Nothing lies beyond the reach of prayer except that which lies outside the will of God.

First Come, First Serve? In this era of overcrowding, when a child rushes off to school early it's hard to know whether he's eager for an education or just wants to get a seat. Press, Binghamton, N. Y.

The first day of school reminded us of an incident the late Mrs. Lucy Craft used to tell about one of her first grade pupils.

Mrs. C. B. Evans had brought little six-year-old Glen Ross to enroll in school. She was afraid he might cry, so when she started to leave she edged along the wall and tiptoed toward the door. Just as she thought she had made it, Glen Ross called out in his boisterous voice, "You come back here, Ma. There's a lot of this you don't know."

Then there's the one Mrs. Craft told about the little boy whom she asked how to spell his name. He replied, "How the do I know? I haven't been here but 30 minutes."

Contrary to a recent report, Benny Thorpe, local math teacher, is the same Benny that lived here several years ago. Guess I'll have to buy the coffee this week.

WOMEN! You don't have to frost your cake if you follow this suggestion. Beat two egg whites stiff and one cup brown sugar while beating. Beat until it holds up in peaks. Put on top of cake batter before baking and bake at 350 degrees F.

What is a Communist? One who hath yearning.

For equal division of unequal earnings. Idler or bungler, or both, he is willing.

To fork out his copper and picket you shilling.—Ebenezer Elliott.

Grover Cleveland Aten was born and reared in Blanco county. With the opening of the Post lands for development, Mr. Aten moved to Grassland, Lynn county, in 1915, and operated a store there for several years.

In 1923, he bought a farm southeast of O'Donnell, in Dawson county, and moved to it. Although retired, he was still living on the farm when death came. He had served as county commissioner from his Dawson county precinct. Mr. Aten was highly respected by a host of friends in both counties.

Feeler Put Out On Organization of Community Chest In Lynn County

Feasibility of a Community Chest set-up for Lynn county, or for Tahoka, is being discussed by Tahoka Chamber of Commerce directors.

President Herman Heck is taking the leadership in gathering information on how the Chest organization operates and the extent to which it meets with public approval in towns and counties similar to Tahoka and Lynn county.

Questionnaires were sent out to other towns, and C. of C. directors read and discussed them at their meeting Thursday night of last week.

Levelland, Littlefield, Floydada, Olney, Ralls, Brownfield, and Lamesa were among the towns reporting on their Community Chest organizations.

Principal benefit of the Community Chest is that it combines all or most of the many financial drives into one big drive each year. Another is that in this one big drive more people can be contacted and the load thereby lightened somewhat on the individual contributor, as well as on the workers.

Under Community Chest, it is proposed that drives for funds be united with a quota for each for such organizations as the Boy Scouts, Red Cross, Heart, and Cancer Funds, Infantile Paralysis, and any other organization which might wish to come under the program.

Crosby county is currently setting up a Community Chest on a county-wide basis. Similar to Lynn, that county, has three major communities, Crosbyton, Ralls, and Lorenzo.

Mr. Heck and other Chamber of Commerce directors would appreciate hearing from people in Tahoka and from each of the communities of the county as to what they think of the proposal. Civic clubs might discuss the matter at one of their meetings to get a viewpoint, Mr. Heck suggests.

Spaghetti Supper Nets $310.00 For New T-Bar Club

T-Bar Country Club netted about $310.00 on the spaghetti supper held Thursday night at the school cafeteria.

The supper was sponsored by the Entertainment Committee of the Country Club. A part of the funds are being used to buy a couch and chairs and the remainder will go toward paying for the building.

Members of the Entertainment Committee, sponsoring the supper are R. W. Clem, Mrs. Jewell Smith, Miss Echo Milliken, and Mrs. Abbie Whorton.

A total of $336.00 was raised at the supper. The club extended special thanks to Joe Durham, who furnished the Baldrige bread; the Tennessee Milk Co. for the milk and cream; Turner Rogers, who did the cooking; and all others who helped or bought tickets.

John Curry and John Foster will leave today for Texas A. and M., where they will enter college for the fall term. Curry is entering for the first time and Foster will be a junior. The latter has also qualified for the Vets School, for which a high scholastic average is required before one is accepted.

Tahoka Bulldogs Open '56 Season With Plains Here

Tahoka Bulldogs open up the 1956 football season with the Plains Cowboys here tonight, Friday, at 8:00 o'clock in Kelley Stadium.

Little is known locally of the Plains eleven, which competed in Class B last year but is moving up to Class A this year. Last year's Plains team had some pretty rugged players on its roster. Ed Robertson, formerly of O'Donnell, is the Plains coach.

Coaches Bill Haralson and Dean Wright have been working nearly two weeks with a small squad of boys seeking to piece together a team from a squad of 24 boys, and may have to call for help from the Freshman class, on which squad are 26 players.

Nine of last year's 11 starters are missing this year, including the entire starting backfield. This year's backfield will be small and inexperienced, although several of the boys saw some action last year.

From tackle to tackle, the line should be pretty strong, but the end positions will depend on how well the candidates for these places develop.

