STANDING ON THE CORNER

With P. J.

Your failures won't hurt you until you start blaming them on someone else.—Cheer.

S. O. S.

Do you have an issue of The Lynn County News dated May 31? I goofed—threw out the good ones and kept the bad ones. If you by the slightest chance are interested in saving my scalp, please bring us your issue of this paper. Thanks.

Showers do bring flowers in May—even in West Texas. One of the most eye-catching flower gardens in this area is that which many Tahokans stop to see at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Rogers on North Second.

Their flowers are found blooming almost all summer, but we'll put their poppy garden against anyone's.

Once in awhile, one sees a great but simple faith in the souls of men and women. We saw that kind of faith the other day when talking with L. H. Moore, Jr., about his young son's death from polio and the three other children who had lighter cases. "We have had a catastrophe," he said, but added with a smile, "and on the other hand, we have also had three amazing miracles."

What a wonderful insight—in spite of the darkness, they can see that never ending, never failing, and ever present eternal Light.

Gee, whiz, we hate to leave anyone out. If we'd have thought about it, we'd have mentioned Frances E. Dunagan's name in connection with the other two third grade teachers' sour-dough problem some way or other.

Nevertheless, Frances E. will have to watch her step now, because we're gonna be watching her.

Let us salute the turtle: He moves forward by sticking out his neck.—Scandal Sheet.

Showers Raise Rainfall Total

Showers during the past week have totaled .64 inch in Tahoka and brought the official rainfall for the year to a total of 9.75 inches, just a third of an inch short of the total for the entire year of 1956.

Rainfall during this month has totaled 4.01. Rain last Friday night measured .59 inch, and a light shower Thursday morning measured .05. Tuesday night, showers fell in both the northern and southern parts of the county.

Many farmers are planting the second time, some are planting the third time, and others, especially in the east and southeast, were not able to get into their fields until this mid-week or later.

The severe sandstorms Monday and high winds other days blew out some cotton, or prevented field operations. One was quipped, "I have water standing in the middle and sand blowing off the beds."

Some farmers in the Petty and Lakeview communities who planted once and lost their seed are reported not to have enough moisture yet to replant. This is the exception, for most of the county is soaked. However, some others report the winds are drying out the topsoil rapidly, making planting difficult.

BOY BREAKS ARM

Wayne Dee Smith, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Smith, fell and broke his left arm just below the elbow while playing at his home Friday night. The member will be in a cast for six weeks. Wayne was terribly disappointed for he had just been selected to play on the Little League Cubs team this summer.

Brazilian Farm Expert Visits Local Projects

Hilnon G. C. Leite, of the Extension Service of Brazil is in Tahoka this week observing soil conservation work. He was at Snyder last week, will go to Brownfield next week, and expects to observe work in Arizona before returning to South America in August.

Allan Cox of the local Soil Conservation Service office has been accompanying him on inspection tours of Lynn County.

Mr. Leite, who has been with the Brazilian Extension Service 10 years, is a native of Ijuí in the state of Rio Grande do Sul, in southern Brazil. His home state, he says is about the size of Texas. Brazil is larger than the United States. His area receives 50 to 60 inches of rainfall a year, and the principal crops are coffee, wheat, corn, cane, soybeans, rice, and dairy cattle and swine. Portuguese is the language of the country.

He attended the University of Brazil in Rio de Janeiro. He was sent to the United States to study of our soil conservation methods.

He is a member of the Rotary Club in Ijuí, a city of 40,000 with a Rotary Club membership of 50, and made up his attendance at the Tahoka club Thursday.

Leite says he is impressed with Texas, especially with the friendliness of the people, and is enjoying visits with Americans and observing our methods of farming.

He emphasized the importance of the water and sewer operations in the towns and cities of this area which is bounded by Lubbock and Pecos, north and south, and Snyder and into New Mexico on the east and west.

Mayor H. B. McCord, Sr. of Tahoka gave the welcome address to the organization, whose president is now Jones Lamar of Big Spring.

Preceding the program a dinner was served the group by the members of the Eastern Star. The next meeting will be held June 12 at Snyder.

Tahoka Closing Memorial Day

Most Tahoka places of business expect to be closed on Memorial Day, which is next Thursday, May 30.

Other holidays on which Tahoka business houses voted to close are July Fourth, Thanksgiving, Christmas, and New Years.

Some businesses dealing in farm supplies vital to the planting season say they will remain open Memorial Day.

Another Child Is Polio Victim

Debra L. Booker, 20 months old colored daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Booker, is in serious condition after her illness was diagnosed as polio Wednesday night at Reese Air Force Base Hospital.

She was immediately flown to Shepherd Air Force Base Hospital in Wichita Falls where she is in isolation. She has been living here with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Seymour, while her mother is attending night school in Amarillo and her father is stationed at Reese.

Debra became ill several days ago. Doctors advise all parents to take their children, especially those who came in contact with the little girl, to their physicians immediately and receive their shots. There is some emergency vaccine on hand at this time at Tahoka Hospital, as well as some commercial vaccine.

"By the time a man understands women, his wife won't let him out of the house nights."—Hal Chadwick.

Polio Vaccine Now Available

Salk vaccine allocated by the State Department of Health to Tahoka Hospital during the emergency conditions last week, is now available to under-privileged children of the county for a small fee, Dr. C. Skiles Thomas has announced.

The vaccine was sent here when polio struck four members, one fatally, of the Lit H. Moore, Jr. family at New Home recently and the immediate supply at Tahoka Hospital was exhausted.

Most children who were directly exposed or those living in the area have received their shots, leaving some vaccine on hand at the hospital. This is available to those who, for financial reasons, have been unable to secure their polio shots. The only charge made will be to defray the cost of handling.

The local chapter of the National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis is in the midst of a campaign to urge everyone—babies, children and adults to have the shots, but the local hospital has not been able to meet the need because of the shortage of the commercial vaccine. However, a shipment of this commercial vaccine has also been received enabling the hospital to partially meet the need, Dr. Thomas stated.

The vaccine is allotted by the Department of Health to be used for emergency and under-privileged children and those falling under these categories are urged to get their shots immediately.

Dr. Thomas stated that it is hoped that commercial vaccine will be available soon so that everyone in the county who has not done so may begin their series of Salk vaccine.

