The story of

WILLIAM ALLEN WHITE and The Church Bell

"I don't need to advertise," an established merchant in Kansas once told William Allen White, renowned publisher of The Emporia Gazette. "Everybody knows me and knows what I sell."

"In that event," replied the thoughtful publisher, "we can dispense with the oldest advertising medium for the oldest institution in the world. See that church down the street," continued Mr. White, pointing to one of Emporia's oldest and most beautiful structures, "That church has been established here for many years. Everyone knows what it is and what it does. In the tower of the church is a bell and every Sunday it rings out to remind folks to come to church.

"Shoppers go where they are invited and stay where they are well treated," concluded the publisher.

"Regardless of how well established a firm may be, newspaper advertising is a repeated invitation and a reminder to come and do business with that store."

Lynn County Soil Conservation District News

E. R. BLAKNEY, O. E. TERRY, ELLIS BARNES, W. L. (Cap) ROWE, ELMER BLANKENSHIP

Taken from an article by Dr. A. W. Young, Head of Agronomy Department, Texas Tech College. Suggested steps for better soil conservation in West Texas include: 1. The first step in the solution of the erosion problem in West Texas is the realization by the farmer that he has a potential erosion problem. 2. The second step is the desire on the part of the individual farmer to do something about the erosion problem on his land. 3. The third step is a survey of the farm to determine the degree and extent of erosion which has taken place or which can occur. 4. In the fourth step the farmer must determine, on the basis of the findings from his survey, the plan which should be used to provide adequate protective cover on each acre of his farm land. 5. A fifth step which must be considered is to provide adequate financing to carry out the planned program. 6. A sixth and very important step includes the management of the residue cover after it is produced. It should be maintained as long as needed on the soil surface to protect the land from erosion by wind and water. West Texas farmers can help reduce the number of acres of land which are damaged each year by wind and water erosion by producing and properly managing the protective residues on their cultivated acreages.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS" BY C. WILSON HARDER

A constant query from readers of this column is as follows: "Why is it that my small business must pay out so much in taxes. Where does the money go?"

It is perhaps, in answer to that question, well to ponder the situation in Nepal. No one should be embarrassed if they have never heard of Nepal, because some 8 1/2 million people between India and Himalaya mountains with rich forests and farms.

But now the fact that many people have not heard of this little land does not mean too much, because the International Cooperation Administration, the current name for the foreign give away set up has heard of it. In fact, the ICA has something like 50 people working in Nepal. Half of them are in the Grade 4 or better salary grade. In fact these fifty people are drawing down the foreign give away administration funds anywhere from $6,000 to $18,700 per year, largely tax exempt.

Now there are all kinds of "experts" on the payroll including such functionaries as home economic advisors, community development advisors, health education advisors. In fact, it appears that there are just lots of Americans sitting around on big tax free salaries all day long advising the people of Nepal on practically everything. Whether or not the people of Nepal want advice is another matter.

And in the event the people of Nepal get worn out from listening to all of the soil blowing this part of the year originated from dirt roads and turnrows. If the field borders and turn rows had been protected very slight wind erosion damage would have occurred. Winter cover crops are essential to quell for furnishing cover and green food yielding vitamin A. Farmstead areas can be seeded to winter rye or annual rye grass to produce lawns and cover.

C. W. Harder, some 8 1/2 million people between India and Himalaya mountains with rich forests and farms.

tening to so much advice from so many "experts" from America, they presumably can relax occasionally as the foreign give away administration also maintains a recreation supervisor.

Now here is one nation where it appears that whatever they get out of the give away deal, most of it is merely advice.

According to data available, over the past ten years ICA has allocated to this little country around $10 million, or some where around a million dollars per year.

Now the salaries for this corps of advisors, plus other fringe benefits thrown in, must run well over a half million dollars per year, so little free goods goes to Nepal.

But the cost of giving advice is what hurts in this instance. It would perhaps be far cheaper to give every resident of Nepal a few addressed and stamped envelopes every year and let them write to Washington whenever they want any advice.

Then the American advisors could be brought home, perhaps find jobs in private industry, pay taxes on their salaries.

On the second thought, it is possible that American private business has all the advisors they need, and those the foreign give away program sent to Nepal are surplus advisors something like surplus U. S. corn.

But it still is hard to imagine what 8 1/2 million people of Nepal do with over a half million dollars worth of free American advice every year. Perhaps some of these advisors should be brought home to advise the American taxpayer why he should foot the bill for giving out with such free advice. That would be, undoubtedly, a most fascinating venture.

