Gordon Smith In East-West Game

Tahoka football star Gordon Smith played in about half of the Greenbelt Bowl last Friday in Childress when the East defeated the West by 27 to 6.

However, Smith, who was playing quarterback for the West, threw the touchdown pass to Freddie Green of Abilene. The play covered 44 yards and brought the West's only touchdown within one minute left in the ballgame.

Although behind all through the game, it was reported that Smith kept his typically calm countenance and kept his team making yardage while he was in the game.

In the seventh annual Greenbelt Bowl game the East first scored late in the first quarter when Mike Dowdle of Graham plunged across the goal from the 12 yard line.

Mickey Barron of Childress and Howard Franklin of Wichita Falls made the next two touchdowns in the second quarter for the East and Kelly Biddy of Puducah made the extra point. Franklin also made the East's final touchdown in the fourth quarter.

Mike Dowdle of the East was named the game's outstanding back and Hubert Green of the West from Canyon, was named outstanding lineman.

The teams were picked from records of outstanding players over the Panhandle-South Plains as far east as Dallas. Childress was the dividing line of the East and West.

The first western book translated into Japanese (except for some missionary book on Christianity) was Aesop's fables, in 1953. The one universally known American author in Japan is Edgar Allan Poe.

Kay Moore Tells Of Canada Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Kay K. Moore of New Home returned home Saturday from a two months vacation trip to Canada and points between. They carried along their trailer house and lived on the road most of the time.

In Chilliwak and Pemberton, in southwestern Canada, they visited his brother, Jay W. Moore, and family. Jay formerly owned a farm at Chilliwak, just over the border in British Columbia, Canada, from Washington state. Some months ago, Jay bought some unimproved timber land 90 miles north of Chilliwak in a valley near Pemberton.

Jay is now engaged in clearing the land, covered by a heavy stand of timber, on which he expects to raise seed potatoes. Although Pemberton is quite a farming area, has 27 miles of road and several hundred automobiles, the strange fact to people in this area is that the area is completely cut off from the outside world by mountains and timber, and the only way to get a car in there is ship it in by railroad.

Kay says this is the most beautiful country he ever saw and also is a very fertile land, but as far as he is concerned Jay can have it. Fishing there is unbelievable, and even Kay couldn't keep the fish off his hook.

They spent three weeks visiting Jay and family and enjoyed every minute.

They also saw a lot of other scenery, including Yellowstone going and coming, but they also enjoyed a three weeks stay in the mountains around Durango, Colorado. Thew did a lot of fishing in that area, and Kay declares he is going to move up there to live, where he can hunt and fish to his heart's content.

Today's MEDITATION

The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

The Upper Room
© THE UPPER ROOM, NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE

The Light still shines in the darkness, and the darkness has never put it out. (John 1:5. Phillips.)

Our first opportunity to visit a cave was during a vacation trip. As we stood looking at the rock formations, wet with water, our guide explained that the formation of the rocks by dripping water was started centuries ago. He also said that the green vegetation growing on the walls did not appear until electric lights were installed.

Our guide pulled the electric switch, and the cave was in total darkness—the blackest we had ever experienced. Then our guide lighted a candle. We could see again. All the darkness in the cave could not put out the light of that candle.

A radiant and unflinching faith in God had its beginning long centuries ago. Christians throughout the ages witness that new life springs forth in the darkest places when exposed to the light of God's Word. The assurances of the Christian faith are that God has established His Word as a light in the world, and that no darkness is black enough to put it out.

PRAYER

O Christ, Thou art the true light of this world. So shine into our hearts that all the darkness will be expelled and we shall walk in Thy light without fear and without stumbling. In the blessed name of Christ we pray. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Christ is the Light of the world; no darkness can overcome Him.

Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. Makes Statement On Acreage Proposal

Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., has submitted three recommendations to the Secretary of Agriculture and the Commodity Stabilization Service for a fair, equitable, and reasonable distribution of the state acreage reserve.

The recommendations, briefly, as made by a committee which recently visited in Washington and George W. Pfeifferberger, executive vice president, are:

1. Limiting the State Committee to a maximum of 2.0 percent of the total state allotment for use in all categories except that of small farms.

