Terrific Sandstorm Hit Plains Monday

The most severe sandstorm in many years visited the Plains Monday of this week, following up two less severe "sandies" the Friday and Saturday before. Winds Monday reached 70 to 75 miles per hour in gusts, the U. S. Weather Bureau at Lubbock reported.

Heavy damage was done in places to farm land, made subject to blowing by reason of this area having received only about 12 inches of rainfall in the past 14 months.

Some damage was done to out-buildings, but little serious damage was reported.

In a freak accident at Grassland, a cotton trailer was blown across the street and into the front of the Harrison store, tearing off the porch and otherwise damaging the building front through the front door.

There were three "fender benders" involving seven cars Monday on U. S. Highway 87, Patrolmen Marvin Hagens and Ray Priest, no one was seriously injured, although some of the cars were "badly bunged up."

Three cars were involved in one accident south of Tahoka when one car ran into the rear of another and then the third bumped into these two. In a similar accident in the same area, two other cars were involved south of Tahoka. In still another, two cars ran together north of Tahoka.

Visibility was almost zero on the highways at certain points where fields were blowing badly.

Mrs. J. W. Thrasher and Mrs. Francis Edwards, both of Monahan, were overnight patients in Tahoka Hospital Friday, Jan. 22, after both received bruises in an accident south of Tahoka on US Highway 87.

Because of poor visibility when sand was blowing, they reported they were hit from behind by a car whose driver could not see the vehicle driven by the ladies.

Incidentally, Mrs. Edwards is a distant relative of the local Yates family and enjoyed visiting with some of her relatives while hospitalized here.

Those in the residential areas wishing to contribute are asked to leave their porch or yard lights burning. People are also asked to tie up their dogs during the evening.

School Census Is Being Conducted

Annual scholastic census is being taken in Tahoka School District this week, blanks having been issued children attending school this mid-week. Parents are asked to send the same back filled in immediately. Supt. Harold Reynolds states.

Parents with children who will start to school next fall are especially cautioned to make sure such beginning student is enumerated. This applies to any child who will be six years of age on or before September 1 this year, 1965.

Anyone in Tahoka district with a child who will start in the first grade next year who has not received a census blank should call the Superintendent's office, phone 998-4538, immediately.

Band Students Make Regional

Two Tahoka band students participated in the Interscholastic League's Region 1 band concert presented Saturday night in Monterey High School auditorium.

This was the highest honor ever received by band students from the Tahoka High School band.

Ralph Brock and Carroll Curry were chosen for the 128-member band from among 1,500 students who auditioned for two bands, one representing Classes 1-A, 2-A and B, and also a 128-member band representing Classes 4-A and 3-A. Brock was named to second-chair cornet from about 50 students and Curry to fifth-chair clarinet from 75 auditioning.

The regional band in which the Tahoka band students participated was under direction of James Matthews of the University of Houston. The region covers a 14-county area with 30 bands represented in the competition in the classes with Tahoka, according to Band Director Vic Kyler. Other local students did not compete because of mid-term exams.

Junior Class Will Hold Chili Supper

The Department had estimated that 105 persons would die in traffic accidents during that period in Texas.

The 115 persons who died were involved in 91 fatal accidents. Officer Dempsey told The News that 61 percent of these 91 accidents were one-car mishaps.

Rainbows Will Install Saturday

Attention Rainbow Girls! Saturday night is installation. Those to take office for the coming term must have 1965 dues paid, must know their parts and say them to either Mrs. Bray, Mrs. Taylor or Mrs. Roberts by noon Saturday.

This is not a new rule, but one that has been somewhat abused in the past. This is a reminder, according to Rainbow workers.

Stanton Plays Here Tonight

Tonight the Bulldogs and varsity girls take on Stanton at Tahoka gymnasium with the first game scheduled at 6:30 p. m., two of the three boys teams tied for second place in District 5-A.

On Tuesday night the "A" and "B" boys and "A" girls go to O'Donnell for games beginning at 5:00 p. m.

District 5-A has been in a strange situation most of the way. Seagraves is now leading after defeating O'Donnell Tuesday night and Plains was jostled out of a tie for first place when Stanton defeated the Cowboys Tuesday night in a sudden death third overtime. Now Tahoka, Stanton and Plains are tied for second. Tahoka lost to Stanton in the first game and later to Plains, but has defeated Seagraves, O'Donnell, and Wink. Seagraves' record is 4-1, with the second place teams standing at 3-2.

In girls competition, Stanton now leads and Tahoka is second. Only three schools have girls teams, the other being O'Donnell. Tahoka has defeated O'Donnell, but lost to Stanton. A win tonight could tie up the lead.

