Lynn Has 85,000 Acres Irrigated

Lynn county has 2,065 irrigation wells watering approximately 85,000 acres of land, according to figures released by the "High Plains Irrigation Survey" by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Davis, Hopkins In All-Star Game

GLENN HOPKINS

BILLY DAVIS

About 40 Tahoka people attended the Greenbelt Bowl game in Childress Saturday night in which two Tahoka graduates played opposite each other on opposing teams, with the East winning 8-0 on a fourth quarter touchdown.

Billy Davis, 235, played on the East squad at left tackle, and opposite him was his former teammate at Tahoka, Glenn "Moose" Hopkins, 250, at right tackle for the West.

The crowd seemed to get a big kick out of the battle put up by the two giant "buddies" and they did not disappoint the crowd. Late in the game, Billy is said to have finally succeeded in antagonizing "Moose," causing the West team to draw a 15-yard penalty.

Their high school coach, J. D. Atwell, says both boys turned in fine performances, of which fact he was naturally very proud.

Davis received a shoulder and head injury in the second quarter but was soon back in the game. He played on defense and recovered two fumbles, one on a key play that stopped a West scoring threat on the six yard line.

Hopkins played all but two or three downs of the game, and was in there on both offense and defense. He also did the punting for the West team.

The two teams were evenly matched, and it was not until midway of the fourth quarter that East got a drive underway, culminated by Bill McCarty, Seymour halfback, going six yards for the score, and Kenneth Rue of Olney ran for the conversion. Otherwise, the game was close all the way.

Mrs. Ray Hopkins, Glenn's mother, says the boys and their parents were treated royally.

Billy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Davis, and will attend Abilene Christian College this fall. Glenn, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hopkins, expects to attend West Texas State.

Representing Tahoka in the queen contest were Misses Linda Thomas and Donna Copelin, and Mrs. Hopkins says they also did credit to the town. They were sponsored, respectively by Tahoka Chamber of Commerce and First National Bank.

Jodie Seal of Electra was crowned the Green Belt queen.

QUESTIONS, PLEASE

WHAT IS THE CHURCH OF CHRIST? No. 3.

The Bible very clearly condemns division in the Body of Christ. Paul writes "Now I beseech you, brethren, by the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye all speak the same thing, and that there be no divisions among you; but that ye be perfectly joined together in the same mind and in the same judgment" (I Cor. 1:10).

The Bible warns us of those who would cause divisions by bringing in human doctrines: "Now I beseech you, brethren, mark them that are causing the divisions and occasions of stumbling, contrary to the doctrine which ye learned: and turn away from them" (Rom. 16:17).

Divisions, factions, and parties are listed among the works of the flesh in Galatians 5:19-21. The existence of 300 or more denominations, sects and parties in Christendom is a tragic state of affairs. Contradictory doctrines, practices and competing hierarchies have caused untold harm in keeping the world from accepting Jesus Christ as the Son of God, and His church of kingdom as the divine institution it is. It has been well said: "The price of a divided Christendom is an unbelieving world." The New Testament teaches that all believers in Christ should be united on the basis of Christ as the only creed, the Bible as the only rule of faith and practice.

Many have asked how that this unity can be achieved? Believe me it cannot be achieved by getting men to agree on some one denomination and submit to some human hierarchy with some man or set of men at the head of his denomination. It cannot be achieved by adopting any one creed which men have written. The only unity worth working for is unity on the basis of loyalty to Christ as God's Son and the Bible as God's Word. This is the unity Jesus prayed for that every believer should work for no matter how difficult the task may appear from the standpoint of human reasons (II Jno. 9).

We are pleading for unity on the basis of Christ as the only creed, the Bible as the only rule of faith God said: "This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased; hear ye him" (Matt. 17:5). Again God said through Peter: "If any man speak, let him speak as the oracles of God..." (I Pet. 4:11).

You are invited to send your questions to: Don Browning Box 812, Tahoka, Texas. You are also invited to attend the services of the Church of Christ.

Don Browning may be heard Sunday mornings at 11:00 and evenings at 7:00 at 750 on your radio dial.

