The time to get primed for the future is when you're still in your prime.

As a whole, Lynn county crops are doing fine and most farmers have prospects for a good crop.

However, additional rains and a burning sandstorm Sunday night did damage to many crops and have almost wiped out a few more fields. Heavy showers fell in the county Sunday night, Monday afternoon, Wednesday afternoon, and light rain was falling in Tahoka again Thursday morning.

The high wind, accompanied at places by rain, Sunday night burned much cotton and some young maize, especially on farms where it had been too wet for farmers to get in the fields to work their crops. Heaviest damage, possibly, was in the north part of the county.

In the Monday afternoon rain, Tahoka received only .22 inch in a hard dash, but south of Draw the rain measured more than two inches. Some light hail fell in the Draw area, but no serious damage has been reported to the News. Some estimate cotton acreage lost to rain, hail and sand damage will run up to 10,000 acres.

Some farmers are still unable to get in their fields with tractors, but most of them are working out their crops as rapidly as possible.

Three Men At Fireman School

Three Tahoka volunteer firemen, Alton Kelley, James Huey, and Pat Patterson, are attending the 31st annual Texas Firemen's Training School at Texas A. and M. College.

Kelley is taking the basic fireman's course, Huey the assistant fire marshal course, and Patterson the fire department officer training work.

Community savings amounting from three to five percent key rate insurance credit will be earned by Texas cities and towns who have firemen attending the school, according to Henry D. Smith, Chief of Firemen Training for the Engineering Extension Service, Texas A and M College System. These cities and towns will receive this credit if their firemen successfully pass the test for their selected course, Smith stated.

Attendance at the school has increased from the 196 who attended the first school to the anticipated 1600 who will participate this year. More than 250 Instructors and Administrative personnel will take an active part in conducting the school this year.

Over 35,000 gallons of gasoline, oil, butane and propane fuel, plus thousands of dollars worth of chemical extinguishing agents and equipment will be used during the week of training for the student firemen, in ten different courses.

The 1,600 students, instructors, administrative staff and visitors, representing city, county, state, industrial and armed services come from 20 states, other than Texas and registrations have been received from four foreign countries.

4H, F. F. A. Boys Visit The South

Ten O'Donnell 4-H and FFA boys returned Friday from a five-day trip along with a group of 36 boys and five leaders to Dallas, Louisiana, and Mississippi as a reward for achievements the past year, according to County Agent Bill Griffin.

Sponsor of the O'Donnell boys' trip was Farmers Co-op Gin of O'Donnell, and other boys and leaders on the trip were from Dawson county.

At Dallas, the group visited Western Hatcheries, Murray Gin Co., Mitchell Manufacturing Co., and Safeway Warehouses.

From there, the group went to Marshall, where they visited a typical East Texas farm and Duddo Lake.

The next stop was a Tallulah, La., where they visited four cotton plantations, a mill and a box factory.

Terminus of the trip was at Vicksburg, Miss., where they visited the Civil War Battleground, the Old Courthouse Museum, and the old Steamship Sprague, once known as the "Queen of the Mississippi."

4-H Club boys making the trip were: Ronnie Wood, Lyndol Askew, and Harold, and Robert Besire.

FFA boys were: Bobby Burton, Venson Caswell, uster Snellgrove, Jimmy Garrett, and Billy Russ.

Mr. Griffin says the trip was very interesting and educational.

Science farmers produce goods for sale, and in addition must take the risks of weather, insects, and plant diseases, they cannot count on any such thing as "wages per hour." Their average earnings are well below the minimum wages established for most other workers by law, and still farther below the average wages paid in industry.

A lemon grower, with electronic machines, can sort and field pack 10,800 lemons an hour—a job which would require 40 hand workers.

TARGET

AN IMPROVED U. S. Army Nike Hercules air defense guided missile, in an engineering feasibility demonstration, destroys a Corporal ballistic missile fired at White Sands Missile Range, N. M. While the Corporal has much less range and speed than the inter-continental ballistic missiles, the test yielded valuable information pertinent to the development of an anti-missile defense, the Army said. Closing at a speed of thousands of miles per hour, the Hercules intercepts and destroys the Corporal in the first known kill of a guided missile by another. A previous kill was made by the Army's Hawk against the Honest John, a ballistic missile. In the sequence above, the Hercules appears on top as a flash of light as it approaches the Corporal for the kill. At left is the Hercules at take-off and at right is the Corporal which served as the target.