GAME RECEIPTS LIGHT

Game receipts at the Tahoka-Wink game Tuesday night totaled only $57.50 and expenses were $36.20, leaving $21.30 net, according to Supt Harold Reynolds.

I would be glad to exchange with the owner of one Stetson hat, Open Road, size 7 and 1/8 long oval, purchased at King's Dept. Tahoka Loses Two At Plains

Tahoka Bulldogs took their second-district loss Friday night when the host Plains Cowboys won 50-48, after also winning the "B" game 52-48.

On the same night Tahoka girls played at Post, taking a 55-33 loss there.

Plains held a narrow 10-9 first quarter edge, but pulled away to a 26-18 halftime margin. Tahoka was still falling behind in the third, that period ending 39-27. In the fourth quarter the Bulldogs rallied, scoring 19 points while Plains made 11. Mitchell Williams made 18 points for the local quintet while Smith and Love made 22 and 11, respectively for the winners.

The victory put Plains in a tie with Seagraves for the district lead with one loss each.

It was much the same story in the "B" game, Plains leading 11-7 and 26-14 the first two periods. Tahoka caught up in the third and Plains led 35-34, but the Cowboys managed to stay ahead in the fourth. Cliff Thomas made 18 and Chris Roberts 10 for the local squad. Elmore paced the winners with 17.

At Post the Tahoka girls trailed 11-9, 30-16 and 40-22 at the end of the first three quarters of play before losing. Carla McNeely sank 27 points and her accuracy was duplicated by Marilyn Jones' 27.

O'Donnell Plans Sports Banquet

An All-High School awards banquet is being planned at O'Donnell by the "O" Club in the school cafeteria on Saturday, February 13, at 7:30 p. m., when all school athletes will be honored.

Featured speaker will be Kenneth Fannon, 1953 O'Donnell graduate and former athlete, now track coach at Kermit.

Mayor L. J. Hash has proclaimed this "Kenneth Fannon Day" in honor of the former O'Donnell youth.

Fannon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Fannon, who now live in Durant, Okla., is one of the all-time great Eagle athletes. He was active in all sports, but was outstanding in track and won the hurdles in the state meet. Later, he was a great track man at ACC. His track teams at Kermit have won several state titles. O'Donnell Index-Press says. His wife is the former Miss Carolyn Pearce.

Property Tax Chief Source Of Monies For Local Government

(Special to The News)
New York—How much of the money necessary for the operation of local government in Lynn county comes from property taxes?

Locally, do these taxes yield a larger or a smaller proportion of total revenue than they do in other communities?

Property taxes have always been the chief source of local revenue in most parts of the country, and still are, but they no longer are carrying as large a part of the load as they once did.

With cities and counties requiring more money each year for their ever-growing services, new tax sources had to be found.

As a result, many communities are now charging for various services that used to be financed entirely out of general tax receipts.

A Government report shows that 71.2 percent of the revenue obtained by Lynn county from its own sources comes from property taxes.

In other parts of the United States, an average of 69.0 percent of the total is secured from that source and, in the State of Texas, 55.0 percent.

The figures are from the recent "Census of Governments," compiled by the Commerce Department.

They show that property taxes are several times higher in some sections of the country than they are in others. There are great differences, also, in the kind and the quality of the local services that are rendered in return.

In Lynn county, according to the survey, the annual amount collected through property taxes is equivalent to $66.12 per local resident.

Elsewhere in Texas, the average yield is $83.17 per capita. In other localities across the nation, the average is $99.09 per capita.

Property taxes have reached the point in some communities at which attempts to raise them any higher are meeting with stern resistance.

Due to rate increases and the rise in the value of real estate, they are already producing three times as much revenue as they did in 1946, according to the Tax Foundation.

The search for new sources of revenue has taken communities in a number of different directions. Some of them are now levying income taxes and sales taxes, with state permission. Others have gone in for higher water rates, for increased fees and charges and for taxes on hotel and motel occupancy.

Jose Hernandez was a medical patient twice the past week in Tahoka Hospital. He was an overnight patient on Friday night and again on Monday night.

GRASSLAND NEWS

(By Mrs. O. H. Hoover)
Wow! This is one doozy of a sandstorm—four days now. I sure hope it soon lets up! Our eyes, ears and throats are full and so are our throats.

A freak accident happened during the violent sandstorm Monday. One of the cotton trailers parked on the gin lot blew across the street into the front of Harrison's grocery store, tearing the porch off and the facing from around the big plate glass window, but fortunately the glass did not break. The trailer tongue ran right through the door. No one was hurt.

We as a community extend our heartfelt sympathy to the family of Price Thomas, a pioneer resident of the Grassland community for many years. He passed away Monday, Jan. 18.

Also we extend our sympathy to the family of G. H. Spears. He lived in Grassland for the past 16 years and passed away Tuesday, Jan. 19.

