854 Take TB Tests First Two Nights

A total of 854 persons had taken the tuberculosis heat-gun tests the first two nights of the three-night program and a large number was expected Thursday night.

Recipients of the tests will return to the court house basement either Saturday afternoon or Sunday afternoon from 2:30 to 5:00 p. m. for the tests to be read, according to Harry Lee Short, a member of the Tahoka Jaycees, which is sponsoring the testing.

The reading of the tests will take no longer than the test itself, Short said. Those showing positive reactions will be able to have a free X-ray when the X-ray Mobile Unit comes to town at a later date.

On Tuesday night, the first night of the program, only 160 persons received tests. The balance, or about 690 persons, received the tests on Wednesday night. Of this latter number, about 60 percent of those were Latin Americans and Colored, but some disappointment was shown that more white people had not turned out.

However, the program, the first to be administered here in many years was considered to be very successful.

School nurses of Lynn county, who also sponsored the testing along with the State Health authorities, administered the heat-gun test. These included Mrs. Lillian McCord, Tahoka schools; Mrs. Jean Harvick, O'Donoghue schools; and Mrs. Claude Bingham, Wilson-New Home schools. The nurses will also read the tests when those taking them return Saturday and Sunday.

The program was set up after several cases of tuberculosis in Lynn county had been detected among the white population, as well as Latin American. It is hoped the disease can be isolated to prevent its further spread.

The Wilson Cancer Crusade, under the direction of Pat Campbell, will also be made during April, according to Hewlett. The New Home Home Demonstration Club will again be in charge of the drive in that area. Although no chairman has been appointed, O'Donnell will also participate in the campaign.

More than half of the funds contributed during the current Crusade will be spent for cancer research in Texas institutions, and for public education to increase the saving of lives. Additional amounts which will be spent for professional education and for service to cancer patients will help bring the total to be spent in Texas to more than ninety cents of the dollar contributed.

The Society is currently supporting research at three University of Texas centers, in Dallas, Houston and Galveston, and at Baylor University centers in Dallas and Houston. Texas grants currently in effect total more than $400,000. This includes some of the important research in the leukemia field, where the most substantial progress has been made in recent years.

Emphasizing again that the entire county should be reached, Hewlett points out that contributions can be mailed to The American Cancer Society, Box 978, Tahoka.

Pre-School Day Plans Complete

Parents of children who will be six years old on or before September 1, 1963 are reminded that next Friday, April 26, will be pre-school day at Tahoka's South Elementary building.

J. B. Howell, principal, emphasizes that students now attending the first grade will not come to school that day. Pre-school day is to acquaint next year's first graders with the building, teachers and routines of a regular school day.

The day will begin with registration from 8:30 to 9:00 a. m. in the hall of the South Elementary building and will end at 11:30 a. m. Arrangements should be made for the children to be picked up at that time.

The children attending must be accompanied by a parent or other responsible adult, as there will be no bus facilities provided for them. It is stressed that they are not to ride the bus with older brothers and sisters.

After registering the children, parents will assemble in the school cafeteria. Lunch will be served in the cafeteria where both parents and children may eat for thirty cents each.

Lynn county volunteers will carry the torch next week in local effort toward the American Cancer Society's three-point program of research, education and service.

The residential drive, with Mrs. Oscar Rutledge as chairman, will begin at 7:00 p. m. next Thursday, April 25. The Tahoka Boy Scouts will make the door-to-door campaign and local residents are asked to cooperate by leaving the porch light on and having their contribution ready. The Scouts will be distributing free cancer literature as a part of the Society's educational program, even if a donation is not made.

Whiskered men, ten-gallon hats and queen contestants are sure signs that Tahoka's third annual Rodeo is fast approaching.

Performances are slated for May 2, 3 and 4, according to officials of the sponsoring group, Tahoka Rodeo Association. The three day event will be officially opened with a gala downtown parade at 8:00 p. m. May 2. Merchants, clubs or other groups desiring representation in the parade should contact Jerry Church of Wilson, vice-president of the Association.

Already scheduled to participate in the parade are the Wilson and Tahoka bands. Five riding groups to be represented are Abernathy Riding Club, Scurry County Sheriff's Posse, Dawson County Sheriff's Posse, Cochran County Sheriff's Posse and the host club, the Lynn County Sheriff's Posse.

Plaques will be presented to the floats placing first, second and third and trophies will go to the top three riding groups.

Another special attraction during the Frontier Days will be a dance each night following the rodeo performances with Jimmy Mackey's orchestra furnishing the music.

Church also announced the signing of Boyce Hart as clown, to entertain crowds at each performance. "Speck" Lunkford, well-known rodeo announcer will be here from Oklahoma to handle loud speaker duties.

Tickets for the rodeo are now on sale by the queen candidates for $1.00 each.