LOCAL SISTERS TELL OF TRIP TO ARIZONA

Mrs. Jewel Connolly and Miss Floycie Sherrod returned home Sunday from a week's trip in Arizona, having returned home with their niece and husband, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Fleming, who operate a cotton gin at Cashion.

The sisters say they had a marvelous visit and had never before realized such wonderful scenery existed in Arizona. They were swept away by the scenic beauty of such places as Oak Creek Canyon and Salt River Canyon. One of the most interesting places they visited was Jerome, "largest ghost city in America," which was built on the side of Mingus Mountain between Prescott and Flagstaff. They were also impressed by the city of Phoenix and environs.

At Cashion, near Glendale, where Lois and husband live, they saw some of the finest cotton they ever saw, date trees, and a hay field just across the road from which seven cuttings of hay are taken annually.

DUPLICATE BRIDGE WINNERS

Winners in duplicate bridge play at the T-Bar Country Club Tuesday night were as follows:

First place, Mrs. A. N. Norman Jr. and Mrs. Elnora Curry; tied for second and third place were Dr. Dale McElroy of Lamesa and Mrs. Jess Gurley, Mrs. Winston Wharton and Mrs. D. W. Gaignat.

Steve Slover, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Slover, returned last week end from Fort Polk, La., where he had been stationed since being called back to service in the reserves.

(By Mrs. O. H. Hoover)

Friends and neighbors of Mrs. R. K. Fleming were grieved Thursday evening to hear that she had passed away. The Fleming family lived for many years on a farm over in the Garnolia Community. They later moved into Tahoka, where the late P. K. Fleming owned and operated a boat and shoe shop. Later they moved to a farm near Lubbock. Since her husband's death, Mrs. Fleming has been living in Shallowater near her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Meeks. Our sympathy to this family in their time of sorrow.

Mrs. H. A. Roberts came home from the hospital Tuesday of last week, and is reported to be about the same.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Walker visited their daughter and family in Seagraves Sunday.

Friends of the V. V. Laws were sorry to hear he had suffered a severe heart attack some time Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Law are long-time residents of the Grassland community, and had moved to Hobbs about two years ago. We wish for him a speedy recovery.

Mrs. L. B. Burke, Mrs. E. N. Norman and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Norman visited relatives in Plainview Sunday.

Mike Burke and Cherri Lee Norman rode their horses in the parade in Post last Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Greer went down to their cabin on Lake Colorado Friday. Two of Mr. Greer's brothers met them there. They all fished Friday and Saturday, then attended church services in San Angelo Sunday.

The "Thursday Club" met in the home of Mrs. J. A. Propst Thursday, Aug. 2. Everyone enjoyed an evening of chatter. Refreshments of open-faced sandwiches, salad, olives, nuts, cakes and cold drinks were served. All members were present except Mrs. Lillian Stevens and Miss Debbie Markham.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Crierker from Muleshoe spent the week end with the Gartmans, and attended the rodeo in Post.

Mrs. A. E. Riley and girls have gone to Springer, N. M., on vacation.

Visitors in the parsonage Sunday were Mrs. Gene Kitchen and children of Fort Worth, Mrs. Jessie Henson and children of Levelland, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Ray and children from Morton. These are children and grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Yeates, our Methodist pastor and wife.

Mrs. Watley, mother of Mrs. Dezie Gartman went home Wednesday. She has been spending some time with the Gartmans.

The Gartman family had a reunion Tuesday. All their children were present.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

The 19th Century French writer Honore Balzac once wrote that all politicians seek to get cheap bread for the farmers while getting high prices for the farmer.

Today, many in government are seeking to get cheap medicine for a large segment of the nation, and at the same time hope that the American standard of medical practice remains high.

It is unfortunate that the so-called medicare plan, opposed by nation's independent businessmen through polls by National Federation of Independent Business, should have unleashed so many attacks against the American doctor who comprises a voting minority.

While others spend all their time in college studying how to sway the masses, the aspiring doctors must spend all their time learning how to heal the sick, repair the broken. No medical school has a course in demagoguery.

Perhaps not all doctors are winged saints. But there is some question Pearly Gates will fly open for every politician and bureaucrat. All in all, level of American medical practice is world renowned.

