Christmas Angels... The angel said unto her, Fear not, Mary; for thou hast found favor with God. And behold, thou shalt conceive in thy womb, and bring forth a son, and shalt call His name Jesus.—Luke 1:30-31.

Everyone is in the midst of the Christmas shopping season now that the Thanksgiving turkey is behind us. For once let us not be so lost in the commercialism of Christmas that we forget its true meaning and its glorious spirit.

If we can just remember that it isn't the gift, but the giver—not the money, but the love that has bought the gift—then the real Christmas spirit will still be with us.

The other day I received a letter (written in the real Christmas spirit) that made me feel pretty shoddy. Mrs. N. M. Wyatt, who is now in a Houston hospital, wrote that she had read a devotional that day that made her feel that she was neglecting to do those things she should—and so she wrote me the kindest, loveliest letter I have ever received and one that I shall cherish forever.

What made me feel so shoddy was that there a friend in a hospital, whom I had neglected to write or even go see for so long while she was home, felt badly because she had not written me! God bless the Mrs. Wyatts in the world.

It's almost become a tradition for the principals and wives to take the superintendent and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Spears, to dinner and a good movie every Christmas. However, the boys were unsuccessful last year when they tried to get the girls to give up the movie for a ball game, but guess this year we'll have to toss in the towel.

On the pre-arranged evening, it seems that Texas Tech and West Texas State will be vying for a basketball victory, and guess we can't make the boys miss seeing Tahoka's Junior Fitts in action, especially during his first year on the varsity for W. T.

But one thing for sure—we'll still get to eat.

Sports question of the week: Jess Gurely wants to know if the basketball goals are in the same building with the O'Donnell gym. Wow! what a game! A total of 13 points made by both teams in the first half.

Answer: Maybe it was the officials' fault.

Any time you make a statement, you take the risk of having to eat your words. If you don't be—

Turkey Shoot At New Home

New Home Civic Club is sponsoring a turkey shoot this Friday and Saturday at the trap shooting range a mile and a half east of the community.

Proceeds from the shoot will go toward improving the playground facilities at New Home.

Shotguns only will be used, and the prizes are turkeys, hams, and steaks.

Dick Turner, James Farr, and Leland White are the committee in charge of the shoot, but they are asking for volunteers from the community to help out during the two day event.

Wilmer Smith On Central Bank Board

Wilmer Smith this week was notified he will be appointed to a full three-year term as a director of the Central Bank for Cooperatives, Washington, D. C.

Smith is currently serving a one-year term on the board, representing the Southwest.

Cotton Allotment Cut 2,177 Bales

Lynn county's cotton allotment for 1958 is 188,444.06 acres, Dee Green, manager of the local ASC office announces.

This is a reduction of 2,177 acres from the 1957 allotment of 190,621.06 acres.

Notices of allotments for individual farms were mailed farmers of the county this week.

The reduction worked out to an average of about one acre for each quarter section.

Lynn county's cotton crop allotment is figured on a percentage basis of the total crop land, Mr. Green says, whereas some counties are figured on a history basis.

The factor for 1958 is 42.24, which means that 42.24 per cent of the crop land may be planted to cotton. However, wheat acreage allotments are deducted from the total crop land when figuring the cotton allotment.

Farmers are again reminded of the marketing quota referendum which will be held next Tuesday, Dec. 10.

Fire Damages Co-op Building

The wash and grease room and the warehouse of Farmers Cooperative Association No. 1 were destroyed by fire Monday morning and the service station and gin office were saved from destruction by the Tahoka Volunteer Fire Department, according to Curtis Stevens, co-op manager, although both received smoke damage.

The fire began when a service station attendant lighted a stove in the wash and grease room at about 7:40 a. m. A can of oil which was sitting too close to the stove caught fire and then the cans began exploding, spraying oil all over the building.

Stevens estimates the loss at several thousand dollars, although insurance adjusters have set no definite figure. The co-op, however, will have to take a loss on some of the stock which was in the warehouse such as tires, oil, etc.

The fire-gutted portion of the building which was not burned to the ground, will have to be torn down, Stevens said.

Shoot At T-Bar Pays For Equipment

The turkey shoot held Friday and Saturday at T-Bar Country Club was a success in spite of the bad weather, James (Sonny) Roberts reports.

Proceeds more than paid for permanent trap shooting equipment recently installed at the Club grounds.

Roberts said another shoot will be held soon in the hopes weather will be more favorable.

New Chasis For City Fire Truck

City of Tahoka is having the No. 1 fire truck chasis replaced with a new GMC chasis. The Fire Department expects to have the truck back in service this week end.

In the meantime, the City has only one truck available and has not been able to make out of town runs.

MRS. EVERETT IMPROVES

Mrs. Roy (Elizabeth) Everett, who was critically injured in an automobile accident Oct. 20 south of Lamesa, is now showing steady improvement in Lamesa General Hospital. She is reported to know almost everything that is going on and friends and relatives are greatly encouraged that she will soon completely recover. She received severe chest and head injuries in the accident.

SAM REID IMPROVING

Sam Reid entered Tahoka Hospital Saturday after suffering a heart attack. He is also being treated for pneumonia. Although he was in very serious condition for several days, he is now showing improvement.