Lynn Population Is Growing States Bureau Of Business

Lynn county is showing a growth in population, up 34 percent in the two-year period ending April 1, 1962, according to figures released by the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Texas, which usually is very accurate in the statistics it compiles.

The Bureau says Lynn county a year ago had 11,692 people, an increase of 778 since the official government census of 1960. Its figures show the population of Texas is nearing the 10 million mark, and may have passed this mark by now. The 1960 census gave Texas 9,579,677, and the estimate for last April 1, 1962, of the Bureau was 9,576,140.

Lynn county's boom growth during the 1920's had reached 12,372 in the 1930 census, but since that time census figures have decreased slightly each 10 years until the 1960 census.

As the farm population has decreased the last thirty years, town population has increased but not quite as much as the loss from the farms.

Especially the last two years, however, enrollments in schools have jumped to where all four county school systems now have classroom problems and have, or are preparing to, expand physical plants.

Tahoka schools have the largest enrollment in history, and public utility connections indicate a growth of approximately 500 people the last few years.

Following are some interesting population figures for Lynn county since Plains settlement began:

1900 2
1900 24
1900 17
1910 1,713
1920 4,751
1930 12,372
1940 11,931
1950 11,090
1960 10,914
1962 (est.) 11,692

Wayne B. Tucker, 45 of Clovis, N. M., was found dead Friday about 2:45 p. m. in a cell of the City jail and Justice of the Peace H. L. Roddy ruled at an inquest that death was due to suffocation or smoke inhalation.

His body was discovered by Policeman Junior Cruce and Lynn Seales, relief policeman. The pillow of the bunk was smoldering and the cell filled with smoke. Roddy said it is not known how the fire began.

Tucker was arrested for drunk-ness about 4:00 p. m. Friday by Police Chief Jack Miller, who took Tucker away from the victim before he was jailed. The body was found about six or eight feet away from the bunk on the floor.

Artificial respiration was applied by Seales. Roddy stated that the victim could not have been dead more than 30 minutes before his body was discovered.

Upon further investigation, it was found the prisoner had a long police record.

Graveside services were held at 10:30 a. m. Thursday in Dimmitt Cemetery.

Mr. Tucker was born at Lockney and raised at Sunnyside near Dimmitt. His last known address was Clovis, N. M.

Former Local Girl, Husband, Named Missionaries To South America

Mrs. H. Robert Tucker, Jr., the former Margaret Roberts, of Tahoka, Tex., and Mr. Tucker were appointed missionaries to Venezuela recently by the Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board, meeting in semiannual full session in Richmond, Va. They now live in Oregon, Ohio, where he is pastor of First Baptist Church and she teaches school. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Roberts.

The Tuckers investigated the possibility of foreign mission service before they moved to Oregon in 1958, but at that time they were discouraged from seeking appointment because of a health problem. "We have had a very rewarding experience in our present pastorate, but we could not get away from a burden for foreign missions," Mr. Tucker says. A series of Baptist Training Union programs on missionary appointment made them determined "to probe into the matter again."

Mrs. Tucker was born in Anson, Tex., but grew up on a farm near Tahoka. She says that her church provided most of her interests, activities, and friendship during her childhood. She dedicated her life to foreign missions when she was a teen-ager.

She graduated from Baylor University, Waco, Tex., with the bachelor of arts degree (she also attended summer sessions at Texas Technological College, Lubbock), and then taught school in Fort Worth while her husband was a student there at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary.

Mr. Tucker, native of Athens, Tex., characterizes his parents as "dedicated Christians who were Baptists by conviction." His father was a deacon; his mother had a "deep conviction that Christian love should permeate her home." She read stories of missionary and biblical heroes to her children.

Mr. Tucker entered college intending to become a chemical engineer, but he was troubled because he felt this was not God's plan for his life. After his freshman year at Henderson County Junior College, Athens, he restlessly transferred to the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas, College Station, for the summer session. He describes the decision he made that summer: "Finally, after losing 10 pounds in two weeks and being unable to eat or sleep, I said, 'All right, Lord, my life is yours for whatever purpose you want it.'"

That fall he enrolled in Baylor, where he graduated with the bachelor of arts degree. He also holds the bachelor of divinity degree from Southwestern Seminary. During student days he pastored West Highlands Baptist Chapel, Athens, a mission of his home church. He says it was while he was a seminary student that he began to feel led toward overseas service.

