Livestock Show Is Declared Best Ever

Lynn County Livestock Show last week end was again declared one of the finest ever held here, 4-H and FFA boys going home with nearly $3,000 in prize and bonus money, and most of the stock will now go to the South Plains Junior Livestock Show in Lubbock.

Although entries fell a little short of the number expected, due principally to some hogs falling to reach weights expected, there were 49 fat steer calves, 74 lambs, and 273 hogs in competition.

Rex Hamilton of Tahoka 4-H showed the grand champion steer, a heavyweight Angus, and Harold Bessire of O'Donnell 4-H had the reserve grand champion, a heavyweight Hereford.

Bessire had the champion of the Hereford class, and Phil Adams of Tahoka FFA had the reserve champion, while Hamilton had the champion of the Angus class and Larry Emerson of O'Donnell 4-H the reserve champion.

Gary Beach of O'Donnell 4-H showed the champion in all three classes of lambs, Fine Wool, Medium Wool, and Southdown.

Glenn Lehman of Wilson FFA showed the grand champion fat barrow, a heavyweight Duroc, and Gary Tomlinson of Tahoka FFA had the reserve grand champion, a lightweight Poland China.

Showmanship awards went to Phil Adams of Tahoka FFA in the steer division; Valton Macker of Wilson FFA in the hog division; and Paula Beach of O'Donnell 4-H in the lamb division.

In addition to prize money totaling about $600.00, bonuses totaling $2,212.00 were paid on all entries, $12.00 on each calf, $5.00 on each hog, and $3.50 on each lamb.

Prize money and show expenses were furnished principally by Tahoka Chamber of Commerce, assisted by $100.00 from Tahoka Rotary Club. The bonus fund was contributed by merchants of the county and interested farmers and other individuals.

For complete results of stock show winnings, see story on back page of Section Two of this issue.

Mrs. Birdwell says several families from Lynn county and the South Plains have stayed with the Shields while vacationing at Fort Aransas.

Start Construction On Power Line

Southwestern Public Service's construction crew moved into Tahoka Monday preparatory to starting work on the new power line from Lubbock and the new 40,000 KW interchange two miles north of Tahoka.

Harold Roberts, local SWPC manager, says the project required 25 or 30 workmen, many of whom have their own trailer houses. Some require apartments or houses. Several months will be required to construct the line and power station.

A new 115,000 volt line will be built from Lubbock to Tahoka about a mile east of and parallel to US Highway 87. The present line coming in here from Brownfield is a 66,000 volt line.

The new interchange station will be built just north and across the road from the present interchange, two miles north of Tahoka, on five acres of land purchased from Dr. Ronney.

Mr. Roberts says the new line and interchange will give Tahoka all the power it needs for years to come.

Tahoka City Maps Now Available

Maps of the city of Tahoka are now available free to all people of the town and county who want them, and may be secured at the Chamber of Commerce office or The News.

Business firms and householders are urged to post these maps at some convenient place for future reference. The map, 14 1/2 by 17 1/2 inches in size and printed in two colors, shows all streets from North 8th to South 10th, all the avenues from A to S, most public buildings, parks, highways, churches, etc.

Even many local residents have trouble remembering streets in Tahoka and few are familiar with the north-south avenues which have been changed from a hit-or-miss name system to an orderly system of numerals. Ave. A is east of the railroad and Ave. S is the west boundary of the Roberts Addition in west Tahoka.

Chiropractor Will Move To Tahoka

Dr. Charles McElhaney, chiropractor, is moving from Fort Worth, where he has practiced a number of years, to Tahoka, and will open his office Monday in the Proffitt residence at 2200 Main street, which has been the location at least twice in the past of chiropractors.

Dr. McElhaney says he had medical training before studying chiropractic and also interned a year in Spears Sanitarium in Denver.

C. B. Keltner, owner of Keltner Hotel, entered Tahoka Hospital Monday as a medical patient.

Wayne Waters Is New Ford Dealer

Change in ownership of the Tahoka Ford dealership was officially announced this week, Fred Shipley having sold the business several weeks ago to Wayne Waters from Levelland. The firm is now known as Wayne Waters Ford.

Actually, the sale was made in January, and Mr. Waters took over on Jan. 21, but official confirmation had to come from Ford Motor Co.

Mr. Waters is planning an open house, which will be announced in the next few days.

The new owner has been in the automobile business many years, traveled for Chrysler as factory representative three years, and was in new and used car business in Levelland for several years.

Born and reared in Eldorado, Okla., he moved to Hockley county in 1929 with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Waters, who still live at Whitharral. Mrs. Waters is a member of a pioneer Hockley county family, born and reared there and her parents are Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Wright. They have one son, Eddie, age 10.

Mr. and Mrs. Shipley came here in 1946 as Ford dealers. They have announced no definite plans for the future. Mr. Waters says the new ownership will continue the same policy of good workmanship, with the same personnel, in sales and service of Fords, Falcons, and Thunderbirds.

Voters Approve Bonds, Tax For School Building Program

Inklebarger Is Contest Winner

J. W. Inklebarger of the First National Bank has been voted the "most courteous employee" in town for the month of February in the contest sponsored by Tahoka Chamber of Commerce.

Others receiving votes included Lee McFadden, Mrs. Margaret Sherrod, Billy Jack Dunlap, Mrs. Joy Thomas, Miss Floyce Sherrod, Mrs. Hazel Steevens, Mrs. Joyce Davis, and Mrs. Ethel Adams.

The contest has been in operation the past nine months for the purpose of encouraging more friendly attitude toward customers and to recognize those who show more than necessary courtesy. Several store owners have declared the contest among employees caused the owners to "perk up" a little themselves.

The C. of C. has awarded the winner each month a $10.00 cash check.

Friday night at the C. of C. banquet an award as "most courteous employee of the year" was presented Mrs. Mary Nell Ashcraft of the Farm Bureau office, she having been selected from the eight monthly winners through January by a committee of impartial judges.

Work Starts On Telephone Tower

Workmen started construction here this week on the tower for micro-wave telephone installing of General Telephone Company.

The tower will be erected immediately north of the telephone automatic exchange building, and will be similar to those in Brownfield and Seagraves.

When completed, Tahoka will have the very latest in the nation's newest developments in telephone equipment. Telephone trunk lines between here and Brownfield will be done away with and all impulses will be by wireless. General Tel. men say this would do away with the overloading of lines.

At the same time, Direct Distance Dialing will go into effect, a system whereby Tahoka subscribers may call and receive calls without assistance from a long distance operator.

