STANDING ON THE CORNER

With P. J.

A man's Sunday self and his weekday self are like two halves of a round-trip ticket: not good if detached.—Lee H. Bristol Jr.

Talk about the weather! To say the least, we've had a variety. One day the sand blows and the next morning you wake up to ice (with just enough moisture to cover the ground). After two days of this wonderful bliss accompanied by dense fog, the sun peaks out from behind the heavy clouds that refuse to let the bottom fall out, and melts the ice before noon. By 3:00 p. m. the west wind is howling and the hopeful homemakers who thought they'd get a washing dry are rescuing it from the sand again. At 6:00 p. m. it is again cloudy and showers begin to fall. What happens next, we'll just have to wait and see. In the meantime, don't ever tell me that West Texas is uninteresting. It may be flat and timberless, but one thing for sure, there's suspense galore—with that word called "weather."

Man is still superior. A little monkey can only grow up to be a big monkey, a little pig can only grow up to be a big pig, but superior man, he can grow up to be either.—Scandal Sheet.

"Go West, young man, go West." That seems to be the motto of some Lynn county citizens these days. With the drought in the area, some are going far to the West, and some are only going a few miles. In fact, it seems that at least half of the people that are leaving here are going to Brownfield. They tell me a native Tahokan can now see as many people he knows there as he can on Sweet Street.

It's getting to be quite a joke around town, that when some of these farmers had their residences here they spent most of their time in Brownfield. However, now that they have moved over there, they are spending their time in Tahoka. That's okay, too—we don't want to lose them forever.

If I could know, when each day dies.

I had brought joy to tired eyes; If I could know, when falls each night,

I'd help to make some child's life bright;

If I could know, at set of sun, The fruit of some good deed I'd done;

I'd count my life of grander mould

Than if I'd simply gathered gold.—Edwin Carlile (Cont'd. On Back Page)

Large Crowd At Scouter Banquet

Scouters from over the Quana Parker District attended an annual banquet held here Thursday night of last week when Dr. J. Davis Armistead was the principal speaker.

Dr. Armistead heads an organization of more than 8,500 boys and men bringing the scouting program to cub age, scout age and explorer age boys in a 20-county area of the South Plains. In his talk, he lauded the Quana Parker District and its district chairman, J. C. Powell, on the progress made in 1956. During 1956 the district recruited and served more than 1,032 boys and over 400 adult leaders.

The district is composed of Yoakum, Terry, Lynn, Gaines, and Dawson counties with C. W. Tarter of Lamesa acting as council vice president and Donald Reese as district executive.

E. B. Galtner and E. W. Paterson were in charge of the banquet which was held in the school cafeteria.

Suit Pending On Mexican Labor

Three defendants filed a bond in Seminole Tuesday to move a suit involving the Loop Labor Cooperative, Mexican Nationals, and farmers to Federal Court in Lubbock. The case will be heard in the near future by Judge Joe Dooley.

The defendants are Ed McDonald, regional director of the Department of Labor, Roy L. Haynes, state assistant regional director, both of Dallas, and J. Y. Robertson of Big Spring, field representative of the department.

In the meantime, a temporary order restraining the Department of Labor from carrying out an order made on Jan. 18 which was handed down by District Judge Louis B. Reed is still in effect.

The order, issued by Ed McDonald, cancelled the Loop Labor Cooperative's right to contract Mexican Nationals and ordered the contracts of all Nationals cancelled and that they be returned to Mexico. The order also required farmers to pay three-fourths of the contract period.

A suit was filed by Calloway Huffaker, local attorney, and Harold Green, county attorney, on the behalf of the 65 Nationals; the Loop Cooperative, and about 30 farmers in Lynn, Gaines, Terry, and Yoakum counties.

The Nationals are now working on chicken projects and moving irrigation pipe on a six month contract. Although expiration dates vary, most of the contracts would run out about May 15.

Huffaker said that the Department of Labor issued the order on the basis that the Loop Cooperative violated a minor regulation last year.

He said that the suit will prove whether or not the Department has the authority to close down the co-op on this charge.

The suit was filed in district court in Gaines County and Judge Reed set a hearing for Tuesday in Seminole ordering the three defendants to be present. The men then filed the bond moving the case to Federal Court.

Acreage Reserve Work Complete

The committees have completed indexes for cotton farmers in Lynn County, and farm operators have been notified of payment rates established for Cotton Acreage Reserves on their farms.

The committee will be ready to start taking Cotton Acreage Reserve agreements Monday, Feb. 4, 1957, at the ASC office. Farmers may place a maximum of 10.0 acres or 30 percent, whichever is the larger, of their 1957 cotton allotment in the Acreage Reserve. If the farmer desires to place more than 30 percent in the acreage reserve, he may request an additional acreage on his agreement and if funds are available the final sign up date his request may be honored. The final date for signing acreage reserve agreements is March 1, 1957. 1957 Agreements may be modified or cancelled any time before March 1, 1957.