BOBBIE CARROLL

Miss Bobbie Carroll Tech Beauty Finalist

Miss Bobbie Carroll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Carroll of Tahoka, is among the 25 co-eds at Texas Tech chosen as a finalist in the "La Ventana" campus yearbook contest to select 10 beauties that will be featured in the publication.

She was among those chosen from 102 college girls at Texas Tech in an elimination held recently at the college. Last year she was also selected in the top 25 as a finalist.

Miss Carroll is a junior student majoring in business administration and is a member of Phi Phi social sorority. She was a high school beauty here two years, 1952 and 1955, before her graduation in 1955.

Exact location is 1,500 feet from the north and 330 feet from the west lines of Section 1274, Block 8, EL&RR survey. Oil is coming through perforations 3,980 to 4,095.

George M. Small Will Be Ordained

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Small left Thursday afternoon for Fayetteville, Ark. where they will see their son, George Maurice Small, ordained a deacon in the Episcopal Church Saturday night by Bishop Brown. He will be ordained into the priesthood in May.

For some time he has served as chaplain at the University of Arkansas and is associate at St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

The Maurice Smalls are to return home Monday.

Mrs. C. J. Rentro entered Tahoka Hospital Wednesday where she is a medical patient.

County Ginnings Are Near 80,000

Tahoka had ginned 13,951 bales of cotton up to noon Thursday.

Based on previous reports, this would indicate that the county has ginned in excess of 80,000 bales so far.

O'Donnell is reported to have ginned in excess of 20,000 bales, and is approximately 80 percent through. On the other hand ginning has been slower in the north half. New Home has ginned 8,000 bales and is about 60 percent complete.

Many farmers are now using strippers, and most gins are far behind.

Combining of maize is progressing rapidly. Elevators are full, and great mountains of grain are being piled on the ground. Much of three city blocks in northeast Tahoka are covered with such grain piles.

Club Boys Show Calves Saturday

This Saturday, from 9:00 to 12:00 a. m. 4-H club boys and Future Farmers of America in Lynn county will participate in a Junior Beef Calf Show to be held in the Lynn county fair barns in Tahoka, according to County Agent Bill Griffin.

The boys will give demonstrations on grooming steers for showing. A showmanship contest will also be held sponsored by Dale Thuren Farm Store.

Griffin said that about 19 calves are expected to be entered in the show.

Home Lighting Contest Opens

Plans are moving forward in the Christmas contests and the downtown lighting being sponsored again this year by the Chamber of Commerce.

Lights are being strung on the court house square and members of the Chamber are in the process of building a new star and Merry Christmas sign to be placed above the court house. Johnny Reasonover and Maurice Bray are in charge of the city lighting.

Entries are now being accepted for the home and business decorating contests and may be given to Herman Heck, chairman of the home division, and to Dean Taylor, chairman of the business division.

Deadline for entry will probably be about Dec. 20, Heck said, and judging by out-of-town judges will be held either on the night of Dec. 20 or 21.

Cash prizes of $15, $10, and $5 will be awarded first, second and third places in both home and business contests, and a $5 first prize will be awarded to the winners of the home door contest.

In addition to the contests, an attempt to beautify Tahoka during the Christmas season, all business institutions are asked to decorate their stores whether or not they enter the contest, according to Granvel Ayer, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

School Pageant Friday, Dec. 13

The annual Tahoka North Elementary School Christmas pageant will be presented by students on Friday night, Dec. 13, at 8:00 p. m., according to Mrs. Harold Green, who is again directing the presentation with the assistance of the teachers.

The place has not yet definitely been set.

Theme for the pageant this year will emphasize the 10 most memorable Christmas Days in the past and will be presented in 10 scenes by students from the fourth through seventh grades. The grade school choir will also participate in the event.

No admission will be charged and everyone is urged to attend. Floydada tourney

New H. D. Agent Is Now On Job

Mrs. Eddie Bowman assumed her duties as home demonstration agent of Lynn county here Monday morning. She was chosen for the position recently by the Texas Extension Service and the Lynn County Commissioners Court.

Lynn county has been without an agent since Sept. 1 when the former Miss Wanda Roach, who had been here four years, resigned.

Mrs. Bowman graduated from Texas Tech in August and moved here with her husband who is band director in the Tahoka schools.

Besides being a home economics graduate, Mrs. Bowman was active in 4-H work while in school at Quitaque.

More Hangars For Tahoka Airport

A new hangar has just been completed at Tahoka Airport, a part of the Edwards-Childers Memorial Park, by Seth Lewis, local electrical contractor.

The new hangar will house four planes. Lewis built a hangar at the airport last year for two planes. He owns two planes, and the additional space will be rented to other plane owners.

Louise Jones, four year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Jones, is being treated for pneumonia in Tahoka Hospital. She was admitted Tuesday.

N. E. Wood Jr. and Gordon Smith were home from Baylor University over the week end.

On the next two Thursdays, from 2:00 to 9:00 p. m., citizens will register in the business institutions of 69 local merchants for the second annual Christmas party.

A total of $1200 will be given away at a drawing to be held Saturday, Dec. 21, at 3:00 p. m. on the court house lawn. The ticket holder must be present to win, or a new name will be drawn.