Telephone users should read the article on the front page of the second section of this issue of The News in order to begin familiarizing themselves with the procedures in such future telephone usage.

TANKERSLEY CRITICAL
C. T. Tankersley remains in serious condition in Tahoka Hospital, where he has been a patient more than a week.

Voters in Tahoka Independent School District approved by a narrow margin a bond issue for local construction and remodeling and a tax increase to make the construction possible in an election held here Saturday.

With 434 votes cast, tax payers approved the first issue, concerning the tax rate by a margin of 240 for and 156 against. The second proposal, to issue bonds totaling $550,000, carried by 227 for and 180 against.

In the tax rate proposition, the valuations on property will be increased, but the rate will be decreased from $1.75 per hundred to $1.70. The change will give an increase in school tax collections of a net 28 percent to cover the new building program.

Bonds totaling $550,000 will be issued to construct a new high school building "wrapped around" the present plant, remodel the present high school to be used as a junior high school, remodel North Elementary school, construct a new bus garage east of the homemaking cottage, provide additions to the school cafeteria and vocational agriculture building, and purchase the J. W. Jaques property now occupied by three buildings.

In addition, the program will give the school the proper science facilities, class room space, libraries, and other facilities demanded by the State Board of Education, which has warned the local schools on two occasions concerning the problems brought on by an increased enrollment that has crowded local schools to capacity.

By building the new high school on the grounds of the present schools, high school students will still have access to the homemaking cottage, gymnasium, cafeteria, vocational agriculture building and football field.

Billy Graham's Picture Will Show Here March 13

Evangelist Billy Graham's newest feature-length dramatic film, "Shadow of the Boomerang," will have its Tahoka showing March 13, 7:30 p. m. at First Baptist Church. Starring vivacious Georgia Lee and television's Buffalo Bill, Jr., Dick Jones, "Shadow of the Boomerang" is an outdoor action picture with all of the excitement and breath-taking scope of the land, "Down Under." Setting for the screen drama is Australia's "Outback," the continent's vast interior region where some of the world's largest cattle stations are located.

The two young American's head an All-Australian supporting cast, playing brother and sister roles in a turbulent story of homestead life. Their arrival in Australia to manage newly acquired family holdings, plunges the couple into strange surroundings and situations with which they find it difficult to cope. The brother is immature and impetuous, slow to accept Australian ways. His sister is much more democratic, readily accepted by her new friends with whom she joins in an attempt to instill understanding and tolerance in her brother.

Filmed against the backdrop of Billy Graham Australian Crusades, "Shadow of the Boomerang" seeks to underline the Godly reaction to human crises and conflicts. Spokesman for the Christian position is Billy Graham, seen in dramatic Crusade footage photographed at the site of the Evangelist's record-breaking crowds in Melbourne and Sydney. An authentic landline relay meeting which shared the big city Crusades with the stockmen of the "Outback," is used as an effective dramatic device in the story climax.

"Shadow of the Boomerang" was produced and directed by Dick Ross, President of World Wide Pictures, the organization which has created such previous Billy Graham film successes as "The Heart is a Rebel," "Souls in Conflict" and "Oiltown, USA." The new picture will be shown free of charge under the auspices of the Billy Graham Evangelistic Film Ministry.

McClellans In Business Year

Charles and Peggy McClellan bought their Phillips 66 service station business a year ago March 6, and have enjoyed a steady increase in business at one of the nicest stations in town.

The firm features all fine Phillips products, road service, advertised as "the only Tahoka station with Island Vacuum Service—your car is vacuumed while we service," tires, tubes, batteries, washing and greasing, tire balancing, etc.

Both are active in Tahoka civic affairs, enthusiastic and personable. Charles is a volunteer member of Tahoka Fire Department, past master of the local Masonic Lodge, member of Tahoka Diving Club, and a booster of Bulldog football. Peggy is presently leader of Brownie Troop 87, past neighborhood chairman of Tahoka Girl Scouts, a member of the Women's Auxiliary of Tahoka Fire Department, and a past president of Tahoka Jayceeettes. She enjoys working with young people, and the couple have two children of their own, Pam and Cem.

Charles was associated with The Lynn County News about 12 years before going into business for himself a year ago. However, he had previously had much experience in the service station line.

Charles was born at O'Donnell, lived at Spur as a youth, attended school at Tahoka, and was working at Ruidoso, N. M., when he met Peggy. The latter was born in Alamogordo, N. M., and graduated from high school at Ruidoso, where she was a leader in school affairs. Charles brought her back to Tahoka, when they tired of the mountain country.

Doyle Lewallen, who recently joined the business, has had several years automotive experience, and is qualified in properly servicing cars and trucks.

Ervin "Junebug" Hatchett is experienced in washing and greasing and other phases of service station work.

The University of Texas has a permanent fund which is increasing by approximately $17 million a year.

Jim Palmer Is Buried Sunday

James W. (Jim) Palmer, 58, long a citizen of Lynn county, died suddenly of a heart attack Thursday at about 1:00 a. m. at his home at Flat, near Gatesville, to which place he had moved from here two or three years ago.

Funeral services were held Sunday at Flat Baptist Church, in which community he was born and reared.

Mr. Palmer had lived a number of years in Tahoka, Newmoore, O'Donnell, and more recently at Draw, operating stores most of the time. At the time of his death he was a cook at the Gatesville School for Boys.

Mr. and Mrs. "Butch" Ingle had chanced to meet him on the road near Gatesville at about 5:00 p. m. Wednesday, eight hours before he died, and he seemed to be well at that time.

Attending funeral services from here were Mr. and Mrs. "Dutch" Crawford, Clarence Anderson, Hubert Aldridge, and "Butch" Ingle.

Survivors include his wife; two sons, Joe of Silver City, N. M., former O'Donnell head coach, and James (Sonny) of Ballinger; two daughters, Mrs. Virginia Berry of Amarillo, and Juanita, whose married name The News was unable to obtain, of Salt Lake City.

Mrs. T. B. Cowan Dies In Lubbock

Mrs. T. B. Cowan, 81, of Lubbock, pioneer settler of Lynn county, died early Tuesday in a Lubbock rest home. She lived at 1807 8th street in Lubbock.

Funeral services were held Wednesday at 2:00 p. m. in the Church of God of Lubbock with the pastor, Rev. Billy Sanders, and Rev. V. S. Miller of Clovis officiating. Burial followed in Resthaven Memorial Park.

