off fixing the back door screen? Does he get a carpenter to replace a missing shingle from the roof? Does he have a hard time driving a nail in straight? If so, send him to the T-Bar Country Club where the temporary club house is being built. He will receive free instructions on carpentry, several bruised fingers, and a dislocated back.

When you get to Heaven you will likely view Many folks whose presence there will be a shock to you. But, keep very quiet, do not even stare.

Doubtless there'll be many folks surprised to see you there.— Arthur Harris & Co.

GOLF RULE OF THE WEEK: Practice stroke prohibited, between play of two holes, from any hazard or on or to putting green of any hole not yet played.

Golf Etiquette: No player should play until the players in front are out of range. That is, of course, unless it's your boss.

School Drills New Water Well

A new irrigation well was to be completed this week for the purpose of supplementing the one drilled last year for watering the school campus.

The new well is a good two inch, although it started out as a three. However, according to Supt. Otis Spears, it will be sufficient with the four inch well now in operation.

The four inch well did not put out enough water to keep the entire campus green and the past week the grass had begun to turn brown.

Jack Robinson drilled, tested and was this week installing the pump. Frank Greenhouse drilled the first hole but lost the bit and was never able to get back to the drilling.

First County Bale Is Ginned Monday

Lynn County's first bale of cotton is on display in Tahoka in front of the First National Bank. Raised by Jake L. Burkett of O'Donnell, the bale was brought in at 7:00 p. m. Monday.

It took 1800 pounds to gin the bale which weight 530 pounds, and the 800 pounds of seed. Farmers Co-op of O'Donnell ginned the cotton.

The Tahoka Chamber of Commerce will sponsor the auction of the bale on Saturday, Aug. 25, with Judge G. C. Grider as auctioneer. Mayor Clint Walker will be master of ceremonies.

The Chamber of Commerce will give a bonus of $200 to Mr. Burkett, and possibly other donations will make the bonus still higher.

Mr. Burkett farms the land owned by Mrs. Oma Willis which is located one mile east and one-half mile north of O'Donnell. He planted "Paymaster 54 B" cotton seed on April 27 on the irrigated farm. However, the cotton from which the bale was picked has had only two waterings since it was planted.

The bale was brought to Tahoka by Mr. Burkett, Weldon Martin, manager of the O'Donnell gin, and Pete Schaffner.

Last year Troy Copelin, who lives seven miles north of Tahoka, brought in the first bale for Lynn County on August 26, nearly two weeks later than this year's bale.

EVERTT HUFFARD

Gordon Revival Starts Today

The Gordon Church of Christ will begin its Gospel Meeting Aug. 17 and will continue through Aug. 26.

Evertt Huffard of Carlsbad, N. M. will do the preaching and J. O. Reed Jr. will conduct the song services.

Services will be held twice daily at 10:00 a. m. and 8:15 p. m. Everyone is invited to attend.

Work Starts On T-Bar Club House

Work on a 20 by 40 foot club house is nearly complete at T-Bar Country Club a mile and a half northwest of Tahoka.

Decision was reached last week to build a temporary club house to be moved and used later as a caretaker's home.

Most of the work on the building is being done by donated labor from club members and local carpenters, and materials are being sold the club at cost. The building will be of frame construction, with asbestos siding, with a large party room, pro shop, and rest rooms.

A picture window about six by 11 feet will look out over the golf course.

A. N. Norman, president of the club, and Lester Strech, last week secured enough pre-payments of dues and some donations to assure construction of the building.

The club hopes some time in a year or two to build a larger permanent club house.

The 9-hole grass greens golf course has been making remarkable progress during the past few weeks, and many days as many as 20 to 30 golfers are playing the course.

Only seven fairways and greens are in use at the present time, but Nos. 8 and 9 will be ready for play shortly, club officials say. Two golf professionals who recently played the course said the greens are the finest they have seen to be only a year old.

These pros, W. E. Ramsey of Cossden Country Club, and C. A. DeWise of Big Spring Country Club are coming here each Monday to give golf instructions to anyone desiring the same. Arrangements for lessons may be made by contacting Lester Strech.

About thirty people attended a recent golf clinic held by these men at T-Bar.

During the past week, both fairways and roughs were mowed, and from now on will be mowed. A new greens mower was recently bought, and greens are now in top condition.