Win or lose, the game with Plains should give the coaches an opportunity to experiment a bit and to start patching up weak spots.

Next week the going will get (Cont'd. on Sports Page)

Rev. H. Hollowell Is Speaker Here

The Hollowells returned here Saturday and visited the Hagoods and Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Carmack before returning to San Antonio Tuesday.

The show is being sponsored by the Community Progress Committee, of which E. R. Blakney is chairman.

Enrollment Slightly Higher In Tahoka

Showers Too Late To Help Much

A pattern is apparently being established as rain fell in and around Tahoka Wednesday night bringing predictions to light that when school starts, rain would also come.

Tahoka received .41 of an inch bringing the total for the year to 8.02 inches, far below average. Only other measurable moisture reported to The News was at New Home, which received about .25; six miles east of Tahoka on the Elmer Owens place where .45 fell; and 25 two and one-half miles south on the John Slover place.

Others over the country reported only a trace, which included Grassland, Draw, Newmoore, West Point, Vernon Willhoit, who is three miles north, and Henry Douthitt, who is six miles north, and T. B. Mason in the New Lynn area.

In June Tahoka measured 2.91. This fell in four showers when 1.78 was measured on June 7, 8, and 9, and 1.13 on June 18. Eight showers contributed to the .94 which was received during July, and only .39 was measured all during the month of August.

The rain came too late to be of any material benefit, although farmers say it will help some irrigated crops that had not had sufficient watering.

Cotton is opening up rapidly, and many farmers are looking for hands. Quite a few have already started pulling cotton.

C. of C. Directors Hear 4-H Boy

Tahoka Chamber of Commerce, at a meeting Thursday night of last week, heard a report from Hilton Wood, 4-H club member and Tahoka High School student on the Texas 4-H Roundup at A. & M. College in June.

Wood was a member of the district championship 4-H entomology team which won third place in the state contest. Other members of the team were Denver Ford, who was high point man in the state, Dan Seely, and Joe Roper.

Tahoka Chamber of Commerce paid the traveling expenses of the team to the state contest, and also sent the county delegates, Tommy Gardenhire and Robert Bessire.

Wood said the team scored 558 out of a possible 600 points in the contest, only 12 points behind the first place team. In individual ranking, Ford scored 193 out of a possible 200 points.

He said the boys got much benefit from the trip, and learned a number of things about better farming methods. For one thing, they viewed experiments in the laboratory and in the field with some of the new cotton insect poisons.

Band Mothers To Host Guest Bands

Enrollment in Tahoka schools is within 10 students of being up to what it was last year on Sept. 12, according to Supt. Otis Spears. However, with additional students expected by Monday, and succeeding days, Spears expects the enrollment to surpass that of last year.

The Tahoka schools have enrolled a total of 821 students the first two days of classes.

The high school numbers 227 students; eighth grade, which is housed in the high school building, 60; north elementary, 283; south elementary, 211, and Dunbar, 40.

Enrollment in high school was up 14 students over the first week of last year.

Supt. Spears announced that one new teacher has been added to the high school staff. He is Jack Minter, an August graduate of A. C. C. He is originally of Kansas. Minter, who is replacing Don Matheson, will teach eighth grade science and world history in high school.

School Students Have Insurance

Again this year the Tahoka school system is making available to the students an accident insurance policy for an annual fee of $2.00, according to Otis Spears, superintendent.

For the past several years insurance has been available for $1.00 per year, but this policy, while paying many policy holders as much as $110.00 for accidents sustained while in school, was strictly a limited policy, paying a specified sum for a list of injuries.

The policy being offered this year to employees and students is similar, but has much broader benefits, Spears said.

About the only restriction on this policy, as far as payments are concerned, is a $2500 limit on any one accident for hospital and doctor bills.

The insurance goes into effect as the student gets on the bus, or, in the case the student does not ride a bus, when he leaves his home and remains in effect until he returns to his home. The policy also covers all school trips, such as field trips, picnics, band trips, etc. and is in effect until Aug. 31, 1957.

Supt. Spears said each student in the system has been given an enrollment envelope containing all the information about the plan. Plymouth Life Insurance Company, Austin, Texas, is the underwriter of the plan.

All Tahoka school athletes are covered, with the individual paying the $2.00 fee and the school paying the additional fee of $6.00 per athlete.

Guest Preacher At Sweet Street

Rev. Ray Cunningham of Champion, Nolan county, will preach Sunday morning and night at Sweet Street Baptist Church. Glenn Medlin announces, and all members are asked to be present.

Rev. Geo. Dale of Lubbock, who has been serving the church as supply pastor since Rev. Woolery resigned, will be present to act as moderator.

Mrs. Minnie Parker, who lives on North 6th St. fell from her roller chair Tuesday, Aug. 28, and broke her right leg and left side of the pelvic bone. However, because she did not want to go back to the hospital, medical aid was not summoned until Saturday, when she was admitted to Tahoka Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Pitt Walton and three children of Claco spent last week end here with his uncle, Roy E. Poer, and wife.