The Cowans were among the early settlers of Lynn county, and farmed southeast of Tahoka until moving to Lubbock in 1931. Mr. Cowan passed away several years ago.

Survivors include four sons, T. Cowan of Fort Smith, Ark., Ernest in the U. S. Coast Guard in New York, Coleman of Lubbock, and Sherman of Albuquerque; two daughters, Mrs. J. H. Lane of Monahans and Mrs. Noel Bryant of route 3, Lubbock; 40 grandchildren, and 30 great grandchildren.

Farm Facts

Nurse cows have a new competitor—the electronic "mother."

It's a feeder that blends water with a dry milk replacer, holds it at a temperature of 100 degrees, and dispenses it through a standard calf nipple. Not only is milk available around the clock, but a time delay feature prevents calves from gorging themselves.

Capacity is 16 calves per feeder. Antibiotics or other medicine can be fed automatically in the ration.

According to Harold Stover, agricultural engineer at Kansas State University, here's how it works:

The machine is connected to a water supply and source of electricity and dispenses milk replacer from a 20-pound hopper. A fan-like vibrator in a tank just below the hopper keeps the powder flowing uniformly into a plastic mixing bowl beneath the machine. At the same time, warm water from a small hot water tank flows into the mixing bowl.

When the water level reaches a "feeler" bulb, the supply cuts off until the calf sucks the milk replacer through a nipple mounted at a low angle. This forces the calf to bend its neck, causing the formula to go into the proper stomach.

Meredith Will Receive Honor

A. A. Meredith of Berger, secretary of the Canadian River Authority of which Tahoka is a member, will be honored Monday by the U. S. Department of Interior as one of five recipients in the nation of the department's Conservation Service Award, Stewart L. Udall, secretary, informed The News Thursday morning.

Mr. Meredith was singled out for his nearly twenty-five years of work that led to the Canadian River Project of the Bureau of Reclamation, a $102 million development that will bring much-needed residential and industrial water to 11 municipalities in the Panhandle area of Northwest Texas.

"You are well aware of the extensive hard work, planning, and negotiations that were involved over nearly a quarter of a century in bringing the Canadian River Project to the construction state," Secretary Udall said in the award to Mr. Meredith. "You played a key role in nearly every major action. Had it not been for your tireless and unselfish efforts, the project never would have become a reality. Now that the project is under construction, you are continuing to play a vital part in coordinating and expediting project activities."

CARBON MONOXIDE IS A DEADLY KILLER

Carbon monoxide is as stealthy as any wartime commando and just as deadly, but the commando fights our enemies while "Mr. Mono" kills hundreds of us every year.

"Mr. Mono" is a topnotch ambassador of death. He likes his work. He's not even satisfied with a double shift. He's on the job 24 hours a day.

Carbon monoxide is far more common, more dangerous than the poisons we think of, such as: snake bites, insecticides, or spoiled foods. Its effectiveness is closely concerned with ventilation. If you own a car, it travels with you whenever and wherever you drive. Carbon monoxide is a gas you cannot see, taste, or smell. It won't tickle your throat or make your eyes smart, or any way make its presence known.

Carbon monoxide is produced by the incomplete burning of a solid, liquid, or gaseous fuel.

Carbon monoxide is dangerous because it sickens and kills by cutting off the oxygen supply from the body's tissues. Ordinarily the oxygen you breathe is carried from your lungs by the red cells of your blood to all parts of your body. This combination with the red cells is very important, for just breathing oxygen into one's lungs is not enough to maintain life. The oxygen must combine with the blood's red cells and circulate through the blood stream and be carried to all parts of the body. If it does not, your life will be threatened.

Carbon monoxide can combine with red cells 200 times easier than oxygen. When oxygen and sizable amounts of carbon monoxide are breathed in together, the carbon monoxide displaces the oxygen. The density, or the weight of carbon monoxide per unit volume is greater than the density, or the weight of a unit volume of oxygen. Thereby the carbon monoxide displaces the oxygen in the body cells, which can quickly lead to death.

The symptoms of carbon monoxide poisoning are: tightness across the forehead, followed or accompanied by throbbing in temples, headache, weariness, weakness, dizziness, nausea, loss of muscular control and increased pulse and respiration. If the concentration of carbon monoxide in the air is great enough, the victim may fall unconscious without any warning signals.

If you're driving at night and the darkness seems blacker than usual, the glare of oncoming lights brighter than usual, carbon monoxide might well be the cause.

The above situations can be handled very easily by keeping at

Neighbors List Land For Roper

Neighbors of Orville Roper in the Gordon community Wednesday afternoon listed his land for him. The Roper family has been ill with the flu, and in addition Mr. Roper's father, C. L. Roper, was buried Monday.

Mrs. Robert Lee Hagler reports that the following men did the plowing: Charley Dabbs, J. B. Rackler, O. W. Tucker, Bunyan Corbell, J. C. Henderson, Wilburn Maeker, L. W. Gandy, Grover Brewster, Robert Lee Hagler and Bill Ingle. Tractors were also furnished by Hub Haire, Cliff Ingle, and Howton Haire, driven by farm hands.

Mr. Roper lives a mile south and a mile and a half west of Gordon.

CARD OF THANKS

May I express my sincere appreciation for the prayers, flowers, visits and best wishes from all of you while I was in the hospital. May the Good Lord bless our many friends.—Pat Campbell, Wilson.

The fast pace of modern living has much to do with the high cost least one window in the car open. Fresh air is just the remedy a person needs to drive away that drowsy feeling. In bad weather this can be obtained by opening the fresh air vents on the front of most cars.

Recent tests have shown that, under certain conditions, the concentration of carbon monoxide within the car is often greater with the windows open than with them closed because the draft created by an open window can aid carbon monoxide or exhaust fumes in seeping up through the floorboard and into the car if there are leaks in the exhaust system. The answer to this is to offset the vacuum effect of open side windows with positive air pressure of a front vent or air duct.

New Home Youth Writes Winning Essay In Contest On Conservation

First place essay in the Soil Conservation contest held for Lynn county school students appears below. Author is David Unfred, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe B. Unfred, of New Home. Title of the compositions is "Conservation, A Way of Life."

CONSERVATION, A WAY OF LIFE

Before a person can truly conceive how conservation has helped us and how it will help us in the future, he needs to know how conservation has been carried on in the past, the present and the future. This study of the past helps him to realize his mistakes. The study of the present shows him where he is now, while the study of the future shows him how much he has left to do.