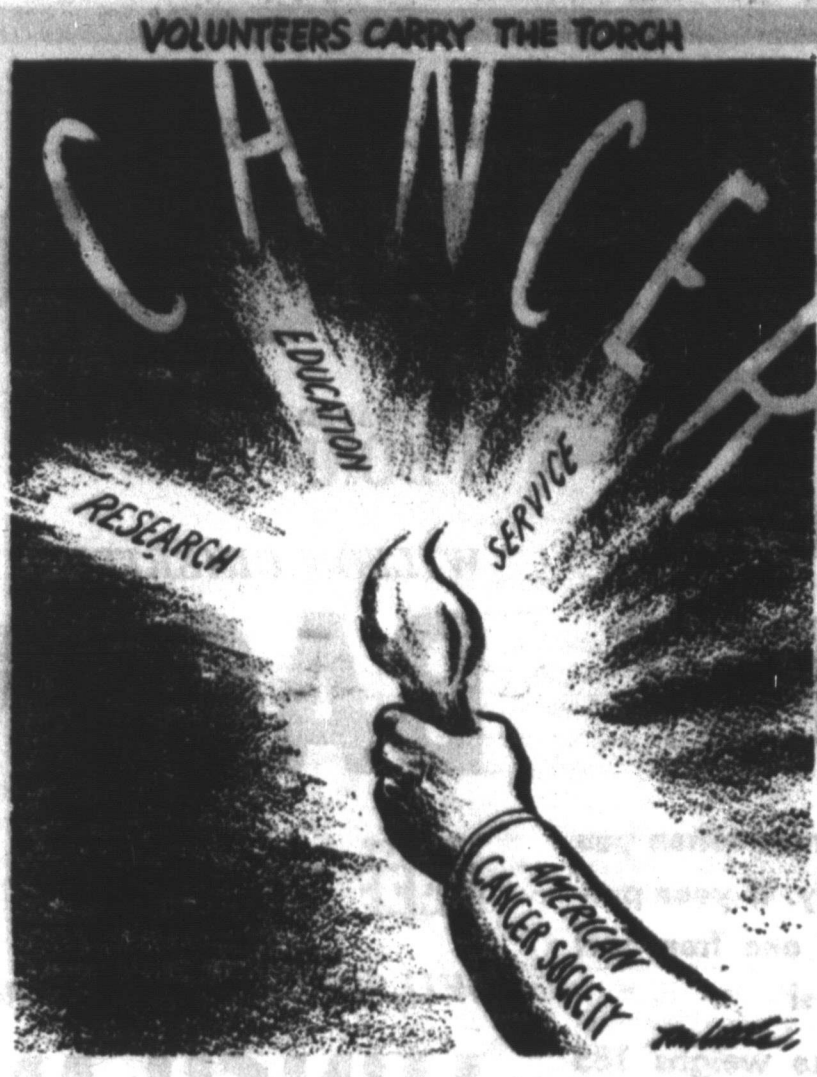

Mr. and Mrs. Tucker have two children, Robert Mark, three and a half, and Kay Elaine, 21 months. The Tuckers were among 21 missionaries appointed by the Foreign Mission Board in its April meeting, bringing its total overseas staff to 1,687 (including 17 missionary associates).

C. N. Woods In Tahoka 35 Years

Although not considered an old man, C. N. Woods has been in business here the last 35 of Lynn county's 60-year history, and has seen the transition from the old to the new in the town and county, as well as in the jewelry business.

Born in Wise county in 1903, his father was in the jewelry business as far back as C. N. can remember. He began helping his father in the store at the age of eight, was repairing clocks and phonographs at age 10, and when he was 14 his father began teaching him to repair watches and jewelry, and later other phases of the jewelry business.

He worked with his dad in the business in Lubbock during the "roaring 20's," studied advanced watch repairing and stone setting from St. Louis Watchmaking School, and served his apprenticeship under his father and two other experienced watchmakers working for his father.

He remembers when Lubbock was a small town with many wooden business buildings, hotels, rooming houses, wagon yards and mule barns. There were no public roads leading west from Lubbock to Levelland and Littlefield, each consisting then of a few wooden buildings, and travelers from Lubbock followed open prairie roads across several ranches to reach them by "jitney," wagon or buggy.

In 1923, he went with a special train load of Lubbock delegates to Sweetwater to compete with other towns for the location of Texas Tech. Lubbock Chamber of Commerce put on a big parade and show for the crowd, and C. N. played the part of "Jeff" and Hay Davidson (6'4 feet) played "Mutt" in the "Mutt and Jeff" show. Lubbock won the college.

When C. N. moved to Tahoka there were a few wooden buildings left, two wagon yards, a watering trough, and a horse and mule trading lot just east of the court house.

He came here in Sept., 1927, and established a small jewelry business in Thomas Bros. Drug Store. He was married to Phalba Johnson in 1929. In 1935, he moved his jewelry business to Main Street, north of bank, enlarging the business, and Phalba began helping him in the store. In January, 1961, they moved the store to the present location west of the court house and enlarged and remodeled the store again.

Woods Jewelry is one of the oldest businesses in Tahoka that was established and is still managed by the same owner.

