STANDING ON THE CORNER

With P. J.

From the "Scandle Sheet," Graham Rotary publication, comes this small item:

At a recent straw vote, taken at a Boy's Club in another State, the vote for President of the United States was: Ike 101, Davy Crockett 56, My Dad 48, Hoover, 37, Harriman 23, Coach 21, Stevenson 12, Truman, 2. Must have been California.

A traveler in the Sahara said to his guide: "Nobody can know for certain that there is a God." Pointing to footprints in the sand, the guide asked, "What would you say made those marks?" "Why, a man, of course," the traveler replied.

"Well, then," the guide said, "When I see the sun and the moon and the starry heavens in their beauty, I know for certain that the Creator has passed this way. They are the footprints of God."—Father James Keller, M. M. M.

How happy we are that the headlines of this newspaper are what they are this week! How easily they could have been carrying the news of tragedy. Two of Tahoka's young boys luckily escaped serious injury this week when the motor scooter on which they were riding crashed into a car.

Will the next ones be so lucky? Or will one of the local souped up cars leave a little mangled body lying beside the street?

Note to John Saleh and John F. Thomas: You may come home now; no evidence of any election irregularities has been found in Lynn county. — The friend who took so much "ribbing" election night.

Now that the football boys are working out and the first game of the year is just a week away, everyone's shaking the mothballs out of their last year's sweaters, overcoats, etc.

However, if it's like last year's first game, we will not need sweaters, but oxygen masks. Remember that terrible sandstorm that came up just as the game was about to begin? It was so bad, in fact, that the players couldn't tell which was the football and which the grain of sand.

It just goes to show how much Tahoka loves its football. Fans huddled and muttered, but didn't leave the stands.

So come what may, everyone is eagerly awaiting next Friday night.

Golf Etiquette: Players searching for a ball should allow other players coming up to pass them; they should signal to the players following them to pass, and should not continue their play until (Cont'd. On Back Page)

Curtis Morgan Wins Commissioner Race

A total of 2,140 voters turned out for the second, or run-off, Democratic election in Lynn county last Saturday, 593 less than cast votes in the First Primary in July. Curtis Morgan of Garnolia staged an upset by defeating Clarence Church of Wilson, present incumbent, in the race for County Commissioner, Precinct 1, by 17 votes, 510 to 493, the only local race that had to be decided by a run-off.

Church had received 431 in the first election, while Morgan received 341 and two other candidates a total of 231.

In the race for governor, Lynn county also reversed itself to give Judge Ralph Yarborough 1,239 votes to 864 for Senator Price Daniel.

In the first primary, Daniel had led the ticket with 1,023 votes, W. Lee O'Daniel was second with 727, Yarborough third with 679, and three other candidates had a total of 240.

Lynn county gave Will Wilson of Dallas 1,302 votes to 764 for Tom Moore of Waco.

In the race for State Senator, 30th district, Carroll Cobb, former state representative and a resident of Seminole until recently completing his law work in the University of Texas and moving to Lubbock, polled 1113 votes in Lynn county. Preston Smith, reared at Lamesa, now a Lubbock theatre owner, and also a former state representative, received 998 votes in Lynn but won the nomination from this 11-county district.

Preston Smith polled a total of 20,723 votes over the district to Cobb's 18,479. Although Cobb led in eight counties, Smith piled up an overwhelming majority in his home county, Lubbock, and in Crosby and Martin counties, while running Cobb a close race in most of the other counties, that he ended up with a 2,244 vote majority.

Lincoln was assassinated during his second term as president.

Big Premium For First Bale

Farmers Co-op Gin of O'Donnell, managed by Weldon Martin, bought the first bale of Lynn county cotton at the auction held here Saturday afternoon.

Jake L. Burkett of O'Donnell, owner of the 530 pound bale, received $954.20 for his cotton. The O'Donnell Co-op bid 42 cents per pound but later raised the price paid to 50 cents per pound, bringing the total to $265.00. The seed brought $21.20. Tahoka Chamber of Commerce gave a bonus of $200; several Lynn County gins contributed a $200 bonus; and O'Donnell merchants made up a bonus of $268.00.

Mayor Clint Walker was master-of-ceremonies at the event, and G. C. Grider was auctioneer.

The bale, which was ginned Aug. 13 at the O'Donnell Farmers Co-op Gin, was raised on an irrigated field which had received two waterings since it was planted April 27 with "Paymaster 54 B" seed. It took 1800 pounds to gin the 530 pound bale and the 800 pounds of seed.

Gins which contributed to the bonus includes Draw Paymaster, New Home Farmers Co-op, New Home Gin Co., Grassland Co-op, West Point Gin, T. V. Woolan Gin in O'Donnell, O'Donnell Farmers Co-op, C. O. Carmack Gin in Tahoka, and Tahoka Farmers Co-op. Each gin donated $20, except O'Donnell Farmers Co-op, which donated $40.

Fred Shipley Is New Ford Man

Fred Shipley, formerly of Brownfield, has bought the local Ford automobile agency from Dan Johnston, and already is in charge of the business.

Mr. Shipley is an experienced automobile dealer, having been in the Dodge and Plymouth and Oliver implement business in Brownfield for nine years.

The new Ford dealer told The News he is happy to become a citizen of Tahoka and to acquire the local automobile agency.

Miss Geraldine Hagens, daughter of Arthur Hagens of Wilson, is leaving today for Seguin, where he will attend Texas Lutheran College.

Boys Narrowly Escape Death

Two local boys miraculously escaped serious injury when their motor scooter collided with a car Monday morning at about 10:30 o'clock on the Brownfield highway, Lockwood street, at the intersection with Kettner (N) street.

Mike Taylor, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Taylor and owner and driver of the motor scooter, received a severe laceration on the back of his head that required several stitches to close, and also body bruises.

Tony Spruiell, also 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Spruiell, riding behind Mike on the motor scooter, received slight body bruises.

The car, going west on Lockwood was driven by John Dupre, Jr., and was occupied by his mother, Mrs. John Dupre, and the latter's daughters, all of Leveland, who were here visiting Mrs. Dupre's parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Draper.

The boys on the motor scooter were coming onto the paved highway from the dirt street from the north. John Dupre said he swerved to the left to try to miss the motor scooter, but the scooter crashed into the right front fender of the car. Damage to the car was minor, but the motor scooter was badly banged up.

Ray Nevill, Rev. Clifford Harris, and Mrs. Dee Sanders picked the boys up and rushed them to the hospital in the latter's car. Mike was able to go home the next day, and Tony did not require treatment.

Loud Mufflers To Draw Fines

Loud mufflers on cars touring the streets of Tahoka must be fixed immediately, states Police Chief Roy Hefner.

Beginning Monday, any and all drivers of cars with such mufflers will be given tickets for law violation, he says.

Several months ago, Mr. Hefner called on boys and others to refrain from driving with loud mufflers. Most complied with the request. A few did nothing about it.