2. Limiting the State Committee to only 2.25 percent of the total state allotment for small farm adjustments. This recommendation is based on precedent, and the figure of 2.25 percent represents the average amount allotted to small farms over the last three years, representing all three years in which acreage controls have been in effect. Holding state committee to the U. S. D. A. definition of small farms as being not over 15 acres.

3. Appointment of a West Texas cotton producer on the state committee, as this area does not now have representation by a cotton producer.

The full statement on the cotton acreage reserve distribution which follows should be of direct and vital interest to every Lynn county cotton producer:

This is a statement from the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, Texas an organization representing cotton producers, ginners, oil mills, compresses, cotton merchants, and other businesses on the Plains. The organization is not a political pressure group, but an association dedicated to Research, Service, Improvement, and Promotion of Plains Cotton.

Before presenting our case we wish to state that we are fully aware what a big and sometimes thankless job the State Committee has. This statement is not to criticize, but to offer what we believe to be constructive suggestions as to the fair and equitable distribution of the state reserve in our state.

We present the following points for your consideration:

1. The history of West Texas is one of constantly expanding cotton production, due to the favorable soil topography, and climatic conditions for efficient production. The following table indicates the trend of this expansion in 13 counties for the past forty years.

| Years   | Plains (bales) | Entire State (bales) | % Plains of state (percent) |
|---------|----------------|----------------------|-----------------------------|
| 1915-24 | 83,585         | 3,075,465            | 2.7                         |
| 1925-34 | 383,237        | 3,885,638            | 9.8                         |
| 1935-44 | 486,734        | 3,146,865            | 15.4                        |
| 1945-54 | 897,841        | 3,437,686            | 26.1                        |

history, and decided upward trends.

4. An amount of 191,000 of these legally earned acres was taken away from West Texas by the state committee in 1956, and given to East Texas on the basis of trend losses, and lumped along with hardships in the final figures. The Department's definition of trends, speaks only of "upward trends."

5. An additional 134,000 acres were granted to farms of 15-25 acres as hardships. The Department's definition of "small farms" to receive special treatment is up to 15 acres. We do not see on what authority the state committee gave special consideration to the 15-25 acre group.

6. The Texas state committee strongly recognized these upward trends in West Texas in 1954 and 1955 when they allocated 80 percent and 62 percent respectively of the state reserve for trends, but in 1956 they ignored trends entirely.

7. We believe the most equitable method of allotting acres is by the 5-year history. Those who plant their acreage earn this history and should retain it. Those who do not plant for reasons within their control, lose their history as the law provides. If they do not plant for reasons beyond their control, they are protected by the "adverse conditions at planting" clause.

8. The expansion of cotton production in West Texas did not in the least hurt East Texas, but in fact helped them; without the expansion of acreage on the Plains the total allotment would be much less than now, because East Texas did not plant heavily even during uncontrolled years, and these acres would be lost to the entire state quota.

9. The record shows that many East Texas areas did not even plant their allotments in 1955, whereas West Texas has always planted its full allotted acres. East Texas did not plant in many cases because of the favorable prices of cattle and feed, but now that these have declined they are asking for return of areas which they lost by default according to law.

10. The impression has been given that West Texas received a big increase in 1953 at expense of East Texas because an adjustment was made to area 1-S of 1,113,900 acres. The truth is this was an adjustment due to severe

Note that although the state total remains fairly constant, the Plains production expanded rapidly, rising from only 2.7 percent of the state total in the first ten year period to 26.1 percent in the past ten years.

2. In 1956 the nation as a whole received an average reduction of 3.9 percent. The Department of Agriculture, recognizing the national trend westward gave Texas only a 2.7 percent cut; yet the state committee did not recognize trends within the state, and gave West Texas a 7.0 percent cut, while giving East Texas a 7 percent gain, thus completing reversing trends.