With completion of the club house, all non-members will be required to register each time they play the course and also pay the green fees, which are $1.00.

The club house will be available for use of club members, and parties may be held there by making reservations.

A new irrigation well was dug a few weeks ago and tied in with the water system. The club has five small irrigation wells and has pumped on four of them. A overhead tank will be installed to serve the club house.

Officers and members of the club are enthusiastic about the progress being made, and special opportunities are being offered for beginners. Clubs are available for beginners to rent at the club house, and balls and other accessories will be available also.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hill, Mrs. Howard Crausby of Crosbyton and Mrs. John Reagan of Floydada are spending the week in Ruidoso.

Run-Off Election To Be Aug. 25

Only one run-off in the county will appear on the ballots Aug. 25 when voters go to the polls for a second time in the Democratic Primary elections.

In precinct one, Clarence Church and Curtis Morgan are candidates for Commissioner. Church of Wilson is the present incumbent and received 431 votes in the first primary. Morgan is a well known Garnolia farmer and received 341 votes. Others seeking the office were T. L. Weaver and Othell W. Meeks.

For State senator in the 28th Senatorial District, voters will decide between Preston Smith and Carroll Cobb.

State run-offs includes Price Daniel and Ralph Yarborough for governor, Tom Moore and Will Wilson for attorney general. A. M. Aikin, Jr. resigned from the race against Ben Ramsey for lieutenant governor because of ill health.

NFLA Annual Meeting Held

The annual stockholders meeting of the Tahoka - Post National Farm Loan Association was held here Saturday in the American Legion Hall when one director was re-elected and one was elected to fill out an unexpired term.

T. L. Jones of Garza County was re-elected a director and Avery Moore of Garza County was elected to fill out the two years left in the term vacated this summer at the time of Julius Fumagalli's death.

Fred McGinty of Lynn County is president of the association, Ross Smith is secretary-treasurer, Cordelia Green is office assistant, and other directors are O. C. Roberts and Vernon Willhoit, both of Lynn County.

Tahoka-Post National Farm Loan Association serves Lynn, Garza and Borden counties. At the present time it is serving 415 loans in the amount of $2,000,631.25.

Water Conservation Is Urged By Mayor

Tahoka is very near to a critical water shortage, Mayor Clint Walker said Wednesday.

He is asking citizens to slow down on their water use for the next two weeks. The last 10 days Tahoka has been using more water than can be pumped from the City wells.

Mayor Walker said if the water situation becomes any worse that water will have to be rationed in Tahoka. Citizens have been using one million gallons a day, which has caused the pressure to drop.

City of Tahoka is drilling a new well on its property north of Tahoka, but the results is not known now, Walker said.

One of the biggest and best Lyntegar Electric Cooperative annual membership meetings ever held was attended by 2600 people here Tuesday night at Kelly Field when Boyce House, noted author and a Texas booster, was the principal speaker.

A barbecue preceded the evening program and business session, free rides were available for the children, and 52 electrical appliances totaling $750 were given away. Attendees filled the east stands of the football stadium and lounged over the field during the day.

In a welcome address, ex-mayor evenings' activities.

Dr. K. R. Durham lauded Lyntegar as being host to the biggest single annual event that takes place in Tahoka. It also has the biggest payroll, he said.

Harold Douglas, auditor of Lubbock, stamped Lyntegar as being a $7,000,000 business.

Three directors for districts one, six and seven were re-elected to their posts to fill a three year term. They are Earl Houx of Hockley County, L. G. Thuet, Jr. of Garza County and Floyd Heck of Lynn County. Roy L. Williams was nominated from the floor for district seven, but was defeated in the balloting when Floyd Heck received 302 votes to his 172. C. E. Woodward, chairman of the nominating committee, submitted the directors' names for re-election.

Following an introduction by Truett Smith, attorney for Lyntegar, Mr. House noted how much electricity does for us. He said that the greatest thing ever said concerning light was in Genesis when God said, "Let there be light," and there was light. In a humorous vein he showed how other things brighten the lives of people, including the ability to find the good things in all people, happiness, etc.

He said, "Sunshine and joy of life come from children."

"What we all need is faith—faith in ourselves, our fellowman, our nation and our God."

"We can be saved and our nation can be saved, but only by the arms of God," he concluded.