They will be greatly missed. Mrs. A. R. Hensley is in the hospital very ill but is reported a trifle improved at this writing. Miss Emily Waller is also hospitalized in Lubbock and is maybe improving a little.

Six ladies of the W.S.C.S. attended a program given by the Tahoka Guild Sunday. It was a visual program, an outgrowth of their study of the Book of Genesis.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Luttrell and Mrs. Louis McKay visited Miss Emily Waller in Methodist Hospital last Friday and report that she knew them.

Mrs. J. E. Sherrill's sister, Mrs. Pollock of Oklahoma, visited in the Sherrill and Gus Porterfield homes last week. She is also a sister of Gus Porterfield.

Mrs. Martha Thomas Arnold of Texarkana attended the funeral of her uncle, Price Thomas, Wednesday. Also, John Paul Lawson of Andrews Mr. and Mrs. Danny Enloe of Clovis and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Winkler of Post spent the day Sunday with the Enloe family.

Arthur Enloe's cross-bred ram sheep won third place in the junior stock show in Post Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Buel Draper of Tahoka visited in the Mrs. E. A. Thomas home Sunday.

Miss Gladys Fox and Mrs. Eunice Thomas took quite a tour recently. They drove to Plains, Denver City, Seagraves, Brownfield and Tahoka all in one afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Norman visited their daughter Wanda's family in Midland recently.

"NERVOUSNESS" NOT IN TEXT BOOKS, CURABLE

By Dr. H. W. Mellroy

Gynecology textbooks are concerned with the diseases of women, but you will search in vain for that disorder so common among women and generally termed "nervousness". Nervousness is a word that means a general debility that affects not only the activities of the organs of the entire body, but also changes the personality and habits of the unfortunate man, woman or child suffering from its debilitating influences.

Its miserable sufferers are told to take up golf, sewing, walking, special exercises, swimming, or just any old hobby that will get them out of the office of their puzzled family physician.

They have about as much chance forgetting nervousness as they would ignoring a cancer or a broken leg!

There is hope, however, for this lost legion.

A lady, forty-eight years old, had just such a condition bordering a complete nervous breakdown. She had a lump in her throat she couldn't swallow and such a tight, shaky feeling in her stomach she couldn't sleep at night. She had suffered sinusitis and Asthma for 30 years. She had daily headaches that made her sick to her stomach, frequent vomiting spells, poor appetite, indigestion, constipation and female trouble with painful irregularity prior to her change. She had been taking hormone shots for years, which was rapidly growing worse when she was told by her family doctor to forget it and take up a hobby. She knew she was really sick so she came to Chiropractic for an examination.

Regular spinal analysis and X-rays located nerve disturbances in her spine which resulted in faulty function of several organs.

After completing the required period of adjustments, she said, "Sleep okay now, tightness gone, stomach and bowels back to normal and all other symptoms gone. Feel fine." This was seven years ago... she is still enjoying good health.

Why don't you take your friend's advice and investigate? You have nothing to lose except your bad health. 214 Tahoka Road, Brownfield, Texas, Telephone 637-3242. Next article in next issue.

Machines Will Sort Zip-Mail

Postmaster Happy Smith said today he has received word from Postmaster General John A. Gronouski in Washington, D. C. that a big "breakthrough" has now been made on electronic machines to "read" ZIP-coded addresses on mail.

The Postmaster General said he expects to begin installing these sophisticated new machines in major post offices starting in about a year, and added that each machine will be able to sort, as well as read, at the rate of 35,000 letters an hour.

The offices to get the address readers have not been announced, but the local postmaster said they will have significant effects on the mail in and out of each community regardless of whether it gets the new machine.

This is because they will speed incoming mail to smaller offices from major cities and step up the dispatch of mail deposited in smaller communities but which must be processed enroute at major mail massing points.

The postmaster emphasized, however, introduction of the "seeing eye" device next year does not mean ZIP Code isn't useful already.

"ZIP code," he explained, "is important in mail handling under the system of mail processing already in use which will continue to be in use as the basic system at most points. These machines will be just another step — in conjunction with the mechanical mail sorting machines we have developed — to help keep pace with the growing volumes of mail. Neither will the machines endanger jobs — they will only help us meet mail expansion with minimum manpower expansion."

Mary Ellen Waldrip of New Home is back home after undergoing surgery in a Lubbock hospital last week. She is reported to be doing fine.

Tahoka's ZIP Code is 79373.

Father And Son Named Outstanding '65 Farmers

The outstanding conservation farmer award for 1965 of the Lynn County Soil Conservation District is a joint award to Robert Lusk and Vernon Lusk, father and son. They were selected by the Lynn County Soil Conservation District board this month.