3. West Texas planted all acreage possible in uncontrolled years, and all allowable in controlled years, thus building up a strong drought in 1953, and this was allotted by the U.S.D.A. in Washington, and not by the state committee, and it had no adverse effect on East Texas. These represented acres which would have been planted if weather conditions had been favorable. The following figures give the true picture:

1953 actual planted 2,259,200
Adjustment 1,113,900
Would have planted 3,373,100
Planted 1952 3,165,500

Actual increase 207,600
Note that the actual increase was only 207,600 acres instead of the 1,113,000 as claimed by East Texas.

11. The impression has been given that hardships exist only on small or family size farms. We are in complete sympathy with family size farms and their problems, and recognize they do have hardships, but we also claim that hardships also exist on larger farms as well. Higher fixed costs, equipment and land investments, and greater expenses occur. Reducing acreage raises costs per unit of operation to a high degree, efficiency is reduced, and cotton becomes less competitive to synthetics and foreign production.

12. The policy of extracting acres away from natural trends will lead to nothing but small farms, a situation certainly not intended by the law. The present average cotton farm across the nation now is only 17.5 acres, this average being composed of many small ones and a much smaller percentage of large ones. If carried too far, the taking away from the large to give to the small could lead to only one situation—that is, we would all be 15 acre farmers—and this certainly is not the intention of the law.

13. West Texas does not have representation of a cotton producer on the state committee. It is not democratic that such a large and important cotton producing area should go completely without a voice on the committee.

14. Many West Texas counties have no irrigation water, and their yields per acre are very low. It, therefore, required many more acres to make an economic unit.

15. West Texas has been reduced drastically more in acreage than other parts of the State, as evidenced by the following representative county figures; showing percentage reductions of 1956 under 1953, the last year of uncontrolled acreage.

| Reductions   |              |
|--------------|--------------|
| West         | East         |
| %            | %            |
| Dist. 1-S 48 | Dist. 8-N 14 |
| 2-S 40       | 9 43         |
| 1-N 53       | 4 30         |
| 2-N 44       | 5-N *1       |
| 6 40         | 5-S 30       |

* gain
16. The state committee has been very inconsistent with respect to distribution of reserve, as follows: In 1954 they allotted 80 percent of reserve for trends; in 1955 they allotted 62 percent of reserve for trends; in 1956 they allotted 0 percent of reserve for trends. We see no change in the general situation which would justify this.

In 1954 no provisions for hardships in the law. In 1955 they allotted 19 percent for hardships. In 1956 they allotted 63 percent for hardships. We see no change in the general situation which would justify this.

17. The adjustments for small farms during the controlled acreage years are as follows:

|               |                |
|---------------|----------------|
| 1954          | 123,239 acres. |
| 1955          | 123,434 acres. |
| 1956          | 256,063 acres. |
| 3 Yr. Average | 187,245 acres. |

Equivalent to 2.25 percent of state allotment.

18. Our position is supported by the Plains Cotton Growers, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, the Trans-Pecos Association, and by the Farm Bureau (A state-wide organization) which has made it an official state policy to ask that the state committee be permitted a maximum of 2 percent for all purposes.

19. Ten percent of 7,400,000 acres is a tremendous responsibility to put on a committee, especially with the wide variations which exist in the state of Texas. What group of men is really qualified to allocate such important amounts of land and money? Granting full good faith, the relieving of one hardship only serves to create others. With such tremendous amount at stake, the pressures on the committee make it impossible to allocate acreage fairly.

20. Reduction of the percentage which the state committee may reserve is the best way to assure fair and equitable distribution of the state allotment. This reduces the bulk of the distribution to an arithmetical formula based on earned history, and will reduce contention, misunderstanding, possible law suits, and all other difficulties contingent to distribution of a large state reserve.

This GMC has "muscles" unsurpassed in its class!

The simple facts speak for themselves.

This new GMC 250-8 has 180 V8 horsepower standard. No other truck in its class comes even close to that.

The extra power delivers 276 foot-pounds of truck-propelling torque. Over-the-road truckers call it "guts" — and this GMC's got up to 33% more than the others.

It's at the top of the heap in frame-strength, too. In fact, there's as much as 10% more "muscle" in its chassis than you'll find in comparable trucks.