They were accompanied by Col. and Mrs. Leslie A. Smith and three daughters from Massachusetts, where he is stationed in the U. S. Air Force. The Smiths also expect to visit his mother in Utah before returning home. Mrs. Smith is the former Miss Polly Walker.

Machine Harvest Is On Increase

College Station—Increased mechanization marked the 1959-60 cotton harvest in Texas.

In keeping with the national trend, machine stripping and picking accounted for 44 percent of the Texas upland cotton harvest. A year earlier, it was 35 percent. Hand picking and snapping, with 56 percent, still predominated, however.

A survey by the Agricultural Marketing Service, in cooperation with ginners, compressmen and warehousemen, shows that 42 percent of the state's 4,371,000 bales ginned was hand snapped, and 14 percent hand picked, compared to 49 and 16 percent, respectively, in 1958-59. Machine picking gained from 4 to 10 percent, and machine stripping increased from 31 to 34 percent.

By comparison, the 1959-60 national average was 39 percent hand picked; 18 per cent, hand snapped; 31 percent, machine picked (a new high); and 12 percent machine stripped. A year earlier, U. S. growers harvested 44 percent by hand picking; 22 percent by hand snapping; 21 percent, machine picking; and 13 percent by machine strippers.

Oklahoma, Texas and New Mexico, with 48, 34 and 5 percent respectively, were the only states that employed machine stripping extensively. South Carolina led with 92 percent hand-picked cotton and California was first in machine picking with 83 percent.

The AMS survey also reveals that Texas growers paid an average of $15.94 for ginning and wrapping each 500-pound gross-weight bale. A year earlier it was $15.40. Charges for bagging and ties, alone, averaged $4.34 a bale, 8 cents more than in 1958-59. The nation average last season was $15.02, total charges, and $4.29 for bagging and ties only.

Last year, it took 1,435 pounds of Texas hand-picked seed cotton to make an average 500-pound bale, compared to the Cottonbelt average of 1,406. A bale of hand snapped cotton in Texas required 1,932 pounds; machine picked, 1,515; and machine stripped, 2,078.

Miss LaRhea Greathouse, who has been attending Texas Woman's University at Denton, is not attending the second summer session but is visiting relatives in Brownstown, Indiana, until August 1.

Care Of Soil In Irrigation

College Station—Since soil is one of the most valuable assets a farmer possesses, its care and management should be a primary concern.
Much of the land in Texas is irrigated, and this poses additional problems and considerations for the farmer. To be able to manage this irrigated land correctly, he must understand the processes of soil formation, the texture and structure of the soil, the physical condition and organic content, the relationship between soil and water, the use of fertilizer on irrigated soils, the development of plants, and the sources of plant nutrients. These factors must also be taken into consideration by the farmer who is trying to decide whether or not to irrigate.
John Box, assistant extension agronomist, and William F. Bennett, extension soil chemist for the Texas A & M College System, have written an informative and comprehensive publication on the irrigation and management of Texas soils. They discuss the many aspects of irrigation, and the publication should be helpful to anyone who is considering irrigation or who already operates an irrigation farm. The bulletin may be obtained from the local county agent or by writing the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas. Ask for B-941.
Arthur Hagens of Lubbock, formerly of Wilson, was a visitor in Tahoka Saturday. He said his farm at Wilson, which is operated by Cecil Wied, was not heavily damaged in the recent storm.

CHILEAN CHARMER—This tiny Chilean child is too young to realize the tragedy which struck her country—but not too young to know that she can trustfully seek the helping hands of American soldiers. Medical units and Engineers of the U. S. Army's Strategic Army Corps rushed early to aid the stricken country and continue round-the-clock work in their humanitarian role.

A. V. Autry Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Autry, 3011 Fordham, Lubbock, was a patient in Tahoka Hospital last week after he received a fractured arm while playing.
Production per man-hour has increased almost four times as fast (90 per cent) on farms as in industrial employment (24 per cent) in the past 11 years.

O. J. Stanley of Grassland, one of the farmers whose cotton crop was hailed out, reports that the cotton he left is doing no good and he has little hopes for it. Such is the case with most of the cotton which received severe hail damage. In fact, many farmers with severe hail damage replanted to maize.