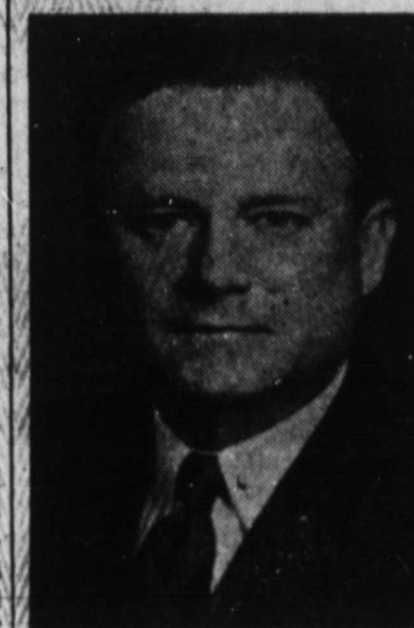

Now, for those who do not see fit to cooperate with the law or have no consideration for the feelings and wishes of people who do not like to be annoyed by loud mufflers, Chief Hefner has decided to crack down. Beginning Monday, violators will be fined.

RUDY KAHLICH HAS SEVERE HEART ATTACK

Boy Scouts On Mountain Trip

About twenty-five Tahoka Boy Scouts from Troops 21 and 82 left Tuesday on a four-day camping trip in Holy Ghost Canyon near the headwaters of the ecos River in New Mexico near Cowles. They expect to return home this Friday night.

Among those accompanying the boys were Leroy Knight, an assistant scoutmaster, Clyde Spruiell, Dean Taylor, and Dr. E. Prohl. Also with the Scouts were Denver Ford, Junior assistant scoutmaster of Troop 21, and Larry Forsythe, Senior patrol leader of troop 82.

School doors will open over Lynn County as students attend classes Monday morning.

New Home school, which was scheduled to open last Monday, will open this Monday, Sept. 3. The postponement was necessary because the new grade school building was not quite ready on August 27. However, other plans will be carried out as previously announced.

High school students in Tahoka will have for their use 199 new desks. Although 169 have not yet arrived, 30 have been installed, Principal John Shepherd said. All are arm type desks, and although the 169 will have stationary seats, the 30 already installed have swivel seats.

School will officially open Sept. 3 here, but a faculty meeting is to be held this morning at 9:00 o'clock in the cafeteria where coffee will be served. Registration of new high school students and those high school students who need to change their schedules will begin at 1:00 p. m. today.

On Monday morning classes for high school and North Elementary will begin at 8:40 and will dismiss at 4:45 p. m. The South Elementary will begin classes at 9:00 a. m., although doors will be open at 8:30. However, Principal J. B. Howell wishes to remind students not to come to school before 8:30. Classes will be dismissed at 2:30 p. m.

Lunches will be served on Monday in the school cafeteria, and lunch fees will again be 25 cents per meal, Howell stated. Buses will also run on Monday.

All school children must have received their smallpox vaccinations before registering for the school year, as has been the rule the past year.

Other schools in the county that will open Monday morning are O'Donnell, Grassland, and Wilson.

Grassland school announces that buses will run and the lunchroom will be open as usual on Monday. The teachers, Mr. and Mrs. Claud Johns, have returned to Grassland from Sayre, Okla., where they spent the summer.

Meanwhile, further development is going forward in the Suniland and PHD fields in northeastern Lynn county.

Most recent test in the A. C. Hill No. 1 B. R. Foster PHD Glorietta, to drill to 4,500 feet, located 330 feet from the south and 400 feet from the west lines of Sec. 421, TTRR survey, six and a half miles south of Southland.

New Home Lady Is Polio Victim

Mrs. G. B. Mayfield of New Home, who was stricken with polio about two weeks ago while visiting in Colorado Springs, Colo., is reported to be improving and is expected to be able to come home shortly.

The Mayfields were visiting his brother who is stationed in Colorado Springs when she became ill. However, she was taken out of isolation last Saturday and does not have either the paralytic or bulbar type polio.

Daniel Apparent Winner In Close Race For Governor

No errors were found in Lynn county's announced vote in the governor's race when the Lynn County Democratic Committee canvassed the returns Tuesday, according to A. M. Cade, a member.

Ralph Yarborough's vote was certified as being 1248 and Price Daniel's as 864 in Lynn county.

Meanwhile, statewide, Yarborough refuses to concede the election to Daniel and is threatening election contests in various counties.

According to figures of the Texas Election Bureau, Daniel won the election by a margin of only 3,547 votes out of a total of 1,392,703 votes cast. Naturally, many small errors will be found in the final canvass as the Texas Election Bureau gathers its figures by wire and telephone very hurriedly but has always been very accurate. Its final estimate was 698,125 votes for Daniel, 694,578 for Yarborough.

Yarborough has hinted or made outright charges of irregularities or errors in Webb, Dallas, Tarrant, Jefferson, and other counties.

But, in Daniel's favor, a grand jury investigation was started Wednesday in a predominantly Negro precinct which voted 1,062 for Yarborough and 26 for Daniel. (Cont'd. on back page)

FALO DURO CANYON was famous for this massive rock formation at its edge long before the canyon became a 15,000-acre state park. It is known as "The Light House," so named by the Spanish Explorer Francisco de Coronado. It is one of many strange formations known to the park at the end of Texas Highway 817 which originates at Canyon, Texas.

Small Squad of Bulldogs Now Working Out For 1956 Team

Tahoka Bulldogs open their 1956 football season a week from tonight with the Plains Cowboys, supposedly a tough Class A outfit, on the local football field.

Due to shifts in teams of Northwest Texas, Tahoka this year will be playing in District 2-AA instead of 5-AA. However, the district membership remains the same as last year except for the addition of Lockney, moving up from Class A. Other teams are Floydada, Abertnathy, Slaton, Spur, and Post.

Crane and Littlefield have been replaced on the Tahoka schedule by O'Donnell Eagles, an old rival from Class A which team was not played last year due to the schedule difficulties, and Plains. Other non-conference games are with Denver City Mustangs and Seagraves Eagles.

Coaches Bill Haralson and Dean Wright started work-outs Monday morning with only 25 boys reporting for the A team, the smallest squad Tahoka has had in many years.

Although this year's varsity squad is a small one, the coaches have out one of the largest Freshman squads in a number of years. Twenty-six boys reported for the Freshman team, and nearly all of them are potentially good boys for the varsity in a year or two. The Freshman team will play a schedule of games, which will be announced soon.

Depth and experience is lacking on the A team, and prospects for a victorious season are pretty dim this year.

Potentially, the line could be pretty strong from tackle to tackle. Ends are inexperienced, and the entire backfield will be made up of last year's reserves.

Coach Haralson said no boy will have a position cinched, in spite of the short number of players, and there will likely be quite a bit of shifting around to players to positions where they can do the most good at any given time.