Mrs. Stevens Is Buried Sunday

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon for Mrs. D. A. Stevens, 77 years old, in the Church of Christ in Tahoka with Doyle Kelcy, minister, officiating. Burial was in Tahoka Cemetery.

Mrs. Stevens, who was a well known citizen of Lynn county having lived here 36 years, died last Friday, Jan. 25, at 7:45 a. m. in a Big Spring hospital. She had been ill for some time.

Born Oct. 25, 1879 in Alabama, she moved to Borden county in 1907. From there the Stevens came to Lynn county in 1921 and settled on a farm east of Tahoka. She was a member of the Tahoka Church of Christ.

Survivors include her husband; two sons, Curtis of Tahoka and T. C. of Casa Grande, Ariz; four daughters, Mrs. Thelma Ray of Post, Mrs. Audrey Finney, Tuscon, Ariz., Mrs. Lois Conrad, Tahoka, and Mrs. Ola Lee Gary, O'Donnell; one sister, Mrs. Maggie Kelly, Corpus Christi; eight grandchildren and 14 great grandchildren.

Cotton Growers Meeting Today

Two directors from Lynn county to the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., will be elected at a meeting of farmers and business men today, Friday, at 2:30 p. m. in the district court room.

Present directors are Wilmer Smith of New Home, representing the farmers, and Chas. A. Verner, Tahoka banker, representing the business men of the county.

Plains Cotton Growers was organized last year, and already has accomplished much in promoting Plains cotton interests. Long maligned and neglected, Plains short staple cotton has a big place in the nation's economy. The organization, under direction of an experienced cotton man, George Pfeiffenberger, who is well known over the nation among all branches of the cotton trade and industry, is setting out on a program of promotion and research that is already paying off.

Both farmers and business men are asked to join the organization for their own personal good.

March of Dimes Nearing Goal

The Mother's March held last night here was expected to bring the total of Tahoka's contribution to the March of Dimes up to the goal of $1,500.

The total contributions reported to C. W. Conway, county and Tahoka chairman, is $2044, and this amount only includes Tahoka and O'Donnell. The New Home, Wilson and Grassland communities have not turned in their reports. The goal for Lynn county is $4027, Conway said.

Up to this time only $869.05 has been turned in to Conway from donations and money-making projects in Tahoka. O'Donnell, however, has raised a total of $1,175, just a little under its $1,300 goal. John Ellis, O'Donnell chairman, states that $600 was cleared at the talent show held there.

Tahoka's present total, a little more than half of the quota, does not include the Mothers March, the iron lung containers, the dime cards, the crutch sales, the telephone operator's project, or the church collections, Conway said.

The auction sale held in the school gymnasium Monday night netted the local drive $316; the coffee sales on Saturday at the local drug stores, Club Cafe and Turner Rogers Lockers, $42.86; the program sponsored by the Jayceeettes featuring the Serenaders, $56.25.

Conway said that he would like to express his appreciation to the drug stores and cafes that helped with the drive, and to Otis Spears and Jake Jacobs for the use of the gymnasium for the auction sale, and to all others who have helped in any way with the drive.

O'Donnell Show This Saturday

The 10th annual O'Donnell 4-H and FFA Livestock Show will be held here Saturday, when L. M. Hargrave of Texas Tech will be the judge, along with James O. Reed, vocational agriculture teacher in O'Donnell, and Bill Griffin, county agent.

Most classes of livestock will remain the same as in the past, but a few changes are expected to be made, according to the O'Donnell Index-Press.

Citizens and organizations of the community are being asked to assist in the show.

Mrs. S. M. Young was admitted to Tahoka Hospital Tuesday as a medical patient.

Champion Better Government Bills

Rep. John Lee of Kermit and Sen. Preston Smith of Lubbock, left to right above, were among the first of many Texas legislators to introduce one of the "Better Government" Bills sponsored by the Texas Press Association. TPA has prepared 15 Bills for legislative action. Each bill is designed to correct evils that exist in present Texas laws. "Had the TPA bills been in effect there would have been no veterans land or Duval County scandals," said Senator Smith. "Loopholes in present laws have made possible the scandalous events of the past few years, wherein public monies have been misappropriated," stated Representative Lee. The two legislators are urging the public to back them in their determination to effect passage of the TPA Legislation. Lee's bill is HB-58. Smith's bill is SB-55. Both bills are known as The Mandatory Publication Act. They do not create any new publication requirements. But they do call for removal from office of any public official who refuses to publish financial reports called for under existing laws.