Cotton, Austria Club Subject

New Home Civic Club, attended by 42 men Monday night, had one of the most interesting programs in a long time, Joe D. Unfred reports.

Fred Mauhart of Lintz, Austria, graduate student in agriculture who is a summer guest of Tahoka Rotary Club, talked briefly and then answered questions principally on the agriculture of his home land and Europe.

Dan Davis, manager of the Plains Marketing Association with headquarters at Lubbock, spoke on the history of cotton classing.

He traced the progress of cotton classing from the early days when cotton was classed as Benders, River, Creek, and Upland cotton. He explained the best cotton was that raised in the fertile river bends, and therefore called Bender cotton; next best, River cotton, grown along the straight course of the river; Creek cotton was raised up on the creeks; and the poorest cotton was the Upland where there were no creeks or rivers.

Next step was staple, then grade, and now another factor is being added known as micronaire. This is an added test for determining the maturity and strength of fiber.

Ed Noakes, official classer of the Lubbock office was present, and demonstrated a micronaire instrument, a delicate piece of equipment which determines very quickly the strength of the fibre.

Cotton ginned that day at New Home was tested and found to rate 39 to 46. Usually cotton testing 35 up to 60 is considered good cotton.

Mr. Davis also stated that the prospects for sale of cotton this year are somewhat better than last year.

Bob Stephens, KFYO farm director, was also present and reported on the new wage laws as they apply to Mexican Nationals.

Some farmers present said they were paying $1.50 per hundred for pulling and felt the price sufficiently high in view of the fact that the price of loan cotton is about 210 points under last year.

As usual, the meal served the club was by the Home Demonstration ladies.

L. C. Unfred, Civic vice-president, presided at the meeting in the absence of Kay K. Moore, president. The latter had arranged the program.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Garvin of Fritch, on the North Plains, were here last week end visiting her mother, Mrs. Kittie McCracken, and brother, George McCracken. C. C. is chief repairman for the Pioneer Natural Gas Company and Amarillo Oil Company.

New Home Forms Cheering Section

(Contributed)
As the New Home Leopards begin this 1956 football season, they have lots of fans and rooters behind them.

Perhaps the most enthusiastic of these are the 27 members of the Leopard pep squad. These girls have made great plans for the coming season to help and encourage our team as much as possible.

Our cheer leaders, majorettes, and drummers are making wonderful directors. Most of these have just returned from band school with new ideas.

Serving as cheerleaders, we have two seniors, Mary Barnett and Bobbie Roper, and two juniors, Daloma Brewer and Virginia Renfroe. Gail Kieth and Sandra Scott, both seniors, are majorettes, and Cynthia Barnett and Jeanelda Renfroe are drummers.

No less important than the leaders are our officers, Sylvia Edwards is again our president. Thurlen McNabb is vice president, Martha Crooks is secretary, Mary June Harrison is treasurer, and Sue Taylor is our reporter.

All the girls dress identically in standard uniforms of black pleated skirts and lettered white sweaters.

A great benefit to our organization is Mrs. Hugh Daniel, who is once again our sponsor.

The big events start Friday afternoon, Sept. 7, as a pep rally in the New Home school gymnasium is held. Friday night, the Leopards tackle the Hart Longhorns on the New Home field.

Come on out to the game; everyone else will.

Kenneth D. Reed Is Married In Whitney Church To Miss Hanna Beth Triplett

Miss Hanna Beth Triplett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Weldon P. Triplett of Whitney, became the bride of Kenneth Dell Reed, son of Mrs. J. O. Patterson of Tahoka, in vows read Saturday night by the Rev. John Basham in King Memorial Methodist Church at Whitney.

Pink gladioli, greenery and pink tapers decorated the altar. Mrs. Glen Tidwell sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer" accompanied by Mrs. Olin Brayn, who also played the traditional wedding marches.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white satin in Chantilly lace styled with a fitted bodice. Her neckline was outlined with applique of lace medallions encrusted with seed pearls and paillettes. The skirt, designed with an overskirt of satin, ended in a chapel length train. She wore a veil of French illusion, which fell to fingertip length. The bridal bouquet was a white orchid nestled in feathered chrysanthemums.

Miss Barbara Shelley, maid of honor, and Miss Sue Hayes, bridesmaid, wore waltz length dresses of pink crystalene over taffeta and matching picture hats of velvet. They carried pink carnations.

Candle-lighters were Pauline Layne of Idalou and Sandra Triplett of Texas City. Nancy James of Houston and Susan Reed of Lubbock were flower girls. Scottie Buie and Steve Grant were ring bearers.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a street-length dress of white French silk lace over bridal satin. ### Today's MEDITATION

The Upper Room

Behold, God is my salvation; I will trust, and not be afraid. (Isaiah 12:2.)

Fear and superstition, caused Indians of Southeast Venezuela to believe that their gods lived on top of a certain mountain. During thunderstorms, lightning would strike this mountain. Later, engineers discovered that where the Indian gods were supposed to live was a mountain of iron ore. Today, steel companies have large mining operations at this mountain. The Indians have had to transfer their gods to another place.

