New President Addresses Club

Don Browning, new president of the Rotary Club, assured members at the meeting last Thursday that this year will be a "year of doing, a year in which we will learn the real purpose of 'service above self'."

He expressed thanks for the honor bestowed on him, and said he would expect full cooperation in putting over an active program of work. He declared, however, his church work is his prime concern and will naturally continue to receive first priority for his time.

Browning announced his committees for the year, outlined some of their duties and plans for committee work.

Aina Hoglund, summer foreign student guest from Sweden, was attending the Tahoka club meeting, and was introduced by Calloway Huffaker. In a brief talk she thanked the club for the opportunity to come to America, declared she was familiar with Rotary through her father who is a Rotary past-president in her home town and her mother who has served as head of the "Inner Wheel," Rotary auxiliary in her home town in Sweden. She presented the club a banner from the Rotary Club of Lund, Sweden.

Charles Reid, a guest, told of the Little League program in Tahoka, the area and district tournaments this week and next, and work being done on Little League Park. He said he thinks Little League is the greatest movement for young boys next to Boy Scouts. Sixty local boys participate in the program here each summer. The fine local park was made possible largely through contributions from the Elliott Estate. He called on the men to help in preparing the park for the tournaments.

A. M. Bray urged local citizens to welcome guests during the tournaments and show them Tahoka is the friendliest town in the area.

Lynn County Soil Conservation District News

Getting grass up to a good stand is a difficult task that requires a great deal of time and patience. But all of the effort is wasted unless the grass is managed properly. Only through proper management can grass become permanent.

The functions of a plant must be understood before the importance of proper management can be fully realized. In any plant, the top growth supports the root system and in turn the root system supports the top growth. If either is retarded for any length of time the plant will die. The top growth produces food that is stored in the root system. This food plus water and essential elements taken up by the roots is then used to produce new top growth. If a new plant is grafted too soon then the plant cannot establish a large enough root system to support much top growth the next year. The plant is in a weakened condition and if overgrazing is continued, the plant will no longer be able to support itself and will die. Grass should not be grazed the first year unless it is fully established. Once it is established it should not be overgrazed. A good rule is to start grazing when the grass is in the early booting stage. Then no more than 50% of the growth at this stage removed. This will insure a strong plant that will sustain itself and furnish grazing year after year.

COURT SESSION HELD UNDER OAK TREE

A huge, sprawling oak tree stands proudly in the middle of a street in Columbus, Texas, west of Houston. It was beneath this tree that Judge Robert M. Williamson (Three-Legged Willie) held court in the Third Judicial District of the Republic of Texas, in 1837.

It is related that on one occasion an irate lawyer, who was commanded by Judge Willie to "produce the law," imbedded his dagger in the Judge's table saying, "Here's the law!" Judge Willie is reported to have laid his pistol calmly on the table with this retort: "Here's the Constitution which overrules the law."

Mrs. Luther Wood of Tahoka and Mrs. Winston Davies of New Home drove to Colorado City a week ago Tuesday to visit their sister, Mrs. M. M. Shearer. The Shearers are former residents of Tahoka and will soon be making a move to Uvalde, Texas.

During 1961, 6.1 trillion cubic feet of Texas gas were marketed.

SMALL BUSINESS

It is most interesting that a disclosure has been made that West Germany has budgeted $400,000 to a slush fund to sell West Germany to the American people, and primarily to the U.S. government. This fund is subscribed to by German industrialists and the German government. A New York public relations firm is handling the campaign.

But perhaps above all this disclosure, allied with other information, shows most plainly the dangers C. W. Warder of monopoly business.

Of course, around Washington, there are many interests working to discredit and break down U.S. anti-trust laws.

And in this connection, it is significant that Krupp, the vast German metal and arm manufacturer, is on the march again. It is Krupp which built two German world war machines.

And while the Krupp empire was supposed to have been broken up it is now stronger, employing more people than with possible exception of year years when Krupp operated with hordes of slave labor.

New Krupp is doing a $20 million a year business with contracts booked for two years. It is being done with the encouragement of the West-German government. It is also a matter of record that Alfred Krupp and his son, Heinrich Krupp, have in the recent past made such a fortune that they have been able to buy up the U.S. Patent Patents of Industrial Machinery.