School Nurse For Next Year

Superintendent Otis Spears has announced that the school board has elected Mrs. Lillian McCord for school nurse beginning in September.

She will be on duty from 8:40 a. m. to 12:00 noon each school day. A registered nurse, Mrs. McCord recently attended a school in Lubbock, the purpose of which was to brief school nurses on their duties.

Mrs. McCord says she plans to check eyes and the hearing of students at the beginning of the school year, and also is making plans to give tuberculosis patch tests. These tests, however, cannot be given without the consent of the parents under the present local set-up.

She will also be on hand for first aid treatment and to care for the children who become ill at school.

Mrs. McCord graduated from Notre Dame Hospital in Manchester, N. H. in 1932 and since that time has worked in hospitals in New York, as well as in the vicinity of Tahoka and Lubbock.

Supt. Spears also announced the resignation of Jack Minter, who for the past year has taught eighth grade science and high school algebra. Minter will enroll in Sam Houston State College where he plans to work on his Master's Degree.

County Exceeds Quota Of Bonds

The first four months of 1957, Lynn county citizens purchased 54.6 percent of its quota of U. S. Saving Bonds, according to Truett Smith, county chairman.

This is considered remarkable in view of the severe drought conditions that existed here for so long. This figure is far above the state average.

However, Yoakum county, in District 5 along with Lynn, Cochran, Crosby, Garza, Hockley, Lubbock, and Terry counties, is second highest in the state with 78.4 percent. Bandera county leads the state with 83.2 percent.

Lubbock county, one of the richest in West Texas, has subscribed only 29 percent of its quota, while Garza has only 29.2.

Lynn county's total sales so far this year were $129,911 at the end of April, and the year's quota is $237,858.

GOVERNMENT WILL TAKE UP 1956 LOAN COTTON

The Department of Agriculture has announced it will take title to all unredeemed 1956 crop upland and extra long staple cotton under price support loans July 31st, the maturity date of the loans.

The Department said it will not extend the loans beyond the maturity date as it did a year ago.

Two Are Injured In Truck Wreck

Two Lubbock men received minor injuries Saturday morning when the soft drink truck in which they were riding overturned on the farm to market road west of Draw.

Homer Strickland and Richard Watson, a 15 year old passenger, received minor lacerations. They were kept under observation several hours before being released from Tahoka Hospital. Their truck overturned in a mud puddle and the men were reported to be covered from head to toe with about an inch of mud when they arrived at the hospital.

West Point Club Has Demonstration

West Point Home Demonstration Club met in the home of Mrs. Tom Hale recently when Miss Wanda Roach, HD agent, gave a demonstration on making baked potato salad and jello salad.

This was Miss Roach's last meeting with the club until September. Refreshments of cheese crackers, olives, potato chips and coffee and cakes were served those attending.

The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Hubert Tankersley June 12.

O'Donnell Lady Dies Suddenly

Mrs. Alice Jordan, 84, resident of the O'Donnell area for 43 years, was dead on arrival at the Lamesa General Hospital Wednesday at 6 p. m. following a heart attack.

Mrs. Jordan was the widow of S. Eli Jordan, who lived to celebrate his 100th birthday in O'Donnell.

Time of the funeral services has not been set, but services will be in the First Baptist Church of O'Donnell with Rev. E. L. Jones, pastor of Brian Street Baptist Church in Lamesa officiating.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. S. L. Schooler Jr., O'Donnell; one step-daughter, Mrs. Virginia Griffin, San Diego, Calif.; one sister, Mrs. Lillie Frazier, Lubbock; 24 grandchildren and 39 great-grandchildren.

THREE MEN ENLIST

Hollis D. Boswell, Archie L. Redman, and Charles L. Mayberry, all of Tahoka, last week end enlisted in the Army for duty with the 8th Infantry Division in Germany.

They were sent to Fort Chaffee, Ark., for processing, and were to go from there to Fort Riley, Kansas, for their basic training.

V. O. Caswell of O'Donnell says he has had the best planting moisture he has had in many years.

Jordan's 37,500 square miles comprise an area about three-fourths the size of New York State.

CHAMPION QUILT-MAKER

Mrs. M. E. Baccus, who lives in a farming community outside of Abilene, Texas, has made 1,087 cotton quilts in the last ten years. Using a sewing machine, the 80-year-old grandmother concentrated on practical rather than artistic quilting. She told her neighbors: "You furnish the material, and I'll make you a quilt for $1."

Athletics play an important part in the physical fitness program at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill. Not counting mandatory participation by recruits, over 2,500 bluejackets take part in intramural sports.

Texas is being used as a testing ground for the Military Affiliate Radio System (MARS) in which licensed amateur radio operators are trained in military procedures as another factor in defense preparedness.

Jack Reed Home From Washington

Jack Reed of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Washington D. C., arrived home Saturday for a visit until Tuesday of next week with his mother, Mrs. Lillie Patterson. He was unable to reach Tahoka in time for the funeral of his step-father, Ott Patterson, which was held on Friday.

Jack is a sophomore in Southeastern University, but works a regular eight-hour day in the fingerprint division of the FBI. He hopes to complete his college training with a year and a half or two years.

Mrs. Johnny Kirkham from the Redwine area was released Tuesday from Tahoka Hospital where she had been a medical patient since Sunday.

The world's largest Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Illinois, has come a long way since the horse and buggy days when it was commissioned in 1911. Over 10,000 cars pass in and out the gates each working day.

The radar storm warning network, brought into being by the Disaster Relief, the Weather Bureau, and the Texas Department of Public Safety, now operates in 18 key Texas areas.

Time for Someone To Make a Move—Will Lawmakers Act, Asks Writer

By-FREDERICK HODGSON

SAN DIEGO, Tex.—I'm not sure whose move it is in Duval County, but I get the feeling it's time for somebody to play his hole card.

I have just returned to deep south Texas after several months in New York and Hollywood. In New York negotiating with Random House about a book on Duval County. And in Hollywood writing a motion picture with my collaborator, Franz Rosenwald, on the same fascinating subject.

Now that I'm back, I'm wondering about three things. First, what the Texas Legislature will do with the opportunity it has to plug up the loopholes in the law that made this political jungle possible—this place where the strong have lived off the weak and shouted their defiance to the world. I'll come back to this.