And there's more. For this rugged GMC has 3500 lb. front axles and 7200 lb. rear — unsurpassed in its weight-bracket. It has extra-size brakes and springs.

Add it all up and you can see what GMC Blue Chip stamina really means. Especially when you team it with a GMC's dependable performance and Hydra-Matic* savings.

For here's a truck that not only delivers the goods at lowest cost — but keeps delivering long after an ordinary truck would have faded out.

Safety Record Is Set By SWPC

Employees of the Southwestern Public Service Company have established a new all-company safety record of working 3,020,404 man-hours without a lost-time accident, it has been reported by A. R. Watson, executive vice president and general manager of the electric light and power company.

The new record, exceeding the old company standard of 3,019,075 man-hours, set in 1954, was reached at the end of the working day last Friday. However, a check of working time of all employees was necessary to verify the new accomplishment, and that check has just been completed.

Congratulations:

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Mesa on a daughter born at 5:30 a. m. Friday, Aug. 17, in Tahoka Hospital. The little miss weighed eight pounds, two ounces.

Miss Sue Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Walker, is in California on vacation with Mrs. Walker's sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Ellis of Lubbock. The group traveled the southern route going to the coast and will return by the northern route.

CARD OF THANKS

Thank you, friends, for all the lovely cards and flowers sent me while in John Sealy Hospital in Galveston. They meant so much and certainly helped to a more speedy recovery. Mr. and Mrs. Dee Daniel.

Carla Bell of Lubbock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gregg Bell and Dicki Ann Young of Lubbock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Young, have been here the past week and a half visiting with their grand mother, Mrs. Opal Wyatt.

Advertising doesn't cost, it pays.

Telephone Workers Attend Classes

Seventeen employees of General Telephone Co. in Tahoka are attending a series of company sponsored Human Relations classes being held in Post.

Those attending from Tahoka are: Mmes. Sue Inman, Reba Kahl, Eva Mae Renfro, Jewell Rogers, Eva Nell Reeser, Roberta Black, Estelle Boswell, Vera Williams, Peggy Anderson, Gladys Corley, Cecil Henry, and Polly Yandell, and Misses Irene McKay, Faye Reeser, and Nora Lewis, and Mrs. Iva Elliott, chief operator.

A total of 339 traffic employees of division will take the course. Sue Gennett of Littlefield and Olga Moore of Brownfield, traffic instructors, state: "Our Company feels that in an industry such as ours, where employees are in constant direct contact with customers, the necessity to understand and respect human nature and differences is becoming more and more a part of our operating requirements."

"The key to good Human Relations is the art of recognizing individual differences and a willingness to consider them when handling people. Our employees are constantly being versed on the importance of respecting others, whether they be customers, operators in distant towns, or operators within the same office. Everyone has faults and knows it, but not everyone will recognize an obligation of tolerance towards the faults and failures of others."

"We, as an industry must do our share in each Community in which we operate to create a friendly atmosphere between individuals in both the business and personal walks of life. Individuals must live and work together; let's learn to enjoy our associations."

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to thank the people of Lynn County for the wonderful things they did for me while I was in the hospital at Houston and since I have returned home. Thank you also for the cards, letters, flowers and food. You will never know how much more strength and faith it has helped me to have. May God bless each one of you. Mrs. N. M. (Opal) Wyatt.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Davis had in their home this week as a guest Dr. Homer Wilson, a Baptist missionary from Africa and Ethiopia. He is now in the states on furlough.

Mrs. Billy Lee Long is a medical patient in Tahoka Hospital, having been admitted Tuesday.

Mrs. Maxine Vasquez underwent major surgery in Tahoka Hospital Wednesday.

E. C. Jones is improving in Tahoka Hospital, attendants report.

It's amazing how cautious a reckless driver will drive away from the scene of an accident—Gladys Miller.

Recently the medical program on a Houston television station reported to its audience about Mrs. N. M. Wyatt, who had just had her fifth operation in a Houston hospital.

They said that her case may make medical history because of the fact that she has withstood the ravages of a dread disease and was still able to go through the fifth operation. They commended her for her wonderful faith and courage that she has had over this period of time.