Jimmy Sharp, six year old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Q. Sharp of New Home is in a Lubbock hospital following an accident in an electric shop in Lubbock when a display rack of chain hoists fell on him breaking his right knee, fracturing the left knee and lacerating his head. He had been released from the hospital the day before where he had been a patient since before Christmas suffering from yellow jaundice.

Little Moisture In Sleet, Mist

Tahoka received only .16 inch of moisture out of the mist and sleet of the past week, but the damp weather raised hopes for more moisture this year.

Most of the moisture came in the form of mist and sleet which fell Saturday night and morning, totaling .13. There had been traces of moisture on Thursday and Friday. Monday, .02 fell in the form of mist, and again on Wednesday, .01.

Trees and telephone and power lines iced up Saturday and Sunday. Power was disrupted when an REA line was shorted in the New Home area, which, in turn, threw out the Tahoka lines of Southwestern Public Service for about 45 minutes. Again on Monday morning, trouble in the Draw area also caused Tahoka power to go off a total of one hour and 25 minutes.

Two or three minor wrecks were reported in Tahoka as a result of ice-slick paving.

Cub Scouts Receive Awards Tuesday

Several Cub Scouts in Tahoka have received awards for achievements in their work in the past several weeks.

Although he was reported to be "doing pretty good" Tuesday night, he is expected to have a second operation in about a week. His wife and daughters, Mrs. Kenneth Turner and Mrs. O. C. Elliott, and a brother-in-law, Buck Barnes of Clovis are with him.

Fund Set Up For Hwy. 87 Project

Texas Highway Commission has appropriated $725,000.00 for the proposed new four-lane divided paving along US 87 from the Dawson county line west of O'Donnell to Tahoka, County Judge W. M. Mathis has been informed.

The fund will cover the grading structures and surfacing of an additional two lanes of paving approximately 15 miles in length, and also will include the widening and resurfacing of the existing two lanes of paving.

The Commission, which passed the order on Jan. 22, directed the State Engineer to proceed with the plans.

Lynn county must furnish the right-of-way for the new paving, and has encountered some "snags" in securing the same. However, the Commissioners' Court thinks the right-of-way will be secured in time.

Spur Is Winner Over Bulldogs

A cold Tahoka team was defeated Tuesday night by Spur 51 to 44, the first win in conference play for the opposing Bulldogs. Spur also won the girls game 28 to 22.

The game, played at Spur, saw the hosts dominate the snow-buried field from the first quarter when it ended 14 to 8. Again in the second quarter, Tahoka was unable to get started and was outplayed with the score standing at 27 to 16 at halftime. The local Bulldogs finally came unhit in the fourth quarter to out score the Spur team by five points, but the margin was too wide to overcome.

Max Gabriel was high point man with 18 for Spur with Robert Beeson making 14. Jerry Brown scored 17 points for Tahoka and Marion Hawthorne sank 11.

In the girls game Charlene Simpson and Nell Smith each made 14 points for Spur. Mary Belle Wood made 10 for Tahoka.

On Tuesday night the Abernathy Antelopes come to Tahoka for boys and girls game.

Tahoka took a shellacking from Floydada by a score of 78 to 48 but defeated the Antelopes 66 to 53. However, the Whirlwinds had a hard time with Abernathy winning the game in an overtime.

Floydada almost has the district title clinched, remaining undefeated in conference play. The team has run through its opponents this year with speed, accuracy and fancy ball-handling, which has made it a smooth-working unit.

Tahoka's record now stands at three wins and four losses. Lockney, Abernathy, Slaton and Post have all lost three games each, and Spur has lost six.

Taboka Winner Over Lockney

In a game with Tahoka and Lockney exchanging the lead many times, particularly in the third quarter, the locals took a fourth quarter spurt and defeated the visitors here last Thursday night 72 to 61.

Lockney hit 13 points to Tahoka's 8 in the first quarter, only to see the Bulldogs blitz the nets with 25 points in the second to lead the ballgame 23 to 26 at the half. In the third Tahoka took a good lead but soon lost it with Lockney trimming a nine-point margin. The lead changed hands several times but the quarter ended with Tahoka still controlling the ballgame, 50 to 45.

Jerry Brown led the scoring attack with 31 points making 100 percent at the free throw line, while Jay Gurley hit for 17 and Marion Hawthorne made 13. Roy Kidd made 19 points for the visitors and Morris Meriwether made 15.

The girls led to Lockney 51 to 40 with Widener making 36 of the opponent's points. Mary Belle Wood made 22 points for the losers.

