APOSTLE OF GLOOM?

This column is not run by a negative thinker; we go along enthusiastically with Mr. Peale's "Power of Positive Thinking".

But, if you face a hungry tiger, way out there in the forest, with no help in sight and with a gun smaller than a Magnum, in such circumstances I don't think you ought to give up but that you ought to keep a "weather eye out."

These thoughts were brought on by reading Mr. Babson's article in this issue of the Journal. If you don't read it and heed the warning, never let it be said that this column and the Journal, and Mr. Babson didn't try to reach you.

I had the misfortune to read proof on his article: "Are We Fooling Ourselves", and wish I hadn't. I love to think positively. His article will, if you are not careful, cause you to think negatively, for he says a depression is "just around the corner".

If you're not in business, or farming, or ranching, or one of the professions, or work for an industrial company or a big payroll outfit, you don't have to worry.

The rest of us better trim our sails to the storm, batten down the hatches, make everything secure on deck, against the wind which, Mr. Babson seems to be sure, is "coming on to blow".

Do you dig me? Mr. Babson's article ought to be on Page 1, Sec. 1; but it isn't and it's found on the editorial page of Section 2 of this week's Journal. If you don't find his reasons of expecting a depression adequate, you may write to the editor, and you will be granted equal time; if you oppose his views, you'll be my partner. I whole lot rather believe you.

Other day, in this corner we had how Chief Jones landed on two jims with the 4th Marine Division and spent 24 days helping to take the island from the Japanese.

Now comes Bud Holdeman to say that he, too, was there. Bud was in the Navy and his ship, an "all purpose" destroyer was busy landing Marines on the island, perhaps even took Chief to the shore, maybe. As a coincidence, the two now work just across the yard from each other. Bud as elevator man at King Bros., next door to Chief's farm store.

The stargazer said: Come along with me some morning around five, six o'clock and see "the planets on parade". Over in the east, all rising an hour to four hours before the sun are Mars, Venus, Jupiter, and Saturn, and we have no less than 4 morning stars. They'll be joined in February by little Mercury.

Be watching, he said, for a total eclipse of the moon, which will pass through the earth's shadow on the night of March 11, entering about 11:30 coming out about 2 a.m.

When everyone else is wondering when the weather, which has temporarily put a clamp on the arm of business and industry, will be propitious for such outdoor work as farming and construction, this man can take time to stargaze!

Word of Muleshoe Getting Around

The word about Muleshoe is getting around fast these days, according to Lindal Murray president of the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce.

Murray announced this week that three "ambassadors" from Muleshoe will be publicizing Muleshoe at meetings during the next few days. Irvin St. Clair, chairman of the Industrial Committee, is taking a big packet of Muleshoe postcards and brochures to South Carolina, where he will be visiting cotton mills and other segments of the textile industry.

Mrs. Margaret Slemmons has a similar package of cards and brochures to be distributed at a regional meeting of KKI sorority in Lubbock.

And members of the Muleshoe high school Student Council will be passing out Muleshoe postcards to thousands of Student Council members from all over the state at the state SC meeting in Amarillo.

As Murray said, "we like for folks to know about our town and are always glad to furnish them with publicity material."

| Mar. 1 | 39 | 15 |
| Mar. 2 | 28 | 19 |

Industrial Week In Texas April 1-7

Governor Price Daniel has proclaimed April 1-7 as Texas Industrial Week. The Governor presents the proclamation to Gene Ohmstede, president of the Texas Manufacturers Association, which coordinates the observance throughout the State. Ohmstede is also president of Ohmstede Machine Works, Inc. of Beaumont. Observances of the special week to point up contributions of Texas business and industry are sponsored locally by chambers of commerce and other organizations.

Governor Price Daniel has officially proclaimed the week of April 1-7 as Texas Industrial Week. Texas Industrial Week was established as a result of a concurrent resolution of the Texas Legislature in 1951.

In officially designating the week, Governor Daniel said: "Texas has long recognized the value to its citizens of proper industrial development, which provides new opportunities for our people and at the same prosperity and National progress."

"Manufacturing is today one of the most rapidly expanding sources of income for our State. By maintaining a favorable climate for industrial growth, Texas has encouraged the creation of more jobs, more markets, more demands for goods, and greater economic health."

"It is important that Texans understand and cooperate in the action which is necessary to perpetuate this climate of development and economic advancement. One means of achieving this is to set aside a specific period for discussion and study of our State's industrial activity, economic potential, and prospect of growth and development, and for the promotion and display by Texas manufacturers of the products manufactured in our State."

The Texas Industrial Week observance is sponsored on a State-wide basis by the Texas Manufacturers Association in cooperation with local chambers of commerce and other interested civic groups. The Texas Manufacturers Association conducts a competition in order to recognize the local civic organizations which make outstanding contributions toward the observance of Texas Industrial Week.

Lamb County Gets Deep Oil Test, Location Is Near Littlefield

U. S. Smelting, refining and Mining Co., operating from Midland, will re-enter George P. Livermore, Lubbock, No. 1 J. N. James, a 4,925-foot, southwest Lamb County failure, plugged Sept. 8, 1958, and deepen it to 9,700 feet to test the Ellenburger and possibly to granite.

The rank deep wildcat project is 7 1/2 miles west of Littlefield and 7 miles west of Littlefield (San Andres) pool production, and 7 miles northwest of Illusion Lake (San Andres) wells.

It is 2 1/2 miles northwest of closest dry hole, a 4,400 foot failure and 2 1/2 miles north west of a 4,444 foot dry hole. Closest deep test is 5 1/2 miles to the southwest, a 9,165 foot duster, which stopped in the Ellenburger.

Drill site for exploration is 525 feet from north and 350 feet from west lines of Labor League 288, Sterling County school land survey on a 177-acre lease on the northwest side of Bull Lake.