Each business institution participating in the Christmas party will give away a gift to the one drawn from its box, with many of the prizes valuing as much as $25.00.

One change has been made in the party, which is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce. Last year registration was held only on Thursday nights, but because of the large number of businesses participating it was very difficult for citizens to visit all of them in the allotted time. Therefore, members of the Chamber of Commerce voted to extend the time this year beginning at 2:00 p. m. However, the stores will still remain open until 9:00 p. m.

Those who wish to register are not required to buy anything. One purpose for the event is for citizens to get better acquainted with the businesses, merchandise and the services offered. Only requirement is that the person registering must be at least 15 years of age, and everyone must register in person.

Brooks Accepts Pastorate Here

Rev. W. A. (Bill) Brooks, who was recently called as pastor of the First Baptist Church here, has accepted the pastorate and expects to be on the field about December 15.

Rev. Brooks, who is 36 years old, is of Hughes Springs, Cass county, where he has been pastor for five years. He previously served churches in Victoria and Sherman.

He succeeds Rev. Clifford Harris, who recently moved to Fort Worth where he is pastor of South Side Baptist Church.

A veteran of World War II and the orphaned son at the age of eight of a Dallas policeman, Brooks is a graduate of Austin College at Sherman and of Southwestern Baptist Seminary in Fort Worth. He and his wife have two children, a daughter 14 years of age and a son seven.

"Punk" White Gets Lubbock Promotion

James ("Punk") White, formerly of Tahoka and a graduating senior in government at Texas Tech, is one of several students there enrolled in the training in city manager work being offered in theory at the college and in practice in conjunction with the City of Lubbock.

As such a graduate, White has worked in various city departments in Lubbock and was recently named administrative assistant to City Manager H. P. Chilton.

White says he entered the field because in it "we are getting first hand administrative training on a staff level rather than through routine work."

Tech is one of a very few schools in the nation offering the city manager course, and still one of the fewer where the students work with the City government.

Cecil L. (Seabiscuit) Carraway has recently been promoted to the rank of sergeant at Ft. Bliss, where he is presently stationed, according to his mother, Mrs. Cecil Carraway.

Jerry Cain, student in the University of Texas, was home for the Thanksgiving holidays.

A program of traditional Christmas carols and modern part songs will be presented by the 65-voice A Cappella Choir of West Texas State College Tuesday, Dec. 10, at 10:30 a. m. in the Tahoka High School auditorium.

The Tahoka concert is one of eight to be given by the WT choral group in South Plains schools on its annual Christmas tour. A second tour is usually made in the spring. Other appearances are scheduled in Tulia, Plainview, Muleshoe, Post, Littlefield, Dimmitt, and Canyon.

One of the most widely known choral organizations in the Southwest, the WT A Cappella Choir is directed by Dr. Houston Bright. A professor of music at West Texas State since 1940, Dr. Bright is composer of dozens of pieces for chorus, band, orchestra, ensembles, and piano, with about two dozen selections published within the past two years.

Among members of the choir is Miss Marilyn Calloway of Tahoka. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Calloway of Tahoka, she is a freshman business major.

A specialty quartet, made up of members of the choir, will also appear with the group in its programs. The "Hi-Fi Quartet" includes Jim Restine of Amarillo, Bennie Colleton of Dimmitt, Eugene Campbell of Hereford, and

Social Security For Disabled Workers

John G. Hutton, District manager of the Social Security Office declared today that if a long-disabled worker is now over age 50, it is important that he file his application for disability payments as soon as possible, and before January 1, 1958, so that he will not lose any monthly benefit payments.

When an application is filed before January 1, 1958, payments can begin with the month of July, 1957. Disabled workers who apply in January, 1958, or later, will not be paid benefits for months before the date of their applications. In no case is the worker entitled to disability payments until he has been disabled at least 6 months, and in all cases he must fulfill the work requirement of 5 years out of the immediate 10 years before he became disabled and a year and a half out of the last three years before he became disabled.

By recent Congressional action, the long-disabled worker now has another 6 months until June 30, 1958, to file an application and still have his social security earnings record protected by freeze as of the date he actually became disabled.

This 'freeze' protects a worker's social security earnings record when he is unable to work because of a severe and long-lasting disability but does not pay benefits until age 50.

Hutton pointed out that the law now permits a veteran to receive compensation from the Veterans Administration for service-connected disability without any reduction in the amount of his disability insurance benefits under social security. This change, significant to persons who have been disabled for some years and to those with service-connected disability, became effective when President Eisenhower signed Public Law 109.

Lamesa Singers Meet In Tahoka

A very small turn-out was had Monday night when 13 men from Lamesa, all members of the SPEBSQSA, or "barber shop singers," met at the Legion Hall to interest Tahokans in a chapter here.

However, several other meetings conflicted, and Dr. Dale McElroy says a number of men have indicated an interest in such a singing group. Another meeting may be held later, when the Lamesa men and possibly some members from Lubbock will come here for a program.

The Upper Room

© THE UPPER ROOM, NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE

For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life. (John 3:16.)