QUESTIONS, PLEASE
QUESTION: "What Causes religious division?"
ANSWER: There are many factors that cause religious division. One of these factors is feelings that may deceive. Just because one feels that he is religiously right does not make it so. "There is a way which seemeth right unto man: But the end thereof are the ways of death." (Prov. 14:12). Prejudices that may blind is another contributing factor. The prophecy of Isaiah (Isa. 6:9, 10) points out that one can see but actually not see, and hear but not understand because of a hardening of the mind due to prejudices. Creeds of man will confuse the religious world. God's word is complete (2 Tim. 3:16, 17). One can be a Christian without following a creed book of man. "But in vain do they worship me, teaching as their doctrines the precepts of men" (Mk. 7:7). Indifference toward God's word will stupefy the mind and cause divisions. When man, who is supposed to be teaching God's word, sees religious error and does not warn against it, he contributes to religious division. (Ezek. 33:8). Another cause is imaginations that will not yield (2 Cor. 10:5). Leaders who cannot see contribute to religious confusion (Mt. 15:14). It is very easy to fall into the category of the Jews who stoned Stephen. As they were about to stone him he cried out, "I see the Son of man standing on the right hand of God." At this they stopped their ears and rushed on him and put him to death. When one teaches the truth of God today, which contradicts many of our deeds, we stop our ears and defame the name of the teacher. Cowards who compromise truth for error cause much of the religious division. "If any one cometh unto you, and bringeth not this teaching, receive him not into your house, and give him no greeting: for he that giveth him greeting partaketh in his evil works." (2 Jno. 10, 11). You are invited to send your questions to: Bob Barnes, Box 812, Tahoka, Texas. You are also invited to attend all the services of the church of Christ.

SIDE-DRESSING TIME

There Is a Difference in Fertilizers

TRY

Liquid Fertilizer

And You'll Know What We Mean

Terry Farmer Averages Over 2 Bales . . .

VERNON FARRAR — "Yes, sir, side-dressing really paid-off for me last year," reported Vernon Farrar, who farms northwest of Brownfield. He added: "I had 50 acres of cotton on which I gathered 124 bales, and then I had some land that wasn't too good from which I got 167 bales. I am a firm believer that you need to give the plants nutrients when they are hungry — that's why I side-dress. Another thing — when you use Liquid Fertilizers, as I do, you reap additional benefits from the fact that it's easier to handle . . . I get faster results from it being a liquid and ready to go to work instantly and I can put down more acres per day and cultivate my cotton at the same time. Liquid Fertilizers have helped me to put more money in the bank in the form of net profits."

Once you have tried, you, too, will see why so many farmers have changed to Liquid Fertilizers. The versatility of this type of fertilizing — you can do more than one job at a time: Fertilize . . . cultivate, and even apply insecticides, . . . all in one, easy operation. Go by your nearest Liquid Fertilizer dealer and let him tell you more about the advantages of LIQUID FERTILIZER!

Persons who lost their cotton due to hail or sand should consider planting a soil improving crop on this acreage. Cow peas can still be planted for soil improvement.

It is time to start thinking about planting a winter cover crop. Crops such as rye can be broadcast at the same time the last cultivation is performed and with present moisture conditions should produce a good cover before the blow-season starts.

The President of the United States by proclamation has called upon the people of the nation, urban and rural, to observe the week beginning July 24 as National Farm Safety Week.

BUSHED, BUT FAR FROM BEATEN, M/Sgt. David K. Broad of Laie, Hawaii, took a breather near Taegu, Korea, after 43 straight days of frontline fighting with the 5th Regimental Combat Team against the North Koreans during the summer of 1950. Ten years later, Sergeant Broad serves as an Engineer NCO with the 25th Infantry Division at Schofield Barracks, Hawaii. The modern Army leans heavily on the combat experience of its veteran NCOs.

Check On Your S. S. Account

Do you know why the Social Security Administration wants you to be sure your social security account is correct? "Because the right of you and your family to retirement, survivors and disability payments depend on it," answered John G. Hutton, District Manager of the Lubbock Social Security Office. "Every year is important," continued Mr. Hutton, "in building up your future benefits. For example, if you have reached retirement age this year, you will need at least 4 1/2 years of earnings on your account to qualify for benefits. If your retirement age is after June 30, 1960, you will need even more credits." Illustrating this, he said, "if you were born in 1906 or later, (a woman born in 1909 or later will need 10 years of social security credits to get retirement benefits." He also added that you will need at least 5 years of social security credits for disability payments.