Farmers Again Will Overplant

WASHINGTON—The Agriculture Department reported that 15,736 of the 758,986 eligible farms had elected, through Feb. 15, to overplant 1960 federal cotton allotments under a new cotton marketing expansion program.

The program permits farmers to exceed federal allotments 40 per cent if they are willing to accept price supports at 60 per cent of the parity price of cotton or an average of 23.18 cents a pound.

Growers elected to plant within allotments get supports at 75 per cent of parity or an average of 28.97 cents.

Farmers have until March 15 to make choices.

Those already electing to overplant increased their allotments 303,587 acres. On the comparable date last year, 17,067 farms had decided to overplant 1958 allotments for a total of 176,249 acres.

LONE STAR AGRICULTURE

WEIGHTS AND MEASURE WEEK

The average family of four in Texas is estimated to have a financial stake of at least $100 a year in accurate weights and measures enforcement.

This is one of the vital functions of the Texas Department of Agriculture, and the week of Mar. 1 through Mar. 7, has been officially designated in Texas and the nation as weights and measure week.

Since practically everything purchased in connection with daily living needs is bought in terms of fixed amount for a fixed price, carefully supervised regulation is essential to make certain that the specified amount is delivered for the specified price.

The division of weights and measures of the Texas Department of Agriculture has the responsibility of checking all such weighing and measuring devices in the State, ranging from intricate pharmaceutical scales to huge commercial scales such as those used at public weighing stations and cattle auction markets. Thousands of inspections are made each year, including spot checking of gasoline pumps throughout the State.

It was 161 years ago, on March 2, 1799, that Congress passed the first Federal weights and measures law in the U. S. It was pointed out then that "weights and measures may be ranked among the necessities of life to every individual of human society. They enter into the economic arrangements and daily concerns of every family."

Texas businessmen, it has been pointed out, have even greater financial stakes than family consumer units in making sure that their scales and measuring devices are completely accurate. Where large volume business is transacted, it is possible to give away thousands of dollars worth of goods by means of scales that are inaccurate on the side of the purchaser.

It is also emphasized that it is almost impossible to name anything the American consumer wears, uses or eats that has not been weighed or measured once or many times in its production and distribution.

SOIL Conservation News

Deferred grazing is one of the most important practices. By deferring a pasture during the growing season, grasses are given a chance to seed out and build up root reserves. The length of deferral is determined by the present condition of the range.

A range in poor condition may require intensive management. A deferment of 1 or 2 years will be required to allow the composition and vigor of desirable grasses to increase. After the first year or two of deferment it should be followed by at least three months rest during the growing season in alternate years until range has reached good condition.

A fair condition range is one which maintains 26-50% of the desirable grasses. Complete deferment is sometimes necessary the first year, thereafter if proper grazing management is used and rainfall is normal, a deferment of 3 months every third year should be adequate to maintain and increase vigor and composition of desirable grasses.

A good condition range consists of 51-75% desirable grasses. Most ranchers would think that this is the ultimate but this condition can be improved. Deferment of approximately 3 months every third growing season will enable the range to make a gradual improvement. Improvement at this level is very slow and not much change can be noted the first few years.

On 3-8 A. of cotton we yielded 4188 lbs. of good staple lint which sold for 10c per lb. more than unfertilized cotton, which yielded only 624 lbs. per A. On acres of maize, the average was more than 7,000 lbs. on two irrigations.

Manning Potts, who adds, "and its world wide acclaim has been mainly by its simplicity . . . a reading of Bible text . . . a daily meditation . . . a simple prayer and a thought for the day."

It now appears in 37 separate editions, in 31 different languages and Braille for the blind. Besides the printing plants at Nashville, Tennessee and Louisville, Kentucky, 29 editions of The Upper Room are printed in 21 different cities around the world. In addition to more than 3,375,000 copies of the guide per issue, the devotional meditations appear in 1,800 weekly and daily newspapers.

"Savings Bond sales for January 1960 totaled $11,148," Mrs. Inez F. Bobo, the chairman of Bailey County Savings Bonds Committee reported today. "Our county has reached 9.3% of its 1960 goal of $120,000."

Sales in Texas for January were $16,537,766 which is 10% of the state goal.

"When we buy our Country's Savings Bonds we are helping to save things that money cannot buy," concluded Mrs. Bobo.

Baker Dwarf 292, 296 Continue As Best Castor Bean Varieties

Castor beans tests for 1959 at the High Plains Research Foundation discloses that Baker Dwarf varieties 292 and 296 continue to be the best in yield of the released varieties with 1866 pounds and 1859 pounds per acre, respectively.

Delbert Langford, Assistant Agronomist, stated in commenting on his report released today.

These yields were approximately 400 lbs per acre above the 1958 record and about 700 pounds above the 1957 yield. The Dawn variety made similar gains.

Five of the eight varieties tested were experimental and not yet released. The average yield of all eight was 1,829 pounds per acre. This exceeded the 1958 averages by 194 pounds and 1957 by 653 pounds. One of the experimental varieties was over 200 pounds above the three yield leaders. Even higher yields may be anticipated in the future.

The eight varieties of castor beans under test at Halfway made a surprising recovery from the June 22 heavy hail damage. Castor beans suffered less than other crops on the research farm at Halfway.

The eight varieties were planted May 15 at the rate of 10 pounds of seed per acre. They received 50 pounds of nitrogen sidedressed on June 19. All varieties were harvested January 29.

Inclement weather delayed the harvest and caused an approximate 10% loss from shattering. Damage from the alternaria leaf spot was higher in the sections of the field where water from rain and irrigation remained on the longer.

Eight Found Unsuitable.

Eight varieties of castor beans tested in previous years have been found unsuitable for this area and have been eliminated from the test program. The Foundation's research program with castor beans grams at Halfway.

has been conducted at the research farm at Halfway for the past three years. This program will be conducted as a part of the Foundation's work in developing new crops to strengthen the agriculture and industrial economy of the High Plains. Dr. Earl Collister, Chief Agronomist and Assistant Director, stated today.