Selection was based on the outstanding conservation achievements accomplished by Robert and Vernon Lusk of their farms one and one-half miles west of Grassland. They operate about 480 acres in this area which they started farming in 1957, and purchased in 1960.

Their conservation program includes a conservation crop rotation which is improving the soil as well as eliminating or reducing verticillan wilt.

Sloping land is terraced to prevent erosion and two waterways are established to carry outside water to a lake on the farm. Over 1 1/2 miles of underground pipelines have been installed for more efficient irrigation. The Lusks also work a livestock program into their farming operations, maintaining a herd of about 30 cows.

Their cropping system has returned them remarkable results. An example of this is planting sorghums and following with barley in the fall. The barley is grazed during the winter and then plowed up and used for a green manure crop in May.

Vernon Lusk says, "I like to get a good growth and a lot of straw in the barley before plowing up. The more straw we get, the more the barley seems to do to control the wilt." The barley is then either followed by cotton or grain sorghum again. Vernon said that he rotated cotton with the barley and grain sorghum about every three years. Cotton following this rotation produced 1 1/2 bales per acre this year under irrigation. The same land three years ago produced under irrigation only 1/4 bale per acre due to verticillan wilt damage. He also stated that the cotton burs helped him to maintain production and protect his land, but did not seem to have much effect on reducing wilt.

The Lusks use chisel type plows to leave sorghum and cotton bur residues on the soil surface to control wind erosion until pre-irrigation or on dryland until about the 1st of April each year.

grass in 1959. Also part of the lake was planted to bermuda grass giving them a total of about 30 acres of grass. They plan to plant an additional 15 to 20 acres of grass this year. The grass is irrigated with a sprinkler system. Other crops are row irrigated.

Livestock are run on the bermuda grass during the summer months and then put on stalk fields in late fall. Then about the middle of January or early February they are rotated to the barley and grazed there until bermuda grass is ready again for grazing.

The livestock work in good with the rest of the farming program and enable the Lusks to make the best use of all their land.

The maintenance of crop residues on the soil surface is very important in retarding wind erosion this time of year. Experience has shown that when feed stubble is managed on the surface, soil blowing is greatly reduced.

Usually this is practiced by one of the following methods: (1) Leave the stubble standing; (2) chiseling the stubble; or (3) list between the rows. Probably the most common practice is chiseling. This helps to clod the soil but at the same time leaves the stubble on the surface for soil protection. Chiseling also lays the stalks over, so that soil crusting and water run off are reduced.

Tandem discing is not recommended because it not only pulverizes the soil but also tends to cover up the stubble. It can be observed that fields that have been tandemed are often the first to blow.

One other important benefit of leaving feed stubble on the soil surface is in controlling sorghum midge. The High Plains Experiment Station at Halfway has found that the midge overwinters in the residue and that if it is left on the surface the cold weather and dry winds will kill the midge, whereas if the stubble is turned under, it will receive enough protection to survive the winter.

A Marine Corps Division with supply units is composed of 17,915 men.

Mary Rumbo Tells of Trip To Inauguration Events

Mrs. Mary L. Rumbo has written the following interesting account of her trip to the Inauguration ceremonies in Washington.

My trip to Washington for the Inauguration festivities for President Johnson was one of the most exciting experiences of my life. I could not begin to tell all of the interesting and thrilling events and experiences I had, but I would like to share a few of them with my Lynn County friends.

I arrived in Washington with two friends from West Texas on Saturday, January 16. The next morning I attended the Capitol Baptist Church there in the Capitol. I enjoyed the service tremendously and also enjoyed the cordial reception which was held at the church after the service. This was a wonderful welcome to Washington for me.

Actually, the first words of "welcome" on my arrival were from the porter at the airport here as we collected our baggage after arrival. He said, "The Texas women arriving for the Inaugural festivities have more baggage than some of the people coming back from Africa who lived there five years!" We did take as many clothes as we could, for there were so many different and exciting functions to attend, and we did not miss very many of them!

Monday morning we attended a reception, along with hundreds of other Texans, given by Sen. and Mrs. Ralph Yarborough in honor of the three new Texas Congressmen, Earle Cabell, Richard White, and Eligio de la Garza, all of whom were in the receiving line with the Yarboroughs. We had to stand in line a long time before ever reaching the receiving line, but this did not bother us at all, other than making our feet sore, as there were so many other Texans to meet and enjoy talking to as we moved along the line, which stretched almost clear across the Senate wing of the Capitol. After the reception our 19th District Congressman George Mahon, his wife and members of his office staff took us on a tour of the Capitol. We saw many interesting things and Mr. Mahon gave us a lot of interesting sidelights while we toured. We particularly enjoyed seeing the desk in the Senate which was used by Sen. Jefferson Davis, later president of the Confederacy, and the desk of Daniel Webster. We enjoyed seeing the snuff boxes in the Senate, which are all kept full of snuff at all times, even though to my understanding there is no one presently in the Senate who dips snuff. Tradition has it that the snuff boxes must always be full.