His hobby is golf. C. N. was the Tahoka champion in 1929 on the old T-Bar golf course southwest of town which had cottonseed hull greens. He won several trophies during the 1930's. He was high-point man in the South Plains Golf League in 1962. He played number one position for the Brownfield golf team and won every match that summer. The last trophy he has won was last summer in Tahoka for the 1962 Lynn County Championship on the new T-Bar Club course.

Woods has made four official holes-in-one during his golfing career.

Getting grass up to a good stand is a difficult task that requires a great deal of time and patience. But all of the effort is wasted unless the grass is managed properly. Only through management can grass become permanent.

The functions of a plant must be understood before the importance of proper management can be fully realized. In any plant, the top growth supports the root system and in turn the root system supports the top growth. If either is retarded for any length of time the plant will die. The top growth produces food that is stored in the root system. This food plus water and essential elements taken up by the roots is then used to produce new top growth.

If a new plant is grazed too soon then the plant cannot establish a large enough root system to support much top growth the next year. The plant is in a weakened condition and if over-grazing is continued, the plant will no longer be able to support itself and will die.

Grass should not be grazed the first year or until it is fully established. Once it is established it should not be over-grazed. A good rule is to start grazing when the grass is in the early booting stage. Then no more than 50 percent of the growth at this stage removed. This will insure a strong plant that will sustain itself and furnish grazing year after year.

Former Citizen Dies Wednesday

Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Young of Tahoka left Thursday morning to attend funeral services for her father, Mr. T. M. Carter of Truth or Consequences, New Mexico.

Mr. Carter died about 2:00 p. m. Wednesday in an El Paso hospital having been in bad health for quite some time. He is a former resident of Tahoka and will be remembered as a long-time grocery owner and operator. He moved to New Mexico about 1939 for reasons of health.

The Youngs were accompanied by their son, Joe Young, and his family. Final funeral arrangements were still pending on Thursday, although burial was to be in Truth or Consequences.

Survivors other than Mrs. Young include: his wife, two sisters, Mrs. George Cook of Holly, Texas, Mrs. Lem Buark of Abilene; and his mother, Mrs. Carter, who resides in an Abilene rest home.

110 Hear Rotary Speaker Tell Changes In Farming

"Farming today requires more managerial experience than anything else—the successful farmer is a successful businessman," stated Paul Walser of Temple, assistant state conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service, in a talk at Tahoka Rotary Club's rural-urban day program Thursday of last week, attended by 110 farmers and Rotary members.

He pointed out the importance of agriculture in our national economy, the changes undergone in the transition from team to power farming, and the new concepts in agriculture being advanced.

He declared we are now taking a new approach to soil and water conservation. Once we believed terracing was the answer to a good soil and water program, but today there are many other practices such as proper tillage, use of crop residue, fertilization, rotation and proper seed.

Some of the changes facing agriculture include the growth in size of the farm unit, shifting of world markets, the proposed European common market, land use, new scientific and managerial developments, community and area planning, etc.

He seemed to favor most of the Freedom concept of agriculture, advocating a return to the family-size farm, organization under central agencies such as Soil Conservation Districts, planned agriculture, and recognition of new land uses, adding land for wildlife and recreation into our plans.

Mr. Walser said we have to decide how much concentrated ownership is good for our economy. We must also consider new types of financing. The problems of the farmer are no longer simply the problems of the rural areas, but are just as vital to the urban centers.

In closing, he stated, "The old order passeth, and we must keep pace with the new. We must guide change into better channels."

Mack Mauldin, head of the local SCS office, arranged the program and introduced the speaker as a native of Indiana but a resident of Texas since 1930, formerly a teacher at Texas A&M, former dean of Tyler Junior College, and with the Soil Conservation Service in Texas since 1934.

Dale Thuron headed a committee sponsoring the day, and about sixty of the county's farmers were guests of individual members.

In commenting on the special program of the club, President Calloway Huffaker pointed out that all economy is based on that which comes from the soil, plants, livestock, oil, etc., a fact often overlooked in our complicated world.

The program was an interesting thought-provoking one that seemed to be well received by the visiting farmers.

John Freddie Thomas, student in North Texas State University, was home over the Easter week end visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Thomas.

10 Car Wrecks During March

The Highway Patrol investigated 10 rural accidents in Lynn County during the month of March according to Sergeant A. E. Roberts, Patrol Supervisor of this area.

These wrecks accounted for two persons killed, eight persons injured and an estimated property damage of $4,975.00.

The rural traffic accident summary for Lynn County from January through March of 1963 shows a total 18 crashes resulting in 4 persons killed, 14 persons injured and an estimated property damage of $15,020.00.