When our forefathers first landed on American soil, they found primeval forests, boundless, untrod by feudal foot. They could see that in these forests were food to feed a hungry people, trees to make homes and supply fuel, and virgin land on which a nation could grow and prosper. Clear un-sullied streams flowed from the majestic and awesome mountains which were the holders for wealth in the future. The desert held resources and values of space, beauty and quiet. In the south were swamps and potholes which were a part of Nature's balance of conservation. The fathers settled the wilderness, built towns and farms for their sons of the future. They could foresee the riches this country had to offer.

The fathers conquered a continent and learned much about the land and themselves. What did the sons do about making a prosperous future? The sons, for quick profits and heedless of sons to come, cut over and let burn many forests. The logging towns died and the streams became polluted. The rain washed the soil from the destroyed forests causing silt to choke reservoirs. This mistake led to floods and wasted water, which was becoming more precious. People plowed land that should be grassland and saw how dust storms could destroy good grazing land. They overgrazed and uncovered the slopes and paid the price of erosion. All of these mistakes led to forced sales of homes and farms, and poverty.

We have started a great conservation movement and anyone can see how it has paid off. Man destroyed the "Dustbowl," restocked forests and streams with game, and rebuilt the forests. For the future which we can build, we have the lessons of the past. We have the knowledge, from research and experience, of how to manage forests and keep them in production. We have new kinds of grasses and knowledge of their management. We have learned how to conserve the soil and water. We have a heightened appreciation of the beauty of our land and the growing need of recreation for people. We can learn to turn wasted soil into fertile farms and we can also learn how to keep the farms we have productive. We can build stronger lives and a stronger nation through our Conservation Program now and in the future. The people of America shall have prosperity only through the productivity of conservation practices.

Band Members Win In Contests

Carroll Curry, Tahoka High School freshman band student and player of the clarinet, earned a coveted Division I (Superior) rating for his clarinet solo, "A Gentle Song," at the Region I University Interscholastic League solo and ensemble contest held at South Plains College in Levelland Saturday.

Ten other high school band students attended the contest with various other instrumental solos and ensembles.

Other soloists were John Huffaker, who received a Division II (Excellent) for his tenor saxophone solo; Ralph Brock, Division II (Excellent) for his cornet solo; and Dusty Walker, playing a trombone solo, received a "Fair" rating.

Those who participated in various ensembles were Eugenia Smith, Cynthia Parker, Carroll Curry and Gail Dykes, who received a Division II for a clarinet quartet. Also receiving a Division II rating for a clarinet quartet were Barbara Orr, Gail Dykes, Rhonda Lawrence and Kay Lambert.

Jackie Burnett, Ralph Brock and Patricia Falls earned a Division II rating for a cornet trio. This is the first time the high school band students have attended a contest of this kind, thus making their performances, especially Curry's, very exceptional.

The band director, Vic Kyles, said that he was very proud of each and every participating band student, regardless of the rating he or she received. "This is the kind of experience the band students need to become the outstanding high school band we all desire," he stated.

The judges, outstanding individual teachers from over Texas and New Mexico, included Rowie Durden of West Texas State College, who judged the clarinets; Lee Boyd Montgomery, director of bands, Canyon, who judged cornet solos; Gregg Randall, band director of Las Cruces, N. M., who judged saxophone solos; and Ray Robbins, director of bands, Phillips, who judged all cornet ensembles.

Lynn County Families Are Protected By Insurance Totaling $30.6 Million

(Special to The News)
New York—The average Lynn County family had more protection in the form of life insurance, at the close of 1952, than ever before.

For the community as a whole, life insurance holdings totaled $30,667,000.

Data on the amount of insurance in force and on its distribution throughout the country is given for each of the states in the Life Insurance Fact Book.

It shows that the American people, despite the financial safeguards they have been accumulating under Social Security, have been adding to their private coverage, in many cases as a way of providing money for particular future objectives.

At present they hold well over $685 billion of such insurance, or nearly $80 billion more than in the prior year.

Some $30,743,000,000 of it is in force in the State of Texas, the figures show.

Examination of the distribution within the state indicates that life insurance ownership is roughly proportional to income. The amount that the average family has is equal to its entire income, after taxes, covering a period of 21.6 months.

On this basis, applying the average to Lynn County, where the net income per household is approximately $462 per month, according to the latest Sales Management figures, life insurance holdings locally come to nearly $9,890 per family.

This compares favorably with the amount of coverage elsewhere in the West South Central States, $9,560 per family.

It is noted that life insurance protection in the United States has more than tripled since 1945. Much of the expansion is attributed to group insurance, which has risen faster than any other type. The majority of those who have it acquired it at their places of employment. Others obtained it through their unions, professional associations and other groups.

Although some families invest in life insurance specifically for savings and investment, they are in the minority. Most of them get it to provide financial protection in case the breadwinner should die prematurely.

Thus, ownership is found to be highest among adult men. Nearly 8 out of 10 men have life insurance, but only 6 out of 10 women.

One highlight of the banquet was a 15-minute program of music by the Rhythm Riders, Tahoka High combo orchestra directed by Vic Kyler, band director. John Huffaker announced the numbers and played the saxophone; Ronnie Hudgens, drums; Carroll Curry, clarinet; Paul Kenley, trombone; Ralph Brock, trumpet; and Maria Bray, piano.

E. L. Short, president for two years, introduced the new president, Turner Rogers, and each made brief but appropriate talks.

New or re-elected directors introduced were: Alton Cain, Frank Hill, Leighton Knox, Dale Thuren, Charles Townes, Charles Vernet, and John Wells.

Hold-over directors are: Short Rogers, Charles Brock, G. H. Chestnutt, Jack Jaquess, H. B. McCord Jr., Wilton Payne, Harold Roberts, James F. Roberts, and Clint Walker.

Retiring directors are: A. M. Bray, W. T. Kidwell, Elbert King, and Mitchell Williams.

Mrs. Retha Dunn, secretary for several months, was given credit for the one who does the "leg work" for the organization.

In a talk filled with wit and humor, as well as sage comment, Dr. Stevens kept his audience in a hilarious mood with his subject, "What is Your Level of Service?"

"You can't always have everything in your community just like you want it," he declared, "but you can work to improve it and boost what you do have."

He said there are four distinct levels of service:

1. The slave level, wherein one does just what he has to do or is driven to do. In this group are people who do nothing for their community unless driven to such work. By not doing anything for our community, we force the Federal government to step in and take control.