Monday night we attended the Gala held in the President's honor. Many of the most outstanding stars in show business performed, including Carol Channing with her version of "Hello Lyndon" to the tune of "Hello Dolly." Master of Ceremonies was the well-known "sleuth", Alfred Hitchcock. I was surprised and delighted to note that in the seat next to me was none other than James A. Farley. He was most charming and I enjoyed chatting with him between numbers. Other well-known celebrities performing included Harry Belafonte, Carol Burnett, Johnny Carson, Julie Andrews and many others.

The next day, Tuesday, Congressman and Mrs. Mahon gave a luncheon in the House Appropriations Committee Room in the Capitol for all those from our District attending the Inaugural. There were about 60 people present, and this was one of the highlights of my trip. Mr. and Mrs. Mahon took so much of their time to see that every individual here from home had a good time and that they were well looked after. We had a wonderful time being with other friends from the 19th Congressional District at the luncheon. Mr. Mahon had asked several friends of his to come in and make short speeches to us, including House Speaker John McCormack, House Majority Leader Carl Albert, House Minority Leader Gerald Ford, and Congressman Harold Cooley, Chairman of the House Agriculture Committee.

Tuesday afternoon I attended the Texas State Society Reception for Governor Connally. Again there were tremendous crowds, and I stood in the receiving line for two hours before getting to say hello to the Connallys. However, the excitement and interest in being with other Texans made the time pass fast. Texas barbecue was served, which tasted very good to us. I enjoyed meeting President Johnson's cousin from Wichita Falls at this reception. Later on the same afternoon we

Abbe Explains Changes In '64 Income Tax Laws

Robert Abbe explained some of the 165 changes made during the past year in the Income Tax laws in a talk at Tahoka Rotary Club Thursday noon of last week.

He said there is a welcomed slight reduction in rates for many taxpayers. Among them is the installation of a new alternative standard deduction for lower income groups, a help to farmers and others suffering a bad year.

There is a change in the method of figuring deductions. Also, some of the personal deductions have been taken away, such as for cigarette taxes, auto license plates and gasoline taxes, and poll taxes, no longer deductible, and this will add slightly to the tax of those taking personal deductions.

He also explained the investment tax credit change, a help, the conversion of capital gains on buildings. Loss in the sale of capital assets will also gain the taxpayer an advantage.

There's a big break for persons 65 or older, who may deduct 100 percent of medical expenses. Sale of a home by a person 65 or older that has been lived in as long as eight years may be forgiven, if the sale price is not $20,000 or more.

One big tax change permits averaging income of certain persons in such field as professional athletics, authors, etc., whose productive life may be limited.

Ralph Beistle, in charge of the program, introduced the speaker. Johnny Reasonover of Ralls, formerly Tahoka Club president and local Southwestern Public Service Company manager here, was a guest of honor and recipient of an award presented by Dr. K. R. Durhan.

In a humorous talk, accompanied by some home-spun verse, the Doctor paid "tribute" to Johnny on becoming an "old man" and a grandpa and presented him an engraved walking cane.

Mr. and Mrs. Reasonover's daughter Ann, whose husband is D. P. Ammons Jr., employed in First State Bank, Abilene, recently became the mother of a daughter, named Angela.

Mrs. Etta Gray of Los Lunas, N. M., was here Saturday through Monday visiting her sister, Mrs. Happy Smith, and other relatives.

J. Mack Noble Gets M. A. Degree

Denton—James Mack Noble of O'Donnell is among 77 graduate students who have applied for master's degrees to be awarded to North Texas State University Jan. 31.

Commencement exercises will be held at 2:00 p. m. in the Main Auditorium. There are 455 candidates for bachelor's degrees and three for the doctor's degree.

Noble, the son of Mrs. Margaret Noble of O'Donnell, is a candidate for the master of education degree in secondary education.

President-Elect Is Already Here

The man or woman who will be inaugurated President of the United States on January 20, 2001 is among us now or will be born this year. The president elected in the year 2000 will have to be 35 years of age on inauguration day, if the present constitutional age requirement for presidents continues.

If the new president is the average age of presidents at inauguration—that is, 54—he or she has already graduated from high school or will finish this summer.

If the future President is as old as our oldest at inauguration (William Henry Harrison, 68), he is now 33. If he is as young as our youngest (Theodore Roosevelt, 42), he is or shortly will be 7.