Each year, with the coming of April, it seems natural for motorists to want to get back out on the highway and enjoy the invigorating atmosphere and colorful countryside. Many of these motorists are apt to forget that increased violations of traffic laws play a vital role in the annual traffic accident toll.

The motorist should realize that highway travel multiplies by leaps and bounds in April. The Sergeant stated, "What better time to remind motorists, pedestrians, and all street and highway users about the importance of knowing and obeying traffic laws."

Local People Move To Rocky Mountains

Mr. and Mrs. K. M. Moore left this week for Telluride, Colorado, to spend the summer at their cabin at near-by Trout Lake.

They have been here the past few months with her mother, Mrs. Imogene Lynch and grandmother, Mrs. Amelia Turner. Mrs. Lynch is the former Miss Bobbie Lynch, a 1947 graduate of Tahoka High School.

They came here last June when Sgt. Moore retired from 21 years in the U. S. Army, the last few years in Alaska.

Telluride is an old mining town on the western slope of the Rockies, and is near the west tunnel of one of the largest mines still in operation that mines silver and other metals. It is a very colorful country, and the Moores are looking forward to living there.

Wheat Meeting Is Held Here

County and community ASCA committee members will meet here today, Friday, to hear an explanation of the proposed 1964 wheat program and the May 21 referendum.

County Agent Bill Griffin will explain the law and other provisions of the proposed program, and Don Sovereance, local ASCS office manager, will explain the administration of the program if approved by wheat growers.

Mr. Griffin says their duty is simply to explain the program, give pros and cons, and not to influence wheat growers in any way. However, he thinks everyone should know the provisions of the program in order to cast an intelligent vote.

TATUMBROS. ELEVATORS, Inc.
 O'Donnell Tahoka
 Ph. 428-3219 Ph. 998-4717

We're going to catch up this week on a few stories we hope will be of interest to you, as they were to us.

Mrs. Nora Luallin of Ruidoso and Mrs. Ola Hughes of Alamogordo think their late father, W. J. Crouch, was responsible for putting the first Tahoka Daisy seed on the market, and possibly responsible for its name going into seed catalogues. Actually, horticulturists say, the flower is an aster and not a daisy, but it undoubtedly had its start here and was first noted growing at Tahoka Lake about 60 years ago, spread over the South Plains. In seasonable springs, fields of the little purple or lavender flower rival the Texas Bluebonnets.

Back in 1921, Mr. Crouch, an enthusiastic booster of Lynn county, took a Chamber of Commerce exhibit from Tahoka to the State Fair of Texas in Dallas, and also took along a bouquet of Tahoka Daisies. One day at the Fair, a man on seeing the flowers asked

Mr. Crouch, "What in the world are those beautiful little flowers; where did they come from; what is their name?" And Mr. Crouch replied, "Let's just call them Tahoka Daisies; our country is covered with them growing wild." The man, a representative of Burpee Seed Co., took some of the seed, and in a few years this company was listing them in its seed catalogues.

Back during the depression when all of us were hustling around trying to keep the wolf away from the door, Hall Robinson sponsored dances in his vacant brick building on the west side of the square. One of the dance bands that played was led by a fellow by the name of Lawrence Welk, now known to TV audiences from coast to coast. Mr. Welk and his orchestra members made their headquarters down at Sweetwater for some time.

Bill Reddell, who retired recently after 42 years as a rural mail carrier, during which time he had two buggies and 40 automobiles, had a lot of humorous (and some more exciting than humorous) experiences.

One fall 15 or 20 years ago, a Negro lady out on Route 1 met him out at her mail box and announced, "I want some money order." Bill inquired, "Do you have your application?" And the colored lady answered, "Yassir, yassir, I has an application. My application is picking cotton and washing dishes."

When the Postal Dept. first began permitting sending of mail addressed to "Boxholder," Mr. Reddell had a Mr. Holder living on his route. One day Mr. Holder returned a piece of mail (in jest) with the notation, "Box Holder doesn't live here."

Bill even tried to accommodate his patrons, and as a result they were his friends and often remembered him with gifts in the mail box of cakes, pies, candies, meat etc. One day he lifted up the lid of a mail box, and a hen, put in the box by a patron for him to take home, flew out in his face, giving him one of the worst scares of his life.

But, the boys played pranks on him some times. Another day, he opened a mail box, and a big bull snake stuck its head out and barely missing his face.

As he drove up to a house on

THE AMERICAN WAY

one occasion, a lady came running out to meet him, all excited, and exclaimed, "Mr. Reddell, we've got a mad dog locked up on our screened-in back porch." The lady and daughter explained the dog had run at them, they dashed into the porch but he got in with them, and they barely got out the other door, closing it behind them, before he took a bite at them. Bill says he went to the porch to see what he could do, and there was a big German Shepherd frothing at the mouth, running around in circles on the porch. The lady brought him a loaded double-barreled shotgun, he opened the screen door, and just as the mad dog made a rezoo at him he let go with both barrels and blew the animal into smithereens.