Fear and superstition can cause us to look just as unsoundly upon what we cannot understand as the Venezuelan Indians looked upon that mountain. However, as Christians we can be spared such fears and doubts and superstitions, for we place our trust in God who revealed Himself in Jesus Christ. He is gracious. It is He who can give us the courage and strength we need in order to erase the fears of things we do not understand.

PRAYER

Dear God, we thank Thee that we can be spared foolish fears and superstitions as we place our trust in Thee. Use us, our Father, to show others Thy love that they, too, may not fear those things they do not understand. We ask this in the name of Jesus. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
"As we realize the presence of the Lord, fear gives place to faith."

Wilson Opens With Amherst

Wilson Mustangs, operating under a new coach, Rick Spinks, former Texas Tech athlete, and last year's assistant, Grover Watkins, open their 1956 football season tonight at home in their new stadium with Amherst.

Steel, concrete and wooden bleachers have been erected since last season, and the playing field is in fine shape for the season.

The Mustangs were district and bi-district champions last season in Class B, losing out to Matador for the Regional title for their only loss of the season.

Wilson lost heavily last year, and will have a hard time replacing some of the boys, including Mutt Bruedigam, one of the outstanding backs of West Texas, who is now at Tech on an athletic scholarship. However, nine lettermen and a lot of squadmen are back this year.

Kenneth Hanes 120, and Jack Dokken, 165, both juniors, are seeking the quarterback slot left vacant by Bruedigam.

Other possible starters include: Ends, Larry Maeker, 155, senior; and "Butch" Behrend, 150, senior.

Tackles, Jack Spears, 190, senior, Ed Eakin, 165, junior; and Donald Gryder, 165, junior.

Guards, Bruce Hewlett, 160, senior; and Ronald Moerbe, 160, senior.

Center, Arlis Ehlers, 160, junior.

Halfbacks, Dan Lamb, 155, senior; and Kenneth Ethridge, 160, junior.

In the finals Mrs. Elliott won over Mary Joe Hardy four to three.

She will receive a trophy declaring her championship of the tournament in the near future.

Coach Hubert Williams faced a tough job last year in building a team from inexperienced material that had to meet some very rough competition in Class B play. This year, he has hopes of doing much better in spite of the fact that several of the better boys were lost by graduation.

Also, another good boy, Robert Poer, has been lost because of a back injury.

However, he has six lettermen back this year on his squad that is small in numbers but contains some powerful boys.

The squad is made up of the following:

Seek Teachers Via TV Program

A program designed to recruit teachers and determine the possibilities of teacher education by television will begin Sept. 22 at 11:30 a. m. on Station KCB, Channel 11, Lubbock, and will continue for 13 weeks.

Those who have degrees, but have not had enough hours in education to secure a teachers certificate are eligible to enroll for the television course which is being sponsored by the Extension Department at Texas Tech.

Dr. Olive Wheeler of Texas Tech has been secured for the instructor during two series of programs, the first to begin Sept. 22, and the second beginning about Feb. 1.

Teachers or others who wish to obtain an emergency permit through this program should register with Dr. Morris Wallace, head of the Education Department at Texas Tech between Sept. 4 and 14. Registration will be held each morning. Late registration will be permitted until Oct. 1.

The 30 minute programs will consist of methods of teaching, etc. and will enable those to take the course to obtain a one year teaching certificate renewable for two more years.

How often we live our lives on good intentions. We intend to go see an old friend, a sick neighbor, etc. Sometimes on Sunday mornings we intend to go to church, but just don't quite make it.

We intend to be good parents and active civic workers. In short, we intend to be good people.

A thought expressed by Stephen Grellet shows us that intentions are not enough.

"I expect to pass through this world but once. Any good thing, therefore, that I can do, or any kindness I can show to any fellow human being, let me do it now. Let me not defer nor neglect it, for I shall not pass this way again."

Now that we have all returned from our vacations, there is one thing we have learned. Road maps give us all the information that we need except how to fold them back up.

Ray Shaver . . .

 ing which will be held in Texas this year for the first time. It is scheduled for Houston, October 21-25.

Shaver was first employed by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service as county agent of Lynn County. He served in this capacity from 1929 until 1932 when he left the Service to become associated with the Texas Board of Control. In 1941, he was named assistant farm manager at A & M College and in 1943 returned to the Extension Service when he was named county agent for Bandera county. In 1945, he was transferred to Sutton county and in 1949 to his present position.

During his Extension employment Shaver has directed a strong 4-H program in each of the counties he has served. Through demonstrations, he has also introduced practices which have made for more efficient farm and ranch production. He has especially pushed programs dealing with soil and water conservation. During the time he served in Lynn county approximately 40,000 acres of cropland was either terraced or contourd.

Outstanding contributions in the 4-H field have been chalked up in each of the counties where Shaver has served. While in Lynn county, George Wells, one of his 4-H demonstrators, won top state honors and a trip to National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago.

In Bandera county, 4-H Club work again received major attention and he helped start a junior goat show which was open to late-wide competition. Sutton county 4-H boys, as a result of their training in lamb feeding and fitting and showing, established a state-wide reputation by being consistent winners at shows which included the annual Wool Show held at Sonora.