But far greater than this factor is the old Arab proverb against letting the camel get his nose in the tent. Once Social Security gets in the practice of medicine, not only is the quality of American medical practice doomed, but there will be constant increases in social security taxes.

The Wyoming Automobile Dealers Association has developed some interesting figures on how Social Security has operated over the years.

One Wyoming dealer who has averaged 60 employees since SS started in 1937 has seen his taxes for the program jump during this time from $800 per year to $8000, or a 900% increase.

Due to extending coverage since 1950 when 961 million dollars was paid out by Social Security, the total by 1961 had grown to 12 1/2 billion dollars. Due to these revisions it is estimated that the present beneficiaries, on the average, paid for only about 5% of the benefits they are now receiving.

The auto dealers of Wyoming also point out as significant the fact that six of the seven expansions of Social Security since 1949 were voted into effect in election years.

Thus, from watching the track record since Social Security started, the nation's doctors know that once the bureaucrats establish a beachhead in medical matters, it will not be long until they take over the entire practice of medicine.

So, there is a lot of innuendo today being released against doctors to agitate mass against class. Presumably, in time if it is deemed politically effective to extend Social Security to offer free beer to the populace, and brewers object, the nation will be surprised to hear what rascals the brewers are.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Porterfield and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Bob Porterfield and son attended a reunion Sunday.

Mrs. Hoover visited Mrs. H. A. Roberts and Mrs. E. A. Thomas and Miss Gladys Fox Sunday.

Mr. V. L. Melton's sister and family from East Texas visited in the Melton home last week. They were on their way to Oregon.

Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth Rogers have been guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Murray and the Earl Rogers in Post.

Guests in the Gus Porterfield home this week were his brother and wife from Saquache, Colo., and a sister from Oxnard, Calif., and cousins from Dalhart.

Mrs. John Haskell and children of McCook, Neb., are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Thomas. They plan to be here a week or so.

All day visitors Sunday in the L. S. Turner home were Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Turner and daughter, Mrs. Robbie Sharp, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Smith from Baton Rouge, La., and Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Turner.

C. B. King's sister, Mrs. A. T. Pierce, passed away last week. Her home was in Marlow, Okla. Dick King and Mr. and Mrs. C. B. King attended the services.

Mrs. Wendell Leach was bitten on the end of her finger by a small rattlesnake and was very sick for several days.

Letters From News Readers—

(The News welcomes letters from its readers on any current subject, not libelous, of course. All communications must be of reasonable length and must be signed. On request, the signature will not be printed. The Editor.)

Dear Mr. Inkler—

I, too, agree that the custom of sitting with the dead in the funeral parlor will soon be a thing of the past, even in our own midst. People who believe in God and a resurrection are supposed to look on death as a step toward a better dwelling place and not a thing of finality. The funeral director hesitates to suggest a change of practices since he is trying to serve the public to their own satisfaction—the family is in no state of mind to make decisions regarding such practices—some one might accuse the loved ones of being cold and indifferent at a time when they are not held responsible.

Close friends are not going to suggest leaving the deceased in the casket alone over night lest they be accused of shirking their duty to the deceased. Yet I doubt that any of these would object to closing the door at bed time and leaving the corpse until the next day since the actual need for attendance is long since past.

A Reader. (Name withheld on request.)

Mr. and Mrs. Happy Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Leighton Knox left Friday to vacation in points of New Mexico and Colorado, including Lake City where they will do some fishing.

UNFREDS MAKE TRIP TO NORTHEASTERN STATES

Mr. and Mrs. Joe D. Unfred and two daughters returned home Friday from a two weeks trip to the Northeastern States, during which they visited 17 states, including Ontario, Canada, and traveled a total of 4,850 miles.

They went up through Oklahoma, Missouri, Illinois, Michigan, Ontario, New York, Vermont, New Hampshire, and into Maine.

They spent three nights in Boston, Mass., where they attended the Third Armored Division Reunion, Joe D. having served with this division during World War II.

Proceeding through Rhode Island, Connecticut, back through New York, New Jersey, and then they spent two nights in Marysville, Penn., Betty's home before she married.

Taking the Turnpike, they returned across Ohio and Indiana to Illinois and on home.