Down at Chico, he was working a mule to a topless buggy. One day some one had left the back two wheels of a wagon behind the postoffice, and when he came down he tied this mule to the axle, and went in the postoffice. A whirlwind blew some paper, scared the mules, and he took off with the buggy, wagon gear and all, and didn't stop until he got all the way to the Methodist Church.

There were other runaways. He was driving a little Spanish grey horse to this buggy, a former cow pony, a high stepper and very spirited. One day out on his route, he saw two mules come running down the lane toward him, a man in hot pursuit. Bill jumped out of his buggy to head them. The mules turned, the cow pony took after them, as he probably thought he was supposed to do, leaving Bill afoot. But, the mules turned in at the farm where they belonged. The cow pony had another thought, evidently, that of continuing his mail route—and ran on to the next mail box, where he stopped and waited for Bill to catch up, put the mail in the box, and say "gid-up."

The Tahoka carrier even had a hand in catching a would-be criminal down at Chico. One day after he had finished his route and gone home, the postmaster called him to come back to the office. He went down, and the PM asked him if he knew where he had picked up a letter addressed to Mr. Lee Morris, the Chico banker. He did. Reddell was told the envelope contained a note to the banker demanding that he bring $2,000 to a certain place on a ranch at a certain time, and that if he, the banker, didn't show up "it will be too bad for you." Bill remembered having picked up a number of letters from this mail box bearing a certain Wichita Falls address. His memory led to the arrest of the Wichita Falls son of the man owning the mail box.

Bill Reddell has a lot more interesting stories, but these will do for this week.

Arlis Aakow of Wells says W. J. Jordan, now living in Tahoka, is the oldest living member of Wells Baptist Church. Until he retired, Arlis says, you could count on the fingers of one hand the number of times Mr. Jordan missed Sunday School or church. In addition to being the mainstay of the church as long as Arlis can remember, Mr. Jordan was also Sunday School superintendent.

J. C. Gable, long-time Tahoka citizen, now gets his News at 200

Hats off to Edgar Hays, for 21 years publisher of the Lockney Beacon, whose paper observed its 62nd anniversary last week. Edgar got a lot of his early newspapering experience on The News back in the depression days, and lived with the Hall Robinsons while he worked here.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Roberts and the Robinsons are among those who have informed us the southeast front part of the T-Bar Ranch headquarters house is not a part of the original ranch house. Old timers say the original ranch house burned.

Wharton's Mother Still Active At 88

Eighty-eight years young would aptly describe Mrs. W. T. Wharton according to her two sons, Winston and Jep. The Tahoka men, accompanied by Winston's daughter, Ann, spent Easter Sunday with their mother and brother, Joe, of the home in Albany.

Mrs. Wharton appears to consider age an asset rather than a liability as she is still quite active. For a hobby, she hooks rugs and told her sons she had used over 1,000 yards of material in this activity, carefully measuring the yarn in the old-fashioned method of "nose tip to arm length." Although she weighs only 102 pounds, Mrs. Wharton recently gathered and carried the limbs as the yardman pruned her trees. Cooking is another of her specialties and the boys report she is as good a cook as ever, preparing the entire Sunday dinner herself. Indicative of her zest for life is the fact she fell last year, but refused to tell anyone because she didn't want to bother with X-rays. Asked if the fall bothered her, her reply was that she had only a little trouble getting in and out of bed for awhile.

Mrs. Winston Wharton went to Post to spend the day with her father, Doug Morrel, and returned with the rest of the family in the evening.

CONRADS HAVE SURPRISE VISITORS FOR EASTER

Easter brought a special surprise for Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Conrad of Tahoka. They received an unexpected visit from her mother, Mrs. Vivian Bryan, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hillhouse, Jr. and baby girl, all of Siloam Springs, Arkansas.

They arrived in Tahoka early Friday morning and visited local friends until their departure Sunday. Mrs. Hillhouse, formerly Iris Bryan, and her mother were longtime Tahoka residents. Mrs. Hillhouse and Mrs. Conrad are sisters.

TOTAL PERFORMANCE:

YOU'LL KNOW WHY SHE DOESN'T FEEL THE BUMPS...WHEN YOU TEST-DRIVE FORD'S NEW $10,000,000 RIDE

The 1963 Ford gives you a ride every bit as smooth as cars costing hundreds more, and for two reasons: a revolutionary new suspension system... and added road-hugging weight.

It took ten million dollars to develop the new Ford ride. We designed a revolutionary new suspension system for the '63 Ford. Where ordinary suspensions move only up and down to absorb road shock, the Ford suspension moves backward as well. In this double-action suspension system, coil springs up front and leaf springs in the rear combine to give you firmness in cornering and a special smoothness over the road.