End of GI Loan Program Nearing

About five months remain in which World War II veterans may apply for GI home, farm or business loans. Sumner G. Whittier, Administrator of Veteran Affairs, reminded veterans today.

Under present law, July 25, 1960, is the cut-off date set for World War II veterans participation in the post-war program that has seen more than 5 million World War II veterans take advantage of the GI Bill loan provisions since June 22, 1944.

Veterans who submit their applications on or before the deadline of July 25, 1960, will be allowed an additional year, or until July 25, 1961, in which to have the loan actually closed.

Mr. Whittier pointed out that these dates do not apply to Korean-conflict veterans who have until January 31, 1965 to make GI loan applications.

World War II veterans who also served during the Korean-conflict period are considered Korean-conflict veterans for the purpose of GI loans.

Approximately one-third of the eligible World War II veterans and one-eighth of the Korean-conflict veterans have taken advantage of the loan program to date.

Reviewing the tremendous scope of the GI loan program as used by both World War II and Korean-conflict veterans combined, Mr. Whittier said that it was the equal of financing one out of every 10 dwellings in the United States including apartments and single-family rental properties.

Nearly one out of every 4 mortgaged single-family dwelling units in the United States has a VA-guaranteed mortgage, Mr. Whittier said.

Dryland maize yield increases 1100 lbs. per acre

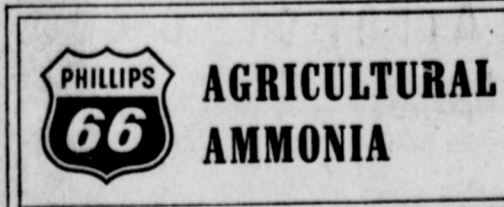

KENNETH BROSEH of Lockney, Tex. reports that 60 lbs. of Ammonia helped make 3200 lbs. maize per acre

"A test was conducted on 250 acres of dryland maize to help determine the benefits of ammonia. On 30 acres, 60 pounds of Phillips 66 Ammonia per acre was applied pre-plant. This land averaged 3200 pounds maize per acre. The rest of the acreage that received no ammonia averaged 2100 pounds," according to Kenneth Broseh, who farms 785 acres.

"Cotton increased 1/4-bale per acre," he says, "where 40 pounds of Phillips 66 Ammonia was applied pre-plant. Using ammonia is just like selecting top quality seed and carefully cultivating the soil—it's a key part of a sound program to produce top yields."

Thousands of Texas farmers are now using Phillips 66 Ammonia to help assure top net profits per acre—on irrigated or dryland fields. . . in wet or dry years. Actual field reports prove that Phillips 66 Ammonia (1) produces more high grade lint (2) increases sorghum grain yields (3) boosts wheat and small grain yields (4) stimulates pasture growth for more meat and milk.

See your local Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia Distributor now. You can make more money this year with this 82% nitrogen fertilizer. It can be applied by you or your distributor.

BABSON SAYS

Let's Not Fool Ourselves

Babson Park, Mass., Mar. 3. My associate John Henry, Editor of our Washington Forecast, feels strongly that the American people are fooling themselves by overconfidence in the Federal Reserve Board—they believe that by some magic our nation can avoid further depressions.

Is The Money Market All-Powerful?
 Let me relay Mr. Henry's thoughts. The notion has become widespread that the easing and tightening of money and credit by the FRB can eliminate the dangerous hills and valleys in our economic progress . . . thereby keeping inflation reasonably in hand and barring anything more serious than occasional mild recessions. This conclusion is supported by recent history.

Since World War II we have had three business recessions—1949-1954, and 1957. In each case, the FRB hastened to curb the decline by making money and credit more plentiful and cheaper. Conversely, the Fed restricted money and credit, whenever spiraling inflation became a threat.

Another Depression In The Offing
 Although there has been a tendency for each business decline since the war to be a little more severe than its predecessor, none has been even remotely comparable to those of 1937 and earlier. However, the Federal Reserve has been given most of the credit for keeping these recession mild.

and for turning them into periods of recovery.

Now that the steel strike has been settled in a manner which will inevitably mean another upward turn of the may not be too distant when the results will bring on another recession. Business can develop immunity to these Fed "pills" just as the doctor's pills lose potency after we depend upon them too long.

When The Next Slump Comes
 When the next slump comes, we may well find that changed world financial conditions will have sapped the FRB's recession-fighting power. In previous recessions, our money managers did not have to worry about the gold reserves behind our credit structure. We held gold in excess of any possible foreign claims against it.

Today, however, for many reasons—swollen cost and prices here in the U. S., declining exports and rising imports, liberal foreign aid, sizable exports of capital for plants abroad—we have been running a deficit in the balance of payments between our country and other countries. This is a condition we have not faced for many years.

Foreigners have built up heavy dollar balances which—at their discretion—may be converted in gold and taken out of this country. Hence—our money managers must weigh any future action in the light of its possible effect on the heavy foreign balances held here. If money is suddenly made easy, lower interest rates will be paid on foreign balances. This, of course, could induce foreigners to withdraw those balances—especially if interest rates in some other country should be attractively higher. Thus, the FRB would lose its erstwhile independence of action in combating business declines.

Loss of Confidence Caused By Steel Settlement

There's an even more important danger to our economy than the possible attractiveness of higher interest rates in other nations. Should a new easy-money policy be adopted at a time when our government is running a heavy international deficit, owners of dollars in other nations could lose confidence in the ability of the U. S. to manage its financial affairs, and rush to convert their dollars to gold.

Whatever the cause, heavy gold withdrawals from the U. S. would drain off the gold backing for our banking system . . . a situation which is the normal forerunner of a money panic. For the first time since World War II, therefore, the beginning of the next business recession may find our money managers powerless to take effective anti-slump action!

