STANDING ON THE CORNER

With P. J.

Today is the World Day of Prayer when Christian people all over the earth are kneeling together asking God's blessings upon missions, both home and foreign.

Whether or not you attend a service for prayer today, find time during your hectic and busy hours to turn your mind toward God and his work.

The most meaningful time of the year, the Lenten season, began Wednesday. The next seven weeks preceding Easter is the time Christian people prepare themselves for observing the crucifixion and resurrection of Jesus Christ.

Some observe the weeks by fasting, others by denying themselves a luxury, others by constant prayer and meditation. Any way you do it, the season will bless the life that yearns to live closer to God.

One of Tahoka's sons made the news in reviews of his acting ability in New York recently.

Gerald Wayne Tippit, billed Wayne Tippit, is now climbing the ladder to Broadway, Hollywood, or television. He has been playing the part of the Seven Deadly Sins in Christopher Marlowe's "Doctor Faustus" with the Blackfriars Guild in the big town. His reviews from the New York Post, New York Daily Mirror, and New York Times are very good and a Warner Bros. producer said he was the superior male performer in the production.

Two weeks ago Gerald Wayne appeared on a live television program, Omnibus, on Sunday afternoon, but unfortunately the Lubbock stations no longer carry it.

Gerald Wayne says he's ecstatically happy. He has several jobs on hook, including summer stock on Long Island this summer, and (Cont'd. On Back Page)

Smith Is Elected Rotary Head

W. E. (Happy) Smith, local postmaster, was elected president of Tahoka Rotary Club at a meeting of club directors Thursday of last week at the regular rotary luncheon. He will succeed Johnny Reasonover, who will automatically become vice president, and take office on July 1.

W. M. Mathis was re-elected secretary but says he will be forced to decline. New directors are Happy Smith and Mitchell Williams, who succeed Harold Green and Dr. Skiles Thomas.

Bill Griffin, county agent, discussed the Stock Show, which has been sponsored for 11 years by the Rotary Club and the Chamber of Commerce.

He declared the local show is one of the biggest county shows in Texas, with about 350 boys feeding stock projects for the show.

He emphasized the work that the boys put into their projects. He said the boys not only learn a lot of things about livestock by the program, but it helps in other ways to make better men of our boys.

A program started at a previous meeting was completed at this one. Program Chairman Ronald Sherrill had the remaining past presidents tell some of the highlights of their terms of office. Those talking briefly included Charles Townes, 1950-51 president; Tom Gill, 1952-53; Winston Wharton, 1953-54; Maurice Bray, 1954-55; and Harold Green, 1955-1956.

Junior Rotarians for the month Hilton Wood and Lynn Strickland were introduced by Hubert Eudy and Dean Taylor, respectively.

Coach Bill Haralson and C. W. Conway have been elected to membership in the club.

The Tahoka club continues its 100 percent attendance record, having gone seven months without miss.

Denver Ford of Tahoka Is Winner In State 4-H Club Cotton Contest

College Station, March 7—Denver Ford of Route 3, Tahoka, is one of six Texas 4-H Club members named 1956 state winners of the Anderson, Clayton Cotton Scholarship program, according to Floyd Lynch, state 4-H leader.

Ford, a junior student at Tahoka High School, will receive a $200 college scholarship from the Anderson, Clayton Company of Houston. The contest is supervised by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said Lynch.

The 16-year-old 4-H'er is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Ford and is president of the County-Wide 4-H Club of Tahoka.

"Denver is an outstanding 4-H member," says County Agent W. B. Griffin. "He is quick to accept new methods and practices which will improve his farming program."

Ford began land preparation for his cotton during the winter months by listing and afterwards chiseling in the furrow. His land was knifed twice before planting. Planting of the Sam Little Mebane seed was delayed considerably due to lack of moisture.

"I had some trouble with Mother Nature," Ford says. "Hail damage 21 days after planting forced me to replant all but eight acres. My five-acre project was taken from that eight acres."