Crossing the Pacific Ocean by ship from San Francisco to Australia, I went up on deck near midnight to look for the Southern Cross in the windtossed sky. Suddenly a sea pigeon, attracted by the lights of the ship, flew on board. It was very tired and nestled without resistance in my hand. It had been blown and buffeted by the winds. Finally it had sought refuge on the great, pulsing bulwark of the ocean lines.

I thought how similar this bird was to man. He is tossed and thrown about on the vast waters of the ocean of life. But he can find refuge in the Christian faith with the living example of Jesus Christ as the pilot. Christ can carry man safely through; He is God's fulfillment of the promise of the prophets. Man has only to seek Him who is the Light and thus find the security of the Christian faith.

PRAYER

Our Father, we thank Thee for the coming of Christ as foretold by the prophets. We thank Thee for the coming of Thy beloved Son into the world. Help us to confess to Thee our sins and accept Christ's salvation. For His sake. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

In Christ we find light to guide us through the darkness of this world. —J. D. McAulay (Oregon)

Floydada Tourney Will Not Be Held

Following the cancellation of the Floydada basketball tournament for this week end, plans were underway either for the tournament to be played in McAdoo, or for Tahoka to play McAdoo there Thursday night and here tonight.

As the News went to press, it was not known for sure which alternative would be taken.

Tahoka girls and boys were to have played Paducah Thursday afternoon in the tourney returning there Saturday for subsequent games.

Games next week include O'Donnell boys and girls here Tuesday night and Flower Grove boys and girls here next Thursday night.

It is a curious fact that both the author and the date of the famous railroad song, "I've Been Working on the Railroad," are unknown.

Railroads spent $1,883,848,000 (billion) for fuel, materials and supplies in 1956. That was an increase of $246,773,000 over 1955.

The only 1958 car that offers more of everything you want... yet is priced lower than in '57

Here's great news! While prices of 1958 cars of other manufacturers are up, the price of Ford's exciting new Custom 300 Series is down. A brand-new 58 Ford Custom 300 with all of its exciting new styling and engineering advances is priced lower than a '57 model, similarly equipped!

World approved styling. A Custom 300 brings you styling that is dramatically new. With its Honeycombed grille, Slipstream roof, Deep-Sculptured rear deck, and Safety-Twin headlights and taillights, Ford styling drew admiring glances from Paris to Saigon... yet it's yours now in any 58 Ford Custom 300 without extra cost!

New handling ease. Slide behind the wheel of a Custom 300 and you'll soon discover just how much fun driving can be. Notice how smoothly it handles. That's Ford's new feather-touch Magic-Circle steering, the next best thing to power steering.

New riding comfort. Notice, too, the solid comfort of your ride. That's Ford's easier acting front and rear suspensions. They soak up the bumps before they reach you.

Thrifty, new engines. You have a wonderful choice of new, more efficient power plants... designed for real gas-saving economy plus greater performance. Six or V-8, they give you more power, smoother power, from less gas!

Priced as much as $50 lower. A comparison of manufacturer's suggested retail delivered prices shows that a 58 Ford Custom 300 is priced as much as $50 less than the same model for '57! You'll wonder how Ford can offer so many of the things you want in a car priced so low. One big reason: Ford gives you more car for less money because Fords sell more!

See and drive a Custom 300 and we believe you'll agree that these Fords give you more real value for your car-buying dollars than any car on the American road today.

ROY L. WILLIAMS ELLIS BARNES
O. E. TERRY W. L. (Cap) ROWE
FLUMER BLANKENSHIP

Olan W. Dillon, Biologist with the SCS is studying the food habits of quail on farms in soil conservation districts, and need samples from all of Texas and Louisiana, in order to have a good cross-section. Would it be possible to get those of you who hunt quail, or know quail hunters, to help?

The procedure is simple. Put the crop contents of individual quail in a paper towel and send them to me. Be sure to keep each crop separate, however. Two, or more, crops together in the same paper renders each sample useless. Give the following information: Species, Blue top or Bob White. Date killed.

Leave your crop with A. B. Cox, SCS in Tahoka who will send them to the biologist.

The farmers in Lynn county have an excellent opportunity to carry out a crop residue management program this coming crop year. Tillage operations can be carried out to take advantage of crop stubbles. One popular method used in the listing out or chiseling out the furrow throwing the dirt to the stubble. This practice aids in breaking up some of the hard pan set up from tractor wheel compaction operation on wet land as their crop season has been. This type of operation maintains the residue on the surface to prevent wind erosion, increase moisture intake and reduce surface evaporation. In case of winter snows the stubble will catch and hold this moisture. For land preparation the stalk cutter pulled over the beds will handle the remainder of the residue then knife the beds to kill the weeds. The field is ready for planting and the new crop is planted back in the row or space that the previous crop was planted. This allows the new crop the advantage of not having a hard pan to grow its roots through because of the previous crops roots have shattered this pan.

More than 15,000 acres of winter grains and legumes have been planted in Lynn county this year. These crops will aid in improving and protecting their soil in addition to furnishing winter grazing.

How is the quail hunting on your farm? Ask your hunter friend if they would like to assist you in making your farm a better place to hunt quail next year. The Soil Conservation Service will assist in planning wild life areas on your farms.