The eighth grade girls lost a close game to Post 28 to 26 to put them out of the tournament. Frank Greenhouse led Tahoka with 24 points against the Fremship Tigers, for which Stapleton made 18. Johnny Stewart, Alton Terry and Buddy Chestnut also contributed to Tahoka's win in the scoring.

Lynn Farmer Is Sold on Sesame As Substitute Crop For Maize

Weldon Bailey grew 43 acres of the "premier crop I ever saw" last year. It was Sesame. And when he harvested it, he liked it even better, for it grossed him about $320 an acre.

Bailey says this kind of statistics looks pretty good to him and other farmers on the Plains who must find a substitute for milo, which is no longer a consistent money-maker. Another thing about Sesame that appeals to this Lynn county farmer is the fact that his Sesame was threshed and out of the way before his custom harvest began.

A good conservative farmer, Bailey never tries to put cotton on the same ground two years running, and he makes a practice of planting all the soil-building crops he can work into his rotation cycle. He grew Sesame in a soil-building crop in 1956. He says the rotation of Sesame with cotton looks very promising. They are farmed very much alike and the land is worked clean. Vegetation doesn't grow up in Sesame like it does in grain sorghum.

He plans to plant about the same acreage this year, but looks forward to a heavier stand and will plant 1 3/4 pounds of seed to the acre.

"The Texas Sesame Seed Growers organization is certainly right about the three points they emphasize in telling us out here on the High Plains how to grow the best Sesame," Bailey said. "Thick stand, high fertility and plenty of water make the difference when your combine begins to roll. Last year I averaged 1,200 pounds per acre and I know that's considered pretty good, but I feel sure a heavier stand on my entire field would have brought my yield even higher."

Bailey started his Sesame crop by cutting the stalks remaining from his 1955 milo crop. Next he chiseled, and then he smoothed the land with tandem disc and listed it into 40-inch rows. His application of pre-planting irrigation water was heavy, for he feels this is his most important irrigation.

After watering, he knifed the beds so the soil would retain its moisture for planting.

Using rubber press wheels in the seed trench, he planted from 1 1/4 pounds to 1 3/4 pounds of seed per acre. His single regret later was that he did not plant the whole field at the higher rate. The smaller stalks of the thicker stands were easier to combine and produced more seed.

This relatively early planted Sesame was knifed twice, using rotary hoes. He said that it looked like the rotary hoe was "ruining" his Sesame both times the knife attachment was used, but that the next day the stalks were erect and pretty again. He cautions that the rotary hoe must be run very shallow to avoid digging up the small Sesame plants.

He hoed the 43 acres one time and later cultivated twice very lightly. He irrigated a total of four times—once before and three times after planting. The Sesame was irrigated the first time when it was about knee-high and soon after it started blooming. Two additional irrigations were spaced about a month apart, but for maximum production, he believes Sesame should be watered every three weeks.

Proper harvest is the most important part in growing Sesame. Bailey says. He tried cutting and bundling his Sesame with a two-row binder, but was unsatisfied and switched to a three-row binder with excellent results. He put only about 12 bundles to the shock, and as a result, his Sesame matured very rapidly in the shock. He started threshing October 6, only 12 days after the crop was cut and bundled. It took him about a week to do the combining with one man on the tractor and two feeding the combine. He was able to hold his total cost of production to only $29.50 per acre.

Bailey farms 220 acres of land five and one-half miles northwest of Wilson on the new Farm-to-Market Road 2192. Some of the land in this section south of Lubbock is short of irrigation water, but Bailey has good wells and does an excellent job of irrigating. He says his land lies so well, it waters almost perfectly.

He grew 127 bales of cotton on 92 acres, averaged 4,000 pounds of certified milo on 32 acres and 2,800 pounds of milo for grain on 20 acres. His 43 acres of Sesame cleaned out at 1,200 pounds per acre.

The dahlia is named for the Swedish botanist Dahl.

Lynn County Soil Conservation District News

ROY L. WILLIAMS ELLIS BARNES
O. E. TERRY W. L. (Cap) ROWE
 ELMER BLANKENSHIP

The soil moisture over most of the district is insufficient to do a good job of terracing but terraces have been run on the two farms. B. W. Baker, east of Wilson, is going to try approximately one mile and W. J. Greenwood, southeast of Draw laid out a system on one quarter section of approximately four miles.

Soil Conservation engineers assisted Meldon Leslie with furrow irrigation on his farm north east of Tahoka. New irrigation wells were located for the W. D. Green Estate near Wilson. F. W. Raney at Lakeview was assisted with furrow irrigation.

Several designs for the installation of underground pipe for irrigation were checked by SCS engineers and certifications made to the local ASC for government payments after systems are installed.