Hutton pointed out that it is easy to check your social security account to make sure you are getting credit for your earnings each and every year. The checking should be done at least once every 3 years. He added that the social security office will furnish you with a special postcard which you can use to request a statement of your earnings. To get the card write, call or visit the social security office in the Federal Office Building, 1616 19th Street, Lubbock, Texas, and ask for the card form 7004. The service of providing you with a record of your earnings is furnished free of charge.

Mr. Hutton concluded that all people who contribute toward social security have an obligation to themselves and their families to check their social security records at regular intervals. This obligation applies not only if you work for wages as an employee but also if you work for yourself and receive your own employment income with your annual income tax return.

THE UPPER ROOM, NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE

If ye then be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above. (Colossians 3:1).
On the slope of a high peak in the Swiss Alps is a lonely grave. A wooden cross stands above the snow, but the name of the mountaineer is not there. One reads there only a simple stirring inscription:

"He died climbing"
He died climbing! what a wonderful spirit in which to live! climbing, living honorably and usefully, to the very end! That man was not content to be halfway up—he wanted to be at the top! Then only could he be satisfied. What a wonderful testimony of spirit!

I believe it is significant that Jesus was crucified on a hill. His final journey on earth was an uphill one. He bore His cross. He climbed. He struggled. He reached. He reafirmed the top. He triumphed.

Our burdens can never be so heavy as the one He carried. The hill can never be so steep as the one He climbed. So let us climb cheerfully, trustingly, onward and upward.

PRAYER: Loving Father, bring us into a closer walk with Thee. May our faith become deeper, our witness stronger, and our hearts cleaner. Sustain us daily as we strive to walk the upward path. Set our affections on the things that count. In Jesus' name. Amen.

Swine Production Profits Depend on Management

Two important factors point toward higher potential profits for commercial hog producers during the months ahead. They are more favorable prices for pork and abundant supplies of grain.

Texas hog raisers reduced their spring pig crop 20 percent below that for 1950, due to slim profits through last fall and winter. Spring pig output for the nation was down 16 percent.

Breeding intentions of Texas producers reflect a 5 percent cut in fall farrowing compared with 1950, while the drop nationally is estimated at near 4 percent. Fewer animals will be moving to market through the spring of 1961 if farmers carry out their earlier intentions.

But even with higher prices and ample grain supplies, higher net profits are not assured. Important management conditions must be met in pork production as in other livestock operations, well-planned facilities which minimize labor needs and maximize animal comfort; a careful program of sanitation to control losses from disease and parasites; the use of breeding stock which will produce the favored lean cuts; and good production records on the operation as among the more important. It has often been said that a farmer must be business-like in his operations. Today, more than ever, he should know how his business is doing. Adequate records can aid the hog producer in planning improvements which will boost profits.

Farmers supply about one billion servings of fruit and vegetable juices every week.

had the misfortune to miss two shots, leaving him in third place. But, Britt brought back a portable television set as his prize. First place winner was Merwin Kaser, an Osborne, Kan., farmer, who won a Chevrolet car when Kaser got all his 25 extra targets. On his handicap, Kaser shot from 19 yards, while Britt had to shoot from 21 yards. The Wichita Eagle, which also carried Britt's picture, had this to say about the Tahoka young man: "It remained the lot of the 12-year-old Texan, with bouncing eyes and a thick Texas drawl, to supply the pulsating thrill of the wind-up event of the three day program.

"Britt Robinson, as steady a youngster in drawing a bead you'll ever find anywhere, came up with a 97x100 score in the big one to tie Kaser, Dr. J. C. Perry and R. L. Hancock. "And his (Robinson's) big Texas grin wreathed his sun-bronzed face as he gave with silent motion his happiness in finishing so high among his elders."

Farm Income In Texas Ranks High

College Station—Texas far out-ranked other states in cash receipts from farm marketing of cotton, rice and grain sorghum in 1959, reports John G. McHaney, economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Cotton was the leading income source for Texas farmers as it brought in one-third of the total agricultural receipts. Although Texas grain sorghum accounted for over half of the total U. S. production, it accounted for only 10 percent of the State's farm income, McHaney continues.

In other rankings, Texas was second in receipts from cattle and calves, fourth in sheep and lambs and peanuts, and fifth in flaxseed. Even though Texas retained its top spot for number of cattle and calves on hand, Iowa ranked first in total cash receipts, McHaney says.

Magnesium Effect On Cotton Studied

College Station—Magnesium is one of the essential nutrient elements required by higher plants for normal growth and reproduction. Until recently, very little work had been done in relation to the magnesium requirements of cotton.