We added weight, strength and stability. The new Ford is now actually hundreds of pounds more car than any other car in its class. This remarkable weight advantage is in the suspension, frame, and body. And, as you know, this added weight means a more stable ride.

But a solid, road-smoothing ride is only part of Ford's total performance story for 1963. Look how Ford swept the field this year in the grueling Daytona, Riverside and Atlanta 500's and in the demanding Pure Oil Performance Trials. Only a car with total performance—the best combination of strength, balance, precision control, braking power and road-clinging suspension—could roll up so many wins.

Before you buy any new car, test-drive a Super Torque Ford. If you haven't driven one lately, you can't really know what a new Ford is like. Make this important discovery—If it's built by Ford, it's built for performance... total performance.

Dink Fenn Writes Of Early Experiences In Lynn County

Dink Fenn of Minturn, Colorado, has written The News some interesting reminiscences about the "old days" in Lynn county. He is one of the real pioneers of this area who returns most years for the Pioneer Reunion. Following is his story:

My father in 1900 bought 1,600 acres in the northeast corner of the T-Bar pasture for $1,500.00, all fenced, well, windmill, and small house, from W. R. Standifer of Lubbock.

We got our mail in a box nailed to the windmill tower where Lonnie Lumsden used to live. No house there. Hale and Hale (Henry and Horace) carried the mail from Gall to Lubbock via old Grassland. The old Dixie Ranch people left that one mill and watering place for the antelope and stray cows on the Wilson County school lands (36 sections).

John Lofton had an interest in the T-Bar Ranch, and they gave him six sections joining us on the south, several mares and some cows for his interest.

Shortly after Lynn county was organized and Tahoka won the county seat, Sam McDaniel was county clerk, Charlie Doak was sheriff, and Walter Roberson was county treasurer.

My oldest brother, Frank, worked for Geo. Seaga (Enos L. Seeds?) in the nineties at Grassland before the improvements were moved to Tahoka Lake.

Jack Alley (manager of Tahoka Lake Ranch), married Alice Cook, widow lady. He was Ethel Robinson's step-father. Ance Lockwood had quit the T-Bar and he and Ellis Payne were top hands on Tahoka Lake Long-S Ranch. Col. C. Slaughter, Dallas, was the owner.

A few years after the postoffice at Grassland was discontinued, Mr. Weed got a postoffice and put in a store he had at or near where the Lynn school house is now.

Jack Alley and Dick Napier found a fight in the store, then found out they were both Masons, so they shook hands and "buried the hatchet."

The postoffice was turned over to the Randall family, who lived in a half dugout.

I. W. Meyers and John Estridge were "at outs" about something, and John rode up to get his mail, and the women were sitting on the coal box. John spoke to Mrs. Randall and also to Mrs. Meyers, who reached in the box and got a lump of coal and made for John. He broke to run, got his spurs tangled in her dress and fell down, and she whammed him good.

Not long after that they got an office at Tahoka, and the first mail carrier was Bob Rodgers (Majors?), who came up through our pasture with the mail sack and inquired the way to Lubbock. The next mail carriers were Rube and Joe Joplin.

I met the mail hack in the sand north of Tahoka (before the sand was graded, just a pair of ruts), so I pulled my rig out to one side to let the mail go by. The driver didn't say thanks, go to hell, or nothing else I saw some watermelons in the back of the mail hack, so I jumped out and ran and got one of them and the driver didn't look back. Well, I robbed the U. S. mail hack, but, doggone, it sure did taste mighty good!

They had a brother, Dogie Joplin, a real small guy, worked for the T-Bar, and he and Bill Petty, the boss, a big, tall and portly guy, had a fight, and Dogie said he whipped him as high as he could reach.

I was born that dry year, 1897. (Editor's Note: Thanks for the story. Dink. Come again. You old timers could help preserve the history and color of the past in Lynn county if you would only write your reminiscences as Dink has done.)

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By G. WILSON HARDER

In a just concluded poll of the nation's independent businessmen, 83% voted for a reduction in income taxes only if government expenditures are likewise reduced.

For those who think that everyone is selfish, this is perhaps a startling return, as obviously, those in this majority who are unincorporated business proprietors would save some money on a tax reduction.

Yet, there would appear to be a patriotic realization that tax cuts without reduction in government spending is a road to national ruin.

And while no one seems to argue with the premise that the nation should buy a military defense second to none in effectiveness, the idea has not been sold that there can be defense and economy, too.

As every businessman knows, tightening up on overhead usually does not involve tremendous slashes in any one direction. Rather, it is usually eliminating a few dollars of expense here, a few hundred some other place.

A perfect illustration of how business waste the taxpayers' money is given by a recent cartoon by the Labor Department. This cartoon has been seen by press agents on the payroll.