2. The business man's view of service, wherein men render service simply to bring in more business. This, he said is admirable, because it has made the great profit system, the system of individual initiative, work by placing individual responsibility. The business man who gives the service, who serves his community, who meets competition on all levels, is the one who succeeds—and our American profit system is the greatest in the world today, in spite of those who would change the system.

3. The service club type of service is also very admirable and a great force in our society, but it still does not go far enough.

4. The highest type of service is that rendered because of love of God and fellowman and humanity

"SMALL BUSINESS"

In this session of Congress, many wiser economic theories will be advanced. Perhaps a great deal of the nonsense will be engendered by a realization that a day of fiscal reckoning is here, and hence a move to throw up a smokescreen to obscure the real issue.

After all, any nation can only afford so much government, no matter how good that government functions. Louis XIV, the "Sun King" probably gave France as stable a government as it has ever had. It just cost too much for the people to bear, and by the time that Louis XVI had his head chopped off, maintenance of the government on the scale to which it had become accustomed made necessary restricting freedom so government could rob the people.

Marie Antoinette who also lost her head, undoubtedly felt the people owed her extravagances.

All government, whether operated by crowned heads, or by bureaucrats, becomes quite prone to self-rationalizing the need for more and more government expenditures.

Somewhere along the line a mental transition comes about when they cease becoming servants of the people and the people become their servants.

This phenomena is woven into history's pattern since Ancient Rome.

Now, perhaps new plot is being used on U.S. electorate.

For if government can encourage people to acquire a false sense of well being by living beyond their means, then perhaps they will not demand that the necessary substantial pruning of governmental costs be made. It is moral to owe the butcher, the baker and the candlestick maker, but very immoral to owe the tax collector.

Probably it is felt if the citizens can be made financially irresponsible, they will overlook the three decades of reckless government spending.

Some members of Congress such as Senator Richard Byrd and Rep. Wilbur Mills understand that the greatest threat to the freedom of a peoples is governmental extravagance.

It is perhaps most significant that Walter Heller, Chairman of the Council of Economic Advisors recently came out in print with the following astonishing statement.

"The expansion (of our economy) can continue only if consumers, business, and state and local governments increase their spending faster than their incomes rise, thereby putting more purchasing power into the spending stream than they take out. Indeed, this has been characteristic of successful expansions in the past."

Thus, a highly paid government official advises everybody to go head over heels into debt.

One highlight of the banquet was a 15-minute program of music by the Rhythm Riders, Tahoka High combo orchestra directed by Vic Kyler, band director. Lyntegar Honors H. L. McMillan

H. L. McMillan Sr. is shown in a large picture in the March issue of "Texas Co-op Power" receiving an award from Garland Pennington, Lyntegar manager. The following story accompanies the picture:

RETIREMENT 'AGE' REACHED, BUT MAC WORKS ON

The first employee to reach retirement age is H. L. McMillan, who has been with Lyntegar Electric since February, 1942.

"Mac" was earlier employed four years by Ringhart and Donovan, the construction company which built the Co-Op's first lines. Then he was hired by the Co-Op as a helper.

After just a few months he was promoted to lineman, and not long afterwards, to construction foreman.

Now, for the past five years, McMillan has been responsible for the Co-Op's meter change program. Under this program every meter in the system is changed every five years and brought into Tahoka for testing.

Co. it's seldom that Mac has to do any pole climbing, but when the occasion demanded, he has gotten the job done.

Mac was honored by his fellow employees at their meeting January 1, when he was given a walking cane with the words, "65th Birthday" inscribed on the handle.

At that same time, Manager Garland Pennington presented a gold watch to Mac with the inscription, "H. L. McMillan, first to reach retirement age under the Lyntegar Electric Co-operative pension plan."

All of these good wishes have been accepted by Mac with gratitude for the friendship of his fellow employees, but he brushes off any talk of actually "retiring" because of age.

"I like to work," he says simply.

So, congratulations, Mac, on reaching retirement age, and good wishes as you continue your fine work.

and the Tahoka brochures were plate favors at the meeting.

Let us be good servants because it is right, decent, and proper."

Don Browning, local Church of Christ minister, introduced the speaker, under whom he studied history while a student in ACC.

Among others recognized at the banquet were special guests, Tahoka's volunteer firemen and their wives, who are doing outstanding service to the community; Eugene Munsell, responsible for the beautiful roadside park north of town; Fred Stanley, assistant district highway engineer of Lubbock, and wife, once Tahokans; Rainbow Girls, who waited on tables; the Cafeteria ladies, who served the meals; and special committees of men and women who arranged the banquet.

Rev. James Efrid gave the invocation and Rev. Aubrey White pronounced the benediction.

We should be courteous because it is right to be courteous. We should be helpful because it is right to be helpful, he declared.

To develop this character, we must be objective, stand for convictions regardless of consequences, be victorious without being vindictive, develop a deep sense of self-respect, and "the key to all is love of God, love of neighbor, and love of thyself."

"America has more of everything than any nation in the world," he declared "Why go and try to change our system through regimentation, bureaucracy, and socialization?"

Direct Distance Dialing Procedure Is Explained

(Ed. Note—This is the first article in a three-part series on Direct Distance Dialing, which General Telephone Company of the Southwest is introducing here April 7, 1963.)

Less than two months from now, this area will have the most modern long distance telephone service — Direct Distance Dialing (DDD).

But, just exactly how does DDD work?

To answer this question, we went to W. A. King, district manager for General Telephone of the Southwest. Here are some of the important points to remember in preparing for your use of DDD.

With DDD, a new key number—112—will become a part of our long distance dialing routine, as these three numbers are always the first ones you dial to connect you to the DDD equipment. (Just as "O" connects you with the long distance operator).

At the same time it will be necessary to dial the code number of the area you are calling. With nearly 80 million phones across the country, the industry found it necessary to divide the United States into areas, assigning a specific code number to each area such as 505 for New Mexico and 303 for Colorado.

"Some of the more populated states such as California, New York and Texas were assigned several different area codes," King explained.

Texas has six area codes. Area code 915 covers most of West Texas, 512 includes South Texas, 713 is for Southeast Texas, 213 for the Northeast corner of the state, and 817 for North Central Texas. The sixth and final code for Texas, 806, includes the Panhandle South Plains portion. 806, then, is the area code for all of the five towns which will have access to DDD beginning April 7 — Brownfield, Denver City, Seagraves, Tahoka and Wilson.

Only station-to-station calls may be dialed direct. Person to person, collect, credit card and pay station calls must still be directed through the Operator.

