Believest thou not that I am in the Father, and the Father in me? the words that I speak unto you I speak not of myself; but the Father that dwelleth in me, he doeth the works. (John 14:10.)
Keen-minded, thoughtful Soon Woo Lee, from Korea, became a much-loved member of our home and family. This young man was alert to new truth and ever seeking new meanings.
In speaking of my husband, he remarked to me one day, "I know in my heart I'll always try to be like him. He does not say to us, 'Do these things,' or 'Must not do those.' He just shows us by the way he lives. Long time I know God to be honored and worshiped, but never before do I know God to love. Now, I know and feel love."
By the way He lived daily, Jesus showed us His faith in His Father. Jesus' constant companionship with God was evident in all Jesus did.
Let us do all we can to increase our faith in God so that we will share all our daily doings with Him. When our love for Him expresses itself in all we do and say, our influence points others to Him.
PRAYER
Dear Father, we thank Thee for Jesus Christ, who taught us to love and trust Thee. Continue to work in us and through us that those who know us best may see the glory of Thy face and come to know the joy of loving Thee and following Christ. In His name. Amen.
THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
I would live so close to God that I may always be conscious of His presence with me. —Wilma Winttingham (Ohio.)

Mrs. Maude Bledsoe had all her children at home last week end.
Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Bledsoe and little grandson, Lee Southerland, all of Dallas, came out to see his mother, Mrs. Bledsoe, and sister, Mrs. Jewell Johnson. Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Cromer of Smyer and Floyd Bledsoe of Lubbock came down, making a complete round-up of Mrs. Bledsoe's children.
She says it was a very happy gathering and seemed like a second Christmas to all.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Garrard of Seagraves, formerly of Tahoka, were here Monday on business and greeting a number of old friends.

N. W. Allphin, 84, of Tahoka Is Paid High Tribute by Groesbeck Writer

A fine tribute to a long-time Tahoka citizen, N. W. Allphin, 84, by a Baptist minister, Geo. W. Wingham, in the January 9 issue of The Journal, published at Groesbeck, Limestone county, where Mr. Allphin was reared.

Following is Wingham's article on Mr. Allphin, brought to The News by Eula Eason:

Born near Waco in 1875 and orphaned at the age of eight, the subject of this sketch triumphed over heartbreaking obstacles and at the age of 34 he is loved by thousands for his Gospel hymns, his sermons, his piano compositions and his marches for concert bands. He is one of the four great composers—Ferrill, Franklin, Thomas, Allphin—whose public careers began while residing in Limestone. His career as a singer began at Horn Hill in 1897 and the same year he preached his first sermon at Nus schoolhouse—Church of Christ minister.

He founded New Song Music Co., Fort Worth; edited and published eight or nine song books; wrote a musical theory book; an extended treatise on versification, and also authored a commentary on the Book of Revelation. He was co-author of a score of song books by various publishers. After his company disbanded, he was identified with other publishing houses; particularly the Quartet Music Co. From 1907 to 1912 he was editor of the Musical Light Magazine. It was during this period, I believe, that J. W. Ferrill and I were associated with him on the editorial staff.

Due to advanced years, he says he is inactive in the music field and performs only limited ministerial duties. One wonders if it ever possible for a man to really go on the inactive list who has written and composed 120 Gospel songs and is author of the words of an additional 1000 hymns? Sixty-two crowded years of composing, editing and preaching project a man far into the future and his influence will continue to bless man by presenting a philosophy which is good to live by and better still to die by. He is only physically resting, but the great work he has wrought is still active in the lives of men.

For many years the demand for his song-words was so great that, to keep his name from being so conspicuous, he wrote under the pen-names of Lawrence Love, Carl Cross and Paul Ponder. Probably the late Jim Rowe of New York is the only man who approached Allphin's record as co-author of hymns.

At present he is engaged in helping out on a project very dear to his heart—collaborating with Carl Gardner in compiling and editing a biographical song book featuring the life and songs of the late F. L. Eiland. Prof. Eiland was not only his musical instructor but was a sort of second father to the orphaned youngster. An abridged edition of the book will be available soon.