Mayor Clint Walker acted as master of ceremonies during the evening. Rev. Chas. Y. Pickens of the Draw Methodist Church gave the invocation.

Wilmer Smith introduced George

Pfeiffenberger, executive vice president of the Plains Cotton Growers who said that Plains farmers will not grow longer staple cotton but will grow better short staple.

In his audit report Mr. Douglas noted that Lyntegar has an 80 percent increase in dollars and cents over last year. The net gain this year is $276,900.31. The total income this year is $844,604.73 as compared with $685,143.00 last year. The total expense this year has been $567,704.48 as compared with $511,785.00 last year. He strongly complimented Lyntegar on its growth.

Following the program, the crowd stood in silence for one minute in tribute to Tom Garrard, who was attorney for Lyntegar since its conception until his death last October.

Hold-over directors of the cooperative include Frank Harris, president of Ackerly; J. S. Smith of Brownfield, vice president; G. Q. Hensley of Tahoka, secretary-treasurer; and H. W. Moore of Lamesa. Garland Pennington is manager of Lyntegar and Wilton Payne is assistant manager.

The board of directors will meet the second Tuesday in September and at that time will elect the officers for the coming year.

Lyntegar serves Lynn, Dawson, and Terry counties, and parts of Garza, Borden, Gaines, Yoakum, Hockley, and Lubbock counties. On July 1 this year the co-op billed 7938 accounts, which is 589 more connections than were billed at the same time last year.

The Poka-Lambro Telephone Cooperative, which was also supposed to have a membership meeting, was unable to get a forum together. W. D. Harmon, manager, said that a meeting will be announced at a later date when three directors are to be elected.

These will serve districts two, four and six which are presently filled by V. H. Wheatley of Terry County, secretary-treasurer; President James T. Dunn of Dawson, and C. W. Roberts of Lynn County.

Holdover directors are Loyd McCormick, vice president of Lynn County; T. E. Mason of Lynn County; Lee Bartlett of Terry County; and George W. Teague of Morton County.

School Board Sets Transfer Tuition

The Tahoka School Board Tuesday night set the tuition charge for all transfers from Grandland both elementary and high school at $93.00.

This tuition charge is the actual cost of instruction but does not include bond service.

However, the bond service would be included the tuition fee would be $125.00 per student, Supt. Otis Spears said.

See it first in The News.

Farmers Cooperative Meeting Saturday

The Farmers Cooperative Association of the gin and service station will hold its annual meeting here Saturday, Aug. 18, at the gin shed in Tahoka.

The meeting will begin at 10:00 a. m. when three new directors are to be elected.

Dividend checks will be paid to co-op members at this time, and a barbecue lunch will be served at noon, according to Bobby Carroll, manager.

Montana Cattle Go Into Relief

Governor J. Hugo Aronson officially inaugurates the Christian cross as a cattle brand for the Christian Rural Overseas Program drive in Montana by affixing the first "cross" to a calf donated to CROP. At round-up time, calves wearing the brand will be used to combat hunger overseas through the Church World Service program. Watching the branding, left, is the Reverend Donald A. Scanlin of Red Lodge, state CROP director. Directly behind Mr. Scanlin is William R. Mackay, state senator and owner of the Lazy EL ranch near Roscoe where the CROP drive for meat animals was opened. Close-up of new brand is circled in picture at right.

A&M Releases New Bulletins

College Station, Aug.—Two recently released Texas Agricultural Experiment Station publications deal with research studies on subjects vital to farmers and ranchmen on the High and Rolling Plains of Texas.

Bulletin 828, titled, Changes in Investment and Irrigation Water Cost, Texas High Plains, 1950-54, contains a wealth of information on what is happening in this great agricultural producing area. The authors, W. F. Hughes, Agri. Research Service USDA and A. C. Magee, Department of Agri. Eco. and Sociology, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, say expanded development and water use has caused a decline in regional water levels, caused pumps to be lowered and well performance to drop and thus overall materially increasing the investment and cost of irrigation water. Information on how these and others problems are being met are discussed.

The second publication is MP-154, Farming and Ranching Risk as Influenced by Rainfall. The authors, R. J. Hildreth and Gerald W. Thomas are members of the staffs of the Departments of Agricultural Economics and Sociology and Range and Forestry of the Texas A & M College System.