Karl Prohl and Jimmy Harter, both with some experience, will handle the quarterback duties.

This week, the coaches have been running W. H. McNeely, Donald Renfro, and Don Young at fullback.

Among the possible halfbacks are Harter, Renfro, Richard Brooks, Tommy Dunlap, Robert Cloe, and Billy Tomlinson.

At center will be Cecil Hammonds and John Hegi, both of whom are Sophomores.

Two big boys, Bobby Paris and Larry Simmons, both 200-pounders, should be able to take care of the tackle positions, and may have help from Virgil Hicks, Jimmy Dunlap, and possibly others.

Some fair boys are also available for the guard positions, and these include "Shorty" Williams, Kent Gibson, David Bray, and James Adams.

Leading candidates for ends are Jerry Adams and Jerry Brown, the latter out for football for the first time, and Gaylon Tekell.

There are two or three other boys whose names The News did not get. One new boy is Weldon Calloway, who has moved here from Phillips, and has potentialities of being able to help out on the line, if he is eligible.

Club House Is Near Completion

The new club house for the T-Bar Country Club is expected to be finished this week. A. N. Norman, president, said Wednesday.

The 20 by 40 foot building, which includes a pro shop, rest rooms, and a living room, is being re-stuccoed this week and the inside is also being complete. The outside walls will be white and the interior gray. Woodwork was being painted this week and concrete being poured for the 40 by 40 foot patio that will open out from the living room.

Furniture is being purchased for the club house, part of the expenses having been raised by a spaghetti supper that was to have been held last night in the school cafeteria. However, Norman stated that a coke machine is still needed.

The pro shop is expected to be open Saturday, where equipment will be available for those who wish to buy it and golf clubs will be available for a rental fee. All non-members will be expected to pay green fees when the pro-shop opens, Norman stated.

Greens numbers eight and nine are almost in shape and will be ready for play in the near future.

The Country Club is tentatively planning a city tournament to be held here for both men and women in September, a definite date to be announced later.

AIR SHOW PLANNED AT MIDLAND SOON

An air show will be staged at Midland beginning at 2:30 p. m. Sunday, Sept. 16, under sponsorship of the Midland Jaycees.

TRY-OUT AT WEST TEXAS

Garland Huddleston, 1955 Tahoka High School graduate who has been working in Lubbock the past year, and Stanley Stone, 1956 graduate, left Wednesday for Canyon, where they expect to try out for West Texas State College football scholarships.

Fans Should Get Reserved Seat Tickets Quickly

Football fans are not picking up their reserved seat tickets as rapidly as they should, Maurice Small states.

Preference is given last year's reserved seat purchasers for the same seats they held previously. However, time is growing short, and if the tickets are not picked up soon they will be sold to anyone desiring them, Mr. Small says.

Reserved seats for the five home games are on sale at the school business office in the Tahoka City Hall and costs the buyer $6.00 each, only $1.00 more than general admission for five games.

Local People Fish At Possum Kingdom

Fishing has been fairly good for Lynn county people at Possum Kingdom Lake, according to a news release sent The News from the lake this week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Leverett and Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Dorman, all of O'Donnell, fishing out of Fox Hollow Camp, caught 150 channel cat on trot lines with Lazy Ike and blood bait.

A. R. Milliken of Tahoka, fishing out of Vick's Camp, caught 25 sand bass Monday morning.

Bruce Hewlett, Judd Hewlett, Mutt Bruedigam, and Javan Schneider, all of Wilson, caught 25 channel cat weighing up to three pounds and one yellow cat weighing three and a half pounds. This does not include the fish they ate while camping at Rock Creek Camp.

Advertising doesn't cost, it pays.

Miss Vynoma Clem Weds Jimmy Brown

The New Home Church of Christ was the scene at 7:30 p. m. Saturday for the marriage of Miss Vynoma Clem, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. U. A. Clem, to Jimmy Maurice Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Brown of New Home.

An archway of candelabra banked with greenery and white daisies formed the setting for a double-ring service read by C. L. Newcomb of Slaton and white candles marked the bridal aisle.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a waltz-length gown of white French lace and nylon tulle over net and satin, designed with an applique of lace.

The fitted lace bodice had sheer yoke and long sleeves and the full satin skirt was covered with tulle over lace.

Her veil of imported silk illusion was joined to a crown of rhinestones and seed pearls. The bride carried a white orchid with orchid throat, surrounded by white rosebuds and stephanotis cascading from a white Bible.

Miss Melba Jo Clem, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Miss Kay Bohall of New Deal, Mrs. J. B. Greer and Mrs. Clifton Clem of New Home were bridesmaids. They wore street-length dresses of pink crystalene styled with scoop necklines, elongated bodices and full skirts and carried nosegays of pink daisies.

Miss Ruby Faye Teinert Is Married To Nelson Wayne Rost In Wilson Ceremony

Before a background of gold tapers, autumn leaves and emerald foliage and basket arrangements of bronze chrysanthemums, wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Ruby Faye Teinert of Wilson and Mr. Nelson Wayne Rost of Hamilton.

The Rev. G. W. Heinemeier read the double ring ceremony at 6:30 o'clock in St. Paul Lutheran Church Sunday, August 19.

Miss Teinert is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Teinert of Wilson and the groom is the son of Mrs. Alice Rost of Hamilton.

Miss Janelle Ohlenbusch of Lubbock accompanied Mrs. Roy Lynn Kahlich as she sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "O Perfect Love."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white French lace and tulle. Fashioned with a sheer yoke framed with applique of lace and seed pearls, the fitted bodice was complemented by long sleeves of lace which ended in petal points edged with pearls over the hands. The double layered, fully shirred tulle skirt was encircled with wide bands of scalloped lace, edged with pearls, and ended in a chapel length train.

Caught to a regal crown of handmade illusion petals embroidered with pearlized orange blossoms, the veil of French illusion fell in three tiers to fingertip length. Her crescent bouquet of stephanotis and feathered chrysanthemums was centered with tinsel gold baby orchids and outlined with satin leaves and streamers, each embroidered with seed pearls.

Attending as matron of honor was Mrs. Roland Chambles of El Campo. Bridesmaids were Misses Janet Dube, Helen Kersten of Amarillo, Wynell Rost bridegroom's sister of Hamilton and Mrs. Jim Porter of Roscoe.

The bridal attendants wore brocade satin sheaths styled with an overskirt of matching net and tulle. The fitted sleeveless bodice, complemented by a rounded neckline, was completed by a matching band of velvet which tied at center back and fell into long streamers. Mrs. Chambles wore champagne and the bridesmaids wore cognac. Their headpieces were head clips fashioned of velvet leaves and tulle matching their dresses. They carried crescent bouquets of China bronze chrysanthemums accented by velvet leaves.

Robert Rost of El Campo served his brother as best man. Ushers were Hubert Teinert, brother of the bride, Alton Wilson of Hamilton, Wayne Siewert of Abilene, Bobby Wied, Glennwood Limmer of Sparenburg and W. L. Henderson of San Angelo.