Second, I'm wondering about the man Parr himself and a couple of his old friends, one of whom says he is Parr's enemy while the other says he hardly knows the man at all.

Parr is different nowadays. "Plumb crazy," according to several people in this sun-baked county that slithers in oil. A few months ago Parr paid a big fine for waving a carbine and threatening to kill Thomas Molina in the dim halls of the Duval court house. He was put under a $7,500 peace bond.

But a few weeks ago he again pulled a pistol out of the glove compartment of his car and stuck it under the nose of Eloy Ramirez. Another conviction for gun-throwing could cost him that $7,500. The only reason anybody can figure out for his brassness is that Eloy refused to shake hands with him in Angelina's cafe.

The Duke has always been a gun-waver, but now they say he waves it with a more deadly vehemence.

Parr doesn't look good, either. He has gone bankrupt, and he is intermittently on trial in Houston on a charge of using the mails to defraud. The trial has started three times. The first ended with one man hanging the jury, and since then two juries have been spoiled by the discovery of an unqualified juror in the bunch.

Parr hates a lot of men, and his hatred seems to obsess him. It centers on District Attorney Sam Burris, now that John Ben Shepperd has left the Attorney General's Office and gone into business in West Texas.

Burris is the symbol of all Parr's troubles. He is the bulwark of the law that won't let go, even though the Duke has lost his fortune, his political power, his prestige, everything. Burris still gets help from the state, but it was John Ben Shepperd who started tearing down the Duke's feudal empire, and it was Burris who helped him Duval residents say the Duke can't talk about anything but Sam Burris.

The Peripatetic Pala But about those friends of Parr's. This is what really prompted me to add this article to the series of 11 which Franz Rosenwald and I wrote recently. They were distributed by the Texas Press Association, and published by some 250 dailies and weeklies in Texas with a readership covering more than half the state. Since so many people are listening, I want to add a little to what I said.

Recently Dan Tobin, an able and personable young man who was once a Parr stalwart but who turned against the big boss, has been running around the state palmy-wally with a long-time Parr cronie named Thomas Y. Pickett. The junkies, to Dallas and other places, were to raise money from the oil companies to get Duval County out of its current financial jam. Judge Tobin, by the way, is under indictment because of his past association with the Parr machine.

Pickett is a political fixer of no little renown in Texas, a sporting man who, like Parr, loves fast horses. Also like Parr, he once did time for forgetting to pay his income tax.

Pickett is head of Thomas Y. Pickett and Co. of Dallas. His firm holds the tax evaluation contracts for Duval County and for the county's school districts. For tax purposes Duval property is valued at just over $41 million, of which some $36 million represents the valuation of oil and industrial properties, including utilities and railroads.

It's the tax evaluator's job, in this case Pickett, to set the value of county property, and report to the commissioners (including Judge Tobin) who, in turn, set the tax rate Pickett has held the Duval contract steadily since 1934.

This writer talked to Mr. Pickett in his office in Dallas and later at the Commodore Perry Hotel in Austin. I promised to print a statement from him exactly as he gave it to me. Here it is, precisely as typed by his secretary:

"During the period of 1926-27, and from 1934 to 1950, inclusive, Thomas Y. Pickett and Company were paid total fees from Duval County in the amount of $247,380.66, and not $900,000 as reported in Collier's magazine, which is now out of business. Since 1950 we have had a contract with Duval County and they have paid us $15,000.00 per year."

Note, please, that Mr. Pickett brings up the matter of Collier's magazine. I didn't bring it up, note, too, that Mr. Pickett makes no mention of his contracts with the Duval school districts, including the notorious Benavides School District from which Parr and his pals are accused of plucking much of their plunder.

Back in June of 1951 Collier's ran an article entitled "Something Is Rotten in the State of Texas" and the writer, Gordon Schendel, brought Pickett into the picture as being buddy buddy with the Duke.

Time magazine in its issue of February 15, 1954, also suggested a close alliance between Parr and Pickett and the story caused quite a sensation in oil circles.

"Why, I hardly know the man," Pickett told me. "Oh, I guess I've seen him a couple of times when I've been down in Duval on business."

Mr. Pickett went on to make this interesting observation: "I was the most surprised man in Texas when I read in the papers what had been going on down there."

Okay, let's look at the record. It's a lulu.

At Pickett's federal trial for income tax evasion it came out that he had taken $150,000 from W. L. Pearson and Co. of Houston to swing a road bond vote in Hutchinson County.

At Parr's federal trial for income tax evasion it came out that he had taken a $25,000 kick-back from the same W. L. Pearson and Co. on a Duval County road contract. Parr was then County Judge.

The two men, Parr and Pickett, are as alike in some departments as two peas in a pod.

In the multitudinous court actions in the sticky Duval situation much has been made of bank checks, many of them made out to persons both existent and non-existent.

In the Pickett trial the evidence showed that he had no less than six hidden bank accounts. Testimony of federal experts, admitted to by Pickett on the stand, showed that he used the system now attributed famously to Parr. Checks were endorsed in Pickett's own handwriting with such names as J. S. Carnes, C. O. Carnes, J. G. Jones, Jack Jones and Jack Johnson.

I have a stack of checks beside me as I write. All of them are drawn on the Duval County general fund, all made out in Parr's own handwriting, and all made out either to Thomas Y. Pickett and Co. or to Thomas Y. Pickett personally.

Most of the checks are in the amount of $1,000 and the endorsements on these are correct, each check stamped on the back. Thomas Y. Pickett and Co. each deposited in the company's account.

Two of the checks, however, stand real scrutiny. They're not piddling little $1,000 items. They are for big money. And they don't bear the Pickett company rubber stamp, indicating that they didn't go through the company account.

One of these checks, dated simply June, 1951, and not signed by Texas law, is for $5,500. This check is number 544.

The other check, number 17, is dated July, 1952. It is for a whopping $6,550. And this one wasn't signed by the County Judge as required by law.

The harder up the county gets financially, the more they dig around in the old records. And the more they dig around in the old records, the more odd-looking checks they turn up with funny endorsements.

As I said, Dan Tobin and Thomas Y. Pickett have been running around the state trying to tap the oil companies for a little financial assistance to the county. Tobin split with the Duke some time back, and Pickett says he hardly knows the man. Maybe they're both smart. A lot of the Duke's old friends have found themselves in trouble.