On all DDD (or station-to-station) calls there are three steps:

1. Dial the access code, 112.
2. Dial the area code of the place you are calling. There is one important exception here. If the city you are calling has the same area code designation as the town from which you are calling, step number two can be eliminated. In other words, if you are at a number here in town and are calling a number in Lubbock, which is also in the 806 code area, you need not complete step number two—simply go on to step three described below.
3. Dial the number you are calling.

At this point the phone user will hear a "zip-zip" tone indicating that a checking operator has come on the line to record his number. Upon hearing the "zip-zip", the calling party should promptly give the operator his number without her having to ask for it and the call will be sped on its way.

To further explain Direct Distance Dialing, here are some examples of calls from this area and what you would dial.

A. You're in Tahoka and wish to call Porter 5-2521 in Lubbock.

1. Dial 112, the access code.
2. Dial P05-2521 (No area code is necessary since both the called number and the number calling are in the same dialing area, 806).

B. You're in Tahoka and wish to call EKpress 3-2101 in Hobbs, New Mexico.

1. Dial 112, the access code.
2. Dial 505, the area code for New Mexico.
3. Dial EX3-2101.

C. You're in Tahoka and wish to call Murray Hill 7-3400 in New York City.

1. Dial 112, the access code.
2. Dial 212, the area code.
3. Dial MU7-3400.

D. You're in Tahoka and wish to call 546-3426 in Seagraves.

1. Dial 112, the access code.
2. Dial 546-3426. (Area code not necessary, since both cities are in the same dialing area, 806).

It is so far from El Paso to Austin that an early-day senator, traveling with a wagon train for safety against the Indians, did not reach Austin until the legislature had met, transacted all its business and adjourned.

Tahoka Future Homemakers Tell Objectives In Work At School

Four girls from the Tahoka High Homemaking Department, Elwanda Tekell, Janis Gattis, Monte McGinty, and Rhonda Littlepage, presented the program Thursday noon at Tahoka Rotary Club. The general theme of the program was "What the Future Homemakers of America Means To Us."

Miss Tekell told how the girls seek to achieve national FHA objectives, which include "discovering myself and my worth to others, contributing to the joys and satisfactions of family living, preparation for marriage, strengthening education, and launching good citizenship through homemaking."

Miss Gattis said State projects are closely related to National projects, and help girls make the most of their abilities, focus on better family living, better nutrition, etc. The girls sponsor a "career corner" for FHA and the sending of Christmas cards to hospitals.

Miss McGinty outlined the local objectives, including a scholarship fund for outstanding Senior girls, a Golden Age friend program, serving the community, working toward Junior, Chapter and State degrees, and sponsoring a "Little Sister" among freshman girls. Some projects include Daddy Date night, Mother-Daughter banquet, FHA week, serving banquets, etc.

Miss Littlepage, only sophomore in the group, said FHA helps in building a happier and better life, development of personality for use now and in future life, understand dating problems, learn to enjoy sewing and cooking. She said they study money management, which is the cause of many unhappy homes and marriage failures.

Mrs. Madeline Hegi, homemaking teacher, was also a guest.

The program was presented by Fred McGinty, program chairman for the month.

President Calloway Huffaker introduced Wayne Waters, new Ford dealer here, as a new member. Wynne Collier asked to be given "senior active" membership in order that Dayton Parker, new pharmacist at his place of business, could become a member.

He also announced Tahoka club was seventh in District 573 in attendance for January with 97.79 percent. The club for December was 17th in the nation among 1,527 clubs in the 90-99 member class, with a high 99.37 percent attendance record.

Huffaker also announced the Rotary Pancake Supper on March 15 for benefit of the club's community projects, and Dale Thuren and E. L. Short spoke briefly on the Stock Show.

Lynn Birdwell says a judge at a livestock show is a real fine fellow until he announces his decision.

George Williamson of Wilson declared a person may look anywhere and not find a better barrow show than the one here. We told A. D. Wenzel of Brownfield, long one of the top hog breeders, what George had said, and A. D. replied that the Lynn county show has always been tops.

Both Hulan Harris of Big Spring, area vocational agriculture supervisor for 47 counties, and Bill Waddell, agriculture manager of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, told The News man that many state-wide shows are no better than the barrow division of the Lynn county show Saturday, and that competition was keener than in either the El Paso or San Antonio shows.

"And look at this crowd," Waddell stated. "You have a fine livestock barn and your people seem to be backing the kids. I never saw anything like it."

"This is a very fine calf show," stated Ollie Limer, county agent of Hale county. There were 49 calves entered. And, he went on to praise the county on the excellent livestock exhibition hall, one of the best county show places one will find anywhere.

Hats off to E. R. Blakney! From what we are told, there is no one more deserving of the honor, "Outstanding Conservation Farmer of the Year," than he. Lynn county is fortunate in having such outstanding men as E. R. and the many others who are trying to advance agriculture in our area.

Maybe things are not so bad, after all. A nickle will still buy a postage stamp.

If you think the kids today are not as smart as you were when you were a kid, you just ought to be around some of those coming out of our local schools a little more. Recently we heard a group of high school boys make talks at the Rotary club, and last Thursday a group of girls made similar talks. Recently, we read some essays by students. In every case, these kids expressed themselves well, and with confidence, revealed a deep knowledge of their subjects, and shot straight from the shoulder. We have a lot of kids with knowledge and ability that puts some of us on the back step.

Other evidence of outstanding work being done in the local schools includes the Rhythm Riders, combo orchestra which played Friday night at the C. of C. banquet, which would do justice to many professional groups, and the wonderful progress made by the many band students under Vic Kyles; the Student Council campaign speeches at Monday's assembly; the junior stock show; the Science Fair Monday night; the class plays; and the gentlemen on our athletic teams.

That's What Schools Are For

A Seagraves coach told us recently after a basketball game with Tahoka, "You have a fine bunch of young gentlemen on your team."

Yet, we hear growlings and grumblings from a few people on the streets about our schools who really don't know what they are talking about. We hear fans at football and basketball games who think they know more about coaching and which kids should be playing and how the boys and girls should be used than do the basketball and football coaches, who are experts in their fields and are with the kids every day. Most of such talk is downright silly!

A classroom teacher told us recently, "I don't have any kid trouble, it's all parent trouble." Then he asked us, "Why is it to-day every parent, it seems, who was probably a hell-cat as a youth, now thinks his child should have better grades, is always a little angel, and the teacher is always wrong?" We couldn't answer the question.