Miss Cathy Pfluger of Hamilton and Miss Doris Mehrend of Wilson scattered bronze mum petals from bronze baskets. They wore sleeveless dresses of champagne brocade satin with rounded necklines and full gathered skirts with matching net and tulle overskirts. The rings were carried on bronze mums by the bridegroom's nephew, Mark Rost, of El Campo and David Wied nephew of the bride, of Wilson.

Raiders Start Fall Work-Outs

Lubbock, Aug. 30.—Texas Tech, the newest Southwest Conference member, opens its fall football practice Saturday.

Despite the Red Raiders' new affiliation, Tech is not expected to be as strong as in recent seasons due to inexperience. Twenty-seven of the 52 candidates are sophomores.

Coach DeWitt Weaver, building toward a strong team in 1957 and 1958 and 1960, when Tech becomes eligible for Southwest Conference title play, sees one encouraging sign for this season. That is the hustle and spirit shown by the Raiders in their spring practices.

"If Tech's hustle can overcome the experience of our opponents," says Weaver, "we'll be in pretty good shape. Unfortunately, it looks like our rivals have a good combination of both spirit and experience."

With only 19 lettermen returning from last fall's team, Tech will field its least experienced team since Weaver's first year—1951.

Nevertheless, season ticket sales have reached a new high of 7,000.

Preston Smith Thanks Voters

The senate race, one of the most hotly contested campaigns in the history, ended last Saturday when Smith outdistanced Carroll Cobb, Lubbock attorney.

Incumbent Senator Kilmer Corbin was defeated in the Democratic Primary July 28.

Smith, an independent theatre operator of Lubbock, said he plans to make a "family project" out of his senate position. "We like to be together, and I think that as a family we can do a good job for the people we represent," Smith added.

"To the people of West Texas I offer my sincere thanks for their confidence in me," Smith said, "and I pledge to do my best to represent ALL the people of this area as fairly and justly as is humanly possible."

Congratulations:

FCDA Trains Rescue Corps

Twenty miles from downtown Washington is the world's greatest "theater" — a gigantic stage setting without a stage, professional actors or scenario.

Amidst a backdrop of "bombed-out" building ruins, volunteer "actors" and "actresses" periodically put behind the day's workaday world to become "victims" at the Federal Civil Defense Administration's Olney, Md., Rescue School.

WHILE BURNING OIL is played on stairways and other key spots in the ruins by a remote control panel, students at the national rescue school enter the flaming structures and actually rescue the volunteer "victims." Some "victims" pretend unconsciousness. Others simulate situations the rescue workers would meet in an actual civil defense disaster by becoming "hysterical," and even by kicking and fighting their would-be "rescuers."

Seldom, however, do professional rescue instructors standing by actually have to enter the ruins to help out their students during the "final exam" of the two-week course. And never are the volunteer victims actually in danger, for they have been placed in areas known to be safe from the hidden flaming oil jets.

Prospects right now are slim for winter pastures, but says E. M. Trew, extension pasture specialist, plans, seed and fertilizer should be ready if and when it rains. The need for winter forage is critical in most areas of the state and winter pastures, if conditions become favorable, can be used to cut wintering costs for livestock and up the output of meat and milk from the farm.

Under a contract recently signed between the USDA and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, scientists will seek to learn whether atomic or electrically-generated radiation can be used to make useful new textile products from cotton — or to improve the value of cotton in its present uses.

Dr. C. M. Patterson, extension veterinarian, says gin trash and cotton burs may be used as a maintenance ration for livestock with no danger from poison if insecticides had not been applied to the cotton plants for three or four weeks prior to harvest.

While it is not practical to make farm buildings strong enough to resist the full force of tornadoes, W. S. Allen, extension agricultural engineer, says the east of making new or existing buildings strong enough to resist winds of hurricane force is not great.

Sept 21 is the deadline for winter wheat producers to sign agreements for placing 1957 crop wheat acreage under the Soil Bank's Acreage Reserve.

Soil Bank Plan In Operation

College Station, August 30—The Soil Bank program, based on legislation enacted late last spring, will get its first real tryout this fall, according to Robert G. Shrauner, Chairman of the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. Meetings are now being held throughout the state to bring details of the Acreage Reserve to winter wheat growers and of the Conservation Reserve to all farmers.

In general, Chairman Shrauner explains, the program is aimed at reducing the surplus of farm commodities, which have continued to pile up despite acreage allotments and marketing quotas. The Acreage Reserve part of the program enables farmers to reduce basic crop acreages below the acreage allotment level for their farms while maintaining income. The Conservation Reserve part provides financial assistance for farmers who reduce their acreage of general crops and carry out an approved practice on the designated land.

To participate in the Acreage Reserve, the farmer will remove part or all of his basic crop acreage from production, harvesting no crop from it and not grazing it.

To participate in the Conservation Reserve, the farmer will designate a certain acreage of cropland other than the acreage for the Acreage Reserve and carry out an approved conservation practice. To reduce the regular-rate annual payment, there must be a reduction in the acreage of crops which are generally called "depleting crops." The farmer may receive a Conservation Reserve payment for the conservation practice covering up to 80 percent of the cost, and also annual payments for each acre in conservation reserve.

Farmers Warned On Provisions Of Federal Child Labor Laws

Dallas—Every commercial farmer and grower whose products move in interstate commerce directly or indirectly will become subject to the child-labor provisions of the Federal Fair Labor Standards Act when the autumn school term opens, a Federal spokesman said here today.

This complete change in the children in agriculture the day local schools open was explained by Regional Director William J. Rogers of the U. S. Department of Labor's Wage and Hour Division in Dallas, Texas.

"This law," he said, "exempts growers of agricultural products from its $1 minimum wage and overtime provisions, but it specifically prohibits employment of children under 16 years of age in hours school is in session in the school district in which they live while working."

"In other words, children of any age may be employed on the farm by the grower in the planting, cultivating, harvesting or handling of agricultural products during vacation periods, in weekends and before and after school. The grower may use his own children in agricultural work at any time and at any age on his own farm."

But he noted that these are federal restrictions. Each of the 48 states has a child-labor law of its own. So he advised growers to consult with state officers, local school attendance officials or study State laws to determine their provisions. When the State child-labor standards are higher than those of the Federal law, the State law should be observed.

"The federal regulation requires that each grower subject to it have on file for each employee under 18 a record showing his full name, date of birth, the home address and the local address if the minors are employed on days when school is in session," he said.

Primary purposes of both federal and state child-labor laws, according to Roger, are to protect children from exploitation, and to encourage them to stay in school and obtain the education that will make them better citizens of tomorrow.