Following his interest in soil and water conservation, Shaver has trained five district winning 4-H grass identification teams in Comal county. In all his 4-H work he has emphasized the development of boys into useful and well-rounded citizens.

The Distinguished Service winner has worked closely with adult organizations in each of the counties to promote the improvement of major agricultural enterprises. Improved methods and practices for increasing production and efficiency of crop and livestock programs have been introduced.

Shaver is a native of Toler, Hood county. He attended John Tarleton State College before enrolling at Texas A & M College where he received a B. S. degree in dairy husbandry. He holds membership in several organizations including the Texas County Agricultural Agents Association and two general farm organizations.

Mr. and Mrs. Harley Henderson are beginning an addition to their home on North 1st street. They are adding on a living and dining room, kitchen and service porch, and will completely remodel the interior of the present house.

Mrs. S. E. Holsenbeck of Lubbock and Mrs. M. C. Lee, mother and sister, respectively, of Mrs. Othell Meeks of Tahoka, and Mrs. Lee's two children visited here Monday and Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. Meeks and son. Mrs. Lee had just returned from Chicago, where she has been with her husband stationed there in the Army. Mrs. Holsenbeck had gone to Chicago by bus two weeks ago and accompanied Mrs. Lee home.

Richard Moore of Houston was here over the week end visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Moore. A former student of the University of Houston, he is now working for the Southern Pacific Railroad.

Cotton Research Gains Ground

College Station, Sept. 6—Seems there is no end to where cotton may go as a modern textile, with serious efforts being made to improve its quality and markets.

The latest study to be announced deals with how cotton is affected by radiation. The work will be done at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology this fall, reports the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Under a contract recently signed with the Department, M. I. T. scientists will seek to learn whether atomic or electrically-generated radiation can be used to make useful new textile products from cotton or to improve the value of cotton in its present uses.

Among the things to be studied are the effect of radiation on the durability of cotton, its strength, elasticity, and ability to absorb dyes. Cotton has already been much improved for certain uses by treatment with various chemical. How radiation will affect these chemical treatments will also be studied under the M. I. T. contract.

Edward Noble Rotary Speaker

Edward Noble of O'Donnell, student in Texas Tech, told Tahoka Rotarians Thursday of last week of his summer of travels in 11 nations of Europe.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Mack Noble, he made the trip with a group of Tech students taking the European History Field Course under Dr. C. D. Eaves. They flew to and from Europe from New York City, and used various means of transportation while on the continent.

In his rapid-fire talk, he presented a graphic description of the countries visited, each of which impressed him deeply from scenic, historic, and cultural angles.

He was impressed by the beautiful green countrysides in Scotland and England; the hospitality shown by English people; in London, Westminster Abbey, the crypt of kings and queens; St. Paul's Cathedral, the burial place of famous Britons; Buckingham Palace, Windsor Castle, and Stratford-on-Avon, the home of Shakespeare, all picturesque, quaint, interesting, and beautiful.

He told of Amsterdam, Holland, the Zuider Zee, the Peace Palace built by Andrew Carnegie and government buildings at The Hague.

Next was Brussels, Belgium, and the Gothic architecture of the government buildings on the square, said to be the most beautiful in the world. He says the people of Brussels and environs speak French, while in other parts of the country, Flemish is the predominant language.

Next came Germany, Cologne he thought a tragic city, destroyed in the war, still much of it in rubble not cleared away, but now has many modern buildings, also. The great Cologne Cathedral the American bombers did their best to avoid, but it suffered some damage.

He steamed up the Rhine, with a German band on board the boat, through the colorful mountain country with grape vineyards on the hillsides and old castles on the pinacles.

Wilson thought Switzerland the best and most beautiful country in the world, with its neat mountain resorts, magnificent resort hotels, picturesque Lake Lucerne, and Swiss speak four languages, German, French, Italian, and Romansch, the nearest of modern languages to Latin. Next visit was Austria. He saw Salzburg, the birthplace of Mozart, the Hohenzollern castle, and Lintz, a beautiful city on the "blue" Danube and home of Fred Mauhart, Austrian now spending the summer with Tahoka Rotarians. He visited Vienna, popularly called "The City of My Dreams," once beautiful and now being rebuilt from war damage, and the Opera House, said to be the finest in the world, and famous St. Stephen's Cathedral.

He thought Venice, Italy, most on islands, the streets are waterways traveled by gondolas, while there are alleyways between imposing buildings traversed by foot. They saw St. Marks', the finest example of Byzantine architecture, and the influence of the Orient because of trade by sea over the centuries. They arrived on July 14, a religious holiday, and viewed a magnificent display of fireworks as a part of the observance.