There's a little postscript I wish they knew about. Not only did she come through the operation, but Wednesday was making doll clothes for two of her little granddaughters who are visiting her.

We noticed little Mitchell Williams Jr. is following right in his daddy's foot steps—already interested in politics. Hanging on his front screen is a poster bearing the picture of his favorite presidential nominee and in big letters his own little slogan for gaining votes for his choice.

Appearing in the Pecos Enterprise was the following:

It's an old story in dry West Texas, but it was retold the other day when the rain came across town. It concerns the four-year-old boy who arose early and raced out in the yard to play. He was hit in the face by a light sprinkle and fainted. As the story goes, it took two buckets of dust to revive him.

Lynn County Soil Conservation District News

K. K. MOORE      ELLIS BARNES
O. E. TERRY      W. E. DUBREE
ELMER BLANKENSHIP

Blue Panic grass that was sown on Theo Campbell's farm around the middle of June has made a seed crop since being cut back on that date. The grass has a uniform growth and careless weeds were set back so that it will not be so much in the way of seed harvest.

Jack Caveness managed to save about three acres of his Indian grass planting. Careless weeds and annual grasses were so thick that most of the planting was plowed under. It doesn't look like the Indian grass will make seed this year.

A conservation ranch plan was completed on Dr. K. R. Durham's ranch west of Tahoka by Soil Conservation Service Technicians assigned to the Lynn District. The plan includes an Aerial photo showing pasture numbers, the range sites and the conditions of these sites. This information lists the kind of native grasses that are found on the different range sites and management practices needed for range improvement.

Soil Conservation Service personnel spent last Monday afternoon, Aug. 13, in the field with Boris Popov from Yugoslavia observing conservation practices and especially methods of irrigation. Boris is with the experiment station of Yugoslavia and has a degree in agriculture with agronomy as a major so he was quite interested in aronomic practices. Since different kinds of legumes were observed including field peas, guar, alfalfa, and sesbania. Boris was quite impressed with a sight not a conservation practice but the whirlwinds so familiar to the high plains. No explanation was attempted.

Swede Student Rotary Speaker

Miss Britt Wallenstrom, graduate student from Stockholm, Sweden, and a summer guest of Ralls Rotary Club, was speaker at the Tahoka Rotary Club Thursday noon of last week.

Miss Wallenstrom told the Rotarians many interesting facts of geography, climate, and government of her home land. She is an x-ray technician specializing in veterinary work. She is in America under the same program as Fred Mauhart, the Austrian student spending the summer in Tahoka.

She was accompanied by Walker Watkins of the Ralls Club. President Johnnie Reasonover announced that the last two Rotary Club meetings had been 100 percent in attendance.

Mauhart spent last week in the Dr. K. R. Durham home. This week he is in the Dr. E. Prohl home. He expects to accompany A. M. Bray this week end to Denver, Colorado. He expects to spend next week with "Dub" Kenley.

Tuesday of last week, he was a guest of the O'Donnell Rotary Club, and on Tuesday, Sept. 4, he will speak to the Post Rotary Club.

In the meantime, the Austrian agriculture student has been continuing to inspect Texas farming operations. A few days ago, he helped George Claude Wells work some cattle horseback, an entirely new experience.

Roy L. Williams' Visit California

Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Williams and daughter, Diann, of route 4, have returned home from a 10-day trip to the West Coast. They were accompanied by Diann's friend, Miss Kay Howell, daughter of L. L. Howell, route 5.

The party visited the Williams' son, Roye Duane, who is in the Southernland DDR out of San Diego, Calif. Roye Duane expects to go to sea August 22 on a six months cruise.

Saturday afternoon and Sunday, accompanied by their son and a Navy buddy of Duane's, James Allen of McAdoo, they visited Disneyland. After Roye Duane and James returned to their ship, Mr. and Mrs. Williams went to Oakland, Calif., where they visited Mrs. Williams' mother, Mrs. D. Mason.

They returned by way of the Painted Desert, but decided the plains of Texas looked much the better.