Gossip is like mud thrown against a clean wall; it may not stick, but it leaves a mark.—Cheer

Chancys Came To City In 1916

Chancy & Son is no new-comer on the Tahoka scene as Lynn county observes its 60th anniversary.

Ted Chancy, the "daddy" of the firm, born in Indian Territory, first came to Tahoka in 1916, after a year moved to Sweetwater, and returned "home" to stay in 1925, entered the plumbing and contracting business on Sept. 8, 1927. He opened a service station on Jan. 2, 1948.

Bill Chancy, partner in the firm, was born and reared here, and joined his dad in business with the opening of the station.

Chancy's deals in Humble products, road service and delivery, fixing tractor flats in the field, automotive parts and supplies, all under the direction of Bill. Ted looks after the plumbing end of the business, construction work, remodeling and turn-key jobs, does ditching and curb contracting, and also handles plumbing supplies, Day and Night, Jetglass, and Payne water heaters.

Ted is an elder in the Church of Christ, and is an enthusiastic football fan. He and his wife, Minnie, have raised eight children.

Bill, born and reared in Tahoka, is an old Bulldog, and wherever the Bulldog football team goes, Bill is there to carry the chain at games. In fact, he never misses a game. He is a past president of Tahoka Jaycees.

Travis McDaniel, minister of the United Pentecostal Church, joined the firm last year as parts man and helps operate the service station.

Fred Barker, the Levelland banker, was back "home" Saturday to attend the funeral of his old friend, Vernon Davis, and remarked that he and Louis Westhewers were the only two employees of the First National of Tahoka back in the 1920s who are still living. Both hope to stay around a while.

Kathryn and Harold Edwards, 6112 Dashwood, Houston, write: "We enjoy your paper very much and have been saddened by so many old friends passing this year. We especially enjoy your Printers Inkings, and I especially like the society news, but it makes me stop and realize my age when I read of so many 'children' getting married."

Kathryn sends a story, supposedly true, from the Houston Chronicle, about a 5-year old nursery school girl coming home after being briefed by her teacher on an upcoming holiday. "I know who George Washington was. He was our first Kennedy."

The Printer has been accused of being an agent in destroying respect for government officials. But it about time the public demands better qualified men to run our government? We have an attorney general of the United States who had never argued a case in the court room until he had been in office two years. We have Supreme Court justices who never sat in a court bench, who never even practiced law until after appointment to the highest court in the nation. We have a secretary of agriculture who is a lawyer and only worked on a dairy farm as a youth. Our top economic advisor's (to the President) only claim to being an expert in the field of finance is that he taught economics in a college. Our lawyer Comptroller of the Currency never had any experience in banking. We sent a diplomatic mission to South America, not one member of which could speak Spanish, and only one member of the group had ever before been in a Spanish-speaking country and he only on a brief vacation trip. Our President, when a senator, once said on the floor of the senate, "I am for NOTHING for the South." We have civilians in the Pentagon who over-rule our top generals on military matters. We've got congressmen voting away our rights and sending our money to Communist countries who scarcely ever come home and spend any time conferring with "the common herd." We wouldn't hire a printer who had never printed. You wouldn't want a doctor who had never been to a medical school. You wouldn't hire a tractor driver who had never even driven a car. You even resent your neighbor trying to tell you how to farm. But, we seem to accept questionable government appointees and elected officials just because they are good Democrats, or Republicans, and managed to get there.

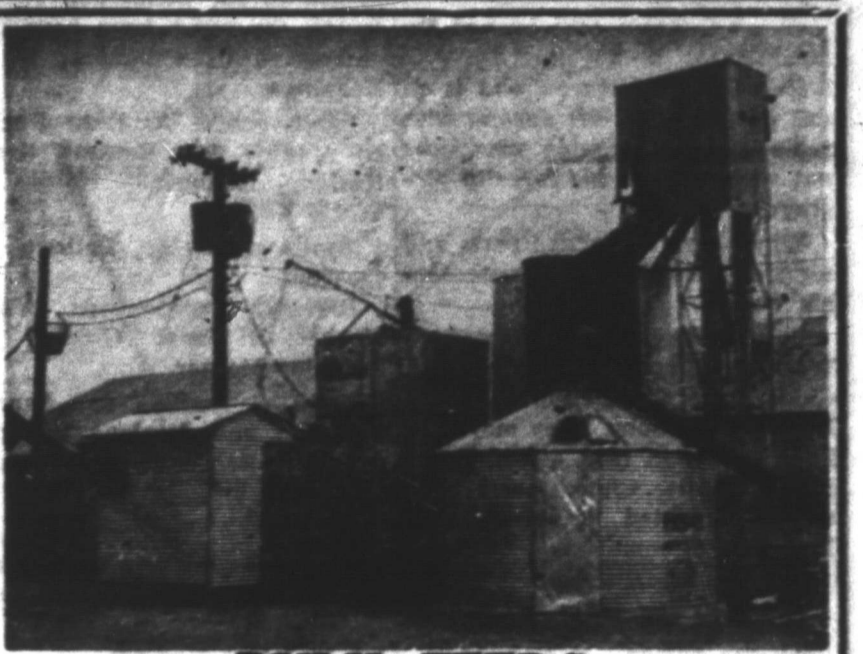

Vernon Davis was more than an ordinary man. You never heard a lot out of him, but he had strong and usually sound convictions that would stand the test. And when he did speak out, he "said what he meant and meant what he said," as the old saying goes. The crowd at his funeral is a tribute to the man, a friend of many.

Some more "Gus Says" from the Graham Rotary Scandal Sheet: "Some fellows are so proud of themselves they can strut 'titing down... Most men are just as honest and truthful as women and maybe that's the reason most women are so suspicious of them

If folks will do everything they have to do better than they have to do it, they'll get more to do." Help keep Tahoka clean.

LUXURY CAR: RIDES, RESPONDS AND LOOKS LIKE IT OUGHT TO COST A RANSOM

You're looking at our Impala Super Sport Convertible which, along with its cousin the Sport Coupe, absolutely embarrasses higher priced cars.

That special trim and those front bucket seats merely hint at the comforts you find built into every Impala Super Sport.