There was sent out to newspapers a series of eight mats on cartoons entitled "Labor Facts." One features the Chicago National Federation of Independent Business.

Chicago Haymarket Riot in 1886 in which eight policemen were killed, it ignores the fact that no civilians were killed, only policemen. It attributes the riot entirely to agitation for an eight hour day although historians say the riot was promoted by Balkan anarchists. But regardless of the facts the cartoon goes on to state that this focused attention on labor's fight so that today there is the forty hour week.

Now a riot in 1963 is hardly "not news" to a newspaper today, and it also seems a stretch of imagination to visualize a riot in 1963 being responsible for a 48 hour week today.

But leaving that aside, the mechanical cost of making the engravings, electrotypes, and sets of mats to send to some 5,000 publications probably ran in excess of $10,000. Added to this is the cost of the art work, the salaries of the press agents, the envelopes, and the postage that would have been paid if the material had not gone through the mails for free, and a cost of $50,000 is likely.

This, in comparison to all the income tax paid for a year by 98 average families with incomes of $5,000 per year.

Now $50,000 does not loom too large against a $500 billion national debt. But neither is this example an isolated instance of the taxpayers' money going down the drain through idleness.

Thus, independent business proprietors are quite sure that if a tax reduction of some $12 billion is good for the economy, $12 billion can also be cut off from government waste with no discomfiture to anybody but some bureaucrats.

Moore's Grandson One of 50 Leading Science Students

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Moore Sr. of New Home are rightfully feeling just a little "chesty."

Their grandson, Gary Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Medford Moore of Wellston, Okla., who is a student in Oklahoma City University, is one of the top 50 outstanding science students from over the nation who have been given scholarships to study and work at the Atomic Energy Laboratories at Oak Ridge, Tennessee, during the summer months. He will be paid a very handsome salary for a student and will be doing research in the field of medicine as approached from the standpoint of nuclear experimentation.

Gary's dad grew up here in Lynn county and graduated from high school at New Home. He has been a rural mail carrier, including military service, for 30 years. Their daughter, Janet, is teaching in the Irving, Texas, schools.

Texas has 301,932 producing wells in 7,294 fields.

Tahoka Compress Observing 35 Years In Business Here

One of the biggest business institutions in Lynn county is Union Compress & Warehouse Co., more popularly known as Tahoka Compress, which was established here in the spring of 1928 by Arch S. Underwood.

The sprawling plant and warehouses cover many acres of ground in northeast Tahoka, which grew from a small beginning to acres of warehouse buildings.

This past year Tahoka Compress handled 50,000 bales of cotton. The firm is fully bonded and insured. In season, a large force of men is required to operate the plant.

Although the firm is owned by Arch S. Underwood and sons, Fred and Harris Underwood, management is strictly in local hands, and the Underwoods have always encouraged the manager to take an active hand in Tahoka and Lynn county civic affairs and to be a part of all community affairs.

E. R. (Roy) Edwards was the manager from the time the firm was established in the spring of 1936 until August 1, last year, when he retired. Roy served the city as mayor, on the City Council, and as representative on the Canadian River Municipal Water board, served on the school board, and has also been active in his church, the Masonic Lodge, Rotary Club, and many other phases of local life.

Succeeding him as manager last year was Bob Haney, who came here from Pecos on June 5, 1962. Bob was born and reared in Hood county, where he attended school. He graduated from Texas A&M with the class of 1952, and served with the U. S. Army in Korea as a lieutenant. Being from A&M, he gives "Sonny" Roberts and other local A&M eyes a little help in promoting his school as "the greatest in the land."

Bob and wife, Clarabeth, have three children, Sherry, Peggy and Susan Donnic. belong to the First Baptist Church. He is a member of Tahoka Rotary Club and the Chamber of Commerce, and also of the National Cotton Compress and Warehouse Association.

Mrs. Troy (Pauline) Warren has been with Tahoka Compress as bookkeeper since November, 1939. Born in Snyder, Oklahoma, she came here from Missouri in November, 1927. In preparation for this work, she attended Draughon's Business College after high school. She and her husband have one daughter, Sue. She is a member of the Church of Christ and the Pythian Sisters.

J. W. Owens, block foreman, is a native of Lynn county, attended school at Edith and Tahoka, and he and wife, Audrey, have one son in whom they take great pride, Mickey, attending Texas Tech on a band scholarship. Owens owns a farm adjacent to Tahoka, but has been with the compress since Sept. 1, 1954.

Tahoka Compress is one of the business firms that has had a big hand in the development of Tahoka and Lynn county, and takes pride in the fact it has been of service over a period of 35 years to the major industry, farming.

The Linotype machine was invented by Ottmar Mergenthaler. It was first used in 1866 by the New York Tribune.