"My poisoning was done with 3-10-0 dust at the rate of 20 pounds per acre for boll worms and cabbage loopers," Ford relates, "and I laid my crop by on the 21st of August after the fourth cultivation. My average yield was 432 pounds an acre."

Entomology has played a big part in Ford's life! He was high individual at the 1956 State Entomology Contest where he was awarded a wrist watch and gold medal for the achievement. He was high man in the district contest two successive years and received the County Entomology Award in 1956. Ford is making tentative plans to enter this field when he begins his college work.

The 1956 County Gold Star winner, is quite a showman too. Ford showed the 1954 District 4-H Champion Searx Boar and has also taken top honors in county and district litter contests.

Food Needed By Welfare Center

The City Welfare Center badly needs food to take care of the families in Tahoka that desperately need help.

Boxes have been put in grocery stores and the frozen food locker where articles may be placed. Citizens are urged to comply with the request for food since there are several families that are now in circumstances that are beyond their control.

Case 1. A mother with a baby and a blind mother to care for. She cannot leave home to work. She badly needs canned milk for her baby and food for her mother and herself.

Case 2. A family with eight children. The father has not been able to obtain work so they must depend entirely upon what is given to them until they can go to the fields.

Case 3. A mother and six small children, who have been deserted by the father.

118 Soil Bank Contracts Signed

Of the $1,264,800 allocated Lynn county by the Government to buy Soil Bank Cotton acreage, only $323,269.00 has been applied for, according to Dee Green of the Local ASC office.

And, of this amount, only $125,687.60 has actually been tied up in contracts so far, with the remaining $197,581.40 being requests for additional acreage, which is optional with the farmer until March 14.

If the farmer does not come in August to the ASC office and amend his contract, the request for additional acreage will be automatically canceled.

The $125,687.60 represents payments in 118 contracts for a total of 4,817.6 acres, Mr. Green says. Lynn county has a cotton allotment of 190,569.2 acres.

Mrs. Ingle Injured In Car Accident

Mrs. C. R. Ingle of Norman, Okla., who had been visiting here all last week with her sons, was critically injured Sunday near Lubbock. She is in a Lubbock hospital with a crushed disc in her backbone and will be put in a cast. She and her husband were en route home.

A grandson, Gene Ingle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Ingle, was driving the car. They crossed a railroad, hit a dip, causing Mrs. Ingle to bounce in the car resulting in the fracture.

Mr. and Mrs. Ingle, who formerly lived here, had been visiting their sons, "Butch", Clifford, and Dayton and families.

Neighbors Plow Land For McKay

Neighbors of Louis McKay plowed 160 acres of his farm land near Draw Tuesday and Wednesday of last week. Ten tractors were used in the operation, which was arranged by Thedo Cook.

Mr. McKay received a serious back injury nearly three weeks ago when his car hit a slick place on the pavement during the recent rainy weather about nine miles north of Tahoka and overturned.

In the accident, he received a fracture of his back and is still in bed with the injury. He hopes to be up soon, but will be forced to wear a back brace.

Who knows, one of these days, Tahoka may bring out the banner and brass band for "home town boy makes good."

We know that Sonny and Dot Roberts having been making this column frequently, but then—a book could—almost be written about them.

Dot has been wanting her house painted and there's more than one way to skin a Texas Aggie. So someone takes a bucket of red paint and writes "Yea, Texas" all over the front of her house.

Needless to say, the house is now sporting a brand new coat of paint.

A vacuum cleaner salesman came to a farmhouse and wanted to demonstrate his product. He emptied a sack of dirt on the rug and said, "Lady, if this cleaner doesn't pick up all that dirt, I'll eat it." "Just a minute," answered the housewife, "I'll get a spoon. We don't have any electricity."