In Rome, built on seven hills, they visited the Coliseum, Nero's palace, the Arch of Constantine, the Roman Forum with its old temples and government buildings, St. Peter's Cathedral, the largest in the world, and Vatican City. They also visited Naples, damaged in the war; Pompeii, ancient pleasure resort city destroyed by eruption of Mount Vesuvius in 64 A. D., partially restored; and

(By E. I. The Elder)

Following the close of the recent Democratic Convention in Chicago which nominated Adlai Stevenson of Illinois and Estes Kefauver of Tennessee as its candidates for President and Vice-President of the United States, I, in my feeble way, undertook to give this Convention quite a dressing-down for what it did and didn't do. This braying, fleet-footed, temperamental but lovable old Democratic Donkey seems to have been suffering from an attack of bad temper when that convention was held. He just ran roughshod over the South, kicked out of the window all the planks that the South furnished him to be placed in the party platform, frowned angrily and inenacably every time the South undertook to rub him down a bit, and seemingly tried to make the South understand that its delegates to the convention had gotten into the wrong stall.

Following that, the big old G. O. P. held its convention in San Francisco—the city of the Golden Gate, dense fogs, and near-by Alcatraz. We do not think that Alcatraz had any delegates in the Convention, however, as most of the old boys and gals there were really fine looking people. There were a few off-colored folks, but their only function seems to be to smile and look sweet and to sing sweetly, a racial characteristic. When platform building time came, we could not tell anything about it, for they kept it covered up; but when meal-time came they put a lot of sugar in Southern delegates' coffee and mixed a lot of soothing syrup in the more substantial pabulum.

By which we mean that the Republicans told the South, as the Democrats had done, that it must abolish Segregation of the white and colored pupils in the public schools; that it must submit to the integration of the races in schools, colleges, parks, on public conveyances and in all public places; that it must give Negroes "Equal Opportunities" with whites in all business institutions and places of employment; and some of the speakers before the convention strongly intimated that the Southern white people are backward, ignorant, narrow-minded, and even tyrannical in their treatment of the Negroes among them. In fact, they continually spoke as if all these charges, inferences, and institutions were well known and undisputed facts, and that the Republican party therefore must do something about it.

Now I wish to insist, and I wish that I could tell every one of them to his teeth—Republicans and Democrats alike—that it is the Northerners and the Easterners who ran these two conventions that are "ignorant" respecting the Southern Negroes and the character of their treatment by Southern Whites. While some unscrupulous Southern Whites do mistreat Negroes occasionally, yet the general run of white people here in the South treat the Negro better as a rule than he is treated in the North. There are unscrupulous and some of them—some of them, I said—make it a point to mistreat a Negro, a family of Negroes, and sometimes a whole Harlem of Negroes if he can see a few dollars for himself in the transaction or series of transactions, as the case may be. Yet, I want to tell some of you "holier-than-thou" guys in New York, Chicago, Boston, Detroit and Washington, D. C., that the Negro is treated remarkably well throughout the South as compared with the treatment that you give him in the North. We Southerners and the Negroes who live among us get along together most peaceable and just splendidly as a rule. We understand them and they understand us, and we scarcely ever have any racial troubles except when some member of the NAACP or some Great Convention of Republicans or Democrats so praises some member of the race that leaders among them here and there decide that it would be smart to insult some white person and proceed to do so. It is then that trouble follows. It was not an education that "Auntie Lucy" wanted when she applied to the University of Alabama for admission as a student; she merely wanted to raise a rough house at the behest of the NAACP. She could have gotten an "education" at any one of several high-standard Negro colleges in Alabama and other near-by Southern states. But I guess that she succeeded in accomplishing her purpose. She helped to stir up a lot of prejudice in the North against the South, and then went off and married an under-graduate Negro preacher without having done anything more about an "education."

I think that every Southern State in the Union has provided some educational institution of higher learning for Negroes. Some of these may not be as broad nor as thorough as they might have been but neither have they been as crowded with students as they might have been. The South is making progress in the education of the Negro, and most of the progressive white people of the South, I believe, favor better colleges and better public schools for the Negroes than they have ever had. But public education has always been a matter for the respective states to handle. Nearly every state in this Union has a state university and a state Normal or Teachers' College and all the Southern States have similar institutions for the Negroes, but the people of the Southern States feel that they are capable of handling this matter of public education within their own bounds respectively, and they resent the action of the Federal Government in "butting in" and demanding that the state and local authorities shall do this or do that or desist from doing this or doing that just to suit somebody in Washington.

Both at the Democratic Convention and the Republican Convention, speakers stressed it as the purpose of his party respectively to give to every person or to provide for every person equal opportunity with every other person regardless of race, color, or previous condition of servitude. Now I do not know whether these fellows were just giving expression to a high-sounding platitude for its oratorical effect or were just simply "ignorant." Did you know that in this life here on earth there is no such animal as "Equal Opportunities?" Thomas Jefferson said in the Declaration of Independence that "All men are born equal," but he did not mean that they were born with "Equal Opportunities." He enlarged and explained the statement by adding, "They have certain inalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness"—a true declaration that has overthrown kingdoms, set up countless courts of real justice, and practically revolutionized half the world.