The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station has completed a series of studies on an attempt to learn these requirements. The studies were made under controlled conditions, and should be very useful as a guide for future field experiments. American Upland (Stoneville Z-106) and Egyptian (Pima S-1) cottons, grown in a nutrient solution under greenhouse conditions, were used in the tests.

The characteristic foliage symptoms of magnesium deficiency appeared first in the lower leaves of Pima S-1 plants which were more sensitive to magnesium deficiency than the Stoneville Z-106 plants. Magnesium content of the plants reflected a positive correlation with the magnesium supply on which they were grown. Substrate magnesium had a marked influence on plant growth and development as measured by height, weight, flowering, boll set, relative chloroplast pigment content and chemical composition. Differences in the response of the two species to various levels of substrate magnesium were also pronounced.

Complete results of these tests have been published by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. This publication may be obtained by writing the Agricultural Information Office, Texas A & M College, College Station, Texas. Ask for MP-411.

Tahoka entered only certain events, but if entry had been made as a team, Tahoka would have finished fourth. The Tahoka entries scored a total of 181 points and brought home 26 medals.

Following were the Tahoka results:

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

No one argues with the activities of legislatures and authorities in making people recognize their family financial responsibilities instead of letting their dependents become charges of the taxpayers.

Some great and extensive work has been done by authorities in forcing the irresponsibles to look after their own, instead of adding to the burdens of taxpayers.

This is C. W. Harder quite a simple principle, that of people being responsible for their own. Yet it seems too complex for understanding by those schemers who throw the American taxpayer's money away in foreign give aways.

A prime example is the millions of dollars American taxpayers are throwing into Ceylon to develop this large rich island in the Indian Ocean.

There is only one fly in this ointment. Ceylon is a member of the British Commonwealth.

As such, Ceylon belongs to a big family that covers a fourth of the world's land area on which live 633 million people, or almost one-fourth of the world's population. The headquarters of this large family is in London where the Queen holds the title, among others "Head of the Commonwealth."

But where would one think the money to develop Ceylon further comes from. From the American taxpayer.

© National Federation of Independent Business

There is no substance to the rumor that the schoolchildren of Ceylon are being taught a new national anthem which goes in part "God bless the Queen and keep the American taxpayer solvent," but fact remains the U. S. taxpayer is shelling out millions to Ceylon.

This is tantamount to a family occupying a house and conning his neighbor into keeping the place in repair for them.

Until 1948, Ceylon was a British Crown Colony which meant that British interests made money out of the island without plowing much, if anything, back into developing the island. That has been left for U. S. taxpayer to accomplish.

But of course, as a member of the British Commonwealth, Ceylon will always be tied commercially and in other ways to London, so profits made out of American-financed expansion will end up in London.

For one thing, Ceylon produces about a half million pounds of tea per year. It is possible tea from Ceylon played a part in a certain incident in Boston harbor.

This is just one of the many items that are getting the people of the nation to look with wide-eyed askance and indignation at the billions poured out in foreign give aways.

After all, what business firm will spend its own money to develop an account for a competitor. If that happened, heads would roll at next stockholder's meeting. Yet that is what the U. S. taxpayer is doing in Ceylon, a small but basically rich member of the British family of Commonwealths.

Small Speaker At Rotary Club

Rev. George Maurice Small, a native of Tahoka, was the speaker at Tahoka Rotary Club Thursday noon of last week, telling of his work as chaplain for the Episcopal Church at the University of Arkansas in Fayetteville.

Principally, Rev. Small presented some of the major religious problems students run in to when they leave home to attend college. Young people at this age, he said, are asking themselves such questions as "Who am I?" and "What does life mean?"

He expressed the opinion that college students are much more religious now than earlier in this century.

Otis Spears was in charge of the program.

Harold Green, chairman of the foreign student committee both of the club and of the 573rd Rotary District, announced that Tahoka's student guest, Patric Ardant from France, is due to arrive in Tahoka this week end.

H. W. Carter and E. R. Edwards joined him in expressing the desire that more Rotarians and wives take advantage of the youth's visit by having him in their homes. Also, people over the country who are not connected with the club, are welcome to entertain the youth for a meal or a day.

Ross Smith presented the treasurer's report for the past year and turned his books over to Pete Hewlett, the new treasurer.

President H. B. McCord Jr. announced that the district governor of Rotary International, Bruce Pember of Slaton, will make his official visit to the club on Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 14 and 15.