The other day one of Tahoka's business men (who prefers to re-business men saw a man who had been owing him some money for about a year. He rushed to his business, made out a statement and presented it to the man. Upon receiving the bill, the man asked, "What do you want me to do about it?" "Give me a check, please," was the reply.

"I wouldn't mind, except I don't usually pay other people's bills." The business man then turned as yellow and black as his station wagon.

From men's deeds emerge the printed words that keep the free world free.

Walter Gasper Second Place Winner In Soil Conservation Essay Event

(The following essay by Walter Gasper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gasper Sr., of New Home, won second place in the recent essay contest sponsored by Lynn County Soil Conservation District Board of Supervisors. Third place essay by Miss Sylvia Edwards of New Home will be published next week. First place winner was Miss Idalia Wood of Tahoka, and her essay was published last week.)

Youth's Stake In Soil Conservation

What is soil conservation? I believe it is the act of keeping our precious earth in good fertile condition for a more prosperous and happy tomorrow.

The "tomorrow" is where the youth of our nation enter the picture. The youth now will soon be the adults of this country and responsible for its welfare and prosperity. We, the youth of America, will reap the benefit in the future of soil conservation practiced today. So the people who should be the most interested in soil conservation is we, the youth, for we will receive much more good from it than any one else.

What can the youth do? First, we can talk to our parents and neighbors about soil conservation and try to get them enthused about it; try to get them to rotate crops, contour plow, and maybe put some land in the soil bank, or apply cotton hulls or fertilizer. Next we can work ourselves, by planting trees as windbreaks, keeping some kind of vegetation on the roadsides, and in general keeping things in order.

When settlers first came to America, they could always move West when the land wore out. We cannot do it now. We do not have any new land to move to. Quite a few years will pass before we will be able to live without soil. That is why the youth of our country must help practice soil conservation.

THANK YOU, FRIENDS!

We greatly appreciate our friends who were so kind to send cards, letters, and flowers while I was in the hospital. I am really glad to be home among friends and doing so well. Thank you, again! — R. W. Fenton Jr. and wife.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks to our many friends and to the hospital staff, for the prayers, lovely cards, flowers and the many acts of kindness shown during the illness and death of our mother and grandmother. — The Laura Hickerson family.

R. W. Fenton, Jr. Tells of Mayos

R. W. (Buster) Fenton, Jr., who recently returned from Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn., where he underwent two operations on his throat, is able to circulate around town and visit with and write notes to friends.

Although unable to talk, he hopes to learn to talk again, this time from his diaphragm. He will go back in a few weeks for further examination and consultation, but his doctors think his trouble has been entirely removed.

He was "carried away" with the Mayo organization. He says the Clinic has 375 specialists and 500 first class assistants, all of whom are picked from the medical schools and have to be tops in the field in which they majored. A total of 160,000 patients are handled a year.

The near-by Methodist Hospital has 16 operating rooms, and Saint Mary's, also adjoining the Clinic, has more than 30 operating rooms. There are 1,220 beds in the two hospitals. The new Clinic, built two years ago, is in a 10-story marble and aluminum building, and the old Clinic a block south is now used for the Medical Sciences. He thinks it is quite a place for anyone who needs to go to a specialist.

Odds and Ends

(By E. I. The Elder)

Last week I devoted this Column to a discussion of politics and near the beginning I undertook to state my own political philosophy, but I stated it with a lack of clarity that confused others, and in undertaking to correct my errors, type-setters and proof-readers only succeeded in adding one source of confusion to another. So, I am going to start this week by re-writing a small portion of the jumbled mass that came off the press in this Column last week. I tried to say that entirely different political machinery is used in the nomination of Democratic candidates for state offices from that which is used in the nomination of a Republican candidate for President, or a Democratic candidate for President either, as for that matter. Therefore Democrats entering state primary elections to nominate candidates for state offices do not thereby bind themselves in any event to vote either for or against the Republican nominee for President, and only inferentially do they bind themselves to vote for the Democratic nominee for President.