Whether the turn-of-the-century

President is a new-born babe, this year's high school graduate, or a relative oldster, he will have a much larger constituency than Lyndon B. Johnson. The most doleful of our population experts think we may have almost 400 million citizens in the year 2001. The more optimistic, conscious of increased activity in education on family planning, place the figure some tens of millions below the 400 million mark.

What will this future president talk about, besides taxes? About the cost of untangling the traffic jams that 350 to 400 million people can cause. About the cost of educating 350 to 400 million people. About the cost of providing recreation for 350 to 400 million people. In other words, he'll talk about taxes!

CHAIR COVERS—Make bright washable covers from cotton bag prints. Cut patterns by widths of chair back and seat. Use one or more layers of cotton batting in cushion. Make ruffles of solid. Machine quilt two pieces together for top of cushion and front of slip-on cover. Use single pieces for bottom and back. Add ties to cushion to hold in place.

DAUGHTERS VISIT HERE WITH MRS. COLLIER

Mrs. Carolyn Cleveland and daughter, Stephani, from Long Beach, Calif., left this week after a visit of several days with Mrs. Wynne Collier and Jack.

In the next hour, world population will increase by 7,000 people. 24 hours from now, we will have added a population larger than the city of Corpus Christi. By the end of October, there will be the equivalent of 50 million more of us on this planet—equivalent to another Italy or France. The population explosion is touching every aspect of our lives—living space, natural resources, education, employment, health, taxes, and war and peace. Surely, our government can—if it really tries—find more markets for cotton.

The Grim Reaper has taken away a lot of the good friends and long-time citizens of our county the past few weeks. We had the sad duty of reporting deaths of six last week. But, we like to remember the good deeds, the anecdotes, the pleasant things about these long time friends.

A lot of you knew or went to school to Mrs. C. F. (Della) Carmack. Here was a really dedicated teacher. She never taught for money. She started teaching in the days when teachers drew as little as $35.00 to $50.00 a month.

five or six months a school term. She loved children, and she glowed in the satisfaction of seeing the little child learn, develop, and become a worthwhile citizen. Until her last illness, a smile would spread across her face when the name of someone was mentioned and she would probably declare, "He was my little first grader at New Lynn back in . . ." Wife of a circuit-riding Methodist preacher, she followed her husband all over West Texas to the little communities, teaching school in between raising seven children, most of them to become teachers before settling into other endeavors.

Rev. C. F. Carmack, who just as strongly felt he was called to preach, served many churches for very little salary, and before that he rode horseback or in a buggy over the West to carry the Message to the ranchers and cowboys in the cow camps and isolated settlements.

Most homes on the frontier had the latch-string hanging out, the door unlocked, and the cupboard open to any stranger passing through the country. But, a few rough men in the rugged cow country did not welcome preachers.

On one occasion, Bro. Carmack was riding horseback through Stone-wall county, a Bible, an extra shirt and pair of socks in his saddlebag. Having had nothing to eat since early morning, he came to a ranch house away past dinner time and thought he would stop to eat a bite and rest his horse before proceeding to his destination. But, to his surprise, he was met at the door by a gruff, hostile man who bluntly turned him away with a few cuss words. Bro. Carmack told The Printer something like this: "Leaving there, the further I rode, the madder I got—to think a man would turn his back on the Lord's messenger. Finally, I turned around, went back, watered my horse, caught me an old hen, built a campfire, and boiled her in a bucket of water. I was eating that hen without bread, when the cowboy came out, saw me, just grinned, and went back into the house." For possibly 60 years thereafter, Rev. Carmack carried the Message until his death in 1952.

We'll miss the visits from the ever-pleasant and happy George H. Spears and his stories of wolf hunts and Sacred Harp singings.

and J. J. Waldrep and his tales of the hardships of early day farming in the Wells country; and Price Thomas—there's a man we liked, as did most everyone.

Once, Price got us in a car and said he wanted to show us a really fine cotton crop "me and Luther have." Right behind brother Luther Thomas' house, was a very fine patch "me and Luther" produced. As we rode on south, we came back to the paving just south of Price's house (on Price's farm), and Price remarked, "Luther ain't got much of a crop here." We'll think of Price now being in the land of perpetual hunting and fishing, where there are no crop failures and broken down gins.

Among the many other old time Lynn citizens who have left us recently are J. L. Reese of Fort Worth, Roy Haire, Mrs. C. B. Hicks, J. E. Thomas of Garnolia, Jasper Campbell and J. O. King of Wilson, Grady LeMond of Lovington, Mrs. "Bunk" Chandler, G. F. McCullough, M. C. Ball, Otto Zedlitz, J. D. Carter, J. B. Elmore, J. F. White of O'Donnell, Mrs. Forsythe, Wynne Collier, and a lot more—but this is a mighty big loss for less than two months' time. We counted all of them friends.