The Cause of Corruption in Texas Which brings me to the third thing I've been wondering about. What is the Texas Legislature going to do about plugging the gaps in the law which John Ben Shepperd said make situations like Duval County possible?

I've read several articles in national magazines about the corruption in Texas on the state level. I've been in and out of Texas, studying Texas laws and lawbreakers and writing a book and a movie script, for about 10 months now. In my humble opinion the corruption in Texas starts right down at the grass roots, in the counties and the little towns. And it starts with the outmoded Texas Constitution and the lack of adequate statutes to enable people at the county level to keep things clean. Your primary trouble, Texan, is not in Austin.

Twice in as many legislative sessions the Texas Press Association has lashed a stack of proposed bills in front of the lawmakers, incorporating a number inspired by Shepperd's findings in Duval County along with others that Shepperd and the TPA have urged for good government in Texas. The others deal mostly with keeping government meetings open to the public eye, keeping public records public, and requiring the publication of information the people have a right to know.

As John Ben Shepperd put it, "Take any four or five of these proposed new laws and enforce them, and you just can't have a Duval County." There are 15 of them altogether.

I came back to Texas to do some final checking on a few things, including these bills. I have to admit that even with my natural newsmen's cynicism, I was a little staggered to find that the Texas Legislature had been in session three months in 1957 and was active six months in 1956—and in that time only a couple of the bills have struggled through to the Governor's desk for signing into law.

Some of the most important of them are staggering through the legislative halls, not expected to live. Others have had their death blow unless interested citizens raised a protest.

Among the staggering is SB 223, which would make it possible for men who steal public funds to be indicted and prosecuted outside the county of the offense. Such a law would prevent embezzlers from getting off easy by controlling judges, prosecuting attorneys, or grand juries.

Shepperd says this is the most important bill, from the standpoint of criminal law, and he ought to know. To get the Duval County indictments he had to wait for a district judge, a district attorney and a grand jury to be thrown out. SB 223 is in a Senate subcommittee, and its survival looks doubtful.

Another bill buried in a Senate subcommittee where the death rate is high is SB 88. It would forbid holding government meetings in secret, except as provided by law.

SB 31, you might say, has been sent to Death Row. It was referred to the Attorney General for re-drafting, with the intention of killing it. Its purpose is to remove from office any public official who stands on the Fifth Amendment to avoid showing his public records or answering questions about his official actions.

A bill requiring county attorneys to sue for the recovery of unlawfully expended money, with or without the consent of the commissioners court, is also in a Senate subcommittee but has a little better chance of survival. It is SB 224.

A number of others haven't had any torpedoes thrown into them, but the lawmakers' enthusiasm for them is not conspicuous. In fact, the boys are taking their good old easy time, if not actually stalling. Companion bills to those listed above are kicking around in House committees, faring little better than in the Senate, apparently.

I might say right here that the views expressed herein are mine, not necessarily those of the TPA. Among the 15 "Better Government" bills, I count only two that have passed both houses of the Legislature, and three others that have passed one House only.

Bills which have gone to the Governor for signature open political precinct conventions to representatives of the press, and require a special audit of county records in any county upon a petition of at least 30 per cent of the qualified voters. Both were designed to provide Texans with more adequate knowledge of what goes on in their counties and their state.

Three others have passed either the House or Senate, but not both of the Legislative bodies. Senators okayed SB 181 to require school districts and other political subdivisions to publish annual financial statements; likewise SB 55, a Mandatory Publications Act to assure that public officials will publish the information they are supposed to under present laws. I'm told this one can get through if a few citizens interested in good government will speak up for it to urge its passage through the House.

House members passed HB 199 providing for stopping payments to school districts which, like the notorious Benavides district, fail or to refuse to furnish an audit of accounts.

In fact, just about any of these bills, even the ones that are all but dead and buried in the subcommittees, might pass if a few interested citizens would speak up for them.

So I head back for Hollywood. I'm going to stick my neck out and offer Texans a little word of advice. I've known Capone and Costello and some of the other big-time boys, and I've been in Europe where I looked on the faces of bigger, better dictators than Boss Parr. But I haven't seen one yet that couldn't be seen stopped by a few good laws, properly enforced.

Texans like their "local autonomy," that secular Constitutional system by which every Texas county is an island with a fence around it when it comes to enforcing the law and prosecuting by the TPA are especially designed to accomplish good law enforcement without disturbing the local autonomy. That's the appraisal of John Ben Shepperd, former Attorney General who busted Duval wide open from the inside, without violating anybody's local self-government.

Longhorn Cavern Deemed Million Years in Making

Texas Longhorn Cavern, spectacular scenic masterpiece of Nature, was at least a million years in the making, geologists estimate.

The huge cavern is awesome evidence of the changes wrought through the ages by variations in climate, earth movements, the rise and fall of the seas and the slow solution of limestone by water.

Longhorn Cavern, located near Burnet in the Highland Lakes region northwest of Austin, is one of the state's favorite attractions for tourists and sightseers. Guided tours are conducted daily through the explored portions of the cave, which is one of the world's largest.

Richard W. Rush, assistant professor of geology at the University of Texas, has traced the sequence of events which led to the development of the cavern from the time when Texas lay beneath a huge sea, approximately a half-billion years ago.

The stone in which the cavern was eventually carved out was formed from limy muds deposited at the bottom of this sea. Over countless centuries this mud deposit gradually rose out of the sea, only to sink beneath it again, a process which was repeated a number of times.

Finally slow uplift raised Texas above the sea for the last time and the limestone which had hardened from the mud deposits lay exposed to the elements for over sixty million years.

At that time Central Texas was a humid swampland in which gigantic dinosaurs and other reptilian monsters roamed.

The actual beginnings of Longhorn Cavern probably occurred during the Ice Age, when the northern part of the United States was covered by glaciers, more than a million years ago.

As the glaciers retreated, about 50,000 years ago, the climate of Texas became drier and the ground water level began to drop, dissolving the limestone as it fell.

Underground streams flowing through the cave helped to carve out the labyrinthian passageways and huge rooms, until the cavern was excavated to its most remote chamber, an eerie 130 feet below the surface of the earth.

Prehistoric caverns probably sought refuge in the subterranean depths of the cavern to avoid being devoured by the fearsome mammals which ranged the countryside in dim ages past.