Only hitch they had was in getting through customs on leaving Ontario, where they were held up on a technicality, and Joe says if anybody needs any advice on the procedure he can give it.

He says most of the North is very dry, and at one place they were told a river was at its lowest in the memory of man.

Visitors in the T. B. Inman home recently were George Allen Guilliams, Patt Swain and Kenneth Riesinger from Paris, Texas.

Visitor From England Writes

By Paul Davie Bartlett
My aim in this short series of articles is to give you an impression of what sort of a country Great Britain is, mentioning in particular how it compares with your own surroundings here in Texas. This first report is intended to be a general introduction to the land and the people.

The British Isles, lying off the northwest coast of Europe, consist of one large island, (England, Scotland, Wales) part of the neighboring island of Ireland and a number of smaller adjacent islands. The total area is about 121,600 square miles (Texas 267,300) and the population about 53,000,000 (Texas 7,700,000). The title "Great Britain" came about to distinguish Britain from "Little Britain" which was Brittany in France.

The variety of scenery in Britain is a reflection of the fact that rocks of all the main geological periods may be found in the islands. A line joining the mouth of the River Tyne in the north-east of England with that of the Exe in the southwest roughly divides Highland Britain from Lowland Britain. The rocks which make up Highland Britain to the north and west of this line are older and break down only slowly into poor stony soils. All the mountainous areas and major uplands lie in this area. Man has been able to utilize only part of Highland Britain—the fertile valleys, coastal plains and lowlands. Farms and villages in this region are often separated by wide stretches of uninhabited upland moors.

In Lowland Britain newer, softer rocks have eroded into a rich, rolling plain which rises to chalk and limestone hills in places. Human settlement in cities, towns, villages and farms blends continuously with ploughed lands and grass fields.

Taken as a whole the population of the United Kingdom is predominantly urban and suburban. During the nineteenth century labour demands of new, rapidly developing industries caused large numbers of the population to move from the countryside to the towns. The main industrial centers are now Birmingham, Glasgow, Liverpool, Manchester and Newcastle upon Tyne. The greatest concentration of population in Britain is in the London area. The precise definition of the boundary is a matter of opinion but it is now considered that over 8 million people live within the built-up area of 724 square miles.

The British climate is unreliable, it is rare for a spell of particularly warm, wet or cold weather to last as long as two weeks. We enjoy cool summers and warm winters and so the necessities of air conditioning and central heating are luxuries not usually required. In the south of England the mean winter and summer temperatures are 43 degrees and 63 degrees Fahrenheit, respectively and the annual rainfall 34 inches. These figures

Mrs. Mariana McGinty Long Writes Of Life, People In Vienna Austria

At the request of the editor, the following excerpts are taken from letters received by Mr. and Mrs. Fred McGinty from their daughter and son-in-law, Mariana and Roy Long of Vienna, Austria. The Longs have been in Europe a year and plan to remain there two more years before returning to the states. Mr. Long is one of a group of missionaries and is also enrolled in the University of Vienna studying languages.

"Very few of the apartments in Vienna have sufficient kitchen cabinets—some have shelves on the wall while others have a working area with storage space underneath. The few that have storage space up above, a working area, and storage space below it are called "American" type cabinets. We find that we do not need a great deal of space in our kitchens, though, since foods must be bought almost daily and in very small quantities.

"The market is a block long with several different aisles. They have lovely fresh fruits and vegetables and sell fresh flowers right along with the food stuffs. They have big barrels of water with fish swimming around in them—the customer selects his fish and the grocer dips into the water and catches his selection. The chickens they sell are very thin, hanging from some high place by their feet, heads still on, and many of the feathers still on—insides still in tact—so I have hopes of being able to find a farmer to sell me live chickens—I'm glad now that you made me learn to dress a chicken while I was at home. Peas, shelled or otherwise, are unheard of in this area.

"The grocery store, or libensmittle, is very different from yours. The customer walks in and stands at a counter and relates to the grocer what she wants, and one at a time he brings the articles to the counter. Never is the customer supposed to handle the food stuffs, and she is not sure the state of her tomatoes or other items until she is home and ready to wash and store them.