During my recent trip to Europe I was impressed by the fear which European bankers feel about the control labor leaders possess in the U. S. and South America. These business leaders believe we are headed for a Labor Government—and Socialism. This also undermines confidence in the American dollar. Since the steel corporations "gave in" to political pressure from both the White House and Congress, other nations no longer respect us. When the next depression

SAND HILLS PHILOSOPHER COMES

People In Town Depending On Him Should Re-Study Farm Problem

Editor's Note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm views the farm problem again this week, but whether he sheds any light, is hard to say.

I read an editorial in a news paper the other day, I've forgotten the name of the paper but it was from a big city because I remember it was headed "which solved the farm problem."

This disturbed me, because the farm problem has always been something you could rely on, like restlessness in Europe. Regardless of how many other problems were solved, you always figured the farm problem in between editorials. This also applies to you. In fact, anybody who is depending on me to work harder when he runs short on food and clothes, had better restudy the farm problem, or at least re-study me.

I know some people consider farming sort of like the post office institution, and you're not supposed to make a profit out of it, but very few farmers subscribe to this idea.

Anybody in town who figures his future is secure because, if he ever runs out of food and clothes, I'll work harder, is not taking a practical view of the matter. What'll happen is, I'll work about the same and charge double for what I produce. Then it'll be up to the newspapers, for example, to charge double for their editorials. You think they can swing it?

Yours faithfully
 J. A.

In the first place, he implies that the main purpose of a farmer, even one that's not hustling is to feed and clothe people in town, whereas most farmers I know have as their main concern the feeding and clothing of themselves and their immediate families, with occasionally a son-in-law thrown in.

In the second place, hustling is not the answer for the farmer. It's hustling that has brought on all the surpluses.

And in the third place, if that big city editorial writer thinks "when the times comes, if it ever does, when he doesn't have enough food and clothes to buy that that fact is going to make me hustle and work harder, he'd better keep a few acres handy to farm himself in between editorials. This also applies to you. In fact, anybody who is depending on me to work harder when he runs short on food and clothes, had better restudy the farm problem, or at least re-study me.

I know some people consider farming sort of like the post office institution, and you're not supposed to make a profit out of it, but very few farmers subscribe to this idea.

Anybody in town who figures his future is secure because, if he ever runs out of food and clothes, I'll work harder, is not taking a practical view of the matter. What'll happen is, I'll work about the same and charge double for what I produce. Then it'll be up to the newspapers, for example, to charge double for their editorials. You think they can swing it?

IF NUCLEAR BOMBS HIT CITIES

Question of Safety "Down On the Farm"; Agents To Hunt Answers

If nuclear bombs struck several of Texas' larger cities, would people still be safe "down on the farm"?

Answers to this and many other questions will be studied this year by Texas farm and ranch families in special programs on the rural resident's key role in the nation's civil defense.

The CD study will be incorporated into the Extension Service work conducted by the hundreds of county agents over the state.

Need for farm and ranch defense is based on recognition that the answer to the above question is "no". Research on fallout shows that if the country were hit by nuclear bombs, radioactive fallout could drift in death-dealing quantities to even the most isolated areas.

Since all-out war would destroy, contaminate or cut off many normal food supplies, protection of the means of producing more food would be of crucial importance to the nation's recovery.

Programs to be conducted by the county agents in cooperation with county civil defense officials, will give latest information on what the rural resident can do to protect himself, his livestock and his crops.

The State Division of Defense and Disaster Relief and the Texas A & M College Extension Service are joint sponsors of the effort.

Nearly 600 rural civil defense kits have been mailed to the county agents, according to State Defense Coordinator James H. Garner.

Kits include information on such down-to-earth questions as these:

1. How should the family be protected?
2. How can cattle be economically sheltered?
3. Could the farmer leave his own shelter long enough to feed and milk the cows?

4. Would the well water be safe?
5. Would feed stored in a silo be safe?
6. When would the pasture be safe for grazing again?

Films, information and discussion materials for four meetings plus maps, exhibits and how-to-do-it brochures are included in the kits.

Garner said county civil defense directors over the state had been contacted and alerted to assist county agents in presenting the CD programs to farm and ranch groups.

"We feel most fortunate" said Garner, "in Extension Service Director John E. Hutchinson's decision to include rural civil defense in the extension service program for this year. The Extension Service has one of the best trained and most extensive staffs of any agency in the state, with an enviable reputation for leadership and service."

"Though Texas has become more urbanized in the last two decades, we have an estimated 2 1/2 million people living in unincorporated areas. In event of nuclear attack, they could well become just about the most important people in Texas."

Aerospace Power . . . Power For Peace

There is no dividing line within Aerospace that separates "air" from "space". As a field of operations, Aerospace is indivisible. It is a continuum.

We are in the Age of Aerospace now. There are no limits as to how far we can go. The present day X-15 and Dyna-Soar are forerunners of manned spacecraft. . . . spacecraft that will operate in that limitless expanse high over our heads.

Aerospace vehicles are only as good as the people operating and maintaining them . . .

qualified people, trained in the various skills required by the hardware of today and tomorrow.

The USAF Aerospace Force, with its skilled men and blend of missiles, aircraft and eventual spacecraft, provides our nation with the greatest deterrent force in the world.

With missiles and aircraft in combination, we can take advantage of the performance and characteristics of each, creating an instrument of Aerospace Power considerably greater and more potent than the use of missiles or aircraft alone.

Such Power, born from an Aerospace Force, is the key to peace and freedom for our world.

Today's Meditation

Read Matthew 6:19-26
 Let us not be weary in well doing: for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not. (Galatians 6:9.)

Sometimes we get discouraged in our Christian living. This may be due to the monotony of our work. We may see little beauty in a single color; but put two together, blend them or contrast them, and we are lifted by sheer beauty. We may hear no music in a single note; but when we weave several together harmoniously, we notice the difference.