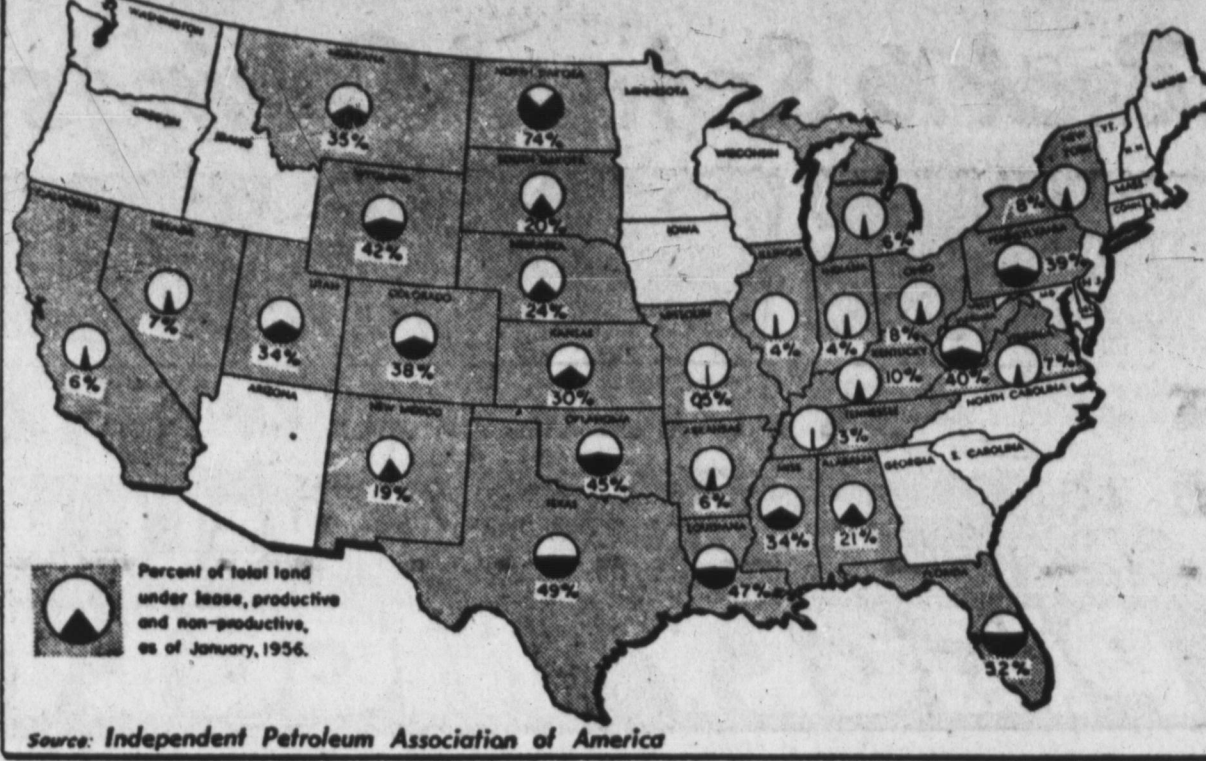

Here are the steps Mr. Rogers said the commercial grower should take to protect himself from unintentional violations:

1. Learn the requirements of both state and federal child-labor laws.
2. Do not employ or permit children under 16 to work in or about the farm or hothouse during hours school is in session.
3. Make sure the youth is of employable age and keep the required records for at least three years.

He emphasized that the federal law applies to all children, whether they reside in the area or are members of migrant worker families. Also that the grower himself is held liable for any violations even though the under-age children were hired and paid by a labor contractor or processor or others.

Newton Smith and family of Grand Prairie were here over the week end visiting relatives and friends. They were returning home from a vacation trip to the Black Hills, Yellowstone, and Carlsbad Cavern, and intermediate places of interest.

PERCENT OF U.S. LAND LEASED FOR OIL & GAS

A total of 384 million acres, or 27 percent of the land area in the U. S., is under lease by oil and gas producers. Only five percent, or 20 million acres, represents actual producing areas. The remaining 95 percent is under lease for future exploration and development, indicating the vast hunting ground for oil still remaining. The above map, prepared by the Independent Petroleum Association of America, shows the percentage of land area leased in each of the 29 oil and gas producing states.

Today's MEDITATION

The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

The Upper Room
THE UPPER ROOM, NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE

Wherefore let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall. (1 Corinthians 10:12.)

Long, long ago, a friend asked an old man why he complained so much.

"Oh," said he, "I have every day so much to do. I have two falcons to tame, two hares to keep from running away, two hawks to manage, a serpent to control, a lion to chain, and a sick man to tend and wait upon."

Then said the friend, "But no man has all these things to do at once."

"Ah," corrected the old man. "But it is with me as I have said. The two falcons are my two eyes, the two hares are my feet, the two hawks are my hands, the serpent is my tongue, the lion is my heart, and the sick man is my own body."

How true this complaining attitude is of too many of us today! Life is meant to be a loom where we weave the texture of our characters, a forge where we temper our wills, and a mart where we ourselves are best able to sell what we have made of ourselves.

PRAYER
O Father, we have no greater guide than Thee. Thou art the Creator of all life, of all law, of all love. Guide and bless us this day as we go forth to live. Help us to do as to the honor and glory of Thy name; through Christ. Amen.

Lynn Seventh In Cotton, Fifth Sorghum Acreage In Nation

Lynn county ranked seventh in the nation in cotton acreage and 24th in cotton production during the year 1954, according to figures just released by Bureau of Census, U. S. Department of Commerce.

Lynn county ranked fifth in the nation in grain sorghum acreage in 1954, the same records show.

The county had 194,304 acres in cotton in that year and harvested only 89,001 bales because of the drought. Lynn county had 206,919 acres in grain sorghums that year, census figures reveal, but the production is not given.

Lubbock county led the nation in cotton acreage, but was seventh in production. Mississippi county, Ark., was second in acreage, sixth in production; Fresno Calif., was third in acreage, second in production; Dawson county was fourth in acreage, 28th in number of bales; Kern county, Calif., fifth in acreage, first in production; Lamb county, sixth in acreage, 12 in production.

Following Lynn were, in order, Hidalgo, Hockley, and Cameron, all in Texas, to make up the top ten in the nation.

During 1954, 18,858,145 acres were planted to cotton in the United States and 12,921,376 bales were harvested. Lynn county had a little more than one percent of the nation's cotton acreage.

Of the 100 leading counties, Texas furnished more than half, 52; Arkansas, 11; Mississippi, 10; Oklahoma, 7; California, 7; Missouri, 3; Alabama, Arizona, Louisiana, and Tennessee, 2 each; New Mexico, North Carolina, and South Carolina, 1 each.

Hale county, Texas, led the nation in grain sorghum acreage with 233,541 acres, Terry was second with 230,773, Lubbock third with 228,160, Dawson fourth with 225,145, Lynn fifth with 206,919, and Lamb sixth with 203,125.

Texas furnished 42 of the top 100 counties in the nation in grain sorghum acreage. Others include Kansas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Colorado, and Arizona.