Cecil said the cattle were fat and beautiful on the rangelands all the way down, and there were also some beautiful "and-shapely" "cat-like" on the beach.

Everyday Religion
By J. B. Thompson
Someone has said that there are three classes of people: those who MAKE things happen; those who WATCH things happen; and those who HAVE NO IDEA WHAT IS HAPPENING. Which class do we belong in?
Since I know more about church work than any other I often look at the church in this light. There is the group in the church, sometimes very small, who make things happen, who lead out in real Christian living and service. Then there are those who just watch, often sympathetically, but still they just watch. They are for it; they believe in it, but they do not help. They just watch. Some of them watch for something to criticize—something to complain about.
But the most pathetic, and I fear by far the largest group, are those who have no idea what is happening. In September of 1620 the Pilgrims set sail from England to America seeking a new home and new opportunities for worship and liberty. They were making things happen; a few watched what was happening, but I am sure most of the people had no idea that anything important was going on.
One of the finest Promotion Days that ever came to a person is when he is promoted from the second or third group into the first. To become one of those who MAKE things happen.

Four Lynn county citizens, E. L. Blankenship, Otis Spears, Frank Hill, and W. M. Mathis, will serve as a County Farm Labor Committee and met with Mr. Joe Spears, Manager of the Texas Employment Commission office, to review the total seasonal employment needs developed by the TEC.

The Committee was presented with the figures of the TEC that Lynn County will be short 7200 cotton pullers during the peak period of the cotton harvest. This shortage will be met by the importation of Mexican National Bracero workers.

The Committee will function under Public Law 78, obtaining facts relevant to the supply of domestic farm workers existing in Lynn county and the shortage of workers, if any, which must be met by importing Mexican Nationals to harvest the cotton crop.

Under Public Law 78 the TEC must supply this information to the Secretary of Labor who must limit the number of Mexican Nationals to be used in this county by granting a "ceiling". The Committee consults with the Local Office Manager to assist him in estimating the number of workers who will be needed, based on current local conditions affecting the cotton crop.

"Ceilings" granted by the Secretary of Labor limiting the importation of Mexican Nationals into this area will be posted in Post Offices in Tahoka, Wilson, in the County Agent's Office, and in the County Courthouse.

INMAN FAMILY REUNION The Inman family reunion will be held Sunday, Sept. 13, in the New Home Community Center, according to Mrs. Travis Inman. All friends of the family are invited.

Ketner Dies . . .

settlers from filing on land leased and grazed by them, the cattlemen made a practice of re-leasing their land, before the lease in force expired—called lapse-leasing.

Mr. Ketner bowed his neck and filed a civil suit in court. The case was a long, bitter drawn-out fight, and many prominent Texas lawyers had a hand in it, most of them representing the cattlemen. Eventually, however, the courts ruled in Mr. Ketner's favor, in effect saying that ranchers could not re-lease before present leases expired, and Mr. Ketner was permitted to keep the land on which he had legally filed.

This permitted potential settlers, or nesters, to file on the state lands the day these leases expired. But, the ranchers did not give up so easily. On filing days, they sent their cowboys in to file on these lands, too. This resulted in the "land rushes" and skirmishes between the cowmen and the settlers at the court houses in Gail, Lubbock, Big Spring, and possibly other nearby county seats.

In effect, the court decision resulted in the opening of thousands of acres on the South Plains to settlement.

When Lynn county was organized in 1903, Mr. Ketner was elected a county commissioner. He had a hand in practically all the progressive moves for the development of the county.

Later, he entered the mercantile business in Tahoka and in 1911 erected a substantial brick building which still stands immediately adjacent to the First National Bank on the north.

He acquired a farm at the south-east outskirts of Tahoka in more recent years. Mr. Ketner remained fairly active until just a few years ago, and it was only about two years ago that he quit raising chickens and livestock.

His loyal companion and mother of his ten living children died here on August 12, 1952.

Mr. Ketner was a member of the Methodist Church.

All his children were here for the funeral except two daughters, Mrs. Elmer (Kate) Coughran and Mrs. Carl (Ruth) Sherrod, who live in California and who had visited him at Los Lunas a short time before his death.