Krupp called Alfred Krupp "a Fascist monster."

Perhaps Khrushchev is one of the smartest "con" men ever born. In America he takes off a shoe and pounds the table, setting up an image as something of a buffoon. Yet, he obviously knows the score.

He knows, for example, that Hitler had a very fine time of controlling all Germany when he commiserated Krupp.

Now Khrushchev has not ordered the Berlin Wall torn down and turned his back on the German problem. His broadcast calls for the eventual reunification of all Germany. Thus, he has no competition against letting the communist nations under his control add to Krupp's economic power.

Because he knows, no matter how many demonstrations people make at the Berlin Wall against his regime, human flesh and spirit cannot prevail against monopolized power.

Thus, the Krupp monopoly is his ace in the hole. He knows, then, whenever the time is right, to let Krupp deliver him Germany, lock, stock and barrel, plus all the improvements made through millions of dollars of American foreign give away.

For 125 years, through German triumph and defeat, the Krupp monopoly has grown greater and greater while America has also grown greater. Khrushchev knows, also, that since his endorsement of the U.S. anti-trust laws permit further concentration of U.S. economic power into monopoly hands, there will come a day when "they" American capitalists...

Joe Riordan Is Speaker At SPPP

"Advertising has created the greatest economy in the world; somebody is going to buy products because they are advertised," Joe Riordan, public relations manager of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. in Lubbock, told South Plains Professional Photographers in a dinner meeting here Thursday night at the C. Edmund Finney Studio.

"A lot of times the business man who says he doesn't believe in advertising has the biggest sign in town on his store front," he continued. "Even my telephone company, a virtual monopoly, uses extensive advertising. If advertising were not good for the telephone company, they wouldn't use it as tight as they are on a buck. If advertising was no good, why do the national firms spend millions on it?"

"Somebody is buying products because they are advertised. Your potential customers have just so many dollars to spend; they are going to spend them somewhere, and you should sell them on spending some of these dollars with you. Plan a comprehensive campaign—not just a hit-or-miss deal—and advertising will help you sell."

"Chuck" Wilson of Lockney, head of the SPPA, presided at a short business session. Mr. Finney arranged the program.

Twelve Rural Accidents Last Month In Lynn

The Highway Patrol investigated 12 rural traffic accidents in Lynn county during the month of June, according to Sgt. A. E. Roberts, Patrol supervisor of this area.

These wrecks accounted for one person killed, four persons injured, and an estimated property damage totaling $6,210.00.

The Sergeant stated that this brings the total for the year thus far in Lynn county to 38 accidents that claimed seven lives, injured 21 people, and caused property damage of $27,520.00.

For a comparison, the Patrol Supervisor pointed to accidents in this county for the first six months of 1962 that accounted for two deaths, 15 injuries, and property damage of $19,670.00.

"Prior to July 1, there have been a total of 941 fatal accidents in Texas," Sgt. Roberts said, "that took the lives of 1136 persons."

"As the year is over half gone, there are definite indications that traffic deaths will hit an all-time high in 1963. Motorcycles at this time are over 100 more than at the same time last year. If we continue to take lives at the present rate, 1963 will become the most deadly year in Texas history for traffic fatalities. Considering the trend of increased accidents and casualties, we have every reason to suspect that traffic deaths will exceed the previous all-time high in Texas of 2611 in 1962.

"Only 191 more deaths in 1963 than in 1962 will make a total of 2612 deaths, an all-time high and an increase for the year of eight per cent over 1962. Deaths this year have consistently been in excess of eight percent over 1962.

The Patrol Sergeant stated, "This is not just a probability, it is fairly certain to become a reality unless the motoring public becomes more thoughtful in regard to complying with all traffic laws which would break the trend."

Job Opportunities Few For Teen-Age Workers

(Special To The News) New York — Teen-agers in Lynn county are entering the labor force at an increasing rate. They reflect the rising number of young persons in the 14 to 19 age bracket. These are the ones who were born during the baby-boom years following World War 2.

Many of them, according to Government reports, are dropping out of school and going to work. Others are moving into the labor force immediately after finishing high school.

How to provide jobs for this flood of teen-agers is a prime problem. Figures compiled by the Department of Commerce and the Department of Labor indicate just how big a problem it is.