And it is my contention, as I tried to say, that when any citizen of the United States goes to the polls to vote, whatever his party affiliation may be, he should place his country above his party, and vote as his judgment and conscience dictate.

In that connection I stated that "the foundations of this Government are based on the dictum that all men, before the law, are free and equal, that the individual citizen is sovereign."

Then I showed clearly that when Thomas Jefferson wrote the Declaration of Independence and stated therein that "all men are created equal," he meant only that they were equal "before the law," that and no more. He did not mean that they were equal, socially. He did not mean that they were equal intellectually. He did not mean that all men are equal in point of character or personal characteristics. He did not mean that all men are equal racially. He knew that the Bushmen and the Hottentots of South and Central Africa, the head-hunting Dyaks of New Guinea, the naked cannibals of Borneo and other East Indies islands, cannibal tribes that formerly dwelt in the West India Islands, on the Texas coast, in Arizona and northern Mexico, and in many other places on the face of the earth were not equal, either socially, intellectually, or morally, as a rule, with any of the white nations of mankind. Jefferson simply meant that all men are created equal in the sense that all are entitled to be treated fairly and justly in so far as man-made laws are concerned. He meant that the Spaniard, the Frenchman, the Englishman, the German, the Russian, the Norwegian, the Swede, the Italian, the Egyptian, the Arab, the American Indian, the Negro, the Catholic, the Protestant, and the Jew, and every human being of whatever race or nationality should have equal rights in the courts of our country; that is, that every person accused of crime should have the right of trial by jury, the right to be faced in open court by his accusers, the right to call witnesses in his defense, the right to be represented by counsel, the right to an open public trial. No secret trial designed to bring about a conviction and that only, should ever be tolerated. Our courts should ever be courts of justice so far as the law and the wisdom of men could make them so.

That was a great doctrine that Thomas Jefferson announced. Furthermore, Thomas Jefferson was a "States Rights" advocate. He believed that power should remain in the hands of the people. Hence he believed in a high degree of local government; that all government above the local level, should be reserved very generally to the states; and that the Federal Government should have and exercise only such authority and powers as were clearly and specifically granted to it in a Constitution adopted by the States.

Some of us believe that is a mighty good doctrine yet.

But there is a vast and powerful element in this country now who seem to be bending every effort to destroy or at least overshadow the power of the states, and to increase and make all-powerful the authority and powers of the Federal Government on all the levels, even to the regulation of our affairs socially and to the operation of our local public schools.

This is a trend which has been powerfully augmented in recent years by the revolutionary decisions of the U. S. Supreme Court—decisions in which the Court has reversed its own decisions for a half century and more and thereby created confusion, dissension, and turmoil throughout all the traditionally Southern states and, to some extent, in other parts of the country.

Whether these decisions have been induced by benevolent and patriotic motives, or by the pressure of minority political groups, white or colored or both, or by a spirit of outright vengeance against the South, the damage done has been the same. Apparently, the

THE AMERICAN WAY

Supreme Court has deliberately undertaken to augment its own powers and the powers of the Federal Government as a whole at the expense of the rights of the states, and as most thoughtful Southerners believe, it has thereby usurped powers not granted to it by the Federal or the original State constitutions, but positively denied to it by these great instruments of fundamental law.

Now therefore it seems to me that the big fight for us to make now, is to regain these rights which the Supreme Court and the Federal Government have recently taken away from the States and to curb these encroachments by the Federal Government upon the pristine rights of States and of the citizens of the States, the people.

This is no fight against the Negroes. We dare say that the people of the South generally have a better understanding of the Negro and friendlier relationships with him than have the people of any Northern or Eastern state. In the South, the Negro naturally segregates himself. He prefers segregation in the schools and in the residential districts of the South to integration, as long as he is let alone. And while his educational opportunities in some portions of the South have not always been ideal, yet he has been given better opportunities educationally than he has found in any other part of our country, and he has made wonderful progress. In Harlem in New York City, we are told, the Negro lives in a vast area of degradation, poverty, and ignorance. Similar conditions are said to exist in Chicago and other Northern cities in which the Negro population is heavy. In several of these Northern cities, we are told that the Whites are moving out to the Suburbs, where few Negroes except house servants follow them, and leave the Negroes segregated down in the slums. We guess that not a single member of the U. S. Supreme Court lives in a segregated Negro district.