Survivors include four sons, Ross E. Ketner of San Antonio, J. E. Jr. of Baton Rouge, La., Coughran of Seminole, and T. V. (Toy) of San Diego, Calif.; six daughters, Mrs. J. C. (Ruby) Burgett of Galveston, Mrs. Coughran of St. Helena Calif., Mrs. Sherrod of Hesperia, Calif., Mrs. Hugh (Etta) Gray of Los Lunas, Mrs. W. E. (Joyce) Smith of Tahoka, and Mrs. Frank (Perle) Foote of Napa, Calif.; 21 grandchildren, 25 great grandchildren; and 10 great, great grandchildren, a total of 66 direct descendants.

Coaches Tell Of Football Plans

J. D. Atwell, new head football coach, and Maurice Hodges, the new assistant, were the speakers at Tahoka Rotary Club Thursday noon of last week.

Atwell said the coaches are very pleased to be in Tahoka and have found the boys they have to be well disciplined and that their attitude toward the game is good.

He was sorry that about 14 boys had quit the squad, but he said the 35 boys remaining apparently want to play the game and are willing to go through the rough knocks to build a team.

Atwell said the only way he knows to teach football is through hard blocking and hard tackling. Without these, no team can be a winning team.

There will be quite a bit of shifting around of players this fall. For instance, he said, fans may see as many as three quarterbacks playing in the backfield at one time.

Basically, the split-T formation

Leaders Of Band Named For Year

Tahoka High School drum majors this year are Mickey Owens and Terry Spears.

Majorities are Mary Jane McCord, Iris Gayle Tyler, Peggy Polk and Sue Walker.

These six students will lead the band during the half-time activities of football games, their first performance being tonight when the Bulldogs meet the Seminole Indians.

will be used, but there will be variations of this formation. The type of defense used will vary from week to week, depending on the type of team Tahoka will be playing.

"If the boys will stay with us, we will stay with them," he declared. There is a lot of work to do, but in the end he believes the team will develop and prove to be a pretty good football team.

He says the coaches are learning a lot from the scrimmages.

Coach Hodges also spoke briefly, reiterating some of the things Coach Atwell had said. "We believe we have the hard nucleus of boys who will put out to build a team," he said.

Coach Tom Bartley and Athletic Director Jake Jacobs were also guests of the club.

Johnny Reasonover, the program chairman, introduced the new coaches.

Jimmy Whorton Writes Of Travels Over Europe During The Summer

James T. (Jimmy) Whorton, working and traveling in Europe this summer through appointment from the American-European Student Foundation, Inc., at the request of The News, has written the following account of some of his travels in company with Ronnie Parker of Hamlin, who worked for the Tahoka Methodist Church last summer.

The world built entirely on water (the other is Siam), is one of the most unique in all of Europe from this tourist's point of view. When I think of Europe, I see ancient and colorful traditions, which she has in abundance. Nonetheless, in all of her large cities there are still traffic jams and Woolworth stores, just as we have in the States. Everywhere, this is, except Venice!

The people have made our nomadic trip wonderful in Belgium, Joe (Jo) Tasiaux, Rotary guest here last summer, was thrilled to see someone from Tahoka, and in Germany so many considerate individuals went out of their way to help us, Ronnie Parker and me. However, the Austrian patience with two Texans who could not speak a word of their language amazed me.

In this city on the water there are no automobiles and the quiet that this happy circumstance affords is broken only by wonderful sounds—the bells sounding on the hour and half hour, the soft lap of the water, the pigeons flying about in St. Mark's Square.

Perhaps I should cite some of the more enjoyable experiences. Our first trip took us to see Holland, Belgium and Luxemburg. Six of us were all wedged in a Volkswagen.

Tourists from all of the world stroll along the narrow streets or alleyways which house shops displaying the glassware and lace that this region is noted for.

Our first stop our of Frankfurt was a view of the Rhine River. Then, we moved on to Bonn, the capital of West Germany, and after that Cologne. In Cologne, we visited the beautiful Cathedral, Germany's most magnificent and beautiful Gothic building (13th Century).

After a day of criss-crossing the canals by bridges, Ron and I took a gondola ride. These graceful boats cutting through the calm waters of the canals which cover the entire island have an exciting sound all their own. The singing gondoliers, with their expressive Italian way, skillfully maneuver their crafts through sights that are more than romantic. These are "sounds" and "sights" of a city I'll never forget.

The next stop was Amsterdam, Holland, where we spent the night on the floor because of lack of space. Sunday found Ron and I desperately searching for an English speaking church. The local police directed us to the Church of England, where we two Methodists were accepted with warm hearts displayed by firm and friendly handshakes.

Stars and stripes in the American flag were suggested by the coat of arms of the Washington family.