In Lynn county, they show, the number of youngsters who will have reached the 14 to 19 age group in the five-year period ending 1965, will total 1,091.

On the basis of recent experience, 26.5 percent of them, or 289, will be looking for full-time or part-time jobs before 1965.

In some areas of the country, an even greater proportion of teen-agers are cutting short their education, creating an acute employment situation. Such drop-outs are finding a minimum of job opportunities, it is pointed out.

In the United States as a whole, 23.5 percent of the teen-age group are now to be found in the labor force by the time they reach 19. The ratio in the West South Central States is 27.0 percent and, in the State of Texas, 29.0 percent.

The problem will become even more severe in the subsequent five years, the reports show.

Between 1965 and 1970, the number of youngsters in Lynn county in the 14 to 19 bracket will amount to 1,362.

If they follow the current pattern and quit school at the same rate, 260 additional job openings will be needed for them within that period.

Nationally, according to Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, the number of teen-agers in the labor market will jump from the 6.2 million counted in 1960 to 7.7 million in 1965 and to 8.4 million by 1970.

This prospect, he states, "sends up a warning signal that says to all Americans that the post-war population explosion is now making itself felt on the size and makeup of the labor force."

Printer's Ink-Lings

color in about 1908, made the first color movie in 1910, but tried for nearly 20 years before he got Eastman sold on the process. We had forgotten the man's name.

Saturday, the name came back to The Printer when he read that Dr. Herbert T. Kalmus, 82, "developer of the technicolor movie process" had died in Hollywood. He founded the Technicolor Corporation, the Associated Press said, and headed the firm for 50 years until his retirement in 1962. First film marketed commercially by the process was "The Gulf Between", filmed in Jacksonville, Fla., in 1917.

Dr. Kalmus had a warm place in his heart for Tahoka. It's a small world.

"Where is the Negro issue leading?" asks a private report from a business service organization, which then goes on to give opinions of some people interviewed. Summing up, the letter says, "U. S. by 1960 will be more democratic legally and less democratic socially."

One Negro quoted says: "I was nearly 30 years old when I realized how much discrimination there is between whites." Socially, in business—even in church—whites maintain rigid barriers.

With the push for "civil rights," the letter points out, the club and the community will profit, but his church is bound to get some benefits therefrom. This is not to say other ministers of our town are not on the ball, too, but Don just happens to be selected for a key job in our town.

Calloway Huffaker has made the Rotary Club a fine leader in a long string of men who have headed the organization in giving the community "service above self," the Rotary motto. Most of our readers are not Rotarians, but most will have to admit this club has done much to mold the character of our town and county, due largely to the type of leadership it has furnished.

Rev. James Efrid, Bob Connolly, and C. Edmund Finney were riding in the front seat of the preacher's car Sunday, returning from the cemetery. All of a sudden there was a loud explosion, then another and another—and the three nearly left the vehicle. It seems Rev. Efrid's son, Ronnie, had put a bunch of firecrackers in the ash tray. Bob and Edmund, dying for a smoke, asked the preacher if he minded them smoking in his car. Bob smashed his cigarette out in the tray, then Finney crammed his cigarette in the same ash tray and slammed it shut. Then it happened: Connolly and Finney say the moral is: Don't smoke in a Baptist preacher's car.

Speaking of local Colored People trying to improve themselves and get ahead in this column last week, caused a couple of people to cite the Henry Sayles who have put their children through college. We merely used the Denys as an example of those trying to improve themselves.

Sec'y. Freeman the other day rescinded his order requiring County ASC Committeemen, elected by farmers, to take a pledge of allegiance to support any program he might advance. A news service writer says the Secretary found the dictatorial order very unpopular, and opponents claimed the public is not ready to accept such orders from Washington.

The passing of "Aunt Becky" Roberts leaves something of a void in Tahoka for those here thirty years or more. "Aunt Becky" was a lovable, friendly and happy character who went through all the hardships of the pioneer—in fact, more of the hardships than most—yet, until her dying day her happiness was infectious to all with whom she came in contact. There's no one to replace "Aunt Becky."

All the younger generation knew her as "Granny", but she was "Aunt Becky" to the older generation.

Coming here in 1901, she first lived in a dugout on the Forrester Ranch at West Point, raised her three children without help of a husband, never had too much of this world's material goods, but she had the greatest things in life—happiness, friends, and children, grandchildren, and great grandchildren who adored her. Not all great people live in mansions or become known nationally.