Requests for assistance on underground pipe were serviced by SCS personnel on the farms of Charlie Lichey, northeast of Carter's Store, on Byron Wright's farm northwest of Wilson, D. R. Mounser and W. V. Campbell, near Byron Wright's place, Morris Russell northeast of Lakeview, Willie Nieman, west of Petty, and Roy Blevens northeast of Petty.

A. T. Melugin and Garland Pennington are planning to install irrigation pipe for small wells.

Several farmers in the District are planning to plant perennial grasses for seed production. Fine seed such as blue panic that requires shallow planting, may be planted on the top of listed beds and watered up to a stand. Dry land planting have also been made by this method which permits the seed from becoming covered too deep with the first rain as would happen if planted in the furrow. Some farmers are watering established perennial grass soon after Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. George Morris and two sons, Allan and Andy spent last week end here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Wyatt. George is now with El Paso Natural Gas Company, and Nancy teaches physical education in Burgess High School in El Paso.

Problems and Objectives Set Out For County's Cotton Producers

(Fifth in a series of articles on Lynn county agriculture prepared by the County Building Committee and County Agent Bill Griffin.)

Problems, Solutions, Objectives Cotton

Problem: With competition for market with cotton and synthetic fiber declining prices, and cost price squeeze the need for higher production of quality cotton is a problem for the future of cotton.

1. Bacterial blight damages a large per cent of cotton in the County. A new blight resistant cotton will be available in 1957.

2. Production of cotton is lowered every year by early season insects. Experiment data proves that yields can be increased up to $50.00 gross per acre.

3. Losses in grade occur every year from poor handling of cotton from the field to the gin.

Solution: Conduct countywide educational program to encourage the use of improved methods to improve the quality of cotton.

Objectives: 1. To have 100 percent of farmers growing cotton resistant to diseases. 2. To increase spacing of dry land cotton. 3. To have a high per cent of farmers producing high quality cotton.

Grain Sorghums
Problem: With cotton acreage controls in effect a high per cent of acreage is devoted to grain sorghum production. Present varieties produce low yields. Available hybrids should improve production.

Solution: To conduct demonstration to provide information on possible production through the use of hybrids.

Objective: To have 90 percent of farmers producing hybrid sorghums.

Odds AND Ends

(By E. I. The Elder)

This week, Miss Ross is going to finish the story of the land of Mesopotamia—the land of ancient Babylon and Nineveh, and Bagdad, and Us of the Chaldees, from which Abram emigrated to lands far to the west, the land of Palestine, into which the hand of the Lord led him, as depicted in the Bible account of it. It seems strange indeed that this Mesopotamian land which was once inhabited by teeming millions of people and had within its borders two of the greatest and wealthiest cities in the world, which finally decayed and were buried beneath the desert sands, the land mainly becoming a barren waste, should now again, after thousands of years, spring up into centers of activity and of world interest by reason of the recently discovered and seemingly inexhaustible supplies of liquid wealth that lies beneath the surface. We are going to start with Miss Ross this week at the ancient city of Ur of the Chaldees, where Abram originated, and look at a word picture of that old town as Miss Ross saw it less than two decades ago. So now we quote:

Today on the barren plains near the ancient city of Ur, Abraham's old home, Arab girls may be seen drawing water from the wells as Rebekah was doing when Abraham's agent, Eliezer, found her, after Abraham had sent him to find a wife for Isaac. He was a wise agent, for he waited until the time of the evening when the women went out to draw water. Then he prayed to the Lord to direct him to the "damsel that thou has appointed for thy servant Isaac." And it came to pass before he had done, that behold Rebekah came out, and the damsel was very fair to look upon, and she went down to the well and filled her pitcher, and she let down her pitcher upon her hand and gave him to drink.

And Rebekah had a brother, Laban, and Laban ran out onto the man. And he said: "Come in, for I have prepared the house, and room for the camels." And the man came into the house, and there was set meat before him to eat. And he said, "I am Abraham's servant, and my master made me swear, saying go unto my kindred and take a wife unto my son. And now if ye will deal kindly and truly with my master, tell me."

Then Laban answered and said, "Behold, Rebekah is before thee, take her and go, and let her be thy master's son's wife." And they called Rebekah, and said unto her, "Wilt thou go with this man?" And she said, "I will go" and they went away with Rebekah and her nurse and they rode upon the camels, and followed the man. And the servant took Rebekah and went his way.

And Isaac went out to meditate in the field at the eventide; and he lifted up his eyes and saw, and behold, the camels were coming. And Rebekah lifted up her eyes, and when she saw Isaac she lighted off the camel.

And Isaac brought her into his mother Sarah's tent, and took Rebekah and she became his wife; and he loved her. And Isaac was comforted after his mother's death. (From Gen. 24).