The "State-side six" saddled the baby Volkswagen again and, after visiting the site of the World's Fair in Brussels, stopped in Namur, Belgium, and surprised Joe, last summer's Rotary guest. Before we uncoiled our packed bodies, another country, Luxemburg, was added to our list. The mountains were blanketed with green, massive, towering trees. In Holland, the traditional windmills remained a vital part of our enjoyable experiences into these foreign lands when we arrived back in Frankfurt.

Ron and I found a ride back to Frankfurt, and we are now deciding on our next trip. We may go to Berlin and then into the Scandinavian countries. Our money is getting low, but we want to see Europe while we are over here.

Trip To Austria
Ron and I found a ride to Vienna, Austria, which started our second interesting trip. Again, we left Frankfurt in a small Volkswagen, but this time there were only three passengers instead of six.

Stars and stripes in the American flag were suggested by the coat of arms of the Washington family.

Our first night was spent in Garmisch-Partenkirchen, a small German town near the Austrian border. Ron and I spent the night in a Youth Hostel away up on the mountainside.

Stars and stripes in the American flag were suggested by the coat of arms of the Washington family.

The next day, we left for Vienna, na, stopped for an afternoon at Innsbruck. Early the following morning, Ron and I stood in Vienna with our sleeping bags and gear wondering which direction to move. After finding a place to sleep, we decided to stay a full week.

Stars and stripes in the American flag were suggested by the coat of arms of the Washington family.

During our stay, we saw art museums, old government buildings, and many more interesting places. Vienna is situated about 45 miles from the Hungarian border. We took a tour to see the barbed wire fence and the old road to Budapest, which has not been traveled for ten years. There was not much to see except the Communist guards in high sentry towers constantly watching the border with orders to fire if any Hungarian should attempt to pass. After leaving the "Iron Curtain," one thought was left in my mind, and that is how lucky we are to live in a FREE country.

Stars and stripes in the American flag were suggested by the coat of arms of the Washington family.

See Venice, Italy
The third part of our travels takes us through the Southern section of Austria down to Venice, Italy.

Stars and stripes in the American flag were suggested by the coat of arms of the Washington family.

Printer's Ink-lings . . .

By F. P. H.

If you haven't seen the roadside park lately, drive out and take a look; or better still, take your picnic supper out there and enjoy its beauty a while. The Highway maintenance boys have done a wonderful job in making this one of the most beautiful little roadside parks to be found anywhere.

This farming business gets more modern and more complicated every year. We hear that several New Home farmers have installed two-way radio equipment so that they can, while out supervising operations in the field, keep in contact with the home, the neighbors, and New Home stores. E. R. Blakney is one of those who has installed such radio equipment to save time and trouble.

Small boy's definition of conscientiousness:

Something that makes you tell your mother before your sister does.—Cheer.

The ink was hardly dry on last week's edition of The News when the sad report came that Ed Ketner, 92, had died. Mr. Ketner was probably the last family head to pass away who settled here before the county was organized. There are several widows of such family heads still living. Ed Ketner was another of our fine pioneers who did much to open this country up for settlement.

Mrs. Walter May of Lubbock, who settled with her husband in a dirt-floor frame house east of Tahoka Lake in 1901, is one of the fine pioneer settlers of our land still gallivanting around. We were thinking the other day how amazing it is she manages to keep looking so young and to maintain such a sunny disposition. She still drives her own car, although her daughter, Mrs. B. W. Baker, tries to accompany her most of the time in her sashays over the area.

George Duckworth of Post once told this story on Mr. and Mrs. May: He said that while working for the Square and Compass, we think it was, he was out on the Plains looking for strays when he came upon a new shanty out east of Tahoka Lake. No one was at home, but he saw a lady plowing sod and when she had plowed back near the house, George asked: "Where's the man of the house?" Mrs. May replied, "Aw, he's out with the dogs hunting rabbits while I plow."

On its face, the above story sounds humorous today, but the truth is these hardy pioneers who stayed with the land found the land was good to them. Mrs. May was probably doing what she could to get a start while Mr. May was trying to provide food for the table.

Some third graders were being drilled on health rules. "Cleanliness is next to what?" the teacher asked. Jimmy's hand went up. "I know," he said. "It's next to impossible."

In spite of the many new homes being built this summer, there is still a housing shortage in Tahoka. Almost every day, someone comes to The News hunting a place to live. It is to be hoped a way can be found to furnish sufficient housing to those who would like to live in Tahoka.