We become discouraged sometime because we think our one aim is to get the job done. But there is another side of the labor story which we so often forget. The Christian view is that we are not making things; we are making men.

The most important thing that you and I have to make is not a living, but a life. Let us put patience, kindness, sympathy, courage, and good honest toil into our task. Then we shall be planting eternal truths in our hearts, eternal values into the characters God would have us build.

PRAYER: Our Father, when we become discouraged, help us to look at life through the eyes of Christ. Amid His toil and grief, He saw Thee. In seeing Thee, He found the way to the hearts of people and lived for their good. Help us so to live, In His name. Amen.

Every day...every meal...every farmer feeds this crowd

In 1960, every farmer will produce food aplenty for 25 people—27,375 square meals in all! This record productivity is now possible with the help of science, farmer know-how, chemicals, and electric power.

Yet, electricity, which has helped triple food production in only 25 years, was just a dream for most farmers as late as 1935. People, living in the country, were scattered . . . supposedly too costly to reach with light and power.

To get electricity, rural people organized into non-profit local groups, borrowed money at interest from the REA and built their own lines. Today, nearly 1,000 locally-owned Rural Electric Systems operate 1 1/2 million miles of line serving 16 million Americans.

As workers leave farms for other jobs, farmers are using more electricity to produce better food at lower cost. This means lower grocery bills for you and promises adequate food even when our population doubles in the years ahead.

Best of all, owner-users bear the cost of rural-electrification. Already they've paid more than $1 billion in principal and interest on their 3 1/2 billion loans.

Borrowing Prevents Self Reliance

Phyllis Milligan
The time is now. A senior boy we will call Tom is borrowing a pencil from his fellow student; it was the third pencil he had borrowed that week.

It is ten years later. Tom is married and he has three children. He is not working. All he needed was thirty dollars, so he borrowed it without asking permission from his boss.

Is borrowing evil? Maybe not to start with, but couldn't it turn out that way? In Tom's mind he was only borrowing the thirty dollars, but was he? Borrowing can become a habit if you let it. It keeps a person from developing self-reliance.

If a person has friends can he go through life borrowing? It would put your friends "on a spot". Borrowing would bring unpopularity among friends.

Everyone does a little borrowing, and a person who understands the responsibility of borrowing is the one that is justified to borrow.

A person who borrows and does not pay back does not know responsibility. Is he aware in his thoughts and actions? Will he be able to face life with no heed of responsibility?

National Honor Society In Meeting

Goldie Lowery
The National Honor Society of Muleshoe High School met recently to plan a program for public school week. Texas Public School Week is to be February 29, to March 4. The principal of MHS, Mr. Bill Parker, assigned the members of the society the duty of presenting a program for one of Muleshoe's civic organizations. It was decided that the outstanding students of each department would give a short talk on the department in which they excel.

Say "Thank You" And Really Mean It

Kay Wilson
How often do we say "Thank you" and really mean it? Do we ever think of future favors when expressing gratitude to someone for past kindnesses?

It is human nature for us to have a practice of equal give and take. Someone does a nice thing for us and we try to do an equally nice thing for him. This is not the spirit we should have. It is how much we are able to do; it is the spirit in which it is done. We may be able to say no more than thank you to a person who has done us a great favor. It is our attitude which counts in such a situation.

Some people are self-centered and forgetful or they may be too proud to say "Thank you." These people are usually without any friends. We cannot think of others when our minds are occupied with ourselves.

If we would make it a habit to say thank you, even for little things, our lives would be much brighter. Some people reach their twenties and thirties before they feel deep gratitude to their parents.

Simply saying thank you is not always enough, we must mean it and deep within our hearts feel true gratitude. Many times people will leave the impression that they can scarcely wait until another has stopped talking so they can add to the discussion. This shows little gratitude and respect for the ideas of others.

Thankfulness is essential to friendship. Friendships can only be kept by being thankful for everything.

Let's Make Decency Popular In School

Priscilla Inman
Decency! Just what is decency and what is not? That is the question that most of us would ask. Decency is defined in the dictionary as the quality of being decent; propriety of conduct and speech; proper observation of the requirements of modesty and good taste.

Decency is practiced here in Muleshoe High School, except for a few. Are you one of the few who do not?

Do you use the proper language for someone your age? Do you dress in a way that is pleasing to the public? Or do you wear dirty clothes and forget what a bar of soap and some water can do for you? Is your manner one that reflects a good home or do you make your parents feel that they have failed?

Decency is sometimes thought to be "sissy" or something that other kids do not practice. If you are one who thinks in this fashion, do you reflect a good home and are you a good representative of our school?

How Is John Henry Measuring Up?

Mary Ann Greene
Is John Henry growing up to be a man? Is he developing in all the fields of leadership, scholarship, character, service, and honor?

Perhaps John does not have time to work toward scholarship because all his time is invested in leadership and service. Maybe John is one of those people who sacrifice honor to gain scholarship, thus causing his character to weaken. It is typical for his services to be available only when there is some personal or financial gain in a project.

John may think that he just does not have leadership ability; but if he has character, gives service, is honorable, and works to improve his scholarship - he is going to be a great leader in all basic fields.

John is the only one that can become the respectable Mr. John Henry. He must place his honor and character far above the reproach of common temptations. He must improve his scholarship in order that he may become a wiser leader. He must give his service only in the hope that someone else will profit from his work. Then and only then will John Henry become a man.

Human Parasite Is Defined By Writer

Alice Gordon
If someone asked you the question, "Are you a parasite?" what would your reaction be? Would you be amused, shocked, or how would you take it? Probably most of us would find it amusing, but is it? Before answering one should ask himself, "What is a parasite?" A parasite is an animal or plant that depends upon another living thing for survival. Now you begin to wonder, "What has a parasite got to do with me?"