The number of farms continues to decline while businesses increase. The total number of farms dropped by 899,000, or 16 percent, from 1950 to 1958, and farm population declined 4,231,000 in contrast, the total number of operating businesses increased by 314,000, or 8 per cent, in spite of 97,137 business failures, during the period.

New Financing For Boy Scouts

A new method of apportioning quotas for financing of the Boy Scout program in the South Plains Area Council is being put into effect, announces A. M. Bray, member of the finance committee.

He says Lubbock has agreed to a plan which, in the future, will be on the basis of a boy count, plus furnishing funds additional to the quota by reason of the fact that the headquarters office is located in that city.

As a result of this new plan, the Tahoka area lacks $37,000 coming up to its quota. Anyone wishing to contribute to the Boy Scout program in order to bring up the local budget is asked to see him at an early date.

Help keep Tahoka clean.

N. E. Wood On FHA Committee

Appointment of Nolan E. Wood as a member of the Farmers Home Administration county committee was announced this week by Perry W. Walker, the agency's county supervisor serving Lynn County.

Mr. Wood operates a farm in the West Point Community. He has lived in Lynn County for a long time and for many years served as SCS Supervisor. He has been farming for the past few years. Mr. Wood was appointed because he is well acquainted with the county and the needs of the county.

Two other members make up the three-member committee which works with the county supervisor to see that the best possible use is made of the agency's farm credit service program consistent with local farmers' needs. The other two members are Dale S. Thuren, Tahoka and L. A. Forsythe, Tahoka.

Mr. Thuren will serve as committee chairman during the next, or 1961 fiscal year.

Each member is appointed for a 3-year term. Mr. Wood succeeds Joseph Carl Eaker whose 3-year term expired this year.

The committee determines the eligibility of individual applicants for all types of loans. It also reviews borrowers' program and aids the county supervisor in adapting the agency's loan policies to conditions faced by farmers in this area. Members are selected and appointed so that, so far as possible, different areas, neighborhoods are represented.

The Farmers Home Administration makes annual or intermediate term loans to farmers who need adequate funds to buy equipment and livestock, and longer term loans to build or repair houses and other essential farm buildings, and to purchase or improve land suitable for family-type farm operations.

It also advances credit to farmers or their non-profit associations to establish and carry out approved soil and water conservation practices, and to install and improve irrigation and farmstead water facilities.

Buy, build, live, in Tahoka.

Since the end of World War II, cotton farmers have reduced the amount of labor per bale from 170 hours to a record low of 79 hours in 1958. This saving is equal to more than 600,000 people, each working a full year of 52 weeks, 40 hours per week.

Man-hours devoted to American agriculture have been reduced by 40 per cent since the early '30's, and production per man-hour has been almost trebled.

Corvair 700 4-Door Sedan

FAMILY PUTS 2,000 MILES A MONTH ON CORVAIR THINKS IT'S MARVELOUS GAS MILEAGE "OUT OF THIS WORLD"

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kahelin of Plant City, Florida, couldn't be happier with the way their new Corvair has worked out as a combination family and business car. On their newspaper distribution route alone they travel more than 400 miles a week over all kinds of roads. Little wonder they're so pleased with the gas mileage they've been getting — "at least twenty-three miles to the gallon with an automatic transmission . . . and we've had no trouble with our Corvair." The Kahelins have equally good things to say about Corvair's easy-going comfort and unique convenience features. They especially like the way the fold-down seat doubles as a built-in baby sitter.

Printer's Ink-lings . . .

By F. P. H.

If comments by the man on the street are any indication, TV viewers of the circus staged by the Democrats in Los Angeles were disgusted with the proceedings and disappointed with the platform.

Most decisions were made in "smoke filled conference rooms" and the average delegate on the floor knew little about what was going on.

Starting with the "big drunk" Sunday night, it was mostly just plain "hoopla" from the viewpoint of the public. Best proposal, we thought, that came out of the convention was that future conventions be limited to delegates only—no half votes, no spectators except over TV, no hired demonstrators, and no guests except a few dignitaries. Unless something like this is done, the American public is going to lose confidence in the convention system, leaders and delegates.

One of the Golden Girls, on being interviewed, remarked: "There's more order and wisdom at a college pep rally." Maybe she had something there.

It remains to be seen how the voters of the South will take to the ultra-liberal platform which advocates big spending programs, a stepped-up civil rights program and has a Catholic at the head of the ticket.

One thing is certain, the Republicans will have a hard time advocating anything more liberal than did the Democrats. We'll see that circus next week.