Mrs. Joe (Vernell) Robinson whose husband has a part of the historic JA Ranch at Clarendon under lease, writes: "Twice since moving to Clarendon we missed receiving The Lynn County News, and you've no idea how awful it is not knowing what is happening down there. Please put a red circle around our name so you can't miss us!" We're terribly sorry, Vernell. Hope you don't miss any more issues.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Billman, Grandview, write: "We enjoy The News and the Ink-lings. Hope everyone is well and happy."

Don't expect to go through life without criticism. Those who escape criticism are the unborn and dead. . . . Those who go through life without work may be lucky, if you can call it that, but just the same someone pays the bill.—Moody Courier.

Some of the mothers in our block—on North Third east of the schools—are up in arms over the speeding and fast take-offs by drivers along this busy street. One lady is threatening to start taking down car numbers and report the same to police. Little children don't know how dangerous it is to stray out into the thoroughfare, unmindful of cars. Sometimes, intent on play, they dash out into the street unexpectedly. We've been lucky so far. We hope drivers will remember the little children when driving down our street—and all the other streets in town.

Police Chief Jack Miller has issued a warning that tickets are being issued to all those found violating traffic laws. He says he is cracking down on speeders and stop sign-runners, especially in the vicinity of the schools.

Heard somewhere: Now, all our Democratic party needs is a "silent Butler."

Sign on soft drink machine out of order: "This machine taketh but giveth not."

Many stories are told about the late Charley Brown, pioneer real estate man who was instrumental in bringing many people to Lynn county.

On one occasion he was driving a prospector from East Texas around over the county, pointing out the merits of our land and trying to tie down a sale. "All this

Harmon Tells Of Recent Earthquake
"I'd rather be in a tornado than an earthquake," stated W. D. Harmon, who with his wife went through the terrifying earthquake Yellowstone, they were badly "shaken up" and got out of there the next day.

Although they were at West Thumb in the park, about fifty miles from the heavily damaged area on Madison River near West Yellowstone, they were badly "shaken up" and out of there the next day.

Harmon says they had stopped for the night in one of those frail frame cabins. The first big shock was terrifying. He says no one can imagine the feeling. It seemed, he said, everything was shaking up and down and sidewise at the same time, their innards danced around, and they feared the cabin would come apart. To say the least, the quake made one feel terribly helpless.

Mr. Harmon, who is manager of Foka-Lambro Rural Telephone Co-operative, and wife and others were on a vacation trip seeing the Yellowstone and other sights of the Rocky Mountain area.

county needs," declared Charley, "is more water and more good people." To which the East Texan replied: "Why that's all Hell needs."

Jimmy Bragg and Bill Barham one day recently killed two bobcat kittens after Ross Smith had discovered the mother cat and her brood under a house at his farm. On finding the cats and not having a gun, Ross called in Jimmy and Bill, who shot the kittens with a .22 rifle. The mother bobcat and one or two kittens got away into a nearby sorghum alnum field.

Newspapers Best Advertising Media

Last year was a very bad year in the U S automobile industry. Sales were far under both past and anticipated levels. There was but one exception—American Motors, with its Rambler car, whose sales zoomed astonishing 80 per cent.

So something reported by Editor & Publisher in a late issue is of great interest.

The television people claim the world for their advertising medium. But American motors, in setting its 1958 record, spent more than two-thirds of its $6 million advertising budget in newspapers, and absolutely nothing on TV.

The other makes all spent large parts of their ad budget on TV.

Editor & Publisher says: "It will be argued, of course, that 1958 was an usual year, that too many other factors enter into automobile sales, and that these figures are meaningless. We agree.

"It seems to us that the coincidence—the manufacturer placing the largest percentage of his advertising appropriation in television and having the largest percentage drop in sales together with the fact that the only manufacturer who spent no money in TV but had the only increase in sales—is too great to ignore."

TV is a great medium but nothing can supplant the newspaper.

"No need to schedule baths at our home," says Mrs. Dan Staggs, 100 East 15th St., Littlefield, Texas.
"We have ELECTRIC WATER HEATING!"

The Staggs family live in a completely all-electric home — their home, was, in fact, the first Gold Medallion home to be certified under the high standards set by the Medallion Home program. Electricity is doing a clean, dependable job for the Staggs. They like all their electric appliances and with 5 in the family, they appreciate, all the more, the abundance of hot water that they get from flameless electric water heating.
SPECIAL LOW RATES FOR WATER HEATING
Yes, ask your Public Service office about the special water heating rate. It makes electric water heating economical, too.