The main approach to the cavern entrance is through a collapsed sink or deep depression in the limestone, with remnants of the original roof preserved as a natural bridge over the steps leading to the cave mouth.

The scenic beauty of the cavern is heightened by the sparkling displays of calcite crystals, the unusual shapes formed of flint and the clusters of stalactites and stalagmites which in some instances have fused to form impressive columns.

Sports Show Is Set Next Week

The Lubbock Sports Show officially gets underway Tuesday May 28 starting at 1:00 p. m. with a huge parade. Plans are shaping up rapidly for the show to be held this year at Buffalo Lakes, nine miles southeast of Lubbock, starting Tuesday May 28 and lasting through Sunday June 2, 1957.

This will be the 4th Annual Lubbock Sports Show and by far will be the biggest, most unusual Sports Show ever held in West Texas.

Jack Creel, manager of the show, states the reason for moving the site of the show from town to Buffalo Lakes is to put the Sports Show in a natural sporting setting where boats and motors, guns, fishing tackle and other sporting equipment can be exhibited and demonstrated like they are normally used. This will be the Nation's most colorful 'down-to-earth' sports show.

The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

The Upper Room
© THE UPPER ROOM, NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE

Thine ears shall hear a word behind thee, saying, This is the way, walk ye in it, when ye turn to the right hand and when ye turn to the left. (Isaiah 30:21.)

"This would happen to me!" I heard a young man mutter. He had locked up his car and left the keys inside. "Do you have another key?" I asked.

"Yet, but at home," he replied. "May I take you home to get it?" I asked.

"Well, surely, but you're a stranger."

The trip was spent in discussing generalities. While I waited for him to get his key, the voice said to me: "Witness about the Lord to him." As he reentered the car, he asked: "Why did you do this for me, a stranger?" My answer was: "Because I am a Christian. Are you a Christian?" I asked.

The answer came about three years later. A man asked: "Do you remember me—the man who needed a key? I just stopped to tell you that I can answer your question now. I am a Christian, my wife is a Christian. Our whole family goes to church and Sunday school."

PRAYER

Father, may we be so sensitive to the leading of the Spirit that we may hear His promptings. Help us to be good stewards of opportunities to witness to Thee as well as to give of our time and funds. Through Christ our Lord. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Today I will use my opportunities to witness by being helpful—John E. Smither, Merchant (Michigan.)

Tests Help In Cotton Program

College Station—Healthier root systems and higher per acre plant populations resulted in 1955 and 1956 cotton tests when fungicides were mixed with covering soil at planting time. However, Plant Pathologist G. M. Watkins says the fungicide treatments were only partially effective in controlling cotton seedling disease complex.

No single fungicide or mixture of fungicides gave good results over all locations on all soil types tested. No general recommendations can be made for Texas at the present time, Watkins says, although better test results were generally obtained with mixtures of two or more fungicides.

Dust fungicides used in 1955 tests tended to be toxic, relates the specialist, therefore only sprays were used in last year's experiments. Tests were planted at two locations in each of three cotton-producing areas of Texas. Two nozzles sprayed the soil immediately ahead of each covering device while a third nozzle sprayed soil as it was rolled over the seed. Sprays were applied at a 10 gallon per acre rate.

Vancide 51 and Dithane 0-14 were the only fungicides to give any measure of control when applied alone. Other chemicals such as Captain, Zineb, PCNB, and Puritized Agricultural spray were not effective in single applications.

Watkins credits some of the improvement in 1956 results over those of 1955 to using all spray applications and a more efficient port 1930 are available from the Agricultural Information Office at College Station.

Welfare Center Closed For Now

The City Welfare Center located in the American Legion Hall, has closed temporarily, according to Mayor H. B. McCord, Sr.

With warm weather approaching, the need of used clothing is not so great, although that reason is not the predominant one. The supply of clothing and food is now exhausted and must be rebuilt before needy families can be supplied.

Some re-organization is planned this summer by the board, of which Mayor McCord is chairman, along with workers at the Center, so that a more systematic way can be developed to better aid those in need.

Although the Center is closed for releasing clothing and food, citizens are still urged to continue to contribute to it. This may be done by calling Mrs. Emma Halamiczek, who will take the names of those who have clothing and non-perishable foods. Plans are for a local organization to pick up the goods and store them in the Center until an opening date is announced.

Those who are cleaning out their cellars, basements and pantries to make room for new canned goods, are asked to donate their old canned goods to the Center.

Before school opens next fall, there will be a great demand for children's clothing, including shoes, dresses, shirts, blue jeans, coats, jackets, etc. The Center would also like to have a good stock of these articles before opening again.

With the closing of school and changing of seasons it is hoped that children's, as well as adults' clothing that has been out grown or no longer needed, will be contributed during the next few weeks.

James Foster Will Manage Station

James Foster has been selected as manager for the new Phillips station being erected on Main Street by H. B. McCord & Son, Phillips jobbers.

John Hansford of Brownfield, district representative for Phillips, and H. B. McCord Jr. made the official announcement of the selection of Foster Tuesday.

James, who is a Tahoka High School graduate, is currently attending an eight-weeks school for service station managers in Lubbock in preparation for taking over the new station.

Move High-Line Near Airport

A dangerous high-line along the north edge of the Tahoka Airport at the Edwards-Childers Memorial Park has been moved this week.

Workmen of Lyntegar Electric Co-op. moved the line a half mile north. Lyntegar was assisted on the project by the City of Tahoka and the Airport Committee.

The line had presented a hazard to planes landing and taking off, and the Civil Aeronautics instructor had issued strong warnings that the line should be moved.

Seth Lewis recently completed a hanger at the airport, and another hanger is expected to go up at the site, possibly this fall.

The Airport has seen considerable activity recently. Saturday and Sunday, there were five planes flying from the field, including a twin-engine job. More and more visiting flyers are beginning to use the Airport, and a telephone will soon be installed so that a flyer from out of town landing there may call into town for service. The News is informed.

comedies. Well, members of a local Sunday School class saw one recently when they were on their weekly bowling party. Carl Griffing Jr. had a terrible score, so he decided to show them how it was done—Laurel and Hardy style. What happened? He wrenched his back and has been hobbling around ever since.