Are you the type of person who depends upon someone else to do your work for you? Do you put things off until the last minute then expect your family and friends to get you out of your predicament? If you do these things you had better examine yourself because you may be a parasite. You are depending upon another person to do your work.

There is very little difference in a parasite biologically speaking and a human parasite. They both depend upon something else, but the human parasite is by habit only. Probably the main reason for this is because they lack self-confidence, or again it may be that it is the easiest way out of a certain situation. Whatever the cause may be you should try to correct this habit because it could become dangerous to you and to others concerned. Take a chance on yourself—the results may surprise you.

Setting of Sound Goals Success Step

Jeanne Gray
The First Practical Step Forward Toward Maturity Is The Establishment of a Sound Goal.

The responsibilities of a teenager in the present age requires a definite goal in many phases of one's life and activities. Many favorable choices have been made available to today's teenager.

One decision is the choosing of a life vocation. One should try to decide approximately his personal goals early in his high school years so as to have an education properly planned and suited for his choice. In the present day and time, a high school diploma is one requisite of any job in which you want to get ahead.

Everyone has a subject in which he excels to a greater extent than he does in others. A young person who has enough drive to work and excel is beginning to show signs of maturity.

In Muleshoe High School we have an organization called the National Honor Society. This is an organization for Juniors and Seniors who maintain an average of over 85 in all subjects. It is quite an honor to be a member of this society and is especially helpful in later life when you need a transcript to qualify for a job.

Your talents should be a great influence in your choice of your life's work. A person should know for what he is best suited and should work to develop these talents for they are to his advantage and are there for him to use.

When you are sure what you want to do and are suited to do, go ahead and gain as much knowledge as possible. Your success in life depends on your willingness and determination to learn.

Mary DeShazo Makes Plans For Open House

Phyllis Milligan
This is Education Week and grades one, two and three are preparing for open house. The mothers are invited to come and view all the student creations and studies.

In science the first grade has planted bean seeds to watch them grow. Also they have planted a sweet potato to study its roots and watch it grow.

The first grade has a new student, Eva Ramirez. She is from Farwell. Mike Montgomery is out with the flu, but is expected back soon. He is a first grade student.

Mary DeShazo attended the Reading Work Shop at Richland Hills Grade school. They found it to be very interesting. The second grade has a very large number of new students. There are Virginia and Charlotte Williams, Danny Cody from Bula, Placido Ramirez, from Farwell, Mike Fabella and Rosalinda Plata from Colorado, and Douglas Nolan from Sudan.

The second grade has started a new health unit. They are enjoying it very much. Connie and Ronnie Reeder had birthdays on the 8th of this month. Cathy Williams and Susan Vela had birthdays on the 9th and 5th of this month. They are all third grade students.

The Mary DeShazo school is having a program Thursday 1:30 p.m. at the High School auditorium. Everyone is invited.

High School Record Follows To College

Rita Lewis
Have I done my best to keep a good record throughout my high school years? Many times the answer is no. Let us think for a minute about the influence your high school record has upon your attending college or finding a job.

Every year there are some students who are not received into certain colleges because of their records in high school. Will you be one of these? It is very easy for a student to "slide along" and just barely pass, never thinking of the importance of doing his best.

Finding a job can be a real problem if a student does not have a good high school record. The employer will usually want references. Many times the employer will ask the teachers and principal for reference before giving the person a job. Naturally, if your high school record does not show that you are capable of doing the work, there is a good chance that someone else will be chosen for the job.

There is a solution to having a good high school record. If a student will do his work to the best of his ability each and every day, there will be no worry as to college or finding a job. Remember, your high school record does follow you to college or job!

High School Halls Said To Be Noisy

B. H. Waggon
Does noise and confusion bother you? It must not. The halls of Muleshoe High School are extremely confused and noisy. When you walk down the halls you have to push and pry your way through. Is this the way it should be? Also when you try to get to your locker you have to wait for two or three people who are waiting on their boy friend or girl friend.

There is a time and place for everything. There seems to be confusion everywhere. If someone was to yell, "Fire", someone would be sure to be trampled in the mad stampede it would cause. Confusion is no good. The only person who can easily compete under these conditions would nearly have to be a star fullback.

Are the halls a football or basketball game? Surely sounds like. Going down the halls one can hear all kinds of loud talking. Go outside if you feel you have to yell. Isn't that the place for it? Are these things proper? Can't you talk to a friend without yelling or blocking the halls? Why not have a little less confusion and noise in the halls?

Help To Keep Our Lunchroom Clean

Kenneth Phipps
Are you messy in the lunch room? Does it bother you when people throw food in the lunch room? If throwing food in the lunch room doesn't bother it should. If students have any respect for the ones who work in the lunch room, they will not throw food and leave garbage on the floor.

Sanitation may come into some people's minds when they see a nasty lunch room. Being sanitary can help prevent diseases. Filth has always been unpleasant.

Students tend to disregard manners. Students think throwing food is fun. Is it? Throwing food makes a person look like he or she doesn't have any manners. A lot of the time the way a person acts in public shows how he or she has been raised at home.

Jeanne Gray Takes Part In TIL Spelling

Sue Logan
Mr. Logan Moon and Mrs. Juanita Kirk gave spelling tests to those students who planned to enter Interscholastic League Contest in Spelling. The students trying out were Juanita St. Clair, Ann Phipps, Jeanne Gray, Wanda Parker, Latoya Howell, and Karen Jones. Missing only one word, Jeanne Gray, junior placed first. The word was semblance. Latoya Howell, senior, and Wanda Parker, junior, tied for second place each missing four words. Karen Jones, freshman, was runner-up in third place missing only six words.

A run-off will be held between Latoya and Wanda to find out which one will, with Jeanne, make up the team to represent Muleshoe at Interscholastic League. The other girl will act as an alternate. Some of the demon words are courtier, nausea, semblance, posthumous, bivouac, and carbuterol.