Everyday Religion

By J. B. Thompson

Our Invisible Selves

We live in a world of things. Reality consists of visibility. Seeing is believing, we say. But the real world is invisible. We ourselves are invisible. Our bodies are seen but our real selves are never seen.

No mirror is so bright and polished that one can never see his real self. Photographic plates are made so sensitive today that pictures can be taken in darkness. But no photographic plate will ever take a picture of personality; of self.

The creative forces all about us are invisible. We can see the created things but not the creator. On the awe-inspiring edge of things seen we can feel the real world of things not seen.

A great writer long ago said it best: "The things which are seen are temporal; but the things which are not seen are eternal."

MRS. CAIN WRITES

Mrs. Sue Cain, in a letter to The News from 1321 E. Mallory Street, Pensacola, Florida, sends best wishes to friends here and writes:

"You are having winter, so is Florida, freezing two nights this week and a promise of more to-night (Jan. 6). Sunny Florida! What do you think of that?"

Help keep Tahoka clean!

Of the many hymns he has written his favorite is, "What Fruit Shall I Behold?" This beautiful hymn, in the form of a question, expresses a hope that God's investment in his life has paid a dividend. In the hearts of many who have learned from his songs the true meaning of life is an affirmative answer to the hope expressed in this delightful hymn:

"When the night shades are east,
And the harvest is past,
When among the earth's gleaners
no more I shall be;
While the time draweth nigh,
This I'm wondering, shall I
There behold any sheaves
that were garnered by me?
Refrain—
"At set of life's sun, When reaping is done,
When gleaners, the fruits of their labor, shall see,
With rapture untold, May I there behold
Many bright golden sheaves
that were garnered by me."
I have given you a brief sketch of the life of a Christian soldier in the army of the Lord whose brilliant career began in Limestone county 62 years ago. He has many accomplishments to his credit but one is impressed that his life-work has been to glory God and to justify the faith and kindness of tones who extended helpful friendship when an orphan boy needed a friend the most. He lives in Tahoka, Texas. To him the writer extends a special salute.

Geo. Smalls . . .

(Cont'd. From Front Page)
 Wright, who had come to Brown county in the early 1870s, and wife. Incidentally, Dr. Wright attended George's mother when she died.
 Mr. and Mrs. Small were married on December 4, 1898, at May, near Brownwood.
 In June of 1902, Mr. Small came out to the Plains and bought two sections of land east of the present Wells. In the place, he built a 16' by 24-foot dugout, located about three miles east of the present Wells store.
 This was the beginning of Small's colorful and varied career in Lynn county, since which time he has been stock farmer, cotton farmer, freighter, wagon yard operator, deputy sheriff, lumber yard manager, hardware and furniture store owner, county commissioner, not necessarily in that order, and more lately retired and the owner of some fine irrigated land.
 The dugout complete, he went back to Brown county for his family, household goods and other belongings. Era (Mrs. Irving Stewart) was just a baby.
 Mrs. Small, while minding the baby, drove the wagon and team of four horses while Mr. Small drove all by himself his 126 head of cows and calves. They were on the road three weeks, camping out at night, and arrived at the homestead dugout early in November, 1902.
 George says when he unloaded his little family and household goods in the one-room "mansions" he had just one $20.00 bill in addition to his cattle, wagon and horses.
 The next spring, Dr. Wright having died back in Brown county, the Doctor's wife, Mrs. Small's mother, and two children, Critie (later Mrs. Claude Wells) and Olive Wright, all now dead, piled in on them. They were really glad to have them for company out in that lonesome area, although he admits it was a little crowded with six people bundled up in a 16x20 one-room dugout.
 The situation was soon alleviated when he sold a section of his land for $500.00 and built a house.