But Thomas Jefferson had sense enough to know that there is no such thing as equal opportunity among men. There can not be for the reason that they are not equal in mental endowments, in natural intelligence, in their passions, in will power, in their respective environments, in racial characteristics, in the possession or inheritance of wealth, in the ability of the lack of ability to acquire wealth or station, in nearly everything that it takes to make up life. If you are still unconvinced I suggest that you look around you a bit, visit a hospital, a school, one of the settlements in your town over on the other side of the tracks, the main street of any city and the slums. What would you do as President, as Governor, or as a social worker to equalize the opportunities of the citizens of New York, for example? Or any other city made up of scores of nationalities, speaking different languages, having conflicting backgrounds. Yes, by the expenditure of great sums of money, you may mop up the slums, you may multiply and improve the schools, you may revolutionize living conditions "over across the tracks," all of which is within the range of possibilities and would be a commendable goal for any city to reach—but after you had done all that you would soon find that you had not brought equal opportunities to all men. Some would again sink into the cesspools of poverty and others would climb on up to the pinnacles of glittering prosperity and wealth. And yet these political wisecracks continue to talk about bringing equal opportunities to the down-trodden Negroes of the South. Such Ignorance! or Demagoguery!

Well, I guess it is some of both. Those New Yorkers and New Englanders and Pennsylvanians and Washington evidently have seen enough of Harlem and the slums to know that it would be just as impossible to equalize the opportunities of the seven million inhabitants of the teeming metropolis as it would be to round up all the chiggers in Texas and then corral and brand them. They know too that it would be just as impossible to give equal opportunities to the Negroes of this country as it would be to perform either of the other miracles mentioned.

As for those Northwesterners, I am guessing that many of them never saw a Negro and know nothing about one or their ways of life. They are just about as competent to give advice to the people of the South regarding the race problem as an Eskimo would be qualified to advise President Eisenhower on how to win another World War.

In other words, the people of the Southern States do not believe that they need the help either of Northern Republicans or Northern Democrats in running their own public schools, colleges and universities. Furthermore they believe that the Supreme Court of the United States has usurped powers not granted it by the Constitution when it undertakes to adjudicate matters not coming within its jurisdiction. And no people likes to be coerced to obey a court decision that it believes to be unconstitutional and unfair. They think that the powers of the Supreme Court, in the light of what has been happening these past five years, should be limited and definitely defined by the Congress of these United States. There is one other criticism that I wish to make respecting the Republican Convention. It adopted a platform but nobody but the platform committee and presumably a few of the other delegates to the Convention and probably the newspaper correspondents, knew what the platform was. It was not read to the Convention. It was adopted by the Convention without having heard it read. The failure to read it before the Convention was surely not for the lack of time; for the Convention had lots of time to kill in waiting for the President and the Vice-President to be nominated. Surely the leaders did not think that the delegates were incompetent to rightly understand the instrument. Surely the reading of it was omitted for fear that somebody would offer amendments and cause hasty debates. Possibly the delegates were there to nominate a candidate and were bent on nominating President Eisenhower regardless of the verbiage of the platform. Eisenhower himself was the platform. He surely was; if wild and prolonged demonstrations which broke loose every time he approached the Convention hall are any criterion. Frequent and enthusiastic also were the outbursts of applause that greeted the name of Vice-President Richard Nixon of California every time his name was called. After having heard and seen the television reports of each of these two conventions, the Democratic and the Republican, it is my opinion that the Republican candidates will be elected over the Democratic candidates by sweeping majorities, unless something happens between now and election day in November to turn the tide.

Now, I want to give some of the reasons for the conclusion which I have reached. First: Not only is President Eisenhower a smoother and more pleasing speaker than Adlai Stevenson, but he is a recognized world leader and doubtless knows more about international affairs and world problems at this moment than Stevenson will ever know even if he should serve as long as Delano Roosevelt and Harry Truman combined.

Second: In his public appearances, he impresses one that he is willing and anxious to listen to the viewpoint of other able and unbiased men regardless of their party affiliations. Thus the people believe devotedly in his sincerity and honesty.

And thirdly: He impresses one as being a Christian Gentleman. He will not stoop to use vulgarity or profanity in his public addresses. I am not insinuating that his opponent does this either; but it was a characteristic trait of his predecessor in office, Harry Truman. President Eisenhower talks and acts in public like a Christian gentleman, and we believe that he is one.

Now, as to Vice-President Richard Nixon, he is a comparatively young man and has not had the political experience that many other Senators have had; but he is a man of pleasing address, an able speaker, and apparently a fitting running-mate for President Eisenhower. In my humble opinion he outshines Kefauver of Tennessee as a candidate for the Vice-Presidency as the North Star outshines the little meteor that shoots across the heavens and then fades away into eternal obscurity.

There are other reasons why I can not support the ticket nominated at Chicago. One of them is this: The Raw-Deal Democratic party has become more hostile toward the South than the Republican party has ever been since the days of the scalawags and the carpet-baggers. Ex-President Truman, whom Texans first helped most effectively in his rise to the position of Vice-President just before the death of President Roosevelt, has since gone out of his way to berate Texas and later to force integration down the throats of the Southern States, and is still doing so.