Friendship
If you walk as a friend you will find a friend wherever you choose to fare; If you go with mirth to a far strange land you will find that mirth is there.

For the strangest part of this queer old world is that like will join like; And who walks with love for his fellowman, an answering love will strike.

—Mrs. S. K. Kothavala, Bombay, India.

This could be a political scoop: There's a rumor that Dan Blocker (Hoss Cartwright), O'Donnell's gift to television, would like to run for governor of Texas.

D. R. Proffitt said the wind blew so hard Monday that every time he took a valve cap off a valve core, the pressure blew up the tire until it burst. Finally, after losing three tires, he took tires to be mended inside and had no further trouble. "Hap" Smith says he believes Proffitt was telling a "windy."

Mrs. Vada Holt, 1803 West 18th, Texarkana, writes: "I do not want to miss an issue of the paper. Through this medium I am able to hear from people whom I have known for many years, that I would not otherwise hear from. It is most interesting to note the varied distant points over this nation where many Lynn county people have seemingly successfully located—and I like your paper in general. Thank you for it."

Wayne Turner, husband of the former Nancy Draper, here from Copperas Cove for Joe Draper's wedding Saturday, asked us for some more stories of the "possum and squirrel country," and claimed he likes to read our stuff. Sorry, Wayne, we can't think up any big lies about the Leon-Cedar brakes country right now. Why not you tell us some?

Joe D. Unfred jumped us out about a recent error in The News, which had "Buddy" Bragg "coming to Tahoka in 1934" with his parents." The truth is that "Buddy's" parents, Cody Bragg and Violet Tankersley met and married right here, and the new big shot in Washington was born "right under the water tower" in a little house in north Tahoka May 17, 1929.

And Othell Meeks says we got him all wrong building a 3,800-square foot house on North Seventh—the house will be a thousand and square feet smaller than that. Well, that's about as close as we usually come to being right.

KING OF NEW HOME PEOPLE DIES IN CALIFORNIA

R. H. Flickinger, 78, uncle of Mrs. Joe D. Unfred of New Home and brother of Mrs. Jane Fetter of Lubbock, died Monday of last week, possibly from a heart attack, as Los Angeles, where he had lived for 60 years.

Mrs. Fetter and Mrs. Unfred flew out there Wednesday to arrange for funeral services. Mr. Flickinger, a widower with no children, lived alone. A close friend who had not seen Flickinger in a couple of days found him dead at his home when he went to see about him. For several years he had been bothered with a heart ailment.

On a visit here last year, many New Home and Tahoka people became acquainted with Mr. Flickinger.

Cal Farley says, "Boys who are taught to work seldom get in trouble."

First-grade boy protesting to mother, "But, Mommie, teacher says the most dangerous place in the home is the bath tub."

A collection letter began: "We are surprised that we have not received anything from you." In a few days the letter came back with this note written across the bottom of it: "There's no reason to be surprised; I didn't send anything."

Someone has said a fortune seldom lasts through the third generation.

Inauguration . . .

(Continued from Page 1, Sec. 2) attended a reception for the 50 governors. This was a delightful affair, another highlight for me. Somehow, this reception was the most outstanding and dignified of the receptions I attended and the crowds did not seem too large. The table was beautifully decorated.

The next morning, Inauguration Day, it was inspiring to me to be able to attend the Inaugural church services held at the National Christian Church. The sermon was delivered by Rev. Billy Graham, whom I found somewhat changed from the youthful pastor I had heard preach 32 years before. I enjoyed very much the opportunity of hearing him again.

It was also interesting for me to be able to make the acquaintance of Governor and Mrs. Rockefeller at this time. I was most impressed with the vibrant beauty of Mrs. Rockefeller, whom I had always felt was rather plain from her pictures. She had on no make-up, but was beautiful to me, exuding an air of sincerity and good will.

The swearing-in ceremony for the President and Vice President held on the East front of the Capitol was most impressive. I had to stand with many thousands of others for this occasion, but the beautiful sunshine of the day and the good will of the tremendous throng lent to enjoyment of the historic and memorable occasion.

We had been waiting anxiously for The Inaugural Ball, which is always billed as an Inaugural highlight. We were not disappointed. The ball, which we attended was held at the National Guard Armory, a gigantic building, and was attended by, I am told about 15,000 people. I saw many interesting people there and met Gregory Peck and his wife, who were staying at our same hotel. I was completely fascinated by a number of women who wore evening "boots" with their long gowns. I enjoyed seeing the high-heeled fancy boots with the evening gowns.

I had never been to Washington before, and this trip was certainly a wonderful and memorable first for me, one that I shall not soon forget.