Away out across the waste of this desolate, thirsty plain we came to the ruins of the Traditional Tower of Babel, a great mound of sand and brick. Was this the place where men, striving to get away from endless flatness of the country, and the floods of water, decided to build a "tower reaching unto Heaven?" (Gen. 11:1-9) And all they have left us is this heap of earth and a confusion of tongues, which so often hampers me when I travel to remote parts of the earth and desire to converse, with ease and intelligence, with the many interesting people about me.

But all is not ancient in this land of "Civilization's Birth." There is a young nation on the Euphrates, Iraq, which was admitted to membership in the League of Nations as an independent sovereign state on October 3, 1932. And it is attacking many of its problems with the vigor and spirit of a young nation.

To me one of the most interesting manifestations of this new order of things was the Government School for Girls in Bagdad under the direction of an American woman with Iraqi and Syrian young women on the teaching staff. We wandered down old narrow, dirty streets until we found the gate in the wall which led into the school buildings. They were built around a court and had several hundred girls enrolled from kindergarten up to and including a teachers' training course. As we entered, there seemed to be an unusual amount of excitement. Then one little girl cried out, "She has come! She has come, and she has a hat on too!" It developed that they were expecting the Queen to visit them that morning and when we arrived they thought that we were the Queen and her party, but the Queen had never been seen wearing a hat, hence the excitement.

The girls were very bright and attractive, many of them beautiful, and the young teachers were very keen and alert. Some of them had lived in New York, studying at Columbia and living in International House. One young Syrian teacher said that she had been waiting five years for her turn to come for her to be admitted to the United States, and she would wait five more if it were necessary. To her the United States was the "Promised Land." How she idealized us! I could not help but pray might still feel ours was the country of opportunity she had longed for and expected.

That ends Miss Ross' charming story of the ancient land of Mesopotamia.

Iraq, as the world now knows, contains some of the richest oil fields to be found anywhere. Wouldn't it be tragic for all that country to come into the possession of Godless, Communist Russia, and for it eventually to be made another hot-bed of Communism. We hope and trust that it may never be so.

Rural Mail Carrier Retires From Service

Sam Fain of Chico, former rural mail carrier on Route 1 here, is retiring on February 1st after 41 years in the Postal service, according to W. A. Reddell.

Mr. Fain, who is 70, carried the mail here from January 1, 1936, until about the middle of 1937, when he traded his route here with Mr. Reddell, who was then carrying the mail of Chico. Mr. Fain started in Dallas as a city carrier, went from there to California, and from that state to Texas.

Mr. Reddell has been a rural mail carrier for 37 years, 20 of them on Route 1, Tahoka. He started at Chico in the horse and buggy days. He says he is flirting with the idea of retiring at the end of 40 years service, in 1960, but may continue in the harness until he is 70.

H. A. Roddy, route 2 carrier, has also been in the service 37 years, having started as a clerk. D. C. Carroll, route 3 carrier, has been on the job nearly as long, having started in 1921.

The route 5 carrier, A. C. Weaver, has about 26 years service. Lester Strech recently was appointed, temporary carrier on route 4, succeeding George Reid, deceased.

Today's MEDITATION

from The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

The Upper Room

© THE UPPER ROOM, NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE

We are his workmanship, created in Christ Jesus unto good works. (Ephesians 2:10.)

With reference to word workmanship one translator points out that the word in Greek is pot-ema, meaning "poem," a thing made. In other words, we are God's handiwork, God's poems.

Words do not make poetry but poets do. Before God's Spirit can make poems out of us, we must be as ready to be put to use as the words in our language are. At the call of the poet, they leave their common, ordinary usage, and are transformed into the lovely beauty of a poem, "written not with ink, but with the Spirit of the living God."

The skylark, the village blacksmith, the marshes of Glynn—who would remember these but for the poems which immortalize them?

If we are to be worth anything in eternity, we must be as pliable in God's hands as words are in the poet's. Our lives will be a mere jumble of words without rhyme or reason unless we submit ourselves into His hands. Only then will He arrange them.

PRAYER

Dear God, we thank Thee that we do not need be selfmade men, but that Thou Thyself dost desire to refashion us according to Thy will. We pray Thee to make plain Thy will for us, and grant that we may allow Thee to use us according to Thy will and purpose. In Jesus' name. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Am I letting God make a poem of me?
Warren C. Marx (Honduras).

Seedling Trees Now Available

Farmers may secure seedling trees for farmstead plantings at a minimum of costs, according to County Agent Bill Griffin.