The Chief Justice of the Supreme Court comes from California, and one other member was reared, we believe, out in the state of Washington. We should like to see them shed their prejudices against the Chinese and the Japanese residing in the cities of Los Angeles and suburbs, San Francisco and suburbs, Seattle and suburbs and others cities along the Pacific coast, before they throw any more stones at the South.

If the Court please, we are for the colored people who live down here among us, at least as long as you keep your mischievous agitators, colored and white, on your side of the Potomac River.

Are you, too, losing
1 bale out of 7
needlessly?

If you are a typical cotton farmer, diseases are robbing you of one bale out of every seven! Yet it needn't be... for if you plant red-tinted, Panogenized seed (seed that is treated with Panogen liquid seed disinfectant), you stop diseases like seed decay, anthracnose, and rhizoctonia damping-off (sore-shin) ... which cause serious losses.

Normally, you can expect that seed which has been treated with liquid PANOGEN will give you up to 15% more bales, but agricultural college tests show that during cold, rainy periods, Panogenized seed gives 5 to 10 times more plants than untreated seed... and may mean the difference between a good stand and having to re-plant.

Cost is only a few cents an acre to have your seed Panogenized at your local custom seed processor's.

ROY L. WILLIAMS    ELLIS BARNES
O. E. TERRY        W. L. (Cap) ROWE
FLMER BLANKENSHIP

As has been pointed out before, the proper seedbed preparation and planting of the close drilled cover crops for Conservation Reserve seedings will largely determine the results of the grass planting for the following spring. The following outline may be of some help in the establishment of cover crops and planting perennial grasses.

I. Sorghum or cotton residue chiseled to make it effective. A. Re-chisel or use sweeps to control erosion if needed before seed growth starts. B. Change to sweeps and use as needed to control weeds until planting time.

II. Listed (with or without residues.) A. Re-list if needed to control wind erosion before seed growth starts. B. Use knife or sweep cultivation to control weeds until planting time. C. Use sweeps or harrow to level ridges for planting. D. Plant flat with grain drill or use twenty inch row planter.

III. Untilled with adequate residue to control wind erosion. A. Use chisel for first tillage if needed for wind erosion control or to increase infiltration. B. Use sweep tillage to control weeds until planting time. C. Plant with grain drill or twenty inch row equipment.

IV. Untilled sandy land with some accumulations. A. List deep enough to cover blow soil if possible. B. Re-list if needed for wind erosion control. C. Use knife or sweep cultivation of lister beds to control weeds until planting time. E. Plant with grain drill or twenty inch row equipment.

Where grain drills are not available, four-row equipment may be used for twenty inch row spacing. This will cause the tractor wheels to run on the first rows planted, when splitting back for twenty inch spacing. This should cause little damage. Replacing the regular lister bottoms with the small solid type would be helpful. Or replacing them with loose ground disk attachments for surface planting would be satisfactory. Single row ground driven units are available and can be set at the desired spacing on the tool bar.

The Board of Supervisors held their regular meeting March first and approved eleven Soil and Water Conservation Plans on the following farms: F. E. Redwine and Jack Fenton, east of Tahoka; also Jack Fenton's plan south of Petty; two farms of Dr. Leon Bromberg, southeast of Tahoka; Glenn Evans, southeast of Tahoka; J. A. Scott, east of Petty; J. W. Warrick, north of Gordon; Joe Beckham, west of Draw; J. V. Huddleston, east of Draw; and L. H. Moore, northwest of New Home.