Friday before my departure for home I had the pleasure of dining in the Senate restaurant with Senator Yarborough and Mrs. Yarborough. Two other Texas women, Martha Wagner from Lubbock, Senator Yarborough's sister, Mrs. Pickle, from Houston, the table next to us Vice President Hubert Humphrey sat. I enjoyed chatting with him during our luncheon. I surely enjoyed the 89th Congress session after the Inaugural. A very great city at my feet.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

BY C. WILSON HARDER

In its role as patron of the arts whereby it spends substantial sums every year developing new postage stamp art commemorating something or other, U. S. Post Office helps roll up annual operating deficit.

A great deal of this expenditure is devoted to immortalizing in stamp art successful politicians. And of course, post office patrons do not object to postal rates being raised at various times to pay for this homage to successful politicians. After all, there is patriotism.

But perhaps postal patrons as well as taxpayers in general have a just cause of complaint. That is based on the oversight of the postal department in not honoring some of the most successful politicians.

For example, what has been done about Norman Thomas? For here is a politician, who has expressed satisfaction with his career, even though never elected to office.

Norman Thomas, in case anyone does not know, following his graduation from Princeton with a degree in theology was a minister of the Gospel for some time. However, there came a time when he abandoned the ecclesiastical life to become the nation's No. 1 exponent of Socialism. For years he was the Socialist candidate for president of the United States. He never made it, but as the vernacular expression goes, he was in there pitching.

© National Federation of Independent Business

Lately, he has not been running for office. Why has he quit? Rep. E. Y. Berry, South Dakota, the other day pointed out that publicly Norman Thomas renounced all further political ambitions on the grounds that everything he stood for has come to pass in these United States. He feels his entire perennal platform of Socialism has now been adopted, so there is no longer any need for him to run for office.

Few, if any politicians have been able to say that they have succeeded in putting over their entire programs while in office. But no one, but no one, but Norman Thomas, has ever been able to say they have put over their entire program without being elected.

Then we turn to Thailand, and consider the Prime Minister of that nation who died at the end of last year after only five years in political office, at the age of 55. In case it is forgotten, Thailand is a heavy recipient of U. S. give aways.

Before he ascended to political office five years before his death, the former Prime Minister was a career officer in the army of Thailand.

Yet he left an estate of $143 million. He was obviously successful.

Thus, the post office department is probably quite amiss in not issuing commemorative stamps on two of the most successful politicians of the times. One achieved everything he stood for without being elected, the other did well with only five years of political life.

After all, Washington is dotted with statues to far less successful personages.

Wilson Boys Will Enter Livestock In San Antonio Show

Twenty-four members of the Wilson FFA have entries at the San Antonio Livestock Exposition Feb. 12-21 at the Joe Freeman Coliseum, according to vocational agriculture teacher Bobby Lee.

Their entries are among the record number of more than 6,000 head of livestock and horses which will be at the February 12th through 21st Exposition. An all-time high of $222,000 in premiums, prizes and purses is offered, according to President E. W. Bickell, who also announced Saturday, February 13 as "Rural Youth Day" with some 35,000 rural youngsters expected.

Lawson Family Visiting Here

Gene C. Lawson of Chesapeake, Va., was among the relatives here for the funeral of his step-father, G. H. Spears, and visiting his mother Mrs. Spears and sister, Mrs. G. C. Watson.

Also here is Mrs. Lewis (Naomi) Ward of Lufkin; and her two children were here for Mr. Spears' funeral, a son who is a senior law student at University of Texas, and a daughter who is in Texas Woman's University at Denton; Loy Lawson and wife of College Station, where he is working on his doctor's degree at Texas A&M University.

Mrs. Ben Hur Lawson of Los Angeles, the former Miss Elva Massengale, who once taught in the Tahoka schools, and her brother came over from Levelland, she being there on a visit with her mother.

Gene Lawson, while here, has also visited with his wife's mother, Mrs. H. C. Harter, Sr., who recently broke her arm and is recuperating at the home of her son, K. H. Harter, in Lubbock.

Mrs. Gene Lawson is the former Miss Astena Harter, a former Grassland teacher who now teaches at Portsmouth, Va.

Chesapeake, Va., is in a way a strange new town, Gene says, in that all of Norfolk County, one of the oldest counties in America dating back past 1650, was recently converted into one municipality. The conversion encompasses towns, cities, shopping districts into one, and this makes Chesapeake the third largest town in area in the United States.

Gene was a civil employee of the Navy from 1940 until 1960, when he retired and has since been in the real estate business while his wife teaches.

His brothers Ben Hur of Los Angeles and Smith Lawson of Modesto, Calif., were unable to come for the funeral. Another sister, Mrs. Ruth Melton of Crane was also here.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Chestnutt visited over the week end with their son, "Buddy" and wife and daughter, Kathy Jane, in Abilene, where he is a pre-med student in Abilene Christian College.