Total national acreage in grain sorghums was 17,564,922 acres, and nearly 1.2 percent of the acreage was in Lynn county.

Sue Smith, daughter of Mrs. Lila Mae Smith of Fort Worth, is here visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Reid. Three other grandchildren, Linda, Judy and Lee Edward, also of Fort Worth have also recently been visiting here. They are children of Kenneth Reid.

Sue arrived here Saturday and expects to return home this weekend.

IN BETSY ROSS TRADITION—The Army's first official flag, unfurled June 14, required the fine color shadings that only hand-work can give. Miss Irene M. Ziebler (seated), assistant forelady of the embroidery section at the Philadelphia Quartermaster Depot, and Mrs. Elizabeth Hewlett, forelady, study the pattern.

Standing . . .

Rule of the Week: Lifting Ball. Ball should be lifted by owner's side.

I can't stand for people to talk about their children all the time—so I'm going to talk about mine. Weesee Carroll, who is keeping a few children of working mamas, told my six-year old that tomorrow she was going to be harder on them. And the reply, "What-cha gonna do, clean house?" Do they tell everything?

Confucius said, "Our greatest glory is not in never failing, but in rising every time we fall."

People have talked. People have speculated. But someone took action. We finally have a miniature golf course.

Oscar Follis will open his lighted course Sept. 8.

Abraham Lincoln once said of a writer he knew: "He can crowd more words into the smallest idea than any man I ever knew." The fellow must have been an ancestor to this peckwriter.

Appearing in the church bulletin Sunday was this little thought:

Waiting on a dock to take a steamer to Europe, the late John D. Rockefeller was asked for an interview by a newspaper reporter. I'd rather not be interviewed," Mr. Rockefeller protested. "Interview that man over there sweeping the docks."

"But he isn't famous," objected the reporter.

"Interview him and make him famous," reported the world's richest citizen.

Rockefeller was saying that if we will only make people feel big they'll become so. Take no interest in them, and they'll sweep the docks the rest of their lives.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank all those who contributed to the premium for the first bale of cotton—Farmers Coop of O'Donnell and the other gins of the county, Tahoka Chamber of Commerce, and the O'Donnell Merchants and all others. Lynn county has the finest people in the world; and I'm proud to be your friend and neighbor. We sincerely appreciate every favor shown us.—Jake L. Burkett and family.

Daniel Wins . . .

(Cont'd. from Front Page) el. A canvassing sub-committee said it found the list of voters, whose names are supposed to be written down in order in which they appeared at the polls, was in alphabetical order, and that there were other strong indications of fraud.

Although Ralph Yarborough made a remarkable gain on Daniel in the second primary, he appears to have lost another in a long series of efforts to gain a state office. This was his third unsuccessful try for the governor's office, and previously he had lost out in a race for attorney general.

Will Wilson of Dallas won an overwhelming 803,740 to 515,119 victory over Tom Moore of Waco for the office of attorney general. Ben Ramsey was elected lieutenant governor unopposed in the runoff. A. M. Aikin Jr. had barely won the right to enter the runoff but withdrew from the campaign.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Patterson, Rett and Sharon have returned from Denton and Stamford where they attended the graduation and wedding of Mrs. Patterson's sister, which were held Thursday and Saturday, respectively. The entire family participated in the wedding. Mrs. Patterson was soloist; Mr. Patterson gave the bride away; Rett was junior groomsman and Sharon was a junior bridesmaid.

Rotary Fellow Tells of Studies

Gerre Hancock, Lubbock, Rotary Foundation Fellow from the 183rd district of Rotary International for 1954, just returned from a year of study at the University of Paris, France, was speaker at Tahoka Rotary Club Thursday noon.

A former resident of Lynn county, Gerre was accompanied by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Hancock, also of Lubbock. Mr. Hancock, formerly of New Home and also formerly school superintendent at Tahoka, is now Lubbock County school supervisor and an active Rotarian for a number of years.

Gerre is an accomplished pianist and organist. He graduated from Lubbock High School, attended Texas Tech, and was an honor student in music at the University of Texas, where he graduated. He studied French Civilization as a major in the University of Paris, and also studied piano and organ under two of Europe's outstanding musicians.

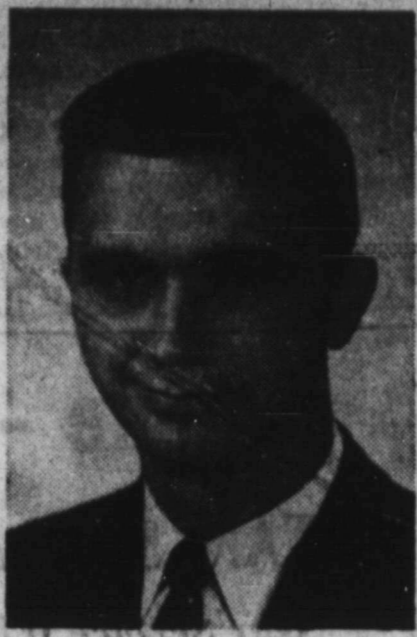

In his talk Thursday, Gerre told many interesting things about France and Europe. During his year in Paris, he also visited 11 countries of Europe.

He attended regularly the Rotary Club of Paris, which has a membership of 250 to 300 men, and also visited several of the smaller clubs of the area. He attended two Rotary district conferences in France.

His talk was unusually interesting, and he showed excellent ability to evaluate France, its people, and customs. He described the geography, farming, culture and customs.

In contrast to the way France is usually pictured as "wild," he said the average Frenchman is conservative with his money, hard working, and religious. About 90 percent of the population is Catholic.

Although the French consume much wine, he saw only two drunks during his year in the country. Cheeses and wine are the leading products from the farms. Although Paris is noted for dress designing, except on formal occasions, the French dress is conservative, and even then the ladies do not go for as much color as do our American ladies.

He also touched on the beauty of the countryside, including the many fine cathedrals, castles, and public buildings.

Frenchmen are individualists, he declared, which accounts in large measure for the larger number of political parties and the turn-overs in government, but he thought there is little danger of the country going Communist. The Frenchman still looks toward America for his ideals.

He said the year in France gave him a rare opportunity to study the French people, speak the language, and learn much of the government, customs, etc., and to promote to some extent the American type of Democracy. On his return home, he is bringing through talks to Rotary Clubs a better understanding of the French.

The speaker was introduced by Mitchell Williams. Brief talks on attendance were made by Gravel Ayer for the Navy and Calloway Huffaker for the Army in the club attendance contest.

Sale of U. S. Bonds Lays In County

During July the sales of Series "E" United States Savings Bonds in Texas increased 18 percent, Truett Smith, Lynn County Savings Bond chairman, announces. Texans purchased 13,700,543 in Series E and $3,021,000 in Series H Bonds, Mr. Smith said.