U. S. is due to move more into segregation by class than we have by war, to become broken down into classes and toward a closed society much as the old European countries. Private clubs may become more popular, replacing integrated restaurants, public parks and swimming pools, and class distinction may become more pronounced in other ways.

Rep. Adam Clayton Powell Jr. claimed he rewrote half of President Kennedy's civil rights message to Congress. When questioned on the statement by reporters, White House spokesmen said, "No comment."

Not all good is done by preachers in the pulpit or working within their church. We believe some preachers may even do more good outside of the church than they do inside. We believe the colleges who educate ministers should lay more stress on the importance of public relations, engaging in community work, taking advantage of news columns of the local newspaper to promote their church and Christianity. For example, the news columns of the papers are open to churches for almost anything that has any news value. Much space is free to them that a business institution pays hard cash to get.

Don Browning, a minister of Tahoka Church of Christ, is a case in point. Don is public spirited, a young man of action, personable, and we believe he can not help but do his church a lot of good through his participation in community affairs. He will make Tahoka Rotary Club a fine president this year. Not only the club and the community will profit, but his church is bound to get some benefits therefrom. This is not to say other ministers of our town are not on the ball, too, but Don just happens to be selected for a key job in our town.

Calloway Huffaker has made the Rotary Club a fine leader in a long string of men who have headed the organization in giving the community "service above self," the Rotary motto. Most of our readers are not Rotarians, but most will have to admit this club has done much to mold the character of our town and county, due largely to the type of leadership it has furnished.

In previous issues, The News stated people with positive reactions from the Heaf-gun TB tests would not have to wait when going to the doctor's office in Lubbock for X-ray examinations. Several local people tell us they had to wait hours, and one man said he finally left without an X-ray after waiting three hours. We're sorry, folks, we just printed what the TB authorities told us.

Wilmer Smith of New Home is again being considered for Assistant Secretary of Agriculture. It could be a big boon to cotton and to the South Plains to have Wilmer in this high position. He is capable, fair, knows farm problems, and is one of the best informed men in the nation on cotton.

We note with sadness the passing of a fellow publisher, Cal Snyder, 41, of the Denver City Press. Cal was a fine fellow, will be missed all across the South Plains. Our sympathy goes out to his wife, Berle, their fine young son David, 16, and brother Gene, who is publisher of the Morton Tribune.

Mrs. Charles Freeman of Crosbyton, the former Billie Jo Cowan, visited The News Friday to subscribe for the paper. She said she recently spent a lot of time reading a whole stack of the Lynn County News for the year 1961 saved by her mother, Mrs. Florence Davies of New Home, and enjoyed reading the "old home paper" so much—even though two years old—she just had to subscribe.

Nothing is so galling to a people not broken-in from birth as a paternal or meddling government which tells them what to read and say and eat and drink and wear.—Lord McCauley, 1830.

Cal Farley says: When you're on top, remember to look down once in a while—there may be some one who can use your helping hand. . . . Only through the youth of today is a better tomorrow possible. . . . Feed a boy well, keep him busy with something he likes, put him on the back once in a while and he'll come through.

That man who said the flea is the strongest creature known must not have considered the American taxpayer—who not only carries Washington but a considerable portion of the rest of the world on his shoulder.

Some more "Gus Says" from the Graham Rotary publication: Whether a man winds up with a nest egg or a goose egg depends a lot on the kind of chicken he marries. . . . The fellow who knows he has a lot to learn has already learned a lot. . . . Folks can't jump down your throat if you keep your mouth closed. . . . Never pass up an opportunity to make someone happy, even if you have to leave them alone to do as. . . . The Bureau of Internal Revenue is always looking for men who have what it takes.

Field Meeting Held In Pecos

Thirty members of the Texas Great Plains Conservation Committee, representing most of the agencies, groups and associations working in the field of soil and water conservation, met in the Pecos area June 26 and 27, reports H. N. Smith, State Conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service.

The occasion was the annual field meeting of the committee when results and experiences of the past year are discussed and recommendations for improvement of the program are made.