President Eisenhower, while averring that the decisions of the Supreme Court must be obeyed, has nevertheless taken the position that moderation should be used in putting the decisions respecting the white and colored races into effect, and that violence and bloodshed should be avoided.

Then Governor Langlie of Washington state delivered the Republican key-note speech; which was an able and thoughtful deliverance but not a rabble-rousing piece of oratory.

Senator Knowland of California delivered one of the most comprehensive and informative speeches that was heard during the entire convention. He greatly surprised some of us by making this significant statement: The more I study the Constitution of the United States, the more I believe in the doctrine of States' Rights." He also reminded the Convention that there are honest and patriotic Senators on both sides of the Senate Chamber, and he praised all these regardless of their party affiliation.

In fact there was not a single vitriolic, rabble-rousing speech made during the whole convention. Every speaker seemed to be using much care not to offend by harsh or intemperate remarks. That attitude was in keeping with the acceptance speech of President Eisenhower himself and it may have been inspired by suggestions from him.

I was about to forget to mention one important episode that occurred during the Convention. That was an address made by former President Herbert Hoover. Upon his appearance upon the platform, he was given a veritable ovation. Though he is now rather aged and decrepit, his address was generally pronounced a masterful effort, according to newspaper commentators comments which I overheard over the television.

Now this report may not please some of you people but I believe that it is substantially correct in every particular.

Possibly I will tell you about Stampede next week, the little Bell county community in which I came into this world kicking.

New Home Expects Big Cotton Crop

Boswell Edwards of New Home thinks that area of Lynn county will produce fully as much cotton this year as last. The two gins at New Home turned out about 14,000 bales last year, most of it from irrigated land.

Mr. Edwards, who is manager of New Home Gin Co., declares he has one of the best gins on the Plains. He has just recently completed work of installing new individual lint cleaners and new machines to remove sticks and green leaves from cotton.

Fred Roper of New Home says much of the irrigated cotton in his neighborhood was more badly damaged by fleahoppers than was believed earlier. In fact, he says his irrigated cotton will not make over a bale to the acre. However, he is proud of it after seeing some of the dry land crops east of town and elsewhere over the area.

Mrs. Ben W. Bailey of Abilene, sister of the late G. M. Hurrar, was here last week visiting her sister-in-law, Mrs. A. L. Solsbery.

"Mr. President"—State Fair Art Feature

B. L. Parker Attends Special School For Cattle Inspectors of Texas

Fort Worth, Sept 6—B. L. Parker, field inspector for the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association at Tahoka, has recently completed a special school for field inspectors conducted by the Texas Department of Public Safety at Austin.

Parker, who represents the Association in a 9 county area surrounding Tahoka, holds a commission as a special Texas Ranger and is employed as a field inspector for the Association, which has a membership of 10,000 ranchers in the Southwest with headquarters at Fort Worth. The school was conducted by members of the staff of the Texas Department of Public Safety and designed to acquaint Association inspectors with the latest techniques in law enforcement work with particular emphasis on cattle theft work.

Methods of apprehending cattle thieves have changed considerably since the days of cattle rustling on the open range. The school gave Association inspectors a look at the Department of Public Safety's latest law enforcement procedures and is an example to the many services the Association is rendering to its membership and the cattle industry to keep cattle theft at a minimum.

Instructors at the school included Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., director of the department and leading members of his headquarters staff.

Subjects covered included criminal law and investigation, chemical aids to the investigator, criminal reports, firearms, toolmarks and plaster casts, finger printing, photography, scientific lie detection and interrogation.

As a field inspector in this area Parker's duties include checking cattle brands to determine ownership of cattle being moved; investigation of stray and stolen cattle reports and the apprehension of cattle thieves.

Parker's territory consists of the following counties: Borden, Dawson, Garza, Kent, Lynn, Mitchell, Scurry, Terry and Yoakum.

ELLIS BARNES

ELMER BLANKENSHIP

Leroy Davis of Grassland harvested his blue panic grass seed last week. This is the second cutting on this field this season. Leroy said the seed were ripe enough in seven weeks from the earlier cutting. He plans to water and see if it will make a third cutting of seed this season. This is the same field that was grazed early this spring. The blue panic was planted last year and produced the grazing and seed from the old grass plants. The first cutting was made from one watering and limited rainfall. Besides grazing and seed production blue panic grass improves the physical condition of the soil. Once stands are obtained blue panic remains for several years. So far no insect control is necessary. After stands are obtained very little cultivation is necessary.

Rye, wheat or other small grain may be planted on plowed land or in cotton land for wind erosion control. Some have adopted small grain seeders to cultivators and planted rye just behind the front cultivator sweeps the last cultivation. Last watering will secure stands. On dryland, rye may be planted in cotton middles by using adaptors to cultivators at about thirty pounds per acre with any rain this method has given satisfactory control of wind erosion.

The planting of Sesbania on Weldon Bailey's farm north west of Wilson is a little over six feet high and still making growth as Weldon is watering it now. Indications are that seed production will be good. Nitrogen fixing nodules continue to farm on the root system.