The girls will meet the other contenders from this district on April 8 at Muleshoe High School.

Why Not Awards For Academic Ability?

Pat Barrett
Do athletes receive more recognition than scholars? Are the athletes the "big wheels" in school? If so, why are they? These questions are asked many times but are they ever answered?

It is very true in most places that the athletes are recognized before the scholars. Should they be? Having academic ability takes as much natural ability as having athletic ability. Having this ability is something that everyone should be proud of.

These scholars need recognition the same as the athletes do. The awards given mean as much or maybe a little more to the scholars as to the athletes.

We do not hear as much of the scholars as of the athletes but there are just as many of them. In giving awards to scholars it has to be considered that, in most cases, their ability is just in certain fields just as an athlete may be a better player in football or baseball than in basketball.

How may we solve this problem? In many schools the town or the school is giving awards to the scholars whatever field it may be in. Just a word of congratulations or recognition may be appreciated very much. Sometimes it is the little things that mean more than the bigger things.

We should all remember these things and try to recognize all people, whatever their ability may be.

Cheating In School Helps No Student

Latoyia Howell

Cheating! Why is cheating in school such a great temptation? It could be because someone forgot to study. It could be because someone thinks there isn't any use in studying when he can cheat. Cheating is a very strong temptation, and even some of the smartest students are tempted to cheat. Sometime it is easier for the smart students to cheat than it is for the poorer student.

I believe that if a person is really a good student or a good sport, the temptation to cheat won't be so strong. Everyone knows that it is wrong to cheat, and if a person really thinks about it, he will realize it is not helping him any. It doesn't help the person to be smarter in his studies. It might get him a good grade but he will not know any more than he did before.

I believe that if a person doesn't study, or can't be a good sport because he can cheat, he will be a failure and an outcast to the world. Even if he did get by, by cheating, when he was in high school, he will end up nothing when he faces the world on his own. Cheating is something that should be stopped when it is first started. If a person can't control it himself, he should have an adult to help him. It should be handled with care and precaution. The person will soon realize the facts about cheating and I believe it can be controlled.

Gossip Can Be Very Harmful Practice

Mary Gross

"Did you know, what she told me, that he said, that she said," How many times have we heard this statement? I am sure each one of us could look back and recall such instances.

Gossip, yes gossip, can be very harmful even to the extent of ruining someone's life. What can be done? There is no real solution but the situation reminds me of a story I heard once which seems to sum it up pretty well.

There was a woman who had gossiped continually for a number of years. Realizing her mistake she went to her minister and asked for some method of repentance. He immediately told her to take feathers and leave one on the door step of every house in the village.

The woman finding this very easy went merrily on her way. When she finished this operation she returned to the minister telling him of her success. The minister then told her that this was not all; she must now go back and get all the feathers. . . .

What about you, could you go back and pick up all the "feathers"?

Suggest Frequent Change of Officers

Mary Sanders

Looking across the campus at the officers of the different organizations, I find myself thinking, "Haven't I seen these officers before?" Are they so good that the organization can't do without them?

If a new president or secretary was elected the outcome might be surprising. The meeting might be carried on in just as orderly procedure as before. The new secretary may keep the minutes up to date and in correct order as well as someone else.

The same officers may be good and suited for the job but what about the boy or girl across the campus, is he or she capable of doing the job? Who knows? Has he or she been given the chance to prove himself?

That shy girl or boy you met in the hall the other day needs attention. They may be as likeable and as qualified for an office as the ones who are there they may want to be liked and find a place in their chance they may prove to be successful.

As I look over the past and present officers of the different organizations I find the same faces and names. If this were not true it would have been refreshing to find a new face. A new person would be brought into light and made known. This way the public when reading the school news would realize that there are many students qualified instead of just a chosen few.

"Petty Thievery" Can Be Decreased

Goldie Lowery

"People say that teenagers like me are headed for the gutter. They call me a petty thief. But after all I'm not the only one. The people I took those things from will probably never miss them, or if they do, they will just think that they were careless and lost them."

These might be some of the typical thoughts of a teenage petty thief. A petty thievery however, is a major problem in most schools.

There are many causes of petty thievery. The major cause is that society has placed too much emphasis on material things instead of moral values. A teenager may steal because he wants the things like others have, but for which he is unable to pay.

Others steal just for "kicks", or to be like their crowd. Still others think that stealing is

Reasons For School Failure Examined

Maganna Lamb
Are Your Parents Paying For An Education You Are Not Bothering To Get?

Reading, writing, and arithmetic. Taught to the tune of a hickory stick. You were my queen in calico. I was your bashful barefoot beau.

You wrote on my slate. 'I love you, Joe'. When we were a couple of kids."

These are the words of "School Days" a widely sung American folk song. The words to this song present a problem. Reading, writing, and arithmetic are three basic subjects taught in the schools of America. They are not taught to the tune of a hickory stick though. Disciplinary action is taken when it is best for the student. When a student reaches high school, he should know right from wrong; he should discipline himself.

The next problem presented in the words of this song is a teenage romance. In high school there are club, athletic, and church activities for the young people. Boys and girls go to these activities together and start dating quite frequently. Some of these teenagers become inseparable and do not have time for anyone or anything else. Consequently they fall down in their school work.

Some of these steady daters do not have time to learn things to help them become a better person. During classes the students stare into space, thinking about something they did yesterday or something they are going to do today. The teacher is trying to explain something to the students, but can not reach them because the students' minds are a million miles away.

Laziness is another major problem in our schools. The more you put into your school work the more you will get out of it. Homework is for the benefit of the students. School children of today have many temptations such as listening to the radio, watching television, and going to the movies instead of studying.

It is up to each student whether or not he gets anything out of his school work. Parents give their children clothes to wear, food to eat, and materials to use so they can go to school to learn. Are your parents paying for an education you are not bothering to get?