"My meat store is about two blocks on down the street. I go in and ask for steak and they pick up the leg of a calf and slice me several slices of meat. I ask for hamburger and they pick up the same leg and slice me a great chunk of meat from the same location on the leg, grind it and call it hamburger. I ask for a beef roast and again it is taken from the same leg, same location.

Meat is about the same price as in the states. Bread is cheaper and milk much cheaper. The milk is good but not homogenized. Coffee, ketchup, pickles, and most canned goods are outrageously high. Shopping is so slow that it is a major task. And on top of that everything in Vienna closes its doors from one until four each afternoon—rest period.

"A trip to the beauty shop is interesting. Today I got a hair cut and a real good permanent, total cost $2.40. I went in and sat down and they moved a shampoo bowl up behind me and washed my hair while I sat straight up. They rolled the bowl away and moved the next item up, rolled it away and dried me. I never did change locations or positions; their equipment is all portable. Gossip?? Maybe so, but I am not familiar enough with the language to know what it was all about.

"At first, I thought my laundry was going to be my big problem, but I soon learned that I could get white dress shirts finished for a dime each—and nicer work I have never seen. Even though I brought my automatic washer from the States, I doubt that I use it much. First, the water heaters hold only about ten gallons and heat up only once each day. Second, the natives are so tidy, clean and neat with regard to their yards, that it would be a crime to erect anything so unattractive as a clothes line; and thirdly, if one hung his laundry out doors the soot from the millions of coal burning stoves and furnaces would settle over the clean clothes.

"Vienna is a two town city—old Vienna is on ground level and is truly old and being kept just that way. The wearing of shorts and other modern innovations are prohibited in old Vienna but underneath this city is a new modern city. Several floor levels comprise the new Vienna and it was there that I was shopping around one day and look away back on one of the counters and saw a genuine "Ladies Home Journal" and I wanted that more than I ever (Cont'd. On Back Page)

Rotary Governor Is Speaker Here

Floyd Stark of Seminole, governor of the 573rd district of Rotary International, made his official visit to Tahoka Rotary Club Wednesday night and Thursday of last week.

Speaking before the club Thursday noon. Mr. Stark emphasized the objects of Rotary, the avenues of service, and its extension throughout the free world.

He told of the recent meeting in Lake Placid, N. Y., with 800 other men from 128 free nations to plan the year's work of the world-wide men's service organization, all working together to better conditions in their clubs, their communities, their nations, and the world.

Rotary, he pointed out, originated the service club idea in 1905, and since has grown to 11,302 clubs with more than a half million community leaders in 128 free nations of the world. Today, one new club is being organized every 44 hours. Growth and appeal of the organization has been phenomenal, and attendance at club meetings is unequalled among world organizations.

The idea of Rotary was conceived by Paul Harris, a lawyer in Chicago, is a means of fellowship and service for business and professional men. "Service above self" became the motto.

Dr. Emil Prohl introduced the speaker.

Dr. Skiles Thomas, club vice president, was in charge of the meeting in the absence of President Calloway Huffaker, who had to be in a court session in Brownfield.

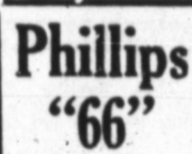

Thomas introduced Paul Bartlett, student guest of the club this summer from England, who made a brief talk in appreciation of the opportunity given him to visit the U. S. For one thing, he jokingly remarked, he had learned already that Texan and English are not quite the same language.

Governor Stark had met with officers and committee chairmen Wednesday night to go over plans for the local club's work this year. Mrs. Stark, who accompanied him, was entertained by Mrs. Huffaker.

'62 FALCON FORDOR SEDAN

SAID THE FORD FALCON TO THE CHEVY II (AND CORVAIR)

No matter which compacts you compare the facts favor the Ford Falcon. Here's proof!

FALCON VS. CHEVY II

- Chevy II tried to copy Falcon's lines, length, wheelbase, height, width—and many inside dimensions. But here's where it missed!
- Falcon's standard engine is a smooth Six; Chevy II's is a Four!
- Falcon offers more passenger comfort—almost 1 inch more rear leg room for example!
- Falcon has bigger rear doors—1½ inches wider!
- Falcon goes 6,000 miles between oil and oil filter changes*, Chevy II, 4,000—a 33% savings!
- Falcon has extra layers of insulation—50% more underfoot!
- Falcon holds the Mobil Economy Run's gas mileage record for a Six or Eight!