The sales in Lynn county for July were $9,806.00. In Texas sales for the first seven months were $115,029,501 and the sales in Lynn county for the same period were $139,078.00. Mr. Smith also stated that of the Series E bonds that have matured, over 70 percent are still being held for the additional option period of nine years and eight months.

He also reminded those people who hold matured F and G bonds that these bonds do not earn interest after maturity and that they should exchange these matured F and G bonds for Series E or the new H, J, and K bonds in order to earn additional interest.

As of August 1, Lynn county had reached 46.4 percent of its quota of $930,000, Mr. Smith concluded.

Odds and Ends

(By E. I. The Elder)

In order to get copy for this Column in to the printer on time for this week, I had to write and mail it on last Friday afternoon. The Democratic National convention had not closed at that time and although Stevenson's nomination had been publicly announced and the customary parades and rousements and senseless clamor had been staged for a full half hour, yet the nominee had not announced his acceptance of the honor, and of course that had to be done before the delegates and the politicians and the newspaper correspondents would know what to tell the world, and what to do about it. Even Mr. Kaltenborn could not be sure. But Mr. Stevenson hurried into the big Chicago Convention shed, Thursday night to assure the folks that he would let them know twenty-four hours later whether he could afford to make the sacrifice or not. That eased up the situation a little bit, and presumably most of the crowd managed to throw their anxiety to the winds and get a little sleep before daylight—and daylight comes early in Chicago, I am told. Even early risers hardly ever get up until after ten o'clock a. m.

Furthermore, no running-mate for the distinguished nominee had been selected, and Mr. Stevenson told the convention that he was not going to help it one bit in making the selection. That was a really cruel decision, for Mr. Kefauver and Mr. Clements, and Mr. Magnuson, and Mr. Harry Truman, and Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, and Mr. Sam Rayburn, all, it is believed, were anxious to help the nominee make the selection. But Mr. Stevenson was not going to listen to any of them for one moment, he indicated, but was going to listen only to the convention as a whole. Nuts! I guess we will never know how many secret caucuses were held during Friday scuffling with that problem as to whom the running-mate should be.

If the Democrats should elect their candidate and make as great a mess of running the country as they made last week of running their convention, they would soon have all of us in the air. Take Harry Truman, for instance, who let it be known that he regards himself as the highcockalorum of the Democratic party and of the country: He made two red-hot speeches for Averil Harriman, two for Adlai Stevenson, and several for himself, telling the convention what marvelous things he did for the country while he was President. I do not think that he was really seeking any office at this time, but and if the lightning had struck down upon him, he probably would not have accepted a place even as the head of the ticket, for while the tide was still running high and ever higher for Adlai Stevenson, he bluntly declared that Stevenson could not beat Eisenhower. Many believed that he had his lightning-rod up for 1960. He got some boos when he made his first speech for Harriman, but by the time Stevenson had won the nomination and Truman had made a red-hot speech for the nominees of the convention, he had everybody eating out of his hand and cheering every word he spoke. Which proved one of two things to me: Either Truman is very unstable in his opinions and policies, or the delegates to that convention are themselves very unstable. Stevenson and Truman and every speaker who addressed the convention Friday night were stirring up enthusiasm by declaring most positively that the Democrats already had Eisenhower and the Republicans licked—they would not confess that there was any doubt about it; but daily newspapers Sunday were carrying such headlines as these: "DEMOS EXPECT 50-50 CHANCE".

A friend of mine and a relative of my wife Eva down here at Chilton sat for almost three hours, I guess, in front of the television screen Friday night listening to the wild demonstrations, the extravagant eulogies being paid to the victors, the assurance being given of victory again in November, and a younger man than I might have concluded that Adlai Stevenson was just about the greatest and most popular man who was ever nominated for the Presidency of the United States. And then I thought of that strangely fitting verse found in the very heart of Thomas Gray's Elegy written in a country church yard, as follows:

"The boast of heraldry, the pomp of power,
And all that beauty, all that wealth e'er gave,
Await alike the inevitable hour,
The paths of glory lead but to that undecaying grave."

And then I said to my friend: We have been listening to a marvelous tribute and demonstration of admiration and praise for Adlai Stevenson, but had it occurred to you that if he should be elected to the Presidency in November, these plaudits may be turned into curses and vilification four years from now?

Then passing over the post-bellum days from Lincoln to Garfield wherein history records a number of episodes illustrating my point, I told him that I myself well remembered the election of 1884 when Grover Cleveland was first elected President. He was the first Democrat who had been elected and seated since the Civil War and he went into office with the plaudits of all Democrats both North and South. A crowing rooster was the popular emblem of victory, and Democratic daily newspapers all over the United States carried the proud emblem on the front page. Great was Grover Cleveland! But at the end of four years his popularity had waned considerably and he was defeated as a candidate for reelection by Benjamin Harrison, the Republican candidate, in 1888. Then the crowing roosters covered the front pages of all the Republican daily newspapers. Benjamin Harrison, grandson of the famous William Henry Harrison of log-cabin and hard-cider fame, was now the popular hero. But at the end of four years in office his popularity had suffered too, and so, in 1892 Grover Cleveland, the stern old Democrat, who had contained moral lapse when accused, public trust, and who had been honest enough to confess a conceded phrase "Public office is a tinguished Republican opponent and defeated Harrison by a size-turned the tables on his dis-able majority. Cleveland was again the hero of the Democrats—a champion of whom the party was extraordinarily proud. Grover Cleveland was a name to be conjured with!

But already forces were at work to bring about his downfall. At the beginning of Cleveland's second term, the price of cotton, the South's staple money crop, had already sunk to a low level. It kept going down, down, down, and I remember that my father, in 1893 and 1894 sold cotton for less than four cents per pound. Southern farmers were all "broke." The situation financially was too complicated for me to go into details now in describing it, but Cleveland's policies were believed to be fashioned so as to favor wealthy bond-holders and Wall Street financiers. Government obligations were payable in gold and in order to meet these payments Cleveland issued bonds in peace times, which was charged as little less than criminal by vast hordes of the common people.

Furthermore, General James B. Weaver of Iowa, I believe, for a quarter of a century had been advocating the issuance of "fiat money" by the Government, called "greenbacks" and great throngs of people in the West and the Middle West had been converted to his views. But being unable to obtain the endorsement of his views by either the Democratic or the Republican party, he had formed a party of his own generally known as the Greenback Party. The financial depression which was sweeping over the country was playing into his hands. "The Grange" was one of the farmers' organizations that widely supported Weaver's views, and in many parts of the country, the "Grangers" themselves became a rather powerful political force. In Texas, the Farmers' Alliance was organized and although it started out as a professed non-political organization it soon drifted into politics and became the daddy of the "Third Party," officially known as the Populist party and as such it won many political victories in Texas and in other Southern states.