Privileges Bring Responsibilities

Darrell Lancaster

I wonder what it would be like if one had no responsibilities? One may think it would be "wine, women, and song"; however, this is not the complete picture. For an example we shall use voting.

Going to the polls and voting is one of the best ways man has discovered to reveal the opinion of the public, whether it is for the office of President of the United States or for the position of dogcatcher smart and do it just to see if they can get by without getting caught. Too, there are some people who steal because they have the desire and can not help it.

Although petty thievery cannot be completely stopped, it can be decreased. By proper training and discipline, both at home and at school, petty thievery can be checked.

of your hometown. The public the average civic minded people, would not think of submitting to a dictator.

Although this is true a large number of them will not use one of their most important privileges, that of voting. When enough of these people abuse the privilege of voting, the average civic minded person who would not think of giving in to a dictator will have the dictator for a leader of his country.

Voting is a privilege, but above being a privilege it is a duty — duty for which each American should be proud to carry out. He can carry out this duty by paying an inconsiderable amount of money and using very little of his energy.

Although this is an example of what can happen to one's privileges if his responsibilities of voting is not met, the same thing can happen on a smaller scale. The person with the most privileges has the most responsibilities.

Courtesy At Student Meetings Suggested

Coralynn Hicks

Courtesy means genuine and habitual politeness; courteousness, a courteous favor or act; of common consent.

As we all know, a school or any other type of organization is judged by the way it responds to or treats people who have come to present a program of some kind.

In our high school, when someone comes to entertain us, we sometimes forget where we are, and, maybe do things that to us, are not rude, but to the entertainer, may be very rude. We don't mean to be rude, or seem rowdy, but the visitors do not know this.

We have various types of clubs in our town, and all of these clubs have special programs at times. How would we feel if we went to one of the clubs to present a program, only to be ignored or to be confronted with whispering and giggling? people who visit our school are due the same respect.

DID YOU KNOW

Susan Birdsong

Seven-C gave Mrs. McSpadden a birthday party last Monday. Mrs. McSpadden disappointed us, though, by not telling us how old she was. Tonyne Welch and Susan Birdsong brought cakes and two boys paid for the cakes. We gave her two black and gold candle holders with two gold and black candles to go in the holders. Mrs. McSpadden seemed very pleased with them. The students of 7B also gave Mrs. McSpadden a party. In math, geography, and history and government we have been very busy making posters for Education Week. Mrs. McSpadden is helping plan a play to be held on the second day of Education Week. Last Friday, the band had tryouts. That good old Mike Fite beat Jerry Lee again, and Susan Birdsong beat Kathy Moore this time.

The magazine campaign is still going on, and we've only sold a little over six hundred dollars. We are working for new uniforms, as you already know, so we'd appreciate any subscriptions anytime, anywhere.

FOR ALL WE HOLD SACRED . . . ATTEND CHURCH!

Diligently Pray For The Work Of Your Church

THERE IS

STRENGTH IN

PRAYER

Then Peter said, Silver and gold have I none; but such as I have give I thee: In the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth rise up and walk. (Acts 3:6.)

An old violin was locked and sealed in a glass case and placed on exhibition. Among those who came to see it was a famous musician. He begged for a chance to play the instrument.

Lovingly and with tender touch, he ran the bow back and forth upon the strings. All his artistic skill went into his rare performance. With pleasing concord the room was filled with joyous harmony!

How like the rendering of fine music is the life of the Christian who surrenders his talents and entire personality to the Master! A life that otherwise may have been one of defeat becomes a life of success. Unpromising material and undisclosed ability become attractive and powerful. The cycle of worthless activity is motivated to simple but noble accomplishment. We become symphonies in His hands.

PRAYER

Dear Father, we dedicate ourselves and what we have to Thee. Help us to seek closer companionship with Thee through prayer and the reading of Thy Word. Pardon our failures. Encourage us when we are faint-hearted. Renew our faith for the days that lie ahead. In the name of Christ. Amen.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

| Day | Book | Chapter | Verses |
| Sunday | Matthew | 18 | 1-5 |
| Monday | Psalms | 141 | 1-3 |
| Tuesday | I Peter | 5 | 5-7 |
| Wednesday | I Corinthians | 3 | 9-11 |
| Thursday | Psalms | 119 | 54-56 |
| Friday | Psalms | 61 | 1-4 |
| Saturday | Matthew | 6 | 9-13 |

A child's faith is beautiful in its simplicity and in the little things it encompasses. Like, for instance, the nightly ritual that comes at the end of prayer. "God bless Mommy and Daddy and Cousin Peter and Kitty Kat and my blue teddy bear."

To a child, there is no reason why God should not bless also a crumpled and slightly soiled teddy bear, and a pet kitty. For God is goodness and love and kindness and tolerance . . . not perhaps in those words, but in the feeling this child has as she says her prayers.

Prayer, to the child who has been taught to pray, is a natural thing. It should be as much a part of everyday life as eating and sleeping and playing. To pray for what is good . . . to give thanks for what one has is an all-important step in that all-important right direction on the road of life

BETTER-BRAKES... BUICK '60

BRAKES HATE HEAT!
Buick's fin-cooled Aluminum Drums get rid of heat quicker so you're safer!

Brakes generate their own worst enemy—terrible heat. Excessive heat is bad because it may cause brakes to lose part of their effectiveness. So the faster you can dissipate it, the better off you are.

Buick gets rid of heat faster by using fin-cooled brake drums. On the front wheels, where most of the braking is done, the drums are aluminum. They cost more to make but they shrug off heat much faster than drums made of ordinary metal. Buick is the only American car that makes them standard, at no extra cost, because you will be safer with them.

Best time to buy a Buick '60 is now because you will get top dollar on your old car and have a wide selection of colors and body styles from which to choose. You can own a quality Buick for less than you might think, and your Buick Dealer can arrange terms to suit your budget.