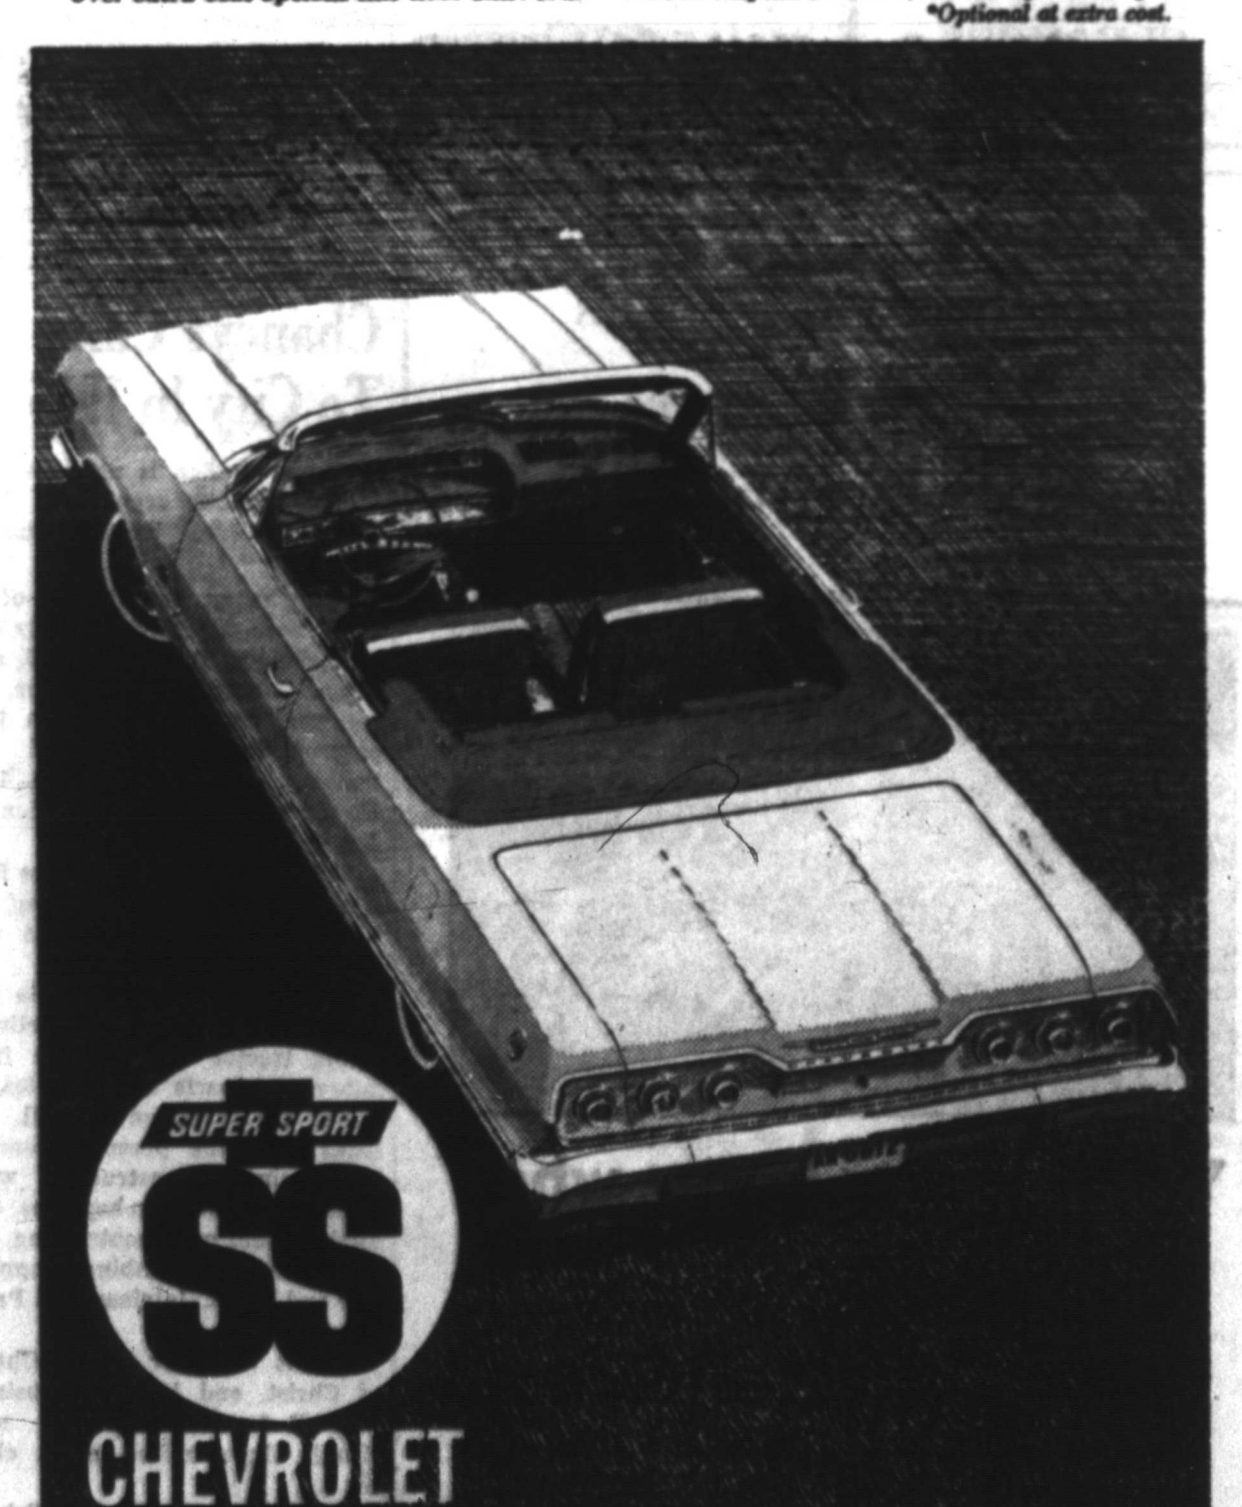

Performance! It's remarkable, an understatement we can afford when there are 7 engines to choose from. One of which is the popular 340-hp Turbo-Fire 409", a wizard in traffic and a joy on the open road. And others all the way up to 425 hp.

If you want an extra flourish or two, mull over extra-cost options like floor-shift four-speed manual or Powerglide transmission, Positraction, fade-resistant sintered-metallic brake linings, and a tachometer to relay what's cooking up front.

Just before you rush off to your Chevrolet dealer, may we remind you that both Impala Super Sports offer the new Comfortilt steering wheel*. You adjust it to suit your driving style, flick it out of the way for easy entry and exit.

All three Chevrolet series—Biscayne, Bel Air and Impala—deserve a long look. Super Sports demand it.

Super Sport equipment* available on both Impala Convertible and Sport Coupe. *Optional at extra cost.