Rev. George M. Small To U. of Arkansas

Rev. and Mrs. George Maurice Small and two daughters of Dallas were here Saturday through Thursday visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. (Maurice) Small, and other relatives.

They are preparing to move to Fayetteville, Ark., where he will become chaplain for the Episcopal Church at the University of Arkansas.

Rev. Small was reared here, is a graduate of Tahoka High School, SMU and the Perkins School of Theology. He served as an associate pastor of a Lubbock Methodist Church, following which he helped organize and served three years as pastor of the Trinity and saw it grow to a membership of 200.

Ginner, Buyer Meeting Held

Dee Green, ASC office manager, explained to ginner and cotton buyers in a meeting Monday at the county court room some of the changes in procedures on loan cotton.

Of principal interest to farmers are two changes. First, ball weight limits have been changed. Limits are now set at from 350 pounds minimum to 650 maximum, as compared to the previous limits of 300 and 700 pounds.

Second is the difference in basic loan values of cotton. Cotton now carries a loan rate where it is stored. If stored in a Lynn county warehouse, the rate for middling white one inch staple is 32.61 cents per pound, if in Lubbock county the rate is 32.63, or 10 cents a bale more. However, local ginner's point out that the Lubbock ginning rate is 10 cents a hundred higher.

Other changes deal with ginner and buyers records. Mr. Green recommends that all people writing cotton loan papers read carefully all information sent them by the ASC office.

Odds and Ends

(By E. L. The Elder)

Well, folks, I guess many of you attended the great Democratic Convention—by Television or in person—which came to a close Friday night. I attended it, by television, from the first rap of Chairman Sam Rayburn's gavel until a late hour on Thursday night after Adlai Stevenson had been nominated and had appeared before the convention to thank them for the honor conferred upon him and to announce that he would not indicate his choice for a running-mate but would leave that matter up to the convention also, which is said to have been a departure from custom.

Now of course I can not begin to give a detailed account of the proceedings of the convention in my column even if I wished to do so. I can touch on some of the high points and make a little more detailed report of the convention as it pertains directly to Texas, and to the other Southern states I must tell the truth, not only for truth's sake, but also because any erroneous statement of facts would be noted by all the politically-minded folks who may happen to read this column and they would pounce down upon me like a flock of ravens—or American Eagles—and give me a terrific dressing-down—which I would deserve. Of course, many of the things that I expect to say will be matters of opinion—conclusions which I reached from what I heard and from what I didn't hear at the convention and thereabouts. And at the convention I heard scores of times from almost every speaker who took the floor to address that body—apparently for the benefit of all Southerners present—that every man and woman, regardless of race, color, and previous condition of servitude, has the right to express his or her opinion and to enjoy all the rights and opportunities that all others may enjoy. Which, being interpreted, was intended as a thrust at the white people of the South generally, from Virginia to Texas, including particularly the Carolinas, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, and Texas. Former Governor Aldai Stevenson was believed to have just a little softer heart toward these "fanatical" hard-hearted Southerners than the other available candidates from the North and the East had, and that was the main stumbling-block in his pathway to the Nomination.

What about Sam Rayburn? Well, I have this to say. Sam Rayburn is one of the shrewdest politicians and one of the ablest presiding officers to be found anywhere in all these United States. He knows when to be autocratic—even domineering—and make people like it, better than any other party leader I have ever known anything about. A half century ago or more we used to hear much about Boss Reed and a little further back of the alleged political crook Platt of Pennsylvania, I believe, but they inspired much criticism and even hatred by reason of their autocratic ways. But Sam Rayburn can be autocratic and get the admiration and praise of those who witness his performances.