They have made a detailed study of weather records from 31 locations scattered over the High and Rolling Plains. Some of the

Fewer Hogs On Nation's Farms

College Station.—A drop of eight percent in the nation's spring pig crop and an indicated reduction of seven percent in the number of sows to farrow this fall promise some relief for swine prices, says John G. McHane, extension economist. Figures on Texas production closely follow the national trend, he adds.

Commercial slaughter of hogs during the first four months of 1956 averaged about 16 percent records go back for 80 years while others are for much shorter periods. The authors believe that farmers and ranchmen can take several steps which will aid in meeting weather risks.

By studying the occurrence and range of past weather variations, they can predict better probability of future drought and their severity, as well as the possibility of good years, and can adjust some farm and ranch operation to fit these constantly changing conditions, say the authors.

Both publications are available from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas.

Next Time Try The Classifieds

above the same months of last year but after mid-summer the slaughter rate is expected to drop to last year's level and then later below it.

As a result of the announced decrease in spring pig numbers and the indicated drop in fall farrowing and fewer hogs going to market, McHane says prices should average at least as high this fall as last and should not drop to the low level of prices paid producers in 1955.

Despite the indicated reduction in hog numbers, the specialists point out that total production of meat for 1956 is expected to be three percent above 1955 and meat consumption per person will average about 162 1/2 pounds compared with 162 pounds last year.

Prices paid for hogs will respond to the reduction in supply, says the economist. If the seven percent reduction in the fall pig crop occurs and general economic activities continues at the present rate, the price in the spring of 1957 should average above last spring's prices by more than seven percent.

Low prices at the present time should not be reason for the efficient hog producer to curtail production. Hogs should be sold when their weight reaches the 200 to 220 pound level. Producers should guard against producing over-fat hogs.

Fitts Selected To Play In Texas-Okla. All-Star Basketball Game At Lawton

Junior Fitts has been chosen along with nine other Texas boys for the Texas All-Stars against the Oklahoma All-Stars in the Oil Bowl basketball game in Lawton, Okla. on Aug. 22.

Last Thursday night he played with the winning North All-Stars team in Lubbock Coliseum against the South.

Out of the two team represented in Lubbock only Fitts, A. C. Black of Crozier Tech (Dallas), Gene Arrington of Palo Duro (Amarillo), and Max Williams of Avoca were chosen for the Texas All-Stars team. However, Williams may not be able to play. The other boys have been chosen from the rank of the all-state selections who were not picked for the North-South game. This is the first Oil Bowl basketball game ever to be staged.

Fitts played the first and third quarters as center at the Thursday night game when 6800 people swarmed into the new coliseum. He made a total of 10 points in the game, and controlled the backboard for almost 50 percent of the rebounds. He was commended highly by S. M. U. Coach "Doc" Hayes for his play on the boards and for exceptional work in breaking up the South's zone defense early in the game.

Others were heard to say that he was the best prospect on either team because of his consistently steady ball playing.

Aside from this he set up several plays for the sensational little Max Williams of Avoca.

Education Program To Be Offered

The Extension Department at Texas Tech will sponsor two series of 13 programs each over Lubbock television stations this fall in an effort to recruit teachers, Supt. Otis Spears reported.

The series is for those people holding a degree but not having a teacher's certificate.

The 30 minute programs will begin in September and run for 13 consecutive weeks on Saturday mornings. They will consist of methods of teaching, etc. and will enable those interested to obtain a one year teaching certificate renewable for two more years.

Those who want to obtain the certificate must first enroll at the Extension Department at Texas Tech, watch the programs, and fill out forms on the program and turn them in to the department. At the end of the series the certificates will be issued to those who have qualified for them.

Supt. Spears says that those interested in enrolling for this unique extension work may contact him for further details.

Merchants and Draw Meet In Softball League Finals

The Tahoka Merchants and the Draw Outlaws played the second game of the final two out of five play-offs last night in the Jaycee Softball League.

The Merchants won the first game, played Wednesday night, four to one, in one of the best games of the season. Only seven hits were allowed in the game, the Merchants getting four and Draw three.

If each has one win the final game will be played tonight.

The semi-final play-offs began Monday night when the first place Merchants defeated the third place New Home team 13 to one in a five inning ball game.