Did you know the district has two farm levels to loan? Farmers are using them to lay out contour rows, irrigation row directions and irrigation ditches. The levels are kept at the Soil Conservation Service office in the Lynn county courthouse.

The Soil Conservation Service is requesting in order to better assist the farmers in Lynn county, the engineering assistance that will be needed this coming year in the layout of terraces, irrigation systems, underground concrete pipelines and land leveling. Some preliminary work is involved prior to the installation therefore to eliminate any undue delay in the coming months. Drop a card or come by the Soil Conservation Service Office to inform them of your need.

 Among the choir's repertoire are two selections by Dr. Bright which were recently published by the Edward B. Marks, Inc., music publishers. One is an Easter anthem, "Now Sing We All His Praise," and the other is a Christmas carol entitled "Joyous Christmas Carol."
 A new novelty number by Dr. Bright, not yet published, will also be sung by the group. It is called "What Can an Old Man Do but Die."

Included in the program are four Russian carols and church songs, "Lamb of God" by Kallnikof, "Cherubic Hymn" by Gretchaninoff, "If Ye Love the Lord" by Tchesnofoff, and a spectacular Russian chant by Lvovsky.
 Part songs include the traditional "Motherless Child," arranged by Arthur Ward and "Spirit of the Lord Done Fell," arranged by Noble Cain.

 lieve me ask the Pat Pattersons. The Pattersons have always said they wouldn't have a dog ever. And they don't have a dog now—they have two.

A pair who obviously disliked pets, they've turned into the most loving raisers of dogs ever saw. It all started when Sharon and Rett fell head over heels in love with a blonde puppy, who soon became ruler of the roost. That wasn't so bad, but not too long ago a sweet little red stray took up at the Pattersons and now, it too, is learning to eat from the table.

There was some doubt about keeping the second dog for awhile until Pat tried to take him off and just didn't have the heart.

Nope, the Pattersons just never would have a dog. Didn't even like 'em.
 The woman motorist, on her way home from Europe, posed for a souvenir snapshot of the fallen pillars of a historic ruin in Greece. "Don't get the car in the picture," she said, "my husband will swear I ran into the place."

I don't know whether it's the devil in me or just plain rebellion against tradition, but I've had the awfulest hankering to break one tradition many times.

As you know, when a young couple tie the proverbial knot, it's the accepted custom to print the bride's picture, give the bride a shower, write about the bride's table, etc. etc.

For just once, oh how I'd love to go into extreme detail about the what the groom, best man and ushers were and spread the bridegroom's picture across two columns.

Women are not always acknowledged for accomplishments during the years that follow, 'tis true, but there's one time in her life that her husband is barely mentioned—and that's when she marries him. Seems to me it's a two-way affair, but brother! how the readers would roll if weddings were written up in reverse order.
 But, it would be fun to do, anyway—just once.

If you cannot win, make the one ahead break the record.

School Nurse Is Keeping Busy

The tuberculosis patch tests program will get underway in the Tahoka schools following the Christmas holidays, according to Mrs. Lillian McCord, school nurse, and students in the first and sixth grades are those designated to receive them.

Permission from the parents must be obtained, however, and any of those who have not contacted Mrs. McCord are requested to do so immediately. A sponsor is also being sought who will pay five cents per patch so that the program may successfully be carried out.

During the past two or three weeks, Mrs. McCord reports that she has seen 136 school children for various ailments, mostly colds and sore throats. Nine students were taken home. Other reasons for the nurse's attention to students were three cases of boils, four cases of ringworm, four "cuts," three accidents on playgrounds, one yellow jacket sting, and one sprained ankle. Three students were taken to the doctor, and one to the dentist.

It has been found that eight out of every 10 children reporting to Mrs. McCord who are ill, have not eaten breakfast before coming to school. In some cases the children have not eaten because they are ill, and it may also be that the children may be ill because they have not eaten. However, Mrs. McCord requests that parents of children who show this tendency of being ill take extra precaution before sending the child to school.

The Phebe K. Warner Club donated a blanket to the nursing program for the bed used for ill children, and Mrs. McCord said that such donations are a great help in her work.

Robert Harvick returned home Sunday from a deer hunt near San Saba with four men from Shadd-Bartush Food of Dallas, for whom he travels in the territory. He brought home two bucks he says he killed with his own little gun.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Van Dyke, and Mr. and Mrs. Sug Edwards and children of route 5, Lubbock, went to San Antonio Thanksgiving to see Eddie Van Dyke, son of Jim Van Dyke, play the Edison High School of San Antonio-Del Rio bi-district football game.  24,000 school children, and three percent of these, or 720 per year, commit acts of delinquency serious enough to appear before a judge. Actually, there are 70 offenders a month, and the total runs much higher, since less than half the offenders are caught.

He emphasized the growing problem of juvenile crime. Of the major crimes committed in Texas, 46 percent are by juveniles.

About 60 causes are listed for juveniles turning to crime, but usually juvenile delinquency is the result of a combination of three or four factors. Among major causes are some children are irresponsible, some are psychiatric cases, some have no moral training, and some are from "impossible" families.