The Alcoholic Outlook

I had 12 bottles of whiskey in my cellar, and my wife told me to empty the contents of every bottle down the sink or else! So I proceeded with the unpleasant task. I withdrew the cork from the first bottle and poured the contents down the sink with the exception of one glass which I drank. I then withdrew the cork from the second bottle and did likewise with the exception of one glass which I drank. I then withdrew the cork from the third bottle and poured the contents down the sink, with the exception of one glass which I drank.

I pulled the cork from the sink and poured the bottle down the glass which I drank. I pulled the bottle from the cork of the next and drank one sink out of it and threw the rest down the glass. I pulled the sink out of the glass and poured the cork from the bottle. Then I corked the sink with the glass, bottled the drink, and drank the pour.

When I had emptied everything, I steadied the house with one hand, counted the bottles, corks, glasses and sink with the other—which were 29—and as the house came by I counted them again, and finally had all the houses and bottles and corks and glasses and sinks counted, except one house which I drank.—Brownfield Methodist Newsletter.

It seems that Happy Smith and H. B. McCord Sr. have finally run across a quotation that they endorse 100 percent.

"Three-fourths of the earth's surface is water—only one-fourth is land. It is clear the good Lord intended a man should spend three times as much time fishing as he does plowing."

That man on the corner says the thing most needed in the American home today is the American family.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to express my deepest appreciation to Dr. C. S. Thomas and Dr. M. J. McSweeney of Slaton and all the nurses at Tahoka Hospital for their wonderful treatment and care given me during my stay in the hospital. God bless you all. W. C. Sales.

The Press Battles for its Freedom

JOHN PETER ZENGER was arrested "for printing and publishing several seditious libels dispersed throughout his journals or newspapers."

Zenger was a New York printer in the days when Governor Cosby ruled the colony. Governor Cosby ruled in such an autocratic, overbearing manner that several indignant citizens started a newspaper to attack the public against his tyranny. Zenger undertook to publish the newspaper.

Zenger was thrown into prison, and his bail was fixed at 800 pounds, a large sum for those days and quite beyond his ability to furnish. He stayed in jail for months, and his situation appeared hopeless.

The case finally was called to the attention of Andrew Hamilton, a distinguished Pennsylvania lawyer, who took up Zenger's cause as a public service. Hamilton forced the case to trial, and his speech to the jury, which led to Zenger's acquittal, is a ringing statement of what the press in America must still vigilantly fight for.

All men have the right, Hamilton maintained, publicly to re-assert the abuses of power...and to assert with courage the sense they have of the blessing of liberty...and their resolution at all hazards to preserve it.

Today in our country encroachments by governments and private interests alike upon freedom of the press are counter to law. Nevertheless, even today the press must battle constantly to keep its freedom intact.

Two new dormitories for men and women are nearing completion at West Texas State College and will be ready for the fall semester in September. Long one-story brick buildings, the dormitories feature separate housing units for 12 and 16 students each. Each unit opens into a central court, with one main outside entrance at the front of each structure. The units feature four bedrooms, with central bath facilities and lounges and study rooms. An addition to Stafford Hall for men and an addition to the college cafeteria also are expected to be completed for the fall, with total construction costs running $1,600,000. Pictured are the men's dormitory, already named Terrill Hall, and the entrance to the women's unit, named Brown Hall.

Lamesa Man Is Rotary Speaker

S. A. Debnam, irrigation engineer of Lamesa who has traveled over most of the world and who has lived in both Europe and South America, was the speaker at Tahoka Rotary Club Thursday of last week on the subject of International understanding.

He declared that not knowing our neighbors is the cause of all world troubles. His very interesting talk was a plea for more tolerance in our attitude towards peoples of other nations.

Some of his statements were a mild shock to some of his listeners.

For instance, he said he never met a Russian who was not a likeable fellow. For several years following the war, he was in close contact with many Russians (Communists.) He was also in close contact with many Germans. Neither have any understanding of Democracy as we know it, but may be their forms of government and some of their thinking fits their situation.

He spent eight years in Brazil. Many of us think of the Brazilians as barbarian in some of their customs, but the Brazilians think the same thing of us—after hearing of lynchings in America and watching our movies.

He praised the local Rotary club for its sponsorship of visits of an European student to Tahoka each summer. Meeting and knowing foreigners tend to help both of us, he declared, and some of these students coming to the United States on such visits will be the leaders of their countries in the future.

The program was arranged by Ray Hopkins, one of the two program chairmen for the month of May.

Moisture penetration studies were made on rangeland last week by Soil Conservation Service personnel. Where there was a good cover of grass moisture penetration was four feet while on adjacent area that had no grass moisture was only a foot deep. In one place drifts on the trees showed that water had flowed over the area two feet deep. Yet moisture penetration was only about one foot because the soil had no grass.

Dry land level borders on Lonnie Howell's farm east of Tahoka have a maximum of water from recent rains. The borders are installed below a terrace system and Lonnie says he believes he likes land borders better than terraces because of more even distribution of water.

The high winds and blowing dust of last week stressed the need for a stubble mulch program for the High Plains farmland. Fields that had residue on the surface were not blowing as severely as clean fields. On clean tilled fields it is necessary to go over them with some type of sand fighting equipment which causes compacting from weight of tractors.

Blue panic grass on shallow, sloping Class VI land has been grossing $75 per acre reports J. W. Morton in the Cochran SCD. McDermott has 20 acres of the grass on this type of high lime soil on the edge of a lake. The grass is in rows and is given some tillage each season and irrigated with a sprinkler system. He plants rye and vetch in the middles for winter and spring grazing and harvests a blue panic seed crop each season in addition to his grazing. McDermott believes if he could water the blue panic adequately the income would equal a good cotton crop.

CIVIL DEFENSE 'KEYPOINT' for Los Angeles is typical of some 200 such communication centers throughout the nation maintained by local civil defense. In less populous areas, "keypoints" are often police or fire stations, where someone is always on duty. They depend on the Federal Civil Defense Administration's 14,100-mile warning net (base) to link them to Air Force air defense division control centers. Keypoints notify, in turn some 3,500 "sub-keypoints" which set off sirens and call out civil defense personnel.