These trees are furnished by the Texas Forest Service through the Extension Service, and may be had for $1.50 per 100. Available to farmers are Arizona cypress, red cedar, honey locust, and ponderosa-pine. Any farmer desiring such trees should fill in an order blank before March 1 at the office of the County Agent. The trees will be shipped from Aito, Texas.

P. T. Barnum sponsored Jenny Lind in her American debut.

Mrs. Billy Reecer is still a medical patient in Tahoka Hospital where she is showing improvement.

It costs Uncle Sam about one cent to make a dollar bill.

Duval 'Refugees' Cut Population By 43 Per Cent in Fifteen Years

By-FREDERICK HODGSON

SAN DIEGO, MEX.—In Duval County there has existed "an almost indestructible machine of theft, secrecy and terror." So states John Ben Shepperd, Attorney General of Texas.

If Shepperd is right it is any wonder that Duvalans flee to freedom through the Mesquite Curtain?

Between 1940 and 1955, inclusive, Duval County lost 43 per cent of her population.

In 1940 there were 20,565 people living in the County according to the U. S. Census.

By 1950 the population had dropped officially to 15,563.

By 1955 the population had dropped to an estimated 12,000, give or take a hundred or so either way.

This figure is based on a usually accurate barometer, on the school population which varies directly as the total population.

In 1950 there were 5,077 children attending public schools in Duval. By 1955 the number of children in school had dropped to 4,150, a loss of 927 in five years. The 1940 figure was 6,213.

All of the above figures are taken from the authoritative Texas Almanac—except the percentage.

Seven other Texas counties touch on the borders of Duval. These are Brooks, Jim Hogg, Jim Wells, Live Oak, Webb and McMullen.

All but two of these counties show population increases for the same period; the exceptions are Live Oak and tiny McMullen—and their losses are small.

In sharp contrast Brooks gained 44.5 per cent; Jim Wells, 33.3 per cent and Webb gained 22.3 per cent. These figures are for 1940-50. School population in these three counties between 1950 and 1955, indicating a proportionate population gain.

Ask a Parr proponent to explain the exodus from Duval and he has a ready answer, the long drought and the trend to the big cities.

It isn't explained how the drought affects Duval more than her seven neighbors.

Nor what big cities exist in those seven counties. The only "big city" is Webb's Laredo with an estimated 59,000 people.

There can be but one answer for the Duval exodus. Too many people found life there unpleasant, unbearable, unsafe or unprofitable. So they packed up their families and vanished.

I was sitting in a restaurant in Jourdan, the Atascosa county town, when a man came over and wanted to know what was going on at the courthouse. He thought I was a lawyer, and visiting lawyers are celebrities in Jourdan.

I told him that Judge Barrow was hearing a case having to do with Parr's 55,711-acre Dobie Ranch.

"Use'ta live in San Diego one't," the man said.

I asked him why he left the place.

"Couldn't raise my kids there proper," he said. "I got beatened up one't and we didn't want our kids to see their daddy get beatened up."

When I pulled out my note book to jot down his name the man added this: "Nope, Nope, I got a married sister still livin' there."

The list of people forced to leave Duval County for one reason or another, frightened out or ordered out, is as long as your arm, people whose names are on the record.

Let's consider a speech by Ricardo Barton, wealthy Duval and Jim Wells rancher, former Parr stalwart and now a foe of the Machine.

It takes courage to face up to one's past and obey the dictates of conscience. Barton, over the protests of his fearful family, showed up at an anti-Parr election rally and made a speech. This, in part, is what he said:

"I've been with the Duke in stealing from the school kids... Sixteen years ago Parr ran my own brother out of the county... I want you all to know the truth about the Possum (the Latin's nickname for Parr; El Tlacuache—the Possum) even if I have to go to prison for it."

The exodus is not only from Duval. People are deserting the Parr camp in droves.

Most important of the defections, of course, is the present District Judge C. Woodrow Laughlin, a former Parr man who was once unceremoniously ousted from office by the Texas Supreme Court. Duval County Judge Dan Tobin is another. Yet another is Manuel Marroquin, now editor of the anti-Parr bilingual tabloid newspaper "New Duval."

Marroquin, the man described by Assistant Attorney General Sidney Chandler as having "more intestinal fortitude than any other man in the county," gives an interesting sidelight on the Duke of Duval—and it's by the sidelights, the little things, that we understand people. Here's Marroquin's story, taken directly from a tape recording:

"I started to sell milk in my store and George Parr came in. I said 'George, will you do me a favor, take a bottle of milk and go outside with it, let people see you with it?'"

"George said to me, he said 'Meme'—he always called me Meme, that's short for Manuel you know—he said 'Meme, you know I don't drink milk' and he started to go out."

"I said, 'George, I know you don't drink milk but if people see you with my milk they'll buy it from me.'"