In the meantime, Senator Teller of Colorado had been advocating the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 in comparison with gold, for his state was rich in silver ore and he wanted a better market for this product of his state. Senator Pepper and "Socksless Jerry Simpson" of Kansas swept that state for these "fiat money" doctrines like a prairie fire, while Harry Tracy was its chief exponent in Texas. Cyclone Davis was the principal "eat-em-alive" Democrat coon-hunter in Texas, though there was a host of populist orators in this State. Tom Watson of Georgia was doubtless the ablest populist east of the Mississippi River. All of these had left the "Old Party" folds and were hoping to put over their doctrines through the vigorous new Populist Party.

But away out in Nebraska, there was a young man known as "The Boy Orator of the Platte" who had not severed his relations with the Democratic party but on the other hand was serving in Congress as a Democrat from this normally Republican state. But his political creed was in harmony with that of those forward-looking Nebraskans, the common people, and in Congress he had made an eloquent tariff speech that marked him as a coming leader. So, in 1896 the Democrats of Nebraska sent William Jennings Bryan as a delegate to the Democratic National Convention in Chicago. Grover Cleveland, who had been acclaimed a great Democratic leader and champion, was now thoroughly discredited and scorned as a leader except in New York and New England. Perhaps no President in the history of our country had so completely embittered his former followers as Grover Cleveland had when that convention met. His fateful fall was graphically accentuated by that "Cross of Gold" speech with which William Jennings Bryan electrified the convention and won the nomination for the Presidency.

But though Bryan had mercilessly dethroned Cleveland, he lost the support of strong elements in the Democratic party, the Gold Standard advocates bolting the party and nominating Messrs. Palmer and Buckner as their standard bearers. The Republicans had nominated William McKinley, a most lovable gentleman, on a compromise platform, and McKinley trounced Bryan in the November General Election and became President. That was in 1896. Through no fault of his own, McKinley came to a tragic end of life in 1900 at the hands of a murderous anarchist named Leon Czolgoz. In the meantime, during McKinley's administration, the Spanish-American War had broken out and had been concluded in a glorious victory for the United States.

The execution of that War and also its aftermath gave other demonstrations of the truth that fame and popularity and glory are often as ephemeral as the dew of the morning. The career of Theodore Roosevelt himself is one example; brought on, it is true, by his own ambition and selfishness. That boy hero, Richmond P. Hobson of Alabama, who performed one of the bravest acts of any hero in any war, when he risked his life over and over in an attempt to bottle up Cervera's Spanish fleet in Santiago Bay in Cuba by sinking an American battleship across the neck of the bay. It was not a complete success, for the Spaniards later found it possible to run their ships one by one out of the bay, but they could run out only one at a time. Admiral Schley and his fleet chased them down and sank the entire Spanish fleet. Hobson along with Schley at once became a national hero, and all the American girls immediately became wild to kiss the brave young hero, and so, when he came back to main land he permitted himself to be kissed until the whole thing seemed ridiculous. The girls and other young women had kissed his fame away, and when he ran for office later, he failed to make the grade. The career of Woodrow Wilson during and following World War I is another tragic example, brought on by the envy of vitriolic enemies and by his lack of tact in dealing with wicked and unpatriotic men. He was as truly a casualty of the War as was any soldier that died on the battlefield. He became somewhat unpopular in his life time but he won the admiration and love of the people of America that could not be blot-tered out by death, and he will continue to live in the hearts of his countrymen as one of our three greatest Presidents.

I could give many lesser examples of the fleetness of fame but must wait till some other time. Ian.

ELMER BLANKENSHIP

Brush control work on a trial basis was tried on mesquite trees last week on Dr. K. R. Durham's ranch west of Tahoka. Range technicians assigned to the Lynn district assisted George Claude Wells, operator of Dr. Durham's ranch, applied kerosene to the mesquite.

Varying amounts were applied to about the same size trees. Also different methods of application were used. Some was applied to the trunks of trees, some sprayed, while others was poured on the base. The different treatments on the trees were tagged so that results can be observed. It may be next spring before full results may be known. Trials that have tops killed now may sprout out from the roots next spring. If any of the methods of applying kerosene are effective, further work will be done on the large scale and the costs compared to hand grubbing, mechanical work and other methods of controlling the un-desirable mesquite. Some ranges in other districts have reported about thirty percent increase in native grass where mesquite has been controlled.

The stubble mulch field on Joe D. Unfred's farm south of Petty has sufficient growth for wind erosion control this winter. This combine sorghum is planted in twenty inch rows and making some grain. Like most all grain sorghum on dryland it needs rain for average production. It is believed that if the crop residue can be worked throughout the season of planting and cultivating, that the residue on the surface will retard wind erosion.

Theo Campbell is harvesting his blue panic grass seed on the field that was shredded earlier to cut back careless weeds. There are still some careless weeds but not as much as if it had not been shredded.

Formby Explains Highway Aid

The Interstate System of highways, so much in the current news today, is a special 41,000-mile road system selected by the Federal Government and approved by Congress in 1945, Highway Commissioner Marshall Formby of Plainview explained.

Formby said that he had been flooded with questions from people asking the difference between the Interstate System and the regular primary or trunk system of highways. He said many people thought that any US highway that traversed several states was an interstate route. While that may be the true meaning of the word "interstate," he said it is not the meaning that the Federal Government and Congress applied to the Interstate Road System.

The 41,000-mile system was selected as one that connects 90 percent of the cities of the United States with a population of 50,000 or more. It is a system of roads that is designed for military purposes in case an emergency should arise. It is to carry traffic from border to border and coast to coast. The total number of miles on the system is set by Congress and can only be changed by Congress.

Texas has 2,900 miles of the Interstate System and right now Formby said he sees no hope of additional miles being given to Texas. "There are more than 22,000 miles of primary routes in Texas that are not on the Interstate System and the people should not think these roads will be forgotten," Formby said. "We are going to build an adequate highway system for 'all Texas.' As a matter of fact, some of the primary routes will be built to the same high standard as the Interstate System."

Formby said the Interstate System would be built to the highest standards possible with 300 feet of right-of-way required in most places, no left-hand turns allowed and with overpasses at intersections. With the Federal Government putting up 90 percent of the money for these Interstate routes, he said the Federal people will make every effort to control the exact location of the road. It is feared that some of the smaller towns will be by-passed by the Interstate.

The Interstate routes that were selected in Texas are generally described as follows:
U. S. 66 across the Panhandle.
U. S. 80 from the Texas-New Mexico Border near El Paso to the Texas-Louisiana Border near Marshall.

U. S. 290, State 27, and U. S. 87 from near Van Horn to San Antonio
U. S. 90 from San Antonio to the Texas-Louisiana border near Orange.
U. S. 81 from the Texas-Mexico Border at Laredo to Fort Worth.
U. S. 77 from Hillsboro to the Texas-Oklahoma Border near Gainesville.
U. S. 67 from Dallas to the Texas-Arkansas Border at Texarkana.
U. S. 75 from Dallas to Galveston.
U. S. 377 from Denton to Fort Worth.