PLUS 10% more glass area, multi-leaf instead of single-leaf rear springs, wider trunk opening with a mat inside, heavier bumpers, greater maneuverability, more models to choose from!

And Falcon's prices start lower!

*Based on 1,000-mile change.

FALCON VS. CORVAIR

- Falcon is a true family car! It's not only longer but almost 4 inches wider than the Corvaire. It holds 6 big people in comfort. (Just try to seat 6 in a Corvaire!) And that's just the beginning!
- Falcon's engine delivers more horsepower than Corvaire's rear-mounted engine!
- Falcon packs away almost twice as much as Corvaire's front-end trunk!
- Falcon bridges the bumps better with a 1½ inch longer wheelbase!
- Falcon has bigger brakes than Corvaire!
- Falcon seats are comfortably higher—1½ inches higher in front, almost 3 inches in back!

PLUS 33% savings in oil and oil filters, record gas economy, 10% more glass area in the windshield alone, bumpers almost twice as deep—all in addition to Falcon's bigger doors, more shoulder room, deeper seats!

And Falcon's prices start lower!

Writes of Austria . . .

 wanted a magazine in my life so I told the clerk to let me have it. She wrapped it very carefully and handed it to me but it cost me a dollar. It was worth it because I read every word of every ad in it—now the other wives are reading it.
 "I have made friends with a young housewife in our neighborhood, named Heidi. She is a perfectly beautiful blonde, 27 years old and speaks French, English and German perfectly. Her father was a geologist for Shell, and they have lived in Egypt, Switzerland and France. Heidi's husband is a surgeon and spent two years in Houston studying plastic surgery before they were married. After they married he studied in Paris. He is exceptionally well educated in his field and yet his salary is equal to your $120.00 per month with extra for overtime. If he stays on duty all night he makes an extra $4. Still he is better paid than most of the doctors. Heidi let it leak out that she had bought her husband a floor lamp for their wedding anniversary but the day of the anniversary was here and she had not been able to bring the gift home since they will not let such large items on the street car. I insisted that I take her to town in my car to pick up the gift but she thought that was asking too much of a friend. The privilege was all mine. She took me to an exclusive jewelry shop where a French artist was teaching flower arrangements.

 "One day our landlady and her husband were out in the yard working about to keep things tidy—in Austria the landlord is responsible for the upkeep on the yard and premises—so I went out to try to be friendly and pass the time of day with them. They spoke some English, so we fell to visiting. They so much wanted to know what came in the huge crate that we had deposited out back in the alley. When we explained that we had brought a deep freeze over from the States they knew nothing of what we spoke, so I invited them into the house to eat homemade ice cream from our deep freeze. They had never even heard of a freezer for home use. In the course of the visit they told us that the tenants upstairs had been in the apartment for 20 years and had not paid any rent. There is a law in Austria prohibiting the evicting of a tenant from his home and the only way to get a person out, if he decided not to move, is to allow the place to run down until he has to move; so these tenants were staying on even though the landlord had offered to pay them to move out of his house.

"Christianity is such a precious commodity in this section compared to an area where one grows up in it and takes it for granted. Last week one of the Christians from Hungary was allowed to come here on business and stayed over night with one of our couples. He is an inspiration and one can't help but be a more humble person after having been around this gentleman. His wife is dying of cancer and he mentioned that she had wanted some perfume from Austria and he had hoped to return to her with some but that the price was too great. Just before he was to leave from Vienna back into Hungary I happened to remember that I had some unopened perfume at my house that I could send to his wife—so I dashed home and got the bottle and got it back to him before his train left. When I handed it to him his eyes started watering and he acted as if I had suddenly presented him with Fort Knox. In his broken English he said, "Perhaps I will learn your English and you my German before we meet again but we do not have to speak to understand a language like this." Christianity is so much a part of this fellow that it rubs off on everyone he touches. One of the Christians in one of the Iron Curtain countries expressed it this way: "Freedom and prosperity are enemies of the Church."