In this convention which has just closed, over which he presided, he put over one of the smoothest pieces of political slaughter I have ever witnessed. I did not witness that in fact, for it was consummated in a secret caucus, or possibly in several secret caucuses. I refer to his apparently friendly sacrifice of his friend and "victim," Senator Lyndon Johnson. Most of the readers of this column already know much of the story, for it was enacted in part in Texas. They know that four years ago Governor Shivers of Texas, bolting the regular party nominee for the Presidency, Adlai Stevenson, supported the Republican nominee, General "Ike" D. Eisenhower, as a majority of the voters of Texas did also. Since that time there has been political warfare between Governor Shivers and Sam Rayburn, in the course of which Shivers announced that he would again bolt the Democratic ticket if Stevenson were nominated again for the Presidency. Candidates for the Presidency, as is well known, are nominated in national conventions, to which delegates have been chosen in state conventions, composed likewise of delegates selected in county conventions. So, in Texas, the Rayburn forces, of course were in charge of the regular Democratic machinery. Shivers had practically no chance whatever to send delegates to the National convention in competition with the Rayburn selectees.

So, in this predicament, Shivers did the next to the best thing. He induced the state Democratic committee to place on the primary election ballots in most of the counties of Texas three referendum proposals which would enable the voters in most of the counties of Texas to express their views on these issues raised by recent decisions of the U. S. Supreme Court:

Do you favor or oppose the continuation of segregation of white and colored children in the public schools of Texas?

Do you favor or oppose the segregation of the races on public conveyances, in parks, and other public places?

Do you favor or oppose the marriage of Whites and Negroes in this state?

This was not the exact wording of these proposals, but they amount practically to the same thing.

Each and every one of these proposals carried by a vote of about four to one in favor of segregation and against integration; in favor of separate schools for the whites and colored pupils; against intermarriage of the races; and in favor of "Interposition" as a remedy against powers exercised by the Supreme Court but not specifically authorized by the Constitution.

So this action on the part of Texas voters was made known to the Democratic leaders in the great convention about to assemble in Chicago, and possibly stirred up sentiment against Texas and the South generally in Northern and Eastern political circles.

Astute Sam Rayburn, who was to preside over the convention, anticipated such a result, and in order to appease Texas voters at home and disarm prejudicial action against Texas in the convention, he had proposed that Texas should name Lyndon Johnson as the leader of the Texas delegation and as the choice of Texas for President of the United States. You will remember that I said in this Column at the time that these proposals were not made in good faith but only as a ruse to fool the people of Texas and defeat the effect of the Texas vote against Northern dabbling in Texas and Southern affairs. I said that there was no more chance for Lyndon Johnson to be elected President of the United States than there was for a cow to jump over the moon, and that Sam Rayburn knew it. I still hold to that belief.

In confirmation of my contention, I call attention to the following facts. While presiding over that body, Sam Rayburn had strong words of praise for many men and members of other delegations, but never once did he mention Lyndon Johnson as the leader of the Texas delegation nor in any other capacity until a gentleman from Delaware, whose name I failed to get, in a brief statement nominated Johnson for vice-president. Sam Rayburn, presiding, made no comment, though he often commented when other nominations were made. A number of times he praised Representative Sherman McCormick of Massachusetts as a great statesman and a great man; he praised Governor Kerr of Oklahoma in like manner; he praised fulsomely Magnuson of the state of Washington; and many, many others. He even praised a Negro Congressman from Chicago, Congressman Dawson, who rose to second the nomination of Adlai Stevenson. Rayburn introduced Dawson as a good man and a statesman. Dawson did do remarkably well as a speaker, but he was not handsome by any means, especially when compared with other members of his own race. But I did wonder how Rayburn could praise so many others, all of whom possibly deserved praise, but could find no words of praise for the Senior Senator for his own state, Lyndon Johnson. If he ever called Johnson's name except when announcing the number of votes marked up for the different candidates, I failed to hear it. I should like to state that Johnson received 80 votes for the presidency, 56 from Texas, 22 from Mississippi; and two from other states. I still insist that Sam Rayburn brought this Texas lamb, Lyndon Johnson, from the streams and breaks of the Lower Colorado to this modern Mount Carmel in Chicago to be offered as a sacrifice to these modern prophets of Baal.

I intended to state that it remained for a Texas soldier named Conley to finally place Lyndon Johnson in nomination formally as a choice of Texas for the office of the Presidency, that brought on a great demonstration for Johnson which lasted many minutes but even that brought no public comment from Sam Rayburn. He was too busy, I suppose, in making everything rosy for the official pathway of Adlai Stevenson. More maybe next week.