Fred McGinty says the big blow Sunday night may have been the fall wind from the Demo convention.

J. L. Suits of the Petersburg Journal heads his column, "Listening Post," with this statement: "We cut our timber where we find it, and let the chips fall where they may."

That "18-foot rattlesnake" reportedly found out near Carrizozo, N. M., has turned out to be a hoax, as a lot of people suspected. The two men who claimed to have killed and skinned the snake have confessed to Vid Lamb, Ruidoso newspaper publisher, that they swapped 10 chickens for the dried snake skin. Experts who examined the skin say it is a large South American reptile. Anyway, the story made good reading.

We all love a good loser—if it isn't us.

Those who stand for nothing usually fall for anything.

Every now and then a time comes when a man has to defend himself against his critics. After every rain, The Printer gets a lot of kidding—and sometimes it's not just kidding—about the U. S. Weather Bureau gauge and records he keeps. Some people, we think, actually believe the Government gauge has a hole in it. The reason for this is that a lot of people measure the rain with these little glass or plastic gauges put out for advertising purposes, in cans, tubes, wheelbarrows, and maybe funnels, for all we know.

These little glass gauges are fine to give a fellow an idea about how much it rained, but we've had several in the vicinity of the Government gauge (three at one time), and they all have consistently caught from 20 to 30 percent more water than the official government gauge that the Weather Bureau has spent possibly 75 years developing.

The U. S. Weather Bureau has now made some tests with the glass and plastic gauges, according to The Observer, official publication of the Bureau. It states: "In a recent study at the University of Illinois, it was found the small gauges . . . catch 10 percent more rainfall than the regular Weather Bureau gauges. In Nebraska, these gauges caught 15 to 20 percent more. At Rufugio, Texas, they recorded 20 to 25 percent more than the standard gauge."

For your information, any gauge used should be placed out in the open, 30 to 50 feet from any building or tree, and at least three and a half feet from the surface of the ground. A fruit juice can with a sharp edge is much more accurate than a little glass gauge.

This is largely in jest—we still want your reports on the rain from various areas of Lynn county.

We'll guarantee one thing, some of these boys up at Wilson, Wayside, and New Home didn't have a bucket deep enough to measure the recent floods there.

Sometimes fate plays a big hand in the lives of men. Back in 1948, senator Lyndon B. Johnson won the nomination to his present office by only an 87 vote margin over Coke Stevenson, and this came only after the George Pharr faction, in control of Duval county, reported highly questionable returns of about 200 votes for Johnson from a voting precinct in his county which he delayed in reporting until two weeks after the election. Evidence of fraud (not on the part of Johnson, however) was presented by Texas officials, but the Senate seated Lyndon anyway. Now, it is likely he will be the next vice president of the nation and it is entirely conceivable that he may some day be president.

The recent heavy rains remind us of the story about the Easterner in West Texas who remarked to a native: "Awfully rainy weather—like the Flood." The farmer repeated doubtfully, "The Flood?" The stranger said, "Yes, the Flood—Noah, the Ark, Mount Ararat."

To which the old farmer shook his head, "I ain't seen the paper this morning."

It states: "In a recent study at the University of Illinois, it was found the small gauges . . . catch 10 percent more rainfall than the regular Weather Bureau gauges. In Nebraska, these gauges caught 15 to 20 percent more. At Rufugio, Texas, they recorded 20 to 25 percent more than the standard gauge."

For your information, any gauge used should be placed out in the open, 30 to 50 feet from any building or tree, and at least three and a half feet from the surface of the ground. A fruit juice can with a sharp edge is much more accurate than a little glass gauge.

This is largely in jest—we still want your reports on the rain from various areas of Lynn county.

We'll guarantee one thing, some of these boys up at Wilson, Wayside, and New Home didn't have a bucket deep enough to measure the recent floods there.

Sometimes fate plays a big hand in the lives of men. Back in 1948, senator Lyndon B. Johnson won the nomination to his present office by only an 87 vote margin over Coke Stevenson, and this came only after the George Pharr faction, in control of Duval county, reported highly questionable returns of about 200 votes for Johnson from a voting precinct in his county which he delayed in reporting until two weeks after the election. Evidence of fraud (not on the part of Johnson, however) was presented by Texas officials, but the Senate seated Lyndon anyway. Now, it is likely he will be the next vice president of the nation and it is entirely conceivable that he may some day be president.