Tommy Murray was the winning pitcher allowing only two hits and walking four men. However, he struck out seven. Don Sharp was the losing pitcher giving up nine hits. He struck out four men and walked three.

In the second Monday night game Draw, who was holding fourth place in the league, defeated second place Wilson 13 to four. Billy Jones was the winning pitcher striking out 12 men. He allowed three hits and walked only one man. Monroe Talkmitt was the losing pitcher, but was relieved by Pete Bruedigam and Victor Steinhauser. The Wilson team struck out eight men, allowed six hits, and walked 10.

In the first game Tuesday night Draw again defeated Wilson, this time by a score of 16 to five, thus assuring them a place in the final play-offs. John Foster was the winning pitcher, striking out four men, walking eight, and allowing eight hits. Victor Steinhauser was the losing pitcher. He gave up six hits, walked 10 and struck out three.

The Merchants outscored New Home a second time Tuesday night eight to three, also placing themselves in the finals. Tommy Murray, on the mound for the winners, struck out six men, while

Wilson Ace In All-Star Game

Eugene "Mutt" Bruedigam of Wilson made a very creditable showing in the 1956 North-South all-star game of the Texas High School Coaches Association Friday night in Jones Stadium at Texas Tech, which game was witnessed by 14,000 fans. The game was won by the North 32 to 13.

"Mutt" played the entire game, except for about three or four plays, as a defensive line-backer on the North team. Although a majority of the plays went to the other side of the line, he played his position perfectly, was in on several tackles, helped break up several passes, almost intercepted one pass, and turned the South runners in when they came his way.

The 170-pound backfield ace from Coach Ralph Huntington's Wilson Mustangs has been granted a four-year athletic scholarship at Texas Tech, and will likely play a lot of football and baseball for the Red Raiders in the future.

walking six and giving up five hits. Don Sharp got credit for the loss, striking out three, walking three and allowing six hits.

Tommy Murray got credit for the win in the Wednesday night game. Tommy allowed only three hits, walked two and struck out 11 men. Billy Jones was credited with the loss, but allowed only four hits, walker one, and struck out nine men.

The game being one of the best pitchers' contest of the season, the Merchants took an early two run lead in the second. In the fourth Draw got their only run, and the game stood two to one all the way to the top of the seventh, when the Merchants got

Drouth Stricken Farmers To Receive Income Tax Relief

Drought stricken farmers have been provided income tax relief on the sale of livestock by Public Law 629 approved June 29, 1956. When a farmer has to sell his livestock, in excess of the number that he usually sells in his ordinary business, due to a drought, he can consider the sale as an involuntary conversion. The tax relief provisions relating to involuntary conversions have in the past applied to such things as the burning of your house, losses by flood, etc. on which insurance is collected. No tax is due on the sale of property due to an involuntary conversion if the property is replaced with like kind within a specified period, generally before the end of the following year.

Mr. H. O. Nichols, Administrative Officer of the Lubbock office stated that farmers who are having to sell livestock due to drought conditions will qualify. He pointed out that the Farmers Tax Guide for 1955, Internal Revenue Service Publication 225, sets out the procedures the farmers should follow in Chapter 13. Publication 225 is available at Internal Revenue Service offices and at county agents' offices. Thousands of farmers used this publication in preparing their 1955 tax returns.

Pre-School Band Starts Monday

Band Director Don Wortham has announced that pre-school band instructions will begin Monday, Aug. 20, when all band students are requested to report to Band Hall at 8:00 a. m.

The pre-school will last until the fall school term begins on September 3. Classes each day will begin at 8:00 o'clock and end at 10:00 o'clock. The first hour will be spent in instrument playing and the second will probably be used for marching, Mr. Wortham said.

The Bulldog Band will make its first appearance at the Plains-Tahoka football game to be held here Sept. 7, when it gives a half-time exhibition.

Although only four band members were lost at graduation, several others have married and Mr. Wortham does not know the number of the 1956-'57 band. For that reason, he urgently requests that all members of both junior and varsity bands report on Monday morning. They are also asked to bring all of their equipment.

Raymond Basque, who works for Carl Griffing Jr., underwent an emergency appendectomy in Tahoka Hospital Sunday afternoon. Dr. Noble Rumbo performed the operation.