He freighted in lumber and supplies from Big Spring.
 That spring, 1903, a store had been established at Tahoka by Sweet and King, soon later bought out by the late J. S. Wells and Jim Welcher.
 The move got on foot that spring for the organization of Lynn county, and George held the election at T-Bar, in the B. Humphrie home. Mrs. Small accused George of casting a vote for Dixie Small in the election, which does not sound too bad unless one knows that Dixie was their pet saddle mare. Fourteen notes were in that voting box. He also helped build the first school house at T-Bar.
 After six or seven happy years on the ranch, the Smalls moved to Tahoka in 1909. The next year, March 1, 1910, the year the railroad came to Tahoka, he became manager of Higginbotham-Bartlett Lumber yard, a position he held until 1931.
 In the meantime, the late A. D. Shook had built a pretentious brick hotel building in Tahoka which covered the entire half block now occupied by Harris Hardware, Lynn Theatre, Tahoka Drug, Marshall-Brown, and Bennett Variety. But the building burned soon after completion in 1922.
 Small bought the rubbish from the burned building and erected the block of present buildings. In the building now occupied by Harris and the vacant theatre, Small established a hardware, furniture and undertaking business. The late J. K. Applewhite managed the business, and in 1926 Small sold the business to W. H. Harris and Mr. Applewhite.
 After 1931, Mr. Small farmed his section and a half of land two miles east of Tahoka. He sold this place in 1943 and bought a half section at Petty, where he now has three irrigation wells.
 In the meantime, he served Precinct 1 as county commissioner for three terms.
 Although quiet and reserved, Mrs. Small (even George admits) has been the "power behind the throne" and has had a pretty big job keeping George straightened out. She has managed to keep George going to their church, the First Methodist, most of the time.

John Royal of Menard, Texas, was named 1958's top soil conservationist in Texas during the Soil Conservation District Supervisors Convention in Abilene. He received the Texas Bank and Trust Company's Eighth Annual Award of $500 for soil conservation.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to express my appreciation to the Methodist, Kumbly Sunday School Class for its donation of shoes and for the money that made the way possible for a little Mexican girl, Lupe Ramirez, to undergo an ear operation in a Lubbock hospital. Also I would like to thank Mr. and Mrs. Charles Townes for their donation. Words cannot express how much I appreciate the acts of kindness shown me by these people that make it possible for less fortunate children to attend school. Again I say "Thanks." Mrs. Lillian McCord, School Nurse.

C. W. Meeks underwent major surgery in Tahoka Hospital Jan. 9. His condition is said to be satisfactory.

Mrs. Beulah Atkins is a medical patient in the hospital.

PHILLIPS TIPS

Carl McClintock - Kermit Brown

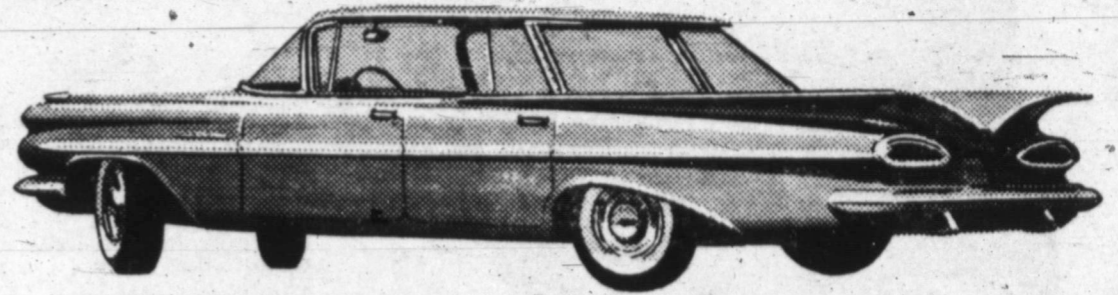

The Smalls have three living children, Mrs. Stewart and Maurice Small, both of Tahoka, and Mrs. J. Q. (Alice) Warnick of Lubbock; four grandchildren, and six great grandchildren.
 As can be imagined by anyone who knows Mr. Small, he did quite a bit of "chousing around" as a young fellow. He even put in a "hitch" as a race horse jockey. He was riding a horse in a race at Abilene at 19 years of age, when his mount left the track, ran into a back, and George received a badly broken leg. The accident put him in bed for more than a year, and he still walks with a limp because of the injury.
 Steve Smith, 16-month old son of Mr. and Mrs. Rayford Smith, is a medical patient in the hospital.