In answering the question as to what is being done about juvenile crime, he said sending the young offender to a state training school is the last resort, but life in the schools is so rough it does awaken a few because they don't want to go back there. Psychological counseling is given where possible. The Big Brother and Big Sister system helps. Boys ranches and girls' homes are helpful but cost so much not many can be sent there. Schools for retarded children and the mentally ill are helpful to some. Needed are increased enforcement and expert training of personnel to counsel the youths.

Porter graphically portrayed the deplorable state of our Texas training schools for youthful criminals. Gatesville school for boys is designed for 650 boys, but has 850 to 900 in it, is understaffed and under trained. About 40 percent of the boys work, 60 percent just sit and look and plan new crimes. He inferred strongly that sending a boy there merely helps promote his criminal life.

Most boys stay there only a few months, 18 months at the most.

Both men emphasized that juvenile delinquency is no respecter of wealth or well-being. Some of the worst young criminals are being developed on both sides of the track and in some of the so-called better homes.

The two men pulled no punches, and recommended that parents in Lubbock or New Home keep in close contact with their children.

Soil Compaction Becomes Problem For Farmer Using Heavy Machines

By Dan Kamp
Soil Conservation Service
Technical advances in agricultural production during recent decades have brought many problems. Production per farm worker has practically doubled since 1940. The resulting overproduction makes control of production, to avoid glutting of markets, a real economic problem. But that is not the only "headache." This rapid increase in efficiency, which has been to a great extent achieved by mechanization, is also bringing other problems. One of these problems is soil compaction.

The cause of soil compaction are complex. With the substitution of tractor power for horses and mules, there was a material reduction in many areas of meadow and pasture. The area in grass, which was a major crop in the rotation when we used animal power, was materially reduced on our best cultivated land. This left the soil more susceptible to compaction and puddling or smearing.

Under modern standards of production efficiency men must handle large units of machinery, using big plows and harrows, three or four-row cultivating equipment, and heavy harvesting equipment such as combines or cotton pickers. This large requirement means big power units and big power units mean heavy weight for traction and heavy weight means compaction of the soil. Compaction of the soil means a reduction of infiltration of water and air. In some conditions this compaction materially reduces yields by limiting the feeding area of roots. The correction of this not only involves machinery changes but many require many adjustments in soil and land management.

The problem of soil compaction by power equipment is a real one wherever heavy tractors or implements are used. At the National Tillage Machinery Laboratory, we find that the problem is nation-wide but its seriousness varies from place to place. Foreign technical literature indicates an ever-increasing consciousness of the seriousness of the problem under the high pressure use of land in Europe. It is the subject of a major project at the research institutions at Braunschweig, Jena, and Baden-Baden, Germany and the National Institute of Agriculture Engineering at Silsoe, England. The problem is being studied at the Soil Laboratory at Versailles, France, and the Russians have published a number of papers on this same subject. It is a universal problem of power farming, but the extensiveness of the organized attack in the United States and the careful and systematic work of our colleagues in Europe should enable us to develop satisfactory solutions.

There is nothing particularly new about the reaction of soil to pressure producing compaction; but, the increased use of heavier machinery puts the subject in the category of urgently needed information and it is being discussed as though it were a new subject.

For the sake of simplicity, we will ignore the wide variation found in different soils and discuss the reaction of one of the best agricultural soils in the Coastal Plains as a typical case. The Faceville sandy clay loam will serve as an example. Faceville was one of the soils studied by Cooper, Kummer, and members of the SCS operations staff to determine its infiltration rate for irrigation soils, has a definite structure, which collapses under the heavy pressure tractors and implements when in moist conditions, leaving the soil almost impermeable. The infiltration, which was fairly high in its normal condition, was reduced by packing with tractors and tillage until the soil became practically impermeable at plow depth due to the formation of a plowsole or pan below the depth of plowing. Root formation was limited to a shallow 6-inch surface layer. This compaction reduced infiltration and available water supply. Crops became subject to drought and yields were limited.

In many cases, due to the fact that a farmer can get over the land so rapidly and easily, he overdoes his cultivation and goes over the land many more times than he did with horses and mules. At a number of experiment stations studies are being made to deter-

Farmers Will Vote Next Tuesday On Marketing Quotas For 1958

Cotton producers of the nation will vote on December 10 to determine whether or not marketing quotas will be in effect on their 1958 crop. According to R. G. Shrauner, chairman, Texas Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, this will be the twelfth time that growers have registered their choice on this question.

Marketing quotas have been in effect for the last four crops. Last December, 92.4 percent of the farmers voting approved quotas for the 1957 cotton crop. Two-thirds of the voters must favor quotas too, if they are to remain effective. The first referendum was held in 1938.

Under legislative provisions, the Secretary of Agriculture must proclaim a national marketing quota and a national acreage allotment for upland cotton wherever he finds that the total supply exceeds the normal supply. The total supply of upland cotton for the 1957-'58 marketing year is estimated at 23.6 million running bales and the normal supply, that is needed for domestic uses, for exports and a 30 percent carryover reserve, is estimated at 17.6 million bales. Thus, the prospective total supply exceeds the normal supply by about 5.6 million bales, and quotas for the 1958 crop of upland cotton had to be proclaimed.