ELMER BLANKENSHIP

Soil Conservation Service technicians assigned to the Lynn District assisted Clarence Church of Wilson with conservation plans on three farms. Two farms are irrigated while the other is dryland and has some native grazing land.

Legumes for soil improvement is planned in the crop rotation. Vetch may be used during the cold season months on irrigated land while dryland is best adapted to summer legumes such as sesbania and peas. The dryland plan is a place recently purchased by Clarence and had a conservation plan by the former owner. Clarence is establishing blue panic grass to use in grazing while native grasses are deferred. On the areas of grassland where mesquite trees have invaded they are to be controlled by kerosening or hand grubbing. One pasture has an area of native grass that has been managed so that there is an abundance of native grass while other areas that have been more heavily utilized it is planned for pitting or chiseling and re-seeding to native adopted species.

Fred Mauhart, a student from Austria, spent last Friday afternoon with Soil Conservation Service personnel visiting farms in the district to observe methods of irrigation and the different legumes used for soil improvement. Row irrigation, sesbania, and blue panic grass were observed on Theo Campbell's farm and border irrigation was observed on Bertram Hatchell's farm. Fred is an agriculture engineering student and will be in the Tahoka area for several days as a guest of the Tahoka Rotary Club.

Rotarians Hear Musical Program

Mrs. E. W. Patterson presented a musical program at the Rotary Club Thursday noon of last week.

"Buddy" Chestnut sang four popular numbers, and five girls also sang several numbers. The girls were Misses Carol Smith, Ann Reasonover, Wilma Scott, Sunny Gibson, and Bera Faye Spann.

The program was arranged by Mitchell Williams and H. W. Carter.

Otis Spears, chairman of the Student Loan, Scholarship and Awards Committee, announced a plan worked out furnishing a club scholarship each year to some worthy high school graduate wishing to attend college. The plan, unanimously approved by the club, would pay the tuition for one Tahoka freshman college student each year and help the student get a job in the college town of his or her choice.

President Johnny Reasonover called attention to the new attendance chart and said Ronald Sherrill was largely responsible for building it.

He also announced that the club had 100 percent attendance at the meeting the week before.

The club had the largest number of visiting Rotarians present it has had for a long time. Visiting Rotarians were present from Post, O'Donnell, Lamesa, Brownfield, and Sulphur, Okla.

Odds AND Ends

(By E. I. The Elder)

Since this is a time when the matter of education is being stressed and also since it is a time when the relations of the white and colored races in this country are being studied as never before, we believe that it would be well for colleges to offer courses in Constitutional Law respecting these subjects. Law schools of course are already offering such courses, but there is so much misconception among editorial Ministers of the Gospel, and other public men respecting some of the statements in the American Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States that I feel that some clarification of these instruments is in order.

Take this paragraph from the Declaration of Independence written by Thomas Jefferson, for instance, in which he says:

"We hold these truths to be self-evident: That all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. That, to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed."

Now, as we see it, those statements, rightly understood and South Africa. It has an inalienable right to life. No person and no government has the right to enslave it. It has the inalienable right to liberty, as long as it does right and obeys the law. It has the inalienable right to seek happiness in life, so long as it does not violate some other person's right to seek happiness also. So, all these rights are inalienable so long as they do not conflict with the God-given, inalienable rights of others. That is what this Declaration means, and all that it means respecting human rights. Even the most ignorant and vile old Auca Indian has the right to life and liberty until he commits some crime or plots to commit some crime against some other person. Until then only the Supreme Being has the right to take his life.

Of course the "inalienable rights" about which Mr. Jefferson speaks are "inalienable" only so far as the rights and authority of other human beings are concerned. They are not inalienable as to the individual himself. He can forfeit these rights himself by his conduct and by his violation of other people's rights.

For the story respecting the Auca Indians of Ecuador, their immorality and crimes, we refer the readers of this Column to the story entitled "Through Gates of Splendor," beginning on pages 56-7 of the August issue of the Readers' Digest, read it, and then tell me if you can that all men are born equal in all respects, as some men have been accustomed to interpret this declaration made by Mr. Jefferson, and also certain passages of Scripture found in the Bible and especially in the Gospel of Christ.