The recent heavy rains remind us of the story about the Easterner in West Texas who remarked to a native: "Awfully rainy weather—like the Flood." The farmer repeated doubtfully, "The Flood?" The stranger said, "Yes, the Flood—Noah, the Ark, Mount Ararat."

To which the old farmer shook his head, "I ain't seen the paper this morning."

Boyce House says a man in the arid Pecos country was caused to faint by the sight of rain. Bystanders revived him by throwing sand in his face.

And this one: The waitress placed a bowl of chicken soup in front of Sagebrush Sam, then—glancing outside—she remarked, "Looks like rain." Not lifting his eyes, Sam said, "Tastes like it, too."

Mrs. Charles (Boggie) Stewart of West Columbia, S. C., writes: "We enjoy hearing the home-town news through your paper. Give our regards to all our friends. South Carolina's beauty and the friendly folk still have us charmed, but we often miss our friends. Charles continues to enjoy his work as State Claims Manager for Farm Bureau, and I am teaching English at the Brookland-Cayce High School. Our boys are big, fine fellows, and we are mighty proud of them."

Five Accidents In June Traffic

The Highway Patrol investigated five rural traffic accidents in Lynn County during June, according to Sergeant E. L. Stroud, patrol supervisor of this area.

Property damage wrecks accounted for two of the total, personal injury for three and no fatal accidents. These wrecks caused a total property damage of $4,800.00 with four persons injured and no lives lost.

Sergeant Stroud pointed out that this brings the total for the year in this county to two killed, 22 injured, and property damage in excess of $33,615.00. This compares with one killed, 13 injured, and property damage of $13,502.00 during the first six months of 1959.

"Prior to July 1 there had been a total of 784 fatal accidents in Texas," Sergeant Stroud said. "From these accidents, 962 persons have died needlessly," he added.

During the summer months thousands of motorists are on the highways, and too many of them are intent on cramming as much activity as they can into one brief vacation, and the result is often tragedy. In appealing for increased vigilance to cut down accidents, the Sergeant cautioned vacationers to be on their guard against speeders, drinking drivers, and drivers who disregard traffic laws. Above all, he warned them to make sure they are not guilty of such offenses themselves.

Many vacationers get into trouble by not allowing enough time to cover the trip comfortably, the Sergeant pointed out. Then they try to make time by driving too fast for conditions, by driving too far, or by disregarding traffic laws. "Traffic accidents take no vacations," Sergeant Stroud said. "Step up your vigilance in order to stay safe on the road, and enjoy your trip or vacation without an accident."

Out of a 4,783,000 farms in the most recent Census of Agriculture, there were only 134,000 which had total sales of $25,000 or more per year. This is about one-half of one week's volume of business at a large super-market.

The Valley of Tears

In the book, "Mavrick Town: The Story of Old Tascosa," Mr. John L. McCarty says:

"Between the western fringe of the Cross Timbers and the Staked Plains lay a buffer region bordering the Pease River, a never-never country of wild, red, broken hills, where game was scarce, water alkaline, and life almost impossible. —Across it crawled the bitter trail which led to the Valley of Tears on the Quitaque, the last stop on the road to oblivion for grieving mothers and children who were captive of the Comanches; for it was here that the children were taken from their mothers, and all relatives separated, so that there would be less chance for escape, and that child captives might sooner be absorbed by the tribe!"

I have seen that valley. It is not only fertile, but beautiful to look upon. Where once wild tribes paused for water, rest, and classification of human captives, seemingly un-mindful of it's value otherwise; sturdy homes, and smiling acres bear tribute to hard pioneers who saw it's worth, and smiling acres bear tribute to hard pioneers who saw it's worth and claimed it's more lasting values! Where once the red man quinched his thirst and cooled his swollen tongue, refreshing water still flows from the everlasting springs at the head of Quitaque and Los Lingos Canyons. While the bones of the Comanches have long since bleached dry, along with the carcasses of the Buffalo herds he used for his daily meal, the cow-man and the plow-man have captured the new west for their home!

Life is good in that Valley on the Quitaque. The only tears we really should shed these days are those which should fall from our eyes when we realize that we are not as thankful as we should be for it's many and gracious blessings! And certainly we should stain our faces when we are sinful, and allow ourselves to fall short of "The Glory of God," who has given us life, liberty, and happiness in this favored and lovely land.

Farm profits are such that the average owner must of necessity do his own supervision and as much of his work as the clock will permit. Less than 1/4 of 1 per cent of all farms are operated by managers.