Marketing quotas, point out Shrauner, operate through acreage allotments. A grower who exceeds the "normal" acreage allotment for his farm, under a cotton marketing quota program will be subject to a marketing quota penalty of 50 percent of parity on the farm's excess production. Growers who do not exceed their cotton allotments may market free of penalty all of the 1958 cotton production from their farms.

Shrauner said growers could get detailed information on the referendum by visiting the ASC office in their county.

(By K. I. The Editor)

Well, Thanksgiving week certainly was good to Eva and me all the week. We had as many as twelve visitors on Thanksgiving Day. From Sunday until Wednesday immediately preceding Thanksgiving day we had five visitors from Galveston, Eva's son Eugene and his wife Genie and their three children, which we tried to tell about on page 2 of this paper last week but made a mess of it. They left on Wednesday morning, and then on Wednesday afternoon, came Eva's daughter, Mrs. Helen Hicks and her three children, Sandra, Kathy, and Andy Hicks Jr., all of Waco, and remained till Saturday morning, when they left for home. On Thanksgiving day and a little longer my daughter, Mrs.

Myrtle Rochelle and her two daughters Anita and Sara of Lubbock spent the day here. None of the children from Galveston had ever seen any snow, and they came hoping to see a snow-storm. They failed to see any snow falling but saw quite a bit of it still lying on the ground. Neither had any of them ever seen a prairie dog, so the hosts and all their Galveston guests drove up to Lubbock and out to prairie dog town in the Mackenzie State Park on Tuesday and saw scores of the cute little rodents out of their holes and apparently putting on a show for the benefit of the down-state visitors. Nothing important happened, however, except that many of them got their pictures taken, apparently posing for the event.

Soil Compaction

mine minimum tillage necessary for high production.
Another factor that contributes to compaction is that a soil dries out at the surface and many appear quite solid, while at plow depth it is still moist and plastic. The more moisture there is, the easier a soil compacts; hence serious damage may be done with little surface evidence. This is particularly true when a wheel of the tractor runs in the furrow in plowing. A little packing and a little slipping of the tire in the moist soil may result in a practically impervious plowable or traffic pan.
A slipping tire smoothes the soil and seals the pores in the soil beneath the tire by smearing the moist soil into them. It is reported some German farmers are unwilling to use their tractors for spring cultivation because they fear damage to the soil structure. The resultant deterioration of plant growth is attributed by them to be caused as much by the slippage or sliding of the wheels as by the weight of the tractor.

Studies of the effect of puddling under way at the National Tillage Machinery Laboratory at Auburn indicates that this puddling or smearing is a major factor in sealing off subsoil from air and water movement, and evidence that we have gathered to date indicates that smearing or puddling in many cases is a really serious factor.
Soil follows definite laws of behavior and to find and understand these laws is the job of the scientist. If we painstakingly study the simple behavior of soil, after many repetitions, and by using the best equipment for reviewing and measuring cause and effect relationship, we find there is order in nature.
Unfortunately, we have not gone far enough with these studies to give the farmer or the machine designer specific instructions or to set forth limitation for avoidance of compaction on the various soils under various conditions. Since soil management will always depend in large parts on the judgment of the farm operator, all we can not a shoddy-looking building on the whole campus. Practically all of the buildings have been constructed since 1930. I have never counted them but there must be twelve or more. Most of the buildings are swarming with students. I do not have enrollment figures for either of the last two years, but in the scholastic year of 1954-1955, Texas Tech stood fourth among a half a hundred institutions of higher learning in Texas. Only the University of Texas, the University of Houston, a municipally-owned institution, and the Texas A & M College exceeded it in the number of students enrolled during the regular and summer sessions. These figures do not include the Medical branch of Texas U., located in Galveston, nor the various agricultural branches which operate under the wings of the Texas A & M College, nor the medical and theological adjuncts which operate under the sponsorship in a sense of Baylor University, nor the theological schools fostered by the S. M. U. The Texas Tech has no adjuncts nor corollaries. It stands on its own legs, and runs on them.

All of this is saying nothing against any of the other schools—nothing against the University of Texas, nor the A & M College, nor against Baylor University, nor against the West Texas State College at Canyon, nor against either of the three denominational colleges in Abilene, nor against Wayland College, even, at Plainview. In fact if I had a son or a daughter that wished to attend one of the smaller colleges, I think I should rather send him or her to Wayland than to any other small college that I know anything about. Wayland has turned out more preachers and religious leaders than any other small college that I know anything about. And I think that every pastor, real or prospective, should get the best education possible. In fact, he should make up his mind to become a student all the rest of his life—a student and an independent thinker. They are the men that climb upward by looking down, as our new Methodist Pastor told our Baptist Brotherhood here a few weeks ago. "Up is down," he pointed out. It is the humble, the self-sacrificing individuals, those who would willingly become servants of all that those who would willingly become servants of all that Christ promised by word of mouth and by example to highly award; Brother Thompson reminded us. It is so. If I were a preacher, I would study not only the King James version of the Bible but also the translation of that great Teacher and scholar Edgar J. Goodspeed of Chicago, and the more recent revision of the King James version made by a great number of Greek and Hebrew scholars representing all of the leading Protestant and Baptist denominations, including the Southern Baptists—the version, that many good but uninformed and mis-informed people wished to throw into the fire and burn. This comment, folks, is thrown in free of charge.

hope to do is to get sufficient basic information to enable the farmer to plan sound management programs, to intelligently appraise conditions, and to enable the designer to understand physical limitations of soil resistance.
At present, we can call attention to the extreme importance of moisture in compaction or puddling. When the soil has sufficient moisture so that it can be packed densely into a plastic ball, or the moisture is sufficient, so that it can be rolled out into a wire-like form, approximately a quarter of an inch thick, it is too wet for cultivation or traffic. Its general condition to resist compaction, in the long run, can be materially improved in most cases by a good rotation which includes grass or grass-legume mixtures.