George Skeete, rancher near Water Valley and a director of the Association of Texas Soil Conservation Districts explained that the principle of the GPCP, where cost-share assistance is provided in accordance with a complete conservation plan developed for the entire operating unit and scheduled for application on a systematic basis, has proved to be the best demonstration and educational tool for soil and water conservation to date. Skeete explained that management must accompany any treatment applied if it produces the greatest return and is to be maintained over a long period of time.

Jack Stone, supervisor of the Toyah-Limpia Soil Conservation District, talked to the group and showed pictures of the work done on his ranch with GPCP assistance.

Stone explained how he spread runoff water over flat draw-type ground that had been seeded to such grasses as Johnsongrass and blue panicum. Stone stated that he was very proud of the results and invited the group to tour his ranch.

E. L. Thaxton, head of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station located at Pecos, explained the research work being carried on there and conducted a tour of the station.

James Abbott of the Soil Conservation Service reported on progress and accomplishments of the GPCP. He said that approximately 900 contracts had been signed since July 1, 1962, obligating just under three million dollars on over a million acres of farm and ranch land. It was also noted that the Soil Conservation Service had about 300 proposed contracts on hand for which cost-share funds would not be available before July 1. The backlog of contracts illustrates the tremendous build-up in interest in the GPCP that has taken place in the past four or five years. Abbott also said that 200,000 acres of cropland have been planned for conversion to other uses, such as pasture and range-land. This represents over 21 per cent of all cropland placed under Great Plains contracts. Brush control has been carried out on over one million acres with assistance from the GPCP with an average cost-share assistance of $2.35 per acre. It was pointed out that since 30.00 percent of the total cost-share assistance had been spent on brush control, which is a disproportionate share of the available funds, a priority limitation had to be placed on brush control.

The committee toured the James F. Goode and Allgood and Avery farms near Barstow, George Avary and Mrs. Anna Herring ranches near Pecos, Ed Cox ranch at Menahans, A. J. Hoelscher at Coyanosa, and the Winfield Estate ranch at Fort Stockton. Many outstanding examples of conservation were observed on each farm and ranch.

Homes Abound with Potential Poisons, AMA Official Warns

Children, supposedly "safe at home," are poisoning themselves at the rate of nearly 1,500 a day.

"When you consider that more than a quarter-million home-used products on the market contain toxins, it is not difficult to understand why more than 500 children die each year from self-administered poisons," said F. J. L. Blasingame, M.D., executive vice-president of the American Medical Association.

Children are naturally curious, especially the very young ones. They are prone to stick into their mouths anything they can get in their hands. It doesn't even have to taste good or look pretty.

Most accidental poisonings occur in children under five. Two-year-olds are the most poison prone, with one-year-olds close behind. At this stage in life their curiosity is at its height and their sense of fear not yet developed, Dr. Blasingame explained.

Medicine, especially aspirin, leads the list of items children seem to like to sample, according to nearly half of all accidental poisonings. In fact, too much of virtually any medicine can produce serious consequences.

Among the frequently non-edibles that frequently find their way into children's stomachs are cleaning and polishing agents, detergents, shoe polish, cosmetics, waxes, insecticides, paint, turpentine, chalk, bleaches, plastic foods, plaster, perfumes and decorations.

Medicine account for nearly half of all accidental poisonings in United States each year. Secured against medicine and keep rest out of children's reach.

A primary cause of such accidents, says Dr. Blasingame, is storing poisonous substances in food containers or soft drink bottles. A toddler just naturally assumes that a soft drink bottle contains a treat. He'll drink whatever he finds in it.

"The facts are clear," he warned. "Between 65 and 70 per cent of all poisonings take place because an item was accessible to a child."

"If we're going to live in modern homes with modern conveniences and modern medicines, we have to develop some up-to-date standards that will make home safe for our children."

McCord Butane & Oil Co. RECOMMENDS AFCO FLAME CULTIVATION

FOR WEED-FREE CROPS

Time-tested and proved, AFCO Flame Cultivation is the best answer yet for complete weed, grass and vine control in rowcrops.

Weed control means higher yields — flaming means less weeds. Gas costs average less than $1 per acre. Crops can be flamed at 4 to 10 acres per hour. And flaming does not harm the crop when used as recommended.

You owe it to yourself to learn more about AFCO Flame Cultivation. Let us discuss flaming with you, or better yet we can arrange a demonstration.