Board members plan to attend the Regional Awards banquet in May for the Fort Worth Press awards to essay and District winners.

Cotton Growers Meeting Planned

Rep. Jamie L. Whitten, (D. Miss.) Chairman of the powerful House Agriculture Appropriations Committee, will make the keynote address at the annual meeting of the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., March 18 in Lubbock, Wilmer Smith, Lynn county Director, said today.

W. O. Fortenberry, President of the Plains Cotton Growers, told directors last week that Whitten had accepted an invitation to visit the South Plains and speak here. Whitten will speak on "The Farm Problem," at the afternoon session of the PCG annual meeting. Cotton producers and industry representatives from throughout the 23-county area served by the PCG will attend the annual meeting to be held in the Municipal Auditorium on Texas Tech campus.

The Mississippi Congressman played a major role in getting the present cotton export sales program at competitive prices passed and has always been interested and active in cotton legislation.

Whitten believes there should be no acreage restrictions in cotton and that farmers should be supported only on domestic sales based on history and be permitted to plant all the cotton acreage they wish for world market competition.

He has publicly stated that he believes U. S. agriculture is on the wrong road in reducing cotton acreage and he believes Sec. Benson's policy of lower prices has not increased the domestic consumption in this country, Fortenberry said.

The PCG annual meeting will begin at 11 a. m. March 18. In addition to Whitten's talk, Pres. Fortenberry will make a report on activities of the PCG to date and give a financial report.

George W. Pfeiffenberger, executive vice president, also will make a report and explain plans for the coming year. Another national speaker on cotton promotion will be in Lubbock for the meeting if arrangements can be worked out, Pfeiffenberger said.

Additional details of the annual meeting will be announced later, Pfeiffenberger said.

Broiler Price Outlook Bright

College Station—Texas broiler producers may be in for slightly higher prices than they received during the last quarter of 1956, say Poultry Marketing Specialists F. Z. Beanblossom and Kermit Schlab. But they warn the prices will be directly affected by several market conditions.

An expanding market can probably absorb any moderate supply increases, they point out, but add that 1957 red meat supplies are likely to be down slightly. Also, improved leadership in the broiler industry is attempting to bring supply and demand into balance during this year, conclude the specialists.

The nation's 1956 live broiler prices dropped 5.8 cents a pound below the 1955 average following a 17.34 percent increase of chicks placed on farms, according to Beanblossom. Rate of placement increases in Texas topped the nation during the first three-quarters of 1956, but fell off more rapidly during the last quarter. Over 8 percent of all broiler chicks placed in the U. S. during 1956 were placed in Texas, he adds.

Schlamb says national efforts to curtail the number of eggs set for broilers by voluntary reduction were successful during the first week of December. Effects of the short-term reduction on broiler prices to producers, however, remain to be seen, says the specialist.

Broilers produced 89 percent of the nation's total chicken supply in 1956—a 27 percent increase over 1950 figures, according to USDA Outlook material. Cold storage broiler holdings are up from 1955 levels and Outlook figures also state that a lower percent of broilers were sold in frozen form during 1956 than any other class of poultry.

Since 1911 a total of 21,166,990 merit badges were earned by the Boy Scouts of America.

3,475 awards have been made for heroism by the Scouts' National Court of Honor since 1911.

Judge Attends Austin Meeting

C. A. Clem, precinct 1 justice of the Peace, attended the Traffic Conference held at the University of Texas in Austin Thursday and Friday of last week.

Judge Clem said the meeting was very interesting and informative. Most of the program dealt with our traffic laws and enforcement of them on a more uniform basis, but the speakers also included Governor Price Daniel and Attorney General Will Wilson.

The Judge also went to the session of the Legislature, and just happened to be in the House when Rep. James E. Cox, representative from Comroe, charged with agreeing to accept a bribe, appeared before the body. He greatly enjoyed the proceedings and a small insight into the operation of the Legislature.