The thirteen original colonies co-operated in a very imperfect way in fighting for their independence of Great Britain in the Revolutionary War. In some of the colonies there were a good many Ryalists—men who thought that the Colonies were making a mistake and were going too far in trying to break away from the Mother country completely. They were not at all enthusiastic for independence. Some of them even fled to Canada at the beginning of or during the Revolutionary War. When they had earned their independence they were still just thirteen independent colonies. They had no common Constitution. In 1777 after the Revolutionary War did break out, the Continental Congress did draw up and submit to the respective colonies for adoption a list of agreements which they called articles of Confederation, but these were not adopted until 1781, when the War was half over. Then they found that these Articles of Confederation were mere ropes of sand. They established a government in form but gave it practically no power. It could make a pretense of passing laws but it had no power to enforce them. Practically everybody saw that a stronger Government was needed, so in the course of time a convention was called to strengthen the Government and to straighten out some differences between some of the states. Nothing substantial was accomplished at that first convention and a second one had to be called. That was in 1786. It was then readily seen that a New Constitution was needed and in 1787 a Constitutional Convention was called, which met in Independence Hall in Philadelphia.

After months of study, discussion, and, at times, of acrimonious debate, a Constitution was submitted to the states for ratification or rejection.

But the statesmen of that day were divided into two schools of thought. Alexander Hamilton was the chief advocate of the doctrine of central government while Thomas Jefferson was the leader of those who believed that most governmental functions should be left to the respective states. In the formative period of this nation, he was the chief advocate of the doctrine of "states rights." Hamilton, in fact, had little confidence in the ability of the people to govern themselves intelligently. In his heart he really favored a monarchical form of government; but from the start of the trouble with Great Britain he had been in favor of separation from that country and was a strong advocate of American Independence. He had therefore been an admirer and earnest supporter of George Washington and his military operations throughout the Revolutionary War. Furthermore, he had proven that he had much financial ability. While he thought the proposed Constitution was too weak, yet, all things considered, he thought it was a long step in the right direction and strongly advocated its adoption by the respective states. Naturally, George Washington, who had served as Commander-in-chief of the American forces, who had presided over the Constitutional Convention which met in Philadelphia in 1787, and submitted the document to the states for their approval or rejection—naturally he would be expected to favor its adoption. Among other leading advocates of its adoption were John Adams, Benjamin Franklin, John Jay, John Hancock, John Rutledge of South Carolina, and others who had been members of that Constitutional Convention.

James Madison was an anti-Federalist but he favored ratification of the Constitution which he had so ably helped to frame—so ably that he has been called the "Father of the Constitution." Patrick Henry also vehemently assailed the document on the grounds that it did not adequately guard the rights of the common man. Thomas Jefferson early became the leader of the Anti-Federalists, and was the founder of the party which became known as the "Republican" party, the present Democratic party.

Opposition to the Constitution as originally drafted became so strong even before it was submitted to the states for ratification that the Convention promised that it would immediately prepare a number of Amendments covering the points of objection and procure their adoption as a part of the great document. Ten Amendments accordingly were proposed on September 25, 1789, and were adopted June 15, 1790. They embody what is generally known as the Bill of Rights. Some of these have been modified in the manner provided by the Constitution itself and are not germane to any issues now confronting the people of the United States, but the first and the tenth of these amendments are still just as vital and important as they were on the day that they were adopted 166 years ago.

Article I.
Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances.

Then follow eight other amendments which we omit.

Article X.

Farm Refund Bulletins Free

Mr. H. D. Fowlkes, Manager of the Dallas, Texas Division of The Company's Domestic Sales Department, said today that Texaco has available for farmers of this area reprints of a Government bulletin entitled "Farmer's Gas Tax Refund, June, 1956."

Under a law enacted last April, farmers are entitled to claim refunds each year for the Federal excise tax on gasoline used on a farm for farming purposes. The first refunds will cover the first half of 1956; hereafter, claims will cover the fiscal year. The bulletin will be of assistance to farmers in filing for refunds of the Federal tax on gasoline used on a farm for farming purposes.

Originally issued by the Treasury Department, Internal Revenue Service, the bulletin also explains how the new law relieves farmers from the Federal excise tax on Diesel fuel and special motor fuels.

Copies of the reprint may be obtained without charge from The Texas Company's distributor of Petroleum Products, Mr. E. T. Cloe Consignee, located at 1700 Randall, Tahoka Texas. 45-16