"He said, 'Sure, Meme, give me a bottle of milk.'"

"And I said, 'I won't charge you anything.' He put the money down anyway and I said 'If you want to throw the bottle away after the people see you with it, then throw it away. Just let the people see you with my milk and they'll buy my milk.'"

"He went out of my store and held up the bottle of milk and he waved it and before he got in his car he told everybody what fine milk I had. And he waved the bottle of milk out of the window of his car after he got in his car and drove off."

"For three days everybody in San Diego buys my milk. Everybody in San Diego's drinking milk, then... Wham! Nobody at all buys my milk. I had all my milk and it went bad. I lost plenty of money. You know what that blanket blank so and so did? His pistoleros found out they could make money with milk so George gave the milk business to a deputy sheriff."

"If that isn't a whimsical switch on old-style Bossism I'd like to know what it is. If the men who bossed Chicago in the days of Al Capone ever hear of it they'll be doing a derish act in their graves. Milk!"

Later Marroquin...

tilla bakery. Parr put him out of business.

Marroquin today is one of the Duval emigres. The five members of the Marroquin family have helped swell the census of neighboring counties in the Duval County.

"Meme," with his Winchester always at the ready, lives just across the county line on Highway 44.

Take the case of another refugee, Jose Serna, brother of Donato Serna, now the Duval County auditor. Jose owned a cafe in San Diego—and incurred the displeasure of the Boss. Here's how Donato tells the story:

"George Parr drove my brother out of the County, out of San Diego. Deputy sheriffs blocked the entrance to his place of business. They'd arrest customers who had one beer and charge them with drunken driving whether they owned automobiles or not. They didn't press any charges, just scared them so they wouldn't go in my brother's place any more."

"I went across the street with a loaded camera to take a picture for evidence and George Parr grabbed his pistol and ran across the street to me, cursing in Spanish. Tried to grab my camera. Amaya (Manuel Amaya, then deputy sheriff and now chief of police in San Diego) hit my camera with the barrel of his gun."

"Amaya said 'You're both (Donato and Jose) under arrest. Get in that car. We got in and I said 'All right, arrest me but don't hit me.' They took us to the courthouse. George put his gun in its holster and hit me hard on the head with a five-cell flashlight. I sat down on the jailer's bunk. He was beating me up when Amaya took the flashlight away from him. Amaya put the camera on the table and they tore it to pieces. Then George told us 'Get the hell out of here.' We went."

Donato Serna stayed in Duval to fight.

In Duval these days a man either fights for Parr or fights against him. The days of "inactive subversion" are over. In Duval it's physically impossible to sit on your hands and straddle the fence at one and the same time.

I first heard that term "inactive subversion" a couple of weeks ago in Austin as I sat and talked about Duval with John Ben Shepperd, who knows more about the county, probably, than any other person outside the immediate vicinity.

Shepperd's knowledge has grown out of his early, underground visits to Duval back in 1953, when he waited in a dark ranch house to talk with anti-Parr citizens who he said came stealing out of the bushes in the dark after parking their cars a mile away. Sometimes, he tells, they changed cars two or three times on the way to the rendezvous to keep from being followed by Parr men.

Months of this undercover investigation gave Shepperd enough information to sustain a frontal attack on the stronghold of Parr.

When the Parr dictatorship was first batted down on Duval, consolidating itself into "an almost indestructible machine of theft, secrecy and terror," the people were ignorant, miserable, exploited and politically inexperienced. Perhaps, they cannot be blamed for letting themselves get caught in the coils. Today they're still miserable, still exploited and the illiteracy rate is among the very highest in the State of Texas. But they've had political experience thrust upon them.

Quien sabe? Who knows, perhaps with upsurge of real democracy in the county that catastrophic population drop will be halted, even reversed.

Thanks to men like Serna, and Marroquin, and Shepperd and many, many others, Duval may yet come into its own.

Haney's Brother Dies At Roscoe

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Haney attended funeral services in Roscoe Monday for his brother, Barna Haney, who died at his home Sunday. He had been ill for several months and apparently died from a heart attack. He was known by many in Tahoka.

Barna Haney, 69 years old, was a druggist in Roscoe for about 30 years. He moved to Roscoe in 1905 from Bell County and was a member of the First Methodist Church, where services were conducted by Rev. Cecil Ottinger, pastor, and Rev. A. L. Sullivan, pastor of the First Baptist Church. Burial was in Roscoe Cemetery.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. W. D. Haney of Roscoe; one son, William of Roscoe; one daughter, Mrs. Julia Garland of Odessa; six brothers, L. C. of Tahoka, Dr. Fred of Houston, Hark, Bryan, D. V. and Russell, all of Roscoe, and five grandchildren.