CARD OF THANKS

Our sincere thanks are extended to all our fine neighbors and friends for the many acts of kindness and words of sympathy and condolence during our grief on the loss of our darling son. Everyone has been wonderful, and it was touching to know so many cared so much. The 139 wreaths sent in were truly appreciated. We especially thank Yuonna's second grade classmates and Gid's first grade classmates for their floral offerings and books. May God bless each of you and spare you from such sorrow, is our prayer. —Mr. and Mrs. Lit H. Moore Jr. and family.

Soil Stewardship May 26-June 2

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson today made the following statement in behalf of Soil Stewardship Week and Rural Life Sunday, both of which occur this month.

The Department of Agriculture is happy to join with the National Association of Soil Conservation Districts and national church organizations in the observance of National Soil Stewardship Week which they are sponsoring May 26 to June 2. During this week, or on Rural Life Sunday, May 26, local churches of various faiths and soil conservation districts throughout the nation will join in special recognition of man's responsibility as a steward of our God-given heritage—the productive soil.

Such observance is especially heartening to us in the Department of Agriculture who are charged with helping farmers use soil wisely and the same time conserve it for continued production for the generations to come. Our future food supply depends on the intelligence with which we use our productive resources—such as soil and water. Not only food but many raw materials for industry come from the soil. While solving today's problems, we must not neglect tomorrow's needs.

I strongly urge farm, church, civic, conservation and other organizations to participate in this event as an important means of becoming acquainted with the vital importance of wise use of our land to both material and spiritual welfare. I am urging employees of the Department to participate in soil stewardship observance as citizens in their communities or to help organized groups, when requested, in planning or conducting such events.

Nearly 30,000 pamphlets on civil defense preparedness were picked up by visitors at the State Fair Defense Workshop at Houston August 2.

The Texas Home Demonstration Association will conduct a Civil Defense Workshop at Houston August 2.

MRS. CARL D. GHYDER

The main topic of discussion around town these days is the weather! The big question being asked is "When are we going to get to plant?" Rain is welcome but I am afraid some are about ready to yell "calf-ropes." We hear some asking what is the latest, the very latest date for planting cotton? I just wonder if the dry, dry, weather of the years has so soon been forgotten? Surely more crops have been lost from lack of rain, than from the ever abundance of rain. However the natural thing for people to do is worry, so it might as well be about the weather as anything else, I suppose. Another aspect of the weather being discussed freely are the tornadoes skipping around over the country. A survey has been made by several on where the closest cellar is. That may not be such a bad idea, at that, provided you have time to get there. But is seemed to have been impossible in the Silverton disaster. The people stricken seemed to have been stricken down in the twinkling of an eye, almost without warning. Surely we are all in sympathy with the ones stricken. We do not know what the future holds for us, but we do know who holds the future, and try to face each day without undue fear from the elements or any other form of evil.

Electric Living

Modern electric cooking is the answer to quick preparation of snacks for TV time and other occasions.

"T-V meals are a Snap with an ELECTRIC RANGE!"

says MRS. R. W. BOWMAN, JR.
1045 WEST DICKENS • SLATON, TEXAS

Mrs. Bowman uses the automatic timer on her range for every meal and this time-saving, work-saving feature is one of the many that you enjoy when you cook the modern way—the electric way.

Mrs. Bowman says, "We chose an electric range, not only because we wanted the convenience, cleanliness and speed, but we also wanted the style and design that only the electric range could offer." A visit to your Reddy Kilowatt dealer store will show that you are in complete agreement with Mrs. Bowman's words.

Americans Eat Too Much Food

College Station—Most Americans get enough or too much food, but not always the right kind. Three of every four homemakers have only a scanty knowledge of nutrition, a recent study in New York State shows. The other fourth of the homemakers surveyed had only a "fair" knowledge of nutrition as related to feeding their families. Surveys are now being conducted in 12 sample Texas counties which will reveal some of the eating habits and meal planning techniques used by Texas homemakers.

The younger, better educated group know most about food values but also expressed more need for help with problems of planning, buying and preparing food. Meal planning was the most common problem reported. Women want help on planning meals that their families will enjoy. They also want the satisfaction of knowing that family meals are properly balanced and provide the nutrients needed for good health.

"Good Meals Everyday" — a new, colorful publication by extension foods and nutrition specialists, gives up-to-date information on planning balanced daily meals, on buying and preparing food. Also included are sections devoted to special needs of certain family members, infants, teen-agers, over-weight and under-weight members.

Copies of the new bulletin are available at your county extension agent's office.

Got a job for this giant killer?

Here's proof of the reserve strength in GMC's 370 that pays off in any operation.

DEEP in the pine woods, this 2½-ton GMC, with locally added trailing axle, wades into a pile of forest giants, using its power take-off to flip 1,000-pound logs onto its back. In ten minutes it has a staggering load—and practically no road to haul it over.

You may never need to subject your trucks to such grueling service, but experience like this is your assurance of stamina and reserve strength far beyond normal requirements.

And the GMC 370 can be yours for hundreds of dollars less than comparable competitive trucks. Just check with your GMC dealer.

Illustrated:
GMC 370 rated 19,500 GVW—21,000 with optional H.D. front axle. 204-hp V8 or 140-hp 6-cyl.

MUD-DEEP RUTS, soft ground, down and up ravines, it totes a Herculean payload day in and day out in the timberlands of North Carolina. Five trips a day, six days a week the year around—and it stays a stranger to the repair shop!

Dave Sherrill Gives Some Pointers On Successful Irrigation Practices

The most successful irrigation farmers practice four definite steps in order to save their land and water, D. W. Sherrill, irrigation agent, Texas Extension Service, has pointed out.

These four steps are: 1. Take good care of soil adding organic matter as needed.

2. Save and utilize every possible drop of moisture.

3. Provide uniform, deep penetration of a good pre-planting irrigation.

4. Examine the soil for moisture and study crops for moisture needs keeping the top 2 to 3 feet of soil moisture replenished.

Our supply of water is not inexhaustible. Ways and means of using wisely and conserving underground supplies are being studied by more and more farmers, Sherrill said.

A few practices and methods of making good productive use of water resources were listed by the irrigation agent.

These are: 1. Supply plenty of organic matter to the soil. This will mean more pounds of cotton per acre inch of water used.