It is easy to examine the soil to see if there is any kind of dense layer at plow depth, which materially reduces infiltration. Removing both ends from a tin can provides a cylinder which, when pushed into soil, so as to hold water into it, enables one to make a reasonably accurate measurement of the rate of infiltration. If the subsoil is permeable and the test shows there is a dense impermeable layer above it, the chances are that there is some kind of a plowsole formed which needs looking into by an engineer or a soil scientist.

MR. AND MRS. L. H. MOORE

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Moore, Lynn County Pioneers, Will Observe 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. (Lit) Moore Sr., residents of Lynn county for 42 years, will observe their golden wedding anniversary with an open house Sunday, Dec. 8 from 2:00 until 5:00 p. m. at the home of their son, L. H. Jr., three miles west and two and one-fourth miles north of New Home.

All friends and acquaintances are cordially invited, but they request that no gifts be brought.

Actually their wedding anniversary is Dec. 11, but they are holding the open house on Sunday for the sake of convenience.

The Moores have long been prominent in Lynn county life. He was reared at Hye, Blanco county, and she, the former Dora Smith, was born and reared in Fannin county. He moved out to Runnels county in 1903 to farm, and she came out to the same area with her parents in 1905. The couple married at Abilene Dec. 11, 1907. They lived in Runnels county until 1915.

In that year, they moved to the Redwine community of Lynn county, and some time later bought a farm a mile north and a half mile west of Draw. They sold this farm in 1919, and moved to T-Bar community where they bought a farm. Selling this farm in 1925, they bought their present place north-west of New Home and moved to it.

Retired for several years, the Moores have been enjoying their hobbies of hunting and fishing and "just living."

They have put a lot into living, and declare the good Lord has blessed them in many ways.

For about 45 years, Mr. Moore has served on boards of the Methodist Church wherever they lived. He was Sunday School superintendent of Lakeview Methodist Church for many years, and Mrs. Moore also taught a Sunday School class for many years.

Both have served their county and community in many ways. For four years he was county chairman of the old Texas Cotton Growers Association, served as road overseer back in the earlier days, and gave of his service freely for jury duty. Mrs. Moore has long been a leader in home demonstration work in Lynn county. In fact, she became active in this work when it was initiated here back in the early 1920s.

The Moores have four living sons and seven living grandchildren in whom they take great pride.

Jay Moore is at Pemberton, British Columbia, Canada, where he owns property in a rich valley of the Canadian Rockies.

Kay Moore, his twin brother, is at Durango, Colorado, where he owns a catering service and also a hunting and fishing outfitting service. Both are well known as former Lynn county farm leaders.

Medford Moore lives at Wellston, east of Oklahoma City, where he is a rural mail carrier. He has been in the postal service for 26 years.

The youngest son, L. H. Jr., lives at New Home, and has just recently completed a fine new brick home.

Garden Club Plans Yule Pilgrimage

The Tahoka Garden Club Pilgrimage will be held Tuesday, Dec. 17 beginning at 7:00 p. m. and is open to the public.

Six local homes will be open between 7:00 and 9:00 p. m. with registration to be held at the first home and refreshments to be served at the last home.

Mrs. Clifton Hamilton, president, asks that no one begin the pilgrimage after 9:00 p. m., but emphasizes the fact that the public is urged to attend.

Homes in the order that will be visited during the evening are Mrs. J. K. Applewhite at 2101 Kelsey (L.), Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smith at 2019 North 3rd, Dr. and Mrs. Emil Prohl at 2323 North 2nd, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Hamilton at 2024 North 6th, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Green at 1904 North 6th, and Dr. and Mrs. Skiles Thomas at 1612 North 5th.

LYNN HONEYCUTT

Lynn Honeycutt Wedding Date Set

Mr. and Mrs. Cordie Honeycutt of Muleshoe, formerly of Tahoka, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Oleta Lynn to J. L. Redwine Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Redwine, also of Muleshoe.

The marriage will take place January 12 in the First Baptist Church of Progress. All friends of the couple are invited to attend.

New Home Church Plans Anniversary

New Home Baptist Church is making plans for the celebration of its 50th anniversary the first Sunday in next April.

Rev. Robert Clements, the pastor, states that a "homecoming" program will be held to observe the occasion.

Actually, the church was organized on February 14, 1908.

Phebe K. Warner Club Views Film

At a meeting of the Phebe K. Warner Study Club held in the home of Mrs. Harold Green, a new cancer film entitled "The Other City" was shown the group attending by Mrs. Skiles Thomas.

Mrs. R. L. Richardson was in charge of the program.