2. Level land or arrange rows so that a uniform distribution of water is made over each acre.

3. Use underground or portable irrigation pipe to avoid seepage and evaporation losses of open irrigation ditches.

4. Supply adequate uniform application of pre-planting irrigation.

5. Begin watering cotton only after first blooms or after cotton has set squares and avoid September waterings.

6. Plant grain sorghum at Experiment Station's recommended dates to avoid excess use of moisture. (In Lubbock County this time would be during the first half of June). Earlier planting requires more water.

7. If sorghum land is to have pre-planting irrigation only, select a variety adaptable to this type water use.

8. Use soil auger or sharpshooter and examine the soil to determine moisture needs before turning on irrigation water.

9. Know the amount of water your well pumps and figure acre inch of water in each irrigation.

10. Plan to use all rainfall by storing it in the soil, then irrigate only when necessary to have a good yield at an economical production.

11. Consult your county agent on irrigation tips. He can help you.

High Plains Underground Water District authorities estimate that recharge wells in lakes on the Plains could replenish up to one-fourth of the water used in the average year of irrigation.

Pumping water from lakes direct onto the land has proved economical and highly beneficial.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Wells, who were down at Christoval over the week end, state that the recent flood damaged the town very little, but they report the instance of a cash register used by the concessionaire on the river was found after it had floated three miles down the stream. They visited Mrs. Wells' son, W. E. Hawkins, of San Angelo, also.

Farmer Costs Can Be Lowered

College Station—Plan for bigger farm profits by avoiding unnecessary labor costs, advises Extension Farm Management Specialist C. H. Bates. Today's record-high farm wage rates are showing into the spotlight such labor-saving devices as the rotary hoe weeder.

Bates says the rotary hoe is effective under proper conditions for eliminating young grass and weed seedlings in row crops. The machine greatly reduces expensive hand-hoeing labor and gets crops started faster than those competing with weeds for soil moisture and nutrients. Time and tractor fuel can also be conserved by making the first cultivation at high speeds.

The specialist warns farmers to prepare rotary hoes for immediate use! Adequate top moisture in most areas of the state now indicate a high weed infestation hazard. Farmers not owning machines are urged to consider renting them if their acreage and type of farming operation will justify it.

Your county agricultural agent or farm equipment dealer can supply additional information concerning possible savings from the rotary hoe and other labor saving devices adaptable to your area. Plan on visiting them soon, advises Bates.

Miss Brock Honored At Mineral Wells

Paula Brock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Truman Balch of Mineral Wells and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Oliver of Tahoka, has been selected by the senior class and the faculty of Mineral Wells High School to receive the DAR Good Citizenship Award.

This award is presented annually to an outstanding senior girl by the Daughters of the American Revolution and is based on scholarship, leadership, service, character, and sportsmanship. It will be presented at the graduation exercises this Friday.

Paula, who is a former student in Tahoka schools, is editor of the high school annual, member of the National Honor Society, president of a girl's service club, senior class officer, member of the high school newspaper staff, office assistant, and member of the pep squad. She is also one of the top ten in her graduating class of 87 members. She is planning to attend Hardin-Simmons University next fall.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Burgett and Mrs. Burgett's daughter, Donnie, of Galveston were here Friday visiting Mrs. Burgett's father J. E. Ketter and sister Mrs. Happy Smith. They were en route home from a visit with her son, Eddie Hatchett, who had been in a hospital in the Pacific Northwest.

There are approximately 456,000 words in the English language.

Coach Haralson's Grandfather Dies

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Haralson and boys attended funeral rites in Fort Sumner, N. M. last Friday for his grandfather, J. C. Haralson, age 96, who died on Tepeh Ivuvs who died on the previous Wednesday.

Born in Mississippi in 1860, he lacked only a short time reaching his 97th birthday.

He came to Hamilton county, Texas, in 1875, when that area was the frontier and people still feared the possibility of Indian raids. As the country settled up, Mr. Haralson felt the need for more room, and moved out to Taft, New Mexico, 25 miles north of Fort Sumner, in 1903, when that was still a pioneer country.

His wife died in 1940. Deceased left two sons, six daughters, and a host of other descendants.

Mr. and Mrs. Kay Moore of Durango, Colorado, where they own and operate the Red Chalet catering service, were down last week for the funeral of their nephew, Kenzil Haywood Moore of New Home. The Moores were expecting a great fishing season in that area this spring and summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Hagood and two children moved into their new home on North First Street last week end. The Hagoods bought the house, which they have completely remodeled, and added two bedrooms and a large utility room on the north and west.

Warrens Sell Post Dispatch

Eddie Warren, owner and publisher of the Post Dispatch, has sold his newspaper and plant to Jim Cornish, editor of the Pratt (Kan.) Daily Tribune. Mr. Cornish will take charge of the business on June 1.

Eddie and wife, Pauline, have published the Dispatch since 1926. In this time, they have built up one of the better West Texas weeklies and a plant that has few equals in this area. Mr. Warren's mother, Mrs. Eva Bailey, was formerly associated with him in the publication.

The present staff, including Editor Charles Didway, will remain with the new owner.

Mr. Cornish, 43, is a native of Kansas, is a graduate of the University of Chicago, and has been in the newspaper business 18 years except for time out for service in World War II. He is married and has two small daughters.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren expect to continue living in Post, where they have other property interests. They expect to "take life a little easier" for a while.

Santa Fe and Electronics

New electronic methods keep constant check on all freight cars moving over Santa Fe rails

New electronic wonders are contributing to precision railroading on the Santa Fe.

Take freight car locating, for instance. With our Red Ball service, we can "put the finger" any time on any one of many thousands of freight cars moving over the 13,150 miles of Santa Fe rails every day.

Information on these cars is recorded on cards which are fed into electronic machines. These "electronic brains" process the cards as fast as 2,000 per minute—and tell us within a few seconds where every car is, what it contains, where it is going.

This information is immediately available for our customers. Shippers of produce may take advantage of any changing market conditions and divert their shipments while en route to other points where markets may be more favorable.

With this advice, consignees know in advance the time of arrival of their shipments. This facilitates their plans for delivery of shipments or scheduling of production.

This method of locating freight cars is only one of the many electronic tools now employed by Santa Fe. Some of the others are microwave, two-way radio, and supersonic rail detectors.

Something new in the science of railroading is a daily objective on the Santa Fe—the railroad that's always on the move toward a better way.
